> "Dividend is given to a non-profit organization. The suggestion is that dividend which is given as per Section of the Companies Act, they should be treated as income arising to the non-profit organization and not to the transferor. These are specific clubbing provisions where share is given to a non-profit organization. That dividend also goes to that non-profit organization. These clubbing provisions operate where there is no transfer of asset but there is transfer of income. We are saying if the asset has not been transferred and only income is being transferred, then income will continue to be clubbed in the hands of the person who is still owning the assets. He cannot transfer that dividend to the non-profit organization."

96.5.2 On being asked by the Committee whether the dividend would be tax-free if the transferor has gifted the shares themselves to the non-profit organization, the representative of the Ministry responded as follows:

> "For one year, it will be tax-free because within one year the NPO has to liquidate those shares."

96.5.3 When the concern was raised by the Committee as to why the Non-Profit Organization is being compelled to liquidate gifted shares, it was stated:

"That is the basic structure we have kept in the NPO that they can invest only in safe modes of investment which are provided in Section 11(5) of the old Act… the problem is not with the gift. The problem is with the voting right which comes along with the shares."

96.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee find that the proposed clause corresponds to section 60 of the Act. The Ministry has stated that redundant provisions have been removed; however, the provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. The Committee, therefore, accept the clause as proposed.

Clause 97: Chargeability of income in transfer of assets

97.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

97. (1) All income arising to any person by virtue of a revocable transfer of assets shall be chargeable to income-tax as income of the transferor and shall be included in his total income.

(2) The provisions of sub-section (1) shall not apply, if such transfer—

(a) is by way of trust which is not revocable during the lifetime of the beneficiary; or

(b) and in case of any other transfer, is not revocable during the lifetime of the transferee, and the transferor does not derive any direct or indirect benefit from such income in cases referred to in clauses (a) and (b).

(3) Irrespective of the provisions of sub-section (2), all income arising to any person by virtue of such transfer shall be chargeable to income-tax as income of the transferor as and when the power to revoke such transfer arises, and shall than be included in his total income.

97.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Section 61. All income arising to any person by virtue of a revocable transfer of assets shall be chargeable to income-tax as the income of the transferor and shall be included in his total income.

Section 62. (1) The provisions of section 61 shall not apply to any income arising to any person by virtue of a transfer—

(i) by way of trust which is not revocable during the lifetime of the beneficiary, and, in the case of any other transfer, which is not revocable during the lifetime of the transferee; or

(ii) made before the 1st day of April, 1961, which is not revocable for a period exceeding six years :

Provided that the transferor derives no direct or indirect benefit from such income in either case.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), all income arising to any person by virtue of any such transfer shall be chargeable to income-tax as the income of the transferor as and when the power to revoke the transfer arises, and shall then be included in his total income.

97.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 97 of the Bill seeks to provide for clubbing of income in the hands of transferor and transferee in case where transfer of assets is revocable or where the transfer of assets is irrevocable for a specified period. The clause corresponds to sections 61 and 62 of the Act. The provisions of the existing sections have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

97.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

97.4.1 Clause 97(2)(b): The usage of the words ‘or’ and ‘and’ together makes the language incoherent. The use of the word 'and' in the corresponding provision (Section 62 of ITA 1961) is a result of grammatical construction and does not imply that the conditions are required to be collectively satisfied. Correct the language of the provision by deleting ‘and’ at the beginning of clause (b) in Section 97(2) of ITB 2025 to avoid incoherence.

97.5 Examination by the Committee:

When the Committee pointed out the usage of words ‘or’ and ‘and’ together makes the language incoherent, the Ministry admitted it as an inadvertent drafting error, and stated that the word “or”/”and” is to be omitted in Clause 97(2).

97.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after examining the clause, recommend that the word 'and' in the beginning of the Clause 97(2)(b) be omitted as use of words 'or' and 'and' together leads to ambiguity and makes the language incoherent. The Committee note that the proposed clause corresponds to Sections 61 and 62 of the existing Act. The provisions of these existing sections have been textually simplified while retaining the same intent in this clause. The Committee, therefore, accept the provisions of the clause, subject to the aforementioned drafting correction.

Clause 98: "Transfer" and "revocable transfer" defined

98.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

Clause 98: For the purposes of sections 96 and 97, and this section,— (a) "transfer" includes any settlement, trust, covenant, agreement or arrangement; (b) a transfer shall be considered to be revocable, if— (i) it contains any provision for the direct or indirect re-transfer of the whole or any part of the income or assets to the transferor; or (ii) it, in any way, gives the transferor a right to re-assume power directly or indirectly over the whole or any part of the income or assets.

98.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Section 63. For the purposes of sections 60, 61 and 62 and of this section,—

(a) a transfer shall be deemed to be revocable if—
(i) it contains any provision for the re-transfer directly or indirectly of the whole or any part of the income or assets to the transferor, or
(ii) it, in any way, gives the transferor a right to re-assume power directly or indirectly over the whole or any part of the income or assets;

(b) "transfer" includes any settlement, trust, covenant, agreement or arrangement.

98.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 98 of the Bill provides for definitions of the expressions "Transfer" and "revocable transfer". The clause corresponds to section 63 of the Act. The provisions of the existing sections have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

98.4 Examination by the Committee:

The Committee pointed out that the term 'transfer' includes any settlement, trust, covenant, agreement, or arrangement, and sought clarification on what safeguards would be implemented to prevent the unintended inclusion of routine commercial transactions under this broad definition of 'arrangement'. They also questioned whether introducing a materiality threshold or a main purpose test would be appropriate to align with international anti-avoidance standards. In response, the Ministry stated the following in their written reply:

> “98 of the Bill (sec 63 of the Act) define the term "transfer" in the context of clubbing of income. The definition of transfer includes any arrangement. The provisions are anti-abuse in nature to prevent artificial reduction in tax liability by way of transfer of income where there is no transfer of assets/revocable transfer. Any commercial transactions undertaken are to be examined to conclude whether it is falling under the category of arrangement. If on the analysis of the facts it is established that the commercial transaction is an arrangement to reduce tax liability, then only provisions of cl 96 and 97 will apply.”

98.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that the proposed clause corresponds to section 63 of the existing Act and is a textual simplification of those in the existing Act, retaining the same intent. The Committee, therefore, accept the clause as proposed.

Clause 99: Income of individual to include income of spouse, minor child, etc.

99.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

99. (1) The total income of any individual, for a tax year, shall include the income arising directly or indirectly,—

(a) to the spouse,—

(i) by way of salary, commission, fees or any other form of remuneration, whether in cash or kind, from a concern in which such individual has a substantial interest but shall not exclude income solely attributable to the application of technical or professional knowledge, experience and professional qualification of the spouse;

(ii) from assets transferred directly or indirectly to him or her by such individual otherwise than for adequate consideration or in connection with an agreement to live apart, subject to the provisions of section 25(a);

(iii) from assets transferred directly or indirectly to any person or association of persons otherwise than for adequate consideration to the extent to which the income from such assets is for the immediate or deferred benefit of the spouse;

(b) to the son's wife,—

(i) from assets transferred directly or indirectly on or after the 1st June, 1973, to her by such individual, otherwise than for adequate consideration; or

(ii) from assets transferred directly or indirectly on or after the 1st June, 1973, to any person or association of persons otherwise than for adequate consideration to the extent to which the income from such assets is for the immediate or deferred benefit of the son's wife;

(c) to the minor child of the individual but shall not include in the total income of the individual where the income arising or accruing to the minor child is from manual work done by such child, or from activities where his skill, talent, specialised knowledge or experience is applied, or where such minor child is suffering from disability of the nature specified in section 154.

(2) If the asset transferred under sub-section (1)(a) or (b) is invested by the spouse or son's wife, in any business or capital contributed as a partner in a firm, or, as the case may be, for being admitted to the benefits of partnership in a firm, then, the income to be included in the hands of the individual for the tax year shall be as follows:—

A = B × (C D) where,— A = Income to be included in the hands of individual for the tax year; B = Income and interest or both, arising to the spouse or son's wife from the business or the firm, as applicable during the tax year; C = Value of such assets invested, or contributed as capital by the spouse or son's wife as on the first day of the tax year; D = Total investment or total capital contribution, as the case may be, by the spouse or son's wife as on the day for which A is being computed.

(3) Where a property owned by an individual is converted into property belonging to the Hindu undivided family of which he is a member, through–

(a) the act of impressing such separate property with the character of property belonging to the family; or

(b) throwing it into the common stock of the family; or

(c) transfer, directly or indirectly to the family, without adequate consideration, then, irrespective of any other provision of this Act or any other law in force for computing the total income of such individual,—

(i) the individual shall be deemed to have transferred such property, through the family, to the members of such family for being held jointly, and the income derived from such property or part thereof, shall be deemed to be income of the individual;

(ii) upon partition (whether partial or total) of the family, the income derived from such property as is received by the spouse of the individual on partition, shall be deemed to arise to the spouse from assets transferred indirectly to the spouse and the provisions of sub-section (1)(a) shall apply;

(iii) the income referred to in clauses(i) and (ii) shall, on being included in the total income of the individual, be excluded from the total income of the family or, the spouse.

(4) The provisions of sub-section (3) shall not apply where the property of the individual has been converted into property belonging to the family on or before the 31st December, 1969.

(5) In this section,—

(a) for sub-section (1)(a),—

(i) the income referred to in that clause shall be included in the hands of either of the spouse whose total income before such inclusion is greater; and

(ii) such income, once included in the total income of either spouse, for a tax year, shall not be included in the income of the other spouse for any succeeding tax year, unless the Assessing Officer is so satisfied, after giving the other spouse an opportunity of being heard;

(iii) “substantial interest in a concern” means,—

(A) in case of a company, if its shares (not being shares entitled to a fixed rate of dividend whether with or without a further right to participate in profits) carrying not less than 20% of the voting power are, at any time during the tax year, owned beneficially by the individual or jointly with one or more of his relatives;

(B) in any other case, if such person is entitled, or such person and one or more of his relatives are jointly entitled, to atleast 20% of the profits of such concern at any time during the tax year;

(b) for sub-section (1)(d), income of minor child shall be included—

(i) in the income of that parent whose total income before such inclusion is greater in case where the marriage of his parents subsists; or

(ii) in the income of the parent who maintains such child during the tax year in case where marriage of his parents does not subsist, and such income, once included in the total income of either parent, for a tax year, shall not be included in the income of the other parent for any succeeding tax year, unless the Assessing Officer is so satisfied, after giving the other parent an opportunity of being heard;

(c) for sub-section (3), “property” includes—

(i) interest in property; or

(ii) movable or immovable property; or

(iii) proceeds of sale of such property and any money, property or investment representing such proceeds; or

(iv) where property is converted into any other property by any method, such other property; (d) for this section, “income” includes loss.

99.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Section: 64. (1) In computing the total income of any individual, there shall be included all such income as arises directly or indirectly—

(i) [Omitted by the Finance Act, 1992, w.e.f. 1-4-1993.]

(ii) to the spouse of such individual by way of salary, commission, fees or any other form of remuneration whether in cash or in kind from a concern in which such individual has a substantial interest :

Provided that nothing in this clause shall apply in relation to any income arising to the spouse where the spouse possesses technical or professional qualifications and the income is solely attributable to the application of his or her technical or professional knowledge and experience ;

(iii) [Omitted by the Finance Act, 1992, w.e.f. 1-4-1993.]

(iv) subject to the provisions of clause (i) of section 27, to the spouse of such individual from assets transferred directly or indirectly to the spouse by such individual otherwise than for adequate consideration or in connection with an agreement to live apart;

(v) Omitted by the Finance Act, 1992, w.e.f. 1-4-1993.]

(vi) to the son's wife, of such individual, from assets transferred directly or indirectly on or after the 1st day of June, 1973, to the son's wife by such individual otherwise than for adequate consideration;

(vii) to any person or association of persons from assets transferred directly or indirectly otherwise than for adequate consideration to the person or association of persons by such individual, to the extent to which the income from such assets is for the immediate or deferred benefit of his or her spouse; and

(viii) to any person or association of persons from assets transferred directly or indirectly on or after the 1st day of June, 1973, otherwise than for adequate consideration, to the person or association of persons by such individual, to the extent to which the income from such assets is for the immediate or deferred benefit of his son's wife.

Explanation 1.—For the purposes of clause (ii), the individual in computing whose total income the income referred to in that clause is to be included, shall be the husband or wife whose total income (excluding the income referred to in that clause) is greater; and where any such income is once included in the total income of either spouse, any such income arising in any succeeding year shall not be included in the total income of the other spouse unless the Assessing Officer is satisfied, after giving that spouse an opportunity of being heard, that it is necessary so to do.

Explanation 2.—For the purposes of clause (ii), an individual shall be deemed to have a substantial interest in a concern—

(i) in a case where the concern is a company, if its shares (not being shares entitled to a fixed rate of dividend whether with or without a further right to participate in profits) carrying not less than twenty per cent of the voting power are, at any time during the previous year, owned beneficially by such person or partly by such person and partly by one or more of his relatives;
(ii) in any other case, if such person is entitled, or such person and one or more of his relatives are entitled in the aggregate, at any time during the previous year, to not less than twenty per cent of the profits of such concern.

Explanation 2A.—[Omitted by the Finance Act, 1992, w.e.f. 1-4-1993.]

Explanation 3.—For the purposes of clauses (iv) and (vi), where the assets transferred directly or indirectly by an individual to his spouse or son's wife (hereafter in this Explanation referred to as "the transferee") are invested by the transferee,—

(i) in any business, such investment being not in the nature of contribution of capital as a partner in a firm or, as the case may be, for being admitted to the benefits of partnership in a firm, that part of the income arising out of the business to the transferee in any previous year, which bears the same proportion to the income of the transferee from the business as the value of the assets aforesaid as on the first day of the previous year bears to the total investment in the business by the transferee as on the said day ;

(ii) in the nature of contribution of capital as a partner in a firm, that part of the interest receivable by the transferee from the firm in any previous year, which bears the same proportion to the interest receivable by the transferee from the firm as the value of investment aforesaid as on the first day of the previous year bears to the total investment by way of capital contribution as a partner in the firm as on the said day, shall be included in the total income of the individual in that previous year.

(1A) In computing the total income of any individual, there shall be included all such income as arises or accrues to his minor child , not being a minor child suffering from any disability of the nature specified in section 80U :
Provided that nothing contained in this sub-section shall apply in respect of such income as arises or accrues to the minor child on account of any—

(a) manual work done by him; or

(b) activity involving application of his skill, talent or specialised knowledge and experience.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section, the income of the minor child shall be included,—

(a) where the marriage of his parents subsists, in the income of that parent whose total income (excluding the income includible under this sub-section) is greater; or

(b) where the marriage of his parents does not subsist, in the income of that parent who maintains the minor child in the previous year,and where any such income is once included in the total income of either parent, any such income arising in any succeeding year shall not be included in the total income of the other parent, unless the Assessing Officer is satisfied, after giving that parent an opportunity of being heard, that it is necessary so to do.

(2) Where, in the case of an individual being a member of a Hindu undivided family, any property having been the separate property of the individual has, at any time after the 31st day of December, 1969, been converted by the individual into property belonging to the family through the act of impressing such separate property with the character of property belonging to the family or throwing it into the common stock of the family or been transferred by the individual, directly or indirectly, to the family otherwise than for adequate consideration (the property so converted or transferred being hereinafter referred to as the converted property), then, notwithstanding anything contained in any other provision of this Act or in any other law for the time being in force, for the purpose of computation of the total income of the individual under this Act for any assessment year commencing on or after the 1st day of April, 1971,—

(a) the individual shall be deemed to have transferred the converted property, through the family, to the members of the family for being held by them jointly ;

(b) the income derived from the converted property or any part thereof shall be deemed to arise to the individual and not to the family ;

(c) where the converted property has been the subject-matter of a partition (whether partial or total) amongst the members of the family, the income derived from such converted property as is received by the spouse on partition shall be deemed to arise to the spouse from assets transferred indirectly by the individual to the spouse and the provisions of sub-section (1) shall, so far as may be, apply accordingly:

Provided that the income referred to in clause (b) or clause (c) shall, on being included in the total income of the individual, be excluded from the total income of the family or, as the case may be, the spouse of the individual.

Explanation 1.—For the purposes of sub-section (2),—

"property" includes any interest in property, movable or immovable, the proceeds of sale thereof and any money or investment for the time being representing the proceeds of sale thereof and where the property is converted into any other property by any method, such other property.

Explanation 2.—For the purposes of this section, "income" includes loss.

99.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 99 of the Bill provides for clubbing of income. The clause corresponds to section 64 of the Act. Formula has been introduced in clause 99(2) corresponding to Explanation 3 of section 64 of the Act for ease of understanding and certainty in computation. The provisions of the existing sections have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

99.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

99.4.1 In section 99(1)(a)(i), the phrase “but shall not exclude income” should be substituted with “but shall not include income” The sub-section may be redrafted as follows - (1) The total income of any individual, for a tax year, shall include the income arising directly or indirectly,— (a) to the spouse,— (i) by way of salary, commission, fees or any other form of remuneration, whether in cash or kind, from a concern in which such individual has a substantial interest but shall not ~~exclude~~ include income solely attributable to the application of technical or professional knowledge, experience and professional qualification of the spouse; Section 99(1)(a)(i) uses the word “exclude” instead of “include”, which conveys the converse meaning.

99.4.2 Clause (b) of section 99(1) may be deleted. The clubbing provisions not to apply in respect of assets transferred to son’s wife, since this provision is very gender-specific and is inconsistent with the other measures of the Government to encourage property ownership by women. Consequent to the suggestion to remove clause (b), clause (c) may be re-numbered as clause (b).

99.4.3 In the opening part of sub-section (2) of 96, reference to “or (b)” and reference to “son’s wife” at all places in sub-section (2) be removed. Sub-section (2) may be reworded as follows – (2) If the asset transferred under subsection (1)(a) ~~or (b)~~ is invested by the spouse ~~or son’s wife~~, in any business or capital contributed as a partner in a firm, or, as the case may be, for being admitted to the benefits of partnership in a firm, then, the income to be included in the hands of the individual for the tax year shall be as follows:— A=B×(C/D) where,— A = Income to be included in the hands of individual for the tax year; B = Income and interest or both, arising to the spouse ~~or son’s wife~~ from the business or the firm, as applicable during the tax year; C = Value of such assets invested, or contributed as capital by the spouse ~~or son’s wife~~ as on the first day of the tax year; D = Total investment or total capital contribution, as the case may be, by the spouse ~~or son’s wife~~ as on the day for which A is being computed.

99.4.4 In formula in explanation of D [clause 99 (2)], in place of ‘as on the day for which A is being computed’ it ought to be ‘as on the first day of the tax year’ to make it same as given in ‘C’.

99.4.5 Sub-section 99(5)(a) may begin with the following reference: “(a) for sub-section (1)(a)(i),—” instead of “(a) for sub-section (1)(a),— Justification: The principles enumerated in sub-section (5)(a) are with reference to the provisions under sub-section (1)(a)(i). A reference only to sub-section (1)(a) would include all clubbing provisions related to transactions between spouses. Thus, instead of a broader reference to sub-section (1)(a), a specific reference to sub-section (1)(a)(i) would avoid any unintended consequences.

99.4.6 Section 99(5)(b) the reference to sub-section (1)(d) should be changed to sub-section (1)(c). Clause (d) is not present in Section 99(1).

99.5 Examination by the Committee:

99.5.1 When the Committee pointed out that in regard to Clause 99(1)(a)(i), the phrase "but shall not exclude income" should be substituted with "but shall not include income", the Ministry accepted it, stating it to be a drafting error.

99.5.2 In regard to suggestion related to exclude clubbing of income in case of transfer of asset to son's wife, the Ministry has stated that the suggestion is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis a vis Act. The provision is an anti abuse provision to tackle situations where any asset is transferred within the family to lower the tax liability.

99.5.3 Regarding the suggestion that in formula in explanation of D [Clause (2)], in place of 'as on the day for which A is being computed' it ought to be 'as on the first day of the tax year' to make it same as given in 'C', the), the Ministry accepted it, stating it to be a drafting error.

99.5.4 When the Committee pointed out that there is an error in section 99(5), where the reference is incorrectly made to clause (d) instead of clause (c), the Ministry accepted it, stating it to be a drafting error.

99.5.5 In regard to suggestion that in place of 'for sub-section 1(a)', it ought to be 'for sub section 1(a)(i), the Ministry accepted it, stating it to be a drafting error.

99.5.6 When the Committee pointed out that if a person makes a gift to minor children, which is legally permitted and considered as transferred to them, then the income generated from that gift should also belong to the children, and the tax on that income should be payable by them and desired to know as to why is this not allowed in practice and are there any litigations or High Court or Supreme Court judgments related to this issue, the Ministry in their written reply has stated as follows:

> "The clubbing provisions in the Bill/Act are anti-abuse provisions. These provisions prevent artificial reduction in tax liability by way of transfer of income generating asset. The person (owner of the asset) may transfer the asset to spouse or minor children so as to reduce tax liability on any income from such asset in his hands as he may be liable to tax at a higher rate. By this arrangement, any person may transfer the assets to various other persons and reduce its tax liability.

The constitutional validity of sub-section (1A) of section 64 was upheld by the Hon'ble Madras High Court in K.M. Vijayan vs union of India [1996] 85 TAXMAN 75 (MAD.) and also in Patna High Court in Syed Askari Hadi Ali Augustine Imam v. Union of India [1994] 209 ITR 746.

SIBI JOY v. Income-tax Officer [2023] 150 taxmann.com 524 (Kerala): The court held that the interest income arising in hands of a minor should be added to parent's total income under section 64(1A) for purpose of taxation. Sulochana V Gupta v. Income-tax Officer [2025] 174 taxmann.com 1201 (Gujarat): The court held that where income of minor was clubbed in hands of assessee-mother for previous assessment year, strictly interpreting provision of section 64(1A), income of minor was rightly considered as income (loss) in hands of assessee-mother for relevant assessment year."

99.5.7 The Committee pointed out that gifting is permitted to certain relatives beyond the spouse, and raised the question of why clubbing and gifting should not fall within the same relational category. On being asked by the Committee to provide a note clarifying the application of clubbing provisions under the IT Act, particularly in relation to a spouse and minor children—the Ministry furnished the following information:

"Chapter V of the Income-tax Act, 1961 ('the Act') concerns itself with inclusion of income of other persons in the assessee's total income. There are five sections in this Chapter. Transfer of income where there is no transfer of assets is covered by section 60 of the Act. Cases of revocable transfer of assets come under section 61 of the Act. Transfers which are irrevocable for a specified period are governed by section 62 of the Act. Section 63 of the Act merely defines what is meant by 'transfer' and 'revocable transfer' for the purposes of sections 60, 61 and 62.

2. Then comes section 64 of the Act: 'Income of individual to include income of spouse, minor child, etc.—this is the subject-matter of the provisions of section 64. Seven contingencies are contemplated by section 64 for such inclusion. That section has five Explanations to sub-section (1). Sub-section (2) has a proviso and two Explanations. Then, section 65 of the Act talks of liability of person in respect of income included in the income of another person.

3. Sections 60 to 65 correspond to sections 16(1)(c) and 16(3) of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 ('the 1922 Act') and have been included in Clauses 96 to 100 of the Income-Tax Bill 2025. There is a departure from the normal rule of assessing one on one's own income. The intention is to counteract tax evasion in the garb of transfer of assets/income under specified circumstances. In fact, sections 60 to 63 of the 1961 Act have overriding effect on section 11 of the Act. Section 11(1) which deals with income from property held for charitable or religious trusts, starts by saying, 'subject to the provisions of sections 60 to 63'.

4. Section 16(3) was first inserted in the 1922 Act by the Amending Act No. 4 of 1937, and was further amended from time to time. Section 64 of the 1961 Act was first amended by the Taxation Laws (Amendment) Act, 1975, while the first insertion was by the Taxation Laws (Amendment) Act, 1970. Certain changes were recommended by the Direct Taxes Administration Enquiry Committee. The word 'individual' in section 16(3)(a)(i) and (ii) was interpreted by the Supreme Court in CIT v. Sodra Devi [1957] 32 1TR 615 to mean only the male, and not the female of the species. Hence, an Explanation is added to provide that where the husband and wife were both partners in a firm, the income of the spouse will be added to the income of either of them having higher income, and where the husband and wife are both partners in a firm and where the minor child is admitted to the benefits of partnership, the income of the minor child from such partnership is includible in the hands of the father or mother, whosoever has higher income.

5. The words in section 16(3)(a)(i) of the 1922 Act were 'in a firm of which her husband is a partner', but the words in section 64(1) of the 1961 Act are, 'in a firm carrying on business in which such individual is a partner'. Another point to note is that business is distinct from profession due to definitions in sections 2(73) and 2(36) of the Act. Hence, though under the 1922 Act the income of the husband and wife could be tagged on and assessed if both are partners in a business or vocation, under the 1961 Act, it is not so. In other words, the catch in section 64(1) is only on a firm carrying on a business. The clubbing cannot be done in a firm doing profession with the husband and-wife as partners—CIT v . Dr. K.K. Shah [1982] 135 ITR 146 (Guj.). It is to be noted that the language of section 64(iii) is different from section 64(1)(i) with the result that where a minor is admitted to the benefits of a partnership engaged in a profession with the parents of the child, the minor income is includible in the hands of the individual.

6. Constitutional validity of the provision

The vires of these special provisions has been tested. They have been held intra vires—Balaji v. ITO [1961] 43 ITR 393 (SC), S. Srinivasan v. CIT [1967] 63 ITR 273 (SC), B.M. Amina Umma v. ITO [1954] 26 ITR 137 (Mad.), E.V. Narasa Reddy v . ITO [1960] 39 ITR 629 (AP) and Umedray Worah v. CIT [1965] 56 ITR 702 (Pat.). In G.K. Devarajulu Naidu v. CIT [1963] 48 ITR 756 (Mad.), section 16(3)(a)(iv) of the 1922 Act corresponding to the unamended section 64(1)(i) and (ii) of the 1961 Act was held as not being in contravention of article 14 of the Constitution. So is the decision in Smt. Shreekunwardevi

Daga v. L.G. Trivedi, ITO [1972] 85 ITR 451 (Bom.). No doubt, as section 64 creates, as far as the transferor is concerned, an artificial income, it must be construed strictly—CIT v. Manilal Dhanji [1962] 44 ITR 876 (SC), Col. H.H. Sir Harinder Singh v. CIT [1972] 83 ITR 416 (SC). Unless and until there do exist specific deeming provisions for clubbing income of one entity into the hands of another, it is not possible to do so. That is the decision in Sheo Mahendra Kumar v. State of U.P. [1976] 104 ITR 703 (All.).

7. Relevant parts of some of the decisions are reproduced below:

1961] 42 ITR 1 (SC)[03-01-1961], [1961] 42 ITR 1 (SC), Tulsidas Kilachand v. Commissioner of Income-tax:

“The object of framing section 16 can almost be taken from the observations of Lord Macmillan in Chamberlain v. Inland Revenue Commissioners [1943] 25 Tax Cas. 317, where he stated as follows :
"This legislation . . . . (is) designed to overtake and circumvent a growing tendency on the part of taxpayers to endeavour to avoid or reduce tax liability by means of settlements. Stated quite generally, the method consisted in the disposal by the taxpayer of part of his property in such a way that the income should no longer be receivable by him, while at the same time he retained certain powers over, or interests in, the property or its income. The Legislature's counter was to declare that the income of which the taxpayer had thus sought to disembarrass himself should, notwithstanding, be treated as still his income and taxed in his hands accordingly." (P. 329)
These observations apply also to the section under consideration, and the Indian provision is enacted with the same intent and for the same purpose. Section 16 thus lays down certain exemptions and exclusions in determining the total income of an assessee. Some of the provisions lay down the conditions for inclusion of certain income, while others lay down the conditions for exclusion of other income.”

[1961] 43 ITR 393 (SC), Balaji v. Income-tax officer:

“The short question, therefore, is whether section 10(3)(a)(i) and (ii) is a provision made by the Legislature to prevent evasion of tax. Under the relevant provision of the Income-tax Act, if a firm is registered, the share of each partner, in the profit of the firm would be added to his other income and charged as part of his total income. After 1956, the position is the same except in one regard with which we are not now concerned. This provision was intended for the benefit of partners of a business, for it made them liable only to pay tax on their own income. But it gave an effective handle to evade taxation in another direction. A husband or a father could nominally take his wife or his minor sons in partnership with him so that the tax burden might be lightened, for, if the income was divided between a number of people, the income derived by an individual there from might fall under the limits of taxable income or under a less onerous slab. This device enables an assessee to secure the entire income of the business but at the same time to evade income-tax which he would have otherwise been liable to pay. The Income-tax Enquiry Commission of 1936 made certain recommendations to prevent evasion of tax in such cases. The Legislature accepted those recommendations and the loopholes were sought to be plugged by enacting the said sub-section. Sub-section (3)(a)(i) and (ii) was, therefore, enacted for preventing evasion of tax and was well within the competence of the Federal Legislature."

"The constitutional validity of the said provision was next questioned on the ground that it violated the doctrine of equality before the law enshrined in article 14 of the Constitution. Under article 14, "The State shall not deny to any person equality before the law or the equal protection of the laws within the territory of India." But decisions of this court permitted classification if there was reasonable basis for the differentiation. It was held that what article 14 prohibited was class legislation and not reasonable classification for the purpose of legislation. Two conditions were laid down for passing the test of permissible classification, namely, (i) the classification must be founded on an intelligible differentia which distinguishes persons or things that are grouped together from others left out of the group, and (ii) that the differentia must have a rational relation to the object sought to be achieved by the statute in question. Under the impugned sub-section, an individual is taxed on the income of his wife or his minor children, if he carries on business in partnership with his wife or if he admits his minor sons to the benefits of the partnership, whereas an individual, if he carries on business in partnership with a third party, whether a man or a woman, or even with his major children or if he and his wife or children carry on business separately, will be liable only to pay tax on his share of the partnership income, that is, for the purpose of this sub-section, the former is put in a category different from the latter. It cannot be said that there is no differentia between the two groups; but what is contended is that the said differentia has no rational relation to the object sought to be achieved by the statute in question. It was asked how, from the standpoint of imposition of tax, the difference between an individual and his wife doing business in partnership, and between an individual and his wife doing business separately, and an individual doing business in partnership with his wife and an individual doing business in partnership with a third party, male or female, and between an individual who has admitted his minor children to the partnership business and an individual who is doing business in partnership with his major children or outsiders, would have any reasonable basis. This argument ignores the object of the legislation. We have held that the object of the legislation was to prevent evasion of tax. A similar device would not ordinarily be resorted to by individuals by entering into partnership with persons other than those mentioned in the sub-section, as it would involve a risk of the third party turning round and asserting his own rights. The Legislature, therefore, selected for the purpose of classification only that group of persons who in fact are used as a cloak to perpetrate fraud on taxation. It was then said that there might be genuine partnerships between an individual and his wife and, therefore, there is no reasonable relation between the classification and the object sought to be achieved, at any rate to the extent of those genuine cases. But there is no classification between genuine and non-genuine cases: the classification is between cases of partnership between husband, wife and/or minor children, whether genuine or not, and partnerships between others. In demarcating, a group, the net was cast a little wider, but it was necessary, as any further sub-classification as genuine and non-genuine partnerships might defeat the purpose of the Act."

99.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that Clause 99 corresponds to Section 64 of the existing Act. A formula has been introduced in sub-clause (2), aligning with Explanation 3 of Section 64, to enhance clarity and ensure certainty in computation. The substance of the existing provisions has been retained, while the language has been simplified to preserve the original intent and facilitate ease of understanding. The Committee, however, observe that in doing so, certain drafting errors have crept in, which require rectification to avoid ambiguity. Therefore, the Committee recommend the following drafting corrections in provisions of clause:

(i) 99(1)(a)(i): the word 'not exclude' shall be replaced by 'not include' as it has converse meaning.

(ii) 99(2): in place of 'as on the day for which A is being computed' it shall be changed to 'as on the first day of the tax year' to make it same as given in part 'C'.

(iii) 99(5)(a): shall begin with the following reference: "(a) for sub-section (1)(a)(i),—" instead of "(a) for sub-section (1)(a)" to make it specific and to avoid any ambiguity.

(iv) 99(5)(b): the reference to sub-section (1)(d) shall be changed to sub-section (1)(c) as there is no (1)d in the proposed clause.

The Committee, with the above-mentioned drafting corrections, accept the clause as proposed.

Clause 100: Liability of person in respect of income included in income of another person

100.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

Clause 100: Where, income of a person, other than the assessee, arising from any asset, or income from membership of a firm, is included in the total income of the assessee under this Chapter or under section 25(a), then, irrespective of anything to the contrary contained in any other law in force,— (a) such person, in whose name such asset stands, shall be liable to pay, that portion of the tax levied on the assessee which is attributable to the income so included, upon service of notice of demand by the Assessing Officer in this behalf; (b) where any such asset is held jointly by more than one person, they shall be jointly and severally liable to pay such tax; and (c) the provisions of Chapter XIX-D shall apply accordingly.

100.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Section: 65. Where, by reason of the provisions contained in this Chapter or in clause (i) of section 27, the income from any asset or from membership in a firm of a person other than the assessee is included in the total income of the assessee, the person in whose name such asset stands or who is a member of the firm shall, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in any other law for the time being in force, be liable, on the service of a notice of demand by the Assessing Officer in this behalf, to pay that portion of the tax levied on the assessee which is attributable to the income so included, and the provisions of Chapter XVII-D shall, so far as may be, apply accordingly :Provided that where any such asset is held jointly by more than one person, they shall be jointly and severally liable to pay the tax which is attributable to the income from the assets so included.

100.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 100 of the Bill provides for the tax liability of the person in respect of the income which is included in the income of any other person. The clause corresponds to section 65 of the Act. The provisions of the existing sections have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

100.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that the proposed clause corresponds to section 65 of the existing Act. The provisions of the existing sections have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. The Committee, therefore, accept the clause as proposed.

CHAPTER VI
AGGREGATION OF INCOME

Clause 101: Total income.

101.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

Clause 101: In computing the total income of an assessee, there shall be included all income on which no income-tax is payable under Chapter XVIIA-4.

101.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Section: 66. In computing the total income of an assessee, there shall be included all income on which no income-tax is payable under Chapter VII.

101.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 101 of the Bill provides that in computing the total income of an assessee, there shall be included all income on which no income-tax is payable under sub part 4 of part A of Chapter XVII. The clause corresponds to section 66 of the Act. The provisions of the existing sections have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

101.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

After examining the clause, the Committee find that it corresponds to Section 66 of the Act, incorporating textual simplification of the provisions in the existing Act while retaining the same intent, and therefore accept the clause as proposed.

Clause 102: Unexplained credits.

102.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

Clause 102. (1) Where any sum is found credited in the books of account maintained by the assessee for any tax year, and—

(a) the assessee offers no explanation about the nature and source of such credit; or

(b) the explanation offered by assessee is not satisfactory in the opinion of the Assessing Officer, then, the sum so credited shall be charged to income-tax as income of the assessee of that tax year.

(2) If the sum so credited consists of loan or borrowing, or any such amount, by whatever name called, the explanation offered by such assessee shall be deemed to be not satisfactory, unless,—

(a) the person in whose name such credit is recorded in the books of such assessee also offers an explanation about the nature and source of such sum so credited; and

(b) such explanation, in the opinion of the Assessing Officer referred to in sub-section (1), has been found to be satisfactory.

(3) If the assessee is a company (not being a company in which the public are substantially interested), and the sum so credited consists of share application money, share capital, share premium, or any such amount, by whatever name called, the explanation offered by such assessee company shall be deemed to be not satisfactory, unless—

(a) the person, being a resident in whose name such credit is recorded in the books of such company also offers an explanation about the nature and source of such sum so credited; and

(b) such explanation, in the opinion of the Assessing Officer referred to in sub-section (1), has been found to be satisfactory.

(4) Nothing contained in sub-section (2) or (3) shall apply if the person, in whose name the sum referred to in those sub-sections is recorded, is a venture capital fund or a venture capital company as referred to in Schedule V (Table: Sl. No. 6).

102.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Section: 68. Where any sum is found credited in the books of an assessee maintained for any previous year, and the assessee offers no explanation about the nature and source thereof or the explanation offered by him is not, in the opinion of the Assessing Officer, satisfactory, the sum so credited may be charged to income-tax as the income of the assessee of that previous year :

Provided that where the sum so credited consists of loan or borrowing or any such amount, by whatever name called, any explanation offered by such assessee shall be deemed to be not satisfactory, unless,—

(a) the person in whose name such credit is recorded in the books of such assessee also offers an explanation about the nature and source of such sum so credited; and

(b) such explanation in the opinion of the Assessing Officer aforesaid has been found to be satisfactory:

Provided further that where the assessee is a company (not being a company in which the public are substantially interested), and the sum so credited consists of share application money, share capital, share premium or any such amount by whatever name called, any explanation offered by such assessee-company shall be deemed to be not satisfactory, unless—

(a) the person, being a resident in whose name such credit is recorded in the books of such company also offers an explanation about the nature and source of such sum so credited; and

(b) such explanation in the opinion of the Assessing Officer aforesaid has been found to be satisfactory:

Provided also that nothing contained in the first proviso or second proviso shall apply if the person, in whose name the sum referred to therein is recorded, is a venture capital fund or a venture capital company as referred to in clause (23FB) of section 10.

102.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 102 of the Bill provides for the circumstances or conditions in which any sum found credited in the books of account maintained by the assessee shall be considered as unexplained credits and be included in the total income of the assessee. The clause corresponds to section 68 of the Act. In clause 102 of the Bill, the provisions of the section remain the same except that the heading is changed to 'unexplained credits' instead of 'cash credits' used in the existing Act. The provisions of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

102.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

102.4.1 The Income-tax Act, 1961 has certain provisions which confer discretionary powers, and these provisions are continuing in the Income-tax Bill, 2025. Such provisions conferring vast discretionary powers would lead to protracted litigation and place an undue burden on taxpayers. These provisions should be based on rules/conditions rather than the discretion of the Assessing Officer. Curtailing the discretionary powers would mitigate litigation and reduce hardship to taxpayers.

102.4.2 In sub-clause (1) of clause 102, it is suggested that "shall" be replaced with "may". The provision of this Chapter, being subject to higher tax incidence, should apply to special cases where the assessee is unable to provide satisfactory explanation regarding the credit in the books or investments or other assets. Use of the phrase "may" would leave the discretion to the authorities to consider all the circumstances and decide whether to treat the credit in question as income or not. Using the term "may" in any case, will not dilute the powers of the Assessing Officer to assess the unexplained credit as income of the assessee. However, this rigid language could result in undue hardship, especially where bona fide explanations are available. Retaining the word "may" ensures principles of natural justice and aligns with decades of judicial interpretation under the 1961 Act. The use of "shall" removes the Assessing Officer's discretion to evaluate the facts of each case before deeming such amounts as income. This could lead to automatic additions even in cases where the assessee has a bona fide explanation but lacks perfect documentation. Illustration: An assessee receives a cash deposit of Rs. 2,00,000 as a wedding gift from relatives. Due to the informal nature of the event, documentary evidence is limited. Under Section 68 (with "may"), the AO can assess the credibility of oral evidence or affidavits.

Under the new provision (with “shall”), the amount would be mandatorily treated as unexplained income.

102.4.3 The Legislature may consider including other regulated financial entities such as Banks, NBFCs, FIIs, FPIs, etc. and related entities such as holding company or subsidiary company within the exception list of clause 102 (4). The suggested change would result in ease of doing business and avoid unnecessary scrutiny on investments made by regulated entities/ related entities.

102.4.4 If the sum so credited consists of loan or borrowing, or any such amount, by whatever name called, the explanation offered by such assessee shall be (deemed) presumed to be not satisfactory, unless,— (a) the person in whose name such credit is recorded in the books of such assessee (also offers an explanation about the nature and source of such sum so credited) is issued a notice by the Assessing Officer referred to in sub-section (1), to offer an explanation about the nature and source of such sum so credited and such person furnishes the explanation; and (b) such explanation, in the opinion of the Assessing Officer (referred to in subsection (1),) has been found to be satisfactory. Justification: 1. Sub-section (2) requires the person in whose name credit is made to give explanation about the nature and source of sum credited. There is lack of clarity as to how and by whom such explanation is to be sought for and in what manner such explanation is to be provided. Clarity may be provided by stating that the Assessing Officer may seek explanation from the other person whereby he will have to comply with the same. 2. Further, the deeming fiction may be replaced with a rebuttable presumption. In such case, a discretion would be conferred upon the Assessing Officer where in a given case if he is satisfied with the explanation offered by the assessee, he need not deem such explanation to be unsatisfactory merely because the other person fails to offer an explanation.

102.4.5 If the assessee is a company (not being a company in which the public are substantially interested), and the sum so credited consists of share application money, share capital, share premium, or any such amount, by whatever name called, the explanation offered by such assessee company shall be deemed presumed to be not satisfactory, unless— (a) the person, being a resident in whose name such credit is recorded in the books of such company (also offers an explanation about the nature and source of such sum so credited) is issued a notice by the Assessing Officer referred to in subsection (1) to offer an explanation about the nature and source of such sum so credited and such person furnishes the explanation; and (b) such explanation, in the opinion of the Assessing Officer (referred to in subsection (1)), has been found to be satisfactory.

102.4.6 Sub-section (2) of section 102 which is similar to the first proviso to section 68 of the Income-tax Act, 1961 shall be deleted. Justification: It is almost impossible for a borrower to insist on an explanation of source of funds of the lender. On account of availability of information with the Department through their information tools, they already have an alternate remedy to seek information from the Lender and hence any action required should lie against the lender and not against the assessee. In a situation where the assessee has borrowed the amount from a bank or financial institution, it is certainly impossible for the assessee to point out the source from where the bank or the FI has given the loan to the assessee. The burden on the assessee becomes too onerous to fulfil on account of sub-section (2). Sub-section (2) applies in respect loan, borrowing or any such amount. The phrase “any such amount” is wide enough to cover various other receipts like deposits etc. Consider a case where a bank receives deposit from a customer or a case of a company receiving tender deposit from its suppliers. It is virtually impossible for the recipient to establish the source of the deposit made by the other party.

102.4.7 The Committee requested a note on the implications of replacing the word *“may”* with *“shall”* in the clause on unexplained credits, seeking details on how this change would restrict the Assessing Officer's discretion under the current Act. The Ministry has furnished the following information:

> “The existing Act has used the word "may" in sec 68 of the Act which gives discretionary power to the AO to decide the taxability of any credits as income. The term "may" has been replaced with "shall" to rationalize the provision. Once the AO is satisfied that the assessee has not been able to satisfactorily explain the source and nature of the credits in the books of accounts, there shall be no discretion with the AO but to add such credits as unexplained cash credits u/s 68 of the Act.”

102.5 Examination by the Committee:

102.5.1 In regard to suggestion to replace the word ‘shall’ with ‘may’ to align with the language of sections 68 to 69D of the Income-tax Act, 1961 and preserve the discretionary power of the Assessing Officer the Ministry in their written reply has stated as follows:

"The stakeholder through the suggestions seeks to replace "shall" with "may" in clause 102 of the Bill. The suggestion is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. The existing Act has used the word "may" in sec 68 of the Act which gives discretionary power to the AO to decide the taxability of any credits as income. The term "may" has been replaced with "shall" to rationalize the provision. Once the AO is satisfied that the assessee has not been able to satisfactorily explain the source and nature of the credits in the books of accounts, there shall be no discretion with the AO but to add such credits as unexplained cash credits u/s 68 of the Act."

102.5.2 Further, on the topic, during the Sitting of the Committee, the representative of the Ministry deposed before the Committee as under:

"If you look at the clause, the clause says - where a sum is found credited in the books and it says assessee offers no explanation or the explanation which is not satisfactory. Once these two stages are over, then the Assessing Officer shall add it to the income and do it. So, the discretion available with the Assessing Officer is at 'a' and 'b'. That is, he listens to the explanation, may find it satisfactory. What is being sought is that even after these two stages, let Assessing Officer have a 'may' jurisdiction. That means, let us say a situation which is explained here is actually taken care of in 'a' and 'b' itself. What is 'a' saying? If you do not offer an explanation. And 'b' saying, if you do not offer an explanation which is satisfactory. Suppose, the Assessing Officer feels the explanation is satisfactory, he will say it is satisfactory. Only once the two are over, then he has no discretion but to act. Now, they are saying that even after these two stages keep it as 'may'. Frankly, we are now talking about reducing. Once these two stages are over, why should Assessing Officer have further discretion?"…. What I am saying is that in which case, actually you are telling him to accept. So, the problem which they tell me because this is a little operationalist, the Assessing Officer typically will not play this risk. If he has found the explanation not satisfactory, he will always apply. The Appellate Tribunals is where 'may' and 'shall' get interpreted. So, that is what they want to close.

102.5.3 In response to the Committee's concerns regarding the implications of replacing 'may' with 'shall,' particularly in light of various court rulings, the representative of the Ministry stated as under:

"The discretion which is available with the Assessing Officer whether to take an explanation as satisfactory or not is enough. Once he concludes, then he has no choice but to do it should take care of the court's thing of all those human factors."

102.5.4 It was further added:

> "This is one of the most litigated sections of the Act. So many decisions of the apex court are available. They have decided the issues on the basis of three criteria – genuineness of transaction, creditworthiness of the assessee, and identity of the creditor. We have many guidelines already available. So, more or less, things are settled."

102.5.5 Regarding suggestion to replace "deemed" with "presumed" in Clause 102(2) where explanation regarding cash credit is deemed to be not satisfactory, the Ministry in their written reply has stated as follows:

> "The suggestion is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis a vis Act. The term "deemed" cannot be changed with "presumed" as deeming denotes a deeming fiction which is recognised in law as a final inference of something being deemed as defined. The suggestion also seeks that assessee should not be burdened with proving the nature and source of income in books of the person who has given the loan. The requirement of satisfying the nature and source of sum credited in books of assessee is first on assessee and thereafter on the creditor. The AO seeks separate explanation from the creditor without casting undue burden on assessee. The suggestion is not accepted."

102.5.6 When the Committee raised this issue of replacing "deemed" with "presumed" during the Sitting of the Committee, the representative of the Ministry deposed as under:

> "Where the assessee is not able to offer explanation. Then we have used the words 'deemed to be'. The explanation shall be deemed to be not satisfactory unless the person is identified; the person offers an explanation about the nature and source. So, the suggestion is that 'deemed' should be replaced with 'presumed'. It is because we are deeming a certain thing that upon satisfaction of these conditions, the explanation shall be deemed to be not satisfactory in these conditions. Deeming, we often use in the Act to give certainty to certain provisions that, yes, in these cases it shall be deemed."

102.5.7 When the Committee inquired whether a clear checklist exists outlining the conditions to be satisfied, or if the determination is left to the discretion of the Assessing Officer, the representatives of the Ministry responded as follows:

> "No, it is there. It is listed 'a' and 'b'. The person in whose name 'a' condition is there and in 'b' may there is some discretion with the Assessing Officer. Such explanation in the opinion of AO has been found to be satisfactory because there is a 'unless' word -- Unless these things are satisfied, it shall be deemed."

102.5.8 However, regarding the suggestion concerning ambiguity in the phrase 'referred to in subsection (1)' in Clause 102(2)(b), the Ministry has stated that any drafting ambiguity in this regard shall be addressed.

102.5.9 When clarification was sought by the Committee regarding the issue of source of source of funds, the representative of the Ministry explained as follows:

"Originally, this was not there. We had a couple of decisions where the assessee company had given just a list of shareholders with the names and addresses and that was found by the court as sufficient compliance to the identity and genuineness of the payer. This was felt by the Department and the Ministry at that point of time that this was somewhat hoodwinking the whole provision and some creditworthiness of actual person in whose name the booked amount was recorded needs to be verified. That is why the source of source is required."

102.5.10 It was further explained as:

"If you see the clause, the clause starts with saying unexplained credit under 102, Section 1 says, if an amount has been found where he offers no explanation or offers an explanation which is not satisfactory, then Clause 2 says, to satisfy himself, the satisfaction in case it is a loan or borrowing, then the satisfaction of assessing officer will only be, when the person who has lent also should be able to give an explanation for where he has got the money from. There is only one layer."

102.5.11 When the Committee pointed out that there are instances where the Department asks the assessee, not only to name the source and his PAN number, but to furnish his income tax return which is supposed to be confidential, the representative of the Ministry stated as follows:

"In old times, (it) was used to happen. I am talking about 10 years back, when there was no computerization, no mechanisms to verify. Assessee was certainly being asked to produce copies of incomes or returns of other persons because different jurisdictions were there. Nowadays, we have the insight portal on our ITBA login only."

102.5.12 It was further clarified:

"It looks more administrative. What they are saying is there is a system by which the officer can directly access that data. It is a common system… So, we will administratively have to ensure that they use it rather than troubling the assessee."

102.5.13 In regard to suggestion to consider including other regulated financial entities such as Banks, NBFCs, FIIs, FPIs, etc. and related entities such as holding company or subsidiary company within the exception list of clause 102 (4), the Ministry in their written reply has stated as under:

"The suggestion is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis a vis Act The provision is invoked only where there is doubt about the creditworthiness or identity of the creditor. The suggestion would only increase redundancy in the Bill. The suggestion is not feasible. The AO has to verify facts of each case and then accordingly decide on applicability of the provisions of the section."

102.5.14 However, when the Committee raised this topic during their Sitting and sought clarification on the issue, the representative of the Ministry has stated as follows:

"Venture capital fund, because of the way in which they work, those have been excluded. The banks, FIs, NBFCs are not excluded. I can see the rationale of what you are proposing, but the regulated NBFCs, banks, etc. are excluded. It is a policy issue, but we would not mind if we can review it in the list of suggestions that we receive."

102.5.15 Regarding the suggestion of the stakeholder to remove sub-clause (2) of clause 102 or to remove the reference of "any such amount" which could be any amount other than loan or borrowing, the Ministry in their written reply has submitted as follows:

"The suggestion is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis a vis Act. The said Proviso was brought in Finance Act 2013 which clarified the intent of Section 68 w.r.t. the sum credited being loan or borrowing or any such amount. The phrase "any such amount" ensures that the said section is applicable even when assessee introduces unexplained money by changing its nature."

102.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that the proposed clause corresponds to Section 68 of the existing Act. In Clause 102 of the Bill, the substance of the provision remains unchanged, except that the heading has been revised from Cash Credits to Unexplained Credits. The language of the existing section has been simplified for clarity, while retaining its original intent. The Committee, therefore, accept the clause as proposed.

Clause103. Unexplained investment.

103.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

103. Where in any tax year, any investment has been made by the assessee which is not recorded in the books of account, if any, maintained by such assessee, or, the Assessing Officer finds that the amount of such investment exceeds the amount recorded in such books of account where the investment is found recorded, and the assessee—

(a) offers no explanation about the nature and source of such investment, or such excess amount, as the case may be; or

(b) the explanation offered by the assessee, is not satisfactory in the opinion of the Assessing Officer, then, the value of such investment, or such excess amount, as the case may be, shall be deemed to be the income of the assessee of that tax year.

103.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Section: 69. Where in the financial year immediately preceding the assessment year the assessee has made investments which are not recorded in the books of account, if any, maintained by him for any source of income, and the assessee offers no explanation about the nature and source of the investments or the explanation offered by him is not, in the opinion of the Assessing Officer, satisfactory, the value of the investments may be deemed to be the income of the assessee of such financial year.

Section: 69B. Where in any financial year the assessee has made investments or is found to be the owner of any bullion, jewellery or other valuable article, and the Assessing Officer finds that the amount expended on making such investments or in acquiring such bullion, jewellery or other valuable article exceeds the amount recorded in this behalf in the books of account maintained by the assessee for any source of income, and the assessee offers no explanation about such excess amount or the explanation offered by him is not, in the opinion of the Assessing Officer, satisfactory, the excess amount may be deemed to be the income of the assessee for such financial year.

103.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 103 of the Bill provides for unexplained investment. It also seeks to provide the circumstances or conditions in which any investment made by the assessee shall be deemed as unexplained investment and be included in the total income of the assessee. The clause corresponds to section 69 and 69B of the Act. Section 69B has been split into two parts and the relevant part has been merged with sec 69 of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

103.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

103.4.1 The Income-tax Act, 1961 has certain provisions which confer discretionary powers, and these provisions are continuing in the Income-tax Bill, 2025. Such provisions conferring vast discretionary powers would lead to protracted litigation and place an undue burden on taxpayers. These provisions should be based on rules/conditions rather than the discretion of the Assessing Officer. Curtailing the discretionary powers would mitigate litigation and reduce hardship to taxpayers.

103.4.2 In the opening part the phrase (Clause-103) “where the investment is found recorded” may be deleted.

103.4.3 Consolidation of sections related to deemed income - undisclosed investment/ asset/expenditure in one clause to minimize litigation Sections 103, 104 and 105 containing the provisions pertaining to undisclosed investment, asset and expenditure, can be consolidated in a single section which can read as under - (i) Where in any tax year, which is not recorded in the books of account, if any, maintained by such assessee, or, the Assessing Officer finds that the amount of such investment or asset, exceeds the amount recorded in such books of account where the investment, or asset is found recorded, and the assessee : a. offers no explanation about the nature and source of such investment, or acquisition of asset, or such excess amount, as the case may be; or b. offers no explanation about the nature and source of such expenditure of part thereof or c. the explanation offered by the assessee, is not satisfactory in the opinion of the Assessing Officer, then, the value of such investment or asset, or such excess amount, or the amount covered by such expenditure or part thereof, as the case may be, shall may be deemed to be the income of the assessee for that tax year; (ii) Irrespective of any other provision of this Act, the amount of expenditure deemed as income in sub-section (1) shall not be allowed as a deduction under this Act. (iii) For the purposes of this section, “Asset” includes means money, bullion, jewellery, virtual digital asset or other valuable article. Such consolidation in a single section will help avoid unnecessary litigation as to which category the amount not recorded in the books of account falls. Cash credits recorded in books of account and amount borrowed or repaid on Hundi can continue to be retained as a separate sections. (a) any investment has been made by the assessee, (b) any asset has been found to be owned by or belonging to the assessee (c) any expenditure has been incurred by the assessee.

103.4.4 The provision does not deal with a case where assessee is able to offer an explanation as to the nature and source of a portion of investment. To the extent of such portion no addition is called for. Hence, appropriate provision is suggested to exclude such explained portion of investment. The said provision is to be made discretionary and not mandatory.

103.5 Examination by the Committee:

103.5.1 Regarding suggestion to consolidate clause 103-105 of the Bill, the Ministry has stated that consolidation and presentation in a single clause may lead to rise in unintended litigation. The suggestion is not feasible.

103.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note the clause 103 corresponds to section 69 and 69B of the Act. Section 69B has been split into two parts and the relevant part has been merged with sec 69 of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. The Committee, therefore, accept the clause as proposed.

Clause104. Unexplained asset.

104.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

104. (1) Where in any tax year, any asset has been found to be owned by or belonging to the assesse which is not recorded in the books of account, if any, maintained by such assessee, or the Assessing Officer finds that the amount of such asset exceeds the amount recorded in such books of account where the asset is found recorded, and the assesse—–

(a) offers no explanation about the nature and source of acquisition of such asset, or such excess amount, as the case may be; or

(b) the explanation offered by the assessee, is not satisfactory in the opinion of the Assessing Officer, then, the value of such asset, or such excess amount, as the case may be, shall be deemed to be the income of the assessee of the tax year in which such asset has been found to be owned by, or belonging to, the assessee.

(2) In this section, “asset” includes money, bullion, jewellery, virtual digital asset or other valuable article.

104.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Section: 69A. Where in any financial year the assessee is found to be the owner of any money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article and such money, bullion, jewellery or valuable article is not recorded in the books of account, if any, maintained by him for any source of income, and the assessee offers no explanation about the nature and source of acquisition of the money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article, or the explanation offered by him is not, in the opinion of the Assessing Officer, satisfactory, the money and the value of the bullion, jewellery or other valuable article may be deemed to be the income of the assessee for such financial year.

Section: 69B. Where in any financial year the assessee has made investments or is found to be the owner of any bullion, jewellery or other valuable article, and the Assessing Officer finds that the amount expended on making such investments or in acquiring such bullion, jewellery or other valuable article exceeds the amount recorded in this behalf in the books of account maintained by the assessee for any source of income, and the assessee offers no explanation about such excess amount or the explanation offered by him is not, in the opinion of the Assessing Officer, satisfactory, the excess amount may be deemed to be the income of the assessee for such financial year.

104.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 104 of the Bill provides for the circumstances or conditions in which any asset owned by or belonging to the assessee shall be deemed as unexplained asset and be included in the total income of the assessee. The clause corresponds to sections 69A and 69B of the Act. Section 69B has been split into two parts and the relevant part has been merged with sec 69A of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

104.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

104.4.1 The Income-tax Act, 1961 has certain provisions which confer discretionary powers, and these provisions are continuing in the Income-tax Bill, 2025. Such provisions conferring vast discretionary powers would lead to protracted litigation and place an undue burden on taxpayers. These provisions should be based on rules/conditions rather than the discretion of the Assessing Officer. Curtailing the discretionary powers would mitigate litigation and reduce hardship to taxpayers.

104.4.2 These related provisions (clauses 103-105) can be consolidated and presented in a single clause using a table, thereby reducing the overall number of clauses in the bill.

104.4.3 In Sub-section (1), replace "shall" with "may". This amendment allows flexibility in deeming unexplained assets as income rather than imposing a strict rule. It enables fair assessment based on circumstances.

104.4.4 In Sub-section (1), delete the phrase "where the asset is found recorded". Removing this phrase simplifies the provision and eliminates redundancy. It ensures clarity in determining assets that are not recorded in the assessee’s books.

104.4.5 In Sub-section (1), delete the phrase "or belonging to”. Section 69A treats unexplained money and assets owned by the assessee as deemed income, while Section 104 expands this to include “or belonging to”. The phrase "or belonging to" creates ambiguity and may lead to litigation. Deleting it clarifies ownership and prevents discretionary powers being exercised unnecessarily by the Assessing Officer.

104.4.6 Rewording of Sub-section (1): Sub-section (1) should be reworded as follows: (1) Where in any tax year, any asset has been found to be owned by the assessee which is not recorded in the books of account, if any, maintained by such assessee, or the Assessing Officer finds that the amount of such asset exceeds the amount recorded in such books of account, and the assessee - (a) offers no explanation about the nature and source of acquisition of such asset, or such excess amount, as the case may be; or (b) the explanation offered by the assessee is not satisfactory in the opinion of the Assessing Officer, then, the value of such asset, or such excess amount, as the case may be, may be deemed to be the income of the assessee of the tax year in which such asset has been found to be owned by the assessee. This rewording ensures clarity and precision while eliminating unnecessary phrases that could lead to misinterpretation.5. Replacement of "includes" with "means" in the definition of "asset"In Section (2), replace "includes" with "means". Justification: Using "means" provides a clear and exhaustive definition of “asset” rather than an open-ended list, preventing broad discretionary interpretation.

104.4.7 The wordings of the provision need to be restored to earlier provision. The new provision has apparently expanded the provision from ‘unexplained money’ to ‘unexplained asset’. The terms ‘any other valuable asset or thing’ was interpreted by Supreme Court in D.N. Singh vs CIT, Central [2023] to have the same meaning as money, bullion or jewelry, relying on principle of ejusdem generis. Therefore, now, with the usage of the words ‘asset’, the scope appears to be expanded. Further, the use of the words ‘belonging to’ along with ‘owned’ may create ambiguities, as even if assessee is in possession of any asset or Department treats the asset as pertaining to assessee in any form, then the applicability of such provisions will trigger.

104.5 Examination by the Committee:

104.5.1 In regard to stakeholder’s suggestion to omit the words "or belonging to" from clause 104 of the Bill, the Ministry has replied as follows:

“The words "or belonging to" has been added to cover scenarios where the legal owner of the asset is some third person but the asset is actually enjoyed by the assessee. If the phrase is not used, it will result in avoidance of taxes."

104.5.2 When the Committee during their Sitting, sought the clarification on the issue, the representative of the Ministry elaborated the matter as follows:

> "The definition that is used, wherein any tax here, any asset that has been found to be owned or belonging to. So, the suggestion is that, 'or belonging to', we have used in the phrase, that should be omitted. So, 'or belonging to' was not there in the Act. It has been added in the Bill. It has been added to cover those cases where the legal owner is some other person. That means on paper, somebody else is holding, but somebody else is enjoying the asset. On paper, the asset is with somebody else. So, the person who is enjoying the asset, he is not the legal owner. So, to cover those situations, we have just expanded this phrase to where asset has been found to be owned by or belonging to that person. So, that is our rationale for including this phrase in the Bill."

104.5.3 In regard to stakeholder's suggestion to define the term "asset" in clause 104 of the Bill in restrictive manner, it was stated by the Ministry that the term asset has been defined in inclusive manner to ensure that the meaning of asset is not restricted to specified items.

104.5.4 However, in regard to suggestion to omit the words "where the asset is found recorded", the Ministry has stated that the drafting modification suggested by the stakeholder has been noted.

104.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after examining the provisions of the clause, recommend that in Clause 104(1), the phrase 'where the asset is found recorded' be deleted, as its removal would eliminate redundancy and improve clarity. Apart from this change, the Committee accept the clause as proposed as the provisions of the existing sections have been textually simplified and retained with their original intent.

Clause 105. Unexplained expenditure.

105.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

105. (1) Where any expenditure has been incurred by the assessee in any tax year, and—

(a) the assessee offers no explanation about the source of such expenditure or part thereof; or

(b) the explanation offered by the assessee is not satisfactory in the opinion of the Assessing Officer, then, the amount covered by such expenditure or part thereof, shall be deemed to be the income of the assessee for that tax year.

(2) Irrespective of any other provision of this Act, the amount deemed as income in sub-section (1) shall not be allowed as a deduction under this Act.

105.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Section: 69C. Where in any financial year an assessee has incurred any expenditure and he offers no explanation about the source of such expenditure or part thereof, or the explanation, if any, offered by him is not, in the opinion of the Assessing Officer, satisfactory, the amount covered by such expenditure or part thereof, as the case may be, may be deemed to be the income of the assessee for such financial year :

Provided that, notwithstanding anything contained in any other provision of this Act, such unexplained expenditure which is deemed to be the income of the assessee shall not be allowed as a deduction under any head of income.

105.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 105 of the Bill provides for the circumstances or conditions in which any expenditure incurred by the assessee shall be deemed to be unexplained expenditure and be included in the total income of the assessee. The clause corresponds to section 69C of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

105.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

105.4.1 The Income-tax Act, 1961 has certain provisions which confer discretionary powers, and these provisions are continuing in the Income-tax Bill, 2025. Such provisions conferring vast discretionary powers would lead to protracted litigation and place an undue burden on taxpayers. These provisions should be based on rules/conditions rather than the discretion of the Assessing Officer. Curtailing the discretionary powers would mitigate litigation and reduce hardship to taxpayers.

105.4.2 These related provisions (clauses 103-105) can be consolidated and presented in a single clause using a table, thereby reducing the overall number of clauses in the bill.

105.4.3 Further sub-clause be added as follows: (3) If payment is made through a bank account disclosed to Income Tax Department and/or the same is reflected in the books of accounts of the assesse, such expenditure be treated as explained. Justification: Many assessing officers do not scrutinize the actual payments. If the assesse is unable to justify the allowability of expenditure, the expenditure is always being disallowed. However, such expenditure cannot be considered as unexplained expenditure as assesse has accepted incurring the expenditure, and the same is incurred from his known/disclosed sources of receipts.

105.4.4 Where any expenditure has been incurred by the assessee in any tax year, and— (a) the assessee offers no explanation about the source of such expenditure or part thereof; or (b) the explanation offered by the assessee is not satisfactory in the opinion of the Assessing Officer, then, the amount covered by such expenditure or part thereof, (shall) may be deemed to be the income of the assessee for that tax year. It is suggested that the term “shall” be replaced with “may”. Retaining the word “may” ensures principles of natural justice and aligns with decades of judicial interpretation under the 1961 Act. The use of “shall” removes the Assessing Officer’s discretion to evaluate the facts of each case.

105.5 Examination by the Committee:

105.5.1 Regarding, the stakeholder suggestion that the bank account if disclosed to the Department, any payment made through it shall not be treated as unexplained expenditure under clause 105, the Ministry in their written reply has submitted as follows:

> “The suggestion is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis a vis Act. Clause 105 operates only when the assessee is not able to explain the source of expenditure. In case where any payment has been made through bank account and assessee has explained the source of the credit in the bank account, the addition cannot be made under clause 105 of the Bill. If the AO is not satisfied with the creditworthiness of the source from whom amount has been credited into its bank account, then AO may make addition under clasue 102 as unexplained cash credits."

105.5.2 In regard to suggestion of a stakeholder to limit the provisions of clause 105 of the Bill to unexplained expenditure which are not recorded in the books of accounts, the Ministry in their written reply has stated as follows:

"The suggestion is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis a vis Act Clause 105 operates only when the assessee is not able to explain the source of expenditure. In case where any payment has been made through bank account and assessee has explained the source of the credit in the bank account, the addition cannot be made under clause 105 of the Bill. If the AO is not satisfied with the creditworthiness of the source from whom amount has been credited into its bank account, then AO may make addition under clause 102 as unexplained cash credits."

