YOU'RE THE RESULT OF YOURSELF

Have you heard them all.
“It’s not my fault, it’s that...”
“he gave me a bad idea”
“no one told me about the facts”
“no one taught me that strategy”
“my job takes up too much time”

The fact is that if you want to be successful. You need to stop pointing your finger at other people or entities. You must accept the fact that you are the one who is responsible for every decision you make. It's your decision to do or not to do.

No one forced you to do anything you don't like. No one prevented you from learning more about the thing you like.

No one forced you to stay with the problems arisen after you made the decision. No one forced you to even start doing anything you like in the first place.

Don't blame anyone, never complain of anyone or anything, because basically you have made of your life what you wanted.

Accept the difficulties of edifying yourself and the worth of starting to correct your character. The triumph of the true man arises from the ashes of his mistakes.

Never complain of your loneliness or your luck. Face it with courage and accept it. Somehow, they are the result of your acts and it shows that you'll always win.

A silhouette of a person jumping in the air on a beach at sunset. The person is in the center, with arms outstretched and legs bent. The background shows the ocean, a distant island, and a sky with scattered clouds. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a bright glow. The water reflects the person and the sky. The overall mood is peaceful and inspiring.

Don't feel frustrated of your own failures; nor blame them on someone else. Accept yourself now or you'll go on justifying yourself like a child. Remember that any time is good to start and that no time is so good to give up.

Don't forget that the cause of your present is your past, as the cause of your future will be your present.

Learn from the brave, from the strong, from who doesn't accept situations, from who will live in spite of everything.

Think less of your problems and more of your work. Learn to arise from your pain, and to be greater than the greatest of your obstacles.

Look at the mirror of yourself and you'll be free and strong and you'll stop being a puppet of circumstances.
For you yourself are your destiny.*

A photograph of a person standing on a rocky shore, silhouetted against a vibrant sunset. The sky transitions from deep purple at the top to bright orange near the horizon. The calm water reflects the colors of the sky. In the distance, a dark silhouette of a city skyline is visible across the water. The person is standing on a dark, rocky outcrop in the foreground, looking out over the water.

Maybe you don't know about the field that you are interested. That's your responsibility, so go learn about it.

Maybe you don't have a plan. That's your responsibility, so go create one or look into using someone else's.

Maybe you don't like your life situation now. That's your responsibility, so go and change for getting a new one.

Maybe you don't have the time in your day to work for your dream. That's your responsibility, so make the time and get up 15 minutes earlier.

