

The Beauty Of LIFE

In life there are moments, when you miss someone so much, that you wish you could grab them out of your dreams and hug them tight!

When a door closes, Another one opens, But often we stand there so long looking at the closed door, That we do not see the one that's opened.

Do not look at
physical appearances,
they can be deceiving.
Do not look at riches,
For they are only temporary.

Look for someone
who makes you smile.

Because sometimes
it only takes a smile to brighten up a very dark day.

Look for someone
who makes your heart sing.

Dream what you
want to dream;
Go where you want to go;
Try to be who you
really are;

Because life is short,
and often only gives
one chance to do things.

I wish you in life
a lot of luck
to feel good;

Many trials
to remain strong;

Some tears
to remain human;

Lots of hope,
to become happy.

The really lucky people do not necessarily have the best of everything;

They are the ones who make the most of whatever life
throws at them.

The most splendid future will always depend upon the necessity to release the past;

You cannot move forward in life unless you learn from your past mistakes and move on.

A photograph of a fluffy yellow duckling standing in shallow blue water. The duckling is facing away from the camera, slightly turned to its left, with its head tilted back and its orange beak wide open. A small, dark fly is hovering just above the duckling's head. The water is calm, reflecting the duckling and the sky. The background is a clear, bright blue sky.

When you were born
you were crying,
while everybody around
you was smiling.

Always live your life
smiling even when
other people around you are crying.

Life is not measured
with the quantity
of breaths you take,
but with the quantity of moments that took your breath away!

A photograph of a polar bear and its cub on a snowy or icy surface. The adult bear is lying down, looking up towards the sky with its mouth slightly open. The cub is standing on its hind legs, leaning against the adult bear's head. The background is a soft, out-of-focus landscape of snow and ice.

To experience life's richness, treat every person you meet as a teacher

and every situation you experience as a learning opportunity.

At every choice point in your life -- pause -- and bring out your best rather than your baggage.

If you don't take charge of shaping your destiny, others will do it for you.

Discover, develop and apply your talents, for they are gifts to be used in service to you and others.

If you live in your comfort zone, you will never experience
the fullness of life.

Deliberate success occurs when preparation and opportunity intersect.

When stuff happens -- pause -- and look for the learning rather than for the blame.

It's never too late to pursue that which is important in your life.

By choosing your response to life experiences,
you choose your result.

You are a product of your choices – not of your circumstances.

Celebrate yesterday,
seize today, and
cultivate tomorrow.

You already know what you need to know.

The challenge is to apply what you know.

A close-up photograph of a cat's face, focusing on its eye and whiskers. The cat's fur is a mix of brown and grey. The eye is large and has a golden-yellow iris with a blue ring around the pupil. The eye is reflecting a colorful, abstract pattern, possibly from a screen or a mirror. The whiskers are long and white, extending from the cat's muzzle. The background is a soft, out-of-focus grey.

What you focus on determines what you miss
– and what you become.

The quality of a relationship is a function of how much caring truth is exchanged.

Yesterday's choices determine who you are today.
Today's choices determine who you will become tomorrow.
Choose carefully.

If you want to receive more from life, simply give more to life.

If you don't develop
your competitive edge,
your competitors will edge you out.

Life's best comes in memorable moments.
Create lots of them.

Thank You Very Much
