734	For last year's words belong to last year's language, And next year's words await another voice, And to make an end is to make a beginning.	-T. S. Eliot.
735	We don't believe in ourselves until someone reveals that deep inside us something is valuable, worth listening to, worthy of our trust, sacred to our touch... that reveals the human spirit.	- e e cummings.
736	The intuitive mind is a sacred gift and the rational mind is a faithful servant. We have created a society the honor the servant and has forgotten the gift.	-Albert Einstein.
737	Don't believe in anything simply because you have heard it. Do not believe in anything simply because it is spoken and rumored by many. Don't believe in anything simply because it is found written in your religious books. Don't believe in anything merely on the authority of your teachers and elders. Don't believe in traditions because they have been handed down for many generations. But after observation and analysis, when you find that anything agrees with reason and is conducive to the good and benefit of one and all, then accept it and live up to it.	-Buddha.
738	Spend some time with your loved ones, because they are not going to be around forever. Say a kind word to someone who looks up to you in awe, because that little person soon will grow up and leave your side. Give a warm hug to the one next to you, because that is the only treasure you can give with your heart and it doesn't cost a thing. Remember, to say, 'I love you' to your partner and your loved ones, but most of all meant it. A kiss and an embrace will mend hurt when it comes from deep inside of you. Remember to hold hands and cherish the moment for someday that person will not be there again.	-George Carlin.

739	There is no such thing as instant improvement in life. And as you know in agriculture, growth can only happen little by little over time.... The things that you do daily may seem small and insignificant, but over time people will be surprised to learn how much you have grown in life. Focus on the small things you do daily. The key word here is daily. If you don't have the persistence to do these small things consistently, you won't be able to see the results over the long term.	-Donald Latumahina.
739	In three words I can sum up everything I've learned about life: it goes on.	-Robert Frost.

745	No man or woman of the humblest sort can really be strong, gentle and good without the world being better for it, without somebody being helped and comforted by the very existence of that goodness.	-Alan Alda.
746	Whatever in society is good and great and sublime is the working out of love. Whatever in society is very bad – nay diabolical – is also ill-directed, working out of the same emotion of love. It is this same emotion that gives us the pure and holy conjugal love as well as the sort of love which goes to satisfy the lowest forms of passion. It is the same feeling of love well or ill-directed that impels one man to do good and to give all he has to the poor, while it makes another man cut the throats of his brethren and take away all their possessions. The former loves others as much as the later loves himself.	-Vivekananda.

747	Ah, fill the cup: what boots it to repeat How time is slipping underneath our Feet; Unborn, Tomorrow and dead Yesterday, Why fret about them if Today be sweet!	-Omar Khayyam.
748	Don't occupy your precious time except with the most precious of things, and the most precious of human things is the state of being occupied between the past and the future.	-Isa al-Kharraz.
749	The good endure pain in the interest of others. But the evil do so to give others pain. The tender-hearted, like the birch tree, submit to distress –even allow their bark to be torn off – for the good of their neighbors. But the wicked, like the hemp, have their skin flayed off and perish in agony to be able to torture others. They do harm to others even though they have no purpose of their own to serve. Having destroyed their neighbor's property, they perish themselves, like the hail that melts away to nothing after ruining the crops. The rise of the wicked is a source of calamity to the world. The rise of the good, on the other hand, like that of the sun and the moon, is ever conducive to universal joy. The highest merit known to the Vedas is to do no harm; and there is no sin as heinous as speaking ill of others.	-Tulsidas.
750	The only thing that overcomes hard luck is hard work.	- Harry Golden.
