

SOME GOOD THOUGHTS

- Trust your own instinct. Your mistakes might as well be your own, instead of someone else's.

Great works are performed not by strength but persistence.

- The more we study, the more we discover our ignorance.

Efficiency and innovation are two sides of the same coin called 'Value Creation'.

- Our laws (kanoon) can be friendly to those who obey them, and too often useful to those who don't.

Managing change is more difficult than introducing change, as it is perceived to be fear or instability and it always brings resistance.

- Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere.

When in doubt, look intelligent.

←-----hOw'S tHe ExPeRiEnCe ?? rEaD on.....→

- Live for other, others will live for you.

We are the people, our parents warned us about.

- Hating people is like burning down your own house to get rid of a rat.

It's a bittersweet symphony, that's life.

- Share the similarities, celebrate the differences.

In every community there is work to done..... In every heart there is the power to do it.

- If people don't measure up to your standards, perhaps you should check your yardstick.

If you judge others you will have no time to love them.

- Never look down on anybody unless you're helping him up.

Life works best when you choose what you got.

- Cooperation can be spelled with two letters: We.

Everyone's entitled to opinions, but don't abuse your privilege.

- You say I'm a dreamer, but I'm not the only one.