

Opportunity Of Life

The English dictionary defines opportunity as a favorable time,
situation or a condition
to achieve a goal.

Success in any calling depends upon seizing the opportunity by the throat. Whatever your dream: seize every minute, every opportunity, every chance to make it possible. That is the only way to be successful.

A photograph of a wooden building at night, with a window open. Two elderly people, wearing white head coverings and light-colored clothing, are looking out of the window. The window is framed by dark wooden shutters. The building's exterior is made of horizontal wooden planks. Two strings of warm white string lights are draped across the scene, one on the left and one on the right, framing the window. The overall atmosphere is warm and intimate.

You must remember that everyday brings with it opportunities, an opportunity to chase your dreams, an opportunity to be courageous, an opportunity to make friends and an opportunity to love.

To succeed in life you should be able to spot opportunities where others only see obstacles.

An underwater photograph of three swimmers in a pool. They are wearing purple patterned swimsuits and swim caps. The swimmer in the center is upside down, with one leg extended towards the surface. The other two swimmers are also upside down, one to the left and one to the right. The water is blue, and there are lane lines visible on the pool floor.

When faced with a challenging situation seize the chance, do not back away because of little difficulties, face it head on and master the situation.

A person wearing a red and black striped shirt and plaid shorts is crouching on a rocky cliff edge, looking down at a river. A large splash of water is visible in the background, creating a misty atmosphere. The scene is set in a natural, outdoor environment with trees and vegetation in the distance.

Men are not born great, they become great by the choices they make, by the chances they seize and the opportunities
they act upon.

Many fail as opportunity is often presented in the form of a difficulty or a set back. It comes to us disguised and is quick to slip away if not acted upon.

How many times have you cried out that you did not succeed as you had no opportunities in life? How many times have you let go of chances because you considered yourselves unequal to the challenge? How many times have you let go of chances because you thought you did not have the necessary skill?

A close-up photograph of a person's hand holding a glowing light painting of a butterfly. The light trails are bright orange and yellow, creating a detailed shape of a butterfly with its wings spread. The hand is positioned in the lower right, with the wrist adorned with several beaded bracelets. The background is dark and textured.

What many of us call turning points in our lives are but chances
that you have seized or failed to seize.

We are presented with opportunities all the time but it is we who fail to seize it and cry that there are no more chances.

Seizing your chances and acting upon them though difficult is much better than ending up with grief and regret.