105.5.3 Further explaining the matter, the representative of the Ministry during the Sitting of the Committed deposed as under:

"They are saying that unexplained expenditure should be which are not recorded in the books of accounts. We are saying that when the taxpayer is not able to explain that this is an expenditure or the source of the expenditure, even though it may be recorded in the books, so the expenditure may flow from the books or maybe even outside the books. So, both can be covered as unexplained expenditure."

105.5.4 It was added:

"I would say it is virtually infructuous because if it is recorded in the books of account, then the assessing officer will see the source which has been recorded in the books of account. If that source is found to be unexplained, he will add unexplained cash credit. He will not explain the expenditure. So, this is just an apprehension being expressed. The assessing officer will go for the source. The source is recorded in the books. That source is not explained. It will be added under Section 68. Section 69A will not be invoked in that case."

105.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

After examining and deliberation upon the proposed clause, the Committee find that it corresponds to Section 69C of the Act, and that the provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. The Committee, therefore, accept the clause as proposed.

Clause 106. Amount borrowed or repaid through negotiable instrument, hundi, etc.

106.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

106. (1) Where any amount (including interest thereof) is borrowed or repaid through a negotiable instrument or a hundi, other than an account payee cheque, or through any mode as specified by the Board in this behalf, the amount so borrowed or repaid shall be deemed to be the income of the person borrowing or repaying, as the case maybe, for the tax year in which the amount was borrowed or repaid.

(2) Where the amount borrowed under sub-section (1) has been deemed to be the income of any person, such person shall not be liable to be assessed again in respect of such amount under that sub-section on repayment of such amount.

106.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Section: 69D. Where any amount is borrowed on a hundi from, or any amount due thereon is repaid to, any person otherwise than through an account payee cheque drawn on a bank, the amount so borrowed or repaid shall be deemed to be the income of the person borrowing or repaying the amount aforesaid for the previous year in which the amount was borrowed or repaid, as the case may be :
Provided that, if in any case any amount borrowed on a hundi has been deemed under the provisions of this section to be the income of any person, such person shall not be liable to be assessed again in respect of such amount under the provisions of this section on repayment of such amount.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, the amount repaid shall include the amount of interest paid on the amount borrowed.

106.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 106 of the Bill seeks to provide for taxability of any amount borrowed or repaid through negotiable instrument, hundi etc. The clause corresponds to section 69D of the Act. In order to rationalize the provisions, besides hundi, the clause 106 of the Bill covers other negotiable instruments as well. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

106.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

106.4.1 "Where any amount (including interest thereof) is borrowed or repaid (including interest on the amount borrowed) through a negotiable instrument or a hundi, other than an account payee cheque, or through any mode as specified by the Board in this behalf, the amount so borrowed or repaid shall be deemed to be the income of the person borrowing or repaying, as the case maybe, for the tax year in which the amount was borrowed or repaid." The language is inelegantly drafted. The bracketed words are indicating as though interest is also borrowed which is never the case nor is intended as is clear from section 69D of the IT Act. The only intention is to treat interest as part of the principal amount for the purpose of repayment.

106.4.2 Replace the word "shall" with "may" to align with the language of sections 68 to 69D of the Income-tax Act, 1961 and preserve the discretionary power of the Assessing Officer. Justification: The shift from "may" to "shall" removes the discretion of the Assessing Officer to consider facts and circumstances before treating unexplained amounts as income. This rigid language could result in undue hardship, especially where bona fide explanations are available. Retaining the word "may" ensures principles of natural justice and aligns with decades of judicial interpretation under the 1961 Act. The use of "shall" removes the Assessing Officer's discretion to evaluate the facts of each case before deeming such amounts as income. This could lead to automatic additions even in cases where the assessee has a bona fide explanation but lacks perfect documentation. Illustration: An assessee receives a cash deposit of Rs. 2,00,000 as a wedding gift from relatives. Due to the informal nature of the event, documentary evidence is limited. Under Section 68 (with "may"), the AO can assess the credibility of oral evidence or affidavits. Under the new provision (with "shall"), the amount would be mandatorily treated as unexplained income.

106.4.3 It could be clarified that in case of overlap between the provision of this clause and provisions under Chapter XII of the Income-tax Bill (Corresponding to Section 269SS / 269T) the provisions of Chapter XII shall not apply. Justification: 1. There is a Penalty of 100% (Section 450 onwards) for transactions covered in Chapter XII on loans or deposit accepted or repaid by the assessee. It is proposed to include negotiable instruments within the scope of Clause 106. 2. This proposed inclusion would result in scenarios wherein a loan or a deposit transaction is covered by both the provisions.

106.5 Examination by the Committee:

106.5.1 When the Committee brought it to the notice of the Ministry, the drafting error related to provision “Where any amount (including interest thereof) is borrowed or repaid” as the bracketed words are indicating as though interest is also borrowed which is never the case nor is intended as is clear from section 69D of the IT Act, the Ministry has accepted it stating it to be an inadvertent drafting error. It has been further stated that the clause is to be redrafted for better clarity. The words "including interest thereof” has to be placed differently in the clause 106.

106.5.2 In regard to suggestion to issues clarification in case of overlap between the provision of this clause and provisions under Chapter XII, the Ministry in their written reply has stated as follows:

> “106 (sec 69D of the Act) is a deeming section wherein any amount borrowed or repaid on hundi or negotiable instrument (other than an account payee cheque, or through any specified mode) is deemed as income of the assessee. Whereas sec 269SS/269T are penalty provisions which provide for levy of penalty on account of violation of certain conditions. These are two different provisions which clearly operate without any ambiguity between them.”

106.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

After examining the clause and considering the views of the stakeholders, the Committee recommend to delete the bracketed phrase '(including interest thereof)' as it does not convey the intended meaning, and recommend redrafting the provision accordingly for clarity.

The Committee also note that Clause 106 of the Bill corresponds to Section 69D of the existing Act and seeks to provide for the taxability of any amount borrowed or repaid through instruments such as hundis. To rationalize the provision, the scope has been expanded beyond hundis to include other negotiable instruments. While the substantive intent remains unchanged, the language has been simplified. The Committee, therefore, accept the clause as proposed, subject to their suggested drafting correction.

Clause 107. Charge of tax

107.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

107. Income referred to in sections 102, 103, 104, 105 and 106 shall be charged to tax as per the provisions of section 195.

107.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

New provision in the Bill, therefore, no corresponding Section in the Act

107.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 107 of the Bill seeks to provide that income referred to in clauses 102, 103, 104, 105 and 106 shall be charged to tax as per the provisions of clause 195. Clause 107 of the Bill has no corresponding section in the Act. In order to reduce disputes on rate of taxation and to provide certainty, the reference of the section specifying the rates of taxation has been provided in this Chapter itself. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

107.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

107.4.1 Section 195 to be amended to reduce the rate of tax to 30%. 195. Tax on income referred to in section 102 or 103 or 104 or 105 (1) Where the total income of an assessee— (a) includes any income referred to in section 102 or 103 or 104 or 105 or 106 and reflected in the return of income furnished under section 263; or (b) determined by the Assessing Officer includes any income referred to in any of the said sections, if such income is not covered under clause (a), the income tax payable shall be the aggregate of— (i) income-tax calculated on the income referred to in clauses (a) and (b), at the rate of 60% 30%; and (ii) income-tax with which the assessee would have been chargeable had his total income been reduced by income referred to in clause (i). (2) Irrespective of anything contained in this Act, no deduction in respect of any expenditure or allowance or set off of any loss shall be allowed to the assessee under any provision of this Act in computing his income referred to in sub-section (1)(a) and (b). Justification: Post demonetisation on 8th November, 2016, vide the Taxation Laws (Second Amendment) Act, 2016, which came into force on 15th December, 2016, section 115BBE of the Income-tax Act, 1961 was substituted w.e.f. A.Y.

2017-18, increasing the amount of tax on income referred to in section 68/69/69A/69B/69D to 60% plus surcharge@25% on such tax and cess@4% on tax and surcharge. The effective rate of tax is 78%. Further, penalty@10% on such tax computed is leviable u/s 271AAC, if the income is not included by the assessee in the return. This provision which was introduced 7 years back post demonetisation, needs to be relooked, considering that section 68 to 69D can be invoked if the explanation given by the assessee is not satisfactory in the opinion of Assessing Officer. It is suggested that the rate of tax u/s 195 of the Income-tax Bill, 2025 be rationalized. It may be kept @ 30%. Penalty under section 443 of the Income-tax Bill@10% of tax payable under section 195(1)(i) may continue.

107.4.2 It is suggested that the said provision (clause 107 of the Bill) may be omitted. The said provision serves no purpose other than making a reference to section 195. Omission would help in reducing needless redundancy and surplusage which is one of the objects behind the proposed Income-Tax Bill, 2025.

107.4.3 Replace the word “shall” with “may” in Clauses 102 to 107 to align with the language of sections 68 to 69D of the Income-tax Act, 1961 and preserve the discretionary power of the Assessing Officer. Justification: The shift from “may” to “shall” removes the discretion of the Assessing Officer to consider facts and circumstances before treating unexplained amounts as income. This rigid language could result in undue hardship, especially where bona fide explanations are available. Retaining the word “may” ensures principles of natural justice and aligns with decades of judicial interpretation under the 1961 Act. The use of “shall” removes the Assessing Officer’s discretion to evaluate the facts of each case before deeming such amounts as income. This could lead to automatic additions even in cases where the assessee has a bona fide explanation but lacks perfect documentation. Illustration: An assessee receives a cash deposit of Rs. 2,00,000 as a wedding gift from relatives. Due to the informal nature of the event, documentary evidence is limited. Under Section 68 (with “may”), the AO can assess the credibility of oral evidence or affidavits. Under the new provision (with “shall”), the amount would be mandatorily treated as unexplained income.

107.5 Examination by the Committee:

107.5.1 In regard to suggestion to amend Section 195 to reduce the rate of tax to 30%, the Ministry has submitted that the suggestion is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the IT Bill, 2025. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis a vis Act. The suggestion is not acceptable because tax rate of 60% on income referred to in section 68/69/69A/69B/69C/69D was introduced as a deterrence measure and to discourage the conversion of unaccounted money to accounted money.

107.5.2 In regard to suggestion for the omission of clause 107 of the Bill, the Ministry has stated that the it is not acceptable as the clause 107 in the Bill clarifies the chargeability of tax and provides certainty about tax rate for sec 102 to 106.

107.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that Clause 107 of the Bill seeks to provide that income referred to in clauses 102, 103, 104, 105 and 106 shall be charged to tax as per the provisions of clause 195. They further note that Clause 107 of the Bill has no corresponding section in the Act. The Committee have been apprised that in order to reduce disputes on rate of taxation and to provide certainty, the reference of the section specifying the rates of taxation has been provided in this Chapter itself. Also, the provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. The Committee, therefore, accept the clause as proposed.

CHAPTER VII

SET OFF, OR CARRY FORWARD AND SET OFF OF LOSSES

Clause 108. Set off of losses under the same head of income.

108.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

108. (1) Unless provided otherwise in this Act, for any tax year, if net result of computation from any source under any head of income (other than “Capital gains”) is a loss, then assessee shall be entitled to set off such loss against his income from any other source under the same head for that tax year.

(2) Any loss, as a result of computation made under sections 72 to 90, for any tax year, arising from transfer of a capital asset as arrived at under a similar computation made for the tax year in respect of any other capital asset being,—

(a) a long-term capital asset, shall be set off only against gains, if any, from transfer of another long-term capital asset; and

(b) a short-term capital asset, shall be set off against gains, if any, from transfer of any capital asset.

108.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Section: 70. (1) Save as otherwise provided in this Act, where the net result for any assessment year in respect of any source falling under any head of income, other than "Capital gains", is a loss, the assessee shall be entitled to have the amount of such loss set off against his income from any other source under the same head.

(2) Where the result of the computation made for any assessment year under sections 48 to 55 in respect of any short-term capital asset is a loss, the assessee shall be entitled to have the amount of such loss set off against the income, if any, as arrived at under a similar computation made for the assessment year in respect of any other capital asset.

(3) Where the result of the computation made for any assessment year under sections 48 to 55 in respect of any capital asset (other than a short-term capital asset) is a loss, the assessee shall be entitled to have the amount of such loss set off against the income, if any, as arrived at under a similar computation made for the assessment year in respect of any other capital asset not being a short-term capital asset.

108.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 108 of the Bill provides for set off of losses under the same head of income. The clause corresponds to section 70 of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

108.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

108.4.1 The provisions of the Income-tax Act, 1961 and the corresponding sections of the Income-tax Bill, 2025 contain several restrictions for setoff, like business loss is not permitted to be set-off against salary income, capital losses are not permitted to be set off against income under any other head, loss from house property can be set-off against income under any other head only to the extent of Rs.2 lakh and so on. In effect, due to such restrictions, the taxpayer is put to hardship since he has to pay the taxes even though he has incurred losses. In order to address this concern, it is suggested that inter-head set-off of losses be permitted without restriction, with the exception in cases of certain losses, like losses from speculation business or losses from the activity of owning and maintaining race horses or online gaming, which may be spelt out as exceptions. This would be in line with the principle of taxation of real income after set-off of losses and would relieve the burden of the taxpayers. This would also simplify the complex set-off provisions spread across many clauses of the Bill. In case of capital losses, however, long-term capital loss would have to be first set-off against long-term capital gains, then, against short term capital gains and the balance against other income; short-term capital loss would have to be first set-off against short-term capital gains, then, against long-term capital gains and the balance against other income.

Accordingly, the new section combining the provisions of sections 108 to 112 of the Income-tax Bill, 2025 may be as given below –

"108. Set-off and carry forward of losses

(1) Unless provided otherwise in this Act, for any tax year, if net result of computation from any source under any head of income is a loss, then, assessee shall be entitled to set off such loss against his income from any other source under the same head for that tax year.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this Chapter, for any tax year, if income computed under any head of income is a loss, such loss may be set off against income of the assessee under any other head, subject to the following conditions:—

(i) Loss under the head “capital gains” arising from transfer of a long-term capital asset shall be first set-off against capital gains, if any, from transfer of any other long-term capital asset during the tax year;

(ii) Loss under the head “capital gains” arising from transfer of a short-term capital asset shall be first set-off against capital gains, if any, from transfer of any other short-term capital asset during the tax year;

(iii) Loss, if any, under the head “capital gains” after set-off as per (i) and (ii) above shall be set-off against capital gains from transfer of any capital asset; and

(iv) Loss, if any, under the head “capital gains” after set-off as per (i), (ii) and (iii) above may be set-off against income under any other head.

(3) The unabsorbed loss under any head for any tax year shall be carried forward to the subsequent tax year, and shall be set-off against income under the same head, if any, computed for such subsequent tax year, and so on.

(4) The unabsorbed loss referred to in (3) above shall be carried forward to the following tax year, not being more than eight tax years immediately succeeding the tax year in which such loss was first computed.

(5) Notwithstanding anything contained in preceding sub-sections –

(a) Any loss computed from a speculation business referred to in section 113 carried on by the assessee, during any tax year, shall be set off only against profits and gains, if any, of another speculation business for the said tax year.

(b) Any loss computed from a specified business referred to in section 114 carried on by the assessee, during any tax year, shall be set off only against profits and gains, if any, of any other specified business for the said tax year.

(c) Any loss incurred by the assessee in the specified activity referred to in section 115 during any tax year, shall not be set off against the income, if any, from any source other than specified activity for the said tax year.

(d) The carry forward of unabsorbed losses of speculation business, specified business and specified activity shall be governed b y the provisions of sections 113, 114 and 115, respectively.

(e) No loss can be set off against income chargeable under section 194 [Sr. No. 1, Sr. No. 4 and Sr. No. 5 of the Table thereunder].

(f) Only the loss which has been determined in pursuance of return filed in accordance with the provisions of Section 263 shall be carried forward to subsequent years subject to fulfilment of conditions laid down in this section and the provisions of this Chapter."

108.4.2 These related provisions (clause 108-115) can be consolidated and presented in a single clause using a table, thereby reducing the overall number of clauses in the bill.

108.5 Examination by the Committee:

108.5.1 Regarding the suggestion of the stakeholder to permit inter-head set-off of losses without restriction, with the exception in cases of certain losses, the Ministry in their written reply has stated as follows:

> "The suggestion is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis a vis Act. Income under different heads of income are taxed at different rate. Restrictions have been placed on set off of losses under one head with income from other head to prevent the abuse of the provisions of the Act."

108.5.2 in regard to suggestion to consolidate related provisions (clauses 108-115) presenting in a single clause using a table, thereby reducing the overall number of clauses in the bill, the Ministry has stated that The nature of transactions provided in these sections are materially different from each other, therefore they may not be clubbed in one single section or in a tabular format. Thus, suggestion has no merits.

108.5.3 In regard to the suggestion to merge clauses 108 to 112 into a single clause, the proposed provisions have been introduced for the purpose of simplification, reducing litigation and for bringing greater clarity in the Income Tax Provisions. The nature of transactions provided in these sections are materially different from each other, therefore they may not be clubbed in one single section or in a tabular format. Thus, suggestion has no merits.

108.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee find that the clause 108 corresponds to section 70 of the Act. The Committee have been apprised that the provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. The Committee, therefore, accept the clause as proposed.

Clause 109. Set off of losses under any other head of income.

109.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

109. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Chapter, for any tax year, if income computed under any head of income (other than “Capital gains”) is a loss, such loss shall be set off against income of the assessee under any other head, including “Capital gains”, if any, assessable for that tax year, subject to the following conditions:—

(a) loss under the head “Profits and gains of business or profession” shall not be set off against income chargeable under the head “Salaries”; and

(b) loss under the head “Income from house property” shall be set off to the extent of two lakh rupees against income under any other head;

(2) For any tax year, the loss under the head “Capital gains” shall not be set off against income under any other head.

109.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

71. (1) Where in respect of any assessment year the net result of the computation under any head of income, other than "Capital gains", is a loss and the assessee has no income under the head "Capital gains", he shall, subject to the provisions of this Chapter, be entitled to have the amount of such loss set off against his income, if any, assessable for that assessment year under any other head.

(2) Where in respect of any assessment year, the net result of the computation under any head of income, other than "Capital gains", is a loss and the assessee has income assessable under the head "Capital gains", such loss may, subject to the provisions of this Chapter, be set off against his income, if any, assessable for that assessment year under any head of income including the head "Capital gains" (whether relating to short-term capital assets or any other capital assets).

(2A) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1) or sub-section (2), where in respect of any assessment year, the net result of the computation under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession" is a loss and the assessee has income assessable under the head "Salaries", the assessee shall not be entitled to have such loss set off against such income.

(3) Where in respect of any assessment year, the net result of the computation under the head "Capital gains" is a loss and the assessee has income assessable under any other head of income, the assessee shall not be entitled to have such loss set off against income under the other head.

(3A) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1) or sub-section (2), where in respect of any assessment year, the net result of the computation under the head "Income from house property" is a loss and the assessee has income assessable under any other head of income, the assessee shall not be entitled to set off such loss, to the extent the amount of the loss exceeds two lakh rupees, against income under the other head.

(4) Where the net result of the computation under the head "Income from house property" is a loss, in respect of the assessment years commencing on the 1st day of April, 1995 and the 1st day of April, 1996, such loss shall be first set off under sub-sections (1) and (2) and thereafter the loss referred to in section 71A shall be set off in the relevant assessment year in accordance with the provisions of that section.

109.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 109 of the Bill provides for set off of losses under any other head of income in the manner provided therein. The clause corresponds to section 71 of the Act. Redundant provision has been removed. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

109.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

109.4.1 It is suggested that inter-head set-off of losses be permitted without restriction, with the exception in cases of certain losses, like losses from speculation business or losses from the activity of owning and maintaining race horses or online gaming, which may be spelt out as exceptions. This would be in line with the principle of taxation of real income after set-off of losses and would relieve the burden of the taxpayers. This would also simplify the complex set-off provisions spread across many clauses of the Bill.

109.4.2 These related provisions (clause 108-115) can be consolidated and presented in a single clause using a table, thereby reducing the overall number of clauses in the bill.

109.4.3 Clauses 108 to 112 may be combined into a single clause, as suggested in reference to Clause 108.

109.5 Examination by the Committee:

109.5.1 Regarding the suggestion of the stakeholder to permit inter-head set-off of losses without restriction, with the exception in cases of certain losses, the Ministry in their written reply has stated as follows:

> "The suggestion is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis a vis Act. Income under different heads of income are taxed at different rate. Restrictions have been placed on set off of losses under one head with income from other head to prevent the abuse of the provisions of the Act."

109.5.2 in regard to suggestion to consolidate related provisions (clauses 108-115) presenting in a single clause using a table, thereby reducing the overall number of clauses in the bill, the Ministry has stated that The nature of transactions provided in these sections are materially different from each other, therefore they may not be clubbed in one single section or in a tabular format. Thus, suggestion has no merits.

109.5.3 In regard to the suggestion to merge clauses 108 to 112 into a single clause, the proposed provisions have been introduced for the purpose of simplification, reducing litigation and for bringing greater clarity in the Income Tax Provisions. The nature of transactions provided in these sections are materially different from each other, therefore they may not be clubbed in one single section or in a tabular format. Thus, suggestion has no merits.

109.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee find that Clause 109 of the Bill provides for set off of losses under any other head of income in the manner provided therein. The clause corresponds to section 71 of the Act. Further, redundant provision has been removed. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. The Committee, therefore, accept the clause as proposed.

Clause 110. Carry forward and set off of loss from house property.

110.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

110. (1) The unabsorbed loss from house property for any tax year shall be carried forward to the subsequent tax year, and shall be set off only against income from house property, if any, computed for such subsequent tax year, and so on.

(2) The unabsorbed loss from house property referred to in sub-section (1) shall be carried forward to the following tax year, not being more than eight tax years immediately succeeding the tax year in which such loss was first computed.

(3) In this section, “unabsorbed loss from house property” means, loss computed under the head “Income from house property” for the tax year, which has not been, or is not wholly, set off against income from any other head, under section 107, for the said tax year.

110.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

71B. Where for any assessment year the net result of computation under the head "Income from house property" is a loss to the assessee and such loss cannot be or is not wholly set off against income from any other head of income in accordance with the provisions of section 71, so much of the loss as has not been so set-off or where he has no income under any other head, the whole loss shall, subject to the other provisions of this Chapter, be carried forward to the following assessment year and—

(i) be set off against the income from house property assessable for that assessment year; and

(ii) the loss, if any, which has not been set off wholly, the amount of loss not so set off, shall be carried forward to the following assessment year, not being more than eight assessment years immediately succeeding the assessment year for which the loss was first computed.

110.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 110 of the Bill provides for carry forward and set off of loss against income from house property. It defines the expression “unabsorbed loss from house property”. The clause corresponds to section 71B of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

110.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

110.4.1 These related provisions (clause 108-115) can be consolidated and presented in a single clause using a table, thereby reducing the overall number of clauses in the bill.

110.4.2 Clauses 108 to 112 may be combined into a single clause, as suggested in reference to Clause 108.

110.4. 3 Reference to section 107 in sub-section (3) to be rectified to “Section 109”. Section 107 does not deal with Set off and carry forward of losses.

110.5 Examination by the Committee:

110.5.1 In regard to suggestion to consolidate related provisions (clauses 108-115) presenting in a single clause using a table, thereby reducing the overall number of clauses in the bill, the Ministry has stated that The nature of transactions provided in these sections are materially different from each other, therefore they may not be clubbed in one single section or in a tabular format. Thus, suggestion has no merits.

110.5.2 In regard to the suggestion to merge clauses 108 to 112 into a single clause, the Ministry has stated that proposed provisions have been introduced for the purpose of simplification, reducing litigation and for bringing greater clarity in the Income Tax Provisions. The nature of transactions provided in these sections are materially different from each other, therefore they may not be clubbed in one single section or in a tabular format. Thus, suggestion has no merits.

110.5.3 When the Committee pointed out that the reference to Section 107 in Sub-section (3) should be corrected to 'Section 109,' as Section 107 does not deal with the set-off and carry-forward of losses, the Ministry acknowledged this as an inadvertent drafting error.

110.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

After examining the clause and considering the suggestions of the stakeholder, the Committee recommend that the reference to clause 107 in clause 110(3) to be rectified to clause 109 as clause 107 does not deal with set off and carry forward of losses. Apart from this drafting correction, the Committee accept the clause as proposed, as it constitutes a textual simplification of the provisions in the existing Act while retaining the same intent.

Clause 111: Carry forward and set off of loss from Capital gains.

111.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

111. (1) The unabsorbed capital loss for any tax year shall be carried forward to the subsequent tax year and shall be set off in the manner provided in sub-section (2).

(2) The unabsorbed capital loss arising from transfer of capital asset, being—

(a) a long-term capital asset, may be set off only against capital gains, if any, from transfer of any other long-term capital asset during the subsequent tax year and so on; and

(b) a short-term capital asset, shall be set off against capital gains, if any, from transfer of any other capital asset during the subsequent tax year and so on.

(3) The unabsorbed capital loss referred to in sub-section (1), shall be carried forward to the following tax year, not being more than eight tax years immediately succeeding the tax year in which such loss was first computed.

(4) In this section, “unabsorbed capital loss” means loss computed under the head “Capital gains” for any tax year, which has not been, or is not wholly, set off under section 108 for the said tax year.

111.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

74. (1) Where in respect of any assessment year, the net result of the computation under the head "Capital gains" is a loss to the assessee, the whole loss shall, subject to the other provisions of this Chapter, be carried forward to the following assessment year, and—

(a) in so far as such loss relates to a short-term capital asset, it shall be set off against income, if any, under the head "Capital gains" assessable for that assessment year in respect of any other capital asset;

(b) in so far as such loss relates to a long-term capital asset, it shall be set off against income, if any, under the head "Capital gains" assessable for that assessment year in respect of any other capital asset not being a short-term capital asset;

(c) if the loss cannot be wholly so set off, the amount of loss not so set off shall be carried forward to the following assessment year and so on.

(2) No loss shall be carried forward under this section for more than eight assessment years immediately succeeding the assessment year for which the loss was first computed.

111.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 111 of the Bill provides for carry forward and set off of loss from capital gains. The said clause further defines “unabsorbed capital loss” for this purpose. The clause corresponds to section 74 of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

111.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

111.4.1 These related provisions (clause 108-115) can be consolidated and presented in a single clause using a table, thereby reducing the overall number of clauses in the bill.

111.4.2 Clauses 108 to 112 may be combined into a single clause, as suggested in reference to Clause 108.

111.5 Examination by the Committee:

111.5.1 In regard to suggestion to consolidate related provisions (clauses 108-115) presenting in a single clause using a table, thereby reducing the overall number of clauses in the bill, the Ministry has stated that The nature of transactions provided in these sections are materially different from each other, therefore they may not be clubbed in one single section or in a tabular format. Thus, suggestion has no merits.

111.5.2 In regard to the suggestion to merge clauses 108 to 112 into a single clause, the Ministry has stated that proposed provisions have been introduced for the purpose of simplification, reducing litigation and for bringing greater clarity in the Income Tax Provisions. The nature of transactions provided in these sections are materially different from each other, therefore they may not be clubbed in one single section or in a tabular format. Thus, suggestion has no merits

111.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that the clause corresponds to section 74 of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. The Committee, therefore, accept the clause as proposed.

Clause 112. Carry forward and set off of business loss.

112.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

112. (1) The unabsorbed business loss (other than loss from speculation business) for any tax year shall be carried forward to the subsequent tax year and shall be set off only against the profits and gains of business or profession, carried on by him and assessable for that tax year, if any, computed for such subsequent tax year, and so on.

(2) The unabsorbed business loss referred to in sub-section (1), shall be carried forward to the following tax year, not being more than eight tax years immediately succeeding the tax year in which such loss was first computed.

(3) The unabsorbed business loss referred to in sub-section (1) shall first be allowed to be set off before allowing set off of any carried forward allowance under section 33(11) or 45(7).

(4) In this section, “unabsorbed business loss” means, loss computed under the head “Profits and gains of business or profession” (other than loss from speculation business) for the tax year, which has not been, or is not wholly, set off against income from any other head, under section 109 for the said tax year.

112.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961): ‘

72. (1) Where for any assessment year, the net result of the computation under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession" is a loss to the assessee, not being a loss sustained in a speculation business, and such loss cannot be or is not wholly set off against income under any head of income in accordance with the provisions of section 71, so much of the loss as has not been so set off or, where he has no income under any other head, the whole loss shall, subject to the other provisions of this Chapter, be carried forward to the following assessment year, and—

(i) it shall be set off against the profits and gains, if any, of any business or profession carried on by him and assessable for that assessment year;

(ii) if the loss cannot be wholly so set off, the amount of loss not so set off shall be carried forward to the following assessment year and so on:

Provided that where the whole or any part of such loss is sustained in any such business as is referred to in section 33B which is discontinued in the circumstances specified in that section, and, thereafter, at any time before the expiry of the period of three years referred to in that section, such business is re-established, reconstructed or revived by the assessee, so much of the loss as is attributable to such business shall be carried forward to the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which the business is so re-established, reconstructed or revived, and—

(a) it shall be set off against the profits and gains, if any, of that business or any other business carried on by him and assessable for that assessment year; and

(b) if the loss cannot be wholly so set off, the amount of loss not so set off shall, in case the business so re-established, reconstructed or revived continues to be carried on by the assessee, be carried forward to the following assessment year and so on for seven assessment years immediately succeeding.

(2) Where any allowance or part thereof is, under sub-section (2) of section 32 or sub-section (4) of section 35, to be carried forward, effect shall first be given to the provisions of this section.

(3) No loss (other than the loss referred to in the proviso to sub-section (1) of this section) shall be carried forward under this section for more than eight assessment years immediately succeeding the assessment year for which the loss was first computed.

112.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 112 of the Bill provides for carry forward and set off of business loss. It further defines the expression “unabsorbed business loss”. The clause corresponds to section 72 of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

112.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

112.4.1 These related provisions (clause 108-115) can be consolidated and presented in a single clause using a table, thereby reducing the overall number of clauses in the bill.

112.4.2 Clauses 108 to 112 may be combined into a single clause, as suggested in reference to Clause 108.

112.4.3 Clause 112. (1): The phrase “(other than loss from speculation business)” needs to be deleted as in sub-section (4) while defining the term ‘unabsorbed business’, it excludes loss from speculation business.

112.5 Examination by the Committee:

112.5.1 In regard to suggestion to consolidate related provisions (clauses 108-115) presenting in a single clause using a table, thereby reducing the overall number of clauses in the bill, the Ministry has stated that The nature of transactions provided in these sections are materially different from each other, therefore they may not be clubbed in one single section or in a tabular format. Thus, suggestion has no merits.

112.5.2 In regard to the suggestion to merge clauses 108 to 112 into a single clause, the Ministry has stated that proposed provisions have been introduced for the purpose of simplification, reducing litigation and for bringing greater clarity in the Income Tax Provisions. The nature of transactions provided in these sections are materially different from each other, therefore they may not be clubbed in one single section or in a tabular format. Thus, suggestion has no merits

112.5.3 Regarding the suggestion to delete the phrase '(other than loss from speculation business),' the Ministry has accepted it, stating that it was an inadvertent drafting error, as the phrase is repeated twice in Clause 112 of the Bill.

112.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after examining the clause and considering the views/suggestions of the experts/stakeholders, recommend that the phrase "(other than loss from speculation business)" in clause 112(1) shall be deleted, as clause 112(4) already excludes speculation losses from the definition of 'unabsorbed business loss'. Apart from this drafting correction, the Committee accept the proposed clause, as it is a textual simplification of the existing provisions with the same intent.

Clause 113. Set off and carry forward of losses from speculation business.

113.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

113. (1) Any loss computed from a speculation business carried on by the assessee, during any tax year, shall be set off only against profits and gains, if any, of another speculation business for the said tax year.

(2) The unabsorbed speculation business loss for any tax year shall be carried forward to the subsequent tax year and shall be set off only against the profits and gains of speculation business, if any, computed for such subsequent tax year, and so on.

(3) The unabsorbed speculation business loss referred to in sub-section (2) shall not be carried forward for more than four tax years immediately succeeding the tax year in which such loss was first computed.

(4) The unabsorbed speculation business loss referred to in sub-section (2) shall first be allowed to be set off before allowing set off of any carried forward allowance under section 33(11) or 45(7).

(5) In this section,—–

(a) where any part of the business of the assessee (being a company) consist of purchase and sale of shares of other companies, then the assessee shall be deemed to be carrying on a speculation business, to the extent to which its business consists of purchase and sale of such shares;

(b) “unabsorbed speculation business loss” means any loss computed in respect of a speculation business carried on by the assessee during the tax year, which has not been, or is not wholly, set off against profits and gains, if any, of another speculation business under sub-section (1) for the said tax year.

(6) The provisions of sub-section (5)(a) shall not apply to an assessee, being a company, if—

(a) its gross total income consists mainly of income which is chargeable under the heads “Income from house property”, “Capital gains” or “Income from other sources”; or

(b) its principal business is of trading in shares or banking or the granting of loans and advances.

113.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

73. (1) Any loss, computed in respect of a speculation business carried on by the assessee, shall not be set off except against profits and gains, if any, of another speculation business.
(2) Where for any assessment year any loss computed in respect of a speculation business has not been wholly set off under sub-section (1), so much of the loss as is not so set off or the whole loss where the assessee had no income from any other speculation business, shall, subject to the other provisions of this Chapter, be carried forward to the following assessment year, and—

(i) it shall be set off against the profits and gains, if any, of any speculation business carried on by him assessable for that assessment year; and

(ii) if the loss cannot be wholly so set off, the amount of loss not so set off shall be carried forward to the following assessment year and so on.

(3) In respect of allowance on account of depreciation or capital expenditure on scientific research, the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 72 shall apply in relation to speculation business as they apply in relation to any other business.

(4) No loss shall be carried forward under this section for more than four assessment years immediately succeeding the assessment year for which the loss was first computed.

Explanation.—Where any part of the business of a company (other than a company whose gross total income consists mainly of income which is chargeable under the heads "Interest on securities", "Income from house property", "Capital gains" and "Income from other sources", or a company the principal business of which is the business of trading in shares or banking] or the granting of loans and advances) consists in the purchase and sale of shares of other companies, such company shall, for the purposes of this section, be deemed to be carrying on a speculation business to the extent to which the business consists of the purchase and sale of such shares.

113.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 113 of the Bill provides for set off and carry forward of losses from speculation business. It also defines the expression “unabsorbed speculation business loss”. The clause corresponds to section 73 of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

113.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

113.4.1 These related provisions (clause 108-115) can be consolidated and presented in a single clause using a table, thereby reducing the overall number of clauses in the bill.

113.4.2 Clause 113(1): For ‘computed from’, it would be more appropriate to use ‘computed of’.

113.5 Examination by the Committee:

113.5.1 Regarding the suggestion to merge related provisions (clause 108-115), the Ministry has stated that the proposed provisions have been introduced for the purpose of simplification, reducing litigation and for bringing greater clarity in the Income Tax Provisions. The nature of transactions provided in these sections are materially different from each other, therefore they may not be clubbed in one single section or in a tabular format. Thus, suggestion has no merits.

113.5.2 Regarding the suggestion to replace the phrase 'computed from,' the Ministry has accepted it, stating that 'computed from' may be replaced with 'computed in respect of' for clarity in Clause 113 of the Bill (set-off and carry-forward of losses from speculation business).

113.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after examining the clause and considering the views/suggestions of the experts/stakeholders, recommend to replace the phrase "computed from" with "computed in respect of" in clause 113(1) for greater precision and consistency. This aligns the language with sub-clause (5)(b), which already uses the phrase "computed in respect of" to define unabsorbed speculation business loss, thereby ensuring uniformity and avoiding interpretational ambiguity. Apart from this drafting correction, the Committee accept the clause as proposed, as it is a textual simplification of the existing provisions with the same intent.

Clause 114. Set off and carry forward of losses from specified business.

114.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

114. (1) Any loss computed from a specified business carried on by the assessee, during any tax year, shall be set off only against profits and gains, if any, of any other specified business for the said tax year.

(2) The unabsorbed loss from the specified business for any tax year shall be carried forward to the subsequent tax year and shall be set off only against the profits and gains of any specified business, if any, computed for such subsequent tax year, and so on.

(3) In this section,— (a) "specified business" means any specified business referred to in section 46; (b) "unabsorbed loss from the specified business" means, any loss computed in respect of a specified business carried on by the assessee during the tax year, which has not been, or is not wholly, set off against profits and gains, if any, of another specified business under sub-section (1) for the said tax year.

114.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

73A. (1) Any loss, computed in respect of any specified business referred to in section 35AD shall not be set off except against profits and gains, if any, of any other specified business.

(2) Where for any assessment year any loss computed in respect of the specified business referred to in sub-section (1) has not been wholly set off under sub-section (1), so much of the loss as is not so set off or the whole loss where the assessee has no income from any other specified business, shall, subject to the other provisions of this Chapter, be carried forward to the following assessment year, and—

(i) it shall be set off against the profits and gains, if any, of any specified business carried on by him assessable for that assessment year; and

(ii) if the loss cannot be wholly so set off, the amount of loss not so set off shall be carried forward to the following assessment year and so on.

114.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 114 of the Bill provides for set off and carry forward of losses from specified business. The said clause also defines the expressions “specified business” and “unabsorbed loss from the specified business”. The clause corresponds to section 73A of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

114.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

114.4.1 These related provisions (clause 108-115) can be consolidated and presented in a single clause using a table, thereby reducing the overall number of clauses in the bill.

114.4.2 Clause 114(1): For ‘computed from’, it would be more appropriate to use ‘computed of’

114.5 Examination by the Committee:

114.5.1 Regarding the suggestion to replace the phrase 'computed from,' the Ministry has accepted it, stating that 'computed from' may be replaced with 'computed in respect of' for clarity in Clause 114 of the Bill.

114.5.2 Regarding the suggestion to merge related provisions (clause 108-115), the Ministry has stated that the proposed provisions have been introduced for the purpose of simplification, reducing litigation and for bringing greater clarity in the Income Tax Provisions. The nature of transactions provided in these sections are materially different from each other, therefore they may not be clubbed in one single section or in a tabular format. Thus, suggestion has no merits.

114.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after examining the clause and considering the views/suggestions of the experts/stakeholders, recommend that the phrase "computed from" in clause 114(1) be replaced with "computed in respect of". This change will ensure consistency with clause 114(3)(b), which already uses the phrase "computed in respect of" while defining "unabsorbed loss from the specified business." Apart from this drafting correction, the Committee accept the clause as proposed, as it is a textual simplification of the existing provisions with the same intent.

Clause 115. Set off and carry forward of losses from specified activity.

115.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

115. (1) Any loss incurred by the assessee in the specified activity during any tax year, shall not be set off against the income, if any, from any source other than specified activity for the said tax year. (2) The unabsorbed loss from the specified activity for any tax year shall be carried forward to the subsequent tax year and shall be set off,— (a) only against the income from specified activity, if any, computed for such subsequent tax year, and so on; and (b) only when the specified activity is carried on by the assessee in that tax year. (3) The unabsorbed loss from the specified activity referred to in sub-section (2) shall not be carried forward for more than four tax years immediately succeeding the tax year in which such loss was first computed. (4) In this section,— (a) "income by way of stake money" means the gross amount of prize money received by the owner of race horses participating in horse races on their winning a particular position in such race; (b) "loss incurred by the assessee in the specified activity" means the amount by which the income by way of stake money, if any, falls short of the expenditure, not being capital expenditure, incurred wholly and exclusively for maintaining race horses; (c) "race horse" means a horse upon which wagering or betting may be lawfully made in a horse race; (d) "specified activity" means the activity of owning and maintaining race horses; (e) "unabsorbed loss from the specified activity" means any loss computed in respect of the specified activity carried on by the assessee during the tax year, which has not been, or is not wholly, set off against income, if any, of the specified activity under sub-section (1) for the said tax year.

115.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

74A. (1) [* * *]

(2) [* * *]

(3) In the case of an assessee, being the owner of horses maintained by him for running in horse races (such horses being hereafter in this sub-section referred to as race horses), the amount of loss incurred by the assessee in the activity of owning and maintaining race horses in any assessment year shall not be set off against income, if any, from any source other than the activity of owning and maintaining race horses in that year and] shall, subject to the other provisions of this Chapter, be carried forward to the following assessment year and—

(a) it shall be set off against the income, if any, from the activity of owning and maintaining race horses assessable for that assessment year :

Provided that the activity of owning and maintaining race horses is carried on by him in the previous year relevant for that assessment year; and

(b) if the loss cannot be wholly so set off, the amount of loss not so set off shall be carried forward to the following assessment year and so on; so, however, that no portion of the loss shall be carried forward for more than four assessment years immediately succeeding the assessment year for which the loss was first computed.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section—

(a) "amount of loss incurred by the assessee in the activity of owning and maintaining race horses" means—

(i) in a case where the assessee has no income by way of stake money, the amount of expenditure (not being in the nature of capital expenditure) laid out or expended by him wholly and exclusively for the purposes of maintaining race horses;

(ii) in a case where the assessee has income by way of stake money, the amount by which such income falls short of the amount of expenditure (not being in the nature of capital expenditure) laid out or expended by the assessee wholly and exclusively for the purposes of maintaining race horses;

(b) "horse race" means a horse race upon which wagering or betting may be lawfully made;

(c) "income by way of stake money" means the gross amount of prize money received on a race horse or race horses by the owner thereof on account of the horse or horses or any one or more of the horses winning or being placed second or in any lower position in horse races.

115.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 115 of the Bill seeks to provide for set off and carry forward of losses from specified activity. The said clause defines ‘Specified activity’ as the activity of owning and maintaining race horses. The clause corresponds to section 74A of the Act. However, for better clarity, definition of ‘race horse’ has been provided in the clause.

The provisions of the existing section have been simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

115.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

115.4.1 These related provisions (clause 108-115) can be consolidated and presented in a single clause using a table, thereby reducing the overall number of clauses in the bill.

115.5 Examination by the Committee:

115.5.1 Regarding the suggestion to merge related provisions (clause 108-115), the Ministry has stated that the proposed provisions have been introduced for the purpose of simplification, reducing litigation and for bringing greater clarity in the Income Tax Provisions. The nature of transactions provided in these sections are materially different from each other, therefore they may not be clubbed in one single section or in a tabular format. Thus, suggestion has no merits.

115.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that Clause 115 of the Bill seeks to provide for set off and carry forward of losses from specified activity. Also, the clause defines 'Specified activity' as the activity of owning and maintaining race horses. The clause corresponds to section 74A of the Act. However, for better clarity, definition of 'race horse' has been provided in the clause. The provisions of the existing section have been simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. The Committee, therefore, accept the clause as proposed.

Clause 116. Treatment of accumulated losses and unabsorbed depreciation in amalgamation or demerger, etc.

116.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

116. (1) Where there has been an amalgamation of,—

(a) a company owning an industrial undertaking or a ship or a hotel with another company; or

(b) a banking company referred to in section 5(c) of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 with a specified bank; or

(c) one or more public sector company with one or more other public sector company; or

(d) an erstwhile public sector company with one or more company or companies, if the share purchase agreement entered into under strategic disinvestment restricted immediate amalgamation of the said public sector company and the amalgamation is carried out within five years from the end of the tax year in which the restriction on amalgamation in the share purchase agreement ends, then, irrespective of anything in any other provision of this Act, the accumulated loss and unabsorbed depreciation of the amalgamating company shall be deemed to be the loss or, allowance for unabsorbed depreciation of the amalgamated company for the tax year in which the amalgamation was effected, and other provisions of this Act relating to set off and carry forward of loss and allowance for depreciation shall apply accordingly.

(2) The accumulated loss and the unabsorbed depreciation of the amalgamating company, in case of an amalgamation referred to in sub-section (1)(d), which is deemed to be the loss or, as the case may be, the unabsorbed depreciation of the amalgamated company, shall not exceed the accumulated loss and unabsorbed depreciation of the public sector company as on the date on which it ceases to be a public sector company due to such strategic disinvestment.

(3) For sub-section 1(d),—

(a) “control” shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 2(27) of the Companies Act, 2013;

(b) “erstwhile public sector company” means a company which was a public sector company in earlier tax years and ceases to be so due to strategic disinvestment by the Government;

(c) “strategic disinvestment” means sale of shareholding by the Central Government or State Government or a public sector company, in a public sector company or in a company, which results in— (i) reduction of its shareholding to below 51%; and (ii) transfer of control to the buyer;

(d) for clause(c)(i), the reduction of shareholding shall apply only where shareholding of the Central Government or the State Government or the public sector company exceeded 51% before the sale of shareholding;

(e) the transfer of control referred to in clause (c)(ii) may be effected by the Central Government or the State Government or the public sector company or any two or all of them.

(4) Irrespective of anything contained in sub-section (1), the accumulated loss shall not be set off or carried forward and the unabsorbed depreciation shall not be allowed in the assessment of the amalgamated company unless,—

(a) the amalgamating company— (i) has been engaged in the business, in which the accumulated loss occurred or depreciation remains unabsorbed, for three or more years; (ii) has held continuously as on the date of the amalgamation, at least three-fourths of the book value of fixed assets held by it two years preceding the date of amalgamation;

(b) the amalgamated company—

(i) holds continuously for a minimum five years from the date of amalgamation at least three-fourths of the book value of fixed assets of the amalgamating company acquired in a scheme of amalgamation;

(ii) continues the business of the amalgamating company for a minimum five years from the date of amalgamation;

(iii) fulfils such other conditions as prescribed to ensure the revival of the business of the amalgamating company or to ensure that the amalgamation is for genuine business purpose.

(5) If any of the conditions laid down in sub-section (4) are not complied with, the set off of loss or allowance of depreciation made in any tax year in the hands of the amalgamated company shall be treated as the income of the amalgamated company chargeable to tax for the year in which the non-compliance occurs.

(6) Irrespective of anything contained in any other provisions of this Act, in the case of a demerger, the accumulated loss and the allowance for unabsorbed depreciation of the demerged company shall,—

(a) if directly relatable to the undertakings transferred to the resulting company, be allowed to be carried forward and set off in the hands of the resulting company;

(b) if not directly relatable to the undertakings transferred to the resulting company, be apportioned between the demerged company and the resulting company in the same proportion in which the assets of the undertakings have been retained by the demerged company and transferred to the resulting company, and shall be allowed to be carried forward and set off in the hands of the demerged company or the resulting company, as applicable.

(7) The Central Government may, by notification, specify such conditions to ensure that the demerger is for genuine business purposes.

(8) If there has been a business reorganisation where, a firm is succeeded by a company fulfilling the conditions laid down in section 70(1)(zd) or a proprietary concern is succeeded by a company fulfilling the conditions laid down in section 70(1)(zf), then, irrespective of anything contained in this Act, the accumulated loss and the unabsorbed depreciation of the predecessor firm or the proprietary concern, shall be deemed to be the loss or allowance for depreciation of the successor company for the tax year in which business reorganisation was effected and other provisions of this Act relating to set off and carry forward of loss and allowance for depreciation shall apply.

(9) If any of the conditions laid down in section 70(1)(zd) or (zf) are not complied with, the set off of loss or allowance of depreciation made in any tax year in the hands of the successor company, shall be deemed to be the income of the company chargeable to tax in the year in which the non-compliance occurs.

(10) If there has been reorganisation of business whereby a private company or unlisted public company is succeeded by a limited liability partnership fulfilling the conditions laid down in section 70(1)(ze), then, irrespective of anything contained in any other provision of this Act, the accumulated loss and the unabsorbed depreciation of the predecessor company, shall be deemed to be the loss or allowance for depreciation of the successor limited liability partnership for the tax year in which business reorganisation was effected and other provisions of this Act relating to set off and carry forward of loss and allowance for depreciation shall apply accordingly.

(11) If any of the conditions laid down in section 70(1)(ze) are not complied with, the set off of loss or allowance of depreciation made in any tax year in the hands of the successor limited liability partnership, shall be deemed to be the income of the limited liability partnership chargeable to tax in the year in which the non-compliance occurs.

(12) For any amalgamation referred to in sub-section (1) or reorganisation of business referred to in sub-section (8) or (10) effected on or after the 1st April, 2025, any loss forming part of the accumulated loss of the predecessor entity, being— (i) the amalgamating company; or (ii) the firm or proprietary concern; or (iii) the private company or unlisted public company, as the case may be, which is deemed to be the loss of the successor entity, being—(a) the amalgamated company; or (b) the successor company; or (c) the successor limited liability partnership, as the case may be, shall be carried forward for not more than eight tax years immediately succeeding the tax year for which such loss was first computed for the original predecessor entity.

(13) In this section,—

(a) “accumulated loss” means so much of the loss of the predecessor firm or the proprietary concern or the private company or unlisted public company before conversion into limited liability partnership or the amalgamating company or the demerged company, under the head “Profits and gains of business or profession” (excluding loss in a speculation business) which would have been eligible for carry forward and set off to such predecessor under section 112, had the reorganisation of business or conversion or amalgamation or demerger not occurred.

(b) “industrial undertaking” means any undertaking which is engaged in—

(i) the manufacture or processing of goods; or

(ii) the manufacture of computer software; or

(iii) the business of generation or distribution of electricity or any other form of power; or

(iv) the business of providing telecommunication services, whether basic or cellular, including radio paging, domestic satellite service, network of trunking, broadband network and internet services; or

(v) mining; or (vi) the construction of ships, aircrafts or rail systems;

(c) “original predecessor entity” means predecessor entity in respect of the first amalgamation for sub-section (1) or first business reorganisation for sub-sections (8) and (10), as the case may be.

(d) “specified bank” means the State Bank of India constituted under the State Bank of India Act, 1955 or a corresponding new bank constituted under section 3 of the Banking Companies (Acquisition and Transfer of Undertakings) Act, 1970 or under section 3 of the Banking Companies (Acquisition and Transfer of Undertakings) Act, 1980;

(e) “unabsorbed depreciation” means so much of the allowance for depreciation of the predecessor firm or the proprietary concern or the private company or unlisted public company before conversion into limited liability partnership or the amalgamating company or the demerged company, which remains to be allowed and which would have been allowed to such predecessor under this Act, had the reorganisation of business or conversion or amalgamation or demerger not occurred.

116.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

72A. (1) Where there has been an amalgamation of—

(a) a company owning an industrial undertaking or a ship or a hotel with another company; or

(b) a banking company referred to in clause (c) of section 5 of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 (10 of 1949) with a specified bank; or

(c) one or more public sector company or companies with one or more public sector company or companies; or

(d) an erstwhile public sector company with one or more company or companies, if the share purchase agreement entered into under strategic disinvestment restricted immediate amalgamation of the said public sector company and the amalgamation is carried out within five years from the end of the previous year in which the restriction on amalgamation in the share purchase agreement ends, then, notwithstanding anything contained in any other provision of this Act, the accumulated loss and the unabsorbed depreciation of the amalgamating company shall be deemed to be the loss or, as the case may be, allowance for unabsorbed depreciation of the amalgamated company for the previous year in which the amalgamation

was effected, and other provisions of this Act relating to set off and carry forward of loss and allowance for depreciation shall apply accordingly:

Provided that the accumulated loss and the unabsorbed depreciation of the amalgamating company, in case of an amalgamation referred to in clause (d), which is deemed to be the loss or, as the case may be, the allowance for un-absorbed depreciation of the amalgamated company, shall not be more than the accumulated loss and unabsorbed depreciation of the public sector company as on the date on which the public sector company ceases to be a public sector company as a result of strategic disinvestment.

Explanation.—For the purposes of clause (d),—

(i) "control" shall have the same meaning as assigned to in clause (27) of section 2 of the Companies Act, 2013 (18 of 2013);

(ii) "erstwhile public sector company" means a company which was a public sector company in earlier previous years and ceases to be a public sector company by way of strategic disinvestment by the Government;

(iii) "strategic disinvestment" means sale of shareholding by the Central Government or any State Government or a public sector company, in a public sector company or in a company, which results in—

(a) reduction of its shareholding to below fifty-one per cent; and

(b) transfer of control to the buyer:

Provided that the condition laid down in sub-clause (a) shall apply only in a case where shareholding of the Central Government or the State Government or the public sector company was above fifty-one per cent before such sale of shareholding:

Provided further that requirement of transfer of control referred to in sub-clause (b) may be carried out by the Central Government or the State Government or the public sector company or any two of them or all of them.]

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), the accumulated loss shall not be set off or carried forward and the unabsorbed depreciation shall not be allowed in the assessment of the amalgamated company unless—

(a) the amalgamating company—

(i) has been engaged in the business, in which the accumulated loss occurred or depreciation remains unabsorbed, for three or more years;

(ii) has held continuously as on the date of the amalgamation at least three-fourths of the book value of fixed assets held by it two years prior to the date of amalgamation;

(b) the amalgamated company—

(i) holds continuously for a minimum period of five years from the date of amalgamation at least three-fourths of the book value of fixed assets of the amalgamating company acquired in a scheme of amalgamation;

(ii) continues the business of the amalgamating company for a minimum period of five years from the date of amalgamation;

(iii) fulfils such other conditions as may be prescribed to ensure the revival of the business of the amalgamating company or to ensure that the amalgamation is for genuine business purpose.

(3) In a case where any of the conditions laid down in sub-section (2) are not complied with, the set off of loss or allowance of depreciation made in any previous year in the hands of the amalgamated company shall be deemed to be the income of the amalgamated company chargeable to tax for the year in which such conditions are not complied with.

(4) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provisions of this Act, in the case of a demerger, the accumulated loss and the allowance for unabsorbed depreciation of the demerged company shall—

(a) where such loss or unabsorbed depreciation is directly relatable to the undertakings transferred to the resulting company, be allowed to be carried forward and set off in the hands of the resulting company;

(b) where such loss or unabsorbed depreciation is not directly relatable to the undertakings transferred to the resulting company, be apportioned between the demerged company and the resulting company in the same proportion in which the assets of the undertakings have been retained by the demerged company and transferred to the resulting company, and be allowed to be carried forward and set off in the hands of the demerged company or the resulting company, as the case may be.

(5) The Central Government may, for the purposes of this Act, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify such conditions as it considers necessary to ensure that the demerger is for genuine business purposes.

(6) Where there has been reorganisation of business, whereby, a firm is succeeded by a company fulfilling the conditions laid down in clause (xiii) of section 47 or a proprietary concern is succeeded by a company fulfilling the conditions laid down in clause (xiv) of section 47, then, notwithstanding anything contained in any other provision of this Act, the accumulated loss and the unabsorbed depreciation of the predecessor firm or the proprietary concern, as the case may be, shall be deemed to be the loss or allowance for depreciation of the successor company for the purpose of previous year in which business reorganisation was effected and other provisions of this Act relating to set off and carry forward of loss and allowance for depreciation shall apply accordingly :

Provided that if any of the conditions laid down in the proviso to clause (xiii) or the proviso to clause (xiv) to section 47 are not complied with, the set off of loss or allowance of depreciation made in any previous year in the hands of the successor company, shall be deemed to be the income of the company chargeable to tax in the year in which such conditions are not complied with.

(6A) Where there has been reorganisation of business whereby a private company or unlisted public company is succeeded by a limited liability partnership fulfilling the conditions laid down in the proviso to clause (xiiib) of section 47, then, notwithstanding anything contained in any other provision of this Act, the accumulated loss and the unabsorbed depreciation of the predecessor company, shall be deemed to be the loss or allowance for depreciation of the successor limited liability partnership for the purpose of the previous year in which business reorganisation was effected and other provisions of this Act relating to set off and carry forward of loss and allowance for depreciation shall apply accordingly :

Provided that if any of the conditions laid down in the proviso to clause (xiiib) of section 47 are not complied with, the set off of loss or allowance of depreciation made in any previous year in the hands of the successor limited liability partnership, shall be deemed to be the income of the limited liability partnership chargeable to tax in the year in which such conditions are not complied with.

Following sub-section (6B) shall be inserted after sub-section (6A) of section 72A by the Finance Act, 2025, w.e.f. 1-4-2026:

(6B) Where any amalgamation or business reorganisation, as the case may be, is effected on or after the 1st April, 2025, any loss forming part of the accumulated loss of the predecessor entity under sub-section (1), (6) or (6A), being—

(a) the amalgamating company; or

(b) the firm or proprietary concern; or

(c) the private company or unlisted public company, as the case may be, which is deemed to be the loss of the successor entity, being—

(i) the amalgamated company; or

(ii) the successor company; or

(iii) the successor limited liability partnership,as the case may be, shall be carried forward in the hands of the successor entity for not more than eight assessment years immediately succeeding the assessment year for which such loss was first computed for original predecessor entity.

(7) For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "accumulated loss" means so much of the loss of the predecessor firm or the proprietary concern or the private company or unlisted public company before conversion into limited liability partnership or the amalgamating company or the demerged company, as the case may be, under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession" (not being a loss sustained in a speculation business) which such predecessor firm or the proprietary concern or the company or amalgamating company or demerged company, would have been entitled to carry forward and set off under the provisions of section 72 if the reorganisation of business or conversion or amalgamation or demerger had not taken place;

(aa) "industrial undertaking" means any undertaking which is engaged in—

(i) the manufacture or processing of goods; or

(ii) the manufacture of computer software; or

(iii) the business of generation or distribution of electricity or any other form of power; or

(iiia) the business of providing telecommunication services, whether basic or cellular, including radio paging, domestic satellite service, network of trunking, broadband network and internet services; or

(iv) mining; or

(v) the construction of ships, aircrafts or rail systems;

Following clause (ab) shall be inserted after clause (aa) of sub-section (7) of section 72A by the Finance Act, 2025, w.e.f. 1-4-2026:

(ab) "original predecessor entity" means predecessor entity in respect of the first amalgamation under sub-section (1) or first business reorganisation under sub-section (6) or (6A);

(b) "unabsorbed depreciation" means so much of the allowance for depreciation of the predecessor firm or the proprietary concern or the private company or unlisted public company before conversion into limited liability partnership or the amalgamating company or the demerged company, as the case may be, which remains to be allowed and which would have been allowed to the predecessor firm or the proprietary concern or the company or amalgamating company or demerged company, as the case may be, under the provisions of this Act, if the reorganisation of business or conversion or amalgamation or demerger had not taken place;

(c) "specified bank" means the State Bank of India constituted under the State Bank of India Act, 1955 (23 of 1955) or a subsidiary bank as defined in the State Bank of India (Subsidiary Banks) Act, 1959 (38 of 1959) or a corresponding new bank constituted under section 3 of the Banking Companies (Acquisition and Transfer of Undertakings) Act, 1970 (5 of 1970) or under section 3 of the Banking Companies (Acquisition and Transfer of Undertakings) Act, 1980 (40 of 1980).

116.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 116 of the Bill seeks to provide for carry forward and set off of losses and unabsorbed depreciation in case of specified business amalgamation. The clause corresponds to section 72A of the Act. The clause also clarifies that accumulated loss of the predecessor entity which is deemed to be the loss of the successor entity can be carried forward for not more than eight tax years immediately succeeding the tax year for which such loss was first computed for the original predecessor entity. This is a provision which was part of the Finance Act, 2025. The provisions of the existing section have been simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

116.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

116.4.1 To realign the provisions of IT Bill with that of Income-tax Act, 1961 and allow the carry forward of business losses for fresh period of 8 years as given under old law. Justification: The intent to bring this amendment was capping the carry-forward period for business losses at eight years from the original computation date, these changes aim to curb tax arbitrage through sequential M&A transactions. Hence, with GAAR in place, only assessee' s who violate the condition or use sequential M&A transaction should be penalised and no fresh life for carry forward of losses should be invoked.

116.4.2 There is no enabling provision for carry forward of losses in case of merger/ demerger of two LLPs. It is recommended that benefits of section 72A be extended to merger and demerger undertaken between LLPs

116.4.3 Section 72A was originally intended for capital-intensive industries that relied on heavy physical assets. However, today's economy is increasingly driven by digital and service-based sectors like ITES, e-commerce, and startups and may not meet the definition of 'industrial undertaking' under the law As a result, they are unable to avail the benefits of carrying forward losses and unabsorbed depreciation, even though they play a significant role in India's modern economy. Since these industries play a big part in the growth of the Indian economy, growth of these industries would ultimately lead to the growth of the economy To help companies grow faster, and to attract more foreign investment in India's service sectors, the government may extend the benefit of Clause 116 to these industries.

116.4.4 The condition provided puts an undue restriction to high technology driven businesses including Telecom companies which are required to regularly upgrade their network infrastructure by investing into newer technology The condition to hold 3/4th of book value of old fixed assets for a period of 5 years restricts the amalgamated company to dispose off old equipment resulting in carrying outdated and inefficient equipment. It is suggested to lower the requirement of keeping 3/4th of the book value of fixed assets to only 1/4th Further, the timeline to hold assets should be for a maximum of 2 to 3 years instead of 5 years The relaxation of this condition would also facilitate environment supporting digital India initiative of Government.

116.4.5 The provisions were originally designed for a capital-intensive economy; however, many companies are now adopting capital-light models. Certain other key sectors such as service, real estate, infrastructure, and organized retail are generally ineligible for the said benefit. Services sector contributed 55% of GDP (FY24), attracted 16% of FDI, and accounted for 44% of exports. It provides 32% of total employment (ILO, 2019). Increased competition and the economic uncertainty (including those resulting from US tariffs) necessitate resource consolidation among small companies to survive. International Practices: Countries like the US, UK, and China allow loss transitions across sectors, emphasizing business continuity and ownership without arbitrary distinctions. Finance Act 2025 has restricted transition of business loss in amalgamation to unexpired period of such losses instead of fresh lease of 8 years as per earlier provisions. Since the benefit is now restricted, it can be expanded to all sectors of the economy. Recommendation: Extend the carry forward and set-off of accumulated business losses and unabsorbed depreciation under S. 72A [Cl. 116 of ITB 2025] to service, real estate, infrastructure, and organized retail/ trading companies. If necessary, the following illustrative safeguards may be built in to prevent abuse: Amalgamating Companies: Engaged in relevant business for 3+ years, holds 75% of book value of fixed assets, maintains average employee headcount (100-500) or payroll (₹5 Cr-₹10 Cr) for 2 years pre-merger. Amalgamated Companies: Continue business for 5 years and also retain 75% of book value of fixed assets for same period. Also limit employee headcount/payroll reduction (max 75%) for 3 years.

116.4.6 It is recommended that the scope of clause 116 of the Bill should be widened to include other emerging sectors such as e-commerce, fintech, Media/Broadcasting and Entertainment, real estate/ infrastructure/ Telecom Infrastructure Service Provider and Direct to Home operators. Alternative 2- It is recommended that the benefit under clause 116 of the Bill to carry forward of loss and depreciation on amalgamation should be extended to companies across all industries.

116.5 Examination by the Committee:

116.5.1 Regarding the suggestion for alignment of provisions in Income-Tax Bill, 2025 with that of Income-Tax Act, 1961 by allowing carry forward of business losses for fresh period of 8 years, the Ministry has stated as follows:

> "The suggestion is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the IT Bill, 2025. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis a vis Act. In order to prevent evergreening of carry forward and set off of losses by way of multiple or successive amalgamation, vide Finance Act 2025, restriction of the period of 8 years from the original amalgamation period has been brought."

116.5.2 Regarding the suggestion seeking benefits of clause 116 to be extended to merger and demerger undertaken between LLPs, the Ministry has stated as follows:

> "The suggestion is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the IT Bill, 2025. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis a vis Act. The provisions of clause 116 were brought for revival of sick industrial companies wherein even after amalgamation losses can be carried forward to 8 more years. Merger and demerger between LLPs exclusive for business purposes is different from merger or demerger of sick industrial companies."

116.5.3 Regarding the suggestion seeking extension of benefit of amalgamation, demerger (clause 116) to digital and service service-based sectors, the Ministry in a written reply has stated as follows:

> "The suggestion is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis a vis Act. The benefit is very restricted in the Act as well as Bill so that the provisions are not abused for trading of losses."

116.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee find that the clause corresponds to section 72A of the Act. The clause also clarifies that accumulated loss of the predecessor entity which is deemed to be the loss of the successor entity can be carried forward for not more than eight tax years immediately succeeding the tax year for which such loss was first computed for the original predecessor entity. The Committee have been apprised that this is a provision which was part of the Finance Act, 2025. Further, the provisions of the existing section have been simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. The Committee, therefore, accept the proposed clause.

