Refund of Import Duty

Refund of SAD duty paid at time of Import of goods for trading

While Importing goods in India, the importer is required to pay Special Additional Duty (SAD). The rationale behind levying this import duty is to counterbalance VAT (i.e. tax revenues of government) and boost the domestic suppliers (which would have been purchased from domestic market otherwise). If the same goods are further sold out then refund can be available to importer to the extent of Special Additional Duty (SAD) paid. We, at our end make sure to assist our clients in getting their Refund of Special Additional Duty (SAD) without minimal complications.