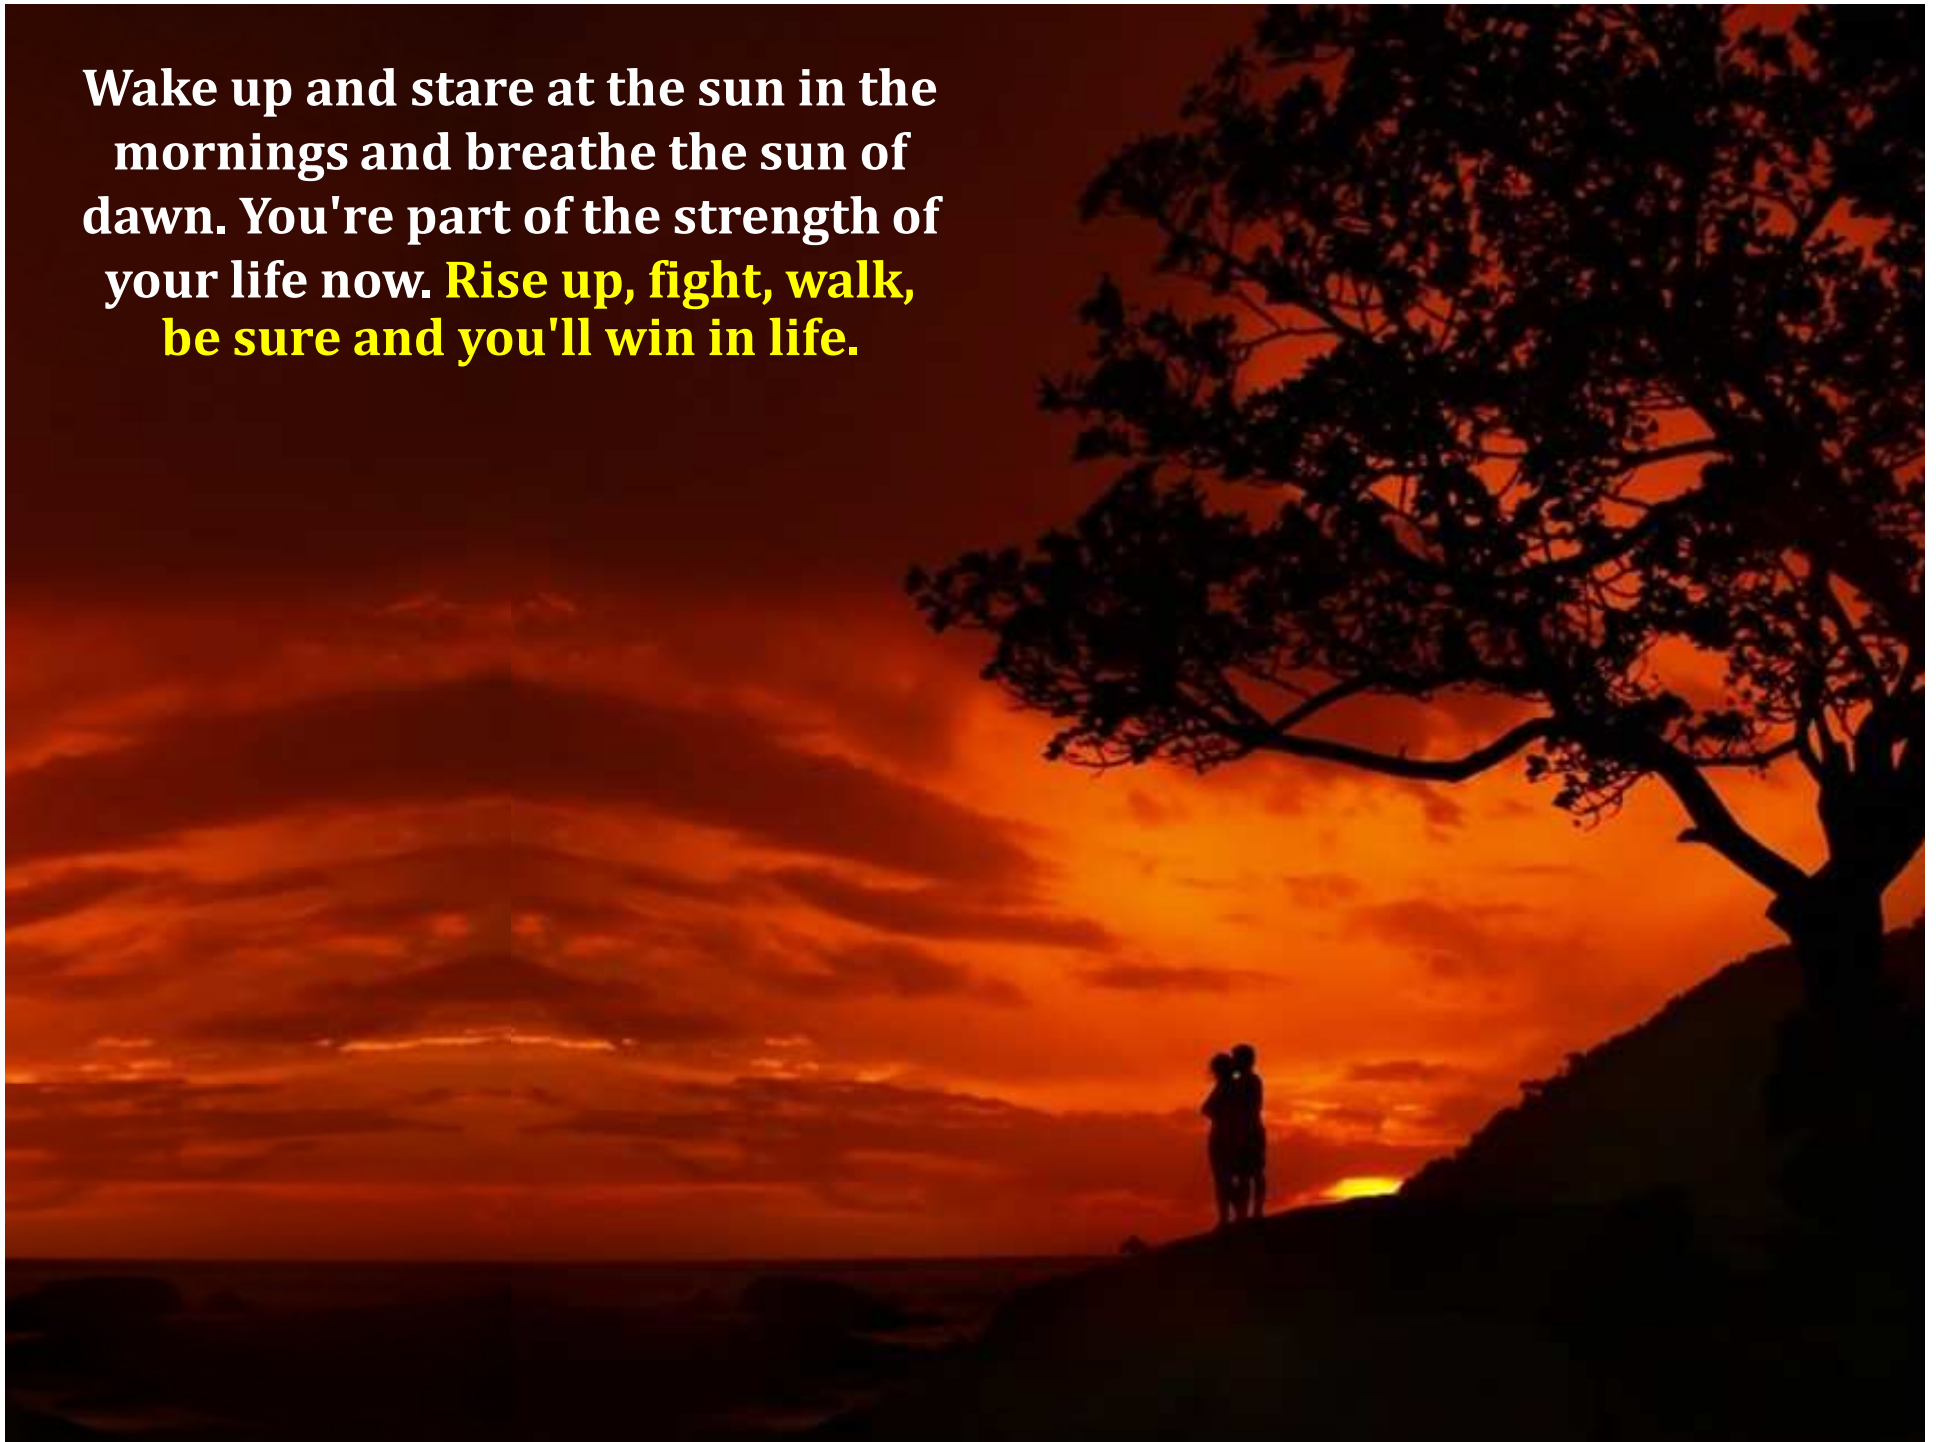

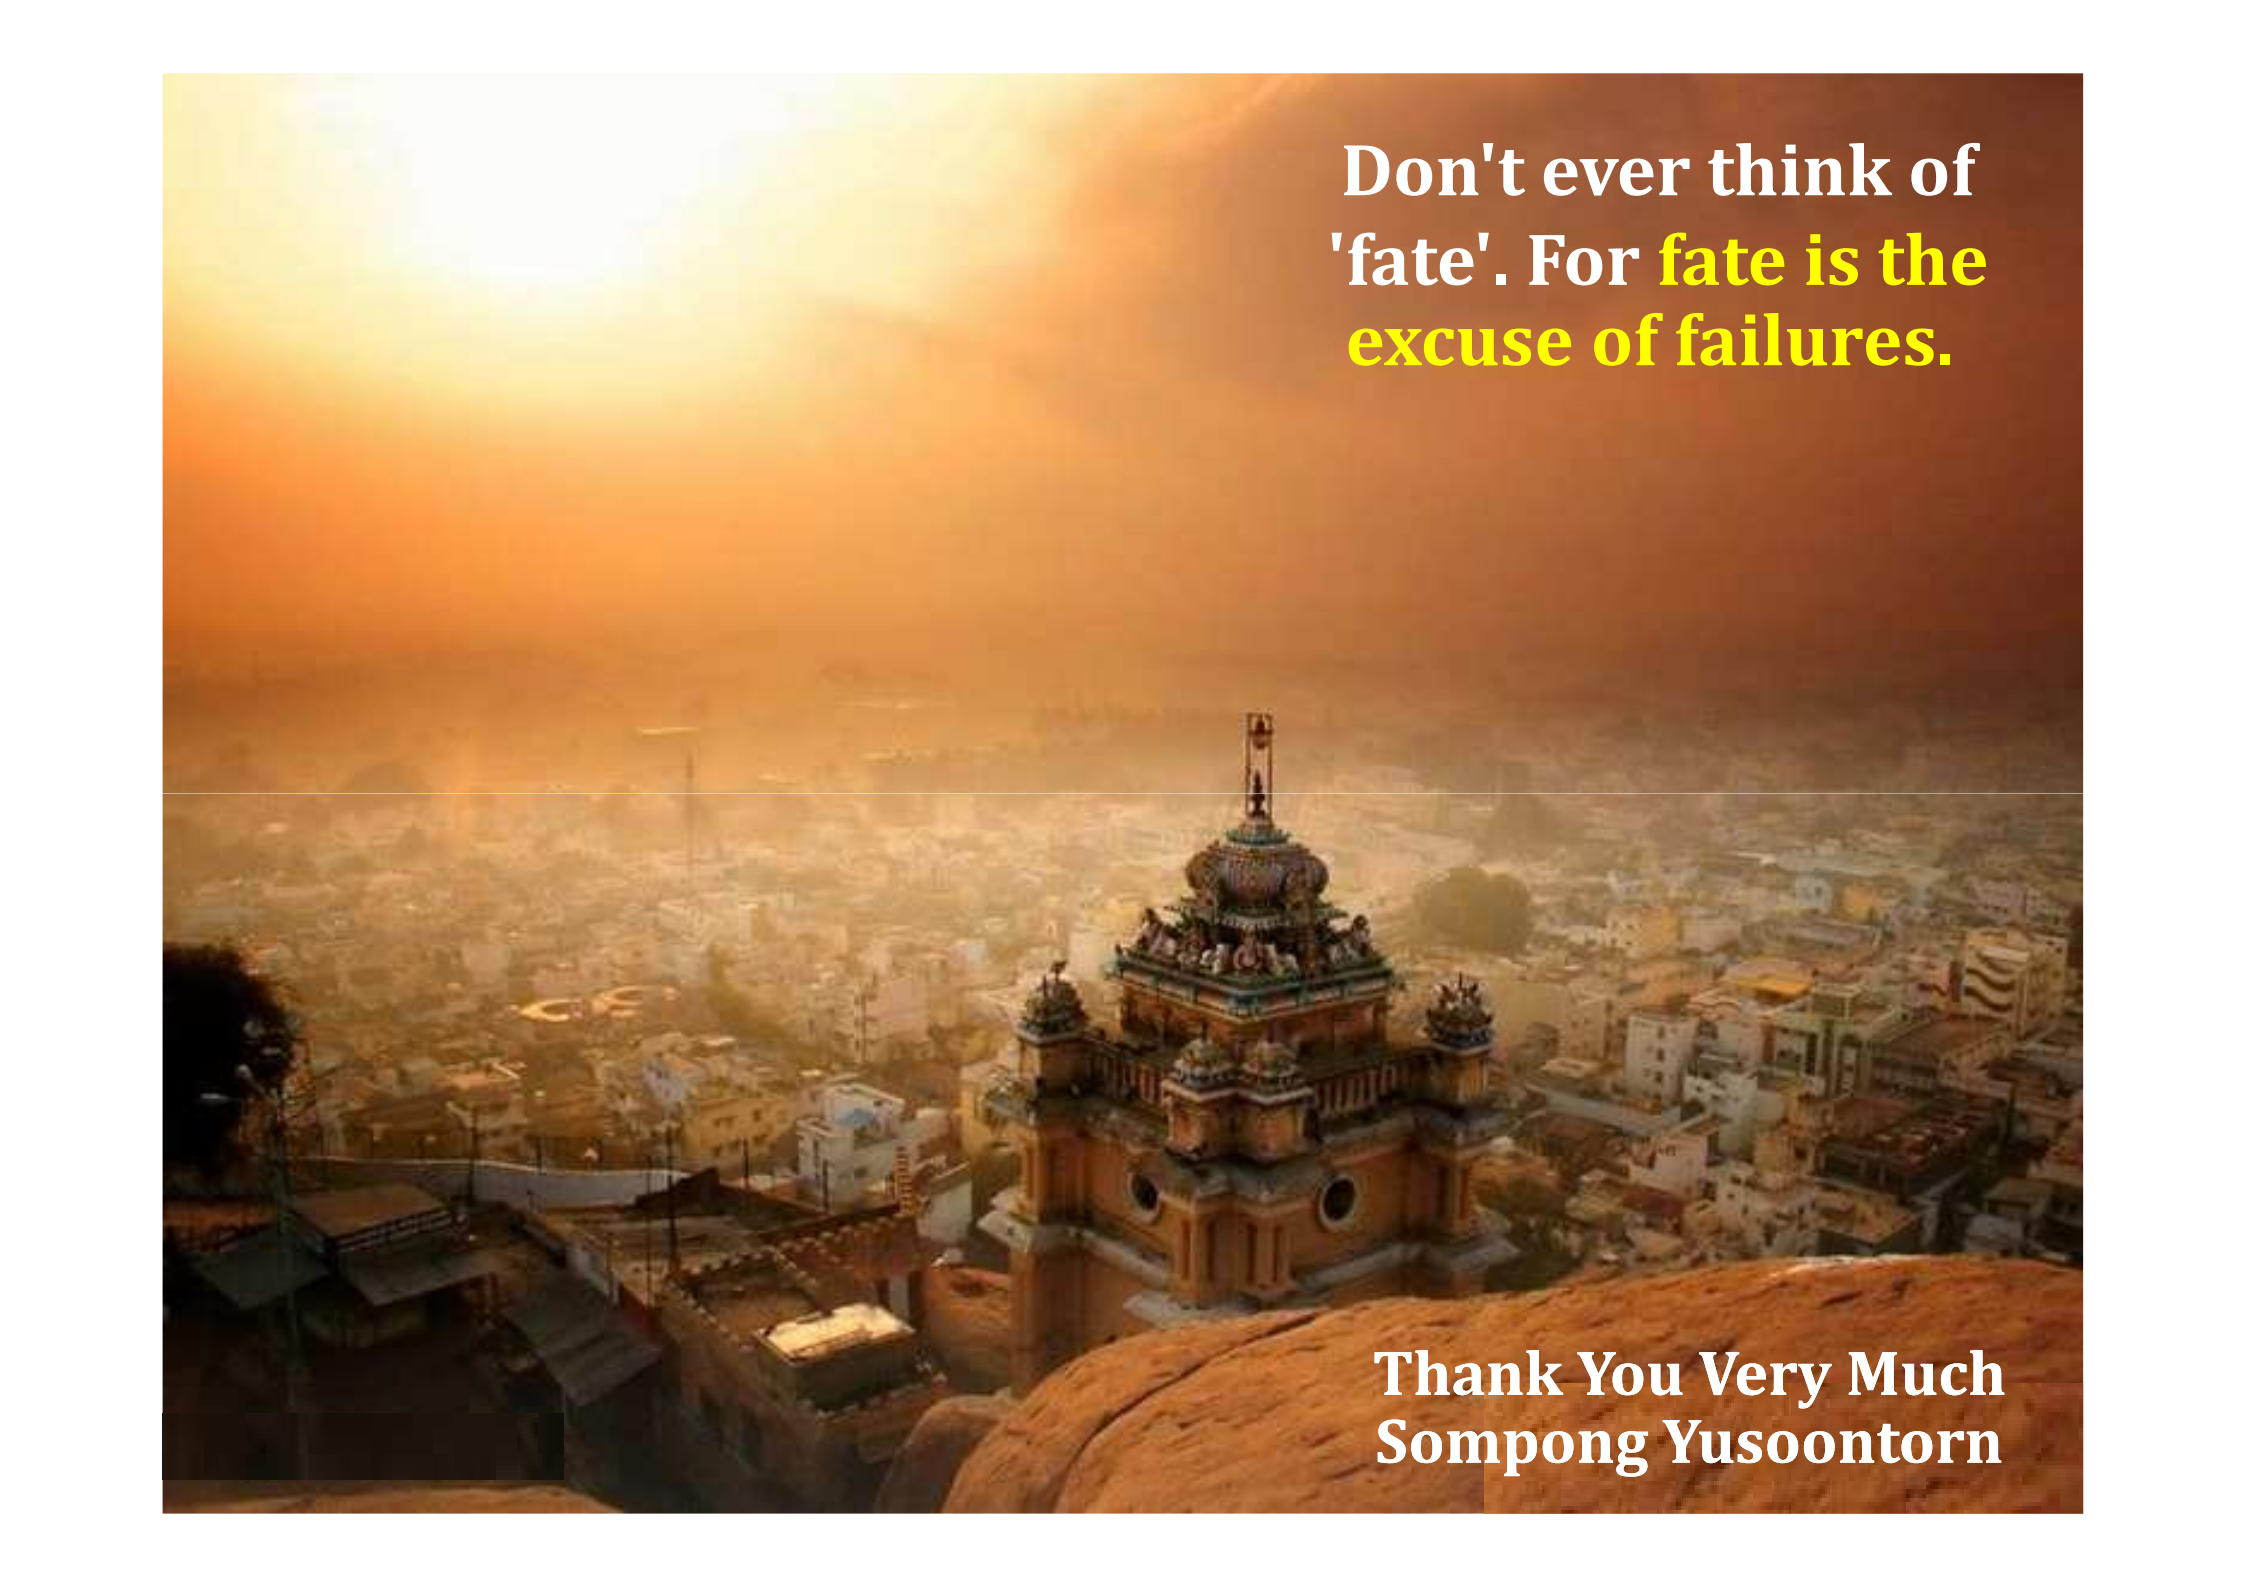

Maybe you don't even know how to succeed. That's your responsibility, so go read some books, sign up for a course, find the mentor.

Taking responsibility for your life is the first step to making yourself a prosperous life. It might not be easy to do at first, but accepting this responsibility will lead to your success!

Wake up and stare at the sun in the mornings and breathe the sun of dawn. You're part of the strength of your life now. Rise up, fight, walk, be sure and you'll win in life.

An aerial photograph of a city at sunset. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a warm, golden glow over the entire scene. In the foreground, a large, ornate temple with a multi-tiered dome and a tall spire sits atop a hill. The city below is densely packed with buildings, and the overall atmosphere is hazy and dreamlike.

Don't ever think of 'fate'. For fate is the excuse of failures.