Clause 117. Treatment of accumulated losses and unabsorbed depreciation in scheme of amalgamation in certain cases

117.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

117. (1) Irrespective of anything contained in section 2(6)(a) to (c) or section 116, where there has been an amalgamation of,—

(a) one or more banking company with—

(i) any other banking institution under a scheme sanctioned and brought into force by the Central Government under section 45(7) of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949; or

(ii) any other banking institution or a company following a strategic disinvestment, wherein the amalgamation occurs within five years from the end of the tax year during which such disinvestment is carried out; or

(b) one or more corresponding new bank or banks with any other corresponding new bank under a scheme brought into force by the Central Government under section 9 of the Banking Companies (Acquisition and Transfer of Undertakings) Act, 1970 or under section 9 of the Banking Companies (Acquisition and Transfer of Undertakings) Act, 1980, or both; or

(c) one or more Government company or companies with any other Government company under a scheme sanctioned and brought into force by the Central Government under section 16 of the General Insurance Business (Nationalisation) Act, 1972, the accumulated loss and unabsorbed depreciation of such banking company or companies or amalgamating corresponding new bank or banks or amalgamating Government company or companies, shall be deemed to be the loss or, allowance for depreciation of the banking institution or company or amalgamated corresponding new bank or amalgamated Government company for the tax year in which the scheme of amalgamation was brought into force and other provisions of this Act relating to set off and carry forward of loss and allowance for depreciation shall apply accordingly.

(2) Where any scheme of such amalgamation is brought into force on or after the 1st April, 2025, any loss forming part of the accumulated loss of the predecessor entity, being—

(i) the banking company or companies;

(ii) the amalgamating corresponding new bank or banks; or (iii) the amalgamating Government company or companies, as the case may be, which is deemed to be the loss of the successor entity, being—

(a) the banking institution or company; or

(b) the amalgamated corresponding new bank or banks; or

(c) the amalgamated Government company or companies, as the case may be, shall be carried forward in the hands of the successor entity for not more than eight tax years immediately succeeding the tax year for which such loss was first computed for original predecessor entity.

(3) In this section,—

(a) "accumulated loss" means so much of the loss of the amalgamating banking company or companies or amalgamating corresponding new bank or banks or amalgamating Government company or companies under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession" (excluding losses of a speculation business) which such amalgamating company or companies would have been entitled to carry forward and set off under section 112 had the amalgamation not occurred;

(b) "banking company" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 5(c) of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949;

(c) "banking institution" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 45(15) of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949;

(d) "corresponding new bank" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 2(d) of the Banking Companies (Acquisition and Transfer of Undertakings) Act, 1970, or section 2(b) of the Banking Companies (Acquisition and Transfer of Undertakings) Act, 1980;

(e) "general insurance business" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 3(g) of the General Insurance Business (Nationalisation) Act, 1972;

(f) "Government company" means a Government company as defined in section 2(45) of the Companies Act, 2013, engaged in the general insurance business and established under section 4 or 5 or 16 of the General Insurance Business (Nationalisation) Act, 1972;

(g) “original predecessor entity” means predecessor entity in respect of the first amalgamation;

(h) “strategic disinvestment” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 116(3)(c);

(i) “unabsorbed depreciation” means the allowance for depreciation of the amalgamating banking company or companies or amalgamating corresponding new bank or banks or amalgamating Government company or companies which remains to be allowed and which would have been allowed to such entity, had the amalgamation not occurred.

117.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

72AA. Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-clauses (i) to (iii) of clause (1B) of section 2 or section 72A, where there has been an amalgamation of—

73[(i) one or more banking company with—

(a) any other banking institution under a scheme sanctioned and brought into force by the Central Government under sub-section (7) of section 45 of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 (10 of 1949); or

(b) any other banking institution or a company subsequent to a strategic disinvestment, wherein the amalgamation is carried out within a period of five years from the end of the previous year during which such strategic disinvestment is carried out; or]

(ii) one or more corresponding new bank or banks with any other corresponding new bank under a scheme brought into force by the Central Government under section 9 of the Banking Companies (Acquisition and Transfer of Undertakings) Act, 1970 (5 of 1970) or under section 9 of the Banking Companies (Acquisition and Transfer of Undertakings) Act, 1980 (40 of 1980) or both, as the case may be; or company or companies shall be deemed to be the loss or, as the case may be, allowance for depreciation of such banking institution or 74[company or] amalgamated corresponding new bank or amalgamated Government company for the previous year in which the scheme of amalgamation was brought into force and other provisions of this Act relating to set off and carry forward of loss and allowance for depreciation shall apply accordingly.

(iii) one or more Government company or companies with any other Government company under a scheme sanctioned and brought into force by the Central Government under section 16 of the General Insurance Business (Nationalisation) Act, 1972 (57 of 1972), the accumulated loss and the unabsorbed depreciation of such banking company or companies or amalgamating corresponding new bank or banks or amalgamating Government

Following proviso shall be inserted in section 72AA by the Finance Act, 2025, w.e.f. 1-4-2026:

Provided that where any scheme of such amalgamation is brought into force on or after the 1st April, 2025, any loss forming part of the accumulated loss of the predecessor entity, being—

(a) the banking company or companies; or

(b) the amalgamating corresponding new bank or banks; or

(c) the amalgamating Government company or companies, as the case may be, which is deemed to be the loss of the successor entity, being—

(i) the banking institution or company; or

(ii) the amalgamated corresponding new bank or banks; or

(iii) the amalgamated Government company or companies, as the case may be, shall be carried forward in the hands of the successor entity for not more than eight assessment years immediately succeeding the assessment year for which such loss was first computed for original predecessor entity.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(i) "accumulated loss" means so much of the loss of the amalgamating banking company or companies or amalgamating corresponding new bank or banks or amalgamating Government company or companies under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession" (not being a loss sustained in a speculation business) which such amalgamating banking company or companies or amalgamating corresponding new bank or banks or amalgamating Government company or companies, would have been entitled to carry forward and set off under the provisions of section 72, if the amalgamation had not taken place;

(ii) "banking company" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (c) of section 5 of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 (10 of 1949);

(iii) "banking institution" shall have the meaning assigned to it in sub-section (15) of section 45 of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 (10 of 1949);

(iv) "corresponding new bank" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (d) of section 2 of the Banking Companies (Acquisition and Transfer of Undertakings) Act, 1970 (5 of 1970) or, as the case may be, clause (b) of section 2 of the Banking Companies (Acquisition and Transfer of Undertakings) Act, 1980 (40 of 1980);

(v) "general insurance business" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (g) of section 3 of the General Insurance Business (Nationalisation) Act, 1972 (57 of 1972);

(vi) "Government company" means a Government company as defined in clause (45) of section 2 of the Companies Act, 2013 (18 of 2013), which is engaged in the general insurance business and which has come into existence by operation of section 4 or section 5 or section 16 of the General Insurance Business (Nationalisation) Act, 1972 (57 of 1972);

75[(via) "strategic disinvestment" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (iii) of the Explanation to clause (d) of sub-section (1) of section 72A;]

(vii) "unabsorbed depreciation" means so much of the allowance for depreciation of the amalgamating banking company or companies or amalgamating corresponding new bank or banks or amalgamating Government company or companies which remains to be allowed and which would have been allowed to such banking company or companies or amalgamating corresponding new bank or banks or amalgamating Government company or companies, if the amalgamation had not taken place.

Following clause (viii) shall be inserted after clause (vii) of the Explanation to section 72AA by the Finance Act, 2025, w.e.f. 1-4-2026:

(viii) "original predecessor entity" means predecessor entity in respect of the first amalgamation.

117.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 117 of the Bill provides that in a case of amalgamation the accumulated loss and depreciation of amalgamating entity shall be deemed to be loss and depreciation of amalgamated entity specified therein. The clause corresponds to section 72AA of the Act. The clause also clarifies that accumulated loss of the predecessor entity which is deemed to be the loss of the successor entity can be carried forward for not more than eight tax years immediately succeeding the tax year for which such loss was first computed for the original predecessor entity. This is a provision which was part of the Finance Act, 2025. The provisions of the existing section have been simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

117.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that the clause 117 corresponds to section 72AA of the Act. The clause also clarifies that accumulated loss of the predecessor entity which is deemed to be the loss of the successor entity can be carried forward for not more than eight tax years immediately succeeding the tax year for which such loss was first computed for the original predecessor entity. It has been stated by the Ministry that this is a provision which was part of the Finance Act, 2025. The provisions of the existing section have been simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. The Committee, therefore, accept the clause as proposed.

Clause 118. Carry forward and set off of losses and unabsorbed depreciation in business reorganisation of co-operative banks.

118.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

118. (1) In a case of a co-operative bank, where amalgamation takes place during the tax year, the accumulated business loss and unabsorbed depreciation, if any, of the predecessor co-operative bank, shall be allowed to be set off against the income of the assessee, being a successor co-operative bank for that tax year, as if the business reorganisation had not taken place and all other provisions of this Act relating to set off and carry forward of loss and allowance for depreciation, shall apply accordingly.

(2) In case of a co-operative bank where demerger takes place during the tax year, and where the accumulated loss or unabsorbed depreciation—

(a) is directly relatable to the undertaking transferred, the whole of such loss and depreciation shall be allowed to be carried forward and set off against the income of the resulting co-operative bank; and

(b) is not directly relatable to the undertaking transferred, then such loss and depreciation shall first be apportioned between the demerged co-operative bank and the resulting co-operative bank in the same proportion in which assets of the undertaking are distributed between the demerged co-operative bank and the resulting co-operative bank, and be allowed to be carried forward and set off against their respective incomes.

(3) The accumulated loss shall be carried forward only up to eight tax years immediately succeeding the tax year in which such loss was first computed in the hands of the predecessor-in-business.

(4) The provisions of this section shall apply, if—

(a) the predecessor co-operative bank—

(i) has been engaged in the business of banking for three or more years; and

(ii) has held at least three-fourths of the book value of fixed assets as on the date of the business reorganisation, continuously for two years before to the date of business reorganisation;

(b) the successor co-operative bank,—

(i) holds at least three-fourths of the book value of fixed assets of the predecessor co-operative bank acquired through business reorganisation, continuously for a minimum five years immediately succeeding the date of business reorganisation;

(ii) continues the business of the predecessor co-operative bank for a minimum five years from the date of business reorganisation; and

(iii) fulfils such other conditions, as prescribed, to ensure the revival of the business of the predecessor co-operative bank or to ensure that the business reorganisation is for genuine business purpose.

(5) The Central Government may, by notification, specify such other conditions as it may consider necessary, other than the condition referred to in sub-section (4)(b)(iii), for the purposes of ensuring that the specified business reorganisation is for genuine business purposes.

(6) In a case where any of the conditions referred to in sub-section (4) or (5) are not complied with, the set off of accumulated business loss or unabsorbed depreciation made in any tax year in the hands of the successor co-operative bank shall be deemed to be the income of the successor co-operative bank chargeable to tax for the year in which such conditions are not complied with.

(7) The period commencing from the beginning of the tax year and ending on the date immediately preceding the date of business reorganisation, and the period commencing from the date of such business reorganisation and ending with the tax year, shall be deemed to be two different tax years for the purposes of set off and carry forward of loss and allowance for depreciation.

(8) In this section,—

(a) “accumulated business loss” means so much of the loss of amalgamating co-operative bank or demerged co-operative bank as referred to in section 112 in the hands of predecessor co-operative bank, which such predecessor co-operative bank would have been entitled to carry forward and set off under the said section, as if the business reorganisation had not taken place;

(b) “amalgamated co-operative bank”, “amalgamating co-operative bank”, “amalgamation”, “business reorganisation”, “demerged co-operative bank”, “demerger”, “predecessor co-operative bank”, “successor co-operative bank” and

"resulting co-operative bank" shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in section 65;

(c) "unabsorbed depreciation" means so much of the allowance for depreciation in the hands of amalgamating co-operative bank or demerged co-operative bank, which remains to be allowed and which would have been allowed to such banks, if the business reorganisation had not taken place.

118.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

72AB. (1) The assessee, being a successor co-operative bank, shall, in a case where the amalgamation has taken place during the previous year, be allowed to set off the accumulated loss and the unabsorbed depreciation, if any, of the predecessor co-operative bank as if the amalgamation had not taken place, and all the other provisions of this Act relating to set off and carry forward of loss and allowance for depreciation shall apply accordingly.

(2) The provisions of this section shall apply if—

(a) the predecessor co-operative bank—

(i) has been engaged in the business of banking for three or more years; and

(ii) has held at least three-fourths of the book value of fixed assets as on the date of the business reorganisation, continuously for two years prior to the date of business reorganisation;

(b) the successor co-operative bank—

(i) holds at least three-fourths of the book value of fixed assets of the predecessor co-operative bank acquired through business reorganisation, continuously for a minimum period of five years immediately succeeding the date of business reorganisation;

(ii) continues the business of the predecessor co-operative bank for a minimum period of five years from the date of business reorganisation; and

(iii) fulfils such other conditions as may be prescribed to ensure the revival of the business of the predecessor co-operative bank or to ensure that the business reorganisation is for genuine business purpose.

(3) The amount of set-off of the accumulated loss and unabsorbed depreciation, if any, allowable to the assessee being a resulting co-operative bank shall be,—

(i) the accumulated loss or unabsorbed depreciation of the demerged co-operative bank if the whole of the amount of such loss or unabsorbed depreciation is directly relatable to the undertakings transferred to the resulting co-operative bank; or

(ii) the amount which bears the same proportion to the accumulated loss or unabsorbed depreciation of the demerged co-operative bank as the assets of the undertaking transferred to the resulting co-operative bank bears to the assets of the demerged co-operative bank if such accumulated loss or unabsorbed depreciation is not directly relatable to the undertakings transferred to the resulting co-operative bank.

(4) The Central Government may, for the purposes of this section, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify such other conditions as it considers necessary, other than those prescribed under sub-clause (iii) of clause (b) of sub-section (2), to ensure that the business reorganisation is for genuine business purposes.

(5) The period commencing from the beginning of the previous year and ending on the date immediately preceding the date of business reorganisation, and the period commencing from the date of such business reorganisation and ending with the previous year shall be deemed to be two different previous years for the purposes of set off and carry forward of loss and allowance for depreciation.

(6) In a case where the conditions specified in sub-section (2) or notified under sub-section (4) are not complied with, the set off of accumulated loss or unabsorbed depreciation allowed in any previous year to the successor co-operative bank shall be deemed to be the income of the successor co-operative bank chargeable to tax for the year in which the conditions are not complied with.

(7) For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "accumulated loss" means so much of loss of the amalgamating co-operative bank or the demerged co-operative bank, as the case may be, under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession" (not being a loss sustained in a speculation business) which such amalgamating co-operative bank or the demerged co-operative bank, would have been entitled to carry forward and set-off under the provisions of section 72 as if the business reorganisation had not taken place;

(b) "unabsorbed depreciation" means so much of the allowance for depreciation of the amalgamating co-operative bank or the demerged co-operative bank, as the case may be, which remains to be allowed and which would have been allowed to such bank as if the business reorganisation had not taken place;

(c) the expressions "amalgamated co-operative bank", "amalgamating co-operative bank", "amalgamation", "business reorganisation", "co-operative bank", "demerged co-operative bank", "demerger", "predecessor co-operative bank", "successor co-operative bank" and "resulting co-operative bank" shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in section 44DB.

118.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 118 of the Bill seeks to provide for carry forward and set off of losses and unabsorbed depreciation in business reorganisation of co-operative banks. The clause corresponds to section 72AB of the Act. The clause also clarifies that accumulated loss can be carried forward only up to eight tax years immediately succeeding the tax year in which such loss was first computed in the hands of the predecessor-in-business. This is a provision which was part of the Finance Act, 2025. The provisions of the existing section have been simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

118.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

118.4.1 ‘to’ after ‘before’ be deleted and should read as under: “(ii) has held at least three-fourth of the book value of fixed assets as on the date of the business reorganisation, continuously for two years before to the date of business reorganisation.

118.5 Examination by the Committee:

118.5.1 Regarding the suggestion to delete ‘to’ after ‘before’ [Clause 118(4)(ii)], the Ministry has accepted the mistake stating it to be an inadvertent drafting error.

118.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after examining the clause and considering the views/suggestions of the experts/stakeholders, recommend that in Clause 118(4)(ii), the word 'to' following 'before' be deleted.

The Committee also observe that the clause corresponds to section 72AB of the Act. The clause also clarifies that accumulated loss can be carried forward only up to eight tax years immediately succeeding the tax year in which such loss was first computed in the hands of the predecessor-in-business. This is a provision which was part of the Finance Act, 2025. The provisions of the existing section have been simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. The Committee, except the above-mentioned drafting correction, accept the clause as proposed.

Clause 119. Carry forward and set off of losses not permissible in certain cases.

119.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

119. (1) In case of change in constitution of a firm during a tax year, such firm shall not be entitled to carry forward and set off so much of the loss proportionate to the share of retired or deceased partner as reduced by his share of profit, if any, from the firm for that tax year.

(2) If any person carrying on any business or profession has been succeeded in such capacity by another person, otherwise than by inheritance, nothing in this Chapter shall entitle any person other than the person incurring the loss to have it carried forward and set off against his income.

(3) In case of change in shareholding of a company, not being a company in which public are substantially interested, during any tax year, loss brought forward from any preceding tax year shall not be allowed to be set off against the income of the said tax year and subsequent tax years unless the following conditions are satisfied:—

(a) if the beneficial owners of shares of the company carrying at least 51% of voting power, as on the last day of tax year in which loss was incurred, shall continue to be the beneficial owner of shares carrying at least 51% of voting power, as on the last day of the tax year in which such change in shareholding takes place; or

(b) even if conditions referred to in clause (a) are not satisfied in case of a company, being an eligible start-up referred to in section 140,—

(i) all shareholders of the company holding shares carrying voting power, as on the last day of tax year in which loss was incurred, continue to hold those shares as on the last day of the tax year in which such change in shareholding takes place; and

(ii) such loss was incurred during the first ten years beginning from the year of incorporation of the company.

(4) The provisions of sub-section (3) shall not apply—

(a) where a change in the voting power and shareholding takes place in the tax year referred to in that sub-section due to death of shareholder or transfer of shares by way of gift to any relative of the shareholder; or

(b) where change in shareholding of Indian company, being a subsidiary of foreign company, takes place due to amalgamation or demerger of the foreign company and 51% of the shareholders of amalgamating or demerged foreign company are shareholders of amalgamated or resulting foreign company; or

(c) where change in shareholding takes place in a tax year consequent to a resolution plan approved under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016 and a reasonable opportunity of being heard was afforded to the jurisdictional Principal Commissioner or Commissioner; or

(d) to a company, its subsidiary and subsidiary of such subsidiary, if—

(i) the Board of Directors of such company were suspended by the Tribunal on an application moved by the Central Government under section 241 of the Companies Act, 2013 and new directors were appointed by the Central Government under section 242 of the said Act; and

(ii) the change in shareholding of such company and its subsidiary, and subsidiary of such subsidiary has taken place consequent to a resolution plan approved by the Tribunal under section 242 of the Companies Act, 2013 and a reasonable opportunity of being heard was afforded to the jurisdictional Principal Commissioner or Commissioner; or

(e) to a company to the extent that a change in the shareholding has taken place during the tax year on account of relocation referred to in section 70(2); or

(f) to an erstwhile public sector company where ultimate holding company of such company, immediately after the completion of strategic disinvestment, continues to hold, directly or through its subsidiary or subsidiaries, at least 51% of the voting power of such company in aggregate.

(5) Irrespective of anything contained in sub-section (4), if the conditions specified in sub-section 4(f) is not complied with in any tax year after the completion of strategic disinvestment, the provisions of sub-section (3) shall apply for such tax year and subsequent tax years.

(6) In this section,—

(a) a company shall be a subsidiary of another company, if such other company holds more than half in nominal value of the equity share capital of the company;

(b) the expression “erstwhile public sector company” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 116(3)(b);

(c) “strategic disinvestment” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 116(3)(c);

(d) “Tribunal” shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 2(90) of the Companies Act, 2013.

119.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

78. (1) Where a change has occurred in the constitution of a firm, nothing in this Chapter shall entitle the firm to have carried forward and set off so much of the loss proportionate to the share of a retired or deceased partner as exceeds his share of profits, if any, in the firm in respect of the previous year.

(2) Where any person carrying on any business or profession has been succeeded in such capacity by another person otherwise than by inheritance, nothing in this Chapter shall entitle any person other than the person incurring the loss to have it carried forward and set off against his income.

119.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 119 of the Bill provides for carry forward and set off of losses in case of certain situation and also in case of certain companies. The clause corresponds to section 78 and 79 of the Act. The provisions of the existing section 78 and 79 have been simplified and merged with the same intent in this clause.

119.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

119.4.1 Currently, on transfer of shares of an SPV (not being a company in which the public are substantially interested) by the Sponsor to the BT (Business Trust) (of more than 49%), brought forward losses of the SPVs get lapsed pursuant to the provisions of section 79 of the Act (corresponding relevant section 119 of the Bill) Further, for an Indian company / LLP to qualify as an SPV under the SEBI REIT (Real Estate Investment Trust) and InvIT (Infrastructure Investment Trust) regulations, the BT is required to hold at least 51% of the equity stake / interest in such company / LLP. Thus, practically, the Sponsor will always transfer at least 51% stake in the SPV to the BT, with the result that the losses of the SPV will always lapse on account of such transfer. Relaxation from the above provision should be provided in case of transfer of SPVs shares to the BT to encourage investors and sponsors to set up BT in India. Justification: To provide a specific tax exemption in section 79 of the Act (corresponding relevant section 119 of the Bill) on migration of SPVs into the BT (i.e.in case of transfer of shares of the SPVs by a Sponsor / Investor to a BT).

119.4.2 119(3) (a) "if the beneficial owners of shares of the company carrying at least 51% of voting power, as on the last day of tax year in which loss was incurred, shall continue to be the beneficial owner of shares carrying at least 51% of voting power, as on the last day of the tax year in which such change in shareholding takes place; or". If' needs to be deleted.

119.4.3 It appears that if there is a change in shareholding between the two dates (loss year and change in shareholding) even if for once, then the loss would not be allowed to be carried forward and set-off. It is suggested that in case the shareholding is later restored in subsequent years and the criteria of 51% is met in subsequent years, then the loss shall be allowable. Justification: There is no reason to disallow loss in later years despite shareholding being restored as the shareholder would be liable to pay tax in respect of higher income.

119.4.4 Definition of beneficial owner may be inserted under clause 119 of ITB 25, based on the Policy objective sought to be achieved. Rationale: Reduce tax litigation thereby providing certainty Justification: Term 'beneficially held' in ITA 61 has been replaced by 'beneficial owner' in ITB 25. However, term beneficial owner has not been defined in Clause 119. Clause 67(8) of ITB dealing with capital gain provides that beneficial owner shall have the same meanings as per section 2(1)(a) of the Depositories Act, 1996. Section 2(1)(a) of Depositories Act, 1996 defines beneficial owner as a person whose name is recorded as such with a depository. This indicates legal owner of share would qualify as beneficial owner. Under clause 263 of ITB 25 dealing with filing of return of income and processing, beneficial owner has been defined as under: "beneficial owner", in respect of an asset means an individual who has provided, directly or indirectly, consideration for the asset for the immediate or future benefit, direct or indirect, of himself or any other person. Above definition indicates even an indirect beneficiary of a share could qualify as beneficial owner. International commentaries in the context of double tax treaties have defined beneficial owner as the person who has the right to use and enjoy the income, rather than merely acting as an intermediary, agent, or nominee. They clarify that beneficial owner must have the power to determine how the income is used, rather than being obligated to transfer it elsewhere. Under ITA 61, courts have expressed divergent views on whether term 'beneficially held' would apply to a legal owner or beneficial owner. Based on the policy intent (whether to cover change in legal owner of shares or beneficial owner of shares), appropriate definition of beneficial owner may be inserted in Clause 119 of ITB.

119.4.5 If the policy intent is consistent with the objectives stated in the Mathai Commission report, Clause 119 of ITB may be amended to provide for disentitlement of losses based on shareholding in the year of set off of losses rather than year of change in shareholding Amendment of ITB 25 for loss disentitlement based on continuity of business rather than shareholding may be considered. Rationale: Reduce tax litigation thereby providing certainty. Make tax law lucid and clear. Justification: Section 79 of ITA 61 had been introduced as an anti-abuse provision pursuant to recommendations of the report of the Taxation Inquiry Commission (Mathai Commission), 1953–54. The Mathai Commission noticed that it was possible for a few persons to acquire the shares of companies which have sustained losses in earlier years and then start to engage in profitable business, thereby reducing tax liabilities by securing set-off of losses of earlier years when the shares of the company were held by different shareholders. The Mathai Commission suggested introducing an anti-abuse provision by which attempts at transferring losses in this manner could be curbed. Having regard to intent of introduction of section 79 of ITA, Courts have held that eligibility to carry forward and set off of loss under section 79 should be tested in the year of set off of losses. Therefore, even if there is change of more than 51% in shareholding in intermediary years, if the shareholding is restored in the year of set off of losses, provisions of section 79 would not apply. However, Clause 119 of ITB provides for disentitlement of losses even if shareholding is restored in the year of set off of losses. If there is no change in the policy intent of disentitlement of losses only based on shareholding in the year of set off of losses, amendment may be made in clause 119 of ITB 25 Further, internationally accepted practice is loss carry forward based on continuity of business rather than continuity of shareholding. This approach may be considered for incorporation in ITB 25.

119.4.6 Institution of the LLP would result in the lapse of losses proportionate to the share of the retired or deceased partner under Section 79 of old Act. It is recommended to extend the relaxation/ benefit for carry forward and set off of losses to startups incorporated as LLPs, to make it at par with an eligible start up incorporated as a company.

119.4.7 There are rulings which have held section 79 ought not to apply in case ultimate parent remained the same. There are contrary rulings as well. The provision affects stressed industries preventing them from using past losses to offset future profits during recovery. Clause 119 should not apply to intra group reorganization where the ultimate holding company of the Assessee (i.e., private limited company) remains same. It is recommended to clarify who would be considered to beneficially hold the shares It is recommended to allow an exception under Clause 119 for struggling industries so they can carry forward losses despite ownership changes This will support revival, attract investment, and encourage long-term recovery Further, the term 'stressed industry' may be defined.

119.4.8 As per the provisions of section 79 of the Act/ clause 119 of the Bill, brought forward losses of a closely held company are not allowed to be carried forward and set off if there is a change of beneficial shareholding of more than 49%. There is litigation in cases of intra group reorganization. There are rulings which have held section 79 ought not to apply in case ultimate parent remained the same. There are contrary rulings as well. It is recommended that the provision of clause 119 of the Bill is made ineffective. The business is separate from the person conducting the business. Business should have the option to carry forward and claim tax loss it generates, irrespective of change in ownership. Alternatively, it can be made applicable subject to certain exception – (i) section not to apply to MSMEs where a restructuring is on account of financial hardship of the Assessee (ii) section not to apply in case of intra-group restructuring where ultimate shareholder is the same entity and (iii) section not to apply in case of family reorganisation.

119.5 Examination by the Committee:

119.5.1 Regarding the suggestion to delete the word 'If' in Clause 119(3)(a), the Ministry has accepted the same stating it to be an inadvertent drafting error.

119.5.2 Regarding suggestion seeks to relax the condition of holding 51% of shares to avail carry forward and set off of losses in the cases of Business Trusts (BTs), the Ministry has stated as follows:

> "The suggestion of the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change and beyond the scope of IT Bill, 2025. The provisions of the Act are same vis a vis Bill. Condition of 51% is an anti-abuse provision. Dispensing with it will result in trading of losses. The suggestion is not feasible."

119.5.3 When the Committee pointed out that there is no reason to disallow loss in later years despite shareholding being restored as the shareholder would be liable to pay tax in respect of higher income as provided in Clause 119(3)(a), the Ministry in written reply has submitted as follows:

> "It is an inadvertent drafting error. The clause 119(3)(a) which is related to restricting the set off of brought forward losses on violation of certain conditions is to be redrafted to align it with sec 79 of the Act so as to remove any ambiguity."

119.5.4 Regarding the matter that the term 'beneficially held' in ITA 61 has been replaced by 'beneficial owner' in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025, and 'beneficial owner' is not defined in Clause 119, the Ministry has submitted the following:

> "It is an inadvertent drafting error. The clause 119(3)(a) of the Bill has used the term "beneficial owner" which was not there in sec 79 of the Act. The drafting of clause 119(3) is to be aligned with sec 79 of the Act to remove any ambiguity."

119.5.5 Regarding the suggestion seeking to extend benefits of sec 79 of the Act with regard to start up incorporated as a company to a start up incorporated as LLP, the Ministry has stated as follows:

> "The suggestion is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis a vis Act. Treatment of losses is differently provided for companies and firms because of their different constitution. There is no rationale to disturb the treatment."

119.5.6 Regarding the suggestion seeking that Clause 119 should not apply to intra group reorganization where the ultimate holding company of the Assessee (i.e., private limited company) remains same, and to allow an exception under Clause 119 for struggling industries so they can carry forward losses despite ownership changes, the Ministry has stated as follows:

> "The suggestion is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis a vis Act. It is an anti abuse provision which was introduce to prevent set off of losses and subsequent reduction in tax liability by way of change in shareholding."

119.5.7 The Committee pointed out that many countries allow loss carry forward based on continuity of business rather than strict shareholding continuity. They also stated that this approach reduces litigation and supports business restructuring, and asked whether the Ministry would consider amending Clause 119 to allow loss carry forward for startups, LLPs, intra-group reorganizations, and stressed industries where the ultimate holding company remains unchanged, to foster long-term recovery and investment in these sectors. In response, the Ministry in their written reply has submitted as follows:

> "Clause 119 is anti-abuse provisions and any relaxation in existing conditions may lead to abuse of the provisions to manipulate the profit of the intra group entities by arranging the set off of losses in such a way that no taxes are paid."

119.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee after examining the clause and considering the views/ suggestions of the experts/ stakeholders, recommend the following:

(i) The word "if" at the beginning of clause 119(3)(a), shall be deleted as it is syntactically redundant in light of the conditional structure already established in the main clause.

(ii) The provision shall be suitably amended to allow carry forward and set-off of losses where the shareholding pattern, though altered temporarily, is restored in subsequent years and the 51% continuity requirement is met thereafter. This would preserve the legislative intent of preventing misuse while ensuring fair treatment for companies whose shareholders remain ultimately liable to tax.

(iii) The drafting of clause 119(3) shall be aligned with Section 79 of the Act to remove any ambiguity regarding the newly used term "beneficial owner" as the same is not defined in the clause.

Apart from the above recommended drafting corrections, the Committee accept the clause as proposed, as it constitutes a textual simplification and merger of Sections 78 and 79 of the Act while retaining the same intent.

Clause 120. No set off of losses against undisclosed income consequent to search, requisition and survey.

120.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

120. (1) Irrespective of anything to the contrary contained in any other provision of this Act, any loss, whether brought forward or otherwise or unabsorbed depreciation, shall not be allowed to be set off against any undisclosed income which is included in the total income of any tax year, consequent to a search conducted under section 247 or a requisition under section 248 or a survey conducted under section 253, not being a survey under section 253(4). (2) In this section, the expression “undisclosed income” for any tax year shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 301.

120.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

79. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Chapter, where a change in shareholding has taken place during the previous year in the case of a company, not being a company in which the public are substantially interested, no loss incurred in any year prior to the previous year shall be carried forward and set off against the income of the previous year, unless on the last day of the previous year, the shares of the company carrying not less than fifty-one per cent of the voting power were beneficially held by persons who beneficially held shares of the company carrying not less than fifty-one per cent of the voting power on the last day of the year or years in which the loss was incurred:

Provided that even if the said condition is not satisfied in case of an eligible start-up as referred to in section 80-IAC, the loss incurred in any year prior to the previous year shall be allowed to be carried forward and set off against the income of the previous year if all the shareholders of such company who held shares carrying voting power on the last day of the year or years in which the loss was incurred, continue to hold those shares on the last day of such previous year and such loss has been incurred during the period of 76[ten] years beginning from the year in which such company is incorporated.

(2) Nothing contained in sub-section (1) shall apply,—

(a) to a case where a change in the said voting power and shareholding takes place in a previous year consequent upon the death of a shareholder or on account of transfer of shares by way of gift to any relative of the shareholder making such gift;

(b) to any change in the shareholding of an Indian company which is a subsidiary of a foreign company as a result of amalgamation or demerger of a foreign company subject to the condition that fifty-one per cent shareholders of amalgamating or demerged foreign company continue to be the shareholders of the amalgamated or the resulting foreign company;

(c) to a company where a change in the shareholding takes place in a previous year pursuant to a resolution plan approved under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016 (31 of 2016), after affording a reasonable opportunity of being heard to the jurisdictional Principal Commissioner or Commissioner;

(d) to a company, and its subsidiary and the subsidiary of such subsidiary, where,—

(i) the Tribunal, on an application moved by the Central Government under section 241 of the Companies Act, 2013 (18 of 2013), has suspended the Board of Directors of such company and has appointed new directors nominated by the Central Government, under section 242 of the said Act; and

(ii) a change in shareholding of such company, and its subsidiary and the subsidiary of such subsidiary, has taken place in a previous year pursuant to a resolution plan approved by the Tribunal under section 242 of the Companies Act, 2013 (18 of 2013) after affording a reasonable opportunity of being heard to the jurisdictional Principal Commissioner or Commissioner;

(e) to a company to the extent that a change in the shareholding has taken place during the previous year on account of relocation referred to in the Explanation to clauses (viiac) and (viiad) of section 47;

(f) to an erstwhile public sector company subject to the condition that the ultimate holding company of such company, immediately after the completion of strategic disinvestment, continues to hold, directly or through its subsidiary or subsidiaries, at least fifty-one per cent of the voting power of such company in aggregate.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (2), if the condition specified in clause (f) of the said sub-section is not complied with in any previous year after the completion of strategic disinvestment, the provisions of sub-section (1) shall apply for such previous year and subsequent previous years.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(i) a company shall be a subsidiary of another company, if such other company holds more than half in nominal value of the equity share capital of the company;

(ia) "erstwhile public sector company" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (ii) of the Explanation to clause (d) of sub-section (1) of section 72A;

(ib) "strategic disinvestment" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (iii) of the Explanation to clause (d) of sub-section (1) of section 72A;

(ii) "Tribunal" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (90) of section 2 of the Companies Act, 2013 (18 of 2013).

120.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 120 of the Bill seeks to provide that no set off of loss or unabsorbed depreciation shall be allowed against undisclosed income, consequent to search, requisition and survey. The clause corresponds to section 79A of the Act. To remove ambiguity and ensure clarity with respect to the definition of undisclosed income, reference is now made to the meaning assigned to it in clause 301 of the Bill. The provisions of the existing section have been simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

120.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after examining the clause, find that clause 120 of the Bill seeks to provide that no set off of loss or unabsorbed depreciation shall be allowed against undisclosed income, consequent to search, requisition and survey. The clause corresponds to section 79A of the Act. The Committee have been given to understand that to remove ambiguity and ensure clarity with respect to the definition of undisclosed income, reference is now made to the meaning assigned to it in clause 301 of the Bill. The provisions of the existing section have been simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. The Committee, therefore, accept the clause as proposed.

Clause 121. Submission of return for losses.

121.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

121. Irrespective of anything contained in this Chapter, no loss which has not been determined in pursuance of a return filed under section 263(1), shall be carried forward and set off under section 111(1) and 111(2), or 112(1), or 113(2), or 114(2) or 115(1).

121.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

79A. Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, where consequent to a search under section 132 or a requisition under section 132A or a survey under section 133A other than under sub-section (2A) of that section, the total income of any previous year of an assessee includes any undisclosed income, no set off, against such undisclosed income, of any loss, whether brought forward or otherwise, or unabsorbed depreciation under sub-section (2) of section 32, shall be allowed to the assessee under any provision of this Act in computing his total income for such previous year.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, the expression "undisclosed income" means,—

(i) any income of the previous year represented, either wholly or partly, by any money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing or any entry in the books of account or other documents or transactions found in the course of a search under section 132 or a requisition under section 132A or a survey under section 133A other than under sub-section (2A) of that section, which has,—

(A) not been recorded on or before the date of search or requisition or survey, as the case may be, in the books of account or other documents maintained in the normal course relating to such previous year; or

(B) not been disclosed to the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner before the date of search or requisition or survey, as the case may be; or

(ii) any income of the previous year represented, either wholly or partly, by any entry in respect of an expense recorded in the books of account or other documents maintained in the normal course relating to the previous year which is found to be false and which would not have been found to be so, had the search not been initiated or the survey not been conducted or the requisition not been made.

121.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 121 of the Bill provides that no loss shall be carried forward and set off which has not been determined in pursuance of a return filed. The clause corresponds to section 80 of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

121.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee find that Clause 121 corresponds to Section 80 of the existing Act. The provisions have been simplified for clarity while retaining their original intent. The Committee, therefore, accept the clause as proposed.

CHAPTER VIII

DEDUCTIONS TO BE MADE IN COMPUTING TOTAL INCOME

Clause122 - Deductions to be made in computing total income.

122.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

A.—General

122. (1) In computing the total income of an assessee, the deductions specified in this Chapter shall be allowed from his gross total income, as per and subject to the provisions of this Chapter.

(2) The aggregate amount of the deductions under this Chapter shall not, in any case, exceed the gross total income of the assessee.

(3) If the deduction under section 133 or 135 or 137 or 138 or 141 or 142 or 143 is admissible in computing the total income of an association of persons or a body of individuals, no deduction under the same provision shall be made in relation to the share of income of a member of such association of persons or body of individuals while computing the total income of such member.

(4) Irrespective of anything to the contrary contained in any of the provisions of this Chapter under the heading “Deductions in respect of certain incomes”, where, in the case of an assessee, any amount of profits and gains of an undertaking or unit or enterprise or eligible business is claimed and allowed as a deduction under those provisions for any tax year,—

(a) deduction in respect of, and to the extent of, such profits and gains shall not be allowed under any other provision of this Act for such tax year; and

(b) shall in no case exceed the profits and gains of such undertaking or unit or enterprise or eligible business.

(5) Deduction under the provisions of Part C of this Chapter shall not be allowed to an assessee, who fails to—

(a) furnish a return of income on or before the due date specified under section 263(1); or

(b) make a claim of deduction in return furnished under section 263(1).

(6) For the purposes of any deduction under this Chapter, irrespective of anything to the contrary contained in Part C of this Chapter, if any goods or services held for the purposes of—

(a) the undertaking, unit, enterprise or eligible business carried on by the assessee are transferred to any other business carried on by the assessee; or

(b) any other business carried on by the assessee are transferred to the undertaking or unit or enterprise or eligible business of the assessee; and

(c) the consideration, if any, for such transfer as recorded in the accounts of the undertaking or unit or enterprise or eligible business does not correspond to the market value of such goods or services as on the date of transfer, the profits and gains of such undertaking or unit or enterprise or eligible business carried on by the assessee, shall be computed as if the transfer in clause (a) or (b), had been made at the market value of such goods or services as on that date.

(7) For the purposes of sub-section (6), “market value”,—

(a) in relation to any goods or services sold or supplied, means the price that such goods or services would fetch, if these were sold by the undertaking or unit or enterprise or eligible business in the open market, subject to statutory or regulatory restrictions, if any;

(b) in relation to any goods or services acquired, means the price that such goods or services would cost if these were acquired by the undertaking or unit or enterprise or eligible business from the open market, subject to statutory or regulatory restrictions, if any; and

(c) in relation to any goods or services sold, supplied or acquired means the arms length price of such goods or services as defined in section 173(a), if it is a specified domestic transaction referred to in section 164.

(8) Where a deduction under Part C of this Chapter, is claimed and allowed in respect of profits of a specified business as referred to in section 46(11)(d) for any tax year, no deduction shall be allowed for such specified business under section 46 for the same or any other tax year.

(9) Where any deduction is required to be made or allowed under Part C of this Chapter, in respect of any income of the nature specified in that section and included in the gross total income of the assessee, then, irrespective of anything contained in that section, for the purpose of computing the deduction under that section, the amount of income of that nature as computed under the provisions of this Act (before making any deduction under this Chapter) shall alone be deemed to be the amount of income of that nature which is derived or received by the assessee and which is included in his gross total income.

(10) In this Chapter, “gross total income” means the total income computed as per the provisions of this Act, before making deduction under this Chapter.

122.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Existing provisions of the Section 80A under Chapter VI A are as under:-

“80A. (1) In computing the total income of an assessee, there shall be allowed from his gross total income, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this Chapter, the deductions specified in sections 80C to 80U.

(2) The aggregate amount of the deductions under this Chapter shall not, in any case, exceed the gross total income of the assessee.

(3) Where, in computing the total income of an association of persons or a body of individuals, any deduction is admissible under section 80G or section 80GGA or section 80GGC or section 80HH or section 80HHA or section 80HHB or section 80HHC or section 80HHD or section 80-I or section 80-IA or section 80-IB or section 80-IC or section 80-ID or section 80-IE or section 80J or section 80JJ, no deduction under the same section shall be made in computing the total income of a member of the association of persons or body of individuals in relation to the share of such member in the income of the association of persons or body of individuals.

(4) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in section 10A or section 10AA or section 10B or section 10BA or in any provisions of this Chapter under the heading "C.—Deductions in respect of certain incomes", where, in the case of an assessee, any amount of profits and gains of an undertaking or unit or enterprise or eligible business is claimed and allowed as a deduction under any of those provisions for any assessment year, deduction in respect of, and to the extent of, such profits and gains shall not be allowed under any other provisions of this Act for such assessment year and shall in no case exceed the profits and gains of such undertaking or unit or enterprise or eligible business, as the case may be.

(5) Where the assessee fails to make a claim in his return of income for any deduction under section 10A or section 10AA or section 10B or section 10BA or under any provision of this Chapter under the heading "C.—Deductions in respect of certain incomes", no deduction shall be allowed to him thereunder.

(6) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in section 10A or section 10AA or section 10B or section 10BA or in any provisions of this Chapter under the heading "C.—Deductions in respect of certain incomes", where any goods or services held for the purposes of the undertaking or unit or enterprise or eligible business are transferred to any other business carried on by the assessee or where any goods or services held for the purposes of any other business carried on by the assessee are transferred to the undertaking or unit or enterprise or eligible business and, the consideration, if any, for such transfer as recorded in the accounts of the undertaking or unit or enterprise or eligible business does not correspond to the market value of such goods or services as on the date of the transfer, then, for the purposes of any deduction under this Chapter, the profits and gains of such undertaking or unit or enterprise or eligible business shall be computed as if the transfer, in either case, had been made at the market value of such goods or services as on that date.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section, the expression "market value",—

(i) in relation to any goods or services sold or supplied, means the price that such goods or services would fetch if these were sold by the undertaking or unit or enterprise or eligible business in the open market, subject to statutory or regulatory restrictions, if any;

(ii) in relation to any goods or services acquired, means the price that such goods or services would cost if these were acquired by the undertaking or unit or enterprise or eligible business from the open market, subject to statutory or regulatory restrictions, if any;

(iii) in relation to any goods or services sold, supplied or acquired means the arm's length price as defined in clause (ii) of section 92F of such goods or services, if it is a specified domestic transaction referred to in section 92BA.

(7) Where a deduction under any provision of this Chapter under the heading "C.—Deductions in respect of certain incomes" is claimed and allowed in respect of profits of any of the specified business referred to in clause (c) of sub-section (8) of section 35AD for any assessment year, no deduction shall be allowed under the provisions of section 35AD in relation to such specified business for the same or any other assessment year."

122.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 122 of the Bill provides for the statutory compliance requirements, time limits and overall limits for claiming the deductions enumerated in Chapter VIII of the bill to eligible taxpayers. This clause corresponds to section 80A, section 80AB and section 80AC of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

122.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Pointing out a typographical error, one of the Stakeholders submitted as under:-

> Section No. "121" be substituted by "122". 122 (1) In computing the total income of an assesse, the deductions specified in this Chapter shall be allowed from his gross total income, as per and subject to the provisions of this Chapter.

122.5 Examination by the Committee:

Responding to the suggestion of the stakeholder, the Ministry of Finance in their written response, replied as reproduced below:-

> "This is in the nature of drafting suggestion. The clause 121 may be renamed as 122. The suggestion is acceptable. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961 apart from this drafting error."

122.5.2 To a query of the Committee as to how Clause 122 of the IT Bill 2025 deviates from Sec. 80A of the IT Act 1961 in terms of evolution in Tax policy to address contemporary challenges in Tax deductions which were not taken into account till date in IT Act, 1961, the Ministry in their written replies have submitted as under:-

> "Clause 122 incorporates the provisions of Section 80A, 80AB, 80B and 80AC, i.e all the provisions of Chapter VI-A - Part. A Provisions under new bill have similar concept but the language is simplified for clarity by breaking into sub clauses".

122.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The thorough examination of the proposed Clause 122 of the IT Bill 2025, pertaining to the deductions to be made in computing total income vis-à-vis Section 80 A under Chapter VI A of IT Act, 1961 reveals that barring the typographical error in naming the corresponding Section in the proposed IT Bill, 2025 as Clause 121, instead of Clause 122, the soul and intent of the comparable sections are same without any deviation. The proposed Clause 122 of the IT Bill, 2025 sticks to the laid down Statement of Object and Reasons of the Bill and provides more clarity and simplification to the language of the Bill. Thus, the Committee, while also considering the justification provided by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed Clause, accept the proposed Clause 122 in its entirety and recommend the Ministry to rectify the Sl. No. as 122 instead of 121.

Clause 123- Deduction for life insurance premia, deferred annuity, contributions to provident fund, etc.

123.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

B.—Deductions in respect of certain payments

123. An individual or a Hindu undivided family, shall be allowed a deduction of the whole of the amount paid or deposited in the tax year, being the aggregate of the sums enumerated in Schedule XV, but not exceeding one lakh fifty thousand rupees, while computing the total income for that year, subject to the conditions specified in that Schedule.

123.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

B.—Deductions in respect of certain payments

Deduction in respect of life insurance premia, deferred annuity, contributions to provident fund, subscription to certain equity shares or debentures, etc.

80C. (1) In computing the total income of an assessee, being an individual or a Hindu undivided family, there shall be deducted, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, the whole of the amount paid or deposited in the previous year, being the aggregate of the sums referred to in sub-section (2), as does not exceed one hundred and fifty thousand rupees.

(2) The sums referred to in sub-section (1) shall be any sums paid or deposited in the previous year by the assessee—

(i) to effect or to keep in force an insurance on the life of persons specified in sub-section (4);

(ii) to effect or to keep in force a contract for a deferred annuity, not being an annuity plan referred to in clause (xii), on the life of persons specified in sub-section (4):

Provided that such contract does not contain a provision for the exercise by the insured of an option to receive a cash payment in lieu of the payment of the annuity;

(iii) by way of deduction from the salary payable by or on behalf of the Government to any individual being a sum deducted in accordance with the conditions of his service, for the purpose of securing to him a deferred annuity or making provision for his spouse or children, in so far as the sum so deducted does not exceed one-fifth of the salary;

(iv) as a contribution by an individual to any provident fund to which the Provident Funds Act, 1925 (19 of 1925) applies;

(v) as a contribution to any provident fund set up by the Central Government and notified by it in this behalf in the Official Gazette, where such contribution is to an account standing in the name of any person specified in sub-section (4);

(vi) as a contribution by an employee to a recognised provident fund;

(vii) as a contribution by an employee to an approved superannuation fund;

(viii) as subscription, in the name of any person specified in sub-section (4), to any such security of the Central Government or any such deposit scheme as that Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf;

(ix) as subscription to any such savings certificate as defined in clause (c) of section 2 of the Government Savings Certificates Act, 1959 (46 of 1959), as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf;

(x) as a contribution, in the name of any person specified in sub-section (4), for participation in the Unit-linked Insurance Plan, 1971 (hereafter in this section referred to as the Unit-linked Insurance Plan) specified in Schedule II of the Unit Trust of India (Transfer of Undertaking and Repeal) Act, 2002 (58 of 2002);

(xi) as a contribution in the name of any person specified in sub-section (4) for participation in any such unit-linked insurance plan of the LIC Mutual Fund referred to in clause (23D) of section 10, as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf;

(xii) to effect or to keep in force a contract for such annuity plan of the Life Insurance Corporation or any other insurer as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify;

(xiii) as subscription to any units of any Mutual Fund referred to in clause (23D) of section 10 or from the Administrator or the specified company under any plan formulated in accordance with such scheme as the Central Government may,

by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf;

(xiv) as a contribution by an individual to any pension fund set up by any Mutual Fund referred to in clause (23D) of section 10 or by the Administrator or the specified company, as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf;

(xv) as subscription to any such deposit scheme of, or as a contribution to any such pension fund set up by, the National Housing Bank established under section 3 of the National Housing Bank Act, 1987 (53 of 1987) (hereafter in this section referred to as the National Housing Bank), as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf;

(xvi) as subscription to any such deposit scheme of—

(a) a public sector company which is engaged in providing long-term finance for construction or purchase of houses in India for residential purposes; or

(b) any authority constituted in India by or under any law enacted either for the purpose of dealing with and satisfying the need for housing accommodation or for the purpose of planning, development or improvement of cities, towns and villages, or for both,

as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf;

(xvii) as tuition fees (excluding any payment towards any development fees or donation or payment of similar nature), whether at the time of admission or thereafter,—

(a) to any university, college, school or other educational institution situated within India;

(b) for the purpose of full-time education of any of the persons specified in sub-section (4);

(xviii) for the purposes of purchase or construction of a residential house property the income from which is chargeable to tax under the head "Income from house property" (or which would, if it had not been used for the assessee's own residence, have been chargeable to tax under that head), where such payments are made towards or by way of—

(a) any instalment or part payment of the amount due under any self-financing or other scheme of any development authority, housing board or other authority engaged in the construction and sale of house property on ownership basis; or

(b) any instalment or part payment of the amount due to any company or co-operative society of which the assessee is a shareholder or member towards the cost of the house property allotted to him; or

(c) repayment of the amount borrowed by the assessee from—

(1) the Central Government or any State Government, or

(2) any bank, including a co-operative bank, or

(3) the Life Insurance Corporation, or

(4) the National Housing Bank, or

(5) any public company formed and registered in India with the main object of carrying on the business of providing long-term finance for construction or purchase of houses in India for residential purposes which is eligible for deduction under clause (viii) of sub-section (1) of section 36, or

(6) any company in which the public are substantially interested or any co-operative society, where such company or co-operative society is engaged in the business of financing the construction of houses, or

(7) the assessee's employer where such employer is an authority or a board or a corporation or any other body established or constituted under a Central or State Act, or

(8) the assessee's employer where such employer is a public company or a public sector company or a university established by law or a college affiliated to such university or a local authority or a co-operative society; or

(d) stamp duty, registration fee and other expenses for the purpose of transfer of such house property to the assessee, but shall not include any payment towards or by way of—

(A) the admission fee, cost of share and initial deposit which a shareholder of a company or a member of a co-operative society has to pay for becoming such shareholder or member; or

(B) the cost of any addition or alteration to, or renovation or repair of, the house property which is carried out after the issue of the completion certificate in respect of the house property by the authority competent to issue such certificate or after the house property or any part thereof has either been occupied by the assessee or any other person on his behalf or been let out; or

(C) any expenditure in respect of which deduction is allowable under the provisions of section 24;

(xix) as subscription to equity shares or debentures forming part of any eligible issue of capital approved by the Board on an application made by a public company or as subscription to any eligible issue of capital by any public financial institution in the prescribed form.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this clause,—

(i) "eligible issue of capital" means an issue made by a public company formed and registered in India or a public financial institution and the entire proceeds of the issue are utilised wholly and exclusively for the purposes of any business referred to in sub-section (4) of section 80-IA;

(ii) "public company" shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 3 of the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956);

(iii) "public financial institution" shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 4A of the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956);

(xx) as subscription to any units of any mutual fund referred to in clause (23D) of section 10 and approved by the Board on an application made by such mutual fund in the prescribed form:

Provided that this clause shall apply if the amount of subscription to such units is subscribed only in the eligible issue of capital of any company.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this clause "eligible issue of capital" means an issue referred to in clause (i) of the Explanation to clause (xix) of sub-section (2);

(xxi) as term deposit—

(a) for a fixed period of not less than five years with a scheduled bank; and

(b) which is in accordance with a scheme framed and notified, by the Central Government, in the Official Gazette for the purposes of this clause.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this clause, "scheduled bank" means the State Bank of India constituted under the State Bank of India Act, 1955 (23 of 1955), or a subsidiary bank as defined in the State Bank of India (Subsidiary Banks) Act, 1959 (38 of 1959), or a corresponding new bank constituted under section 3 of the Banking Companies (Acquisition and Transfer of Undertakings) Act, 1970 (5 of 1970), or under section 3 of the Banking Companies (Acquisition and Transfer of Undertakings) Act, 1980 (40 of 1980), or any other bank, being a bank included in the Second Schedule to the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934 (2 of 1934);

(xxii) as subscription to such bonds issued by the National Bank for Agriculture and Rural Development, as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf;

(xxiii) in an account under the Senior Citizens Savings Scheme Rules, 2004;

(xxiv) as five year time deposit in an account under the Post Office Time Deposit Rules, 1981;

(xxv) being an employee of the Central Government, as a contribution to a specified account of the pension scheme referred to in section 80CCD—

(a) for a fixed period of not less than three years; and

(b) which is in accordance with the scheme as may be notified by the Central Government in the Official Gazette for the purposes of this clause.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this clause, "specified account" means an additional account referred to in sub-section (3) of section 20 of the Pension Fund Regulatory and Development Authority Act, 2013 (23 of 2013).

(3) The provisions of sub-section (2) shall apply only to so much of any premium or other payment made on an insurance policy, other than a contract for a deferred annuity, issued on or before the 31st day of March, 2012, as is not in excess of twenty per cent of the actual capital sum assured.

Explanation.—In calculating any such actual capital sum assured, no account shall be taken—

(i) of the value of any premiums agreed to be returned, or

(ii) of any benefit by way of bonus or otherwise over and above the sum actually assured, which is to be or may be received under the policy by any person.

(3A) The provisions of sub-section (2) shall apply only to so much of any premium or other payment made on an insurance policy, other than a contract for a deferred annuity, issued on or after the 1st day of April, 2012 as is not in excess of ten per cent of the actual capital sum assured :

Provided that where the policy, issued on or after the 1st day of April, 2013, is for insurance on life of any person, who is—

(a) a person with disability or a person with severe disability as referred to in section 80U, or the provisions of this sub-section shall have effect as if for the words "ten per cent", the words "fifteen per cent" had been substituted.

(b) suffering from disease or ailment as specified in the rules made under section 80DDB,

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section, "actual capital sum assured" in relation to a life insurance policy shall mean the minimum amount assured under the policy on happening of the insured event at any time during the term of the policy, not taking into account—

(i) the value of any premium agreed to be returned; or

(ii) any benefit by way of bonus or otherwise over and above the sum actually assured, which is to be or may be received under the policy by any person.

(4) The persons referred to in sub-section (2) shall be the following, namely:—

(a) for the purposes of clauses (i), (v), (x) and (xi) of that sub-section,—

(i) in the case of an individual, the individual, the wife or husband and any child of such individual, and

(ii) in the case of a Hindu undivided family, any member thereof;

(b) for the purposes of clause (ii) of that sub-section, in the case of an individual, the individual, the wife or husband and any child of such individual;

(ba) for the purposes of clause (viii) of that sub-section, in the case of an individual, the individual or any girl child of that individual, or any girl child for whom such person is the legal guardian, if the scheme so specifies;

(c) for the purposes of clause (xvii) of that sub-section, in the case of an individual, any two children of such individual.

(5) Where, in any previous year, an assessee—

(i) terminates his contract of insurance referred to in clause (i) of sub-section (2), by notice to that effect or where the contract ceases to be in force by reason of failure to pay any premium, by not reviving contract of insurance,—

(a) in case of any single premium policy, within two years after the date of commencement of insurance; or

(b) in any other case, before premiums have been paid for two years; or

(ii) terminates his participation in any unit-linked insurance plan referred to in clause (x) or clause (xi) of sub-section (2), by notice to that effect or where he ceases to participate by reason of failure to pay any contribution, by not reviving his participation, before contributions in respect of such participation have been paid for five years; or before the expiry of five years from the end of the financial year in which possession of such property is obtained by him, or receives back, whether by way of refund or otherwise, any sum specified in that clause,

(iii) transfers the house property referred to in clause (xviii) of sub-section (2)

then,—

(a) no deduction shall be allowed to the assessee under sub-section (1) with reference to any of the sums, referred to in clauses (i), (x), (xi) and (xviii) of sub-section (2), paid in such previous year; and

(b) the aggregate amount of the deductions of income so allowed in respect of the previous year or years preceding such previous year, shall be deemed to be the income of the assessee of such previous year and shall be liable to tax in the assessment year relevant to such previous year.

(6) If any equity shares or debentures, with reference to the cost of which a deduction is allowed under sub-section (1), are sold or otherwise transferred by the assessee to any person at any time within a period of three years from the date of their acquisition, the aggregate amount of the deductions of income so allowed in respect of such equity shares or debentures in the previous year or years preceding the previous year in which such sale or transfer has taken place shall be deemed to be the income of the assessee of such previous year and shall be liable to tax in the assessment year relevant to such previous year.

Explanation.—A person shall be treated as having acquired any shares or debentures on the date on which his name is entered in relation to those shares or debentures in the register of members or of debenture-holders, as the case may be, of the public company.

(6A) If any amount, including interest accrued thereon, is withdrawn by the assessee from his account referred to in clause (xxiii) or clause (xxiv) of sub-section (2), before the expiry of the period of five years from the date of its deposit, the amount so withdrawn shall be deemed to be the income of the assessee of the previous year in which the amount is withdrawn and shall be liable to tax in the assessment year relevant to such previous year:

Provided that the amount liable to tax shall not include the following amounts, namely:—

(i) any amount of interest, relating to deposits referred to in clause (xxiii) or clause (xxiv) of sub-section (2), which has been included in the total income of the assessee of the previous year or years preceding such previous year; and

(ii) any amount received by the nominee or legal heir of the assessee, on the death of such assessee, other than interest, if any, accrued thereon, which was not included in the total income of the assessee for the previous year or years preceding such previous year.

(7) [77][]

(8) In this section,—

(i) "Administrator" means the Administrator as referred to in clause (a) of section 2 of the Unit Trust of India (Transfer of Undertaking and Repeal) Act, 2002 (58 of 2002);

(ii) "contribution" to any fund shall not include any sums in repayment of loan;

(iii) "insurance" shall include—

(a) a policy of insurance on the life of an individual or the spouse or the child of such individual or a member of a Hindu undivided family securing the payment of specified sum on the stipulated date of maturity, if such person is alive on such date notwithstanding that the policy of insurance provides only for the return of premiums paid (with or without any interest thereon) in the event of such person dying before the said stipulated date;

(b) a policy of insurance effected by an individual or a member of a Hindu undivided family for the benefit of a minor with the object of enabling the minor, after he has attained majority to secure insurance on his own life by adopting the policy and on his being alive on a date (after such adoption) specified in the policy in this behalf;

(iv) "Life Insurance Corporation" means the Life Insurance Corporation of India established under the Life Insurance Corporation Act, 1956 (31 of 1956);

(v) "public company" shall have the same meaning as in section 3 of the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956);

(vi) "security" means a Government security as defined in clause (2) of section 2 of the Public Debt Act, 1944 (18 of 1944);

(vii) "specified company" means a company as referred to in clause (h) of section 2 of the Unit Trust of India (Transfer of Undertaking and Repeal) Act, 2002 (58 of 2002);

(viii) "transfer" shall be deemed to include also the transactions referred to in clause (f) of section 269UA.

123.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 123 of the Bill provides for deduction to an assessee being an individual or Hindu undivided family in respect of payments made on account of insurance premia, deferred annuity, contribution to provident fund etc. specified in Schedule XV of the Bill. This clause corresponds to Section 80C of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

123.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

An important suggestion received from a stakeholder regarding the proposed Clause 123 is as under:-

> Separate & exclusive deduction may be considered for life insurance premium, irrespective of the tax regime opted by the assessee. Also, this limit may be inflation linked. To achieve objective of 'Insurance for All' & social security, the encouragement towards voluntary insurance may need to be incentivized for achieving higher level of insurance penetration which has been quite low for sometime.

123.5 Examination by the Committee:

The Ministry in their in their written replies to the suggestion have submitted as mentioned below:-

> "It is suggested that a separate deduction may be considered for life insurance premia irrespective of the tax regime. It is the stated policy of the government to reduce tax rates and at the same time do away with exemptions and deductions. The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961. So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no new policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025."

123.5.2 Further, the representatives, Ministry of Finance, during the course of examination of the bill, in a sitting, on the proposed Clause 123, deposed before the Committee, as under:-

"As explained by my JS, there are two regimes – old tax regime and new tax regime – for individuals and HUF. So, in the old tax regime, all these deductions are still available. They have not been taken away. The only thing is that the slab rate and tax rate are different. In the new tax regime, a conscious call was taken that we will liberalise the tax rate; we will increase the slabs; we will reduce the taxation; and we will do away with the exemptions. So, in the new tax regime, no new exemptions are being given. They are not considered. But in the old tax regime, it continues."

123.5.3 Elaborating further on the same Clause, the Secretary, Ministry of Finance (Department of Revenue) submitted before the Committee as under:-

"Sir, there is no specific sunset date. But so far, the performance in the new tax regime has been quite good. Sir, 74 per cent people have moved into the new regime. The idea here was to create various types of incentives -- whether it is for insurance and whether it is for other types of small savings and all. The more you make it complicated, the more it results in interpretation and disputes. So, a very conscious call was to have a very simplified new regime with no deductions permitted but with much liberal slabs and rates. However, to prevent people from having a problem of transition, old regime continues. So, if for somebody that works out better with insurance, he can opt for that and continue with that".

123.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that Clause 123 of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 provides for deduction for life insurance premia, deferred annuity, contributions to provident fund, etc and corresponds to Section 80C of the Income-Tax Act, 1961. It is the major repository of benefits to the taxpayers in terms of investment avenues. The provision not only encourages savings but also promotes financial security. It is also noteworthy to mention here that there is a seamless migration of the contents from the erstwhile Section 80C to the Clause 123 of IT Bill, 2025 in terms of scope and deduction limits. The major difference lies only in the aspect that the conditions for claiming deductions have been outlined in Schedule XV instead of the body of the Section, as earlier. The justification given by the Ministry is also found to be satisfactory. Therefore, keeping in view the preservation of the soul of the Section 80C in the proposed Clause 123, the Committee accept Clause 123 as proposed by the Ministry and recommend no change.

Clause - 124- Deduction in respect of employer contribution to pension scheme of Central Government.

124.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

124. (1) Where in the case of an assessee, being an individual employed by any employer, if an employer makes any contribution in his account under a pension scheme notified by the Central Government, the assessee shall be allowed a deduction in the computation of his total income, of the whole of the amount contributed by such employer as does not exceed— (a) 14%, where such contribution is made by the employer being the Central Government or the State Government; and (b) 10%, where such contribution is made by an employer other than an employer referred to in clause (a), of his salary in the tax year.

(2) Where the total income of the assessee is chargeable to tax under section 202(1), the provisions of sub-section (1) shall have effect as if for "10%" referred to in clause (b) of that sub-section, "14%" had been substituted.

(3) An assessee referred to in sub-section (1), or any other assessee, being an individual, shall be allowed a deduction in computation of his total income of the whole of the amount paid or deposited in the tax year in his account under a pension scheme notified or as notified by the Central Government, which shall not exceed fifty thousand rupees.

(4) The deduction under sub-section (3) shall also be allowed where any payment or deposit is made to the account of a minor under the said pension scheme, by the assessee, being the guardian of such minor, subject to the condition that the aggregate amount of deduction under sub-section (3) and this sub-section shall not exceed fifty thousand rupees.

(5) No deduction under sub-section (3) shall be allowed in respect of the amount on which a deduction has been claimed and allowed under section 123.

(6) Any amount standing to the credit of the assessee or a minor, in his account or the account of a minor, as the case may be, referred to in sub-sections (1), (3) and (4), in respect of which a deduction has been allowed together with the amount accrued thereon, received by the assessee or his nominee, in whole or in part, in any tax year,— (a) on account of closure or his opting out of the pension scheme referred to in sub-sections (1) and (3); or (b) as pension received from the annuity plan purchased or taken on such closure or opting out, the whole of the amount referred to in clause (a) or (b) shall be deemed to be the income of the individual or his nominee, in the tax year in which such amount is received, and shall accordingly be charged to tax as income of that tax year.

(7) The amount received by the nominee, on the death of the assessee, under the circumstances referred to in sub-section (6)(a), shall not be deemed to be the income of the nominee.

(8) The amount received by a person, being the guardian or nominee of a minor on account of closure of the pension scheme due to the death of the minor referred to in sub-section (4), shall not be deemed to be the income of such person.

(9) For the purposes of this section, the assessee shall not be deemed to have received any amount in the tax year, if such amount is used for purchasing an annuity plan in the same tax year.

(10) Where any amount paid or deposited by the assessee has been allowed as a deduction under sub-section (3), no deduction with reference to such amount shall be allowed as deduction under section 123 for that tax year.

(11) For the purposes of this section, "salary" includes dearness allowance, if the terms of employment so provide, but excludes all other allowances and perquisites.

124.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in respect of contribution to pension scheme of Central Government.