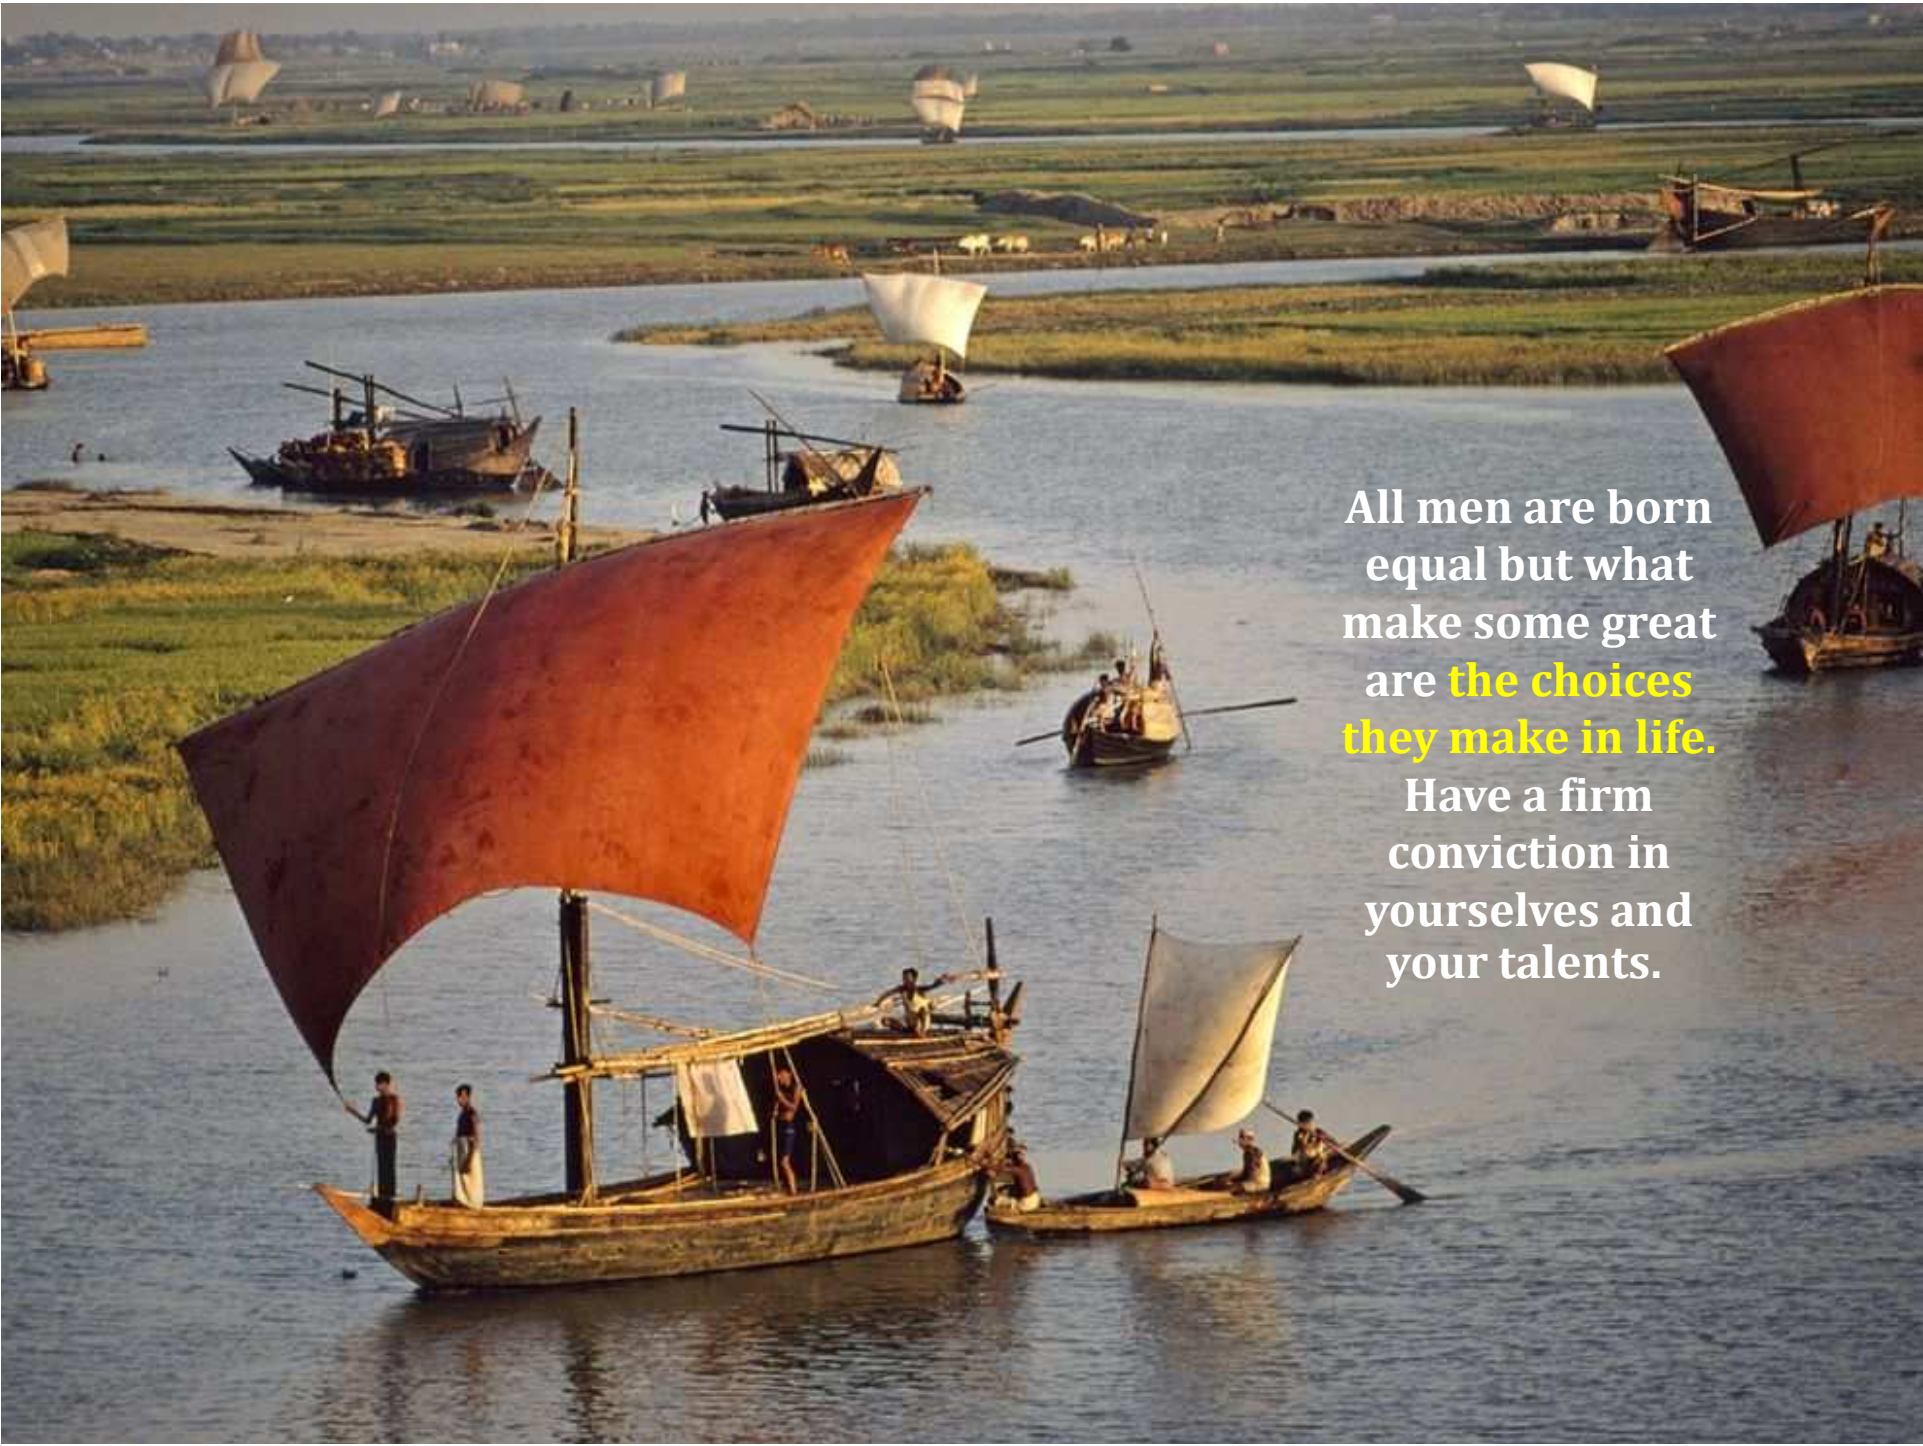

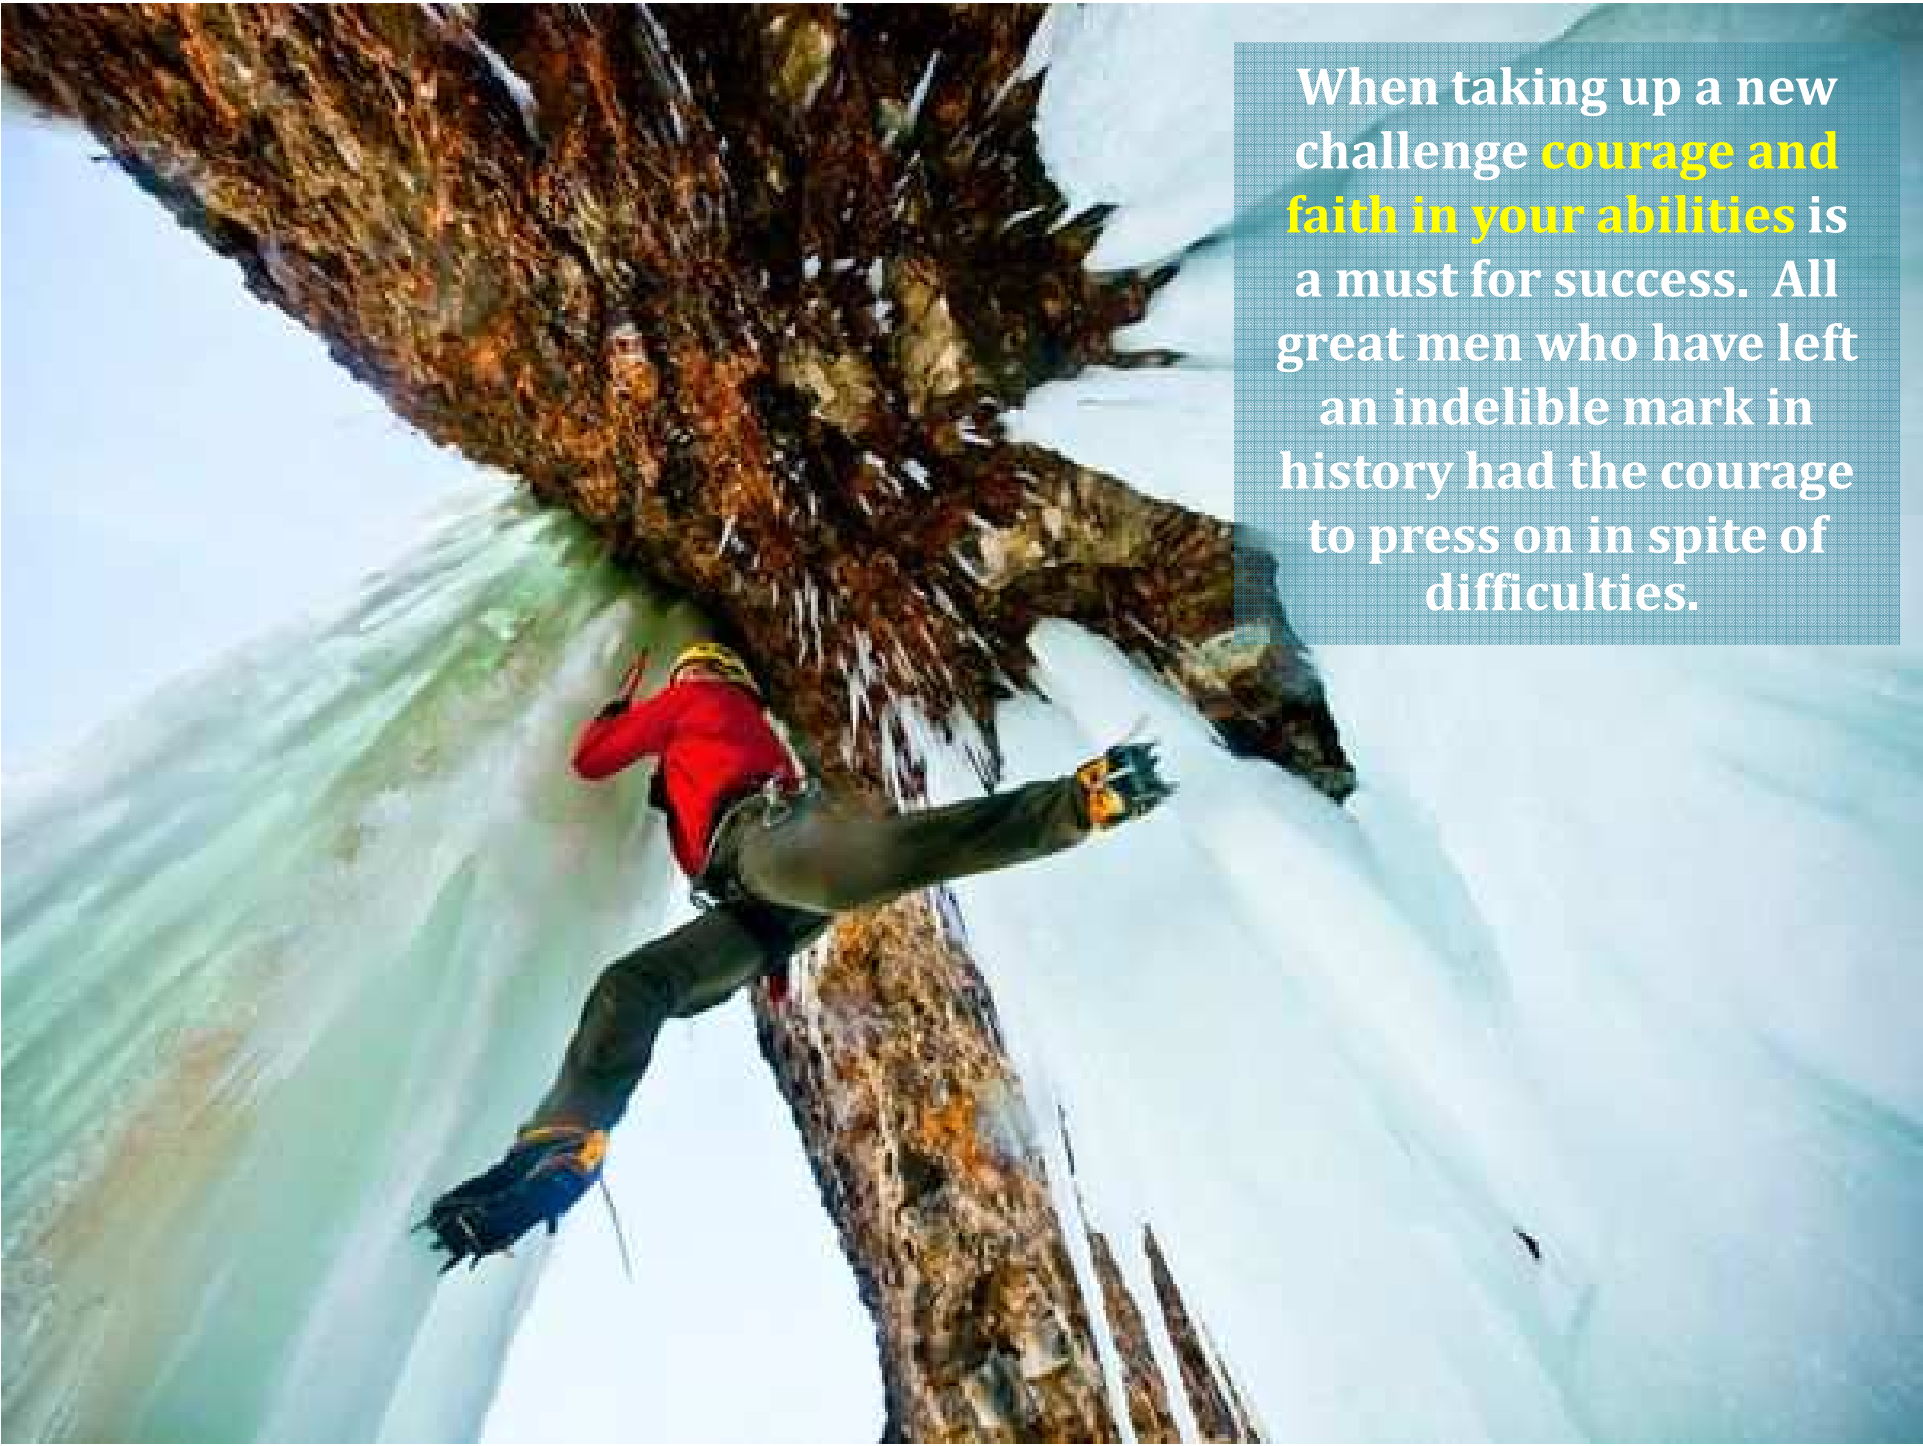

We complain that there are no opportunities around us. We fail to see the chances around us but dream of possibilities on distant lands look around you.

Every small step can lead to bigger and better chances. Do not sit idle and waste your time, seize chances and make the ordinary look great. Great men seize opportunities and trample upon the impossible.

