

What Life Matters!!!

We focus too much effort on the things that matter to us and not enough on the things that matter the most.

A photograph of a paved road winding through a misty autumn landscape. The road is flanked by trees with vibrant orange and red foliage. A wire fence runs along the right side of the road, and the ground is covered in fallen leaves. The scene is hazy, creating a sense of depth and tranquility.

If you need help to find your purpose in life, look at the things that matter the most to you and there is where you will find your purpose. It's also where you will find real happiness.

Live a life that matters. Ready or not, someday it will all come to an end. There will be no more sunrises, no minutes, hours or days.

All the things you collected, whether treasured or forgotten, will pass to someone else. Your wealth, fame and temporal power will shrivel to irrelevance.

It will not matter what you owned or what you were owed. Your grudges, resentments, frustrations, and jealousies will finally disappear.

A close-up photograph of a dry, brown leaf with a yellowish background. The leaf is positioned diagonally, with its veins clearly visible. The background is a soft, out-of-focus yellow. The text is overlaid on the upper part of the leaf.

So, too, your hopes, ambitions, plans, and to-do lists will expire. The wins and losses that once seemed so important will fade away.

It won't matter where you came from, or on what side of the tracks
you lived, at the end.

A still life painting featuring a large, ornate bronze chalice as the central element. The chalice has a wide, shallow bowl and a decorative, fluted stem. It is filled with water, and three roses are placed on the rim of the bowl. Two roses are yellow with some orange-red edges, and one is a deep red. A single rose lies on the dark, textured surface in the foreground. The background is a mottled, dark greenish-brown. The lighting is soft, creating subtle highlights on the metal and petals.

It won't matter whether you were beautiful or brilliant Even your gender and skin color will be irrelevant.

So what will matter?
How will the value of your
days be measured?

What will matter is not what you bought, but what you built; not what you got, but what you gave.

What will matter is not your success, but your significance.

What will matter is not what you learned, but what you taught.

What will matter is every act of integrity, compassion, courage or sacrifice that enriched, empowered or encouraged others to emulate your example.

What will matter is not your competence, but your character.

What will matter is not how many people you knew, but how many will feel a lasting loss when you're gone.

What will matter is not your memories, but the memories that live in those who loved you.

What will matter is how long
you will be remembered, by whom and for what.

Living a life that matters doesn't happen by accident. It's not a matter of circumstance, but of choice.

A photograph of a person standing on the edge of a rocky cliff, looking out over a vast, deep canyon. The canyon walls are layered with rock, and the floor is a mix of green and brown. The sky is a clear blue. The text is overlaid on the right side of the image.

It's your choice...Make the right choice today. Choose to live a life that matters the most!!!

Thank You Very Much Sompong Yusoontorn