80CCD. (1) Where an assessee, being an individual employed by the Central Government on or after the 1st day of January, 2004 or, being an individual employed by any other employer, or any other assessee, being an individual has in the previous year paid or deposited any amount in his account under a pension scheme notified or as may be notified by the Central Government, he shall, in accordance with, and subject to, the provisions of this section, be allowed a deduction in the computation of his total income, of the whole of the amount so paid or deposited as does not exceed,—

(a) in the case of an employee, ten per cent of his salary in the previous year; and

(b) in any other case, twenty per cent of his gross total income in the previous year.

(1A) []

(1B) An assessee referred to in sub-section (1), shall be allowed a deduction in computation of his total income, whether or not any deductions is allowed under sub-section (1), of the whole of the amount paid or deposited in the previous year in his account under a pension scheme notified or as may be notified by the Central Government, which shall not exceed fifty thousand rupees:

Provided that no deduction under this sub-section shall be allowed in respect of the amount on which a deduction has been claimed and allowed under sub-section (1).

Following second proviso shall be inserted after the proviso to sub-section (1B) of section 80CCD by the Finance Act, 2025, w.e.f. 1-4-2026:

Provided further that the deduction under this sub-section shall also be allowed, where any payment or deposit is made to the account of a minor under the pension scheme referred to in the said sub-section, by the assessee, being the parent or guardian of such minor, subject to the condition that the aggregate amount of deduction under this sub-section shall not exceed fifty thousand rupees.

(2) Where, in the case of an assessee referred to in sub-section (1), the Central Government or the State Government or any other employer makes any contribution to his account referred to in that sub-section, the assessee shall be allowed a deduction in the computation of his total income, of the whole of the amount contributed by the Central Government or the State Government or any other employer as does not exceed—

(a) fourteen per cent, where such contribution is made by the Central Government or the State Government;

(b) ten per cent, where such contribution is made by any other employer, of his salary in the previous year:

[80][Provided that where the total income of the assessee is chargeable to tax under sub-section (1A) of section 115BAC, the provisions of sub-section (2) shall have effect as if for the words "ten per cent" referred to in clause (b), the words "fourteen per cent" had been substituted.]

(3) Where any amount standing to the credit of the assessee [81][in his account] referred to in sub-section (1) or sub-section (1B), in respect of which a deduction has been allowed under those sub-sections or sub-section (2), together with the amount accrued thereon, if any, is received by the assessee or his nominee, in whole or in part, in any previous year,—

(a) on account of closure or his opting out of the pension scheme referred to in sub-section (1) or sub-section (1B); or

(b) as pension received from the annuity plan purchased or taken on such closure or opting out, the whole of the amount referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) shall be deemed to be the income of the assessee or his nominee, as the case may be, in the previous year in which such amount is received, and shall accordingly be charged to tax as income of that previous year:

Provided that the amount received by the nominee, on the death of the assessee, under the circumstances referred to in clause (a), shall not be deemed to be the income of the nominee.

Following second proviso shall be inserted after the proviso to sub-section (3) of section 80CCD by the Finance Act, 2025, w.e.f. 1-4-2026:

Provided further that the amount received by a person, being the parent or guardian or nominee of a minor, on account of closure of the pension scheme referred to in sub-section (1B) due to the death of the minor, shall not be deemed to be the income of such person.

(4) Where any amount paid or deposited by the assessee [82][in his account or the account of a minor] has been allowed as a deduction under sub-section (1) or sub-section (1B)],—

(a) [83][]

(b) no deduction with reference to such amount shall be allowed under section 80C for any assessment year beginning on or after the 1st day of April, 2006.

(5) For the purposes of this section, the assessee shall be deemed not to have received any amount in the previous year if such amount is used for purchasing an annuity plan in the same previous year.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, "salary" includes dearness allowance, if the terms of employment so provide, but excludes all other allowances and perquisites.

124.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 124 of the Bill seeks to provide for deduction in respect of employer contribution to pension sch eme of Central Government. The clause corresponds to Section 80CCD of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this Clause”.

124.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

The Suggestion pertaining to Deduction in respect of Employer contribution to pension scheme of Central Government is produced as under:-

(i) Sub-section (3) may be reworded as below to reflect the correct intent - (3) An assessee referred to in sub-section (1), or any other assessee, being an individual, shall be allowed a deduction in computation of his total income of the whole of the amount paid or deposited by such individual in the tax year in his account under a pension scheme notified or as notified by the Central Government, which shall not exceed fifty thousand rupees. The addition of the words “by such individual” in sub-section (3) would clarify that the limit of Rs.50,000 is only in respect of own contribution to pension fund.

(ii) Further, the heading of this section is “Deduction in respect of Employer’s contribution to pension scheme of Central Government”. Sub-section (1) of section 124 provides deduction in respect of employer contribution to pension scheme of Central Government. Sub-section (3) and (4) provide deduction for assessee’s contribution to pension scheme of Central Government in his account and minor’s account, respectively. Therefore, the heading of this section should be suitably modified. Also, sub-section (3) intends to restrict assessee’s contribution to Rs.50,000. However, the language is not clear and may be interpreted to mean both assessee’s and employer’s contribution.

124.5 Examination by the Committee:

Responding to the suggestion of the stakeholder, the Ministry, in their written reply have submitted as reproduced below:-

(i) “The deductions available u/s 80CCD(1B) [Clause 124(3)] are limited to Rs. 50,000 and this is irrespective of the deduction claimed u/s 80CCD(1). The provisions of 124(4) clarify that the total deductions u/s 124(3) - either for the individual's account or the minor's account shall be Rs. 50,000/-. The limit is only for the contribution u/s 124(3) and not for the other clauses. The phrase "by such individual" can be added to provide clarity. This is acceptable. (ii) The heading of the clause may be suitably modified in line with the one in the IT Act, 1961. This is acceptable”.

(ii) “The proposed provision is the simplified version of the corresponding provision of Income-Tax Act, 1961 and no amendment has been introduced in this simplified version from the policy perspective apart from this drafting error”.

124.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee scrutinized the proposed Clause 124, pertaining to deduction in respect of employer contribution to pension scheme of Central Government and find that there is a transportation of the contents from Section 80 CCD of the IT Act, 1961 to the present Bill without any obvious attempt to deviate from the intent of the Section, as also cited by the justification provided by the Ministry. However, the absence of the phrase "by such individual" in sub section (3) creates an ambiguity which could lead to interpretational issues at later stages. Hence, the Committee recommend for the addition of the phrase "by such individual" in the proposed Clause, sub section (3), which may now be read as under:-

> (3) An assessee referred to in sub-section (1), or any other assessee, being an individual, shall be allowed a deduction in computation of his total income of the whole of the amount paid or deposited by such individual in the tax year in his account under a pension scheme notified or as notified by the Central Government, which shall not exceed fifty thousand rupees.

The Committee further recommend to modify the heading of the proposed Clause suitably to incorporate the employee contribution also in an appropriate manner as brought about by the amendment cited by the Committee to the proposed Clause. The Committee further accept the remaining provisions of the Clause 124 as proposed.

Clause - 125- Deduction in respect of contribution to Agnipath Scheme.

125.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

125. (1) An assessee, being an individual who has enrolled in the Agnipath Scheme and subscribes to the Agniveer Corpus Fund on or after the 1st November, 2022, shall be allowed a deduction in the computation of his total income, of the whole of the amount paid or deposited in his account in the said Fund during the tax year.

(2) Where the Central Government makes any contribution to the account of an assessee in the Fund referred to in sub-section (1), the assessee shall be allowed a deduction in the computation of his total income of the whole of the amount so contributed.

(3) In this section,— (a) “Agnipath Scheme” means the scheme for enrolment in the Indian Armed Forces introduced vide letter No. 1(23)2022/D(Pay/Services), dated the 29th December, 2022, of the Government of India in the Ministry of Defence; (b) “Agniveer Corpus Fund” means a fund in which consolidated contributions of all the Agniveers and matching contributions of the Central Government along with interest on both these contributions are held.

125.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in respect of contribution to Agnipath Scheme.

80CCH. (1) Where an assessee, being an individual enrolled in the Agnipath Scheme and subscribing to the Agniveer Corpus Fund on or after the 1st day of November, 2022, has in the previous year paid or deposited any amount in his account in the said Fund, he shall be allowed a deduction in the computation of his total income, of the whole of the amount so paid or deposited.

(2) Where the Central Government makes any contribution to the account of an assessee in the Agniveer Corpus Fund referred to in sub-section (1), the assessee shall be allowed a deduction in the computation of his total income of the whole of the amount so contributed.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "Agnipath Scheme" means the scheme for enrolment in Indian Armed Forces introduced vide letter No. 1(23)2022/D(Pay/Services), dated the 29th December, 2022 of the Government of India in the Ministry of Defence;

(b) "Agniveer Corpus Fund" means a fund in which consolidated contributions of all the Agniveers and matching contributions of the Central Government along with interest on both these contributions are held.]

125.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 125 of the Bill seeks to provide for deduction in respect of contribution to Agnipath Scheme. The clause corresponds to Section 80CCH of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

125.4 Examination by the Committee:

In view of the proposed Clause, the Committee posed specific queries to the Ministry on the ways the Ministry envisage to utilize the Agniveer Corpus fund for the Agnipath scheme and the modalities for the individuals who do not enroll in the Agnipath scheme. The Ministry in their written replies have stated as under:-

> "The Agniveer Corpus Fund is established as a part of the Agnipath recruitment scheme for the Armed Forces. This Fund is established by the Ministry of Defence and the utilization of the same is not under the purview of CBDT. Section 80CCH specifically provides a deduction for deposits made by Agniveers in the Agnipath scheme for their contribution and also includes deduction for the matching government contribution. Individuals who are not part of the Agnipath scheme are not eligible for this deduction. There is no alternative or analogous benefit under Section 80CCH for general taxpayers. Other tax-saving investments and schemes continue to remain available to non-Agniveers under sections such as 80C, 80CCD, etc."

125.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after going through the provision regarding Agnipath Scheme, note that the proposed Clause 125 does not alter the content and intent introduced vide Section 80 CCH of the Income-Tax Act, 1961 while carrying forward to the Income-Tax Bill, 2025. Further, the Committee also went through the replies of the Ministry and the justification provided by them for the proposed Clause. Having found the submissions of the Ministry satisfactory in nature, the Committee accept the proposed Clause 125 of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 in entirety.

Clause - 126- Deduction in respect of health insurance premia.

126.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

126. (1) An assessee, being an individual or a Hindu undivided family, shall be allowed a deduction of a sum as specified in sub-sections (2) to (8), payment of which is made by any mode as specified in sub-section (9), out of his income chargeable to tax in the tax year.

(2) In the case of an assessee, being individual, the sum referred to in sub-section (1), shall be the aggregate of the whole of the amount paid— (a) to effect or keep in force an insurance on the health (herein referred to as health insurance) of the assessee or his family, or any contributions made to the Central Government Health Scheme or such other scheme, as notified by the Central Government in this behalf, or any payment made for preventive health check-up of the assessee or his family, up to twenty-five thousand rupees in aggregate; (b) to effect or to keep in force the health insurance, or any payment made for preventive health check-up, for the parent or parents of the assessee, up to twenty-five thousand rupees in aggregate; (c) on account of medical expenditure incurred on the health of the assessee or any member of his family, up to fifty thousand rupees in aggregate; and (d) on account of medical expenditure incurred on the health of any parent of the assessee, up to fifty thousand rupees in aggregate.

(3) The deduction in respect of amounts referred to in sub-section (2)(a) or (2)(b), which are paid on account of preventive health check-up, shall be allowed up to five thousand rupees in aggregate.

(4) The amount of sum referred to in sub-section (2) shall not exceed fifty thousand rupees in aggregate of the sum specified under sub-sections 2(a) and 2(c) or aggregate of the sum specified under sub-sections 2(b) and 2(d).

(5) In the case of assessee, being Hindu undivided family, the sum referred to in sub-section (1), shall be the aggregate of the whole of the amount paid— Deduction in respect of contribution to Agnipath Scheme. Deduction in respect of health insurance premia.Deduction in respect of maintenance including medical treatment of a dependant who is a person with disability. (a) to effect or keep in force an insurance on the health of any member of that family, up to twenty-five thousand rupees in the aggregate; and (b) on account of medical expenditure incurred on the health of any member of that family, up to fifty thousand rupees in the aggregate.

(6) The amount of sum under sub-section (5) shall not exceed fifty thousand rupees in the aggregate of the sum specified under sub-section (5)(a) and (b); or

(7) For the purposes of this section, where the amount is paid on account of medical expenditure incurred on the health of senior citizen under sub-section (2)(c) or (d) or (5)(b), deduction shall be allowed, if no amount has been paid to effect or to keep in force the health insurance of such person.

(8) Where the sum specified in sub-section (2)(a) or (b) or (5)(a) is paid to effect or keep in force the health insurance of any person specified therein, and— (a) such person is a senior citizen, the amount of sum as provided in such clauses, shall be substituted with fifty thousand rupees for twenty-five thousand rupees; and (b) such sum is paid in lump sum in the tax year for more than a year, a deduction shall be allowed for each of the relevant tax year equal to the appropriate fraction of such amount.

(9) For the purposes of deduction under section (1), the payment shall be made by any mode,— (a) including cash, in respect of any sum paid on account of preventive health check-up; or (b) other than cash in all other cases not falling under clause (a).

(10) In this section,— (a) “appropriate fraction” means the fraction where the numerator is one, and the denominator is the total number of relevant tax year; (b) “family” includes the spouse and dependant children of the assesse; and (c) “relevant tax year” means the tax year beginning with the tax year in which such lump sum amount is paid and the subsequent tax year or years during which the health insurance remains in force.

(11) The health insurance referred to in this section shall be as per the scheme made in this behalf by— (a) the General Insurance Corporation of India formed under section 9 of the General Insurance Business (Nationalisation) Act, 1972 and approved by the Central Government in this behalf; or (b) any other insurer and approved by the Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority established under section 3(1) of the Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority Act, 1999

126.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in respect of health insurance premia.

80D. (1) In computing the total income of an assessee, being an individual or a Hindu undivided family, there shall be deducted such sum, as specified in sub-section (2) or sub-section (3), payment of which is made by any mode as specified in sub-section (2B), in the previous year out of his income chargeable to tax.

(2) Where the assessee is an individual, the sum referred to in sub-section (1) shall be the aggregate of the following, namely:—

(a) the whole of the amount paid to effect or to keep in force an insurance on the health of the assessee or his family or any contribution made to the Central Government Health Scheme or such other scheme as may be notified by the Central Government in this behalf or any payment made on account of preventive health check-up of the assessee or his family as does not exceed in the aggregate twenty-five thousand rupees; and

(b) the whole of the amount paid to effect or to keep in force an insurance on the health of the parent or parents of the assessee or any payment made on account of preventive health check-up of the parent or parents of the assessee as does not exceed in the aggregate twenty-five thousand rupees;

(c) the whole of the amount paid on account of medical expenditure incurred on the health of the assessee or any member of his family as does not exceed in the aggregate fifty thousand rupees; and

(d) the whole of the amount paid on account of medical expenditure incurred on the health of any parent of the assessee, as does not exceed in the aggregate fifty thousand rupees:

Provided that the amount referred to in clause (c) or clause (d) is paid in respect of a senior citizen and no amount has been paid to effect or to keep in force an insurance on the health of such person:

Provided further that the aggregate of the sum specified under clause (a) and clause (c) or the aggregate of the sum specified under clause (b) and clause (d) shall not exceed fifty thousand rupees.

Explanation.—For the purposes of clause (a), "family" means the spouse and dependant children of the assessee.

(2A) Where the amounts referred to in clauses (a) and (b) of sub-section (2) are paid on account of preventive health check-up, the deduction for such amounts shall be allowed to the extent it does not exceed in the aggregate five thousand rupees.

(2B) For the purposes of deduction under sub-section (1), the payment shall be made by—

(i) any mode, including cash, in respect of any sum paid on account of preventive health check-up;

(ii) any mode other than cash in all other cases not falling under clause (i).

(3) Where the assessee is a Hindu undivided family, the sum referred to in sub-section (1), shall be the aggregate of the following, namely:—

(a) whole of the amount paid to effect or to keep in force an insurance on the health of any member of that Hindu undivided family as does not exceed in the aggregate twenty-five thousand rupees; and

(b) the whole of the amount paid on account of medical expenditure incurred on the health of any member of the Hindu undivided family as does not exceed in the aggregate fifty thousand rupees:

Provided that the amount referred to in clause (b) is paid in respect of a senior citizen and no amount has been paid to effect or to keep in force an insurance on the health of such person:

Provided further that the aggregate of the sum specified under clause (a) and clause (b) shall not exceed fifty thousand rupees.

(4) Where the sum specified in clause (a) or clause (b) of sub-section (2) or clause (a) of sub-section (3) is paid to effect or keep in force an insurance on the health of any person specified therein, and who is a senior citizen, the provisions of this section shall have effect as if for the words "twenty-five thousand rupees", the words "fifty thousand rupees" had been substituted.

Explanation.—[]

(4A) Where the amount specified in clause (a) or clause (b) of sub-section (2) or clause (a) of sub-section (3) is paid in lump sum in the previous year to effect or to keep in force an insurance on the health of any person specified therein for more than a year, then, subject to the provisions of this section, there shall be allowed for each of the relevant previous year, a deduction equal to the appropriate fraction of the amount.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section,—

(i) "appropriate fraction" means the fraction, the numerator of which is one and the denominator of which is the total number of relevant previous years;

(ii) "relevant previous year" means the previous year beginning with the previous year in which such amount is paid and the subsequent previous year or years during which the insurance shall have effect or be in force.

(5) The insurance referred to in this section shall be in accordance with a scheme made in this behalf by—

(a) the General Insurance Corporation of India formed under section 9 of the General Insurance Business (Nationalisation) Act, 1972 (57 of 1972) and approved by the Central Government in this behalf; or (b) any other insurer and approved by the Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority established under sub-section (1) of section 3 of the Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority Act, 1999 (41 of 1999).

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(i) "senior citizen" means an individual resident in India who is of the age of sixty years or more at any time during the relevant previous year;

(ii) []

126.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 126 of the Bill seeks to provide for deduction in respect of health insurance premia. The clause corresponds to Section 80D of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

126.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee examined the provisions proposed through Clause 126 of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 regarding the deductions allowed for health insurance premia and found that the Ministry have not tinkered with the erstwhile Section 80D of the IT Act, 1961, but have brought forward the provisions with textual simplification. Hence, the Committee, keeping in view the justification provided by the Ministry accept the Clause as proposed.

Clause - 127 - Deduction in respect of maintenance including medical treatment of a dependant who is a person with disability.

127.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

127. (1) An assessee being an individual or a Hindu undivided family, who is a resident in India, shall be allowed a deduction up to seventy-five thousand rupees from his gross total income of a tax year, subject to the provisions of this section, if during that year he has— (a) incurred expenditure for the medical treatment (including nursing), training, or rehabilitation of a dependant, being a person with disability; or (b) paid or deposited any amount, under a scheme framed by the Life Insurance Corporation or any other insurer or the Administrator, or the specified company, for the maintenance of a dependant, being a person with disability, subject to the conditions specified in sub-section (2) and approved by the Board in this behalf.

(2) The deduction under sub-section (1)(b) shall be allowed only if the following conditions are fulfilled:— (a) the scheme referred to in sub-section (1)(b) provides for payment of an annuity or lump sum amount for the benefit of a dependant, being a person with disability— (i) on the death of the individual or the member of the Hindu undivided family, in whose name the scheme was subscribed; or (ii) on attaining the age of sixty years or more by such individual or the member of the Hindu undivided family, and the payment or deposit to such scheme has been discontinued; (b) the assessee nominates the dependant, being a person with disability or another person or a trust to receive the payments on behalf and for the benefit of such dependant.

(3) If the dependant as referred to in sub-section (1) is a person with severe disability, the amount of deduction as referred to in sub-section (1) shall be substituted with one lakh and twenty-five thousand rupees for seventy-five thousand rupees.

(4) In the event of death of the dependant, being a person with disability before the individual or member of the Hindu undivided family mentioned in sub-section (2), the amount paid or deposited under sub-section (1)(b) shall be deemed to be the income of the assessee of the tax year in which it is received and shall accordingly be chargeable to tax.

(5) The provisions of sub-section (4) shall not apply to the amount received by the dependant, being a person with disability, before his death, as an annuity or lump sum, by application of the condition referred to in sub-section (2)(a)(ii).

(6) The assessee claiming deduction under this section, shall furnish a copy of the medical certificate issued by the medical authority in such form and manner as prescribed, along with the return of income under section 263 for the tax year in which the deduction is claimed.

(7) If the certificate referred to in sub-section (6), specifies that the condition of disability requires reassessment of its extent after a period stipulated in it, the deduction under this section shall not be allowed for any tax year succeeding the tax year in which the said certificate expires, unless a new certificate is obtained from the medical authority in such form and manner, as prescribed, and a copy thereof is submitted along with the return of income under section 263.

(8) The dependant mentioned in this section shall not include a person who has claimed deduction under section 154 in computing his total income for the tax year.

(9) In this sections,— (a) “Administrator” means the Administrator as referred to in section 2(a) of the Unit Trust of India (Transfer of Undertaking and Repeal) Act, 2002; (b) “dependant” means— (i) in the case of an individual, the spouse, children, parents, brothers and sisters of the individual or any of them; 164 Deduction in respect of medical treatment, etc. (ii) in the case of a Hindu undivided family, a member of the Hindu undivided family, dependant wholly or mainly on such individual or Hindu undivided family for his support and maintenance; (c) “disability” shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 2(i) of the Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities, Protection of Rights and Full Participation) Act, 1995 and includes “autism”, “cerebral palsy” and “multiple disability” respectively referred to in section 2(a), (c) and (h) of the National Trust for Welfare of Persons with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities Act, 1999; (d) “Life Insurance Corporation” means the Life Insurance Corporation of India established under the Life Insurance Corporation Act, 1956; (e) “medical authority” means the medical authority as referred to in section 2(p) of the Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities, Protection of Rights and Full Participation) Act, 1995 or such other medical authority as may, by notification, be specified by the Central Government for certifying “autism”, “cerebral palsy”, “multiple disabilities”, “person with disability” and “severe disability” respectively referred to in section 2(a), (c), (h), (j) and (o) of the National Trust for Welfare of Persons with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities Act, 1999; (f) “person with disability” means a person as referred to in section 2(t) of the Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities, Protection of Rights and Full Participation) Act, 1995 or section 2(j) of the National Trust for Welfare of Persons with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities Act, 1999; (g) “person with severe disability” means— (i) a person with 80% or more of one or more disabilities, as referred to in section 56(4) of the Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities, Protection of Rights and Full Participation) Act, 1995; or (ii) a person with severe disability referred to in section 2(o) of the National Trust for Welfare of Persons with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities Act, 1999; (h) “specified company” shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 2(h) of the Unit Trust of India (Transfer of Undertaking and Repeal) Act, 2002.

127.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in respect of maintenance including medical treatment of a dependant who is a person with disability.

80DD. (1) Where an assessee, being an individual or a Hindu undivided family, who is a resident in India, has, during the previous year,—

(a) incurred any expenditure for the medical treatment (including nursing), training and rehabilitation of a dependant, being a person with disability; or

(b) paid or deposited any amount under a scheme framed in this behalf by the Life Insurance Corporation or any other insurer or the Administrator or the specified company subject to the conditions specified in sub-section (2) and approved by the Board in this behalf for the maintenance of a dependant, being a person with disability,

The assessee shall, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, be allowed a deduction of a sum of seventy-five thousand rupees from his gross total income in respect of the previous year:

Provided that where such dependant is a person with severe disability, the provisions of this sub-section shall have effect as if for the words "seventy-five thousand rupees", the words "one hundred and twenty-five thousand rupees" had been substituted.

(2) The deduction under clause (b) of sub-section (1) shall be allowed only if the following conditions are fulfilled, namely:—

(a) the scheme referred to in clause (b) of sub-section (1) provides for payment of annuity or lump sum amount for the benefit of a dependant, being a person with disability,—

(i) in the event of the death of the individual or the member of the Hindu undivided family in whose name subscription to the scheme has been made; or

(ii) on attaining the age of sixty years or more by such individual or the member of the Hindu undivided family, and the payment or deposit to such scheme has been discontinued;

(b) The assessee nominates either the dependant, being a person with disability, or any other person or a trust to receive the payment on his behalf, for the benefit of the dependant, being a person with disability.

(3) If the dependant, being a person with disability, predeceases the individual or the member of the Hindu undivided family referred to in sub-section (2), an amount equal to the amount paid or deposited under clause (b) of sub-section (1) shall be deemed to be the income of the assessee of the previous year in which such amount is received by the assessee and shall accordingly be chargeable to tax as the income of that previous year.

(3A) The provisions of sub-section (3) shall not apply to the amount received by the dependant, being a person with disability, before his death, by way of annuity or lump sum by application of the condition referred to in sub-clause (ii) of clause (a) of sub-section (2).

(4) The assessee, claiming a deduction under this section, shall furnish a copy of the certificate issued by the medical authority in the prescribed form and manner, along with the return of income under section 139, in respect of the assessment year for which the deduction is claimed:

Provided that where the condition of disability requires reassessment of its extent after a period stipulated in the aforesaid certificate, no deduction under this section shall be allowed for any assessment year relating to any previous year beginning after the expiry of the previous year during which the aforesaid certificate of disability had expired, unless a new certificate is obtained from the medical authority in the form and manner, as may be prescribed, and a copy thereof is furnished along with the return of income.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "Administrator" means the Administrator as referred to in clause (a) of section 2 of the Unit Trust of India (Transfer of Undertaking and Repeal) Act, 2002 (58 of 2002);

(b) "dependant" means—

(i) in the case of an individual, the spouse, children, parents, brothers and sisters of the individual or any of them;

(ii) in the case of a Hindu undivided family, a member of the Hindu undivided family, dependant wholly or mainly on such individual or Hindu undivided family for his support and maintenance, and who has not claimed any deduction under section 80U in computing his total income for the assessment year relating to the previous year;

(c) "disability" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (i) of section 2 of the Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities, Protection of Rights and Full Participation) Act, 1995 (1 of 1996) and includes "autism", "cerebral palsy" and "multiple disability" referred to in clauses (a), (c) and (h) of section 2 of the National Trust for Welfare of Persons with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities Act, 1999 (44 of 1999);

(d) "Life Insurance Corporation" shall have the same meaning as in clause (iii) of sub-section (8) of section 88;

(e) "medical authority" means the medical authority as referred to in clause (p) of section 2 of the Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities, Protection of Rights and Full Participation) Act, 1995 (1 of 1996) or such other medical authority as may, by notification, be specified by the Central Government for certifying "autism", "cerebral palsy", "multiple disabilities", "person with disability" and "severe disability" referred to in clauses (a), (c), (h), (j) and (o) of section 2 of the National Trust for Welfare of Persons with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities Act, 1999 (44 of 1999);

(f) "person with disability" means a person as referred to in clause (t) of section 2 of the Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities, Protection of Rights and Full Participation) Act, 1995 (1 of 1996) or clause (j) of section 2 of the National Trust for Welfare of Persons with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities Act, 1999 (44 of 1999);

(g) "person with severe disability" means—

(i) a person with eighty per cent or more of one or more disabilities, as referred to in sub-section (4) of section 56 of the Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities, Protection of Rights and Full Participation) Act, 1995 (1 of 1996); or

(ii) a person with severe disability referred to in clause (o) of section 2 of the National Trust for Welfare of Persons with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities Act, 1999 (44 of 1999);

(h) "specified company" means a company as referred to in clause (h) of section 2 of the Unit Trust of India (Transfer of Undertaking and Repeal) Act, 2002 (58 of 2002).

127.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 127 of the Bill seeks to provide for deduction in respect of maintenance including medical treatment of a dependent who is a person with disability. The clause corresponds to Section 80DD of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

127.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

127.4.1 An important suggestion of the stakeholder regarding the clause is reproduced below:-

(i) Flat deduction of Rs.75,000 under section 127 be allowed by removing the word "upto" in section 127. Alternatively, sub-section (1) be reworded as follows and sub-section (1A) be inserted - 127. (1) An assessee being an individual or a Hindu undivided family, who is a resident in India, shall be allowed a deduction of upto seventy-five thousand from his gross total income of a tax year, subject to the provisionsof this section, if during that year he has — (a) incurred expenditure for the medical treatment (including nursing), training, or rehabilitation of a dependent, being a person with disability; or (b) paid or deposited any amount, under a scheme framed by the Life Insurance Corporation or any other insurer or the Administrator, or the specified company, for the maintenance of a dependant, being a person with disability, subject to the conditions specified in subsection (2) and approved by the Board in this behalf.
(1A) The deduction under sub-section (1) would be the aggregate of the amount of expenditure incurred in (a) and the amount paid or deposited in (b), subject to a maximum of Rs.75,000.

(ii) Section 80DD provided for a flat deduction of Rs.75,000 where an assessee, being an individual or a HUF, who is a resident in India, has, during the previous year incurred expenditure for medical treatment etc. specified in (a) or paid or deposited any amount under a scheme framed by LIC etc. in (b). Section 127 of the Bill, however, allows a deduction of upto Rs.75,000. If the intent is to restrict the deduction to the expenditure incurred in (a) or amount deposited in (b) or both, then, the language should indicate lower of Rs.75,000 and the expenditure incurred in (a) and the amount deposited in (b).

127.5 Examination by the Committee:

The Ministry in their response to the above suggestion of the stakeholder, in their written replies, have stated as under:-

> "It is suggested that there should be a flat deduction of Rs 75,000 under section 80DD/Clause 127 instead of the deduction as per expenditure claimed to a maximum of Rs 75,000. The meaning and the intent is the same in the Bill and in the Act. The deduction cannot be in excess of the expenditure actually incurred, otherwise it will be misused. This has been clarified in the Bill. Therefore, it may not be feasible to carry out this suggestion.
>
> The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961.So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no new policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025".

127.5.2 On the issue of deduction for medical expenses on maintenance of dependent, the representative of the Ministry of Finance, during a Sitting of the Committee, stated as below:-

> "Sir, there is a deduction for medical expenditure for a dependent, being a person with disability. In the old regime, there was a deduction up to Rs. 75,000. That means, if the expenditure is Rs.40,000, the deduction would be limited to Rs. 40,000. So, the request is that instead of up to Rs.75,000, a flat deduction of Rs. 75,000 should be provided. So, Sir, we have not changed the provisions in the Bill from the Act and if the expenditure itself is limited, suppose, Rs. 20,000 then we cannot be allowing deduction beyond that expenditure. So, that is why if somebody incurs Rs. 75,000, he will get Rs. 75,000".

127.5.3 Adding on the issue on further prodding, the Secretary, Ministry of Finance (Department of Revenue) submitted as below:-

> "Sir, I will just give a small information because I am just going through the language carefully, there could be a scope for little change while redrafting".

127.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee take into account the details of the Clause 127 pertaining to the deduction in respect of maintenance including medical treatment of a dependant who is a person with disability vis-à-vis Section 80DD of IT Act, 1961 and find no substantial change in the contents. The Committee are satisfied with rest of the contents and the justification provided by the Ministry for the proposed Clause and recommend no further change in the Clause 127 of the IT Bill, 2025.

Clause - 128 - Deduction in respect of medical treatment, etc..

128.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

128. (1) An assessee who is resident in India, shall be allowed a deduction of the amount actually paid during the tax year or a sum of forty thousand rupees, whichever is less, from income chargeable to tax of that tax year, for the medical treatment of such disease or ailment as prescribed— (a) for himself or a dependant, in case the assessee is an individual; or (b) for any member of a Hindu undivided family, in case the assessee is a Hindu undivided family.

(2) A deduction shall be allowed under this section only if the assessee obtains the prescription for the medical treatment from a neurologist, oncologist, urologist, haematologist, immunologist, or any other specialist, as prescribed.

(3) The deduction under this section shall be reduced by any amount received under an insurance from an insurer, or reimbursed by an employer, for the medical treatment of the person as referred to in sub-section (1)(a) or (b).

(4) If the amount actually paid is in respect of the assessee or his dependant or any member of a Hindu undivided family of the assessee and who is senior citizen, the amount of deduction as referred to in sub-section (1) shall be substituted with one lakh rupees for forty thousand rupees. (5) In this section,— (a) “dependant” shall have the meaning as provided in section 127; (b) “insurer” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 2(9) of the Insurance Act, 1938.

128.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in respect of medical treatment, etc.

80DDB. Where an assessee who is resident in India has, during the previous year, actually paid any amount for the medical treatment of such disease or ailment as may be specified in the rules made in this behalf by the Board—

(a) for himself or a dependant, in case the assessee is an individual; or

(b) for any member of a Hindu undivided family, in case the assessee is a Hindu undivided family,

The assessee shall be allowed a deduction of the amount actually paid or a sum of forty thousand rupees, whichever is less, in respect of that previous year in which such amount was actually paid :

Provided that no such deduction shall be allowed unless the assessee obtains the prescription for such medical treatment from a neurologist, an oncologist, a urologist, a haematologist, an immunologist or such other specialist, as may be prescribed:

Provided further that the deduction under this section shall be reduced by the amount received, if any, under an insurance from an insurer, or reimbursed by an employer, for the medical treatment of the person referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) :

Provided also that where the amount actually paid is in respect of the assessee or his dependant or any member of a Hindu undivided family of the assessee and who is a senior citizen, the provisions of this section shall have effect as if for the words "forty thousand rupees", the words "one hundred thousand rupees" had been substituted :

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(i) "dependant" means—

(a) in the case of an individual, the spouse, children, parents, brothers and sisters of the individual or any of them,

(b) in the case of a Hindu undivided family, a member of the Hindu undivided family, dependant wholly or mainly on such individual or Hindu undivided family for his support and maintenance;

(ii) []

(iii) "insurer" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (9) of section 2 of the Insurance Act, 1938 (4 of 1938);

(iv) "senior citizen" means an individual resident in India who is of the age of sixty years or more at any time during the relevant previous year;

(v) []

128.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 128 of the Bill seeks to provide for deduction in respect of medical treatment, etc. The clause corresponds to Section 80DDB of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

128.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Views /Suggestions of Stakeholders are summarized as under:-

(i) Add mental health, stress management and substance abuse rehabilitation as deductible treatment expenses. 62% of rural entrepreneurs face mental health challenges. Recognition of tax laws will encourage treatment and resilience among micro-entrepreneurs.

(ii) Ministry of MSME supports the retention of this clause with a request to also include mental health, stress management and substance abuse rehabilitation. Allowing this expenditure to the assessees will be immensely helpful to Individual and HUFs, including the Micro Enterprises (Udyam registered), which are in the category of Proprietorship and HUF and comprises more than 80% of the Total Micro Enterprises.

128.5 Examination by the Committee:

The Ministry in their response to the suggestions of the stakeholders have responded as under:-

(i) "The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. Moreover, this is a matter of Rules as the ailments are prescribed as given in the Clause. The proposed provision is similar to the parallel provision in Income-tax Act, 1961. No new provisions or policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025".

128.5.2 During the course of examination, the Committee sought clarification from the Ministry of Finance on the rationale behind quoting a numeric value of the amount in the body of Act/Bill itself, when it could be conveniently allowed to be fixed/revised as per the rules made from time to time and which can be executively notified, the views for making an upward revision of the ceiling of Rs 40,000/- considering the escalating cost of medical treatment during the existing times and whether the term used 'or any other specialist and as prescribed' for claiming deduction on the treatment allows the assessee to claim for treatment prescribed other than from a neurologist, oncologist, urologist, haematologist and if such treatment includes mental health, stress management and substance abuse among other. Responding to the queries, the Ministry in their written replies have submitted as below:-

"The prescription of specialists is provided in Rule 11DD of the IT Rules, 1962. The list of specialists is mentioned exhaustively and there are no specialists mentioned therein apart from neurologist, oncologist, urologist and haematologist. The specialists are prescribed according to the illnesses prescribed in Rule 11DD(1). As on date, mental health, stress management and substance abuse have not been notified by the Board for the purposes of this clause. This is a matter of Income Tax Rules and will be examined in discussion with the Ministry of Health".

128.5.3 The representatives of the Ministry of Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises during their presentation before the Committee, on Clause 128, submitted as under:-

> "In Section 128, there is a mention that an assessee shall be allowed a deduction of the amount actually paid during the tax year or a sum of Rs. 40,000, whichever is less for treatment of certain ailments. Now, here, there is a list of ailments which are given. Our request is that mental health, stress management, and substance abuse can also be included in that list of ailments. This Section actually pertains to the individual assessees. If we see our database of Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises, we see that 83 per cent of the enterprises will actually benefit if just that part -- mental health, stress management, and substance abuse rehabilitation -- is included. Then, the taxable income reduces. So, these are our suggestions".

128.5.4 On the aspect of inclusion of Mental Health among others for claiming deduction, the representatives of the Ministry of Finance, during the sitting of the Committee, deposed before the Committee as under:-

> "Sir, there is a deduction under old tax regime 80DDB. That deduction is available for expenditure on certain specified diseases. So, the stakeholder is requesting for addition of mental health, stress management and substance abuse rehabilitation. The expenses made for these items may also be given same treatment and may be included in the 80DDB…… Sir, this is something we will examine as part of rules…. Sir, 80DDB gives deduction and then, coming to ailments, we prescribe by way of rules…. : Sir, we will examine it".

128.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee examined the provisions pertaining to the deductions in respect of Medical treatment under the erstwhile Section 80DDB proposed through Clause 128 of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 and find it to be parallel in nature without any change in the substance of the earlier Section. The Committee, therefore, keeping in view the justification provided by the Ministry, accept the provisions of the Clause as proposed in entirety without any amendment.

Clause - 129 - Deduction in respect of interest on loan taken for higher education.

129.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

129. (1) An assessee, being an individual, shall be allowed a deduction of amount paid as interest during a tax year, subject to the provisions of this section, on a loan taken by him from any financial institution or any approved charitable institution, if the— (a) loan taken is for the purpose of pursuing higher education of himself or his relative; and (b) payment is made out of his income chargeable to tax.

(2) The deduction referred to in sub-section (1) shall be allowed in computing the total income in respect of the initial tax year and seven tax years immediately succeeding the initial tax year, or until the interest on the loan is fully paid by the assessee, whichever is earlier.

(3) In this section,— (a) “approved charitable institution” means a registered non-profit organisation where it was approved earlier under the provisions of section 10(23C) of the Income-tax Act, 1961, or an institution referred to in section 80G(2)(a) of the said Act; (b) “financial institution” means a banking company to which the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 applies (including any bank or banking institution referred to in section 51 of that Act) or any other financial institution which the Central Government may, by notification, specify; (c) “higher education” means any course of study pursued after passing the Senior Secondary Examination or its equivalent from a school, board, or University recognised by the Central Government or State Government, local authority, or by any authority authorised by the Central Government or State Government or local authority to do so; (d) “initial tax year” means the tax year in which the assessee starts paying the interest on the loan; and (e) “relative”, in relation to an individual, means the spouse and children of that individual, or the student for whom the individual is the legal guardian.

129.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in respect of interest on loan taken for higher education.

80E. (1) In computing the total income of an assessee, being an individual, there shall be deducted, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, any amount paid by him in the previous year, out of his income chargeable to tax, by way of interest on loan taken by him from any financial institution or any approved charitable institution for the purpose of pursuing his higher education or for the purpose of higher education of his relative.

(2) The deduction specified in sub-section (1) shall be allowed in computing the total income in respect of the initial assessment year and seven assessment years immediately succeeding the initial assessment year or until the interest referred to in sub-section (1) is paid by the assessee in full, whichever is earlier.

(3) For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "approved charitable institution" means an institution specified in, or, as the case may be, an institution established for charitable purposes and approved by the prescribed authority under clause (23C) of section 10 or an institution referred to in clause (a) of sub-section (2) of section 80G;

(b) "financial institution" means a banking company to which the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 (10 of 1949) applies (including any bank or banking institution referred to in section 51 of that Act); or any other financial institution which the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf;

(c) "higher education" means any course of study pursued after passing the Senior Secondary Examination or its equivalent from any school, board or university recognised by the Central Government or State Government or local authority or by any other authority authorised by the Central Government or State Government or local authority to do so;

(d) "initial assessment year" means the assessment year relevant to the previous year, in which the assessee starts paying the interest on the loan;

(e) "relative", in relation to an individual, means the spouse and children of that individual or the student for whom the individual is the legal guardian.

129.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 129 of the Bill seeks to provide for deduction in respect of interest on loan taken for higher education. The clause corresponds to Section 80E of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

129.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

An important suggestion of a stakeholder is summarized as under:-

(i) Sub-section (2A) may be inserted after sub-section (2) of section 129.
(2A)If the assessee has claimed deduction under section 80E of the Income-Tax Act, 1961 for any assessment year or years, he would be eligible to claim deduction under section 129 of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 for the balance tax years remaining out of the seven years.If an assessee has already taken a loan in P.Y. 2025-26 or any earlier previous year and has started claiming deduction under section 80E of the Income-tax Act, 1961, he would be eligible for deduction u/s 129 of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 only for the balance tax years out of the seven assessment/tax years.

129.5 Examination by the Committee:

The Ministry in their written replies have responded to the suggestion as under:-

"Suggestion seeks reference of IT Act for incentives allowed under IT Act and continued in Bill. This is covered in the Repeal and Savings clause in 536(2), the provisions of which are:536. (1) The Income-tax Act, 1961 is hereby repealed.(2) Irrespective of the repeal of the Income-tax Act, 1961 (hereinafter referred to as the repealed Income-tax Act), and subject to sub-section (3)—(a) nothing shall affect the previous operation of the repealed Act and orders or anything duly done or suffered thereunder; or(b) nothing shall affect any right, privilege, obligation or liability acquired, accrued or incurred under the repealed Act or orders under such repealed Act; Therefore, this suggestion is already addressed. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961. So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no new policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025".

129.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, while examining the provision proposed under Clause 129 of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 pertaining to the deduction in respect of interest on loan taken for higher education find that the contents of the said Clause are similar to Section 80E of the Income-Tax Act, 1961. The Committee also take cognizance of the apprehension raised by the Stakeholder, regarding the eligibility for deduction u/s 129 of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 only for the balance tax years out of the seven assessment/tax years and note that the same has already been taken care of in view of the Savings Clause 536 of the IT Bill, 2025. However, the Committee find the mention of the "provisions of section 10(23C) of the Income-tax Act, 1961, or an institution referred to in section 80G(2)(a) of the said Act" in Clause 129(3) a deviation from the clean break aimed at, by making a cross reference of old Act, 1961 in the body of the new Bill. Therefore, the Committee recommend the Ministry to remove the reference to the old Act, 1961 by clubbing it in the Savings clause coherently and accept the remaining portion of the proposed Clause 129 without any further change.

Clause - 130 - Deduction in respect of interest on loan taken for residential house property.

130.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

130. (1) An assessee, being an individual, shall be allowed a deduction of interest payable on loan taken by him from any financial institution for the purpose of acquisition of a residential house property as per the provisions of this section.

(2) The deduction under sub-section (1) shall not exceed fifty thousand rupees and shall be allowed in computing the total income of the individual for the tax year beginning on the 1st April, 2016 and subsequent tax years.

(3) The deduction under sub-section (1) shall be subject to the following conditions:— (a) the loan has been sanctioned by the financial institution during the period beginning on the 1st April, 2016 and ending on the 31st March, 2017; (b) the amount of loan sanctioned for acquisition of the residential house property does not exceed thirty-five lakh rupees; (c) the value of residential house property does not exceed fifty lakh rupees; and (d) the assessee does not own any residential house property on the date of sanction of loan.

(4) Where a deduction under this section is allowed for any interest referred to in sub-section (1), deduction shall not be allowed in respect of such interest under any other provision of this Act for the same or any other tax year.

(5) In this section,— (a) “financial institution” means a banking company to which the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 applies, or any bank or banking institution referred to in section 51 of that Act or a housing finance company; and (b) “housing finance company” means a public company formed or registered in India with the main object of carrying on the business of providing long-term finance for construction or purchase of houses in India for residential purposes.

130.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in respect of interest on loan taken for residential house property.

80EE. (1) In computing the total income of an assessee, being an individual, there shall be deducted, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, interest payable on loan taken by him from any financial institution for the purpose of acquisition of a residential property.

(2) The deduction under sub-section (1) shall not exceed fifty thousand rupees and shall be allowed in computing the total income of the individual for the assessment year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2017 and subsequent assessment years.

(3) The deduction under sub-section (1) shall be subject to the following conditions, namely:—

(i) the loan has been sanctioned by the financial institution during the period beginning on the 1st day of April, 2016 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2017;

(ii) the amount of loan sanctioned for acquisition of the residential house property does not exceed thirty-five lakh rupees;

(iii) the value of residential house property does not exceed fifty lakh rupees;

(iv) The assessee does not own any residential house property on the date of sanction of loan.

(4) Where a deduction under this section is allowed for any interest referred to in sub-section (1), deduction shall not be allowed in respect of such interest under any other provision of this Act for the same or any other assessment year.

(5) For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "financial institution" means a banking company to which the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 (10 of 1949) applies, or any bank or banking institution referred to in section 51 of that Act or a housing finance company;

(b) "housing finance company" means a public company formed or registered in India with the main object of carrying on the business of providing long-term finance for construction or purchase of houses in India for residential purposes.

130.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 130 of the Bill seeks to provide for deduction in respect of interest on loan taken for certain house property where the loan of not more than thirty-five lakh rupees has been sanctioned for said property of not more than fifty lakh rupees by certain financial institutions during the period between 1st April, 2016 and 31st March, 2017, subject to certain conditions. The clause corresponds to Section 80EE of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

130.4 Examination by the Committee:

During the Course of examination of the Bill, the Committee were desirous of knowing the views of the Ministry on the mechanism to keep on promoting affordable housing through deduction in respect of interest on loans when the period of loan is a narrow one i.e. 01st April 2016 to 31st March, 2017 and whether there was any proposal for the furtherance of such provision. In their reply, the Ministry have submitted as mentioned below:-

> "This clause has been sunset under the provisions of the IT Act, 1961 and has been reproduced faithfully in the Bill. The Bill provides for lower tax rate for individuals and companies. In line with the Government's stated policy of removing exemption/deductions, these reduced rates are applicable for only those which do not avail exemptions/deductions. The focus of the Govt is to provide direct subsidy rather than through deductions".

130.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that the proposed Clause 130 of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 pertaining to the deduction in respect of interest on loan taken for residential house property is similar to the Section 80 EE of the Income-Tax Act, 1961 in terms of the content and no deviation is to be noticed. Thus, the Committee, in view of the justification provided by the Ministry for bringing the proposed Clause, accept the Clause 130 as proposed and recommend no amendment.

Clause - 131 - Deduction in respect of interest on loan taken for certain house property.

131.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

131. (1) An assessee, being an individual not eligible to claim deduction under section 130, shall be allowed a deduction on interest payable on loan taken by him from any financial institution for the purpose of acquisition of a residential house property, subject to a maximum limit of one lakh and fifty thousand rupees in a tax year and on fulfilment of conditions specified in sub-section (2), for the tax year beginning on the 1st April, 2019 and subsequent tax years.

(2) The deduction under sub-section (1) shall be subject to the following conditions:— (a) the loan has been sanctioned by the financial institution during the period beginning on the 1st April, 2019 and ending with the 31st March, 2022; (b) the stamp duty value of residential house property does not exceed forty-five lakh rupees; and (c) the assessee does not own any residential house property on the date of sanction of loan.

(3) Where a deduction under this section is allowed for any interest referred to in sub-section (1), deduction shall not be allowed in respect of such interest under any other provision of this Act for the same or any other tax year.

(4) In this section, “financial institution” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 130(5)(a).

131.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in respect of interest on loan taken for certain house property.

80EEA. (1) In computing the total income of an assessee, being an individual not eligible to claim deduction under section 80EE, there shall be deducted, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, interest payable on loan taken by him from any financial institution for the purpose of acquisition of a residential house property.

(2) The deduction under sub-section (1) shall not exceed one lakh and fifty thousand rupees and shall be allowed in computing the total income of the individual for the assessment year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2020 and subsequent assessment years.

(3) The deduction under sub-section (1) shall be subject to the following conditions, namely:—

(i) the loan has been sanctioned by the financial institution during the period beginning on the 1st day of April, 2019 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2022;

(ii) the stamp duty value of residential house property does not exceed forty-five lakh rupees;

(iii) The assessee does not own any residential house property on the date of sanction of loan.

(4) Where a deduction under this section is allowed for any interest referred to in sub-section (1), deduction shall not be allowed in respect of such interest under any other provision of this Act for the same or any other assessment year.

(5) For the purposes of this section,—

(a) the expression "financial institution" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (a) of sub-section (5) of section 80EE;

(b) the expression "stamp duty value" means value adopted or assessed or assessable by any authority of the Central Government or a State Government for the purpose of payment of stamp duty in respect of an immovable property.

131.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 131 of the Bill provides for deduction in respect of interest on loan taken for certain house property in case of an individual to whom clause 130 is not applicable. The clause corresponds to Section 80EEA of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

131.4 Examination by the Committee:

During the Course of examination of the Bill, the Committee were desirous of knowing the views of the Ministry on the mechanism to keep on promoting affordable housing through deduction in respect of interest on loans when the period of loan is a narrow one i.e. 01st April, 2019 to 31st March, 2022 and whether there was any proposal for the furtherance of such provision. In their reply, the Ministry have submitted as mentioned below:-

> "This clause has been sunset under the provisions of the IT Act, 1961 and has been reproduced faithfully in the Bill. The Bill provides for lower tax rate for individuals and companies. In line with the Government's stated policy of removing exemption/deductions, these reduced rates are applicable for only those which do not avail exemptions/deductions. The focus of the Govt is to provide direct subsidy rather than through deductions".

131.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee observe that the proposed Clause 131 of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 provides for deduction in respect of interest on loan taken for certain house property in case of an individual to whom clause 130 is not applicable. The text of the Clause is similar to the Section 80 EEA of the Income-Tax Act, 1961 in terms of the content and there is no deviation from the soul of the Section. Thus, the Committee, in view of the justification provided by the Ministry, accept Clause 131 as proposed and recommend no amendment.

Clause - 132 - Deduction in respect of purchase of electric vehicle.

132.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

132. (1) An assessee, being an individual, shall be allowed a deduction of interest payable on loan taken by him from any financial institution for the purpose of purchase of an electric vehicle, as per the provisions of this section.

(2) The deduction under sub-section (1) shall be subject to the condition that the loan has been sanctioned by the financial institution during the period beginning on the 1st April, 2019 and ending with the 31st March, 2023.

(3) The deduction under sub-section (1) shall not exceed one lakh fifty thousand rupees and shall be allowed in computing the total income of the individual for the tax year beginning on the 1st April, 2019 and subsequent tax years.

(4) Where a deduction under this section is allowed for any interest referred to in sub-section (1), deduction shall not be allowed in respect of such interest under any other provision of this Act for the same or any other tax year.

(5) In this section,— (a) “electric vehicle” means a vehicle powered exclusively by an electric motor, whose traction energy is supplied exclusively by traction battery installed in the vehicle and has such electric regenerative braking system, which during braking provides for the conversion of vehicle kinetic energy into electrical energy; and (b) “financial institution” means a banking company to which the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 applies, or any bank or banking institution referred to in section 51 of that Act and includes a non-banking financial company.

132.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in respect of purchase of electric vehicle.

80EEB. (1) In computing the total income of an assessee, being an individual, there shall be deducted, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, interest payable on loan taken by him from any financial institution for the purpose of purchase of an electric vehicle.

(2) The deduction under sub-section (1) shall not exceed one lakh and fifty thousand rupees and shall be allowed in computing the total income of the individual for the assessment year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2020 and subsequent assessment years.

(3) The deduction under sub-section (1) shall be subject to the condition that the loan has been sanctioned by the financial institution during the period beginning on the 1st day of April, 2019 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2023.

(4) Where a deduction under this section is allowed for any interest referred to in sub-section (1), deduction shall not be allowed in respect of such interest under any other provision of this Act for the same or any other assessment year.

(5) For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "electric vehicle" means a vehicle which is powered exclusively by an electric motor whose traction energy is supplied exclusively by traction battery installed in the vehicle and has such electric regenerative braking system, which during braking provides for the conversion of vehicle kinetic energy into electrical energy;

(b) "financial institution" means a banking company to which the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 (10 of 1949) applies, or any bank or banking institution referred to in section 51 of that Act and includes any deposit taking non-banking financial company or a systemically important non-deposit taking non-banking financial company as defined in clauses (e) and (g) of Explanation 4 to section 43B.

132.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 132 of the Bill seeks to provide for deduction in respect of purchase of electric vehicle. The clause corresponds to Section 80EEB of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

132.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

On the proposed clause, the suggestion of the stakeholder is summarized as under:-

> It is proposed that the period of sanctioning of loan taken from any financial institution to purchase an electric vehicle may be extended till 31st March, 2028.This will help to reduce the carbon footprint and move towards clean energy initiatives of the Government.

132.5 Examination by the Committee:

Responding to the suggestion, the Ministry have submitted as under:-

"The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. The proposed provision is similar to the parallel provision in Income-tax Act, 1961. No new provisions or policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025".

132.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that the proposed Clause 132 corresponds to the Section 80 EEB of the Act, wherein deduction on interest payable on loan taken from any financial institution for the purpose of purchase of an electric vehicle has been provisioned. However, the loan needs to be sanctioned by the financial institution during the period beginning on the 1st day of April, 2019 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2023. The Committee find that the provision under Section 80 EEB has been migrated to the proposed Bill without any alteration. Thus, the Committee, satisfied with the justification provide by the Ministry, accept the proposed Clause in entirety without amendment.

Clause - 133 - Deduction in respect of donations to certain funds, charitable institutions, etc.

133.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

133. (1) In computing the total income of an assessee, there shall be deducted, as per and subject to the provisions of this section,— (a) the whole of the aggregate of the sum or the sums paid by the assessee, in the tax year as donations to— (i) the National Defence Fund set up by the Central Government; or (ii) the Prime Minister's National Relief Fund or the Prime Minister's Citizen Assistance and Relief in Emergency Situations Fund (PM CARES FUND); or (iii) the Prime Minister's Armenia Earthquake Relief Fund; or (iv) the Africa (Public Contributions-India) Fund; or (v) the National Children's Fund; or (vi) the National Foundation for Communal Harmony; or (vii) a University or any educational institution of national eminence as may be approved by the prescribed authority in this behalf; or (viii) any fund set up by the State Government of Gujarat exclusively for providing relief to the victims of earthquake in Gujarat; or (ix) any ZilaSakshartaSamiti constituted in any district under the chairmanship of the Collector of that district for improving primary education in villages and towns (having a population up to one lakh) according to the last published census of which figures are available before the first day of the relevant tax year), in such district and for literacy and post-literacy activities; or (x) the National Blood Transfusion Council or any State Blood Transfusion Council, which has its sole object the control, supervision, regulation or encouragement in India of the services related to operation and requirements of blood banks; or (xi) any fund set up by a State Government to provide medical relief to the poor; or Deduction in respect of donations to certain funds, charitable institutions, etc. (xii) the Army Central Welfare Fund or the Indian Naval Benevolent Fund or the Air Force Central Welfare Fund established by the armed forces of the Union for the welfare of the past and present members of such forces or their dependants; or (xiii) the Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister's Cyclone Relief Fund, 1996; or (xiv) the National Illness Assistance Fund; or (xv) the Chief Minister's Relief Fund or the Lieutenant Governor's Relief Fund, if the fund meets all the following conditions:— (A) it is the only fund of its kind established in the State or the Union territory; (B) it is under the overall control of the Chief Secretary or the Department of Finance of the respective State or the Union territory; (C) it is administered in a manner specified by the State Government or the Lieutenant Governor; or (xvi) the National Sports Development Fund to be set up by the Central Government; or (xvii) the National Cultural Fund set up by the Central Government; or (xviii) the Fund for Technology Development and Application set up by the Central Government; or (xix) the National Trust for Welfare of Persons with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities constituted under section 3(1) of the National Trust for Welfare of Persons with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities Act, 1999; or (xx) the Swachh Bharat Kosh, set up by the Central Government, other than the sum spent by the assessee in pursuance of Corporate Social Responsibility under section

135(5) of the Companies Act, 2013; or (xxi) the Clean Ganga Fund, set up by the Central Government, where such assessee is a resident and such sum is other than the sum spent by the assessee in pursuance of Corporate Social Responsibility under section 135(5) of the Companies Act, 2013; or (xxii) the National Fund for Control of Drug Abuse constituted under section 7A of the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985; or (xxiii) the Government or to any such local authority, institution or association as may be approved in this behalf by the Central Government, to be utilised for the purpose of promoting family planning; or (xxiv) the Indian Olympic Association or any other association or institution established in India, as the Central Government may, having regard to the prescribed guidelines, by notification specify in this behalf for— (A) the development of infrastructure for sports and games in India; or (B) the sponsorship of sports and games in India, and where the assessee is a company; (b) an amount equal to 50% of the aggregate of the sums paid as donation by an assessee during the tax year to— (i) the Prime Minister's Drought Relief Fund; (ii) any fund or any institution to which this section applies, if:— (A) it is established in India for a charitable purpose; and (B) it is a registered non-profit organisation or an institution or fund mentioned in Schedule VII (Table: Sl. No. 1) and approved under section 354; (iii) the Government or any local authority, to be utilised for any charitable purpose other than the purpose of promoting family planning; (iv) an authority constituted in India by or under any law enacted either for the purpose of dealing with and satisfying the need for housing accommodation or for the purpose of planning, development or improvement of cities, towns and villages, or for both; (v) a corporation established by the Central Government or any State Government for promoting the interests of the members of a minority community; (vi) for the purposes of sub-clause (v), "minority community" means a community notified as such by the Central Government; (vii) any entity, for the renovation or repair of any temple, mosque, gurudwara, church or other place which is notified by the Central Government to be of historic, archaeological or artistic importance or to be a place of public worship of renown throughout any State or States.

(2) Where the aggregate of the sums referred to in sub-section (1)(a)(xxiii) and (xxiv), sub-section (1)(b)(ii) to (v) and (vii) exceeds 10% of the adjusted gross total income, then the amount in excess of 10% of the gross total income shall be ignored for the purpose of computing the aggregate of the sums in respect of which deduction is to be allowed under sub-section (1).

(3) Where deduction under this section is claimed and allowed for any tax year in respect of any sum specified in sub-section (1), the sum in respect of which deduction is so allowed shall not qualify for deduction under any other provision of this Act for the same or any other tax year.

(4) The deduction under this section shall be allowed only for donation made as a sum of money.

(5) Any deduction for a donation over two thousand rupees shall be allowed only if the payment is made by a mode other than cash.

(6) Any claim of deduction by the assessee in his return of income filed for any tax year in case of a donation made to an institution or fund referred in sub-section (1)(b)(ii), shall be allowed only on the basis of— Deductions in respect of rents paid. (a) the information relating to such donation furnished by such institution or fund to the prescribed authority or person authorised by such authority; and (b) subject to verification as per the risk management strategy formulated by the Board from time to time.

(7) For the purposes of this section,— (a) “adjusted gross total income” means gross total income as reduced by any portion thereof on which income-tax is not payable under any provision of this Act and by any amount in respect of which the assessee is entitled to a deduction under any other provision of this Chapter; (b) “charitable purpose” does not include any purpose the whole or substantially the whole of which is of a religious nature; (c) “National Blood Transfusion Council” means a society registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 and has an officer of the rank of an Additional Secretary to the Government of India or higher to deal with the AIDS Control Project as its Chairman; (d) “State Blood Transfusion Council” means a society registered, in consultation with the National Blood Transfusion Council, under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 or under any law corresponding to that Act in force in any part of India and has a Secretary to the Government of that State dealing with the Department of Health, as its Chairman; and (e) an association or institution having as its object the control, supervision, regulation or encouragement in India of such games or sports as notified by the Central Government, shall be considered to be an institution established in India for a charitable purpose.

133.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in respect of donations to certain funds, charitable institutions, etc.

80G. (1) In computing the total income of an assessee, there shall be deducted, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section,—

(i) in a case where the aggregate of the sums specified in sub-section (2) includes any sum or sums of the nature specified in sub-clause (i) or in sub-clause (iiia) or in sub-clause (iiiaa) or in sub-clause (iiiab) or in sub-clause (iiib) or in sub-clause (iiie) or in sub-clause (iiif) or in sub-clause (iiig) or in sub-clause (iiiga) or sub-clause (iiih) or sub-clause (iiiha) or sub-clause (iiihb) or sub-clause (iiihc) or sub-clause (iiihd) or sub-clause (iiihe) or sub-clause (iiihf) or sub-clause (iiihg) or sub-clause (iiihh) or sub-clause (iiihi) or sub-clause (iiihj) or sub-clause (iiihk) or sub-clause (iiihl) or sub-clause (iiihm) or in sub-clause (vii) of clause (a) or in clause (c) or in clause (d) thereof, an amount equal to the whole of the sum or, as the case may be, sums of such nature plus fifty per cent of the balance of such aggregate; and (ii) in any other case, an amount equal to fifty per cent of the aggregate of the sums specified in sub-section (2).

(2) The sums referred to in sub-section (1) shall be the following, namely :—

(a) any sums paid by the assessee in the previous year as donations to—

(i) the National Defence Fund set up by the Central Government; or

(ii) [85-87][]

(iii) the Prime Minister's Drought Relief Fund; or

(iiia) the Prime Minister's National Relief Fund or the Prime Minister's Citizen Assistance and Relief in Emergency Situations Fund (PM CARES FUND); or

(iiiaa) the Prime Minister's Armenia Earthquake Relief Fund; or

(iiiab) the Africa (Public Contributions - India) Fund; or (iiib) the National Children's Fund; or

(iiic) [85-87][]

(iiid) [85-87][]

(iiie) the National Foundation for Communal Harmony; or

(iiif) a University or any educational institution of national eminence as may be approved by the prescribed authority in this behalf; or

(iiig) the Maharashtra Chief Minister's Relief Fund during the period beginning on the 1st day of October, 1993 and ending on the 6th day of

October, 1993 or to the Chief Minister's Earthquake Relief Fund, Maharashtra; or (iiiga) any fund set up by the State Government of Gujarat exclusively for providing relief to the victims of earthquake in Gujarat; or

(iiih) Any Zila Saksharta Samiti constituted in any district under the chairmanship of the Collector of that district for the purposes of improvement of primary education in villages and towns in such district and for literacy and post-literacy activities.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-clause, "town" means a town which has a population not exceeding one lakh according to the last preceding census of which the relevant figures have been published before the first day of the previous year ; or (iiiha) the National Blood Transfusion Council or to any State Blood Transfusion Council which has its sole object the control, supervision, regulation or encouragement in India of the services related to operation and requirements of blood banks.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-clause,—

(a) "National Blood Transfusion Council" means a society registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 (21 of 1860) and has an officer not below the rank of an Additional Secretary to the Government of India dealing with the AIDS Control Project as its Chairman, by whatever name called;

(b) "State Blood Transfusion Council" means a society registered, in consultation with the National Blood Transfusion Council, under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 (21 of 1860) or under any law corresponding to that Act in force in any part of India and has Secretary to the Government of that State dealing with the Department of Health, as its Chairman, by whatever name called; or

(iiihb) any fund set up by a State Government to provide medical relief to the poor; or

(iiihc) the Army Central Welfare Fund or the Indian Naval Benevolent Fund or the Air Force Central Welfare Fund established by the armed forces of the Union for the welfare of the past and present members of such forces or their dependants; or

(iiihd) the Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister's Cyclone Relief Fund, 1996; or (iiihe) the National Illness Assistance Fund; or (iiihf) the Chief Minister's Relief Fund or the Lieutenant Governor's Relief Fund in respect of any State or Union territory, as the case may be :

Provided that such Fund is—

(a) the only Fund of its kind established in the State or the Union territory, as the case may be;

(b) under the overall control of the Chief Secretary or the Department of Finance of the State or the Union territory, as the case may be;

(c) administered in such manner as may be specified by the State Government or the Lieutenant Governor, as the case may be; or

(iiihg) [88][the National Sports Development Fund set up] by the Central Government; or (iiihh) the National Cultural Fund set up by the Central Government; or (iiihi) the Fund for Technology Development and Application set up by the Central Government; or

(iiihj) the National Trust for Welfare of Persons with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities constituted under sub-section (1) of section 3 of the National Trust for Welfare of Persons with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities Act, 1999 (44 of 1999); or

(iiihk) the Swachh Bharat Kosh, set up by the Central Government, other than the sum spent by the assessee in pursuance of Corporate Social Responsibility under sub-section (5) of section 135 of the Companies Act, 2013 (18 of 2013); or (iiihl) the Clean Ganga Fund, set up by the Central Government, where such assessee is a resident and such sum is other than the sum spent by the assessee in pursuance of Corporate Social Responsibility under sub-section (5) of section 135 of the Companies Act, 2013 (18 of 2013); or

(iiihm) the National Fund for Control of Drug Abuse constituted under section 7A of the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 (61 of 1985); or

(iv) any other fund or any institution to which this section applies; or

(v) the Government or any local authority, to be utilised for any charitable purpose other than the purpose of promoting family planning; or

(vi) an authority constituted in India by or under any law enacted either for the purpose of dealing with and satisfying the need for housing accommodation or for the purpose of planning, development or improvement of cities, towns and villages, or for both;

(via) any corporation referred to in clause (26BB) of section 10; or

(vii) the Government or to any such local authority, institution or association as may be approved in this behalf by the Central Government, to be utilised for the purpose of promoting family planning;

(b) any sums paid by the assessee in the previous year as donations for the renovation or repair of any such temple, mosque, gurdwara, church or other place as is notified by the Central Government in the Official Gazette to be of historic, archaeological or artistic importance or to be a place of public worship of renown throughout any State or States;

(c) any sums paid by the assessee, being a company, in the previous year as donations to the Indian Olympic Association or to any other association or institution established in India, as the Central Government may, having regard to the prescribed guidelines, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf for—

(i) the development of infrastructure for sports and games; or

(ii) the sponsorship of sports and games,

in India;

(d) any sums paid by the assessee, during the period beginning on the 26th day of January, 2001 and ending on the 30th day of September, 2001, to any trust, institution or fund to which this section applies for providing relief to the victims of earthquake in Gujarat.