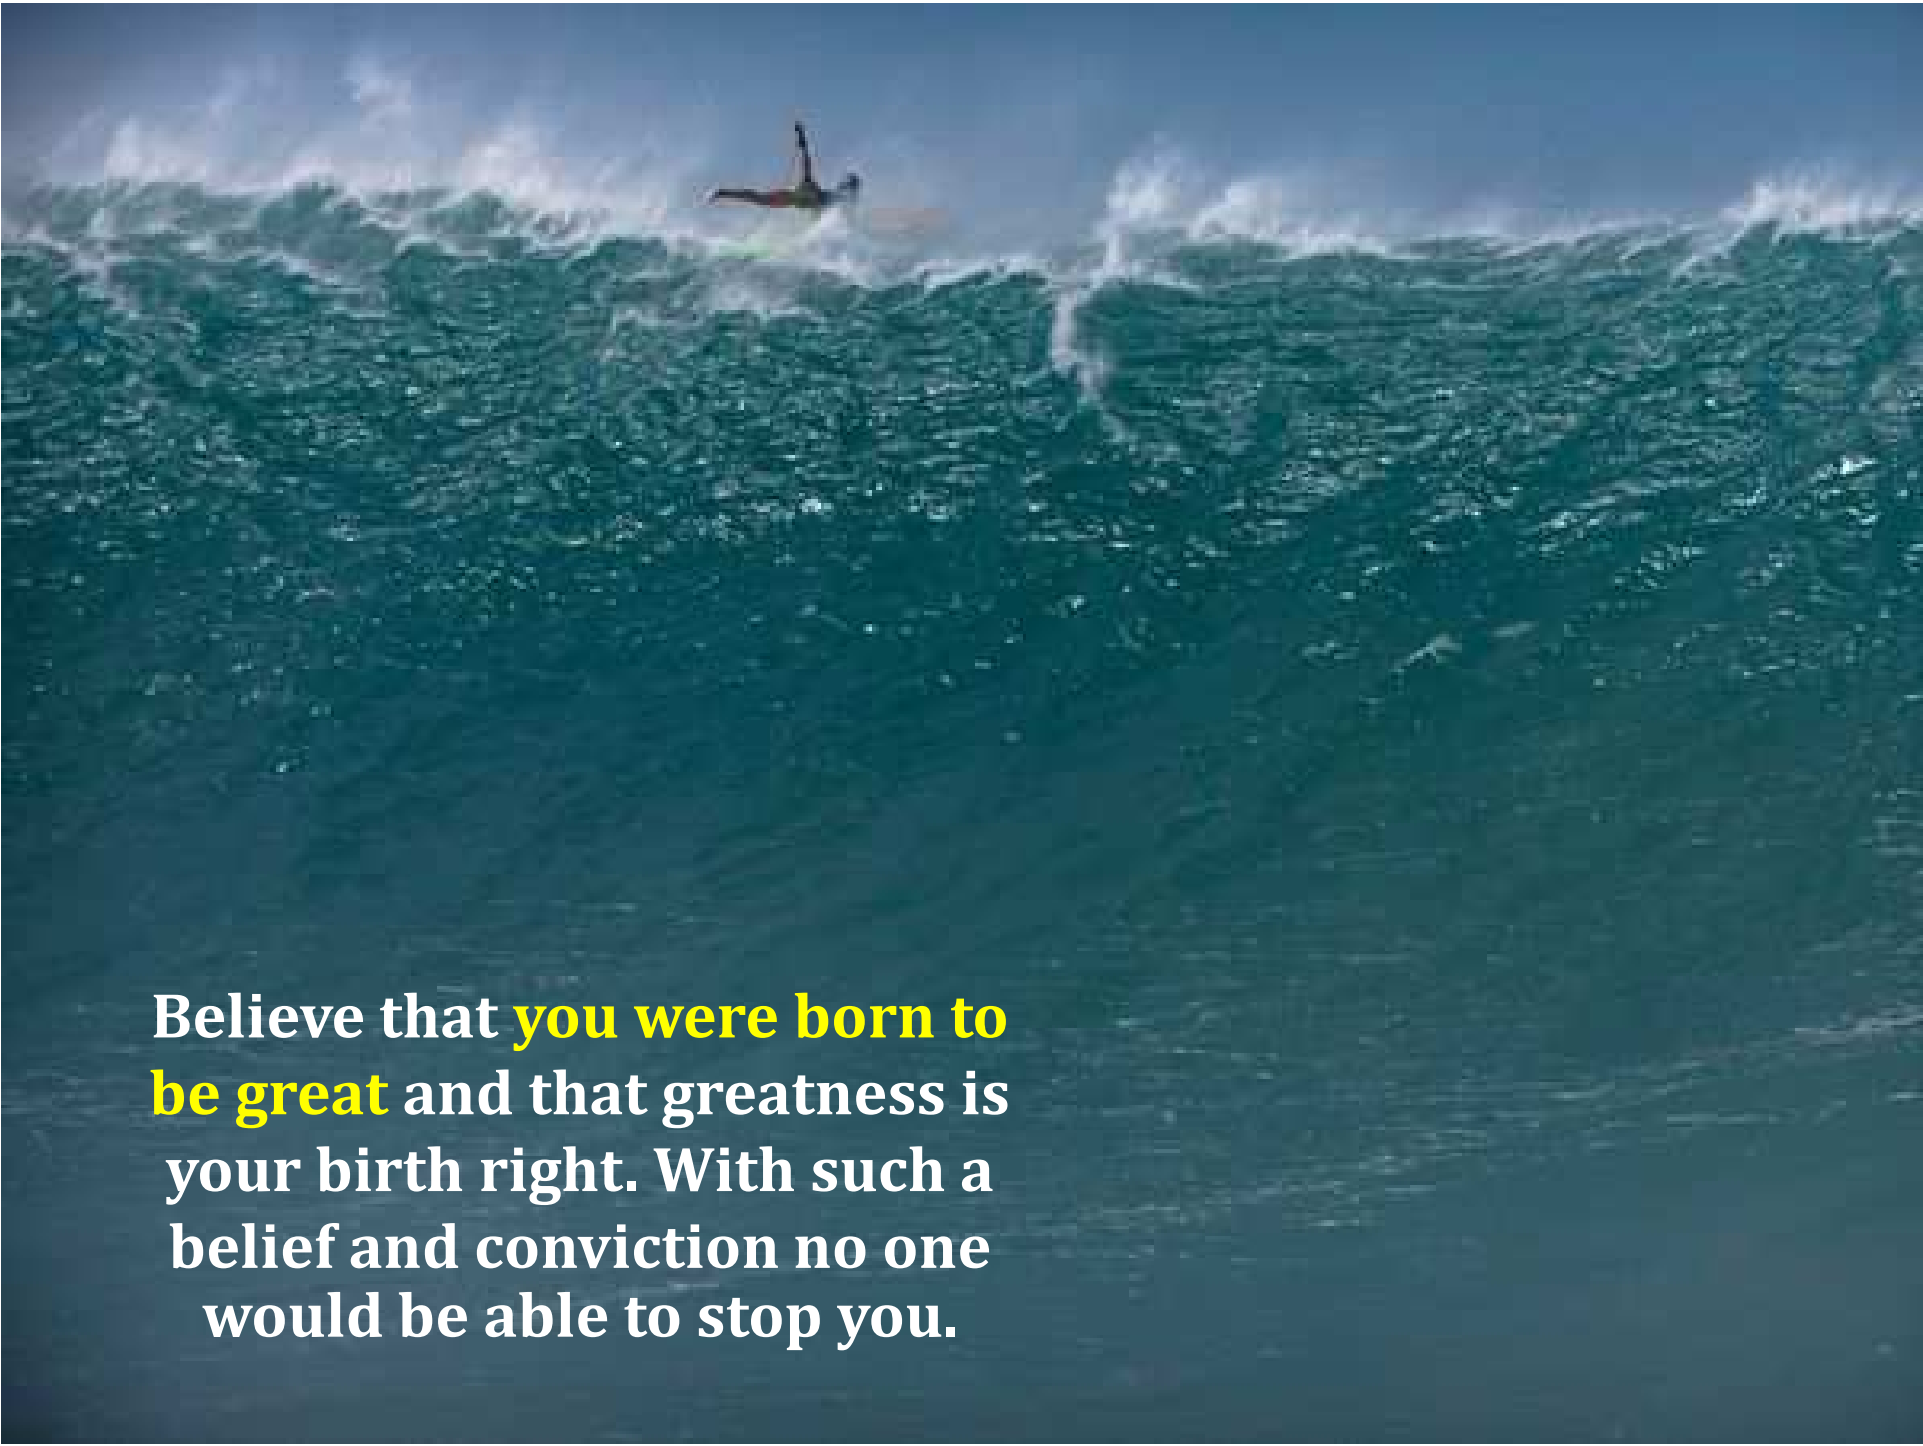

All men are born
equal but what make some great
are the choices
they make in life.
Have a firm
conviction in yourselves and your talents.

A person in a red jacket and dark pants is ice climbing a steep, icy mountain face. The climber is positioned in the lower center of the frame, reaching up with their right arm. The ice is a mix of white and light blue, with some darker, rocky patches visible. The background is a vast, snowy mountain landscape under a clear sky.

When taking up a new challenge courage and faith in your abilities is a must for success. All great men who have left an indelible mark in history had the courage to press on in spite of difficulties.

Believe that you were born to be great and that greatness is your birth right. With such a belief and conviction no one would be able to stop you.

Success begins in the mind;
think about success and
positive thoughts all day.

What is that you are good at?
What can you do better than others? What is that you can do to add value to others lives?
There are opportunities where you are. They are all around you.

Do not wait for opportunities but make them. Remember the same chance is never offered twice.
Seize the chance, push on and make your life a master piece.