(3) [Omitted by the Finance Act, 1994, w.e.f. 1-4-1994.]

(4) Where the aggregate of the sums referred to in sub-clauses (iv), (v), (vi), (via) and (vii) of clause (a) and in clauses (b) and (c) of sub-section (2) exceeds ten per cent of the gross total income (as reduced by any portion thereof on which income-tax is not payable under any provision of this Act and by any amount in respect of which the assessee is entitled to a deduction under any other provision of this Chapter), then the amount in excess of ten per cent of the gross total income shall be ignored for the purpose of computing the aggregate of the sums in respect of which deduction is to be allowed under sub-section (1).

(5) This section applies to donations to any institution or fund referred to in sub-clause (iv) of clause (a) of sub-section (2), only if it is established in India for a charitable purpose and if it fulfils the following conditions, namely :—

(i) where the institution or fund derives any income, such income would not be liable to inclusion in its total income under the provisions of sections 11 and 12 or clause (23AA) or clause (23C) of section 10 :

Provided that where an institution or fund derives any income, being profits and gains of business, the condition that such income would not be liable to inclusion in its total income under the provisions of section 11 shall not apply in relation to such income, if—

(a) the institution or fund maintains separate books of account in respect of such business;

(b) the donations made to the institution or fund are not used by it, directly or indirectly, for the purposes of such business; and

(c) the institution or fund issues to a person making the donation a certificate to the effect that it maintains separate books of account in respect of such business and that the donations received by it will not be used, directly or indirectly, for the purposes of such business;

(ii) the instrument under which the institution or fund is constituted does not, or the rules governing the institution or fund do not, contain any provision for the transfer or application at any time of the whole or any part of the income or assets of the institution or fund for any purpose other than a charitable purpose;

(iii) the institution or fund is not expressed to be for the benefit of any particular religious community or caste;

(iv) the institution or fund maintains regular accounts of its receipts and expenditure;

(v) the institution or fund is either constituted as a public charitable trust or is registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 (21 of 1860), or under any law corresponding to that Act in force in any part of India or under section 25 of the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956), or is a University established by law, or is any other educational institution recognised by the Government or by a University established by law, or affiliated to any University established by law, or is an institution financed wholly or in part by the Government or a local authority;

(vi) in relation to donations made after the 31st day of March, 1992, the institution or fund is for the time being approved by the Principal Commissioner or Commissioner;

(vii) where any institution or fund had been approved under clause (vi) for the previous year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2007 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2008, such institution or fund shall, for the purposes of this section and notwithstanding anything contained in the proviso to clause (15) of section 2, be deemed to have been,—

(a) established for charitable purposes for the previous year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2008 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2009; and

(b) approved under the said clause (vi) for the previous year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2008 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2009;

(viii) the institution or fund prepares such statement for such period as may be prescribed and deliver or cause to be delivered to the prescribed income-tax authority or the person authorised by such authority such statement in such form and verified in such manner and setting forth such particulars and within such time as may be prescribed:

Provided that the institution or fund may also deliver to the said prescribed authority, a correction statement for rectification of any mistake or to add, delete or update the information furnished in the statement delivered under this sub-section in such form and verified in such manner as may be prescribed; and (ix) the institution or fund furnishes to the donor, a certificate specifying the amount of donation in such manner, containing such particulars and within such time from the date of receipt of donation, as may be prescribed:

Provided that the institution or fund referred to in clause (vi) shall make an application in the prescribed form and manner to the Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, for grant of approval,—

(i) where the institution or fund is approved under clause (vi) [as it stood immediately before its amendment by the Taxation and Other Laws (Relaxation and Amendment of Certain Provisions) Act, 2020], within three months from the 1st day of April, 2021;

(ii) where the institution or fund is approved and the period of such approval is due to expire, at least six months prior to expiry of the said period;

(iii) where the institution or fund has been provisionally approved, at least six months prior to expiry of the period of the provisional approval or within six months of commencement of its activities, whichever is earlier; [89][or]

[90][(iv) [91][] where activities of the institution or fund have—

(A) not commenced, at least one month prior to the commencement of the previous year relevant to the assessment year from which the said approval is sought;

(B) commenced [91a][] at any time after the commencement of such activities:]

Provided further that the Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, on receipt of an application made under the first proviso, shall,—

(i) where the application is made under clause (i) of the said proviso, pass an order in writing granting it approval for a period of five years;

(ii) where the application is made under clause (ii) or clause (iii) [92][or sub-clause (B) of clause (iv)] of the said proviso,—

(a) call for such documents or information from it or make such inquiries as he thinks necessary in order to satisfy himself about—

(A) the genuineness of activities of such institution or fund; and

(B) the fulfilment of all the conditions laid down in clauses (i) to (v);

(b) after satisfying himself about the genuineness of activities under item (A), and the fulfilment of all the conditions under item (B), of sub-clause (a),—

(A) pass an order in writing granting it approval for a period of five years; or

[93][(B) if he is not so satisfied, pass an order in writing, rejecting such application and cancelling its approval, if any, after affording it a reasonable opportunity of being heard;]

[94][(iii) where the application is made under sub-clause (A) of clause (iv) of the said proviso or the application is made under clause (iv) of the said proviso as it stood immediately before its amendment vide the Finance Act, 2023, pass an order in writing granting it approval provisionally for a period of three years from the assessment year from which the approval is sought,] and send a copy of such order to the institution or fund:

[95][Provided also that the order under clause (i) and clause (iii) of the second proviso shall be passed in such form and manner as may be prescribed, before expiry of the period of three months and one month, as the case may be, calculated from the end of the month in which the application was received:]

[96][Provided also that the order under sub-clause (b) of clause (ii) of the second proviso shall be passed in such form and manner as may be prescribed, before expiry of the period of six months from the end of the quarter in which the application was received:]

Provided also that the approval granted under the second proviso shall apply to an institution or fund, where the application is made under—

(a) clause (i) of the first proviso, from the assessment year from which approval was earlier granted to such institution or fund;

(b) clause (iii) of the first proviso, from the first of the assessment years for which such institution or fund was provisionally approved;

(c) in any other case, from the assessment year immediately following the financial year in which such application is made.

(5A) Where a deduction under this section is claimed and allowed for any assessment year in respect of any sum specified in sub-section (2), the sum in respect of which deduction is so allowed shall not qualify for deduction under any other provision of this Act for the same or any other assessment year.

(5B) Notwithstanding anything contained in clause (ii) of sub-section (5) and Explanation 3, an institution or fund which incurs expenditure, during any previous year, which is of a religious nature for an amount not exceeding five per cent of its total income in that previous year shall be deemed to be an institution or fund to which the provisions of this section apply.

(5C) This section applies in relation to amounts referred to in clause (d) of sub-section (2) only if the trust or institution or fund is established in India for a charitable purpose and it fulfils the following conditions, namely :—

(i) it is approved in terms of clause (vi) of sub-section (5);

(ii) it maintains separate accounts of income and expenditure for providing relief to the victims of earthquake in Gujarat;

(iii) the donations made to the trust or institution or fund are applied only for providing relief to the earthquake victims of Gujarat on or before the 31st day of March, 2004;

(iv) the amount of donation remaining unutilised on the 31st day of March, 2004 is transferred to the Prime Minister's National Relief Fund on or before the 31st day of March, 2004;

(v) it renders accounts of income and expenditure to such authority and in such manner as may be prescribed, on or before the 30th day of June, 2004.

(5D) No deduction shall be allowed under this section in respect of donation of any sum exceeding two thousand rupees unless such sum is paid by any mode other than cash.

(5E) All applications, pending before the Commissioner on which no order has been passed under clause (vi) of sub-section (5) before the date on which this sub-section has come into force, shall be deemed to be applications made under clause (iv) of the first proviso to sub-section (5) on that date.

(6) []

Explanation 1.—An institution or fund established for the benefit of Scheduled Castes, backward classes, Scheduled Tribes or of women and children shall not be deemed to be an institution or fund expressed to be for the benefit of a religious community or caste within the meaning of clause (iii) of sub-section (5).

Explanation 2.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that a deduction to which the assessee is entitled in respect of any donation made to an institution or fund to which sub-section (5) applies shall not be denied merely on either or both of the following grounds, namely :—

(i) that, subsequent to the donation, any part of the income of the institution or fund has become chargeable to tax due to non-compliance with any of the provisions of section 11, section 12 or section 12A;

(ii) that, under clause (c) of sub-section (1) of section 13, the exemption under section 11 or section 12 is denied to the institution or fund in relation to any income arising to it from any investment referred to in clause (h) of sub-section (2) of section 13 where the aggregate of the funds invested by it in a concern referred to in the said clause (h) does not exceed five per cent of the capital of that concern.

Explanation 2A.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that claim of the assessee for a deduction in respect of any donation made to an institution or fund to which the provisions of sub-section (5) apply, in the return of income for any assessment year filed by him, shall be allowed on the basis of information relating to said donation furnished by the institution or fund to the prescribed income-tax authority or the person authorised by such authority, subject to verification in accordance with the risk management strategy formulated by the Board from time to time.

Explanation 3.—In this section, "charitable purpose" does not include any purpose the whole or substantially the whole of which is of a religious nature.

Explanation 4.—For the purposes of this section, an association or institution having as its object the control, supervision, regulation or encouragement in India of such games or sports as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf, shall be deemed to be an institution established in India for a charitable purpose.

Explanation 5.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that no deduction shall be allowed under this section in respect of any donation unless such donation is of a sum of money.

133.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 133 of the Bill seeks to provide for deduction in respect of donations to funds and charitable institutions. The clause corresponds to Section 80G of the Act, both in the nature of provisions and the number of institutions and organizations covered within its ambit. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

133.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Some important views/suggestions of the experts/stakeholders are summarized as under:-

(i) The provision of Section 133(2) is differently worded, leading to potential higher deductions under ITB 2025 compared to ITA 1961. The deduction is inadvertently allowed to the extent of 10% of “gross total income” instead of “adjusted gross total income”, leading to inconsistent results. Correct the anomaly by ensuring that the deduction is quantified based on 10% of “adjusted gross total income”, aligning it with the intent of ITA 1961.

(ii) More clarity on treatment of CSR expenses for scientific research, agricultural extension, and skill development is required. Schedule VII of the Companies recognize these activities as CSR activity. While such expenditure is eligible for deduction under specified clauses, it is simultaneously restricted under section 37 [Clause 34 (2) (b)] leading to interpretational issues.

133.5 Examination by the Committee

Replying to the corresponding suggestions of the stakeholders as above, the Ministry submitted in their written replies as under:-

(i) "The first reference is to the amount of adjusted gross total income. Therefore, the excess which is to be ignored is also required to be referenced to the adjusted gross total income. The suggestion is acceptable.

Example: If 10% of GTI is Rs. 8 and 10% of adjusted GTI is Rs. 6 and donation amount is Rs. 10 then Rs. 4 is to be ignored and not Rs. 2.

The provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill 2025 under clause mentioned in col no 2 are simplified version of the corresponding provisions of IT Act 1961 as mentioned in col no 3, and no amendment has been introduced in the simplified version from the policy perspective".

(ii) "The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. The proposed provision is similar to the parallel provision in Income-tax Act, 1961. No new provisions or policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025."

133.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

During the examination of the proposed Clause 133 pertaining to the deduction in respect of donations to certain funds, charitable institutions, etc. the Committee observe that the text of the proposed clause was differently worded as compared to the parallel Section 80G of the IT Act, 1961. While the first reference in the Clause to adjusted gross total income is comprehendible, the subsequent contextual reference is to gross total income. The absence of the word can lead to higher deductions, belying the intent of the Clause. The Ministry, when queried upon, realized the inadvertent omission and were amenable to the correction. Thus, the Committee recommend the Ministry to rephrase the mention of gross total income to adjusted gross total income in 133(2) so as to rectify an omission causing an unintended higher tax liability. The Committee, further accept the remaining contents of the proposed Clause.

Clause - 134 - Deductions in respect of rents paid.

134.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

134. (1) In computing the total income of an assessee, subject to other provisions of this section, there shall be deducted any expenditure incurred by him towards payment of rent (by whatever name called) in respect of any furnished or unfurnished accommodation occupied by him for the purposes of his own residence.

(2) The deduction under sub-section (1) shall be allowable on such rent exceeding 10% of his total income, subject to a maximum of five thousand rupees per month, or 25% of total income for tax year, whichever is less.

(3) For the purposes of deduction under sub-section (1), such other conditions or limitations having regard to the area or place in which such accommodation is situated and other relevant consideration, as prescribed, shall be taken into account.

(4) No deduction under this section shall be allowed to an assessee in any case, where— (a) any residential accommodation is— (i) owned by the assessee or by his spouse or minor child or, where such assessee is a member of a Hindu undivided family, by such family at the place where he ordinarily resides or performs duties of his office or employment or carries on his business or profession; or (ii) owned by the assessee at any other place, being accommodation in the occupation of the assessee, the value of which is to be determined under section 21(6) or (7)(a); or (b) the assessee has any income falling in Schedule III (Table: Sl. No. 11

(5) For the purposes of this section, the expressions “10% of his total income” and “25% of his total income” shall mean 10% or 25%, as the case may be, of the total income of the assessee before allowing deduction for any expenditure under this section.

134.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deductions in respect of rents paid.

80GG. In computing the total income of an assessee, not being an assessee having any income falling within clause (13A) of section 10, there shall be deducted any expenditure incurred by him in excess of ten per cent of his total income towards payment of rent (by whatever name called) in respect of any furnished or unfurnished accommodation occupied by him for the purposes of his own residence, to the extent to which such excess expenditure does not exceed five thousand rupees per month or twenty-five per cent of his total income for the year, whichever is less, and subject to such other conditions or limitations as may be prescribed, having regard to the area or place in which such accommodation is situated and other relevant considerations :

Provided that nothing in this section shall apply to an assessee in any case where any residential accommodation is—

(i) owned by the assessee or by his spouse or minor child or, where such assessee is a member of a Hindu undivided family, by such family at the place where he ordinarily resides or performs duties of his office or employment or carries on his business or profession; or

(ii) owned by the assessee at any other place, being accommodation in the occupation of the assessee, the value of which is to be determined under clause (a) of sub-section (2) or, as the case may be, clause (a) of sub-section (4) of section 23.

Explanation.—In this section, the expressions "ten per cent of his total income" and "twenty-five per cent of his total income" shall mean ten per cent or twenty-five per cent, as the case may be, of the assessee's total income before allowing deduction for any expenditure under this section.

134.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 134 of the Bill seeks to provide that deduction to an assesse being an individual in respect of any expenditure incurred by him towards payment of rent for any accommodation occupied by him for the purpose of his own residence. The clause corresponds to Section 80GG of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

134.4 Examination by the Committee:

In view of the proposed Clause, the Committee were desirous of acquainting themselves with the opinion of the Ministry on the adequacy of the monetary cap in light of rising urban rents and the possibility of clause 134 effecting the streamlining of procedural requirements to minimize taxpayer burden while ensuring effective enforcement. The Ministry in their written replies have submitted as under:-

> "The substantial provisions are the same as they were in the Act. A substantial benefit has been provided by reducing the slab rates and the tax rates in the Budget 2025. In line with the Government's stated policy of removing exemption/deductions, these reduced rates are applicable for only those which do not avail exemptions/deductions".

134.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

On studying the details of the proposed clause 134 provisioning for deductions in respect of rent paid vis-à-vis the corresponding Section 80 GG of the IT Act, 1961, the Committee notice that there is only a transportation of the content from the present IT Act, 1961 to the proposed Bill, 2025 without any material change altering the sentiments of the Section. The Committee also went through the justification provided by the Ministry for the proposed Clause and found it satisfactory. Therefore, the Committee accept the proposed Clause 134 in entirety without any amendment.

Clause - 135 - Deduction in respect of certain donations for scientific research or rural development.

135.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

135. (1) In computing the total income of an assessee, there shall be deducted, as per the provisions of this section, any sum paid by the assessee in the tax year to,— (a) a research association which has as its object the undertaking of scientific research, or to a University, college or other institution approved for the purposes of section 45(3)(a)(i) to be used for scientific research; (b) a research association which has as its object the undertaking of research in social science or statistical research, or to a University, college or other institution approved for the purposes of section 45(3)(a)(ii) to be used for research in social science or statistical research;

(2) Deduction for contributions made as per sub-section (1) shall not be allowed, if— (a) the gross total income of the assessee includes income which is chargeable under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession"; or (b) the contribution is made in cash exceeding two thousand rupees.

(3) Deduction under sub-section (1)(a) and (1)(b) shall not be denied merely on the ground that subsequent to the payment of such sum by the assessee, approval to such association, University, college, other institution referred there in to whom the payment was made has been withdrawn.

(4) The claim of the assessee for a deduction in respect of any sum referred to in sub-section (1) in the return of income for any tax year filed by him, shall be allowed on the basis of information relating to such sum furnished by the payee to the prescribed income-tax authority or the person authorised by such authority, subject to verification as per the risk management strategy formulated by the Board from time to time.

135.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in respect of certain donations for scientific research or rural development.

80GGA. (1) In computing the total income of an assessee, there shall be deducted, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, the sums specified in sub-section (2).

(2) The sums referred to in sub-section (1) shall be the following, namely :—

(a) any sum paid by the assessee in the previous year to a research association which has as its object the undertaking of scientific research or to a University, college or other institution to be used for scientific research :

Provided that such association, University, college or institution is for the time being approved for the purposes of clause (ii) of sub-section (1) of section 35;

(aa) any sum paid by the assessee in the previous year to a research association which has as its object the undertaking of research in social science or statistical research or to a University, college or other institution to be used for research in social science or statistical research :

Provided that such association, University, college or institution is for the time being approved for the purposes of clause (iii) of sub-section (1) of section 35.

Explanation.—The deduction, to which the assessee is entitled in respect of any sum paid to a research association, University, college or other institution to which clause (a) or clause (aa) applies, shall not be denied merely on the ground that, subsequent to the payment of such sum by the assessee, the approval to such association, University, college or other institution referred to in clause (a) or clause (aa), as the case may be, has been withdrawn;

(b) any sum paid by the assessee in the previous year—

(i) to an association or institution, which has as its object the undertaking of any programme of rural development, to be used for carrying out any programme of rural development approved for the purposes of section 35CCA; or

(ii) to an association or institution which has as its object the training of persons for implementing programmes of rural development :

Provided that the assessee furnishes the certificate referred to in sub-section (2) or, as the case may be, sub-section (2A) of section 35CCA from such association or institution.

Explanation.—The deduction, to which the assessee is entitled in respect of any sum paid to an association or institution for carrying out the programme of rural development to which this clause applies, shall not be denied merely on the ground that subsequent to the payment of such sum by the assessee, the approval granted to such programme, or as the case may be, to the association or institution has been withdrawn;

(bb) any sum paid by the assessee in the previous year to a public sector company or a local authority or to an association or institution approved by the National Committee, for carrying out any eligible project or scheme :

Provided that the assessee furnishes the certificate referred to in clause (a) of sub-section (2) of section 35AC from such public sector company or local authority or, as the case may be, association or institution.

Explanation 1.— The deduction, to which the assessee is entitled in respect of any sum paid to a public sector company, or to a local authority or to an association or institution for carrying out the eligible project or scheme referred to in section 35AC, shall not be denied merely on the ground that subsequent to the payment of such sum by the assessee,—

(a) the approval granted to such association or institution has been withdrawn; or

(b) the notification notifying the eligible project or scheme referred to in section 35AC carried out by the public sector company, or local authority or association or institution has been withdrawn.

Explanation 2.—For the purposes of this clause, the expressions "National Committee" and "eligible project or scheme" shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in the Explanation to section 35AC;

(c) any sum paid by the assessee in any previous year ending on or before the 31st day of March, 2002 to an association or institution, which has as its object the undertaking of any programme of conservation of natural resources or of afforestation, to be used for carrying out any programme of conservation of natural resources or of afforestation approved for the purposes of section 35CCB :

Provided that the association or institution is for the time being approved for the purposes of sub-section (2) of section 35CCB;

(cc) any sum paid by the assessee in any previous year ending on or before the 31st day of March, 2002 to such fund for afforestation as is notified by the Central Government under clause (b) of sub-section (1)

of section 35CCB;

(d) any sum paid by the assessee in the previous year to a rural development fund set up and notified by the Central Government for the purposes of clause (c) of sub-section (1) of section 35CCA;

(e) any sum paid by the assessee in the previous year to the National Urban Poverty Eradication Fund set up and notified by the Central Government for the purposes of clause (d) of sub-section (1) of section 35CCA.

(2A) No deduction shall be allowed under this section in respect of any sum exceeding two thousand rupees unless such sum is paid by any mode other than cash.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), no deduction under this section shall be allowed in the case of an assessee whose gross total income includes income which is chargeable under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession".

(4) Where a deduction under this section is claimed and allowed for any assessment year in respect of any payments of the nature specified in sub-section (2), deduction shall not be allowed in respect of such payments under any other provision of this Act for the same or any other assessment year.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that the claim of the assessee for a deduction in respect of any sum referred to in sub-section (2) in the return of income for any assessment year filed by him, shall be allowed on the basis of information relating to such sum furnished by the payee to the prescribed income-tax authority or the person authorised by such authority, subject to verification in accordance with the risk management strategy formulated by the Board from time to time.

135.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 135 of the Bill seeks to provide for deduction in respect of certain donations for scientific research or rural development. The clause corresponds to Section 80GGA of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

135.4 Examination by the Committee:

The Committee, while scrutinizing the Clause 135 queried from the Ministry upon the omission of words, rural development, afforestation and conservation from the text of the clause as was earlier present in S. 80GGA of IT Act, 1961. Responding to the query, the Ministry in their written replies have submitted as under:-

> "The provisions relevant to afforestation and conservation were allowed only till 2002 and have been sunset since. Therefore, they have not been incorporated in the Bill. The provisions relevant to rural development are connected to section 35CCA that provides for certain programs and funds that are redundant now. Therefore, they have not been incorporated in the Bill."

135.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough scrutiny of the proposed Clause 135 pertaining to the deduction in respect of certain donations for scientific research or rural development find that it is synonymous to the Section 80 GGA of the IT Act, 1961. The content of the clause does not deviate from its core and retains its spirit as under Section 80 GGA of the IT Act, 1961. The Committee is also satisfied with the justification and response elicited from the Minstry in this regard. Therefore, the Committee accept the clause as proposed.

Clause - 136 - Deduction in respect of contributions given by companies to political parties.

136.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

136. (1) An assessee, being an Indian company, shall be allowed a deduction for the amount contributed by it, other than by way of cash, during a tax year to a political party registered under section 29A of the Representation of the People Act, 1951 or an electoral trust. (2) In this section, the word “contribute”, with its grammatical variations and cognate expressions shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 182 of the Companies Act, 2013.

136.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in respect of contributions given by companies to political parties.

80GGB. In computing the total income of an assessee, being an Indian company, there shall be deducted any sum contributed by it, in the previous year to any political party or an electoral trust:

Provided that no deduction shall be allowed under this section in respect of any sum contributed by way of cash.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that for the purposes of this section, the word "contribute", with its grammatical variation, has the meaning assigned to it under section 293A of the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956).

136.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 136 of the Bill seeks to provide for deduction in respect of contributions given by companies to political parties. The clause corresponds to Section 80GGB of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

136.4 Examination by the Committee:

In the context of the contributions given by companies to Political Parties as in the S. 80 GGB of IT Act, 1961, the Committee were keen to know the details of a few aspects, such as the view of the Ministry for incorporating the definition of “Electoral Trust” in the body of the Act itself for better statutory clarity, whether the clause also includes the possibility and quantification of indirect contributions such as goods and services or in-kind contributions and if the contributions through electoral bonds for anonymous contributions to the political parties qualify for deduction under these provisions. Replying to the above queries, the Ministry have submitted as under:-

"The phrase "Electoral trust" is already defined in Definitions in Section 2(22AAA) in the Act and in Clause 2(43) of the Bill. It is already incorporated in the Act and the Bill".

136.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that the poposed Clause 136 that provides for deduction in respect of contributions given by companies to political parties is similar to Section 80 GGB of the IT Act, 1961 in terms of the content and intent elicited. No substantial change has been brought about, instead it is a carrying forward of the parallel provision to the IT Bill, 2025. In view of this situation and considering the satisfactory justification provided by the Ministry for the proposed Clause, the Committee accept the proposed Clause in its entirety.

Clause - 137 - Deduction in respect of contributions given by any person to political parties.

137.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

137. An assessee, (other than a local authority and an artificial juridical person wholly or partly funded by the Government), shall be allowed a deduction for the amount contributed by him, other than by way of cash, during a tax year to a political party registered under section 29A of the Representation of the People Act, 1951, or an electoral trust.

137.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in respect of contributions given by any person to political parties.

80GGC. In computing the total income of an assessee, being any person, except local authority and every artificial juridical person wholly or partly funded by the Government, there shall be deducted any amount of contribution made by him, in the previous year, to a political party or an electoral trust :

Provided that no deduction shall be allowed under this section in respect of any sum contributed by way of cash.

Explanation.—For the purposes of sections 80GGB and 80GGC, "political party" means a political party registered under section 29A of the Representation of the People Act, 1951 (43 of 1951).

137.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 137 of the Bill seeks to provide for deduction in respect of contributions given by any person (other than a local authority and an artificial juridical person wholly or partly funded by the Government) to political parties. The clause corresponds to Section 80GGC of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

137.4 Examination by the Committee:

Similar to Section 80 GGC of the IT Act, 1961, the Clause 137 provisions for the Deduction in respect of contributions given by any person to political parties. However, the Committee were curious to be made aware about the precise modes of acceptable non-cash contributions (e.g., digital wallets, payment apps) in light of evolving payment technologies. The Ministry have responded to the query in their written replies as produced below;-

"Clause 137, in line with Section 80GGC of the Income-tax Act, allows deductions for contributions to political parties made through non-cash modes. An assessee, (other than a local authority and an artificial juridical person wholly or partly funded by the Government), shall be allowed a deduction for the amount contributed by him, other than by way of cash, during a tax year to a political party registered under section 29A of the Representation of the People Act, 1951, or an electoral trust. The section and clause clearly mention that any mode of contribution other than cash is acceptable. There is no bar on any modes of contribution other than cash from the plain reading of these provisions."

137.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Proposed Clause 137 of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 that pertains to deduction in respect of contributions given by any person to political parties resonate with the Section 80 GGC of the Income-Tax Act, 1961. The Committee find a mere shifting of the content without any changes in terms of policy matters from the scrutiny of the parent Act and the IT Bill, 2025 under consideration. Thus, the Committee, keeping in view the objectives of the Bill to provide simplification in the language and the satisfactory justification provided by the Ministry, accept the proposed Clause in entirety.

Clause - 138 - Deductions in respect of profits and gains from industrial undertakings or enterprises engaged in infrastructure development, etc.

138.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

C.—Deductions in respect of certain incomes.

138. In respect of any tax year beginning on or after the 1st April, 2026, where— (a) the gross total income of an assessee includes any profits and gains derived by an undertaking or an enterprise from any business referred to in section 80-IA of the Income-tax Act, 1961; and (b) such assessee is eligible to claim a deduction from the profits and gains derived from such business for such tax year under the provisions of the said section, if the said Act had not been repealed, there shall be allowed, in computing the total income of the assessee, a deduction from the profits and gains derived from such business, subject to the conditions that— (i) the amount of deduction is calculated as per the provisions of section 80-IA of the Income-tax Act,1961; and (ii) the deduction under this Act shall be allowed only for such tax years, as would have been allowed under section 80-IA of the Income-tax Act,1961, as if the said Act had not been repealed.

138.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deductions in respect of profits and gains from industrial undertakings or enterprises engaged in infrastructure development, etc.

80-IA. (1) Where the gross total income of an assessee includes any profits and gains derived by an undertaking or an enterprise from any business referred to in sub-section (4) (such business being hereinafter referred to as the eligible business), there shall, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, be allowed, in computing the total income of the assessee, a deduction of an amount equal to hundred per cent of the profits and gains derived from such business for ten consecutive assessment years.

(2) The deduction specified in sub-section (1) may, at the option of the assessee, be claimed by him for any ten consecutive assessment years out of fifteen years beginning from the year in which the undertaking or the enterprise develops and begins to operate any infrastructure facility or starts providing telecommunication service or develops an industrial park or develops a special economic zone referred to in clause (iii) of sub-section (4) or generates power or commences transmission or distribution of power or undertakes substantial renovation and modernisation of the existing transmission or distribution lines :

Provided that where the assessee develops or operates and maintains or develops, operates and maintains any infrastructure facility referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) or clause (c) of the Explanation to clause (i) of sub-section (4), the provisions of this sub-section shall have effect as if for the words "fifteen years", the words "twenty years" had been substituted.

(2A) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1) or sub-section (2), the deduction in computing the total income of an undertaking providing telecommunication services, specified in clause (ii) of sub-section (4), shall be hundred per cent of the profits and gains of the eligible business for the first five assessment years commencing at any time during the periods as specified in sub-section (2) and thereafter, thirty per cent of such profits and gains for further five assessment years.

(3) This section applies to an undertaking referred to in clause (ii) or clause (iv) of sub-section (4) which fulfils all the following conditions, namely :—

(i) it is not formed by splitting up, or the reconstruction, of a business already in existence :

Provided that this condition shall not apply in respect of an undertaking which is formed as a result of the re-establishment, reconstruction or revival by the assessee of the business of any such undertaking as is referred to in section 33B, in the circumstances and within the period specified in that section;

(ii) it is not formed by the transfer to a new business of machinery or plant previously used for any purpose:

Provided that nothing contained in this sub-section shall apply in the case of transfer, either in whole or in part, of machinery or plant previously used by a State Electricity Board referred to in clause (7) of section 2 of the Electricity Act, 2003 (36 of 2003), whether or not such transfer is in pursuance of the splitting up or reconstruction or reorganisation of the Board under Part XIII of that Act.

Explanation 1.—For the purposes of clause (ii), any machinery or plant which was used outside India by any person other than the assessee shall not be regarded as machinery or plant previously used for any purpose, if the following conditions are fulfilled, namely :—

(a) such machinery or plant was not, at any time previous to the date of the installation by the assessee, used in India;

(b) such machinery or plant is imported into India from any country outside India; and

(c) no deduction on account of depreciation in respect of such machinery or plant has been allowed or is allowable under the provisions of this Act in computing the total income of any person for any period prior to the date of the installation of machinery or plant by the assessee.

Explanation 2.—Where in the case of an undertaking, any machinery or plant or any part thereof previously used for any purpose is transferred to a new business and the total value of the machinery or plant or part so transferred does not exceed twenty per cent of the total value of the machinery or plant used in the business, then, for the purposes of clause (ii) of this sub-section, the condition specified therein shall be deemed to have been complied with.

(4) This section applies to—

(i) any enterprise carrying on the business of (i) developing or (ii) operating and maintaining or (iii) developing, operating and maintaining any infrastructure facility which fulfils all the following conditions, namely :—

(a) it is owned by a company registered in India or by a consortium of such companies or by an authority or a board or a corporation or any other body established or constituted under any Central or State Act;

(b) it has entered into an agreement with the Central Government or a State Government or a local authority or any other statutory body for (i) developing or (ii) operating and maintaining or (iii) developing, operating and maintaining a new infrastructure facility;

(c) it has started or starts operating and maintaining the infrastructure facility on or after the 1st day of April, 1995:

Provided that where an infrastructure facility is transferred on or after the 1st day of April, 1999 by an enterprise which developed such infrastructure facility (hereafter referred to in this section as the transferor enterprise) to another enterprise (hereafter in this section referred to as the transferee enterprise) for the purpose of operating and maintaining the infrastructure facility on its behalf in accordance with the agreement with the Central Government, State Government, local authority or statutory body, the provisions of this section shall apply to the transferee enterprise as if it were the enterprise to which this clause applies and the deduction from profits and gains would be available to such transferee enterprise for the unexpired period during which the transferor enterprise would have been entitled to the deduction, if the transfer had not taken place:

Provided further that nothing contained in this section shall apply to any enterprise which starts the development or operation and maintenance of the infrastructure facility on or after the 1st day of April, 2017.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this clause, "infrastructure facility" means—

(a) a road including toll road, a bridge or a rail system;

(b) a highway project including housing or other activities being an integral part of the highway project;

(c) a water supply project, water treatment system, irrigation project, sanitation and sewerage system or solid waste management system;

(d) a port, airport, inland waterway, inland port or navigational channel in the sea;

(ii) any undertaking which has started or starts providing telecommunication services, whether basic or cellular, including radio paging, domestic satellite service, network of trunking, broadband network and internet services on or after the 1st day of April, 1995, but on or before the 31st day of March, 2005.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this clause, "domestic satellite" means a satellite owned and operated by an Indian company for providing telecommunication service;

(iii) any undertaking which develops, develops and operates or maintains and operates an industrial park or special economic zone notified by the Central Government in accordance with the scheme framed and notified by that Government for the period beginning on the 1st day of April, 1997 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2006 :

Provided that in a case where an undertaking develops an industrial park on or after the 1st day of April, 1999 or a special economic zone on or after the 1st day of April, 2001 and transfers the operation and maintenance of such industrial park or such special economic zone, as the case may be, to another undertaking (hereafter in this section referred to as the transferee undertaking), the deduction under sub-section (1) shall be allowed to such transferee undertaking for the remaining period in the ten consecutive assessment years as if the operation and maintenance were not so transferred to the transferee undertaking :

Provided further that in the case of any undertaking which develops, develops and operates or maintains and operates an industrial park, the provisions of this clause shall have effect as if for the figures, letters and words "31st day of March, 2006", the figures, letters and words "31st day of March, 2011" had been substituted;

(iv) an undertaking which,—

(a) is set up in any part of India for the generation or generation and distribution of power if it begins to generate power at any time during the period beginning on the 1st day of April, 1993 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2017;

(b) starts transmission or distribution by laying a network of new transmission or distribution lines at any time during the period beginning on the 1st day of April, 1999 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2017:

Provided that the deduction under this section to an undertaking under sub-clause (b) shall be allowed only in relation to the profits derived from laying of such network of new lines for transmission or distribution;

(c) undertakes substantial renovation and modernisation of the existing network of transmission or distribution lines at any time during the period beginning on the 1st day of April, 2004 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2017.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-clause, "substantial renovation and modernisation" means an increase in the plant and machinery in the network of transmission or distribution lines by at least fifty per cent of the book value of such plant and machinery as on the 1st day of April, 2004;

(v) an undertaking owned by an Indian company and set up for reconstruction or revival of a power generating plant, if—

(a) such Indian company is formed before the 30th day of November, 2005 with majority equity participation by public sector companies for the purposes of enforcing the security interest of the lenders to the company owning the power generating plant and such Indian company is notified before the 31st day of December, 2005 by the Central Government for the purposes of this clause;

(b) such undertaking begins to generate or transmit or distribute power before the 31st day of March, 2011;

(vi) []

(5) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provision of this Act, the profits and gains of an eligible business to which the provisions of sub-section (1) apply shall, for the purposes of determining the quantum of deduction under that sub-section for the assessment year immediately succeeding the initial assessment year or any subsequent assessment year, be computed as if such eligible business were the only source of income of the assessee during the previous year relevant to the initial assessment year and to every subsequent assessment year up to and including the assessment year for which the determination is to be made.

(6) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (4), where housing or other activities are an integral part of the highway project and the profits of which are computed on such basis and manner as may be prescribed, such profit shall not be liable to tax where the profit has been transferred to a special reserve account and the same is actually utilised for the highway project excluding housing and other activities before the expiry of three years following the year in which such amount was transferred to the reserve account; and the amount remaining unutilised shall be chargeable to tax as income of the year in which such transfer to reserve account took place.

(7) The deduction under sub-section (1) from profits and gains derived from an undertaking shall not be admissible unless the accounts of the undertaking for the previous year relevant to the assessment year for which the deduction is claimed have been audited by an accountant, as defined in the Explanation below sub-section (2) of section 288, before the specified date referred to in section 44AB and the assesseefurnishes by that date the report of such audit in the prescribed form duly signed and verified by such accountant.

(8) Where any goods or services held for the purposes of the eligible business are transferred to any other business carried on by the assessee, or where any goods or services held for the purposes of any other business carried on by the assessee are transferred to the eligible business and, in either case, the consideration, if any, for such transfer as recorded in the accounts of the eligible business does not correspond to the market value of such goods or services as on the date of the transfer, then, for the purposes of the deduction under this section, the profits and gains of such eligible business shall be computed as if the transfer, in either case, had been made at the market value of such goods or services as on that date :

Provided that where, in the opinion of the Assessing Officer, the computation of the profits and gains of the eligible business in the manner hereinbefore specified presents exceptional difficulties, the Assessing Officer may compute such profits and gains on such reasonable basis as he may deem fit.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section, "market value", in relation to any goods or services, means—

(i) the price that such goods or services would ordinarily fetch in the open market; or

(ii) the arm's length price as defined in clause (ii) of section 92F, where the transfer of such goods or services is a specified domestic transaction referred to in section 92BA.

(9) Where any amount of profits and gains of an undertaking or of an enterprise in the case of an assessee is claimed and allowed under this section for any assessment year, deduction to the extent of such profits and gains shall not be allowed under any other provisions of this Chapter under the heading "C.—Deductions in respect of certain incomes", and shall in no case exceed the profits and gains of such eligible business of undertaking or enterprise, as the case may be.

(10) Where it appears to the Assessing Officer that, owing to the close connection between the assessee carrying on the eligible business to which this section applies and any other person, or for any other reason, the course of business between them is so arranged that the business transacted between them produces to the assessee more than the ordinary profits which might be expected to arise in such eligible business, the Assessing Officer shall, in computing the profits and gains of such eligible business for the purposes of the deduction under this section, take the amount of profits as may be reasonably deemed to have been derived therefrom:

Provided that in case the aforesaid arrangement involves a specified domestic transaction referred to in section 92BA, the amount of profits from such transaction shall be determined having regard to arm's length price as defined in clause (ii) of section 92F.

(11) The Central Government may, after making such inquiry as it may think fit, direct, by notification in the Official Gazette, that the exemption conferred by this section shall not apply to any class of industrial undertaking or enterprise with effect from such date as it may specify in the notification.

(12) Where any undertaking of an Indian company which is entitled to the deduction under this section is transferred, before the expiry of the period specified in this section, to another Indian company in a scheme of amalgamation or demerger—

(a) no deduction shall be admissible under this section to the amalgamating or the demerged company for the previous year in which the amalgamation or the demerger takes place; and

(b) the provisions of this section shall, as far as may be, apply to the amalgamated or the resulting company as they would have applied to the amalgamating or the demerged company if the amalgamation or demerger had not taken place.

(12A) Nothing contained in sub-section (12) shall apply to any enterprise or undertaking which is transferred in a scheme of amalgamation or demerger on or after the 1st day of April, 2007.

(13) Nothing contained in this section shall apply to any Special Economic Zones notified on or after the 1st day of April, 2005 in accordance with the scheme referred to in sub-clause (iii) of clause (c) of sub-section (4).

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that nothing contained in this section shall apply in relation to a business referred to in sub-section (4) which is in the nature of a works contract awarded by any person (including the Central or State Government) and executed by the undertaking or enterprise referred to in sub-section (1).

138.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 138 of the Bill seeks to provide for deductions in respect of profits and gains from industrial undertakings or enterprises engaged in infrastructure development, etc. The clause corresponds to Section 80-IA of the Act. The provisions of this section have a sunset clause and many changes have been made over the years. There is a limited period left for the claim of deductions under these sections. These are used by a few numbers of assessees. Further, no new assessee can claim these deductions. Considering these factors, a reference to the IT Act, 1961 is made for these provisions in the Bill”.

138.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

A few important suggestions from the Stakeholders are summarized as below:-

(i) Section 138 of the Income-tax Bill, 2025 should ideally provide for the computation mechanism itself so that the Income-tax Bill is self-contained. Also, under the conditions stipulated in clause (b), after (i) and (ii), (iii) be inserted as follows - “The deduction under this section from the profits and gains derived from an undertaking shall not be admissible unless the accounts of the undertaking for the tax year for which deduction is claimed have been audited by an accountant, as defined in section 515(3)(b) on or before the specified date mentioned in section 63 and the assessee furnishes by that date, the report of such audit in the prescribed form duly signed and verified by such accountant. Consequentially, the word “and” may be removed after (b)(i) and inserted after (b)(ii).

Section 138 of the Income-tax Bill, 2025, which corresponds to section 80-IA of the Income-tax Act, 1961 provides deduction of an amount calculated as per the provisions of section 80-IA the Income-tax Act, 1961. Sections 138, 139, 141 and 144 of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 correspond to section 80-IA, 80-IAB, 80-IB and 10AA of the Income-tax Act, 1961. These sections require that the amount of deduction be calculated as per the corresponding section of the Income-tax Act, 1961 and that the deduction under the new Act be allowed only for such tax years as would have been allowed under the corresponding section of the Income-tax Act, 1961 if the said Act had not been repealed. However, the requirement of audit stipulated in these four sections is not mentioned in the Bill. The same has to be incorporated in the Bill.

(ii) Clause 138 to Clause 152 deal with various deductions in Respect of incomes relating to business. Many of the deductions are for 100% of income. Full deduction provides for a simple tool to dishonest and unscrupulous persons. The deductions be, only to certain activities and industries sought to be encouraged as a government policy. A deduction up to maximum 90% will serve the desired purpose. Hence, it is suggested that maximum deduction under the bill for all such policy encouragement for the industry be restricted upto maximum of 90% only.

(iii) These sections merely make reference to old/ repealed provisions. One consolidated provision may be inserted wherein all the deductions are mentioned, instead of referring to the old Act. Alternatively, a specific clause may be inserted in clause 536 that benefits as per old section shall continue to be eligible under new Act subject to terms and conditions specified therein.

138.5 Examination by the Committee:

The response of the Ministry to the corresponding views of the stakeholders as mentioned above are as under:-

(i) “Suggestion seeks full text of provision providing incentive under IT Act to be carried in Bill. The provisions of these sections have a sunset clause and many changes have been made over the years. There is a limited period left for the claim of deductions under these sections. These are used by a few number of assessees. Further, no new assessee can claim these deductions. Considering these factors, the redrafting of these provisions is unwieldy and a reference to the IT Act, 1961 is hence made. Further, the requirement of Audit arises from the fulfilment of the provisions of the corresponding section of the IT Act, for which due reference has been made. Therefore, it may not be feasible to act upon the suggestion. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961. So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no new policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025”.

(ii) “It is suggested that the deductions should not be given upto 100% but limited only till 90% of the profits. The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025.The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961. So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no new policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025”.

(iii) “It is suggested that one consolidated provision may be inserted where the deductions are mentioned, instead of referring to the IT Act, 1961. The provisions of these sections have a sunset clause and many changes have been made over the years. There is a limited period left for the claim of deductions under these sections. These are used by a few numbers of assessee. Further, no new assessee can claim these deductions. Considering these factors, the redrafting of these provisions is unwieldy and a reference to the IT Act, 1961 is hence made. Instead of clause 536, there are separate clauses that mention that the benefits will continue to apply as they were in the IT Act, 1961. Therefore, the suggestion may not be feasible.

The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961”.

138.5.2 On the aspect of providing a clean break from the reference back to Old Act, i.e. IT Act, 1961 in the new proposed Bill, the Secretary, Ministry of Finance (Department of Revenue), during the course of sitting, deposed before the Committee as below:-

> "Based on Committee's advice, we had said that we will examine because it is in the nature of saving clause. The problem was the general saving clause while it incorporates this too, but there may be some confusion when a specific return is filed. So, what you had advised us was to see if this could become in some more specific form in the saving clause, so, we will examine it as a part of that". …."सर, मैं इस विषय पर थोड़ी और क्लियेरिटी देना चाहूंगा। सेविंग्स क्लॉज़ में एक जनरल क्लॉज़ रहता है, जो कि जनरल इंग्लिश में रहता है, which says all the obligations on the benefits available in the old Act will continue. अगर हम उसकी ओवरऑल एप्रोच को देखें, तो यह भी उसमें ऑटोमेटिकली कवर्ड होगा। अगर हम इस रेफरेंस को यहां से हटा देते हैं और सिर्फ सेविंग्स क्लॉज़ को जनरल फॉर्म में रखते हैं, तो एज़-ए-प्रिंसिपल ये सारे बेनिफिट्स उसको एविलेबल होंगे। लेकिन, डिपार्टमेंट का यह मानना था कि जब कोई बेनिफिट्स लेते हैं, तो उन्हें स्पेसिफिक सेक्शन्स के अंडर में उन्हें क्लेम करते हैं। अतः ये रेफरेंसेज़, रिटर्न्स वगैरह के टाइम पर थोड़ी सी प्रॉब्लम्स देंगी, इसीलिए, उन्होंने पुराने रेफरेंस को रखा था। अब आपने जो सलाह दी है, उसके हिसाब से हम लोग यह कोशिश कर रहे हैं कि सेविंग्स क्लॉज़ में ही इसकी स्पेसिफिकसिटी को किसी एक एनेक्सचर के रूप में ले आएं, ताकि, एक्ट में पुराने एक्ट का रेफरेंस न रहे।"

138.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that Clause 138 of the Bill pertains to the provisions of deductions in respect of profits and gains from industrial undertakings or enterprises engaged in infrastructure development, etc.. While the Clause corresponds to Section 80-IA of the Act, it is noticeable that the provisions of this section have a sunset clause and a reference to the IT Act, 1961 is also made here. The Committee take cognizance of the fact that the benefit period of these provisions are nearing their end and no new assesses are being added as justification for the cross-reference to the IT Act, 1961. Still, the Committee are of the view that the cross referencing to the IT Act, 1961 in the current Bill will necessitate the reference to a repealed Act in future and will make the exercise cumbersome and not in the fitness of things. The Committee, further, are in consonance with the other aspects of the proposed Clause which does in no way alter the content of the Section 80-IA of the IT Act, 1961. Thus, the Committee, recommend the Ministry to remove the reference to the IT Act, 1961 from the text of specific Clauses and instead create some provision in the Savings Clause 536 of the Bill which can cover all such clauses requiring reference to the IT Act, 1961. Besides, the Committee agree with the remaining content of the proposed Clause.

Clause - 139 - Deductions in respect of profits and gains by an undertaking or enterprise engaged in development of Special Economic Zone.

139.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

139. In respect of any tax year, where— (a) the gross total income of an assessee, being a Developer, includes any profits and gains derived by an undertaking or an enterprise from any business of developing a Special Economic Zone, notified on or after the 1st April, 2005 under the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005 referred to in section 80-IAB of the Income-tax Act, 1961; and (b) such assessee is eligible to claim a deduction from the profits and gains derived from such business for such tax year under the provisions of the said section, if the said Act had not been repealed, there shall be allowed, in computing the total income of the assessee, a deduction from the profits and gains derived from such business, subject to the conditions that— (i) the amount of deduction is calculated as per the provisions of section 80-IAB of the Income-tax Act, 1961; and (ii) the deduction under this Act shall be allowed only for such tax years, as would have been allowed under section 80-IAB of the Income-tax Act, 1961, if the said Act had not been repealed.

139.2 RelevantProvisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deductions in respect of profits and gains by an undertaking or enterprise engaged in development of Special Economic Zone.

80-IAB. (1) Where the gross total income of an assessee, being a Developer, includes any profits and gains derived by an undertaking or an enterprise from any business of developing a Special Economic Zone, notified on or after the 1st day of April, 2005 under the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005, there shall, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, be allowed, in computing the total income of the assessee, a deduction of an amount equal to one hundred per cent of the profits and gains derived from such business for ten consecutive assessment years:

Provided that the provisions of this section shall not apply to an assessee, being a developer, where the development of Special Economic Zone begins on or after the 1st day of April, 2017.

(2) The deduction specified in sub-section (1) may, at the option of the assessee, be claimed by him for any ten consecutive assessment years out of fifteen years beginning from the year in which a Special Economic Zone has been notified by the Central Government :

Provided that where in computing the total income of any undertaking, being a Developer for any assessment year, its profits and gains had not been included by application of the provisions of sub-section (13) of section 80-IA, the undertaking being the Developer shall be entitled to deduction referred to in this section only for the unexpired period of ten consecutive assessment years and thereafter it shall be eligible for deduction from income as provided in sub-section (1) or sub-section (2), as the case may be :

Provided further that in a case where an undertaking, being a Developer who develops a Special Economic Zone on or after the 1st day of April, 2005 and transfers the operation and maintenance of such Special Economic Zone to another Developer (hereafter in this section referred to as the transferee Developer), the deduction under sub-section (1) shall be allowed to such transferee Developer for the remaining period in the ten consecutive assessment years as if the operation and maintenance were not so transferred to the transferee Developer.

(3) The provisions of sub-section (5) and sub-sections (7) to (12) of section 80-IA shall apply to the Special Economic Zones for the purpose of allowing deductions under sub-section (1).

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, "Developer" and "Special Economic Zone" shall have the same meanings respectively as assigned to them in clauses (g) and (za) of section 2 of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005.

139.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 139 of the Bill seeks to provide for deductions in respect of profits and gains by an undertaking or enterprise engaged in development of Special Economic Zone. The clause corresponds to Section 80-IAB of the Act. The provisions of this section have a sunset clause and many changes have been made over the years. There is a limited period left for the claim of deductions under these sections. These are used by a few numbers of assessees. Further, no new assessee can claim these deductions. Considering these factors, a reference to the ITAct, 1961 is made for these provisions in the Bill".

139.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Some of the key suggestions of the stakeholders in this regard are furnished below:-

(i) A date of applicability/sunset clause for each of the provisions may be inserted in the new Bill for clear delineation of the date/period of applicability of the export profit-linked incentives. The self-sufficiency of new provisions is compromised by compulsory reliance on the old Act causing a burden on any reader of the statute. The suggested clause will enhance the overarching objective of ease of doing business.

(ii) EPCES Vide Finance Act 2016, Section 80-IAB, Income-Tax Act, 1961 was amended and it was provided that benefits will not be available where the development of Special Economic Zone begins on or after the1st day of April 2017. It is suggested that Clause 139(b) (ii) should be amended as below: (ii) the deductions under this Act shall be allowed only for such tax years, as would have been allowed under section 80-IAB of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, if the said Act had not been repealed, provided that the deductions under this Act shall be allowed even where the development of Special Economic Zone begins on or after the 1st day of April 2017.After the amendment vide the Finance Act 2016, growth of SEZs has slowed down and huge developed land is lying vacant as the units are not interested in operating in SEZs. No new proposals are being received for new SEZs. It should be allowed on the pattern of IFSC where there is no such sunset clause.

(iii) Section 139 of the Income-tax Bill, 2025 should ideally provide for the computation mechanism itself so that the Income-tax Bill, 2025 is self-contained. Also, under the conditions stipulated in clause (b), after (i) and (ii), (iii) be inserted as follows – "The deduction under this section from the profits and gains derived from an undertaking or an enterprise shall not be admissible unless the accounts of the undertaking or the enterprise for the tax year for which deduction is claimed have been audited by an accountant, as defined in section 515(3)(b) on or before the specified date mentioned in section 63 and the assessee furnishes by that date, the report of such audit in the prescribed form duly signed and verified by such accountant." Consequentially, the word "and" may be removed after (b)(i) and inserted after (b)(ii).
Section 139 of the Income-tax Bill, 2025, which corresponds to section 80-IAB of the Income-tax Act, 1961 provides deduction of an amount calculated as per the provisions of section 80-IAB the Income-tax Act, 1961. Sections 138, 139, 141 and 144 of the Incometax Bill, 2025 correspond to section 80-IA, 80-IAB, 80-IB and 10AA of the Income-tax Act, 1961. These four sections require that the amount of deduction be calculated as per the corresponding section of the Income-tax Act, 1961 and that the deduction under the new Act be allowed only for such tax years as would have been allowed under the corresponding section of the Income-tax Act, 1961 if the said Act had not been repealed. However,the requirement of audit stipulated in these four sections is not mentioned in the Bill. The same has to be incorporated in the Bill.

(iv) Export Promotion Council for SEZs and EOUs
The benefits granted for SEZ developers and SEZ Units were stopped w.e.f. 1.4.2017 (in respect of SEZ Developers) and 1.4.2021(in respect of SEZ Units) by the Finance Act, 2016.
This has impacted the growth of SEZs in India.
Huge developed land of notified SEZs is lying unutilised and SEZ units are not interested in operating in SEZs.

On the pattern of International Financial Services Centres where there is no sunset clause, the benefits for SEZ developers under Clause 139 (erstwhile Section 80-IAB of IT Act, 1961) should also be continued even after 1.4.2017 (in respect of SEZ Developers).

139.5 Examination by the Committee:

The Ministry in their written replies to the corresponding suggestions above have submitted as under:-

(i) "The provisions of these sections have a sunset clause and many changes have been made over the years. There is a limited period left for the claim of deductions under these sections. These are used by a few numbers of assessees. Further, no new assessee can claim these deductions. Considering these factors, the redrafting of these provisions is unwieldy and a reference to the IT Act, 1961 is hence made. This suggestion has no merit. The proposed provision is similar to the parallel provision in Income-tax Act, 1961. No new provisions or policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025".

(ii) "The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. The proposed provision is similar to the parallel provision in Income-tax Act, 1961. No new provisions or policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025".

(iii) "Suggestion seeks full text of provision providing incentive under IT Act to be carried in Bill. The provisions of these sections have a sunset clause and many changes have been made over the years. There is a limited period left for the claim of deductions under these sections. These are used by a few number of assessees. Further, no new assessee can claim these deductions. Considering these factors, the redrafting of these provisions is unwieldy and a reference to the IT Act, 1961 is hence made. Further, the requirement of Audit arises from the fulfilment of the provisions of the corresponding section of the IT Act, for which due reference has been made. Therefore, it may not be feasible to act upon the suggestion. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961. So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no new policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025".

(iv) "It is suggested that there may be no sunset clause for deductions granted for SEZ developers and SEZ units.
The deductions in these sections have been given for many years to encourage development and investment in these SEZs. Some deductions are continued to be claimed though they have a sunset clause. Further, the stated policy of the government is the removal of exemptions and deductions with the reduction of rates of taxation. The tax rates have been reduced to 22% from 30% under the new regime where no deductions are claimed.

Therefore, this suggestion is not feasible. Moreover, this is a policy suggestion. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961".

139.5.2 During the course of examination of the Bill by the Select Committee, the representatives of the Ministry of Commerce, on the provisions for SEZs, deposed before the Committee as under:-

"If we look at broad scheme of things for SEZs, there are two sets of entities. One entity is the developer and the second entity is the unit. In terms of the existing provisions for developers, there was Income-tax exemption on the income derived from the business of development of SEZ in a block of 10 years in 15-year period under Section 80IAB of the Income-tax Act. That was withdrawn in 2017 but all the developers who availed it continue to operate after withdrawing it for a period of 10 years. That continues to operate in this current version……
Clause 139 for Section 80IAB which is for developers, they are referring back to the current statute rather than giving the sunset dates. So, for ease of reference, a self-contained Act which is going into the future should have all the necessary applicability as well as the sunset dates which are there. Otherwise, all the taxpayers need to look back into how their regime was previously except this self-contained version which is required. I think what we are recommending is only the date of applicability and sunset need to be retained. Otherwise, substantively I think all benefits which stand today which are very little though, continue to be operative in the new Bill. That is the summary of the changes that have been brought in the Act".

139.5.3 On being queried upon the issues pertaining to the tax parity between the SEZs and EOUs, the representatives of the Ministry of Commerce clarified during the sitting of the Committee as produced below:-

> "One of the issues that is repeatedly coming is about the parity of taxation in a DTA vis-à-vis the SEZs and EOU. As a policy of the Government, to maintain the parity, the special exemptions which were given, whether it was MAT or subsequently the export income-oriented exemptions which were given have been withdrawn. They do not continue to be operative in the future Bill which is proposed right now. The idea was that globally also if you look at it, taxation has two components: the direct taxation which the income tax is dealing and the indirect taxes which the Customs and the GST are dealing. The concessions related to Customs and GST continue to operate in SEZs. as EOUs and DTA are concerned, there are various schemes whether it is advance authorisation and EPCG for capital goods for DTA, or the EOU scheme itself permits both capital goods as well as inputs. So, the indirect taxes continue to operate. Direct taxes, the idea is to withdraw. We did study in terms of various other countries. आपने चीन का उल्लेख किया। I think, regulatory regime simplification plus infrastructure impetus, these are the two things which are very, very critical. Regarding taxation part, some countries are still doing it and some other financial benefits are also being given. But I think we need to see how it works here. Some amendments are being suggested. That is underway based on the global practices. With regard to whether we should continue or not, in 2017 we have stopped with regard to developers. Is there a case for resumption of that? Again, I think the fundamental principle which has been governed is that let tax parity be maintained because otherwise it is creating distortions. Therefore, whatever has been committed previously, and the sunset is there, let it continue and then let it be over with the sunset. That is the thinking. That is why no changes have been made.
>
> On the specific power issue, I think, at the time when the permission was given, it was for export purposes. Otherwise, there is a provision whereby like we provide DTA clearances to other manufacturers at a specific tariff which would take care of the benefits which have been given by the Government. Even those provisions are there".

139.5.4 Responding to a query regarding the functioning and future of SEZs, the representative of Ministry of Commerce clarified during the sitting as produced below:-

> "The question was whether the banking and financial services in GIFT city need similar benefits when they stand withdrawn, and what has been the impact of withdrawal. If you look at our SEZs, one will keep manufacturing, and one dimension is services. The IT and ITS services have become very robust, with significant growth. Unlike banking and financial services, globally, IT and ITS services in India are recognised, and there is sufficient maturity in that sector. However, globally, banking and financial services still need to evolve to the same state as IT and ITS. Once that maturity is achieved, we can evaluate whether these tax exemptions are still required. Extensive consultations have happened regarding what is required for SEZs when considering SEZ amendments. Every suggestion from the industries regarding tax regimes, regulatory regimes, and various fiscal measures has been looked into. I think it has been a consistent stand where inter-Ministerial discussions related to those amendments have taken place, and we evaluate and recommend based on the feedback received. So as part of a consultation, definitely, it is continuous, and given the distinction in terms of manufacturing, some of the new sectors are evincing interest. I mean, for example, green hydrogen or electronics into SEZs and all. So, it is kind of a dynamic of what EPCS has been mentioned, what was mentioned, that there is a loss of interest that is there and people are withdrawing. ITITS, we see some denotifications which are happening, but there are also some who are coming in. It is not complete exodus that way".

139.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:(to be reviewed)

The Committee note that Clause 139 of the Bill provisions for deductions in respect of profits and gains by an undertaking or enterprise engaged in development of Special Economic Zone. The clause corresponds to Section 80-IAB of the Act. It is noticeable that the provisions of this section have a sunset clause and many changes have been made over the years. There is a limited period left for the claim of deductions under these sections. These are used by a few numbers of assessees. Further, no new assessee can claim these deductions. The Ministry have considered these factors for making a reference to the IT Act, 1961 in the Bill. The Committee take into account the fact that the benefit period of these provisions are nearing their end and no new assesses are being added as justification for the cross-reference to the IT Act, 1961. However, the Committee are still of the view that the cross referencing to the IT Act, 1961 in the current Bill will create a cumbersome exercise of looking back into a repealed Act for referencing in future also. The Committee, further, are in agreement with the other aspects of the proposed Clause which does in no way alter the content of the Section 80-IAB of the IT Act, 1961. Thus, the Committee, recommend the Ministry to remove the reference to the IT Act, 1961 from the text of specific Clauses and instead create some provision in the Savings Clause 536 of the Bill which can cover all such clauses requiring reference to the IT Act, 1961. Besides, the Committee agrees with the remaining content of the proposed Clause.

Clause - 140 - Special provision in respect of specified business.

140.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

140. (1) Where the gross total income of an assessee, being an eligible start-up, includes any profits and gains derived from eligible business, there shall, as per and subject to the provisions of this section, be allowed, in computing the total income of the assessee, a deduction of an amount equal to 100% of the profits and gains derived from such business for three consecutive tax years.

(2) The deduction specified in sub-section (1) may, at the option of the assessee, be claimed by him for any three consecutive tax years out of ten years beginning from the year in which the eligible start-up is incorporated.

(3) This section applies to a start-up which fulfils the following conditions:— (a) it is not formed by splitting up, or the reconstruction, of a business already in existence; (b) it is not formed by the transfer to a new business of machinery or plant previously used for any purpose.

(4) Where the business of any undertaking carried on in India is discontinued in any tax year by reason of extensive damage to, or destruction of, any building, machinery, plant or furniture owned by the assessee and used for the purposes of such business as a direct result of— (a) flood, typhoon, hurricane, cyclone, earthquake or other convulsion of nature; or (b) riot or civil disturbance; or (c) accidental fire or explosion; or (d) action by an enemy or action taken in combating an enemy (whether with or without a declaration of war), and thereafter, at any time before the expiry of three years from the end of such tax year, the business of such undertaking is re-established, re-constructed or revived by the assessee, the condition referred to in sub-section (3)(a) shall not apply to such undertaking which is so re-established, reconstructed or revived.

(5) For the purposes of sub-section (3)(b), any machinery or plant which was used outside India by any person other than the assessee shall not be regarded as machinery or plant previously used for any purpose, if all the following conditions are fulfilled:— (a) such machinery or plant was not, at any time previous to the date of the installation by the assessee, used in India; (b) such machinery or plant is imported into India; and (c) no deduction on account of depreciation in respect of such machinery or plant has been allowed or is allowable under the provisions of this Act in computing the total income of any person for any period before to the date of the installation of the machinery or plant by the assessee.

(6) Where in the case of a start-up, any machinery or plant or any part thereof previously used for any purpose is transferred to a new business and the total value of the machinery or plant or part so transferred does not exceed 20% of the total value of the machinery or plant used in the business, then, for the purposes of subsection (3)(b), the condition specified therein shall be considered to have been complied with.

(7) Irrespective of anything contained in any other provision of this Act, the profits and gains of an eligible business to which the provisions of sub-section (1) apply shall, for the purposes of determining the quantum of deduction under that sub-section for the tax year immediately succeeding the initial tax year or any subsequent tax year, be computed as if such eligible business were the only source of income of the assessee during the initial tax year and to every subsequent tax year up to and including the tax year for which the determination is to be made.

(8) The deduction under sub-section (1) from profits and gains derived from an eligible business shall not be admissible unless the accounts of the eligible business for the tax year for which the deduction is claimed have been audited by an accountant, before the specified date referred to in section 63 and the assessee furnishes by that date the report of such audit in the prescribed form duly signed and verified by such accountant.

(9) In a case where,— (i) any goods or services held for the purposes of the eligible business are transferred to any other business carried on by the assessee; or (ii) where any goods or services held for the purposes of any other business carried on by the assessee are transferred to the eligible business, and, in either case, the consideration, if any, for such transfer as recorded in the accounts of the eligible business does not correspond to the market value of such goods or services as on the date of the transfer, then, for the purposes of the deduction under this section, the profits and gains of such eligible business shall be computed as if the transfer, in either case, had been made at the market value of such goods or services as on that date.

(10) For the purposes of sub-section (9), where, in the opinion of the Assessing Officer, the computation of the profits and gains of the eligible business in the manner hereinbefore specified presents exceptional difficulties, the Assessing Officer may compute such profits and gains on such reasonable basis as he may deem fit.

(11) For the purposes of sub-section (9), “market value”, in relation to any goods or services, means— (i) the price that such goods or services would ordinarily fetch in the open market; or (ii) the arm's length price as defined in section 173(a), where the transfer of such goods or services is a specified domestic transaction referred to in section 164.

(12) Where any amount of profits and gains of an undertaking or of an enterprise in the case of an assessee is claimed and allowed under this section for any tax year, deduction to the extent of such profits and gains shall not be allowed under any other provisions of Part C of this Chapter and shall in no case exceed the profits and gains of such eligible business of undertaking or enterprise, as the case may be.

(13) Where it appears to the Assessing Officer that,— (i) owing to the close connection between the assessee carrying on the eligible business to which this section applies and any other person; or (ii) for any other reason, the course of business between them is so arranged that the business transacted between them produces to the assessee more than the ordinary profits which might be expected to arise in such eligible business, the Assessing Officer shall, in computing the profits and gains of such eligible business for the purposes of the deduction under this section, take the amount of profits as may be reasonably considered to have been derived therefrom.

(14) Where the arrangement as mentioned in sub-section (13) involves a specified domestic transaction referred to in section 164, the amount of profits from such transaction shall be determined having regard to arm's length price as defined in section173(a).

(15) The Central Government may, after making such inquiry as it may think fit, direct, by notification, that the exemption conferred by this section shall not apply to any class of industrial undertaking or enterprise with effect from such date as it may specify in the notification.

(16) In this section,— (a) “eligible business” means a business carried out by an eligible start-up engaged in innovation, development or improvement of products or processes or services or a scalable business model with a high potential of employment generation or wealth creation; (b) “eligible start-up” means a company or a limited liability partnership engaged in eligible business which fulfils the following conditions:— (i) it is incorporated on or after the 1st April, 2016 but before the 1st April, 2030; (ii) the total turnover of its business does not exceed one hundred crore rupees in the tax year relevant to the tax year for which deduction under sub-section (1) is claimed; and (iii) it holds a certificate of eligible business from the InterMinisterial Board of Certification as notified by the Central Government; and (c) “limited liability partnership” means a partnership referred to in section 2(1)(n) of the Limited Liability Partnership Act, 2008.

140.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Special provision in respect of specified business.

80-IAC. (1) Where the gross total income of an assessee, being an eligible start-up, includes any profits and gains derived from eligible business, there shall, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, be allowed, in computing the total income of the assessee, a deduction of an amount equal to one hundred per cent of the profits and gains derived from such business for three consecutive assessment years.

(2) The deduction specified in sub-section (1) may, at the option of the assessee, be claimed by him for any three consecutive assessment years out of ten years beginning from the year in which the eligible start-up is incorporated.

(3) This section applies to a start-up which fulfils the following conditions, namely:—

(i) it is not formed by splitting up, or the reconstruction, of a business already in existence:

Provided that this condition shall not apply in respect of a start-up which is formed as a result of the re-establishment, reconstruction or revival by the assessee of the business of any such undertaking as referred to in section 33B, in the circumstances and within the period specified in that section;

(ii) it is not formed by the transfer to a new business of machinery or plant previously used for any purpose.

Explanation 1.—For the purposes of this clause, any machinery or plant which was used outside India by any person other than the assessee shall not be regarded as machinery or plant previously used for any purpose, if all the following conditions are fulfilled, namely:—

(a) such machinery or plant was not, at any time previous to the date of the installation by the assessee, used in India;

(b) such machinery or plant is imported into India;

(c) no deduction on account of depreciation in respect of such machinery or plant has been allowed or is allowable under the provisions of this Act in computing the total income of any person for any period prior to the date of the installation of the machinery or plant by the assessee.

Explanation 2.—Where in the case of a start-up, any machinery or plant or any part thereof previously used for any purpose is transferred to a new business and the total value of the machinery or plant or part so transferred does not exceed twenty per cent of the total value of the machinery or plant used in the business, then, for the purposes of clause (ii) of this sub-section, the condition specified therein shall be deemed to have been complied with.

(4) The provisions of sub-section (5) and sub-sections (7) to (11) of section 80-IA shall apply to the start-ups for the purpose of allowing deductions under sub-section (1).

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(i) "eligible business" means a business carried out by an eligible start-up engaged in innovation, development or improvement of products or processes or services or a scalable business model with a high potential of employment generation or wealth creation;

(ii) "eligible start-up" means a company or a limited liability partnership engaged in eligible business which fulfils the following conditions, namely:—

(a) it is incorporated on or after the 1st day of April, 2016 but before the 1st day of April, [97] [2030];

(b) the total turnover of its business does not exceed one hundred crore rupees in the previous year relevant to the assessment year for which deduction under sub-section (1) is claimed; and

(c) it holds a certificate of eligible business from the Inter-Ministerial Board of Certification as notified in the Official Gazette by the Central Government;

(iii) "limited liability partnership" means a partnership referred to in clause (n) of sub-section (1) of section 2 of the Limited Liability Partnership Act, 2008 (6 of 2009).

140.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 140 of the Bill seeks to provide deduction to eligible start up in respect of profits and gains of eligible businesses, which have high potential of employment generation, subject to certain conditions specified therein. The clause corresponds to Section 80-IAC of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

140.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Some of the important views/suggestions from the stakeholders are summarized as under:-

(i) The deduction under sub-section (1) from profits and gains derived from an eligible business shall not be admissible unless the accounts of the eligible business for the tax year for which the deduction is claimed have been audited by a chartered accountant in practice or cost accountant in practice, before the specified date referred to in section 63 and the assessee furnishes by that date the report of such audit in the prescribed form duly signed and verified by chartered accountant in practice or cost accountant in practice. Cost accountants are, perhaps, adequately qualified, as claimed, to issue such certifications. Hence the cost accountants in practice may be allowed after looking into the demand objectively.

(ii) The eligible startups should be one having DPIIT certification.Startup certification through the startup India initiative is a crucial step for early-stage companies in India to access a wide range of benefits and support from the Government, fostering their growth and innovation.

(iii) Sub-section (2A) may be inserted – (2A) Where the assessee has claimed deduction under section 80-IAC of the Income-tax Act, 1961 for any assessment year or years, deduction under subsection (1) of this section would be allowable for the remaining tax year or years under this Act. Deduction under section 80-IAC of the Income-tax Act, 1961 is allowable in respect of 3 consecutive assessment years out of ten years beginning from the year in which the eligible start-up is incorporated. In case the assessee, being an eligible startup has already started claiming deduction under section 80-IAC for one or two assessment years, deduction under section 140 of the Income-tax Bill would be available only for the remaining years out of the three years.

140.5 Examination by the Committee:

The Ministry in their written replies to the above-mentioned corresponding suggestion have submitted as under:-

(i) “The suggestion made by the stakeholder to incorporate "cost accountants" is not in line with the provisions of the IT Act 1961. This is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. The proposed provision is similar to the parallel provision in Income-tax Act, 1961. No new provisions or policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025.”

(ii) “The deduction under any provision of the Act is predicated upon fulfillment of certain essential conditions. For deduction u/s 80-IAC (clause 140 of the Bill), checking of eligible business has to be a primary check which is certified by Inter Ministerial Board of Certification. Any start-up registered with DPIIT can't avail the deduction. The suggestion has no merits.The proposed provision is similar to the parallel provision in Income-tax Act, 1961. No new provisions or policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025".

(iii) "Suggestion seeks reference of IT Act for incentives allowed under IT Act and continued in Bill. The provisions of the Bill are clear in the fact that the deduction will be applicable only for 3 years out of the 1st 10 years of incorporation. This is covered in the Repeal and Savings clause in 536(2), the provisions of which are :536. (2) Irrespective of the repeal of the Income-tax Act, 1961 (hereinafter referred to as the repealed Income-tax Act), and subject to sub-section (3)—(a) nothing shall affect the previous operation of the repealed Act and orders or anything duly done or suffered there under; or(b) nothing shall affect any right, privilege, obligation or liability acquired, accrued or incurred under the repealed Act or orders under such repealed Act; Therefore, this suggestion is already addressed. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961. So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no new policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025".

140.5.2 During the deposition of the representatives of Ministry of Commerce (DPIIT), the Secretary, DPIIT submitted before the Committee as under:-

"the provisions in the IT Act as far as DPIIT is concerned, are the exemptions given to the startups. Under the existing Act, firstly under Section 80IAC read with Section 80IA and Section 33B, 100 per cent tax deduction is allowed for three consecutive years in the startup. This continues under Section 140 of the new Bill. The language is simplified. All the provisions which are existing have been carried over. ……In addition, we have been receiving requests from various startups on what is given under Section 80IAC for Minimum Alternative Tax should be extended to startups and they should also be exempted from this tax which will help them grow".

140.5.3 Further elaborating on the issues associated with the Startups, the representatives from MeitY submitted during the sitting as mentioned below:-

"With regard to Section 80-IAC, I would like to elaborate that during the 10 year period, a newly registered start-up, from the date of incorporation till a period of 10 years, can avail of various benefits including income tax benefits. Sir, 80-IAC is one of the benefits which he can use for a consecutive three year period, which allows the start-up to avail of 100 per cent tax deduction. But despite the 100 per cent tax deduction, the MAT or Minimum Alternate Tax is still applicable on the start-ups. So, the demand from the start-ups has been that this tax should not be imposed on the start-ups. Secondly, there has also been a request that this three-year period -- which is there, which can be availed of the start-ups during any of the three consecutive years in the ten-year period may be allowed to break it up one year each any of the ten years. So, these are the demands we have received".

140.5.4 Further, on the issue of MAT (Minimum Alternate Tax), the representative from MeitY added that:-

"Sir, we are supporting the start-ups' demands that MAT or Minimum Alternate Tax should be removed. As far as the concern about covering all start-ups versus selected start-ups, the provision itself provides for and I will it read out: That eligible business means a business carried out by an eligible start-up engaged in innovation, development or improvement of products or processes or services or a scalable business model with a high potential of employment generation or wealth creation. So, keeping this mind, the inter Ministerial Board -- which is also a requirement under the Section and which is headed by a Joint Secretary and has a Department of Science and Technology and Department of Biotechnology on board -- it recommends and issues a certificate for the start-up to avail of the benefit. So, of all 1.68 lakh start-ups which are registered with DPIIT, not all are able to avail of the benefits. The benefits are given to a small number only".

140.5.5 Regarding the DPIIT certification, when queried upon, the representatives of the Ministry of Finance submitted before the Committee as produced below:-

"But the request is that eligible startups should be allowed to claim deduction under Section 80-IAC. The eligible startup should be one which is having DPIIT certification. So far, we have enabled only those startups which have gone through the process of Inter-Ministerial Board (IMB) certification…..सर, 80-IAC में दिया हुआ है। डीपीआईआईटी से ही कंसल्टेशन में वह दिया हुआ है। DPIIT maintains that distinction that these are the startups which are registered, and these are the startups which cross that threshold line and come into the process of the oversight mechanism. Then, they get the IMB certification. So, we have enabled that deduction under 80-IAC in our law. The whole process is run by DPIIT".

140.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee find that Clause 140 of the Bill provisions for deduction to eligible start up in respect of profits and gains of eligible businesses akin to the Section 80-IAC of the Income-Tax Act, 1961. Examination of the said Clause vis-à-vis Section 80-IAC reveals that the Section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause without carrying out any substantive nature of modification in terms of policy change. Thus, the Committee, finding the justification provided by the Ministry satisfactory, accept the proposed Clause 140 in entirety.

Clause - 141 - Deduction in respect of profits and gains from certain industrial undertakings

141.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

141. In respect of any tax year, where— (a) the gross total income of an assessee, includes any profits and gains derived from any business referred to in section 80-IB of the Income-tax Act, 1961; and (b) such assessee is eligible to claim a deduction from the profits and gains derived from such business for such tax year under the provisions of the said section, if the said Act had not been repealed, there shall be allowed, in computing the total income of the assessee, a deduction from the profits and gains derived from such business, subject to the conditions that— (i) the amount of deduction is calculated as per the provisions of section 80-IB of the Income-tax Act, 1961; and (ii) the deduction under this Act shall be allowed only for such tax years, as would have been allowed under section 80-IB of the Income-tax Act, 1961, if the said Act had not been repealed.

141.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in respect of profits and gains from certain industrial undertakings other than infrastructure development undertakings.

80-IB. (1) Where the gross total income of an assessee includes any profits and gains derived from any business referred to in sub-sections (3) to (11), (11A) and (11B) (such business being hereinafter referred to as the eligible business), there shall, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, be allowed, in computing the total income of the assessee, a deduction from such profits and gains of an amount equal to such percentage and for such number of assessment years as specified in this section.

(2) This section applies to any industrial undertaking which fulfils all the following conditions, namely :—

(i) it is not formed by splitting up, or the reconstruction, of a business already in existence :

Provided that this condition shall not apply in respect of an industrial undertaking which is formed as a result of the re-establishment, reconstruction or revival by the assessee of the business of any such industrial undertaking as is referred to in section 33B, in the circumstances and within the period specified in that section;

(ii) it is not formed by the transfer to a new business of machinery or plant previously used for any purpose;

(iii) it manufactures or produces any article or thing, not being any article or thing specified in the list in the Eleventh Schedule, or operates one or more cold storage plant or plants, in any part of India :

Provided that the condition in this clause shall, in relation to a small scale industrial undertaking or an industrial undertaking referred to in sub-section (4) shall apply as if the words "not being any article or thing specified in the list in the Eleventh Schedule" had been omitted.

Explanation 1.—For the purposes of clause (ii), any machinery or plant which was used outside India by any person other than the assessee shall not be regarded as machinery or plant previously used for any purpose, if the following conditions are fulfilled, namely :—

(a) such machinery or plant was not, at any time previous to the date of the installation by the assessee, used in India;

(b) such machinery or plant is imported into India from any country outside India; and

(c) no deduction on account of depreciation in respect of such machinery or plant has been allowed or is allowable under the provisions of this Act in computing the total income of any person for any period prior to the date of the installation of the machinery or plant by the assessee.

Explanation 2.—Where in the case of an industrial undertaking, any machinery or plant or any part thereof previously used for any purpose is transferred to a new business and the total value of the machinery or plant or part so transferred does not exceed twenty per cent of the total value of the machinery or plant used in the business, then, for the purposes of clause (ii) of this sub-section, the condition specified therein shall be deemed to have been complied with;

(iv) in a case where the industrial undertaking manufactures or produces articles or things, the undertaking employs ten or more workers in a manufacturing process carried on with the aid of power, or employs twenty or more workers in a manufacturing process carried on without the aid of power.

(3) The amount of deduction in the case of an industrial undertaking shall be twenty-five per cent (or thirty per cent where the assessee is a company), of the profits and gains derived from such industrial undertaking for a period of ten consecutive assessment years (or twelve consecutive assessment years where the assessee is a co-operative society) beginning with the initial assessment year subject to the fulfilment of the following conditions, namely :—

(i) it begins to manufacture or produce, articles or things or to operate such plant or plants at any time during the period beginning from the 1st day of April, 1991 and ending on the 31st day of March, 1995 or such further period as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify with reference to any particular undertaking;

(ii) where it is an industrial undertaking being a small scale industrial undertaking, it begins to manufacture or produce articles or things or to operate its cold storage plant [not specified in sub-section (4) or sub-section (5)] at any time during the period beginning on the 1st day of April, 1995 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2002.

(4) The amount of deduction in the case of an industrial undertaking in an industrially backward State specified in the Eighth Schedule shall be hundred per cent of the profits and gains derived from such industrial undertaking for five assessment years beginning with the initial assessment year and thereafter twenty-five per cent (or thirty per cent where the assessee is a company) of the profits and gains derived from such industrial undertaking :

Provided that the total period of deduction does not exceed ten consecutive assessment years (or twelve consecutive assessment years where the assessee is a co-operative society) subject to fulfilment of the condition that it begins to manufacture or produce articles or things or to operate its cold storage plant or plants during the period beginning on the 1st day of April, 1993 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2004 :

Provided further that in the case of such industries in the North-Eastern Region, as may be notified by the Central Government, the amount of deduction shall be hundred per cent of profits and gains for a period of ten assessment years, and the total period of deduction shall in such a case not exceed ten assessment years :

Provided also that no deduction under this sub-section shall be allowed for the assessment year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2004 or any subsequent year to any undertaking or enterprise referred to in sub-section (2) of section 80-IC:

Provided also that in the case of an industrial undertaking in the State of Jammu and Kashmir, the provisions of the first proviso shall have effect as if for the figures, letters and words "31st day of March, 2004", the figures, letters and words "31st day of March, 2012" had been substituted :

Provided also that no deduction under this sub-section shall be allowed to an industrial undertaking in the State of Jammu and Kashmir which is engaged in the manufacture or production of any article or thing specified in Part C of the Thirteenth Schedule.

(5) The amount of deduction in the case of an industrial undertaking located in such industrially backward districts as the Central Government may, having regard to the prescribed guidelines, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf as industrially backward district of category 'A' or an industrially backward district of category 'B' shall be,—

(i) hundred per cent of the profits and gains derived from an industrial undertaking located in a backward district of category 'A' for five assessment years beginning with the initial assessment year and thereafter, twenty-five per cent (or thirty per cent where the assessee is a company) of the profits and gains of an industrial undertaking :

Provided that the total period of deduction shall not exceed ten consecutive assessment years or where the assessee is a co-operative society, twelve consecutive assessment years :

Provided further that the industrial undertaking begins to manufacture or produce articles or things or to operate its cold storage plant or plants at any time during the period beginning on the 1st day of October, 1994 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2004;

(ii) hundred per cent of the profits and gains derived from an industrial undertaking located in a backward district of category 'B' for three assessment years beginning with the initial assessment year and thereafter, twenty-five per cent (or thirty per cent where the assessee is a company) of the profits and gains of an industrial undertaking :

Provided that the total period of deduction does not exceed eight consecutive assessment years (or where the assessee is a co-operative society, twelve consecutive assessment years) :

Provided further that the industrial undertaking begins to manufacture or produce articles or things or to operate its cold storage plant or plants at any time during the period beginning on the 1st day of October, 1994 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2004.

(6) The amount of deduction in the case of the business of a ship shall be thirty per cent of the profits and gains derived from such ship for a period of ten consecutive assessment years including the initial assessment year provided that the ship—

(i) is owned by an Indian company and is wholly used for the purposes of the business carried on by it;

(ii) was not, previous to the date of its acquisition by the Indian company, owned or used in Indian territorial waters by a person resident in India; and

(iii) is brought into use by the Indian company at any time during the period beginning on the 1st day of April, 1991 and ending on the 31st day of March, 1995.

(7) The amount of deduction in the case of any hotel shall be—

(a) fifty per cent of the profits and gains derived from the business of such hotel for a period of ten consecutive years beginning from the initial assessment year as is located in a hilly area or a rural area or a place of pilgrimage or such other place as the Central Government may, having regard to the need for development of infrastructure for tourism in any place and other relevant considerations, specify by notification in the Official Gazette and such hotel starts functioning at any time during the period beginning on the 1st day of April, 1990 and ending on the 31st day of March, 1994 or beginning on the 1st day of April, 1997 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2001:

Provided that nothing contained in this clause shall apply to a hotel located at a place within the municipal jurisdiction (whether known as a municipality, municipal corporation, notified area committee or a cantonment board or by any other name) of Calcutta, Chennai, Delhi or Mumbai, which has started or starts functioning on or after the 1st day of April, 1997 and before the 31st day of March, 2001:

Provided further that the said hotel is approved by the prescribed authority for the purpose of this clause in accordance with the rules made under this Act and where the said hotel is approved by the prescribed authority before the 31st day of March, 1992, shall be deemed to have been approved by the prescribed authority for the purpose of this section in relation to the assessment year commencing on the 1st day of April, 1991;

(b) thirty per cent of the profits and gains derived from the business of such hotel as is located in any place other than those mentioned in sub-clause (a) for a period of ten consecutive years beginning from the initial assessment year if such hotel has started or starts functioning at any time during the period beginning on the 1st day of April, 1991 and ending on the 31st day of March, 1995 or beginning on the 1st day of April, 1997 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2001:

Provided that nothing contained in this clause shall apply to a hotel located at a place within the municipal jurisdiction (whether known as a municipality, municipal corporation, notified area committee, town area committee or a cantonment board or by any other name) of Calcutta, Chennai, Delhi or Mumbai, which has started or starts functioning on or after the 1st day of April, 1997 and before the 31st day of March, 2001;

(c) the deduction under clause (a) or clause (b) shall be available only if—

(i) the business of the hotel is not formed by the splitting up, or the reconstruction, of a business already in existence or by the transfer to a new business of a building previously used as a hotel or of any machinery or plant previously used for any purpose;

(ii) the business of the hotel is owned and carried on by a company registered in India with a paid-up capital of not less than five hundred thousand rupees;

(iii) the hotel is for the time being approved by the prescribed authority:

Provided that any hotel approved by the prescribed authority before the 1st day of April, 1999 shall be deemed to have been approved under this sub-section.

(7A) The amount of deduction in the case of any multiplex theatre shall be—

(a) fifty per cent of the profits and gains derived, from the business of building, owning and operating a multiplex theatre, for a period of five consecutive years beginning from the initial assessment year in any place :

Provided that nothing contained in this clause shall apply to a multiplex theatre located at a place within the municipal jurisdiction (whether known as a municipality, municipal corporation, notified area committee or a cantonment board or by any other name) of Chennai, Delhi, Mumbai or Kolkata;

(b) the deduction under clause (a) shall be allowable only if—

(i) such multiplex theatre is constructed at any time during the period beginning on the 1st day of April, 2002 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2005;

(ii) the business of the multiplex theatre is not formed by the splitting up, or the reconstruction, of a business already in existence or by the transfer to a new business of any building or of any machinery or of plant previously used for any purpose;

(iii) the assessee furnishes the report of audit in such form and containing such particulars, as may be prescribed, duly signed and verified by an accountant, as defined in the Explanation below sub-section (2) of section 288, before the specified date referred to in section 44AB, certifying that the deduction has been correctly claimed.

(7B) The amount of deduction in the case of any convention centre shall be—

(a) fifty per cent of the profits and gains derived, by the assessee from the business of building, owning and operating a convention centre, for a period of five consecutive years beginning from the initial assessment year;

(b) the deduction under clause (a) shall be allowable only if—

(i) such convention centre is constructed at any time during the period beginning on the 1st day of April, 2002 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2005;

(ii) the business of the convention centre is not formed by the splitting up, or the reconstruction, of a business already in existence or by the transfer to a new business of any building or of any machinery or plant previously used for any purpose; of section 288, before the specified date referred to in section 44AB, certifying that the deduction has been correctly claimed.

(iii) the assessee furnishes the report of audit in such form and containing such particulars, as may be prescribed, duly signed and verified by an accountant, as defined in the Explanation below sub-section (2)

(8) The amount of deduction in the case of any company carrying on scientific research and development shall be hundred per cent of the profits and gains of such business for a period of five assessment years beginning from the initial assessment year if such company—

(a) is registered in India;

(b) has the main object of scientific and industrial research and development;

(c) is for the time being approved by the prescribed authority at any time before the 1st day of April, 1999.

(8A) The amount of deduction in the case of any company carrying on scientific research and development shall be hundred per cent of the profits and gains of such business for a period of ten consecutive assessment years, beginning from the initial assessment year, if such company—

(i) is registered in India;

(ii) has its main object the scientific and industrial research and development;

(iii) is for the time being approved by the prescribed authority at any time after the 31st day of March, 2000 but before the 1st day of April, 2007;

(iv) fulfils such other conditions as may be prescribed.

(9) The amount of deduction to an undertaking shall be hundred per cent of the profits for a period of seven consecutive assessment years, including the initial assessment year, if such undertaking fulfils any of the following, namely:—

(i) is located in North-Eastern Region and has begun or begins commercial production of mineral oil before the 1st day of April, 1997;

(ii) is located in any part of India and has begun or begins commercial production of mineral oil on or after the 1st day of April, 1997 but not later than the 31st day of March, 2017 :

Provided that the provisions of this clause shall not apply to blocks licensed under a contract awarded after the 31st day of March, 2011 under the New Exploration Licencing Policy announced by the Government of India vide Resolution No. O-19018/22/95-ONG.DO.VL, dated the 10th February, 1999 or in pursuance of any law for the time being in force or by the Central or a State Government in any other manner;

(iii) is engaged in refining of mineral oil and begins such refining on or after the 1st day of October, 1998 but not later than the 31st day of March, 2012;

(iv) is engaged in commercial production of natural gas in blocks licensed under the VIII Round of bidding for award of exploration contracts (hereafter referred to as "NELP-VIII") under the New Exploration Licencing Policy announced by the Government of India vide Resolution No. O-19018/22/95-ONG.DO.VL, dated 10th February, 1999 and begins commercial production of natural gas on or after the 1st day of April, 2009 but not later than the 31st day of March, 2017;

(v) is engaged in commercial production of natural gas in blocks licensed under the IV Round of bidding for award of exploration contracts for Coal Bed Methane blocks and begins commercial production of natural gas on or after the 1st day of April, 2009 but not later than the 31st day of March, 2017.

Explanation.—For the purposes of claiming deduction under this sub-section, all blocks licensed under a single contract, which has been awarded under the New Exploration Licencing Policy announced by the Government of India vide Resolution No. O-19018/22/95-ONG.DO.VL, dated 10th

February, 1999 or has been awarded in pursuance of any law for the time being in force or has been awarded by the Central or a State Government in any other manner, shall be treated as a single "undertaking"

(10) The amount of deduction in the case of an undertaking developing and building housing projects approved before the 31st day of March, 2008 by a local authority shall be hundred per cent of the profits derived in the previous year relevant to any assessment year from such housing project if,—

(a) such undertaking has commenced or commences development and construction of the housing project on or after the 1st day of October, 1998 and completes such construction,—

(i) in a case where a housing project has been approved by the local authority before the 1st day of April, 2004, on or before the 31st day of

March, 2008;

(ii) in a case where a housing project has been, or, is approved by the local authority on or after the 1st day of April, 2004 but not later than the 31st day of March, 2005, within four years from the end of the financial year in which the housing project is approved by the local authority;

(iii) in a case where a housing project has been approved by the local authority on or after the 1st day of April, 2005, within five years from the end of the financial year in which the housing project is approved by the local authority.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this clause,—

(i) in a case where the approval in respect of the housing project is obtained more than once, such housing project shall be deemed to have been approved on the date on which the building plan of such housing project is first approved by the local authority;

(ii) the date of completion of construction of the housing project shall be taken to be the date on which the completion certificate in respect of such housing project is issued by the local authority;

(b) the project is on the size of a plot of land which has a minimum area of one acre:

Provided that nothing contained in clause (a) or clause (b) shall apply to a housing project carried out in accordance with a scheme framed by the Central Government or a State Government for reconstruction or redevelopment of existing buildings in areas declared to be slum areas under any law for the time being in force and such scheme is notified by the Board in this behalf;

(c) the residential unit has a maximum built-up area of one thousand square feet where such residential unit is situated within the city of Delhi or Mumbai or within twenty-five kilometres from the municipal limits of these cities and one thousand and five hundred square feet at any other place;

(d) the built-up area of the shops and other commercial establishments included in the housing project does not exceed three per cent of the aggregate built-up area of the housing project or five thousand square feet, whichever is higher;

(e) not more than one residential unit in the housing project is allotted to any person not being an individual; and

(f) in a case where a residential unit in the housing project is allotted to a person being an individual, no other residential unit in such housing project is allotted to any of the following persons, namely:—

(i) the individual or the spouse or the minor children of such individual,

(ii) the Hindu undivided family in which such individual is the karta, (iii) any person representing such individual, the spouse or the minor children of such individual or the Hindu undivided family in which such individual is the karta.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that nothing contained in this sub-section shall apply to any undertaking which executes the housing project as a works contract awarded by any person (including the Central or State Government).

(11) Notwithstanding anything contained in clause (iii) of sub-section (2) and sub-sections (3), (4) and (5), the amount of deduction in a case of industrial undertaking deriving profit from the business of setting up and operating a cold chain facility for agricultural produce, shall be hundred per cent of the profits and gains derived from such industrial undertaking for five assessment years beginning with the initial assessment year and thereafter, twenty-five per cent (or thirty per cent where the assessee is a company) of the profits and gains derived from the operation of such facility in a manner that the total period of deduction does not exceed ten consecutive assessment years (or twelve consecutive assessment years where the assessee is a co-operative society) and subject to fulfilment of the condition that it begins to operate such facility on or after the 1st day of April, 1999 but before the 1st day of April, 2004.

(11A) The amount of deduction in a case of an undertaking deriving profit from the business of processing, preservation and packaging of fruits or vegetables or meat and meat products or poultry or marine or dairy products or from the integrated business of handling, storage and transportation of food grains, shall be hundred per cent of the profits and gains derived from such undertaking for five assessment years beginning with the initial assessment year and thereafter, twenty-five per cent (or thirty per cent where the assessee is a company) of the profits and gains derived from the operation of such business in a manner that the total period of deduction does not exceed ten consecutive assessment years and subject to fulfilment of the condition that it begins to operate such business on or after the 1st day of April, 2001:

Provided that the provisions of this section shall not apply to an undertaking engaged in the business of processing, preservation and packaging of meat or meat products or poultry or marine or dairy products if it begins to operate such business before the 1st day of April, 2009.

(11B) The amount of deduction in the case of an undertaking deriving profits from the business of operating and maintaining a hospital in a rural area shall be hundred per cent of the profits and gains of such business for a period of five consecutive assessment years, beginning with the initial assessment year, if—

(i) such hospital is constructed at any time during the period beginning on the 1st day of October, 2004 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2008;

(ii) the hospital has at least one hundred beds for patients;

(iii) the construction of the hospital is in accordance with the regulations, for the time being in force, of the local authority; and

(iv) the assessee furnishes the report of audit in such form and containing such particulars, as may be prescribed, duly signed and verified by an accountant, as defined in the Explanation below sub-section (2) of section 288, before the specified date referred to in section 44AB, certifying that the deduction has been correctly claimed.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section, a hospital shall be deemed to have been constructed on the date on which a completion certificate in respect of such construction is issued by the concerned local authority.

(11C) The amount of deduction in the case of an undertaking deriving profits from the business of operating and maintaining a hospital located anywhere in India, other than the excluded area, shall be hundred per cent of the profits and gains derived from such business for a period of five consecutive assessment years, beginning with the initial assessment year, if—

(i) the hospital is constructed and has started or starts functioning at any time during the period beginning on the 1st day of April, 2008 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2013;

(ii) the hospital has at least one hundred beds for patients;

(iii) the construction of the hospital is in accordance with the regulations or bye-laws of the local authority; and

(iv) the assessee furnishes the report of audit in such form and containing such particulars, as may be prescribed, duly signed and verified by an accountant, as defined in the Explanation below sub-section (2) of section 288, before the specified date referred to in section 44AB, certifying that the deduction has been correctly claimed.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section—

(a) a hospital shall be deemed to have been constructed on the date on which a completion certificate in respect of such construction is issued by the local authority concerned;

(b) "initial assessment year" means the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which the business of the hospital starts functioning;

(c) "excluded area" shall mean an area comprising—

(i) Greater Mumbai urban agglomeration;

(ii) Delhi urban agglomeration;

(iii) Kolkata urban agglomeration;

(iv) Chennai urban agglomeration;

(v) Hyderabad urban agglomeration;

(vi) Bangalore urban agglomeration;

(vii) Ahmedabad urban agglomeration;

(viii) District of Faridabad;

(ix) District of Gurgaon;

(x) District of GautamBudh Nagar;

(xi) District of Ghaziabad;

(xii) District of Gandhinagar; and (xiii) City of Secunderabad;

(d) the area comprising an urban agglomeration shall be the area included in such urban agglomeration on the basis of the 2001 census.

(12) Where any undertaking of an Indian company which is entitled to the deduction under this section is transferred, before the expiry of the period specified in this section, to another Indian company in a scheme of amalgamation or demerger—

(a) no deduction shall be admissible under this section to the amalgamating or the demerged company for the previous year in which the amalgamation or the demerger takes place; and

(b) the provisions of this section shall, as far as may be, apply to the amalgamated or the resulting company as they would have applied to the amalgamating or the demerged company if the amalgamation or demerger had not taken place.

(13) The provisions contained in sub-section (5) and sub-sections (7) to (12) of section 80-IA shall, so far as may be, apply to the eligible business under this section.

(14) For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "built-up area" means the inner measurements of the residential unit at the floor level, including the projections and balconies, as increased by the thickness of the walls but does not include the common areas shared with other residential units;

(aa) "cold chain facility" means a chain of facilities for storage or transportation of agricultural produce under scientifically controlled conditions including refrigeration and other facilities necessary for the preservation of such produce;

(ab) "convention centre" means a building of a prescribed area comprising of convention halls to be used for the purpose of holding conferences and seminars, being of such size and number and having such other facilities and amenities, as may be prescribed;

(b) "hilly area" means any area located at a height of one thousand metres or more above the sea level;

(c) "initial assessment year"—

(i) in the case of an industrial undertaking or cold storage plant or ship or hotel, means the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which the industrial undertaking begins to manufacture or produce articles or things, or to operate its cold storage plant or plants or the cold chain facility or the ship is first brought into use or the business of the hotel starts functioning;

(ii) in the case of a company carrying on scientific and industrial research and development, means the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which the company is approved by the prescribed authority for the purposes of sub-section (8);

(iii) in the case of an undertaking engaged in the business of commercial production or refining of mineral oil referred to in sub-section (9), means the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which the undertaking commences the commercial production or refining of mineral oil;

(iv) in the case of an undertaking engaged in the business of processing, preservation and packaging of fruits or vegetables or in the integrated business of handling, storage and transportation of food grains, means the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which the undertaking begins such business;

(v) in the case of a multiplex theatre, means the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which a cinema hall, being a part of the said multiplex theatre, starts operating on a commercial basis;

(vi) in the case of a convention centre, means the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which the convention centre starts operating on a commercial basis;

(vii) in the case of an undertaking engaged in operating and maintaining a hospital in a rural area, means the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which the undertaking begins to provide medical services;

(d) "North-Eastern Region" means the region comprising the States of Arunachal Pradesh, Assam, Manipur, Meghalaya, Mizoram, Nagaland, Sikkim and Tripura;

(da) "multiplex theatre" means a building of a prescribed area, comprising of two or more cinema theatres and commercial shops of such size and number and having such other facilities and amenities as may be prescribed;

(e) "place of pilgrimage" means a place where any temple, mosque, gurdwara, church or other place of public worship of renown throughout any State or States is situated;

(f) "rural area" means any area other than—

(i) an area which is comprised within the jurisdiction of a municipality (whether known as a municipality, municipal corporation, notified area committee, town area committee or by any other name) or a cantonment board and which has a population of not less than ten thousand according to the preceding census of which relevant figures have been published before the first day of the previous year; or

(ii) an area within such distance not being more than fifteen kilometres from the local limits of any municipality or cantonment board referred to in sub-clause (i), as the Central Government may, having regard to the stage of development of such area including the extent of, and scope for, urbanisation of such area and other relevant considerations specify in this behalf by notification in the Official Gazette;

(g) "small-scale industrial undertaking" means an industrial undertaking which is, as on the last day of the previous year, regarded as a small-scale industrial undertaking under section 11B of the Industries (Development and Regulation) Act, 1951 (65 of 1951).

141.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 141 of the Bill provides for deduction in respect of profits and gains from certain industrial undertakings and provides for deduction for industrial undertakings in North-eastern region and also in respect of undertakings promoting housing projects. The clause corresponds to Section 80-IB of the Act. The provisions of this section have a sunset clause and many changes have been made over the years. There is a limited period left for the claim of deductions under these sections. These are used by a few numbers of assessees. Further, no new assesse can claim these deductions. Considering these factors, a reference to the IT Act, 1961 is made for these provisions in the Bill”.

141.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Few important suggestions of the stakeholders are as produced below:-

(i) Section 141 of the Income-tax Bill, 2025 should ideally provide for the computation mechanism itself so that the Income-tax Bill, 2025 is self-contained. Also, under the conditions stipulated in clause (b), after (i) and (ii), (iii) be inserted as follows - "The deduction under this section from the profits and gains derived from a business shall not be admissible unless the accounts of the business for the tax year for which deduction is claimed have been audited by an accountant, as defined in section 515(3)(b) on or before the specified date mentioned in section 63 and the assessee furnishes by that date, the report of such audit in the prescribed form duly signed and verified by such accountant." Consequentially, the word "and" may be removed after (b)(i) and inserted after (b)(ii). Section 141 of the Income-tax Bill, 2025, which corresponds to section 80-IB of the Income-tax Act, 1961 provides deduction of an amount calculated as per the provisions of section 80-IB the Income-tax Act, 1961. Sections 138, 139, 141 and 144 correspond to section 80-IA, 80-IAB, 80-IB and 10AA. These four sections require that the amount of deduction be calculated as per the corresponding section of the Income-tax Act, 1961 and that the deduction under the new Act be allowed only for such tax years as would have been allowed under the corresponding section of the Income-tax Act, 1961 if the said Act had not been repealed. However, the requirement of audit stipulated in these four sections is not mentioned in the Bill. The same has to be incorporated in the Bill.

141.5 Examination by the Committee:

Responding to the above suggestion, the Ministry, in their written replies, have submitted as under:-

"Suggestion seeks full text of provision providing incentive under IT Act to be carried in Bill. The provisions of these sections have a sunset clause and many changes have been made over the years. There is a limited period left for the claim of deductions under these sections. These are used by a few numbers of assessees. Further, no new assessee can claim these deductions. Considering these factors, the redrafting of these provisions is unwieldy and a reference to the IT Act, 1961 is hence made. Further, the requirement of Audit arises from the fulfilment of the provisions of the corresponding section of the IT Act, for which due reference has been made. Therefore, it may not be feasible to act upon the suggestion.The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961. So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no new policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025".

141.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that Clause 141 of the Bill stipulates for deduction in respect of profits and gains from certain industrial undertakings and provides for deduction for industrial undertakings in North-eastern region and also in respect of undertakings promoting housing projects. The clause is similar to Section 80-IB of the Act. From the replies of the Ministry, the Committee find that the provisions of this section have a sunset clause and many changes have been made over the years. The concluding date is nearing and as such there is a limited period left for the claim of deductions under these sections. Further, no new assessee can claim these deductions. Considering these factors, a reference to the ITAct, 1961 is made for these provisions in the Bill. The Committee take into consideration the justifications provided by the Ministry for keeping the cross-reference to the IT Act, 1961. Still, the Committee observe that the cross referencing to the IT Act, 1961 in the current Bill does not suit to a neat reading, making it unappealing to refer back to a repealed Act for having a full grasp of the section in future. The Committee, however, find the other aspects of the proposed Clause not altering the content of the Section 80-IB of the IT Act, 1961. Thus, the Committee, recommend the Ministry to remove the reference to the IT Act, 1961 from the text of specific Clauses and instead create some provision in the Savings Clause 536 of the Bill which can cover all such clauses requiring reference to the IT Act, 1961. The Committee agrees with the remaining content of the proposed Clause and make no recommendation for any modification.

Clause - 142 - Deductions in respect of profits and gains from housing projects

142.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

142. In respect of any tax year, where— (a) the gross total income of an assessee, includes any profits and gains derived from the business of developing and building housing projects or rental housing projects referred to in section 80-IBA of the Income-tax Act,1961; and (b) such assessee is eligible to claim a deduction from the profits and gains derived from such business for such tax year under the provisions of the said section, if the said Act had not been repealed, there shall be allowed, in computing the total income of the assessee, a deduction from the profits and gains derived from such business, subject to the conditions that— (i) the amount of deduction is calculated as per the provisions of section 80-IBA of the Income-tax Act, 1961; and (ii) the deduction under this Act shall be allowed only for such tax years, as would have been allowed under section 80-IBA of the Income-tax Act, 1961, if the said Act had not been repealed.

142.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deductions in respect of profits and gains from housing projects.

80-IBA. (1) Where the gross total income of an assessee includes any profits and gains derived from the business of developing and building housing projects, there shall, subject to the provisions of this section, be allowed, a deduction of an amount equal to hundred per cent of the profits and gains derived from such business.

(1A) Where the gross total income of an assessee includes any profits and gains derived from the business of developing and building rental housing project, there shall be allowed a deduction of an amount equal to hundred per cent of the profits and gains derived from such business.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1), a housing project shall be a project which fulfils the following conditions, namely:—

(a) the project is approved by the competent authority after the 1st day of June, 2016, but on or before the 31st day of March, 2022;

(b) the project is completed within a period of five years from the date of approval by the competent authority:

Provided that,—

(i) where the approval in respect of a housing project is obtained more than once, the project shall be deemed to have been approved on the date on which the building plan of such housing project was first approved by the competent authority; and (ii) the project shall be deemed to have been completed when a certificate of completion of project as a whole is obtained in writing from the competent authority;

(c) the carpet area of the shops and other commercial establishments included in the housing project does not exceed three per cent of the aggregate carpet area;

(d) the project is on a plot of land measuring not less than—

(i) one thousand square metres, where the project is located within the cities of Chennai, Delhi, Kolkata or Mumbai; or

(ii) two thousand square metres, where the project is located in any other place;

(e) the project is the only housing project on the plot of land as specified in clause (d);

(f) the carpet area of the residential unit comprised in the housing project does not exceed—

(i) thirty square metres, where the project is located within the cities of Chennai, Delhi, Kolkata or Mumbai; or

(ii) sixty square metres, where the project is located in any other place;

(g) where a residential unit in the housing project is allotted to an individual, no other residential unit in the housing project shall be allotted to the individual or the spouse or the minor children of such individual;

(h) the project utilises—

(i) not less than ninety per cent of the floor area ratio permissible in respect of the plot of land under the rules to be made by the Central Government or the State Government or the local authority, as the case may be, where the project is located within the cities of Chennai, Delhi, Kolkata or Mumbai, or

(ii) not less than eighty per cent of such floor area ratio where such project is located in any place other than the place referred to in sub-clause (i); and

(i) the assessee maintains separate books of account in respect of the housing project:

Provided that for the projects approved on or after the 1st day of September, 2019, the provisions of this sub-section shall have effect as if for clauses (d) to (i), the following clauses had been substituted, namely:—

"(d) the project is on a plot of land measuring not less than—

(i) one thousand square metres, where such project is located within the metropolitan cities of Bengaluru, Chennai, Delhi National Capital Region (limited to Delhi, Noida, Greater Noida, Ghaziabad, Gurugram, Faridabad), Hyderabad, Kolkata and Mumbai (whole of Mumbai Metropolitan Region); or

(ii) two thousand square metres, where such project is located in any other place;

(e) the project is the only housing project on the plot of land as specified in clause (d);

(f) the carpet area of the residential unit comprised in the housing project does not exceed—

(i) sixty square metres, where such project is located within the metropolitan cities of Bengaluru, Chennai, Delhi National Capital Region (limited to Delhi, Noida, Greater Noida, Ghaziabad, Gurugram, Faridabad), Hyderabad, Kolkata and Mumbai (whole of Mumbai Metropolitan Region); or

(ii) ninety square metres, where such project is located in any other place;

(g) the stamp duty value of a residential unit in the housing project does not exceed forty-five lakh rupees;

(h) where a residential unit in the housing project is allotted to an individual, no other residential unit in the housing project shall be allotted to the individual or the spouse or the minor children of such individual;

(i) the project utilises—

(I) not less than ninety per cent of the floor area ratio permissible in respect of the plot of land under the rules to be made by the Central Government or the State Government or the local authority, as the case may be, where such project is located within the metropolitan cities of Bengaluru, Chennai, Delhi National Capital Region (limited to Delhi, Noida, Greater Noida, Ghaziabad, Gurugram, Faridabad), Hyderabad, Kolkata and Mumbai (whole of Mumbai Metropolitan Region); or

(II) not less than eighty per cent of such floor area ratio where such project is located in any place other than the place referred to in sub-clause (I); and

(j) The assessee maintains separate books of account in respect of the housing project."

(3) Nothing contained in this section shall apply to any assessee who executes the housing project as a works-contract awarded by any person (including the Central Government or the State Government).

(4) Where the housing project is not completed within the period specified under clause (b) of sub-section (2) and in respect of which a deduction has been claimed and allowed under this section, the total amount of deduction so claimed and allowed in one or more previous years, shall be deemed to be the income of the assessee chargeable under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession" of the previous year in which the period for completion so expires.

(5) Where any amount of profits and gains derived from the business of developing and building housing projects is claimed and allowed under this section for any assessment year, deduction to the extent of such profit and gains shall not be allowed under any other provisions of this Act.

(6) For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "carpet area" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (k) of section 2 of the Real Estate (Regulation and Development) Act, 2016 (16 of 2016);

(b) "competent authority" means the authority empowered to approve the building plan by or under any law for the time being in force;

(c) "floor area ratio" means the quotient obtained by dividing the total covered area of plinth area on all the floors by the area of the plot of land;

(d) "housing project" means a project consisting predominantly of residential units with such other facilities and amenities as the competent authority may approve subject to the provisions of this section;

(da) "rental housing project" means a project which is notified by the Central Government in the Official Gazette under this clause on or before the 31st day of March, 2022 and fulfils such conditions as may be specified in the said notification;

(e) "residential unit" means an independent housing unit with separate facilities for living, cooking and sanitary requirements, distinctly separated from other residential units within the building, which is directly accessible from an outer door or through an interior door in a shared hallway and not by walking through the living space of another household;

(f) "stamp duty value" means the value adopted or assessed or assessable by any authority of the Central Government or a State Government for the purpose of payment of stamp duty in respect of an immovable property.

142.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 142 of the Bill provides for deductions in respect of profits and gains of business of developing and building housing projects. The clause corresponds to Section 80-IBA of the Act. The provisions of this section have a sunset clause and many changes have been made over the years. There is a limited period left for the claim of deductions under these sections. These are used by a few numbers of assessees. Further, no new assesse can claim these deductions. Considering these factors, a reference to the IT Act, 1961 is made for these provisions in the Bill”.

142.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

An important suggestion of the stakeholder is as produced:-

> Section 142 of the Income-tax Bill, 2025 should ideally provide for the computation mechanism itself so that the Income-tax Bill is self-contained. Section 142 of the Income-tax Bill, 2025, which corresponds to section 80-IBA of the Income-tax Act, 1961 provides deduction of an amount calculated as per the provisions of section 80-IBA the Income-tax Act, 1961.

142.5 Examination by the Committee:

The Ministry, in their written response to the above suggestion have submitted as below:-

> "Suggestion seeks full text of provision providing incentive under IT Act to be carried in Bill. The provisions of these sections have a sunset clause and many changes have been made over the years. There is a limited period left for the claim of deductions under these sections. These are used by a few numbers of assessees. Further, no new assessee can claim these deductions. Considering these factors, the redrafting of these provisions is unwieldy and a reference to the IT Act, 1961 is hence made. Therefore, it may > not be feasible to act upon the suggestion. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961. So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no new policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025".
>

142.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee take into note the deductions in respect of profits and gains from housing projects provided to the assessee through the proposed Clause 142, erstwhile Section 80-IBA of the IT Act, 1961. Further, it has been observed that other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no substantial alteration has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025. As in few earlier cases too, here also, the Committee observe that the benefit period of these provisions are nearing their end and no new assesses are being added as justification given by the Ministry for the cross-reference to the IT Act, 1961. However, the Committee maintain their view that the cross referencing to the IT Act, 1961 in the current Bill is not called for and provision may be further simplified by doing away with the referencing to IT Act, 1961. Hence, the Committee, recommend the Ministry to remove the reference to the IT Act, 1961 from the text of the proposed Clause 142 also and instead create some provision in the Savings Clause 536 of the Bill which can cover all such clauses requiring reference to the IT Act, 1961. The Committee also take into consideration the suggestion of the stakeholder for providing the computation mechanism itself in the Clause, but find the justification provided by the Ministry being satisfactory in nature for not doing so. Thus, the Committee, does not recommend any further change and accept the remaining content of the proposed Clause.

Clause - 143 - Special provisions in respect of certain undertakings in North-Eastern States.

143.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

143.(1) Where the gross total income of an assessee includes any profits and gains derived by an undertaking, to which this section applies, from any business referred to in sub-section (2), there shall be allowed, in computing the total income of the assessee, a deduction of an amount equal to 100% of the profits and gains derived from such business for ten consecutive tax years commencing with the initial tax year.

(2) This section applies to any undertaking which has, during the period beginning on the 1st April, 2007 and ending with the 1st April, 2017, begun or begins, in any of the North-Eastern States,— (a) to manufacture or produce any eligible article or thing; (b) to undertake substantial expansion to manufacture or produce any eligible article or thing; and (c) to carry on any eligible business.

(3) This section applies to any undertaking which fulfils all the following conditions:— (a) it is not formed by splitting up, or the reconstruction, of a business already in existence; (b) it is not formed by the transfer to a new business of machinery or plant previously used for any purpose; (c) condition referred to in clause (a) shall not apply in respect of an undertaking which is formed as a result of the re-establishment, reconstruction or revival by the assessee of the business of any such undertaking as is referred to in section 140(4),in the circumstances and within the period specified therein.

(4) For the purposes of sub-section (3)(b), the provisions of section 140(5) and (6) shall apply.

(5) Irrespective of anything contained in any other provision of this Act, in computing the total income of the assessee, no deduction shall be allowed under any other section contained in this Chapter in relation to the profits and gains of the undertaking.

(6) Irrespective of anything contained in this Act, no deduction shall be allowed to any undertaking under this section, where the total period of deduction inclusive of the period of deduction under this section or under second proviso to section 80-IB(4) of the Income-tax Act, 1961 exceeds ten tax years.

(7) The provisions contained in section 140(7) to (15) shall, so far as may be, apply to the eligible undertaking under this section.

(8) In this section,— (a) “eligible article or thing” means the article or thing other than the following:— (i) goods falling under Chapter 24 of the First Schedule to the Central Excise Tariff Act, 1985, which pertains to tobacco and manufactured tobacco substitutes; (ii) pan masala as covered under Chapter 21 of the First Schedule to the Central Excise Tariff Act, 1985; (iii) plastic carry bags of less than twenty microns as specified by the Ministry of Environment and Forests vide notification numbers S.O. 705(E), dated the 2nd September, 1999 and S.O. 698(E), dated the 17th June, 2003; and (iv) goods falling under Chapter 27 of the First Schedule to the Central Excise Tariff Act, 1985, produced by petroleum oil or gas refineries; (b) "eligible business" means the business of— (i) hotel (not below two star category); (ii) adventure and leisure sports including ropeways; (iii) providing medical and health services in the nature of nursing home with a minimum capacity of twenty-five beds; (iv) running an old-age home; (v) operating vocational training institute for hotel management, catering and food craft, entrepreneurship development, nursing and para-medical, civil aviation related training, fashion designing and industrial training; (vi) running information technology related training centre; (vii) manufacturing of information technology hardware; and (viii) bio-technology; (c) "initial tax year" means the tax year in which the undertaking begins to manufacture or produce articles or things, or completes substantial expansion; (d) "North-Eastern States" means the States of Arunachal Pradesh, Assam, Manipur, Meghalaya, Mizoram, Nagaland, Sikkim and Tripura; (e) "substantial expansion" means increase in the investment in the plant and machinery by at least 25% of the book value of plant and machinery (before taking depreciation in any year), as on the first day of the tax year in which the substantial expansion is undertaken.

143.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Special provisions in respect of certain undertakings in North-Eastern States.

80-IE. (1) Where the gross total income of an assessee includes any profits and gains derived by an undertaking, to which this section applies, from any business referred to in sub-section (2), there shall be allowed, in computing the total income of the assessee, a deduction of an amount equal to hundred per cent of the profits and gains derived from such business for ten consecutive assessment years commencing with the initial assessment year.

(2) This section applies to any undertaking which has, during the period beginning on the 1st day of April, 2007 and ending before the 1st day of April, 2017, begun or begins, in any of the North-Eastern States,—

(i) to manufacture or produce any eligible article or thing;

(ii) to undertake substantial expansion to manufacture or produce any eligible article or thing;

(iii) to carry on any eligible business.

(3) This section applies to any undertaking which fulfils all the following conditions, namely :—

(i) it is not formed by splitting up, or the reconstruction, of a business already in existence :

Provided that this condition shall not apply in respect of an undertaking which is formed as a result of the re-establishment, reconstruction or revival by the assessee of the business of any such undertaking as referred to in section 33B, in the circumstances and within the period specified in the said section;

(ii) it is not formed by the transfer to a new business of machinery or plant previously used for any purpose.

Explanation.—The provisions of Explanations 1 and 2 to sub-section (3) of section 80-IA shall apply for the purposes of clause (ii) of this sub-section as they apply for the purposes of clause (ii) of that sub-section.

(4) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provision of this Act, in computing the total income of the assessee, no deduction shall be allowed under any other section contained in Chapter VIA or in section 10A or section 10AA or section 10B or section 10BA, in relation to the profits and gains of the undertaking.

(5) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, no deduction shall be allowed to any undertaking under this section, where the total period of deduction inclusive of the period of deduction under this section, or under section 80-IC or under the second proviso to sub-section (4) of section 80-IB or under section 10C, as the case may be, exceeds ten assessment years.

(6) The provisions contained in sub-section (5) and sub-sections (7) to (12) of section 80-IA shall, so far as may be, apply to the eligible undertaking under this section.

(7) For the purposes of this section,—

(i) "initial assessment year" means the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which the undertaking begins to manufacture or produce articles or things, or completes substantial expansion;

(ii) "North-Eastern States" means the States of Arunachal Pradesh, Assam, Manipur, Meghalaya, Mizoram, Nagaland, Sikkim and Tripura;

(iii) "substantial expansion" means increase in the investment in the plant and machinery by at least twenty-five per cent of the book value of plant and machinery (before taking depreciation in any year), as on the first day of the previous year in which the substantial expansion is undertaken;

(iv) "eligible article or thing" means the article or thing other than the following :—

(a) goods falling under Chapter 24 of the First Schedule to the Central Excise Tariff Act, 1985 (5 of 1986), which pertains to tobacco and manufactured tobacco substitutes;

(b) pan masala as covered under Chapter 21 of the First Schedule to the Central Excise Tariff Act, 1985 (5 of 1986);

(c) plastic carry bags of less than 20 microns as specified by the Ministry of Environment and Forests vide Notification No. S.O. 705(E), dated the 2nd September, 1999 and S.O. 698(E), dated the 17th June, 2003; and

(d) goods falling under Chapter 27 of the First Schedule to the Central Excise Tariff Act, 1985 (5 of 1986), produced by petroleum oil or gas refineries;

(v) "eligible business" means the business of,—

(a) hotel (not below two star category);

(b) adventure and leisure sports including ropeways;

(c) providing medical and health services in the nature of nursing home with a minimum capacity of 25 beds;

(d) running an old-age home;

(e) operating vocational training institute for hotel management, catering and food craft, entrepreneurship development, nursing and para-medical, civil aviation related training, fashion designing and industrial training;

(f) running information technology related training centre;

(g) manufacturing of information technology hardware; and (h) bio-technology.

143.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 143 of the Bill provides for special provisions in respect of profits and gains of certain undertakings with respect to production of eligible article or things in North-Eastern States. The clause corresponds to Section 80-IE of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

143.4 Examination by the Committee:

The Committee pondered upon the usage of the term "ending with the 1st April, 2017" in stating the duration of the 10 year period for beginning the business in the Clause since the comparative Section 80-IE of IT Act, 1961 uses the term "ending before the 1st April, 2017". In this context, the Ministry were requested to state the rationale behind such change, more so, when the change seems to cause ambiguity over the status of 1st April, 2017. Responding to the query, the Ministry have submitted as below:-

> "ending with the 1st April, 2017" includes 1st April 2017 as the last day of the period. "ending before the 1st April, 2017" excludes 1st April 2017 from the period. This is an acceptable change and drafting correction will be made accordingly".

143.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee

The Committee examined the proposed Clause 143 in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 and the corresponding Section 80-IE of the Income-Tax Act, 1961 and find that although there is no substantive change in the content of the proposed Clause 143 which provides for special provisions in respect of profits and gains of certain undertakings with respect to production of eligible article or things in North-Eastern States, there is usage of "ending with the 1st April, 2017" in 143 (2), which creates ambiguity over the end date, whether it includes 1st April, 2017 also. Being pointed out, the Ministry have admitted it as drafting correction and should be read as "ending before the 1st April, 2017" instead. The Committee also take note of the reference to IT Act, 1961 and, as earlier, recommend the Ministry to remove the reference to the IT Act, 1961 from the body of the Clause to Savings Clause of the Bill alongwith the correction of end date to "ending before the 1st April, 2017" in 143 (2). Further, in view of the foregoing that only simplification of remaining text is elicited in the Clause 143, and the satisfactory justification of the Ministry, the Committee accept the other content of the proposed Clause 143 in entirety.

Clause – 144– Special provisions in respect of newly established Units in Special Economic Zones.

144.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

144. In respect of any tax year , where— (a) in computing the total income of an assessee, being an entrepreneur as referred to in section 2(j) of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005, who begins to manufacture or produce articles or things or provide any services referred to in section 10AA of the Income-tax Act, 1961; and (b) such assessee is eligible to claim a deduction from the profits and gains derived from the export, of such articles or things or from services for such tax year under the provisions of the said section, if the said Act had not been repealed, there shall be allowed, in computing the total income of the assessee, a deduction from the profits and gains derived from such business, subject to the conditions that— (i) the amount of deduction is calculated as per the provisions of section 10AA of the Income-tax Act, 1961; and (ii) the deduction under this Act shall be allowed only for such tax years, as would have been allowed under section 10AA of the Income-tax Act, 1961, if the said Act had not been repealed.

144.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deductions in respect of profits and gains by an undertaking or enterprise engaged in development of Special Economic Zone.

80-IAB. (1) Where the gross total income of an assessee, being a Developer, includes any profits and gains derived by an undertaking or an enterprise from any business of developing a Special Economic Zone, notified on or after the 1st day of April, 2005 under the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005, there shall, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, be allowed, in computing the total income of the assessee, a deduction of an amount equal to one hundred per cent of the profits and gains derived from such business for ten consecutive assessment years:

Provided that the provisions of this section shall not apply to an assessee, being a developer, where the development of Special Economic Zone begins on or after the 1st day of April, 2017.

(2) The deduction specified in sub-section (1) may, at the option of the assessee, be claimed by him for any ten consecutive assessment years out of fifteen years beginning from the year in which a Special Economic Zone has been notified by the Central Government :

Provided that where in computing the total income of any undertaking, being a Developer for any assessment year, its profits and gains had not been included by application of the provisions of sub-section (13) of section 80-IA, the undertaking being the Developer shall be entitled to deduction referred to in this section only for the unexpired period of ten consecutive assessment years and thereafter it shall be eligible for deduction from income as provided in sub-section (1) or sub-section (2), as the case may be :

Provided further that in a case where an undertaking, being a Developer who develops a Special Economic Zone on or after the 1st day of April, 2005 and transfers the operation and maintenance of such Special Economic Zone to another Developer (hereafter in this section referred to as the transferee Developer), the deduction under sub-section (1) shall be allowed to such transferee Developer for the remaining period in the ten consecutive assessment years as if the operation and maintenance were not so transferred to the transferee Developer.

(3) The provisions of sub-section (5) and sub-sections (7) to (12) of section 80-IA shall apply to the Special Economic Zones for the purpose of allowing deductions under sub-section (1).

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, "Developer" and "Special Economic Zone" shall have the same meanings respectively as assigned to them in clauses (g) and (za) of section 2 of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005.

144.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 144 of the Bill provides for deduction in respect of profits and gains of newly established units in Special Economic Zones. The clause corresponds to Section 10AA of the Act. The provisions of this section have a sunset clause and many changes have been made over the years. There is a limited period left for the claim of deductions under these sections. These are used by a few numbers of assessees. Further, no new assesse can claim these deductions. Considering these factors, a reference to the ITAct, 1961 is made for these provisions in the Bill".

144.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Some important suggestions of the Stakeholders in the context of the Clause 144 are summarized as below:-

(i) A date of applicability/sunset clause for each of the provisions may be inserted in the new Bill for clear delineation of the date/period of applicability of the export profit-linked incentives. The self sufficiency of new provisions is compromised by compulsory reliance on the old Act causing a burden on any reader of the statute. The suggested clause will enhance the overarching objective of ease of doing business.

(ii) Vide Finance Act 2016, Section 10AA, Income-Tax Act, 1962 was amended and it was provided that benefits will not be available after the1st day of April, 2021. It is suggested that Clause144(ii) should be amended as below: (ii) the deductions under this Act shall be allowed only for such tax years, as would have been allowed under section10AA of the IncomeTaxAct,1961, If the said Act had not been repealed, provided that the deductions under this Act shall be allowed even after the 1st day of April 2021. After the amendment vide the Finance Act 2016, growth of SEZs has slowed down and huge developed land is lying vacant as the units are not interested in operating in SEZs. It should be allowed on the pattern of IFSC where there is no such sunset clause.

(iii) Section 144 of the Income-tax Bill, 2025 should ideally provide for the computation mechanism itself so that the Income-tax Bill is self-contained. Also, under the conditions stipulated in clause (b), after (i) and (ii), (iii) be inserted as follows - "The deduction under this section from the profits and gains derived by an assessee, being an entrepreneur, from export shall not be admissible unless theaccounts of the undertaking for the tax year for which deduction is claimed have been audited by an accountant, as defined in section 515(3)(b) on or before the specified date mentioned in section 63 and the assessee furnishes by that date, the report of such audit in the prescribed form duly signed and verified by such accountant. Consequentially, the word "and" may be removed after (b)(i) and inserted after (b)(ii).
Section 144 of the Income-tax Bill, 2025, which corresponds to section 10AA of the Income-tax Act, 1961 provides deduction of an amount calculated as per the provisions of section 10AA of the Income-tax Act, 1961. Sections 138, 139, 141 and 144 of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 correspond to section 80-IA, 80-IAB, 80-IB and 10AA of the Income-tax Act, 1961. These four sections require that the amountof deduction be calculated as per the corresponding section of the Income-tax Act, 1961 and that the deduction under the new Act be allowed only for such tax years as would have been allowed under the corresponding section of the Income-tax Act, 1961 if the said Act had not been repealed. However, the requirement of audit stipulated in these four sections is not mentioned in the Bill. The same has to be incorporated in the Bill.

144.5 Examination by the Committee:

The Ministry have replied to the corresponding suggestions in their written submissions, as under:-

(i) "The provisions of these sections have a sunset clause and many changes have been made over the years. There is a limited period left for the claim of deductions under these sections. These are used by a few numbers of assessees. Further, no new assessee can claim these deductions. Considering these factors, the redrafting of these provisions is unwieldy and a reference to the IT Act, 1961 is hence made.This suggestion has no merit. The proposed provision is similar to the parallel provision in Income-tax Act, 1961. No new provisions or policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025".

(ii) "The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025.The proposed provision is similar to the parallel provision in Income-tax Act, 1961. No new provisions or policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025".

(iii) "Suggestion seeks full text of provision providing incentive under IT Act to be carried in Bill. The provisions of these sections have a sunset clause and many changes have been made over the years. There is a limited period left for the claim of deductions under these sections. These are used by a few numbers of assessees. Further, no new assessee can claim these deductions. Considering these factors, the redrafting of these provisions is unwieldy and a reference to the IT Act, 1961 is hence made. Further, the requirement of Audit arises from the fulfilment of the provisions of the corresponding section of the IT Act, for which due reference has been made. Therefore, it may not be feasible to act upon the suggestion.The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961. So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no new policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025".

144.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that Clause144 of the Bill provides for deduction in respect of profits and gains of newly established units in Special Economic Zones and that the Clause corresponds to Section 10AA of the IT Act, 1961. The provisions of this section have a sunset clause. The Committee find that the Ministry contend that there is a limited period left for the claim of deductions under these sections. These are used by a few numbers of assesses and further, no new assesse can claim these deductions. Considering these factors, a reference to the IT Act, 1961 is made for these provisions in the Bill. The Committee take into consideration, the justification for the cross-reference to the IT Act, 1961. Still, the Committee believe that the cross referencing to the IT Act, 1961 in the current Bill may be done away with, so that the reader of the new Act is not burdened to look back into a repealed Act for referencing. Thus, the Committee, recommend the Ministry to remove the reference to the IT Act, 1961 from the text of specific Clauses and keep it in the Savings Clause 536 of the Bill. The Committee, further, agree with the remaining content of the proposed Clause and does not recommend any change.

Clause – 145– Deduction for businesses engaged in collecting and processing of bio-degradable waste.

145.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

145. (1) If the gross total income of an assessee includes any profits and gains derived from the business of collecting and processing or treating of bio-degradable waste for,— (a) generating power; or (b) producing bio-fertilizers, bio-pesticides or biological agents; or (c) producing bio-gas; or (d) making pellets or briquettes for fuel or organic manure, there shall be allowed a deduction equal to the whole amount of such profits and gains for five consecutive tax years, beginning with the tax year in which such business commences.

Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

145.2 Deduction in respect of profits and gains from business of collecting and processing of bio-degradable waste.

80JJA. Where the gross total income of an assessee includes any profits and gains derived from the business of collecting and processing or treating of bio-degradable waste for generating power or producing bio-fertilizers, bio-pesticides or other biological agents or for producing bio-gas or making pellets or briquettes for fuel or organic manure, there shall be allowed, in computing the total income of the assessee, a deduction of an amount equal to the whole of such profits and gains for a period of five consecutive assessment years beginning with the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which such business commences.

145.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 145 of the Bill seeks to provide for deduction for businesses engaged in collecting and processing of bio-degradable waste. The clause corresponds to Section 80JJA of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

145.4 Examination by the Committee:

Section 80 JJA of IT Act, 1961 used the term "other biological agents" in connection with the production as a result of the treatment of biodegradable waste. However, clause 145 mentions "biological agents", with the omission of the term "other". In this context, the Committee were desirous of clarification on the need for narrowing the definition now, and if the word "other" encouraged innovation through the scientific creativity and its omission would have a discouraging effect on the R&D sector of Life Sciences. The Ministry in their written replies have submitted as under:-

"This is an acceptable change and drafting correction will be made accordingly. The term "other" will be used in accordance with the provisions of the Act.'

145.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

On the examination of the proposed Clause 145 of the Bill, the Committee note that the Clause seeks to provide for deduction for businesses engaged in collecting and processing of bio-degradable waste, which was provisioned in Section 80JJA of the Income-Tax Act, 1961. However, clause 145 mentions "biological agents", with the omission of the term "other" as had been used in the Section 80 JJA of IT Act, 1961. In this context, the Committee on seekng clarification from te Ministry on the need for narrowing the definition now, and if the word "other" encouraged innovation through the scientific creativity and its omission would have a discouraging effect on the R&D sector of Life Sciences, the Ministry accepted it as a drafting correction. Barring this, there has been no substantive change in the content of the Clause as compared to the earlier Section other than textual simplification and there is retention of the same intent in this clause, as evinced from the justification provided by the Ministry also. Thus, the Committee, while recommending the addition of the term "other" in 145 (1)(b) as previously used in the IT Act, 1961 accept the remaining proposed Clause.

Clause – 146 – Deduction in respect of additional employee cost.

146.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

146. (1) Subject to the conditions specified in sub-sections (2) and (3), if the gross total income of an assessee, to whom section 63 applies, includes any profits and gains from business, a deduction of an amount equal to 30% of additional employee cost incurred in the course of such business in the tax year shall be allowed.

(2) The deduction referred to in sub-section (1) shall be allowed for three consecutive tax years, beginning from the tax year in which the employment is provided.

(3) The deduction under sub-section (1) shall not be allowed, if— (a) the business is formed by splitting up, or the reconstruction, of an existing business; or (b) the business is acquired by the assessee through transfer from any other person or as a result of any business reorganisation; (c) the assessee does not furnish the report of an accountant, before the specified date as referred to in section 63, giving the particulars in the report, as prescribed.

(4) The condition referred to in sub-section (3)(a) shall not apply in respect of an undertaking which is formed as a result of the re-establishment, reconstruction or revival by the assessee of the business of any such undertaking as is referred to in section 140(4) in the circumstances and within the period specified in that sub-section.

(5) In this section,— (a) “additional employee cost” means— (i) the total emoluments paid or payable to additional employees employed during the tax year; or (ii) emoluments paid or payable to employees employed during the tax year, where that year is the first year of a new business, and it shall be nil in the case of an existing business, if— (A) there is no increase in the number of employees from the total number employed as on the last day of the preceding tax year; or (B) emoluments are paid otherwise than by an account payee cheque or account payee bank draft or by use of electronic clearing system through a bank account or through such other electronic mode, as prescribed; (b) “additional employee” means an employee who has been employed during the tax year and whose employment increases the total number of employees employed by the employer as on the last day of the preceding tax year, but does not include any employee— (i) whose total emoluments exceed twenty-five thousand rupees per month; (ii) for whom the Government pays the entire contribution under the Employees’ Pension Scheme notified as per the provisions of the Employees, Provident Funds and Miscellaneous Provisions Act,1952; (iii) employed for less than one hundred and fifty days in case of an assessee who is engaged in the business of manufacturing of apparel or footwear or leather products, except where such employee is employed for said number of days in the immediately succeeding tax year, he shall be deemed as an additional employee of the succeeding tax year and the provisions of this section shall apply accordingly; (iv) employed for less than two hundred and forty days during the tax year in case of any other assessee, except where such employee is employed for said number of days in the immediately succeeding tax year, he shall be deemed as an additional employee of the succeeding tax year and the provisions of this section shall apply accordingly; and (v) who does not participate in a recognised provident fund; (c) “emoluments” means any sum paid or payable to an employee in lieu of his employment, by whatever name called, but does not include— (i) employer contributions to any pension or provident fund or any other fund for the benefit of the employee as mandated by any law; and (ii) lump sum payments paid or payable to an employee at the time of termination of his service, superannuation, or voluntary retirement, such as gratuity, severance pay, leave encashment, voluntary retrenchment benefits, commutation of pension and the like.

146.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in respect of employment of new employees.

80JJAA. (1) Where the gross total income of an assessee to whom section 44AB applies, includes any profits and gains derived from business, there shall, subject to the conditions specified in sub-section (2), be allowed a deduction of an amount equal to thirty per cent of additional employee cost incurred in the course of such business in the previous year, for three assessment years including the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which such employment is provided.

(2) No deduction under sub-section (1) shall be allowed,—

(a) if the business is formed by splitting up, or the reconstruction, of an existing business:

Provided that nothing contained in this clause shall apply in respect of a business which is formed as a result of re-establishment, reconstruction or revival by the assessee of the business in the circumstances and within the period specified in section 33B;

(b) if the business is acquired by the assessee by way of transfer from any other person or as a result of any business reorganisation;

(c) unless the assessee furnishes the report of the accountant, as defined in the Explanation below sub-section (2) of section 288, before the specified date referred to in section 44AB giving such particulars in the report as may be prescribed.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(i) "additional employee cost" means the total emoluments paid or payable to additional employees employed during the previous year:

Provided that in the case of an existing business, the additional employee cost shall be nil, if—

(a) there is no increase in the number of employees from the total number of employees employed as on the last day of the preceding year;

(b) emoluments are paid otherwise than by an account payee cheque or account payee bank draft or by use of electronic clearing system through a bank account or through such other electronic mode as may be prescribed:

Provided further that in the first year of a new business, emoluments paid or payable to employees employed during that previous year shall be deemed to be the additional employee cost;

(ii) "additional employee" means an employee who has been employed during the previous year and whose employment has the effect of increasing the total number of employees employed by the employer as on the last day of the preceding year, but does not include—

(a) an employee whose total emoluments are more than twenty-five thousand rupees per month; or

(b) an employee for whom the entire contribution is paid by the Government under the Employees' Pension Scheme notified in accordance with the provisions of the Employees' Provident Funds and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952 (19 of 1952); or

(c) an employee employed for a period of less than two hundred and forty days during the previous year; or

(d) an employee who does not participate in the recognised provident fund:

Provided that in the case of an assessee who is engaged in the business of manufacturing of apparel or footwear or leather products, the provisions of sub-clause (c) shall have effect as if for the words "two hundred and forty days", the words "one hundred and fifty days" had been substituted:

Provided further that where an employee is employed during the previous year for a period of less than two hundred and forty days or one hundred and fifty days, as the case may be, but is employed for a period of two hundred and forty days or one hundred and fifty days, as the case may be, in the immediately succeeding year, he shall be deemed to have been employed in the succeeding year and the provisions of this section shall apply accordingly;

(iii) "emoluments" means any sum paid or payable to an employee in lieu of his employment by whatever name called, but does not include—

(a) any contribution paid or payable by the employer to any pension fund or provident fund or any other fund for the benefit of the employee under any law for the time being in force; and

(b) any lump sum payment paid or payable to an employee at the time of termination of his service or superannuation or voluntary retirement, such as gratuity, severance pay, leave encashment, voluntary retrenchment benefits, commutation of pension and the like.

(3) The provisions of this section, as they stood immediately prior to their amendment by the Finance Act, 2016, shall apply to an assessee eligible to claim any deduction for any assessment year commencing on or before the 1st day of April, 2016.

146.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 146 of the Bill provides for deduction in respect of additional employee cost in certain cases for specified period and shall be subject to conditions specified therein. The clause corresponds to Section 80JJAA of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

146.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Some of the important suggestions of the stakeholders are produced as below:-

(i) The assessee does not furnish the report of a chartered accountant in practice or cost accountant in practice, before the specified date as referred to in section 63, giving the particulars in the report, as prescribed. Additional employee cost means the total emoluments paid to additional employees hired during a tax year as compared to previous tax year. This substantially affects the cost statements of a company hence the cost accountants in practice may be allowed to furnish such a report.

(ii) The limit of per employee emoluments of INR 25,000 per month may be enhanced to INR 100,000 per month. The limit of per employee emoluments of INR 25,000 per month was introduced in the year 2016. This leaves out a significant portion of entry-level hires, particularly in the IT industry where starting salaries often exceed this threshold. Therefore, the limit may be enhanced.

(iii) To cover additional employees, it is recommended to increase the salary limit to widen the scope of deduction that a taxpayer can claim under Clause 146
This is likely to reduce tax for the enterprise, as additional employment could result in increment in individual income-tax collections. As per the Code on Wages, 2019, there is an increase in the minimum wages payable. Further, as per the Code on Wages, 2019, the definition of employee includes managerial and administrative persons.

(iv) Section 80JJAA was first introduced in 1998 to encourage employment of new industrial workmen and subsequently revamped in 2016 to liberalise& expand to all sectors. It provides deduction of 30% of 'additional employee cost' for three years by way of deduction from Gross Total Income. It is available even if taxpayer has opted for concessional tax regime. However, the revamped s.80JJAA has not created the desired offtake in the economy by way of new employment The revenue impact of this provision is very low. One of the primary reasons for this is the limit of monthly emoluments of Rs 25,000 for the employee to qualify as "additional employee". This has resulted in tax benefit being restricted to recruitment of only "blue collared" employees like house keeping, security, etc. In Budget (No.2) 2024, the Government announced bold and ambitious direct benefit "employment linked incentives" through 3 schemes for new employment. These schemes are not yet implemented. As an interim measure, considering the imperative of employment creation in the economy, it is desirable for Government to also explore additional tax policy measures to incentivise new employment. It is recommended to Increase the monthly salary limit from Rs 25,000 per month to Rs 1 lakh per month. The limit of Rs 1 lakh per month is consistent with ceiling limit for employment linked incentive schemes announced by the Government in 2024. This will result in more taxpayers getting meaningful benefit and achieve the government's objective of incentivising creation of new employment. For taxpayers who avail benefit of "employment linked incentives" schemes of the Government (once they are implemented), benefit u/s 80JJAA may be denied.

146.5 Examination by the Committee:

The Ministry in their written replies to the corresponding suggestions have submitted as below:-

(i) “The suggestion made by the stakeholder to incorporate "cost accountants" is not in line with the provisions of the IT Act 1961. This is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025.The proposed provision is similar to the parallel provision in Income-tax Act, 1961. No new provisions or policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025”.

(ii) “The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. The proposed provision is similar to the parallel provision in Income-tax Act, 1961. No new provisions or policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025”.

(iii) Suggestion seeks to enhance Value of emoluments per employee to avail 80JJAA. The value is less than 25000 per month, which is in line with average monthly wage in India for low and semi-skilled wage earners. It is the stated policy of the Government to phase out exemptions deductions and other incentives while at the same time gradually reducing the tax rates and slabs. The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025.The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961. So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no new policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025”.

(iv) Suggestion seeks to enhance Value of emoluments per employee to avail 80JJAA. The value is less than 25000 per month, which is in line with average monthly wage in India for low and semi-skilled wage earners. It is the stated policy of the Government to phase out exemptions deductions and other incentives while at the same time gradually reducing the tax rates and slabs. The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961. So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no new policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025".

146.5.2 During the course of examination, in a sitting, the representative of Ministry of Finance, regarding the additional employee deduction stated that:-

"But then there is a deduction, 80 JJAA. This deduction is available under the new regime as well as old regime. The employee's wages are limited to Rs.25,000 and based on that employee's wages, the taxpayer is allowed a deduction. So, it is 30 per cent of the employee cost that he has incurred during the year. The suggestion is that Rs.25,000 should be increased. This deduction itself has been made available to increase employment of low-wage persons. That is why, we have not agreed to this increase of limit. In any case, it is also a budget-related matter".

146.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The examination of the proposed Clause 146 of the Bill reveals that it provides for deduction in respect of additional employee cost in certain cases for specified period and that the clause corresponds to Section 80JJAA of the Act. The Committee find that only the provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and has been retained with the same intent in this clause. However, the Committee note the response of the Ministry to the suggestion for enhancing the value of emoluments per employee to avail 80JJAA being satisfactory as it has been contended by the Ministry that the deduction itself has been made available to increase employment of low-wage persons and it is also a budget-related matter. In view of the foregoing, the Committee appreciate the rationale behind the approach of the Ministry as sound enough and hence accept the proposed Clause in its entirety without any alteration.

Clause - 147– Deductions for income of Offshore Banking Units and Units of International Financial Services Centre.

147.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

147. (1) Where the following assessee has any income of the nature referred to in sub-section (3), there shall be allowed a deduction equal to 100% of such income:— (a) a scheduled bank, or a bank incorporated under the laws of a country outside India, having an Offshore Banking Unit in a Special Economic Zone; or (b) a unit of an International Financial Services Centre.

(2) The deduction shall be allowed— (a) for ten consecutive tax years beginning from the relevant tax year in the case of an entity mentioned in sub-section (1)(a); (b) for ten consecutive tax years within fifteen years beginning from the relevant tax year, at the option of an assessee, in the case of an entity mentioned in sub-section (1)(b).

(3) The income referred to in sub-section (3) shall be the income from— (a) an Offshore Banking Unit located in a Special Economic Zone; or (b) the business activities referred to in section 6(1) of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949, with undertakings in a Special Economic Zone or entities that develop, develop and operate, or develop, operate and maintain Special Economic Zone; or (c) the approved business activities of any Unit of an International Financial Services Centre set up in a Special Economic Zone; or 19 of 1952. Deductions for income of Offshore Banking Units and Units of International Financial Services Centre. Deduction in respect of certain inter-corporate dividends. Deduction in respect of income of co-operative societies. (d) transfer of an asset being, an aircraft or a ship, leased by a unit referred to in clause (c) if such unit commenced its business operations by 31st March, 2030.

(4) The deduction under this section shall be allowed only if the assessee submits along with the return of income— (a) a report in the form as prescribed, from an accountant certifying the correctness of claim of deduction; and (b) a copy of the— (i) permission obtained under section 23(1)(a) of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949; or (ii) permission or registration obtained under the International Financial Services Centres Authority Act, 2019.

(5) In this section,— (a) “relevant tax year” shall be,— (i) in case of an entity mentioned in sub-section (1)(a), the tax year in which permission under section 23(1)(a) of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949, or permission or registration under the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992 or any other relevant law was obtained; or (ii) in case of an entity mentioned in sub-section (1)(b), the tax year in which permission under section 23(1)(a) of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949, or permission or registration under the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992, or permission or registration under the International Financial Services Centre Authority Act, 2019 was obtained; (b) “Unit” shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 2(zc) of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005; (c) “aircraft” and “ship” shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in Schedule VI Note 3.

147.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deductions in respect of certain incomes of Offshore Banking Units and International Financial Services Centre.

80LA. (1) Where the gross total income of an assessee, being a scheduled bank, or, any bank incorporated by or under the laws of a country outside India; and having an Offshore Banking Unit in a Special Economic Zone, includes any income referred to in sub-section (2), there shall be allowed, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, a deduction from such income, of an amount equal to—

(a) one hundred per cent of such income for five consecutive assessment years beginning with the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which the permission, under clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 23 of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 (10 of 1949) or permission or registration under the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992 (15 of 1992) or any other relevant law was obtained, and thereafter;

(b) fifty per cent of such income for five consecutive assessment years:

[98][Provided that for the assessment year commencing on or after the 1st day of April, 2023, the deduction under this clause shall be one hundred per cent of such income.]

(1A) Where the gross total income of an assessee, being a Unit of an International Financial Services Centre, includes any income referred to in sub-section (2), there shall be allowed, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, a deduction from such income, of an amount equal to one hundred per cent of such income for any ten consecutive assessment years, at the option of the assessee, out of fifteen years, beginning with the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which the permission, under clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 23 of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 (10 of 1949) or permission or registration under the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992 (15 of 1992) or permission or registration under the International Financial Services Centres Authority Act, 2019 (50 of 2019) was obtained.

(2) The income referred to in sub-section (1) and sub-section (1A) shall be the income—

(a) from an Offshore Banking Unit in a Special Economic Zone; or

(b) from the business referred to in sub-section (1) of section 6 of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 (10 of 1949) with an undertaking located in a Special Economic Zone or any other undertaking which develops, develops and operates or develops, operates and maintains a Special Economic Zone; or

(c) from any Unit of the International Financial Services Centre from its business for which it has been approved for setting up in such a Centre in a Special Economic Zone;

(d) arising from the transfer of an asset, being an aircraft or a ship, which was leased by a unit referred to in clause (c) to a person, subject to the condition that the unit has commenced operation on or before the 31st day of March, [99][2030].

Explanation.—For the purposes of this clause, "aircraft" and "ship" shall have the meaning assigned to it in the Explanation to clause (4F) of section 10.

(3) No deduction under this section shall be allowed unless the assessee furnishes along with the return of income,—

(i) the report, in the form specified by the Central Board of Direct Taxes under clause (i) of sub-section (2) of section 80LA, as it stood immediately before its substitution by this section, of an accountant as defined in the Explanation below sub-section (2) of section 288, certifying that the deduction has been correctly claimed in accordance with the provisions of this section; and (ii) a copy of the permission obtained under clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 23 of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 (10 of 1949) or copy of permission or registration obtained under the International Financial Services Centres Authority Act, 2019 (50 of 2019).

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "International Financial Services Centre" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (q) of section 2 of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005 (28 of 2005);

(b) "scheduled bank" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (e) of section 2 of the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934 (2 of 1934);

(c) "Special Economic Zone" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (za) of section 2 of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005 (28 of 2005);

(d) "Unit" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (zc) of section 2 of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005 (28 of 2005).

147.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 147 of the Bill provides for deductions for income of Offshore Banking Units and Units of International Financial Services Centre. The clause corresponds to Section 80LA of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

147.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Key suggestions from the stakeholders are summarized as under:-

(i) Absence of reference to 'gross total income' may raise controversy about eligibility for exemption even without positive gross total income due to losses set off. To avoid confusion, it is recommended to include a reference to 'gross total income' in section 147. Additionally, correct the typo in section 147(3) to refer to section 147(1) instead of S. 147(3) itself.

(ii) (a) a report in the form as prescribed, from a chartered accountant in practice or a cost accountant in practice certifying the correctness of claim of deduction. Cost accountants are adequately qualified to prepare and certify such types of reports, as claimed. Hence the cost accountants in practice may be allowed to furnish such a report after looking into their demand objectively.

(iii) Sub-section (2A) may be inserted – Sub-section (2A) may be inserted – (2A) Where the assessee has claimed deduction under section 80-LA of the Income-tax Act, 1961 for any assessment year or years, deduction under clause (b) of sub section (1) of this section would be allowable for the remaining tax year or years under this Act. Deduction of 100% of income is allowable under section 80LA of the Income-tax Act, 1961 in respect of any ten consecutive assessment years, at the option of the assessee, being a unit of IFSC, out of fifteen years. Where an assessee, being a unit of IFSC, has started claiming deduction under section 80LA of the Income-taxAct, 1961 for any assessment year or years, he should be eligible for deduction under section 147 of the Income-tax Bill, 2025 only for the remaining tax years out of 10 years. This provision needs to be incorporated.

147.5 Examination by the Committee:

The response of the Ministry to the corresponding suggestions of the stakeholders are summarized as under:-

(i) "Clause 147 - Reference to Gross Total Income: Any claim of deduction has to be from the gross total income only (clause 121(2) of the IT Bill). Where there is no gross total income or no positive gross total income, there is no possibility of claim of exemption. Therefore, there is no ambiguity in the present provisions of the Bill. This suggestion does not have merits.

ACCEPTABLE Incorrect referencing to 147(3) to be corrected. The provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill 2025 under clause mentioned in col no 2 are simplified version of the corresponding provisions of IT Act 1961 as mentioned in col no 3, and no amendment has been introduced in the simplified version from the policy perspective except for a typographic error".

(ii) "The suggestion made by the stakeholder to incorporate "cost accountants" is not in line with the provisions of the IT Act 1961. This is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025.The proposed provision is similar to the parallel provision in Income-tax Act, 1961. No new provisions or policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025".

(iii) "Suggestion seeks reference of IT Act for incentives allowed under IT Act and continued in Bill. This is covered in the Repeal and Savings clause in 536(2), the provisions of which are : 536. (2) Irrespective of the repeal of the Income-tax Act, 1961 (hereinafter referred to as the repealed Income-tax Act), and subject to sub-section (3)—(a) nothing shall affect the previous operation of the repealed Act and orders or anything duly done or suffered thereunder; or(b) nothing shall affect any right, privilege, obligation or liability acquired, accrued or incurred under the repealed Act or orders under such repealed Act; Therefore, this suggestion is already addressed".The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961. So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no new policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025.

147.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, while scrutinizing the proposed clause 147 of the IT Bill, 2025 pertaining to the deductions for income of Offshore Banking Units and Units of International Financial Services Centre, find it to be a parallel provision of Section 80 LA of the Income-Tax Act, 1961. There is no marked difference in the contents and is primarily an exercise of simplification of texts. However, an incorrect referencing to 147 (3) itself, instead of 147 (1) to ascertain the nature of income referred to in 147 (1) is revealed. On seeking the views of the Ministry, the inadvertent drafting error was accepted. Hence, the Committee recommend the Ministry to rectify the drafting error in 147(3) to 147(1). The Committee accept the remaining provisions of the proposed Clause147 without any amendment.

Clause – 148– Deduction in respect of certain inter-corporate dividends.

148.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

148. (1) If the gross total income of a domestic company in any tax year includes any income by way of dividends from— (a) any other domestic company; or (b) a foreign company; or (c) a business trust, such domestic company shall, be allowed a deduction of an amount equal to so much of the income by way of dividends received from the person mentioned in clause (a) or (b) or (c) as does not exceed the amount of dividend distributed by it by the date one month before the due date for filing the return of income under section 263(1). (2) Where any deduction, in respect of the amount of dividend distributed by the domestic company, has been allowed under sub-section (1) in any tax year, no deduction shall be allowed in respect of such amount in any other tax year.

148.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in respect of certain inter-corporate dividends.

80M. (1) Where the gross total income of a domestic company in any previous year includes any income by way of dividends from any other domestic company or a foreign company or a business trust, there shall, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, be allowed in computing the total income of such domestic company, a deduction of an amount equal to so much of the amount of income by way of dividends received from such other domestic company or foreign company or business trust as does not exceed the amount of dividend distributed by it on or before the due date.

(2) Where any deduction, in respect of the amount of dividend distributed by the domestic company, has been allowed under sub-section (1) in any previous year, no deduction shall be allowed in respect of such amount in any other previous year.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, the expression "due date" means the date one month prior to the date for furnishing the return of income under sub-section (1) of section 139.

148.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 148 of the Bill seeks to provide for deduction in respect of certain inter-corporate dividends i.e. dividends from any other domestic company or a foreign company or a business trust. The clause corresponds to Section 80M of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

148.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Important suggestion from the stakeholders are summarized as below:-

(i) Currently, the deduction of the dividends distributed by an Indian Company under Section 80M of the Act against dividend income is available after considering the business losses and unabsorbed depreciation of the Indian Company. This results in the utilization of such business loses and unabsorbed depreciation of the Indian Company before the benefit of Section 80M can be availed which is not the intent of the Law. Deduction of the dividend distributed to an Indian Company under Section 80M of the Act against dividend income should be available before considering set off of business losses and unabsorbed depreciation of the holding company. To enable this, it is recommended that instead of providing deduction under 80 M of the Act, the deduction can be provided under Section 57 of the Act, which allows deductions against income chargeable under the head ''Income from other sources''. Section 80M of the Act was introduced in Finance Act 2020 to mitigate the issue of double taxation of dividend income thereby avoiding cascading taxation in multi-tier structures. In cases where an Indian Company has an unabsorbed depreciation and business losses available for set off, while computing the taxable income of the Indian Company, set off of such an unabsorbed depreciation and business loses are to be made prior to availing deduction under Section 80M. Once the set off is done, the taxpayer has lower business loses and unabsorbed depreciation and, therefore, there is a tax effect suffered by the taxpayer. However, since the gross total income Is nil, the deduction under section 80M is not allowed to the taxpayer and the distribution of the dividend income would anyways be taxable in the hands of the taxpayer.

(ii) Reinstate the benefit of deduction for inter-corporate dividend under section 148 of the ITB (corresponding to section 80M of the Act) in respect of companies opting for CTR of 22%. The absence of a specific provision of allowing deduction for inter-corporate dividend in section 20 0 of the ITB, which corresponds to section 115BAA of the Act (allowing companies to opt for 22% tax rate), means that companies opting for the CTR under section 200 of the ITB after 1 April 2026, will not be able to claim a deduction for intercorporate dividends This creates a discrepancy as the provision for such a deduction exists under the current Act Thus, there appears to be an unintentional discrimination between companies opting for the 22% tax rate and those opting for the 15% tax rate (i.e manufacturing companies).

(iii)APREA and Indian REITs Association Inter-corporate dividend benefit to Companies opting for Concessional Corporate Tax Regime. Under Section 115BAA\BAB of Act, domestic companies opting for concessional tax regime (CTR) of either 22% or 15% are not allowed to claim any income linked deductions except for deduction in respect of (a) employment cost of new employees (S.80JJA of the Act corresponding to S.146 of the Bill) (b) inter corporate dividend (S.80M of the Act corresponding to S.148 of the Bill) and (c) profits of IFSC unit (s.80LA of theAct for s.115BAA only) subject to fulfillment of conditions stipulated in the respective sections Under S.200(1)(a) of the Bill which corresponds with S.115BAA(2)(i) of the Act, deduction for employment cost of new employees is allowed but the deduction for inter-corporate dividends is not allowed The benefit of deduction of inter-corporate dividend is allowed under S.201 of the Bill (S.115BAB of the Act) which grants CTR benefit of 15%, however the similar benefit is inadvertently omitted in section 200(1)(a) of the Bill In absence of specific provision, deduction for inter-corporate dividends cannot be claimed by companies opting for CTR under S.200 of bill (correspond to S.115BAA of the Act) after 1 April 2026 The discrimination between companies opting for 22% rate vs 15% rate appears to be unintentional Hence, it is recommended to reinstate the benefit of deduction of inter-corporate dividends u/s 148 of the Bill (corresponding to S.80M of the Act). To reinstate the benefit of deduction of inter-corporate dividends u/s 148 of Bill (corresponding to S.80M of the Act).

(iv) Deduction for Inter-corporate dividends should not be removed Provides for a concessional tax rate of 22% (plus surcharge and cess) subject to conditions However, the way S 200 is currently worded, it does not allow companies choosing the lower tax rate to claim deduction under S 148 (which is equivalent to S 80M of current IT Act) • Under S 80M of current IT Act, Indian companies are allowed to deduct dividends received from domestic or foreign companies, or business trusts, when these dividends are distributed to their shareholders, to prevent cascading taxation in multi-tier structures • For example, if Company A earns dividend income of INR 1000, it would need to pay tax @ 22% or 30% on that amount However, if Company A distributes the entire INR 1000 to its shareholders as dividends, it can claim a deduction, resulting in no taxable dividend income for the company Consequently, the dividend is taxed only at the shareholder level However, under the IT Bill, if Company A opts for the concessional corporate tax rate of 22%, it would still pay tax on the INR 1000 dividend, as the deduction would not be available Additionally, shareholders would also be taxed on the same INR 1000, resulting in double taxation Amend S 200 of IT Bill to allow deduction under S 148 (S 80M of current IT Act) for inter-corporate dividends. This would result in hardship for domestic companies that operate through complex corporate structures with multiple subsidiaries and holding companies and opt for 22% tax rate This would make them less tax-efficient and necessitate restructuring before declaring dividends.

(V) Companies are eligible for taxation at lower rate of 22% subject to certain conditions One of the condition includes computation of total income without Chapter VI-A deductions, excluding deduction under section 80JJAA (deduction in respect of employment of new employees) Our recommendation Section 80M (Clause 148 of the New Bill) allows domestic companies to deduct dividends received from other domestic companies, thereby eliminating the cascading effect of taxation on dividend income and avoiding double taxation. This seems to be a drafting error and reference to section 148 of the new bill be added under section 200 of the new Bill.

(vi) It is proposed that clause 200 be amended to allow deduction of clause 148 even with respect to companies mentioned in clause 200 (corresponding section 115BAA of the Income-Tax Act, 1961) to remove the cascading effect of dividend taxation in cases where the same dividend amount is successively distributed by multiple companies down a corporate chain, and to prevent a higher effective tax burden for multi-tiered corporate structures to remove multiple layers of taxation as the dividend is passed down from one company to another, before reaching the ultimate shareholder. Removing the cascading effect by allowing deductions for dividends that are redistributed aligns with global best practices and promotes tax neutrality.

(vii) Section 200(1)(a)(ii) should be amended as under :- (ii) Chapter VIII other than the provisions of Section 146 and 148; or While giving option to Companies to opt for concessional tax regime (22%), it was prescribed that deduction u/s 80M will be allowable. Basis this, Companies has done their cost benefit analysis and opted for concessional tax regime. Now withdrawing this deduction will be against the spirit of the law.

148.5 Examination by the Committee:

In view of the above suggestions, the written replies of the Ministry, correspondingly, are summarized below:-

(i) “It is suggested that the deduction under Section 80M for inter-corporate dividends should be given under Section 57 so that even entities that have no gross profit may benefit from it. Deductions are allowed only where GTI is positive. This is a principle in vogue for all kinds of deductions. The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025.The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961. So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no new policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025".

(ii) "ACCEPTED: This is a drafting Correction. The reference to Clause 148 (Section 80M in the Act) is to be included in Clause 200(1)(a)(ii). The suggestion is acceptable. The proposed provision is the simplified version of the corresponding provision of Income-Tax Act, 1961 and no amendment has been introduced in this simplified version from the policy perspective apart from this drafting error".

(iii) "ACCEPTED: Same as above. The proposed provision is the simplified version of the corresponding provision of Income-Tax Act, 1961 and no amendment has been introduced in this simplified version from the policy perspective apart from this drafting error".

(iv) "Accepted: Same as above. The proposed provision is the simplified version of the corresponding provision of Income-Tax Act, 1961 and no amendment has been introduced in this simplified version from the policy perspective apart from this drafting error".

(v) "Accepted. Same as above. The proposed provision is the simplified version of the corresponding provision of Income-Tax Act, 1961 and no amendment has been introduced in this simplified version from the policy perspective apart from this drafting error".

(vi) "Accepted. Same as above. The proposed provision is the simplified version of the corresponding provision of Income-Tax Act, 1961 and no amendment has been introduced in this simplified version from the policy perspective apart from this drafting error".

(vii) "Accepted. Same as above. The proposed provision is the simplified version of the corresponding provision of Income-Tax Act, 1961 and no amendment has been introduced in this simplified version from the policy perspective apart from this drafting error".

148.5.2 On the issue of deductions under erstwhile Section 80M, when enquired during the Sitting, the representative, Ministry of Finance, deposed as under:-

"the suggestion is that there is a deduction under 80(M). 80(M) is like dividends are received and when they are paid, then for whatever has been paid, Rs.100 is received and Rs.50 is paid or Rs.40 is paid. For this Rs.40, that deduction is allowed and the taxpayer is required to pay tax only net Rs.60. So, that is effectively deduction under 80(M). So, all deductions are allowed after gross total income. The suggestion is that if the gross total income is nil, then we cannot claim this deduction because that is a requirement of the law earlier also, that deduction can only be given where the gross total income is positive. The stakeholder is asking that because you are allowing deduction in a particular manner, so I am not able to fully offset whatever deduction is available to me under 80(M). Why do you not allow it under income from other sources so that I can claim the full extent of deduction? Our response to that is that it is a settled provision that deductions are allowed from gross total income. Gross total income, wherever it is negative or it is nil, then deductions are not allowed. So, it is not just with 80(M), it is with any other kind of deduction. If the taxpayer is having nil gross total income or he is running into losses, then, why should he be paying dividend? Somebody running into losses should not be paying dividend".

148.5.3 Elaborating further on the same, the Secretary, Ministry of Finance (Department of Revenue) submitted before the Committee as mentioned below:-

"सर, अगर इस एक्ट के संदर्भ में देखें तो आपको जैसे हम लोगों ने बताया, इस नए एक्ट मतलब नए बिल में जो अप्रोच रही है, तो ऐसा कोई पॉलिसी चेंज नहीं किया गया है, जो एग्जिस्टिंग एक्ट की तुलना में किसी भी तरह से टैक्स ट्रीटमेंट में बदलाव लोगों को या किसी तरह का इंप्लीकेशन करे। यह पहला पॉइंट है। जहाँ तक दूसरा पॉइंट है कि हम लोगों ने अपने टैक्स रिजीम को सुधारने के लिए काफी, जो हमने शुरू में भी बैकग्राउंड दिया था, काफी सारे एक्शंस लिये गए हैं इंक्लूडिंग न्यू टैक्स रिजीम, जो सिंपलीफाइड है। टैक्स रेट लो किया गया, स्लैब्स बढ़ाये गए और उस सिस्टम को सिंपल रखा गया ताकि लोगों को टैक्स पे करने में आसानी रहे। जहाँ तक स्टॉर्टअप्स और सोवरेन फंड्स आदि का सवाल है, स्पेशल टैक्स ट्रीटमेंट उनको भी दिया गया है। ये जो जनरल पॉलिसीज हैं, to encourage more investments in India, to prevent flipping, स्टॉर्टअप्स जो यहाँ पर हैं, वे बाहर जाकरअपनी कंपनी स्थापित न करें, वह एक रेगुलर बजट में, डिफरेंट बजट्स में कई पॉलिसीज के थ्रू किया गया है। अगर आप चाहें तो उसको हम लिस्ट आउट करके आपको दे सकते हैं। हम यह एक आश्वासन देना चाहेंगे कि इस नए बिल में ऐसा कोई चेंज नहीं किया जा रहा है, जो एग्जिस्टिंग एक्ट की तुलना में किसी तरह से निगेटिव इंप्लीकेशन उस इश्यू पर दे सके"।

148.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee observe that the proposed Clause 148 pertaining to the deduction in respect of certain inter-corporate dividends is similar to the Section 80M of the IT Act, 1961. The contents of the Section have been textually carried forward to the IT Bill, 2025. It was further noted that an integral omission of the reference to Clause 148 (Section 80M in the Act) is to be included in Clause 200(1)(a)(ii) to maintain the uniformity of the carrying forward of the contents and to synchronise with the stance of no policy change proposed in the Bill. The Ministry on being enquired upon ceded to the omission by attributing to drafting error. Therefore, the Committee while accepting the other contents of the Clause 148, recommend the Ministry to incorporate the reference to Clause 148 in Clause 200 (1)(a)(ii) so that the benefit of deduction for inter-corporate dividend under section 148 of the ITB (corresponding to section 80M of the Act) in respect of companies opting for CTR of 22% is reinstated.

Clause - 149– Deduction in respect of income of co-operative societies

149.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

149. (1) If the gross total income of an assessee, being a co-operative society, includes any income referred to in sub-section (2), the sums specified in the said sub-section shall, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, be allowed as deduction in computing the total income of such assessee.

(2) The sums referred to in sub-section (1) shall be the following:— (a) in the case of a co-operative society engaged in— (i) carrying on the business of banking or providing credit facilities to its members; or (ii) a cottage industry; or (iii) the marketing of agricultural produce grown by its members; or (iv) the purchase of agricultural implements, seeds, livestock or other articles intended for agriculture for the purpose of supplying them to its members; or (v) the processing, without the aid of power, of the agricultural produce of its members; or (vi) the collective disposal of the labour of its members; or (vii) fishing or allied activities, that is to say, the catching, curing, processing, preserving, storing or marketing of fish or the purchase of materials and equipment in connection therewith for the purpose of supplying them to its members, the whole of the amount of profits and gains of business attributable to any one or more of such activities; (b) in the case of a co-operative society, being a primary society engaged in supplying milk, oilseeds, fruits, or vegetables raised or grown by its members to— (i) a federal co-operative society, engaged in the business of supplying milk, oilseeds, fruits or vegetables; or (ii) the Government or a local authority; or (iii) a Government company, as defined in section 2(45) of the Companies Act, 2013, or a corporation established by or under a Central Act or State Act or Provincial Act, engaged in supplying milk, oilseeds, fruits or vegetables, as the case may be, to the public, the whole of the amount of profits and gains of such business; (c) in the case of a co-operative society engaged in activities not specified in clause (a) or (b), (either independently of, or in addition to, all or any of the activities so specified), that amount of profits and gains attributable to such activities as does not exceed— (i) one lakh rupees, if the society is a consumers' co-operative society; and (ii) fifty thousand rupees, in any other case; (d) in respect of any income by way of interest or dividends derived by the co-operative society from its investments with any other co-operative society, the whole of such income; (e) in respect of any income by derived by the co-operative society from the letting of godowns or warehouses for storage, processing, or facilitating the marketing of commodities, the whole of such income; (f) in the case of a co-operative society, not being— (i) a housing society; or (ii) an urban consumers' society (being a society for the benefit of the consumers within the limits of a municipal corporation, municipality, municipal committee, notified area committee, town area, or cantonment); or (iii) a society carrying on transport business; or (iv) a society engaged in performing manufacturing operations with the aid of power, where the gross total income does not exceed twenty thousand rupees, the amount of income— (i) by way of interest on securities; or (ii) any income from house property chargeable under section 20.

(3) In the case of a co-operative society as referred to in sub-section (2)(a)(vi) or (vii), provisions of sub-section (2) shall apply when the rules and bye-laws of the society restrict the voting rights to the following classes of members:— (i) the individuals who contribute their labour or carry on fishing or allied activities; or (ii) the co-operative credit societies which provide financial assistance to the society; or (iii) the State Government.

(4) The deduction under sub-section (1) in relation to the sums specified in sub-section (2)(a)or (b) or (c) or sub-section (3), shall be allowed with reference to the income referred to in those sub-sections included in the gross total income after reducing the deduction under section 80-IA of the Income-tax Act, 1961, if the assessee is also entitled to such deduction.

(5) The provision of this section shall not apply to any co-operative bank which is not a primary agricultural co-operative society or a primary co-operative agricultural and rural development bank.

(6) In this section,— (a) “consumers’ co-operative society” means a society for the benefit of the consumers; (b) “co-operative bank” and “primary agricultural credit society” have the same meanings as respectively assigned to them in Part V of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949; and (c) “primary co-operative agricultural and rural development bank” means a society having an area of operation confined to a taluk, the principal object of which is to provide long-term credit for agricultural and rural development activities.

149.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in respect of income of co-operative societies.

80P. (1)Where, in the case of an assessee being a co-operative society, the gross total income includes any income referred to in sub-section (2), there shall be deducted, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, the sums specified in sub-section (2), in computing the total income of the assessee.

(2) The sums referred to in sub-section (1) shall be the following, namely :—

(a) in the case of a co-operative society engaged in—

(i) carrying on the business of banking or providing credit facilities to its members, or

(ii) a cottage industry, or

(iii) the marketing of agricultural produce grown by its members, or

(iv) the purchase of agricultural implements, seeds, livestock or other articles intended for agriculture for the purpose of supplying them to its members, or

(v) the processing, without the aid of power, of the agricultural produce of its members, or

(vi) the collective disposal of the labour of its members, or

(vii) fishing or allied activities, that is to say, the catching, curing, processing, preserving, storing or marketing of fish or the purchase of materials and equipment in connection therewith for the purpose of supplying them to its members, the whole of the amount of profits and gains of business attributable to any one or more of such activities :

Provided that in the case of a co-operative society falling under sub-clause (vi), or sub-clause (vii), the rules and bye-laws of the society restrict the voting rights to the following classes of its members, namely:—

(1) the individuals who contribute their labour or, as the case may be, carry on the fishing or allied activities;

(2) the co-operative credit societies which provide financial assistance to the society;

(3) the State Government;

(b) in the case of a co-operative society, being a primary society engaged in supplying milk, oilseeds, fruits or vegetables raised or grown by its members to—

(i) a federal co-operative society, being a society engaged in the business of supplying milk, oilseeds, fruits, or vegetables, as the case may be; or

(ii) the Government or a local authority; or

(iii) a Government company as defined in section 617 of the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956), or a corporation established by or under a Central, State or Provincial Act (being a company or corporation engaged in supplying milk, oilseeds, fruits or vegetables, as the case may be, to the public), the whole of the amount of profits and gains of such business;

(c) in the case of a co-operative society engaged in activities other than those specified in clause (a) or clause (b) (either independently of, or in addition to, all or any of the activities so specified), so much of its profits and gains attributable to such activities as does not exceed,—

(i) where such co-operative society is a consumers' co-operative society, one hundred thousand rupees; and (ii) in any other case, fifty thousand rupees.

Explanation.—In this clause, "consumers' co-operative society" means a society for the benefit of the consumers;

(d) in respect of any income by way of interest or dividends derived by the co-operative society from its investments with any other co-operative society, the whole of such income;

(e) in respect of any income derived by the co-operative society from the letting of godowns or warehouses for storage, processing or facilitating the marketing of commodities, the whole of such income;

(f) in the case of a co-operative society, not being a housing society or an urban consumers' society or a society carrying on transport business or a society engaged in the performance of any manufacturing operations with the aid of power, where the gross total income does not exceed twenty thousand rupees, the amount of any income by way of interest on securities or any income from house property chargeable under section 22.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, an "urban consumers' co-operative society" means a society for the benefit of the consumers within the limits of a municipal corporation, municipality, municipal committee, notified area committee, town area or cantonment.

(3) In a case where the assessee is entitled also to the deduction under section 80HH or section 80HHA or section 80HHB or section 80HHC or section 80HHD or section 80-I or section 80-IA or section 80J, the deduction under sub-section (1) of this section, in relation to the sums specified in clause (a) or clause (b) or clause (c) of sub-section (2), shall be allowed with reference to the income, if any, as referred to in those clauses included in the gross total income as reduced by the deductions under section 80HH, section 80HHA, section 80HHB, section 80HHC, section 80HHD, section 80-I, section 80-IA, section 80J and section 80JJ.

(4) The provisions of this section shall not apply in relation to any co-operative bank other than a primary agricultural credit society or a primary co-operative agricultural and rural development bank.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section,—

(a) "co-operative bank" and "primary agricultural credit society" shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in Part V of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 (10 of 1949);

(b) "primary co-operative agricultural and rural development bank" means a society having its area of operation confined to a taluk and the principal object of which is to provide for long-term credit for agricultural and rural development activities.

(2) Where any deduction, in respect of the amount of dividend distributed by the domestic company, has been allowed under sub-section (1) in any previous year, no deduction shall be allowed in respect of such amount in any other previous year.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, the expression "due date" means the date one month prior to the date for furnishing the return of income under sub-section (1) of section 139.

149.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 149 of the Bill seeks to provide for deduction in respect of income of co-operative societies. The clause corresponds to Section 80P of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

149.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The examination of the proposed Clause 149 of the Bill with regard to the deduction in respect of income of co-operative societies revealed the fact before the Committee that there was only textual simplification as compared to the corresponding Section 80 P of the IT Act, 1961. No changes are proposed in the content or the intent of the provision. Considering these aspects alongwith the satisfactory justification provided by the Ministry, the Committee accept the proposed Clause 149 of the Bill in its entirety. However, the Committee, find that there is a reference to IT Act, 1961 in 149(4) and as earlier, for a clean break, the Committee recommend the Ministry to remove the reference to the IT Act, 1961 from the text of specific Clause and instead create some provision in the Savings Clause 536 of the Bill.

Clause – 150 – Deduction in respect of certain income of Producer Companies.

150.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

150. (1) An assessee, who,— (a) is a Producer Company; (b) has a total turnover of less than one hundred crore rupees in any tax year; and (c) has any profits and gains derived from eligible business included in its gross total income, shall be allowed a deduction of 100% of the profits and gains attributable to such business for the tax year commencing on or after the 1st April, 2018, but before the 1st April, 2024.

(2) The deduction under this section shall be allowed after the gross total income of the assessee mentioned in sub-section (1) is reduced by any other deduction under this Chapter to which such assessee is entitled.

(3) For the purposes of this section,— (a) "eligible business" means— (i) the marketing of agricultural produce grown by the members; or (ii) the purchase of agricultural implements, seeds, livestock or other articles intended for agriculture for the purpose of supplying them to the members; or (iii) the processing of the agricultural produce of the members; (b) "Member" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 378A(e) of the Companies Act, 2013; (c) "Producer Company" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 378A(1) of the Companies Act, 3013.

150.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in respect of certain income of Producer Companies.

80PA. (1)Where the gross total income of an assessee, being a Producer Company having a total turnover of less than one hundred crore rupees in any previous year, includes any profits and gains derived from eligible business, there shall, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, be allowed, in computing the total income of the assessee, a deduction of an amount equal to one hundred per cent of the profits and gains attributable to such business for the previous year relevant to an assessment year commencing on or after the 1st day of April, 2019, but before the 1st day of April, 2025.

(2) In a case where the assessee is entitled also to deduction under any other provision of this Chapter, the deduction under this section shall be allowed with reference to the income, if any, as referred to in this section included in the gross total income as reduced by the deductions under such other provision of this Chapter.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(i) "eligible business" means—

(a) the marketing of agricultural produce grown by the members; or

(b) the purchase of agricultural implements, seeds, livestock or other articles intended for agriculture for the purpose of supplying them to the members; or

(c) the processing of the agricultural produce of the members;

(ii) "member" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (d) of section 581A of the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956);

(iii) "Producer Company" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (l) of section 581A of the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956).

150.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 150 of the Bill seeks to provide for deduction in respect of certain incomes of Producer Companies. The clause corresponds to Section 80PA of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

An important suggestion of the stakeholder is produced as under:-

(i) Instead of "3013", "2013" should be inserted.

Examination by the Committee:

Responding to the above suggestion, the Ministry have submitted as below:-

(i) ACCEPTABLE: Drafting Correction. The typographical error is to be corrected to 2013 instead of 3013.

Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee examined the proposed Clause 150 pertaining to the deduction in respect of certain income of Producer Companies and find that barring a typographical error in the last line of Clause 150 (3) wherein 3013 is written instead of 2013, no material changes can be observed while comparing the proposed clause to its repository, Section 80 PA of the IT Act, 1961. The Ministry have accepted this as a typographical error which is to be corrected. Keeping this in view, alongwith the satisfactory justification of the Ministry, the Committee accept the proposed Clause.

Clause – 151 – Deduction in respect of royalty income, etc., of authors of certain books other than text books.

151.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

151. (1) Where, in the case of an individual resident in India, being an author, the gross total income includes any income, derived by him in the exercise of his profession, on account of any lump sum consideration for the assignment or grant of any of his interests in the copyright of any book being a work of literary, artistic or scientific nature, or of royalty or copyright fees (whether receivable in lump sum or otherwise) in respect of such book, there shall, as per and subject to the provisions of this section, be allowed, in computing the total income of the assessee, a deduction from such income, computed in the manner specified in sub-section (2).

(2) The deduction under this section shall be equal to the whole of such income referred to in sub-section (1), or an amount of three lakh rupees, whichever is less.

(3) Where the income by way of such royalty or the copyright fee, is not a lump sum consideration in lieu of all rights of the assessee in the book, so much of the income, before allowing expenses attributable to such income, as is in excess of 15% of the value of such books sold during the tax year shall be ignored.

(4) In respect of any income earned from any source outside India, so much of the income shall be taken into account for the purpose of this section as is brought into India by, or on behalf of, the assessee in convertible foreign exchange within six months from the end of the tax year in which such income is earned or within such further period as the competent authority may allow in this behalf. Deduction in respect of certain income of Producer Companies.Deduction in respect of royalty income, etc., of authors of certain books other than text books.184 Deduction in respect of royalty on patents.

(5) Deduction under this section shall not be allowed unless the assessee furnishes a certificate in such form and manner, as prescribed, duly verified by any person responsible for making such payment to the assessee as referred to in sub-section (1), along with the return of income, setting forth such particulars, as prescribed.

(6) Deduction under this section shall not be allowed in respect of any income earned from any source outside India, unless the assessee furnishes a certificate, in the prescribed form from the prescribed authority, along with the return of income in the prescribed manner.

(7) Where a deduction for any tax year has been claimed and allowed in respect of any income referred to in this section, no deduction in respect of such income shall be allowed under any other provision of this Act in any tax year.

(8) In this section,— (a) “author” includes a joint author; (b) “books” shall not include brochures, commentaries, diaries, guides, journals, magazines, newspapers, pamphlets, text-books for schools, tracts and other publications of similar nature, by whatever name called; (c) “competent authority” means the Reserve Bank of India or such other authority as is authorised under any law in force for regulating payments and dealings in foreign exchange; and (d) “lump sum”, in regard to royalties or copyright fees, includes an advance payment on account of such royalties or copyright fees which is not returnable.

151.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in respect of royalty income, etc., of authors of certain books other than text-books.

80QQB. (1) Where, in the case of an individual resident in India, being an author, the gross total income includes any income, derived by him in the exercise of his profession, on account of any lump sum consideration for the assignment or grant of any of his interests in the copyright of any book being a work of literary, artistic or scientific nature, or of royalty or copyright fees (whether receivable in lump sum or otherwise) in respect of such book, there shall, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, be allowed, in computing the total income of the assessee, a deduction from such income, computed in the manner specified in sub-section (2).

(2) The deduction under this section shall be equal to the whole of such income referred to in sub-section (1), or an amount of three lakh rupees, whichever is less :

Provided that where the income by way of such royalty or the copyright fee, is not a lump sum consideration in lieu of all rights of the assessee in the book, so much of the income, before allowing expenses attributable to such income, as is in excess of fifteen per cent of the value of such books sold during the previous year shall be ignored :

Provided further that in respect of any income earned from any source outside India, so much of the income shall be taken into account for the purpose of this section as is brought into India by, or on behalf of, the assessee in convertible foreign exchange within a period of six months from the end of the previous year in which such income is earned or within such further period as the competent authority may allow in this behalf.

(3) No deduction under this section shall be allowed unless the assessee furnishes a certificate in the prescribed form and in the prescribed manner, duly verified by any person responsible for making such payment to the assessee as referred to in sub-section (1), along with the return of income, setting forth such particulars as may be prescribed.

(4) No deduction under this section shall be allowed in respect of any income earned from any source outside India, unless the assessee furnishes a certificate, in the prescribed form from the prescribed authority, along with the return of income in the prescribed manner.

(5) Where a deduction for any previous year has been claimed and allowed in respect of any income referred to in this section, no deduction in respect of such income shall be allowed under any other provision of this Act in any assessment year.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "author" includes a joint author;

(b) "books" shall not include brochures, commentaries, diaries, guides, journals, magazines, newspapers, pamphlets, text-books for schools, tracts and other publications of similar nature, by whatever name called;

(c) "competent authority" means the Reserve Bank of India or such other authority as is authorised under any law for the time being in force for regulating payments and dealings in foreign exchange;

(d) "lump sum", in regard to royalties or copyright fees, includes an advance payment on account of such royalties or copyright fees which is not returnable.

151.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 151 of the Bill provides for deduction in respect of royalty income, etc., of authors of certain books other than text-books. The clause corresponds to Section 80QQB of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

151.4 Examination by the Committee:

The Committee, during the course of examination of the Clause 151 pertaining to deduction in respect of royalty income etc., of authors of certain books other than text–books needed a clarification on the change in the quantum of deduction under the Section 80QQA of the IT Act, 1961, which allowed the deduction of 25% of eligible income to Clause 151 of the IT Bill, 2025 which provisions for 100% of eligible income or Rs. 3 lakh, whichever is less. The Committee feel that it creates a situation wherein Clause 151 seems to be more generous for authors earning up to Rs. 3 lakh in royalty/copyright income, but less so for high-earning authors, for whom the deduction is capped. This might have a deterrent effect on the Authors getting their books published here and may seek better tax havens. Responding to this query, the Ministry have responded in their written replies as under:-

> "There are two sections in the IT Act for authors of books viz.- section 80QQA and 80QQB. Clause 151 provides for a capped deduction for authors of books other than text books to the extent of 100% of royalty income or ₹3 lakh, whichever is lower. This is consistent with the provisions of the corresponding Section 80QQB of the Act. Section 80QQA which provided for 25% deduction for authors of text books in Indian languages. is sunset and there is no corresponding clause in the IT Bill. There are thus, no new provisions or deductions provided in the Bill when compared with the Act in respect of royalty on books." (RLoP III, pg. no. 7)

151.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee find from the examination of Clause 151 of the Bill that it provides for deduction in respect of royalty income, etc., of authors of certain books other than text-books. The proposed clause corresponds to Section 80QQB of the IT Act, 1961. Having gone through the justification provided by the Ministry and the satisfactory response of the Ministry to the query associated with the change in the capping for claiming deduction against the royalty, the Committee are of the opinion that the provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. Hence, the Committee accept the proposed clause in its entirety.

Clause - 152– Deduction in respect of royalty on patents.

152.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

152. (1) An assessee, being an individual, who is—– (a) a resident in India; (b) a patentee; (c) in receipt of income by way of royalty in respect of a patent registered on or after the 1st April, 2003 under the Patents Act, 1970; and. (d) having gross total income for the tax year which includes royalty, shall be allowed a deduction from such income computed in the manner specified in sub-sections (2) to (6).

(2) The deduction under this section shall be equal to the whole of such income referred to in sub-section (1) or three lakh rupees, whichever is less.

(3) Where a compulsory licence is granted in respect of any patent under the Patents Act, 1970, the income by way of royalty for the purpose of allowing deduction under this section shall not exceed the amount of royalty under the terms and conditions of a licence settled by the Controller under that Act.

(4) In respect of any income earned from any source outside India, so much of the income, shall be taken into account for the purpose of this section as is brought into India by, or on behalf of, the assessee in convertible foreign exchange within six months from the end of the tax year in which such income is earned or within such further period as the competent authority referred to in section 151(8)(c) may allow in this behalf.

(5) No deduction under this section shall be allowed unless the assessee furnishes a certificate in the prescribed form, duly signed by the authority as prescribed, along with the return of income setting forth such particulars, as prescribed.

(6) No deduction under this section shall be allowed in respect of any income earned from any source outside India, unless the assessee furnishes a certificate in such form, from the authority or authorities, as prescribed, along with the return of income.

(7) In this section,—– (a) “Controller” means the authority as defined in section 2(1)(b) of the Patents Act, 1970; (b) “lump sum” includes a non-refundable advance payment for royalties; (c) “patent” means any patent granted, including a patent of addition, under the Patents Act, 1970; (d) “patentee” means the true and first inventor recorded as the patentee under the Patents Act, 1970, including joint patentees recorded as such true and first inventors; (e) “patent of addition” shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 2(1)(q) of the Patents Act, 1970; (f) “patented article” and “patented process” shall have the same meanings as assigned to them in section 2(1)(o) of the Patents Act, 1970; (g) “royalty” in respect of a patent, means consideration for—– (i) the transfer of all or any rights (including the granting of a licence) in respect of a patent; or

(ii) the imparting of any information concerning the working of, or the use of, a patent; or (iii) the use of any patent; or (iv) the rendering of any services in connection with the activities referred to in sub-clauses (i) to (iii), but does not include any consideration,— (A) which would be the income of the recipient chargeable under the head "Capital gains"; or (B) for sale of product manufactured with the use of patented process or of the patented article for commercial use; and (h) "true and first inventor" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 2(1)(y) of the Patents Act, 1970.

152.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in respect of royalty on patents.

80RRB. (1) Where in the case of an assessee, being an individual, who is—

(a) resident in India;

(b) a patentee;

(c) in receipt of any income by way of royalty in respect of a patent registered on or after the 1st day of April, 2003 under the Patents Act, 1970 (39 of 1970), and his gross total income of the previous year includes royalty, there shall, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, be allowed a deduction, from such income, of an amount equal to the whole of such income or three lakh rupees, whichever is less:

Provided that where a compulsory licence is granted in respect of any patent under the Patents Act, 1970 (39 of 1970), the income by way of royalty for the purpose of allowing deduction under this section shall not exceed the amount of royalty under the terms and conditions of a licence settled by the Controller under that Act :

Provided further that in respect of any income earned from any source outside India, so much of the income, shall be taken into account for the purpose of this section as is brought into India by, or on behalf of, the assessee in convertible foreign exchange within a period of six months from the end of the previous year in which such income is earned or within such further period as the competent authority referred to in clause (c) of the Explanation to section 80QQB may allow in this behalf.

(2) No deduction under this section shall be allowed unless the assessee furnishes a certificate in the prescribed form, duly signed by the prescribed authority, along with the return of income setting forth such particulars as may be prescribed.

(3) No deduction under this section shall be allowed in respect of any income earned from any source outside India, unless the assessee furnishes a certificate in the prescribed form, from the authority or authorities, as may be prescribed, along with the return of income.

(4) Where a deduction for any previous year has been claimed and allowed in respect of any income referred to in this section, no deduction in respect of such income shall be allowed, under any other provision of this Act in any assessment year.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "Controller" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 2 of the Patents Act, 1970 (39 of 1970);

(b) "lump sum" includes an advance payment on account of such royalties which is not returnable;

(c) "patent" means a patent (including a patent of addition) granted under the Patents Act, 1970 (39 of 1970);

(d) "patentee" means the person, being the true and first inventor of the invention, whose name is entered on the patent register as the patentee, in accordance with the Patents Act, 1970 (39 of 1970), and includes every such person, being the true and first inventor of the invention, where more than one person is registered as patentee under that Act in respect of that patent;

(e) "patent of addition" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (q) of sub-section (1) of section 2 of the Patents Act, 1970 (39 of 1970);

(f) "patented article" and "patented process" shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in clause (o) of sub-section (1) of section 2 of the Patents Act, 1970 (39 of 1970);

(g) "royalty", in respect of a patent, means consideration (including any lump sum consideration but excluding any consideration which would be the income of the recipient chargeable under the head "Capital gains" or consideration for sale of product manufactured with the use of patented process or of the patented article for commercial use) for—

(i) the transfer of all or any rights (including the granting of a licence) in respect of a patent; or

(ii) the imparting of any information concerning the working of, or the use of, a patent; or

(iii) the use of any patent; or

(iv) the rendering of any services in connection with the activities referred to in sub-clauses (i) to (iii);

(h) "true and first inventor" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (y) of sub-section (1) of section 2 of the Patents Act, 1970 (39 of 1970).

152.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 152 of the Bill provides for deduction in respect of royalty on patents. The clause corresponds to Section 80RRB of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

152.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

An important suggestion of the stakeholder is produced below:-

A sub-clause similar to sub-section (4) of section 80RRB needs to be inserted to provide that where a deduction has been claimed and allowed under this section, then no deduction shall be allowed in respect of such income under any other provision.

152.5 Examination by the Committee:

Responding to the above suggestion, the Ministry have submitted as under:-

"Accepted: Suggestion: Deduction in respect of royalty on patents once allowed, should not be allowed for the same income again under any provision in any tax year. This will be in line with the provisions of 80RRB (4). The suggestion is acceptable. Drafting correction may be made in cl. 152". The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961 apart from this drafting correction.

152.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that Clause 152 of the Bill is parallel to the Section 80RRB of the IT Act, 1961 and provides for deduction in respect of royalty on patents. While the provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause, the Committee, further note the absence of a limiting provision of deduction in respect of royalty on patents in terms of not to be claimed again once deduction already claimed for same income, under any provision in any tax year, as had been earlier provided for with the provisions of 80RRB (4) in the IT Act, 1961. The Ministry addressed this omission and are amenable to carry out the Drafting correction. Thus, the Committee recommend the Ministry to carry out suitable correction in the Clause 152 and incorporate the limiting provision of availing the deduction only once for the same income in a tax year. Besides, the Committee are satisfied with the other contents of the proposed Clause.

D.—Deductions in respect of other incomes

Clause - 153– Deduction for interest on deposits.

153.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

153. (1) An assessee who is— (a) an individual, not being a senior citizen; or (b) an individual, being a senior citizen; or (c) a Hindu undivided family, shall be allowed a deduction from the gross total income, subject to conditions specified in sub-section (2), where it includes income by way of interest on deposits with— (i) a banking company to which the Banking Regulation Act, 1949, applies (including any bank or banking institution referred to in section 51 of that Act); or Deduction for interest on deposits. Deduction in case of a person with disability. Rebate to be allowed in computing income-tax. (ii) a co-operative society engaged in carrying on the business of banking (including a co-operative land mortgage bank or a co-operative land development bank); or (iii) a Post Office as defined in section 2(k) of the Post Office Act, 2023.

(2) The deduction under sub-section (1) shall be allowed for a tax year as follows:— (a) in case of assessee mentioned in sub-section 1(a) or (c), the whole of the interest up to a maximum amount of ten thousand rupees on deposits in a savings account, excluding time deposits; (b) in case of assessee mentioned in sub-section (1)(b), the whole of the interest up to a maximum amount of fifty thousand rupess on deposits in a savings account, including time deposits.

(3) Where the income referred to in this section is derived from any deposit in a savings account held by, or on behalf of, a firm, an association of persons or a body of individuals, no deduction shall be allowed under this section in respect of such income in computing the total income of any partner of the firm or any member of the association or any individual of the body.

(4) In this section, “time deposits” means the deposits repayable on expiry of fixed periods.

153.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in respect of interest on deposits in savings account.

80TTA. (1) Where the gross total income of an assessee (other than the assessee referred to in section 80TTB), being an individual or a Hindu undivided family, includes any income by way of interest on deposits (not being time deposits) in a savings account with—

(a) a banking company to which the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 (10 of 1949), applies (including any bank or banking institution referred to in section 51 of that Act);

(b) a co-operative society engaged in carrying on the business of banking (including a co-operative land mortgage bank or a co-operative land development bank); or

(c) a Post Office as defined in clause (k) of section 2 of the Indian Post Office Act, 1898 (6 of 1898), there shall, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, be allowed, in computing the total income of the assessee a deduction as specified hereunder, namely:—

(i) in a case where the amount of such income does not exceed in the aggregate ten thousand rupees, the whole of such amount; and

(ii) in any other case, ten thousand rupees.

(2) Where the income referred to in this section is derived from any deposit in a savings account held by, or on behalf of, a firm, an association of persons or a body of individuals, no deduction shall be allowed under this section in respect of such income in computing the total income of any partner of the firm or any member of the association or any individual of the body.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, "time deposits" means the deposits repayable on expiry of fixed periods.

153.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 153 of the Bill provides for certain deduction for interest on savings account deposits (excluding time deposits) for individuals and Hindu undivided families. The clause corresponds to Section 80TTA and section 80TTB of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

153.4 Examination by the Committee:

Regarding a query of the Committee about Clause 153 pertaining to the deduction for interest on deposits, Ministry were requested to present their views on the aspect of providing deductions on the deposits including time deposits to the non-senior citizen assesses also, the Ministry have responded in their written replies as under:-

“It is the stated policy of governemnt of India to phase out exemptions and deductions while rationalising tax rates. The provision has been specially made for senior citizens and is not meant to give plenary benefit to all taxpayers. The non-senior citizens are given deductions only for non-fixed deposits".

153.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee after going through the contents of the Clause 153 and the parallel Section 80TTA and section 80TTB of the Act find that Clause 153 of the Bill provides for certain deduction for interest on savings account deposits (excluding time deposits) for individuals and Hindu undivided families. There is literal transportation without any substantial change and the provision of the existing section has only been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. Thus, the Committee, finding the justification of the Ministry for the proposed Clause satisfactory, accept the proposed Clause 153 in its entirety.

E.—Other deductions

Clause – 154 – Deduction in case of a person with disability.

154.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

154. (1) An individual, being resident in India, who is certified by a medical authority, at any time during the tax year, as a person with disability or person with severe disability, shall be allowed a deduction of seventy-five thousand rupees or one lakh and twenty-five thousand rupees, respectively, while computing his total income.

(2) The deduction under sub-section (1) shall be allowed only if all of the following conditions are fulfilled:— (a) the individual furnishes a copy of the certificate issued by the medical authority; (b) if the certificate specifies that the disability needs reassessment of its extent after a period stipulated in it, the deduction shall not be allowed for any tax year succeeding the tax year in which the certificate expires, unless a new disability certificate is obtained and submitted; and (c) the certificate referred to in clauses (a) and (b) of this sub-section shall be furnished in the form and manner, as prescribed, along with the return of income under section 263 for the tax year in which the deduction is claimed.

(3) For the purposes of this section, “disability”, “medical authority”, “person with disability” or “person with severe disability” shall have the same meanings as provided in section 127.

154.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Deduction in case of a person with disability.

80U. (1) In computing the total income of an individual, being a resident, who, at any time during the previous year, is certified by the medical authority to be a person with disability, there shall be allowed a deduction of a sum of seventy-five thousand rupees:

Provided that where such individual is a person with severe disability, the provisions of this sub-section shall have effect as if for the words "seventy-five thousand rupees", the words "one hundred and twenty-five thousand rupees" had been substituted.

(2) Every individual claiming a deduction under this section shall furnish a copy of the certificate issued by the medical authority in the form and manner, as may be prescribed, along with the return of income under section 139, in respect of the assessment year for which the deduction is claimed :

Provided that where the condition of disability requires reassessment of its extent after a period stipulated in the aforesaid certificate, no deduction under this section shall be allowed for any assessment year relating to any previous year beginning after the expiry of the previous year during which the aforesaid certificate of disability had expired, unless a new certificate is obtained from the medical authority in the form and manner, as may be prescribed, and a copy thereof is furnished along with the return of income under section 139.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "disability" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (i) of section 2 of the Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities, Protection of Rights and Full Participation) Act, 1995 (1 of 1996), and includes "autism", "cerebral palsy" and "multiple disabilities" referred to in clauses (a), (c) and (h) of section 2 of the National Trust for Welfare of Persons with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities Act, 1999 (44 of 1999);

(b) "medical authority" means the medical authority as referred to in clause (p) of section 2 of the Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities, Protection of Rights and Full Participation) Act, 1995 (1 of 1996), or such other medical authority as may, by notification, be specified by the Central Government for certifying "autism", "cerebral palsy", "multiple disabilities", "person with disability" and "severe disability" referred to in clauses (a), (c), (h), (j) and (o) of section 2 of the National Trust for Welfare of Persons with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities Act, 1999 (44 of 1999);

(c) "person with disability" means a person referred to in clause (t) of section 2 of the Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities, Protection of Rights and Full Participation) Act, 1995 (1 of 1996), or clause (j) of section 2 of the National Trust for Welfare of Persons with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities Act, 1999 (44 of 1999);

(d) "person with severe disability" means—

(i) a person with eighty per cent or more of one or more disabilities, as referred to in sub-section (4) of section 56 of the Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities, Protection of Rights and Full Participation) Act, 1995 (1 of 1996); or

(ii) a person with severe disability referred to in clause (o) of section 2 of the National Trust for Welfare of Persons with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities Act, 1999 (44 of 1999).

154.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 154 of the Bill provides for deduction in case of a person with disability and to provide for deduction for an individual resident who is certified by a medical authority as a person with disability or severe disability. The clause corresponds to Section 80U of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

154.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

An important suggestion of the stakeholder is mentioned as under:-

> Honour UDID under RPwD Act 2016. Despite UDID viz a Central Government document under RPwD Act 2016, Tax Department is still requiring a Medical Certificate in its own format certifying the disability from a recognized Medical authority.

154.5 Examination by the Committee:

The Ministry in their written reply on the above suggestion have submitted as under:-

> "It is suggested that the UDID (Unique Disabled ID) issued under RPwD Act must be honored by the Department instead of requiring a medical certificate for deduction under section 80U/Clause 154. The deduction under Income-tax Act is allowed for specified purposes. Alignment fully with any other Act will have unintended consequences. The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961. So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no new policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025".

154.5.2 During the examination of the IT Bill, 2025, in a sitting, the representatives of the Ministry of Finance, on the issue of certificate for claiming deduction under Section 80U submitted as below:-

> "there is a deduction under Section 80U in the old regime where deduction is allowed to a person who is having a disability. So, the suggestion is that there is a unique disabled ID which is issued under RPWD Act. So, in our clause, in our section, we have provided that the person has to give a certificate issued by a medical authority that he is suffering from disability. On that basis, on the basis of that certificate, he is allowed deduction for disability. So, suggestion is that instead of that certificate, you just take that UDID which is issued under unique disabled RPWD Act. Sir, there are, we are saying that there are certain conditions associated with the certificate. The certificate sometimes is valid only for a limited period, two years, three years, and then after that, it has to be renewed. That is how, Sir, the deduction is required to be claimed on the basis of that certificate. Then, there are other conditions also inbuilt into the section. So, UDID will not satisfy the provisions of the law, Sir". ……. "the certificate will specify that this disability is a permanent disability. Then, that certificate itself will say that it is a permanent……Sir, where the authority is issuing that certificate, it itself issues a certificate for a limited period…..that is an administrative issue. We will definitely look into that".

154.5.3 Explaining to the Committee further on the specific issue, the Secretary, Ministry of Finance (Department of Revenue) stated as under:-

"महोदय, एक्ट कह रहा है कि यदि कोई व्यक्ति डिसेबिलिटी या सीवियर डिसेबिलिटी के लिए आइडेंटीफाई किया गया है, वह मेडिकल सर्टिफिकेट के बेसिस पर इनकम टैक्स बैनिफिट ले सकता है। यदि सर्टिफिकेट में यह है कि कुछ समय बाद रिअसेसमेंट करना है तो वह बेनिफिट केवल उसी पीरियड के लिए रहेगा। इसका मतलब यह है कि इसमें वे लोग भी जुड़ पाएंगे जो किसी दुर्घटना में या किसी वजह से कुछ समय के लिए वे शरीर से पूरा काम नहीं कर पाते हैं, तो उस टेम्परेरी पीरियड के लिए उन्हें टैक्स बेनिफिट मिलेगा। अगर एक्ट में उनको सर्टिफिकेट दिया जा रहा है, whether such temporary disabilities are covered or not, one will have to verify it…महोदय, इसे चैक कर लेते हैं।".

154.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that the proposed Clause 154 of IT Bill, 2025 is similar to Section 80U of the 1961 Act provisioning for deduction in case of a person with disability and to provide for deduction for an individual resident who is certified by a medical authority as a person with disability or severe disability. The Committee find uniformity between the proposed clause and Section 80U of the 1961 Act and is satisfied with the textual simplification. Therefore, the Committee, keeping in view, the justification provide by the Ministry accept the proposed Clause 154 in entirety.

CHAPTER IX

REBATES AND RELIEFS

A.—Rebates and reliefs

Clause – 155 – Rebate to be allowed in computing income-tax.

155.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

155. (1) In computing income-tax on the total income of an assessee with which he is chargeable for any tax year, there shall be allowed from income-tax (as computed before allowing the deductions under this Chapter), subject to the provisions of section 156, the deductions specified therein. (2) The deduction under section 156, shall not, in any case, exceed income-tax (as computed before allowing the deductions under this Chapter) on the total income of the assessee with which he is chargeable for any tax year.

155.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Rebate to be allowed in computing income-tax.

87. (1) In computing the amount of income-tax on the total income of an assessee with which he is chargeable for any assessment year, there shall be allowed from the amount of income-tax (as computed before allowing the deductions under this Chapter), in accordance with and subject to the provisions of [1][sections 87A and 88E], the deductions specified in those sections.

(2) The aggregate amount of the deductions under [1a][section 87A or section 88E] shall not, in any case, exceed the amount of income-tax (as computed before allowing the deductions under this Chapter) on the total income of the assessee with which he is chargeable for any assessment year.

155.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 155 of the Bill seeks to provide for rebate to be allowed in computing income-tax. The clause corresponds to Section 87 of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

155.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee find that the proposed Clause 155 associated with the Rebate to be allowed in computing income-tax is similar in intent to the Section 87 of the IT

Act, 1961. There is no substantial change barring the simplification of the text. Moreover, the Committee are also satisfied with the justification and reply of the Ministry regarding this Clause and, thus, accept the proposed Clause 155 in its entirety.

Clause – 156 –Rebate of income-tax in case of certain individuals.

156.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

156. (1) A resident individual assessee shall be entitled to a deduction of 100% of income-tax payable or twelve thousand five hundred rupees, whichever is less, from the income-tax (computed before allowing the deduction under this section) chargeable on the total income for any tax year if the total income does not exceed five lakh rupees.

(2) Where the total income of a resident individual assessee for any tax year is chargeable to tax under section 202(1), then from income-tax (computed before allowing the deduction under this section) following deductions shall be allowed, if— (a) the income does not exceed twelve lakh rupees, 100% of the income-tax payable or sixty thousand rupees, whichever is less; (b) the income exceeds twelve lakh rupees, the income-tax payable on the total income, reduced by total income which is in excess of twelve lakh rupees.

(3) The deduction under sub-section (2), shall not exceed income-tax payable as per the rates provided in section 202(1).

156.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Rebate of income-tax in case of certain individuals.

87A. An assessee, being an individual resident in India, whose total income does not exceed five hundred thousand rupees, shall be entitled to a deduction, from the amount of income-tax (as computed before allowing the deductions under this Chapter) on his total income with which he is chargeable for any assessment year, of an amount equal to hundred per cent of such income-tax or an amount of twelve thousand and five hundred rupees, whichever is less:

[2][Provided that where the total income of the assessee is chargeable to tax under sub-section (1A) of section 115BAC, and the total income—

(a) does not exceed [3][seven] hundred thousand rupees, the assessee shall be entitled to a deduction from the amount of income-tax (as computed before allowing for the deductions under this Chapter) on his total income with which he is chargeable for any assessment year, of an amount equal to one hundred per cent of such income-tax or an amount of [4][twenty-five] thousand rupees, whichever is less;

(b) exceeds [3][seven] hundred thousand rupees and the income-tax payable on such total income exceeds the amount by which the total income is in excess of [3][seven] hundred thousand rupees, the assessee shall be entitled to a deduction from the amount of income-tax (as computed before allowing the deductions under this Chapter) on his total income, of an amount equal to the amount by which the income-tax payable on such total income is in excess of the amount by which the total income exceeds seven hundred thousand rupees.]

Following second proviso shall be inserted after the proviso to section 87A by the Finance Act, 2025, w.e.f. 1-4-2026:

Provided further that the deduction under the first proviso, shall not exceed the amount of income-tax payable as per the rates provided in sub-section (1A) of section 115BAC.

156.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 156 of the Bill seeks to provide for rebate of income-tax in case of certain individuals. The clause corresponds to Section 87A of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

156.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Few important suggestions from the stakeholders are summarized as under:-

(i) Ambiguity in language regarding rebate on special rate income and computation of marginal relief for income exceeding ₹12 lakh. Ambiguity in the proposed formula for marginal relief under Section 202(2)(b). Clarify that marginal relief cannot be negative and specify that rebate under Section 156 does not apply to special rate incomes. Amend respective special rate provisions to avoid litigation. Modify Section 156 to clarify that marginal relief cannot be negative. Use language similar to Section 45(4) of ITA 1961 to resolve ambiguity

(ii) The provisions for rebate may be presented in a tabular format, as done in other sections (like tax rates or surcharge slabs) for ease of comprehension. A tabular format makes it easier for taxpayers, tax professionals, and software systems to interpret eligibility and compute rebate. It also aligns with presentation used in other sections of the Bill, thereby improving uniformity, clarity, and ease of compliance.

(iv) The proposed section 156(2)(b) which provides for rebate in case total income is marginally above ₹ 12 lacs is not properly worded. The same is as under: "(b) the income exceeds twelve lakh rupees, the income tax payable on the total income reduced by total income which is in excess of twelve lakh rupees." It means: (a) The rebate will be available in all cases even if tax payable on total income is less than the amount by which total income exceeds ₹ 12 lakhs rupees. (b) The language suggests that the amount of total income to be reduced from income-tax payable which will give absurd result. Hence, it is proposed to modify the same on the lines of present law as under: "(b) the total income exceeds twelve lakh rupees and the income-tax payable on such total income exceeds the amount by which the total income is in excess of twelve lakh rupees, an amount equal to the amount by which the income-tax payable on such total income is in excess of the amount by which the total income exceeds twelve lakh rupees."

(iv) Clause 156(2)(b) may be amended as under: (b) the income exceeds twelve lakh rupees and the income-tax payable on such income exceeds the amount by which the total income is in excess of twelve lakh rupees the income-tax payable on the total income, reduced by total income which is in excess of twelve lakh rupees. Rationale: 1. Remove unintended consequences 2. Reduce tax litigation thereby providing certainty Marginal relief is a benefit provided to taxpayers when their income slightly exceeds a tax-free limit, ensuring they do not pay an excessively high tax compared to their income increase. Clause 156(2) provides for marginal relief in case of taxpayers whose income is marginally above the threshold of rupees twelve lakh (upto which rebate is available). In ITA 61 marginal relief is available only when income tax payable is higher than excess of total income over rupees twelve lakh. This condition ensures ceiling limit on total income upto which marginal relief is granted. Above condition is absent in ITB 25 which could lead to marginal relief provision being applied for all cases where taxable income is above rupees twelve lakh (without any upper limit). Further rebate under section 87A could become a negative number in the absence of above condition. To address this anomaly, provision may be amended in line with ITA 61.

156.5 Examination by the Committee:

The Ministry in their written replies have correspondingly stated as under:-

(i) "The suggestion made by the stakeholder regarding marginal relief is not correct. Marginal relief can not exceed the income in excess of Rs. 12 lakh. Therefore it can not be negative. Further, Clarity that rebate u/s 156(2) of the Bill is not available against special rate incomes has been sought to be provided by way of the following –

(i) Clause 156(2) clearly states that the rebate is available where income is chargeable to tax u/s 202(1) of the Bill.

(ii) Clause 156(3) clearly states that the deduction u/s 156(2) shall not exceed income-tax payable as per the rates provided in section 202(1).

(iii) The provisions of cl. 202 are subject to the other provisions of Part A, B & C of the chapter XIII relating to special rate incomes.

(iv) FAQs have been issued for the IT Bill which have amply clarified the issue.

Similar provisions are there in section 87A and s. 115BAC (1A) of IT Act.

Thus, there is no ground for any ambiguity in this respect. It is quite clear that rebate of income-tax is not available on tax on incomes chargeable at special rates.

In view of the reasons stated, the suggestion has no merits".

The proposed provision is similar to the provisions of the Income-tax Act, 1961. There is no policy change. So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no policy change has been proposed".

(ii) "The nature of these provisions are unique and require to be put in words rather than in a tabular format. Further, the nature of rebate for various levels of income has been released in the FAQs with the Budget 2025 that has all the required details. Ths table on Rebate and Marginal relief are given as Si.No 4 and Si.No 16 of FAQ.No1 issued with the Budget 2025, a copy of which is enclosed as Annexure-1. This suggestion is already addressed. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961. So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no new policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025".

(iii) "ACCEPTED" "The proposed provision is the simplified version of the corresponding provision of Income-Tax Act, 1961 and no amendment has been introduced in this simplified version from the policy perspective apart from this drafting error".

(iv) "ACCEPTED: This is in the nature of drafting suggestion. The clause 156(2) may be modified accordingly. The suggestion is acceptable and may be considered. The proposed provision is the simplified version of the corresponding provision of Income-Tax Act, 1961 and no amendment has been introduced in this simplified version from the policy perspective apart from this drafting error".

156.5.2 On the issue of provisions of rebate to be presented in a tabular format, during the sitting of the Committee, the representative of the Ministry of Finance stated as under:-

> "there are provisions of rebate where rebate is allowed under Section 87A. So, they are saying that rebate for various levels of income should be provided in the law itself. When this rebate thing was changed in February 2025 Budget, we had issued detailed FAQs and also the tables stating how this rebate will operate. So, in the Act, we have given a formula, and that formula has to be applied for rebate, and then, for marginal relief. So, according to us, there may not be any requirement to build in those tables in the law itself".

156.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, on thorough examination of the Clause 156 of the Bill find that it seeks to provide for rebate of income-tax in case of certain individuals as provided under Section 87A of the Act. Other than textual simplification of the existing section, there is retention of the same intent in this clause. However, a closer look has brought to fore, presumably a drafting error in 156 (2)(b) which is read as "(b) the income exceeds twelve lakh rupees, the income tax payable on the total income reduced by total income which is in excess of twelve lakh rupees". The Committee understand that it is a deviation from the intent which can give rise to various interpretations causing unintended anomalies. Therefore, the Committee, while agreeing with the other provisions of the Clause 156, recommend the Ministry to amend 156 (2) (b) of the Clause to be read as under:-

"the total income exceeds twelve lakh rupees and the income-tax payable on such total income exceeds the amount by which the total income is in excess of twelve lakh rupees, an amount equal to the amount by which the income-tax payable on such total income is in excess of the amount by which the total income exceeds twelve lakh rupees".

Clause – 157 –Relief when salary, etc., is paid in arrears or in advance.

157.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

157. (1) Where the total income of an assessee is assessed at a rate higher than the rate at which it would otherwise have been assessed, due to the following receipts,— (a) a sum in the nature of arrear or advance salary; or (b) salary for more than twelve months in any one tax year; or (c) a payment in the nature of "profits in lieu of salary" under section 18(1); or (d) arrears of "family pension" as defined in section 93(1)(d), the Assessing Officer shall on an application made to him by the assessee in this behalf, grant such relief, as prescribed.

(2) No relief shall be granted on any income on which deduction has been claimed by the assessee in section 19(1)(Table: Sl. No. 12) for any amount mentioned therein, for such, or any other, tax year.

157.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Relief when salary, etc., is paid in arrears or in advance.

89. Where an assessee is in receipt of a sum in the nature of salary, being paid in arrears or in advance or is in receipt, in any one financial year, of salary for more than twelve months or a payment which under the provisions of clause (3) of section 17 is a profit in lieu of salary, or is in receipt of a sum in the nature of family pension as defined in the Explanation to clause (iia) of section 57, being paid in arrears, due to which his total income is assessed at a rate higher than that at which it would otherwise have been assessed, the Assessing Officer shall, on an application made to him in this behalf, grant such relief as may be prescribed:

Provided that no such relief shall be granted in respect of any amount received or receivable by an assessee on his voluntary retirement or termination of his service, in accordance with any scheme or schemes of voluntary retirement or in the case of a public sector company referred to in sub-clause (i) of clause (10C) of section 10, a scheme of voluntary separation, if an exemption in respect of any amount received or receivable on such voluntary retirement or termination of his service or voluntary separation has been claimed by the assessee under clause (10C) of section 10 in respect of such, or any other, assessment year.

157.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 157 of the Bill seeks to provide for relief when salary, etc, is paid in arrears or in advance. The clause corresponds to Section 89 of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

157.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

An important suggestion from the stakeholder is as mentioned below:-

> Enabling auto-trigger of Form 10E in ITR utility or portal when any eligible arrears/ advance salary/ family pension is reported. System should prompt user to fill year-wise breakup or import it from employer-supplied data (via Form 16/Salary schedule). Many taxpayers inadvertently fail to file Form 10E separately. This results in unwarranted litigation, Auto-trigger of Form 10E will – A. Help prevent disallowance of genuine relief. B. Ensure user-friendly experience for taxpayers, especially salaried individuals and pensioners. C. Align with government's digital-first, pre-filled return initiative. It will also reduce volume of grievances, rectifications, and litigation at CPC.

157.5 Examination by the Committee:

The Ministry in their written reply to the above suggestion have stated as under:-

> "This suggestion relates to the drafting of Rules/Forms and providing a Utility in filing Return of Income. This will be examined during the drafting of the Rules and the ITR. This suggestion is noted. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961. So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no new policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025".

157.5.2 When enquired upon the auto triggering of 10E for the ease of assesses, the representative of the Ministry of Finance submitted before the Committee as mentioned below:-

> "the suggestion is relating to drafting of rules and forms, and providing utility in filing return of income. The matter relates to rules, forms and utility. So, we will examine this during the drafting of rules and income tax returns. We have noted the suggestion".

Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee find that Clause 157 of the Bill pertains to the provisions for claiming relief when salary, etc. is paid in arrears or in advance. This is parallel to the content and intent of the Section 89 of the Act. Textual simplification is visible here. Thus, the Committee, keeping under consideration the justification provided by the Ministry accept the proposed Clause 157 without any further changes.

Clause – 158 –Relief from taxation in income from retirement benefit account maintained in a notified country.

158.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

158. (1) The income accrued in a specified account, maintained in a notified country by a specified person, shall be taxed in a tax year, as prescribed.

(2) In this section,— (a) “notified country” means a country as notified by the Central Government; (b) “specified account” means an account maintained in a notified country by the specified person for his retirement benefits, which is taxed by that notified country at the time of withdrawal or redemption and, not on accrual basis; (c) “specified person” means a person resident in India having opened a specified account in a notified country while being non-resident in India and resident in that country.

158.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Relief from taxation in income from retirement benefit account maintained in a notified country.

89A. Where a specified person has income accrued in a specified account, such income shall be taxed in such manner and in such year as may be prescribed.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "notified country" means a country as may be notified by the Central Government in the Official Gazette for the purposes of this section;

(b) "specified account" means an account maintained in a notified country by the specified person in respect of his retirement benefits and the income from such account is not taxable on accrual basis but is taxed by such country at the time of withdrawal or redemption;

(c) "specified person" means a person resident in India who opened a specified account in a notified country while being non-resident in India and resident in that country.

158.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 158 of the Bill seeks to provide for relief from taxation in income from retirement benefit account maintained in a notified country. The clause corresponds to Section 89A of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

158.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Few important suggestions of the stakeholders are produced as below:-

(i) The words "as prescribed" in sub-section (1) may be removed and the provisions of Rule 21AAA relating to taxation of income from retirement benefit account maintained in a notified country can be incorporated in section 158. It is suggested that the provisions of Rule 21AAA which provides the manner of taxation of income from retirement benefit account maintained in a notified country can be incorporated in section 158 for completeness and clarity.

(ii) Redraft clause 158(1) as "The income accrued to a specified person in a specified account shall be taxed in the manner and in a tax year, as prescribed," 1. Clause 158 omits references to the prescribed manner of taxation of specified accounts, which is detailed in Rule 21AAA of the IT Rules. We would recommend a reinsertion. 2. recommended a drafting simplification since "specified account" is already defined to mean an account maintained in a notified country by a specified person

(iii) Redraft this provision as follows: "specified account" means an account maintained in a notified country by the specified person for his retirement benefits, the income from which is taxed by that notified country at the time of withdrawal or redemption and, not on accrual basis;" Our recommendation aligns the language of this provision with the language of Explanation (b) to section 89A of the IT Act.

158.5 Examination by the Committee:

The Ministry, in their written replies have furnished correspondingly as produced below-

(i) "This suggestion relates to the drafting of Rules and incorporating the Rule in the Clause itself. The Rule 21AAA prescribes the conditions, the prescription for exercising the option, other conditions and the Form for making the option. Considering that this is part of the delegated legislation made for the Govt. to prescribe rules to enable the implementation of the provision and to bring in ease of application it may not be feasible to accept this suggestion. The proposed provision is the simplified version of the corresponding provision of Income-Tax Act, 1961 and no amendment has been introduced in this simplified version from the policy perspective."

(ii) "ACCEPTED:

(i) This is in the nature of drafting correction. The long line in Clause 158(1) may be redrafted as "The income accrued to a specified person in a specified account shall be taxed in the manner and in a tax year, as prescribed,"

(ii) This is in the nature of drafting correction. The drafting of the Clause is consistent with the drafting in the IT Act though the mention of "notified country" is given in the Explanation rather than the section. However, the suggestion is acceptable and may be considered.

The proposed provision is the simplified version of the corresponding provision of Income-Tax Act, 1961 and no amendment has been introduced in this simplified version from the policy perspective apart from this drafting error".

(iii) "ACCEPTED: The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of a drafting suggestion and the phrase "the income from which" instead of "which" may be added to provide clarity and consistency with the Act. This is acceptable. The proposed provision is the simplified version of the corresponding provision of Income-Tax Act, 1961 and no amendment has been introduced in this simplified version from the policy perspective apart from this drafting error".

158.5.2 On the issue of incorporating the Clause in the rule itself, the representative of the Ministry of Finance submitted before the Committee as under:-

"there is a rule. Then, the suggestion is that the rule should be incorporated in the law itself. So, the rule 21AAA has been discussed earlier also. A huge body of rules and subordinate legislation cannot be a part of the main law".

158.5.3 In view of the intent of relief proposed through the Clause and similar to Section 89 A of the IT Act, 1961, the Ministry were requested to further clarify upon the implication of such relief with the provisions of DTAAs; eligibility of certain accounts (e.g., employer pension vs. individual retirement accounts); whether relief applied to both principal and deposits, or only to the income component; and the modalities involved in the event of partial withdrawals or phased annuity payments. In their written response, the Ministry have clarified as under:-

"In order to address the mismatch in the year of taxability of withdrawal from retirement funds by residents who had opened such fund when they were non resident in India and resident in foreign countries, Section 89A has been inserted vide Finance Act, 2021 with effect from 1.4.2022. The said sections provides that the income of a specified person from specified account shall be taxed in the manner and in the year as prescribed by the Central Government. The said section applies to a person resident in India who opened a specified account in a notified country while being non-resident in India and resident in that country. Specified account is defined as an account maintained in a notified country which is maintained for retirement benefits and the income from such account is not taxable on accrual basis and is taxed by such country at the time of withdrawal or redemption. Therefore, there is no ambiguity and there may not be any need for any further clarification".

158.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that the proposed Clause 158 of the Bill seeks to provide for relief from taxation in income from retirement benefit account maintained in a notified country. While, the clause corresponds to Section 89A of the Act and the provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and possibly retained with the same intent in this clause as justified by the Ministry, the Committee find a few key omissions which can lead to uncalled anomalies at interpretational stages. The omission of in the manner and in a tax year from the long line proposed in Clause 158 (1) brings in room for ambiguity. Being highlighted, the Ministry agreed to this drafting correction. So, the Committee recommend the long line of Clause 158 (1) to be read as under:-

"The income accrued to a specified person in a specified account shall be taxed in the manner and in a tax year, as prescribed,"

Further, the phrase "the income from which" instead of "which" may be added in Clause 158 (2), 3rd line to provide clarity and consistency with the Act.

Barring these changes, the Committee find other provisions of the Clause 158 acceptable.

B.—Double taxation relief

Clause – 159 –Agreement with foreign countries or specified territories and adoption by Central Government of agreement between specified associations for double taxation relief.

159.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

159. (1) The Central Government may enter into an agreement with the Government of— (a) any other country; or (b) any specified territory, for the purposes mentioned in sub-section (3), and may, by notification, make such provisions as necessary for implementing the agreement.

(2) Any specified association in India may enter into an agreement with any specified association in the specified territory for the purposes mentioned in sub-section (3) and the Central Government may, by notification, make such provisions as may be necessary for adopting and implementing such agreement.

(3) The agreement mentioned in sub-section (1) or (2) may be entered for— (a) the granting of relief in respect of— (i) income on which income-tax has been paid both under this Act and income-tax in that country or specified territory, as the case may be; or (ii) income-tax chargeable under this Act and under the corresponding law in force in that country or specified territory, as the case may be, to promote mutual economic relations, trade and investment; or (b) the avoidance of double taxation of income under this Act and under the corresponding law in force in that country or specified territory, as the case may be, without creating opportunities for non-taxation or reduced taxation through tax evasion or avoidance (including through treaty-shopping arrangements aimed at obtaining reliefs provided in the said agreement for the indirect benefit to residents of any other country or territory); (c) exchange of information for— (i) the prevention of evasion or avoidance of income-tax chargeable under this Act or under the corresponding law in force in that country or specified territory, as the case may be; or (ii) investigation of cases of such evasion or avoidance; or (d) recovery of income-tax under this Act and under the corresponding law in force in that country or specified territory, as the case may be.

(4) Where,— (a) the Central Government has entered into an agreement with the Government of any country or specified territory, as the case may be, under sub-section (1); or (b) a specified association in India has entered into an agreement with a specified association of any specified territory under sub-section (2) and such agreement has been notified under that sub-section, for granting relief of tax, or avoidance of double taxation, then, in relation to the assessee to whom such agreement applies, the provisions of this Act shall apply to the extent they are more beneficial to that assessee.

(5) The charge of tax,— (a) in respect of a foreign company at a rate higher than the rate at which a domestic company is chargeable; or (b) in respect of a company incorporated in the specified territory at a rate higher than the rate at which a domestic company is chargeable, shall not be regarded as less favourable charge or levy of tax in respect of such foreign company or such company incorporated in the specified territory, as the case may be.

(6) Irrespective of anything contained in sub-section (4), the provisions of Chapter XI shall apply to the assessee, even if such provisions are not beneficial to him.

(7) Where, any—– (a) term used in an agreement entered into under sub-section (1) or (2), is defined under the said agreement, the said term shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in that agreement and where the term is not defined in that agreement, but defined in this Act, it shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in this Act and the explanation, if any, given to it by the Central Government, and shall be deemed to have effect from the date on which that agreement came into force; or (b) term is used but not defined in this Act or in the agreement referred to in sub-section (1) or (2), it shall, unless the context otherwise requires, and is not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act or the said agreement, have the same meaning as assigned to it in the notification issued by the Central Government in this behalf, and the meaning assigned to such term shall be deemed to have effect from the date on which that agreement came into force; or (c) term is used in any agreement entered into under sub-section (1) or (2), and not defined under the said agreement or this Act, or in any notification issued under clause (b), then, unless the context otherwise requires, it shall have the same meaning as assigned to it— (i) in any Act of the Central Government related to taxes; and (ii) in any other case, in any other law of the Central Government, and shall be deemed to have effect from the date on which the said agreement came into force.

(8) An assessee, not being a resident, shall be entitled to claim any relief under an agreement mentioned in sub-section (1) or (2), only when— (a) a certificate of his being a resident in any country or specified territory, is obtained by him from the Government of that country or Government of that specified territory, as the case may be, and (b) he provides such other documents and information, as prescribed.

(9) In this section,— (a) “specified associations” means any institution, association or body, whether incorporated or not— (A) functioning under any law for the time being in force in India or the laws of the specified territory; and (B) which may be notified as such by the Central Government; and (b) “specified territory” means any area outside India which may be notified as such by the Central Government.

159.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Agreement with foreign countries or specified territories.

90. (1) The Central Government may enter into an agreement with the Government of any country outside India or specified territory outside India,—

(a) for the granting of relief in respect of—

(i) income on which have been paid both income-tax under this Act and income-tax in that country or specified territory, as the case may be, or

(ii) income-tax chargeable under this Act and under the corresponding law in force in that country or specified territory, as the case may be, to promote mutual economic relations, trade and investment, or

(b) for the avoidance of double taxation of income under this Act and under the corresponding law in force in that country or specified territory, as the case may be, without creating opportunities for non-taxation or reduced taxation through tax evasion or avoidance (including through treaty-shopping arrangements aimed at obtaining reliefs provided in the said agreement for the indirect benefit to residents of any other country or territory), or

(c) for exchange of information for the prevention of evasion or avoidance of income-tax chargeable under this Act or under the corresponding law in force in that country or specified territory, as the case may be, or investigation of cases of such evasion or avoidance, or

(d) for recovery of income-tax under this Act and under the corresponding law in force in that country or specified territory, as the case may be,

and may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make such provisions as may be necessary for implementing the agreement.

(2) Where the Central Government has entered into an agreement with the Government of any country outside India or specified territory outside India, as the case may be, under sub-section (1) for granting relief of tax, or as the case may be, avoidance of double taxation, then, in relation to the assessee to whom such agreement applies, the provisions of this Act shall apply to the extent they are more beneficial to that assessee.

(2A) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (2), the provisions of Chapter X-A of the Act shall apply to the assessee even if such provisions are not beneficial to him.

(3) Any term used but not defined in this Act or in the agreement referred to in sub-section (1) shall, unless the context otherwise requires, and is not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act or the agreement, have the same meaning as assigned to it in the notification issued by the Central Government in the Official Gazette in this behalf.

(4) An assessee, not being a resident, to whom an agreement referred to in sub-section (1) applies, shall not be entitled to claim any relief under such agreement unless a certificate of his being a resident in any country outside India or specified territory outside India, as the case may be, is obtained by him from the Government of that country or specified territory.

(5) The assessee referred to in sub-section (4) shall also provide such other documents and information, as may be prescribed.

Explanation 1.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that the charge of tax in respect of a foreign company at a rate higher than the rate at which a domestic company is chargeable, shall not be regarded as less favourable charge or levy of tax in respect of such foreign company.

Explanation 2.—For the purposes of this section, "specified territory" means any area outside India which may be notified as such by the Central Government.

Explanation 3.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that where any term is used in any agreement entered into under sub-section (1) and not defined under the said agreement or the Act, but is assigned a meaning to it in the notification issued under sub-section (3) and the notification issued thereunder being in force, then, the meaning assigned to such term shall be deemed to have effect from the date on which the said agreement came into force.

Explanation 4.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that where any term used in an agreement entered into under sub-section (1) is defined under the said agreement, the said term shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in the agreement; and where the term is not defined in the said agreement, but defined in the Act, it shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in the Act and explanation, if any, given to it by the Central Government.

159.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 159 of the Bill provides for agreement with foreign countries or specified territories and adoption by the Central Government of agreement between specified associations for double taxation relief. It also seeks to provide for double taxation relief where the Central Government has entered into an agreement with other countries. The said clause further provides for exchange of information for the prevention of evasion and avoidance of income-tax and also for recovery of income-tax. The clause corresponds to section 90 and 90A of the Act. The two sections 90 and 90A of the Act have been merged. The provisions of the existing sections have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

The Bill clarifies India's tax treaty position in relation to terms used in such treaty. The proposed section 159(7) of the Bill now mentions that: -

(i) If any term is used in the agreement and defined both in the agreement and the Bill, it will have the meaning which is provided in the agreement;

(ii) If any term is used in the agreement but has not been defined in it, but has a definition in the Bill, it will have the meaning provided in the Bill or in any explanation which is given to it by the Central Government, and the meaning will be applicable from the date of the agreement;

(iii) If any term is used in the agreement and is neither defined in the agreement nor in the Bill, it will have the meaning given to it in any notification issued by the Central Government, and such meaning will be applicable from the date of the agreement;

(iv) If any term is used in the agreement and is not defined in the agreement or in the Bill or in any notification, it will have the meaning given in any Act of the Central Government relating to taxes, or in its absence, in any other law of the Central Government, and such meaning will be applicable from the date of the agreement.

This clarified position will reduce litigation and provide certainty to how any term is interpreted in a tax treaty situation. It reflects India's present tax treaty position and is also aligned with international tax treaty practices in this regard".

159.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

A few key suggestions on the proposed Clause are summarized below:-

(i) Under Section 90(3) of the existing Act, if a treaty term was not explicitly defined, it was first interpreted based on domestic tax law, then through treaty principles, followed by public international law. However, Clause 159(7) of the New Bill restricts this approach by mandating that undefined terms must be interpreted based on any ""Central Act related to taxes"" or ""any other law of the Central Government". This proposed amendment is likely to result in litigation as India's Supreme Court has repeatedly upheld reliance on the Vienna Convention on the Law of Treaties 1969 for treaty interpretation. Retain the provisions of the Income-tax Act, 1961."

(ii) Section 90 of the Current Law outlines the approach for interpreting terms that are not explicitly defined within tax treaties. It stipulates that such terms should be understood based on definitions provided in the Act itself or through notifications issued by the Central Government. While, Clause 159 of the New Bill seeks to broaden the existing approach for interpreting terms not defined in tax treaties or the Act. It specifies that if a term is not defined in the Act or through government notifications, the definition should be sought in any other Central Government act related to tax, or from any other Central Government law. To prevent potential disputes in the interpretation and application of tax treaties, the phrase "..and is not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act or the agreement" should be incorporated into clause 159(7)(c) of the New Bill as referring to other Central Government laws for interpreting tax treaties may not align with the original intent and spirit of the tax treaty, potentially leading to disputes or inefficiencies in treaty interpretation and application.

(iii) Usually, under Article 3(2) of DTAA, if a term is not defined in the DTAA, it derives its meaning from the laws of the Contracting State relating to taxes to which the DTAA applies.

(iv) May conflict with Article 3(2) of DTAA.

(v) Avoid unilateral override.

(vi) Sub clause (d) may be inserted to clarify that: "(d) Where none of the above definitions apply, the term shall be interpreted in accordance with its ordinary meaning, having regard to the object and purpose of the agreement." Sub clause (e) may be inserted to provide that – (e) Irrespective of anything contained in sub-section (7), no notification issued under sub section (7) shall be construed to apply retrospectively so as to— (i) increase the total income or tax liability of the assessee; (ii) deny or withdraw any deduction, exemption, rebate, or relief otherwise available under this Act or the agreement; (iii) alters the tax treatment of income, expenses or transactions resulting in an additional tax liability of the assessee; (iv) reopen, reassess, or revise any completed assessment solely by virtue of such notification; (v) result in any other consequence of a substantially similar nature; unless such retrospective application is expressly provided in the notification and is consistent with the object and purpose of the said agreement.
The deeming effect from the date the treaty came into force may raise issues if a notification or law comes much later. Thus, this new sub-clause will avoid retrospective disputes arising from late notifications assigning new definitions. The proposed sub-clause (e) ensures that retrospective application of notifications defining treaty terms does not lead to unintended tax consequences such as increased liability, denial of benefits, or reopening of concluded assessments It introduces clear, objective triggers to define when retrospective application is impermissible, thereby enhancing legal certainty and reducing the scope for arbitrary or revenue-biased interpretations.

(vii) This provision should be deleted. This provision, read with Chapter XI (clause 181(1)) denies DTAA benefits to a taxpayer if an agreement is declared to be an impermissible avoidance agreement However, DTAAs are agreements between two sovereign states, based on bilateral negotiations They contain mutually agreed upon anti-abuse provisions, and the absence of anti-abuse provisions is a result of mutual negotiations Enabling Chapter XI (GAAR) to override negotiated treaty provisions results in treaty obligations not being complied with A corresponding change has also been suggested in Clause 183 of Chapter XI read with clause 159 (8).

(viii) The phrase “shall be deemed to have effect from the date on which the agreement came into force” in Clause 159(7) should be replaced as follows:

(a) “…shall be deemed to have effect from the date on which the definition of the term is introduced in the Act” in clause 159(7)(a);
(b) “…shall be deemed to have effect from the date on which the definition of the term is introduced the notification” in clause 159(7)(b); and
(c) “shall be deemed to have effect from the date on which the definition of the term is introduced the said Act or any other law, as the case may be” in clause 159(7)(c). This provision pertains to terms which are undefined in tax treaties, which are subsequently defined in domestic law. Such definitions should apply prospectively from the date of introduction into domestic law, and not from the date on which the treaty comes into force.

(ix) Insert a new provision (c) in clause 159(8) :"(c) his status as a "resident" of the concerned country or specified territory is not denied by the prescribed income-tax authority under Chapter XI of this Act." This provision relates to tax treaty residency requirements which is highly litigated A Chapter XI analysis adds an additional check to test treaty eligibility based on residency.

(x) Should be deleted. This is not in the Income-Tax Act, 1961 Further, this could also lead to unnecessary litigation as to the meaning of the term and which Act to apply, if more than one Act applies This clause introduces ambiguity and potential for litigation Different Central laws often define the same term differently Requiring reference to other Acts to interpret undefined terms can result in inconsistency and legal uncertainty Illustration: The term “forest produce” is defined under the Indian Forest Act, 1927 This definition has now been referenced in the context of section 206C of the Income-Tax Act, 1961 for TCS on sale of forest produce like timber, tendu leaves, etc However, the definition of “forest produce” can vary significantly across different forest laws and even among different State enactments If Clause 159(7) mandates applying definitions from other Central laws without specificity, disputes may arise as to which version or context of “forest produce” should apply This opens the door to conflicting interpretations and compliance challenges.

(xi) The provisions of the present Income-tax Act, 1961 should be continued. There has been policy change made by expanding meaning for undefined terms from Notification to any other Act to any Central Act related to taxes and further to any other law of Central Government! Such a policy change can lead to references which may not be in line with the law as it stands today Further, such meanings cannot be deemed to come into effect from the date on which said agreement came into force because that would have retroactive effect.

(xii) If any term used in the Tax Treaty is not defined in the Tax Treaty or the Bill or any notification issued by the Central Government, then such term will have the meaning assigned to it as per accepted international tax principles and jurisprudence. Reference to other laws to define the meaning of a term under the income tax laws may lead to various implications. For instance, the term 'beneficial owner' referred to in Article 10 (Dividends), Article 11 (Interest) and Article 12 (Royalty/ Fee for Technical Services) of the Tax Treaty is not defined under the Tax Treaty or the ITB or any notification issued by the Central Government. The said term, however, is defined under section 2(fa) of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA). If the aforesaid definition is imported from PMLA to define meaning of the term beneficial owner under the Tax Treaty then such income received by, eg a Dutch company (who is beneficial owner of such income as per prevailing Indian/ international jurisprudence), may sought to be taxed in the hands of the ultimate shareholder/ promoter (who may be a resident of some other jurisdiction) of such Dutch company.

(xiii) The language should not be changed. The ITB has expanded the scope of the section to include that where any term used in the DTAA is not defined in the DTAA or the ITA, then the meaning can now also be drawn from: - Any other central tax law or - Any other Central law in India This shall create substantial interpretation issues as the reference to any tax law and any Central Law would widens the scope and may lead to unintended outcomes and would also have an implication on the interplay with Article 3(2) This change is expected to lead to further litigation rather than reducing litigation.

159.5 Examination by the Committee:

On the various suggestions on Clause 159 from the stakeholders, the Ministry have opined as under:-

(i) "Clause 159(7)(a) & 159(7)(b) are pari-materia to Explanation 3 & Explanation. 4 to section 90 of the IT Act. Accordingly, any term mentioned in a DTAA takes its meaning from such agreement or from IT Act or from Explanation given by the Central Government or by notification issued by the Central Government. There are cases where still some terms remained to be assigned a meaning. For example, what is a copyright or a software. Such terms should take meaning from other tax laws or other central government laws as applicable in the context. The domestic tax law should give precedence to the other domestic laws over public international law. Therefore, the amendment in the Bill has been rightly made. Since, it does not disturb the treaty provisions in any manner, there is no cause for any apprehension in this regard. A tax treaty is also part of international law. This body of international law itself permits the recourse to domestic law meaning in case of terms not defined in a tax treaty, with the caveat that the meaning in the domestic tax law shall prevail over the meaning given in any other domestic law. Therefore, the proposed provision shall remove ambiguity and bring clarity on the existing legal position. The amendment has been made with a view to rationalise the provision so as to provide tax certainty and reduce litigation and to make the language clear and direct. Therefore, no change in the provision may be necessary. The proposed provision is similar to the provisions of the Income-tax Act, 1961. It has further been rationalised by taking into account the DTAA provisions and settled judicial precedents. This shall clarify the legal position and minimise probable dispute in future".

(ii) "Stakeholder seeks to amend the provisions of GAAR, so that it shall not override the provisions of DTAA. The suggestion is the nature of policy change, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025. There is no change in the IT Bill, 2025 vis-a-vis I T Act, 1961. GAAR apply irrespective of treaty. This is an internationally accepted principle. The provisions of GAAR applies to such arrangements, the main purpose of which is to obtain a tax benefit, which inter alia results in misuse or abuse of the provisions of Income-tax Act. However, the assessee is given an opportunity to the prove that the arrangement is for the bonafide reasons and contrary to the presumption that it is mainly for obtaining tax benefit. The proposed provision is similar to the provisions of the Income-tax Act, 1961".

(iii) "Stakeholder seeks an amendment in clause 159(7) so as to provide that the 'term' referred to in said clause shall be deemed to have effect from the date on which said 'term' is introduced in the Bill. Clause 159(7)(a)& (b) are pari-materia to Explanation 3 & Explanation 4 to section 90/90A of the IT Act. Further Clause 159(7)(C) is pari-materia to the provisions of certain DTAA such as India-Norway Treaty. The date of effectivity in all three provisions are same. i.e. from the date on which that agreement came into force. The proposed provision is similar to the provisions of the Income-tax Act, 1961".

(iv) "Stakeholder seeks to add a new provision where status of residency claimed is not denied by IT Authorities. The suggestion is the nature of policy change, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025. There is no change in the IT Bill, 2025 vis-a-vis I T Act, 1961. Where a taxpayer claims himself to be resident of another country and seeks relief on that account, appropriate due diligence is required to be carried out. Requirement of residency certificate and certain documents to verify genuineness of claim of tax relief are primary and necessary to ensure bonafide claims and prevent abuse of beneficial provisions. Therefore, the suggested amended is not feasible. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions of the I T Act".

159.5.2 Clause 159 (7) pertaining to Agreement with foreign countries or specified territories and adoption by Central Government of agreement between specified associations for double taxation relief introduces a new provision for understanding the definition of any term, not mentioned in Treaty, Current Act or Tax Laws, it can be understood by any other law of the Central Government, and shall be deemed to have effect from the date on which the said agreement came into force. In this context, the Committee were keen to be acquainted with following clarification on the following points:-

(i) Instances of probable litigation, when Clause 159(7) mandates applying definitions from other Central laws without specificity. Example- The term "forest produce" can be defined differently under different versions and context. This opens the door to conflicting interpretations and compliance challenges.

(ii) The deeming effect from the date the treaty came into force may raise issues if a notification or law comes much later. This creates a challenge of the interpretation being done retrospectively which could generate retrospective disputes arising from late notifications assigning new definitions. Idea behind keeping this retrospective effect in vogue.

(iii) When one of the primary focus of the Bill is aimed at reduction in litigation, whether any in-depth analysis was carried out before the introduction of the above quoted provision to mitigate international disputes.

The Ministry in their written response have replied as under:-

(i) "Clause 159(7)(a) & 159(7)(b) are pari-materia to Explanation 3 & Expl. 4 to section 90 of the IT Act.

(ii) Accordingly, any term mentioned in a DTAA takes its meaning from such agreement or from IT Act or from Explanation given by the Central Government or by notification issued by the Central Government.

(iii) There are cases where still some terms remained to be assigned a meaning. For example, what is a copyright or a software. Such terms should take meaning from other tax laws or other central government laws as applicable in the context. The domestic tax law should give precedence to the other domestic laws over public international law.

(iv) Therefore, the amendment in the Bill has been rightly made. Since, it does not disturb the treaty provisions in any manner, there is no cause for any apprehension in this regard.

(v) A tax treaty is also part of international law. This body of international law itself permits the recourse to domestic law meaning in case of terms not defined in a tax treaty, with the caveat that the meaning in the domestic tax law shall prevail over the meaning given in any other domestic law.

(vi) To explain the issue in detail, there exists a specific paragraph in the tax treaties (Double Taxation Avoidance Agreements or DTAAs in short) entered into by India with other countries dealing with such undefined terms. Two representative instances are given below:

(a) Article 3(2) of India-Norway DTAA:

"As regards the application of the Agreement at any time by a Contracting State any term not defined therein shall, unless the context otherwise requires, have the meaning that it has at that time under the law of that State for the purposes of the taxes to which the Agreement applies, any meaning under the applicable tax laws of that State prevailing over a meaning given to the term under other laws of that State."

(b) Article 3(2) of India-Armenia DTAA:

"2. As regards the application of the Convention at any time by a Contracting State, any term not defined therein shall, unless the context otherwise requires, have the meaning that it has at that time under the law of that State for the purposes of the taxes to which the Convention applies, any meaning under the applicable tax laws of that State prevailing over a meaning given to the term under other laws of that State."

(vii) Thus, when a term is not defined in the tax treaty, its meaning is to be obtained from the domestic laws of the Contracting State which is applying the treaty. When the term is defined in more than one laws of that State, the meaning in applicable tax laws would prevail. Article 3(2) of the tax treaty also clarifies that the meaning which is prevalent in such State at the time of applying the treaty is to be taken in this regard.

(viii) This explicit reference to other laws of the treaty applying State and the hierarchy of prevalent meanings which is required to be maintained is missing from the present text of the IT Act, 1961. In other words, the provisions of the present Act have a narrower scope than the tax treaty. To bridge this gap, the

IT Bill, 2025 adopts the formulation as given in clause 159(7)(c). It conforms to the internationally prevalent and accepted text of Article 3(2) as found in modern tax treaties.

(ix) This text of Article 3(2) owes its origin to the revised text of OECD Model Convention. The OECD Commentary on paragraph 2 of Article 3 mentions the following in this regard:

"13.1 Paragraph 2 was amended in 1995 to conform its text more closely to the general and consistent understanding of member states. For purposes of paragraph 2, the meaning of any term not defined in the Convention may be ascertained by reference to the meaning it has for the purpose of any relevant provision of the domestic law of a Contracting State, whether or not a tax law. However, where a term is defined differently for the purposes of different laws of a Contracting State, the meaning given to that term for purposes of the laws imposing the taxes to which the Convention applies shall prevail over all others, including those given for the purposes of other tax laws. States that are able to enter into mutual agreements (under the provisions of Article 25 and, in particular, paragraph 3 thereof) that establish the meanings of terms not defined in the Convention should take those agreements into account in interpreting those terms."

(x) This is the approach which is now consistently being adopted in our tax treaties with other countries, Hence, a matching principle needed to be incorporated in the ITB 2025.

(xi) As regards the issue as to why has a retrospective approach been adopted by allowing for a meaning to have an effect from the date the treaty came into force, it may be stated that a tax treaty doesn't get revised very often. On the other hand, the domestic tax law gets amended quite frequently. This is the reason that Article 3(2) of a tax treaty declares categorically that the meaning of an undefined term prevalent at the time of applying the treaty is to be taken. Thus, every time a new meaning is provided in a domestic law, this meaning automatically gets covered in the tax treaty by virtue of Article 3(2). This will apply irrespective of the tax year (or assessment year concerned). To facilitate this, the deeming provision has been placed to cover all the tax years to which a treaty may apply.

(xii) As is evident from the text of Article 3(2), this is an international tax treaty principle.

(xiii) With regard to the point that whether other countries also take recourse to changing the domestic law meaning, it may be mentioned that the US income tax law was amended to include provisions relating to 'computer programs', in 1998. This was done by way of insertion of "§ 1.861-18: Classification of transactions involving computer programs" in US IRS Code. The US Department of Treasury has explained it in its TD 8765 as regulations which 'clarify the treatment under certain provisions of the Code and tax treaties of income from transactions involving computer programs'. It is specifically mentioned in TD 8785 issued by the Department of the Treasury that:

"These regulations are intended to apply for purposes of applying and interpreting U.S. tax treaties. United States tax treaties provide that terms not defined in the treaty are defined by reference to domestic law. See e.g., U.S. Model Income Tax Convention of September 20, 1996, Article 3(2)."

(xiv) Thus, the international tax treaty practice also shows that domestic law meaning can change, which is actually in consonance with the text of Article 3(2) of the tax treaty".

159.5.3 During the course of discussion, the representatives of the Ministry of Finance deposed before the Committee, on the provisions of Clause 159, as reproduced below:-

> "DTAA will have overriding effect vis-à-vis Income-Tax Act. But if it is not provided in that, in that case, what is provided in the domestic income tax law, after that, priority was if the Government has notified some definition, after that, it was not saying anything….after that, it was giving tax laws. Fourth was tax laws. Any other tax laws in India. So, that can be used for defining that term. After that, whether the same term is in some domestic law or in international law, so, which law is to be used, it was not there. This ambiguity was there. Our DTAA are aligned on that domestic law and it should be used even as the last resort…what happened, in some decisions, despite the fact that the term was available in Indian laws, the tribunals and courts went to USA and some other countries law and they decided the issue against the Department or revenue or exchequer whatever you say. So, this ambiguity is there. When we went to the OECD commentary etc, there also, they say, as the last resort, the domestic law should have priority. So, accordingly, we have made amendment in this….what we are saying is that what is being followed in other countries also and by OECD also, that if the same term is defined in our domestic law, we are interpreting for domestic transactions in our own country. So, in that case, we should first rely on our own laws, like Sir, if something is defined in Copyright Act of India, then that definition should be considered first, not the Copyright Act defined in some foreign law. This is our contention."

159.5.4 Elaborating further on the need for amendment in the Clause 159, the Secretary, Ministry of Finance (Department of Revenue) submitted before the Committee as under:-

"Sir, just to clarify the previous point, there is an approach Sir, graded type, like what do you refer to. So, the last step today which is blank, courts have interpreted saying that we will use Vienna Convention for interpretation. So, our steps are if it is defined under the DTAA or if it is notified by the Government, all that we are doing is instead of approaching if there is, if you follow all the steps today, the blank in the law which was getting interpreted by the Supreme Court using an international law, we are saying let that interpretation be from outside our domestic law, any other tax law which is the right approach. We should use our approach and that is what we are doing. We are using the date of the notification of the DTAA. If a new definition has come, and if we are using that definition, it will have effects. Repeatedly, we do not have to change our DTAAs. Presently, it is also provided".

159.5.5 On the aspect that GAAR should not override the provisions of DTAA, the representative of Ministry of Finance during the sitting of the Committee submitted before the Committee as below:-

"Sir, these are related to General Anti avoidance Rules which have now been incorporated in most of the jurisdictions involved. These cover special types of schemes and arrangements made in order to defeat the right purposes of the Act and evade taxes. The procedure of GAAR is very tough. It cannot be invoked just like that. There is one approving panel headed by a High Court Judge-level person, one person from academia and one Chief Commissioner-level person. They approve it. And, GAAR is for domestic use. So, wherever it is found that DTAA provisions are being misused, that can also be overlooked. ……"महोदय, हमारे एग्रीमेंट्स डीटीएए कई सालों से चले आ रहे हैं और जो वर्ल्ड की जो बॉडीज हैं जैसे यूनाइटेड नेशन्स फ्रेम वर्क की बॉडी है, ये आपस में डिस्कस करते हैं। इस बारे में ग्लोबल फोरम भी सोच रही है। उसी के तहत पीपीटी बनाई गई। सारी कंट्रीज ने मिलकर आपस में डिसाइड किया है कि उनका जो एग्जिस्टिंग डीटीएए है, उसके ऊपर पीपीटी लगेगा या नहीं लगेगा।…….हमारा जो असेसिंग आफिसर है या …….वहां का जो असेसिंग आफिसर है, वह भी देख सकता है कि इस पूरे अरेंजमेंट का रियल परपस क्या है कमर्शियल है या केवल टैक्स इवेजन का है"।……"सर, आपने जो बात कही है, वह बिल्कुल तार्किक है। आपका मूलभूत सवाल था कि हमने पहले डीटीएए क्यों साइन किया, तो अब बदलते समय के साथ-साथ हम हर जगह डीटीएए में भी एक अमेंडमेंट ला रहे हैं, जिसमें प्रिंसिपल पर्पस टैक्स (पीपीटी), जिसकी बात मेम्बर (लेजिस्लेशन) ने की, उसको हम ला रहे हैं। यह दोहरे कर से मुक्ति का एग्रीमेंट है, मतलब कि अगर मेरे यहां टैक्स दे दिया गया तो आप उस पर टैक्स न दें और इस तरह उस पर डबल टैक्स न हो, लेकिन अगर कोई टैक्स ही न दे और अगर उस तरह के किसी उद्देश्य से कोई एग्रीमेंट साइन हुआ है तो उसके लिए डीटीएए में भी अब हम प्रिंसिपल पर्पस टैक्स (पीपीटी), जो कि एक मल्टीलेटरल अरेंजमेंट है, उसको इन्क्लूड कर रहे हैं। यह उन कंपनियों को ध्यान में रखते हुए किया गया है, जोडीटीएए की आड़ में पूरे टैक्स को ही अवॉयड कर दें, न वे यहां टैक्स दें, न वहां टैक्स दें। वे किसी देश में बस इसलिए हैं कि बस टैक्स न दे पाएं। उनकी उस देश में कोई वास्तविक आर्थिक उपस्थिति नहीं है और वह कंपनी बस अपने आप को टैक्स-हेवन के थ्रू रूट कर रही है, ताकि टैक्स बेनिफिट ले सके। उस चीज को भी डीटीएए में इन्क्लूड किया गया है"। "सर, जैसा कि आपने बताया कि अगर जीएएआर और डीटीएए में कोई कॉन्फ्लिक्ट है तो जैसा पीपीटी के माध्यम से उस कॉन्फ्लिक्ट को कम किया जा रहा है। इसका मुख्य उद्देश्य यह नहीं है कि उसको डबल टैक्सेशन का बेनिफिट न दिया जाए, बल्कि मुख्य उद्देश्य यह है कि उसकी आड़ में कोई इस तरह का दुरुपयोग न हो और उसको अवॉयड करने के लिए ये चीजें डाली गयीं हैं"। "GAAR is basically invoked in domestic law"

159.5.6 The representatives of the Ministry of Finance, during the sitting, further elaborated on the aspect of use of definition of term in a treaty before the Committee as under:-

"यह कोई रेट्रोस्पेक्टिव अमेंडमेंट नहीं है। यह वह मामला है, जहां हमने बोला कि अगर कोई भी टर्म डीटीएए में डिफाइंड नहीं है तो फिर उसकी डेफिनिशन कहां से आएगी?.....There is a sequence of priority from where the definitions of terms are taken. There is a provision where a term is not defined in the treaty, but it is defined in the Act. Then, the definition of the Act prevails……The problem here is of timeline when I amend my Act to include the meaning of 'processing fees'. For example, a term 'processing' is used in the treaty. What is the meaning of the word 'processing'? Suppose, I put it on my statute at this point of time in 2020. Whether that definition of processing goes back to the signing of the treaty itself. The treaty uses the term since 2015. Whether that processing will apply from the initiation of the treaty or not. Yes, to that extent, it is retrospective. But it is not retrospective from the purpose. It is for the explanatory retrospective effect only. How that term is to be interpreted in the treaty goes by the definition as and when it is defined in the Act. Sir. It deemed to have effect from the date on which that agreement came into force"……."सर, यहां जीएएआर एप्लाई नहीं होगा। हमारा तो यह मानना है कि अगर ट्रीटी में कोई ऐसा टर्म है, जिसकी डेफिनिशन ट्रीटी में नहीं है, दूसरी बात यह आती है कि उसकी डेफिनिशन हमारे टैक्स लॉज़ में हो, तो वहां भी नहीं है। यह पहले से एक्ट में दिया हुआ है। फिर तीसरा यह है कि सरकार ने कोई नोटिफिकेशन किया हो, जिसमें उसका अर्थ निकल रहा हो, लेकिन वहां भी नहीं है। उसके पास एक एम्बिग्विटी थी। हमारे पास कई डोमेस्टिक लॉज़ हैं। जैसे कॉपीराइट की डेफिनिशन चाहिए तो हमारा अपना कॉपीराइट एक्ट है। अगर कम्प्यूटर की डेफिनिशन चाहिए तो हमारे पास अपनी इंफॉर्मेशन टेक्नोलॉजी एक्ट है। फिर समस्या यह उठी कि हम उनके उस एक्ट को देखें या पूरे विश्व में कहीं से भी कोई एक्ट देख कर हम कोई डेफिनिशन लेकर आएं। उसमें कुछ निर्णय ऐसे आएं, जिसमें हमारे डोमेस्टिक डेफिनिशन्स को न देख कर बाहर के डेफिनिशन को देखा गया। इसलिए जब हम लोगों ने इस बिल को प्रोवाइड किया तो एक निश्चितता के लिए एम्बिग्विटी खत्म करने के लिए यह बोल दिया कि लास्ट रिसॉर्ट में हम अपने डोमेस्टिक लॉज़ को पहले देखेंगे कि क्या किसी भी दूसरे डोमेस्टिक लॉज़ में क्या कोई डेफिनिशन है? अगर वह है तो उसको मानेंगे"।….."जहां तक यह लिखा हुआ है कि it shall deem to have effect from... वह पहले भी था, जब सरकार के किसी नोटिफिकेशन से कुछ आता था। अगर हम पुराने एक्ट को देखेंगे तो उसमें भी यही भाषा का उपयोग हुआ है। हमने एम्बिग्विटी खत्म करने के लिए इसे लाया है और डोमेस्टिक लॉज़ को डॉमिनेंस देने के लिए इसको लाया है"।

159.5.7 Further elaborating before the Committee, the Secretary, Ministry of Finance (Department of Revenue) deposed as under:-

"This is essentially legally gap filling in the sense if agreement defines something, we use that definition. If agreement does not define it, how do we refer to it? Now we are saying it will refer to our Act or something we notify. What they are asking is this. For example, Sir, if you see the first paragraph, it says, 'If any term used in tax treaty is not defined, then such term will have the meaning assigned to it as per accepted international tax practice and jurisprudence'. The point which he was trying to explain is because international tax practice could be varied, there could even be cherry picking. Somebody may pick some definition from somewhere which is useful to him. We are just bringing a systemic approach, how we will go one by one, step by step to define or to refer, to use the definition where it is not there in the original agreement itself. So, we have just brought clarity and the point which was being made is, in a similar form it is there in existing Act also, in the form of an explanation. The deemed provision is not retrospective. All that it is saying is, since the agreement has been signed at some point of time in the past, how do you treat because this issue will come only when there is a dispute in the future. So, obviously, it applies to all agreements".

159.5.8 On the aspect of adding a new provision where status of residency claimed is not denied by IT Authorities, the representatives of Ministry of Finance, during a sitting of the Committee, deposed as under:-

> "the stakeholder is saying that where a taxpayer claims a residency status, new provision should be inserted that the status of residency claimed is not denied by Income Tax authorities. Sir, status of residency is only a claim. After that, some due diligence has to be carried out by the Income Tax authority whether he is entitled to that claim or not. This is done to prevent abuse of the treaty. So, just by claiming that I am a resident of this country….Not every, Sir. It is only by that random selection only. We cannot check every non-resident".

159.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee scrutinized the proposed Clause 159 thoroughly and find that it provides for agreement with foreign countries or specified territories and adoption by the Central Government of agreement between specified associations for double taxation relief. It also seeks to provide for double taxation relief where the Central Government has entered into an agreement with other countries. The clause corresponds to section 90 and 90A of the Act. The two sections 90 and 90A of the Act have been merged. Although, the provisions of the existing sections have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause, the Committee find an addition in the new proposed Clause which states that If any term is used in the agreement and is not defined in the agreement or in the Bill or in any notification, it will have the meaning given in any Act of the Central Government relating to taxes, or in its absence, in any other law of the Central Government, and such meaning will be applicable from the date of the agreement*. The Committee take note of this addition and have also examined the replies of the Ministry in this regard. Subsequently, the Committee find that it is clarificatory in nature which further augments India's position in such agreements. It will also reduce litigation and provide certainty to how any term is interpreted in a tax treaty situation. Thus, the Committee, agree with the justification provided by the Ministry for such addition to the erstwhile Section of the IT Act, 1961 and appreciate the intent of this Clause in its simplification, while accepting the proposed Clause 159 in its entirety.

Clause – 160 –Countries with which no agreement exists.

160.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

160.(1) If any person who is resident in India in any tax year proves that, in respect of his income which accrued or arose during that tax year outside India (and which is not deemed to accrue or arise in India), he has paid in any country with which there is no agreement under section 159 for the relief or avoidance of double taxation, income-tax, by deduction or otherwise, under the law in force in that country, he shall be entitled to the deduction from the Indian income-tax payable by him of a sum calculated on such doubly taxed income,—

(a) at the Indian rate of tax or the rate of tax of the said country, whichever is the lower; or

(b) at the Indian rate of tax, if both the rates are equal.

(2) If any non-resident person is assessed on his share in the income of a registered firm assessed as resident in India in any tax year and such share includes any income accruing or arising outside India during that tax year (and which is not deemed to accrue or arise in India) in a country with which there is no agreement under section 159 for the relief or avoidance of double taxation and he proves that he has paid income-tax by deduction or otherwise under the law in force in that country in respect of the income so included he shall be entitled to a deduction from the Indian income-tax payable by him of a sum calculated on such doubly taxed income so included,— (a) at the Indian rate of tax or the rate of tax of the said country, whichever is the lower; or (b) at the Indian rate of tax, if both the rates are equal.

(3) In this section,— (a) “income-tax” in relation to any country includes any excess profits tax or business profits tax charged on the profits by the Government of any part of that country or a local authority in that country; (b) “Indian income-tax” means income-tax charged as per this Act; (c) “Indian rate of tax” means the rate determined by dividing Indian income-tax after deduction of any relief due under the provisions of this Act but before deduction of any relief due under this section, by the total income; and (d) “rate of tax of the said country” means income-tax and super-tax actually paid in the said country as per the corresponding laws in force in the said country after deduction of all relief due, but before deduction of any relief due in the said country in respect of double taxation, divided by the whole amount of the income as assessed in the said country.

160.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Countries with which no agreement exists.

91. (1) If any person who is resident in India in any previous year proves that, in respect of his income which accrued or arose during that previous year outside India

(and which is not deemed to accrue or arise in India), he has paid in any country with which there is no agreement under section 90 for the relief or avoidance of double taxation, income-tax, by deduction or otherwise, under the law in force in that country, he shall be entitled to the deduction from the Indian income-tax payable by him of a sum calculated on such doubly taxed income at the Indian rate of tax or the rate of tax of the said country, whichever is the lower, or at the Indian rate of tax if both the rates are equal.

(2) If any person who is resident in India in any previous year proves that in respect of his income which accrued or arose to him during that previous year in Pakistan he has paid in that country, by deduction or otherwise, tax payable to the Government under any law for the time being in force in that country relating to taxation of agricultural income, he shall be entitled to a deduction from the Indian income-tax payable by him—

(a) of the amount of the tax paid in Pakistan under any law aforesaid on such income which is liable to tax under this Act also; or whichever is less.

(b) of a sum calculated on that income at the Indian rate of tax;

(3) If any non-resident person is assessed on his share in the income of a registered firm assessed as resident in India in any previous year and such share includes any income accruing or arising outside India during that previous year (and which is not deemed to accrue or arise in India) in a country with which there is no agreement under section 90 for the relief or avoidance of double taxation and he proves that he has paid income-tax by deduction or otherwise under the law in force in that country in respect of the income so included he shall be entitled to a deduction from the Indian income-tax payable by him of a sum calculated on such doubly taxed income so included at the Indian rate of tax or the rate of tax of the said country, whichever is the lower, or at the Indian rate of tax if both the rates are equal.

Explanation.—In this section,—

(i) the expression "Indian income-tax" means income-tax charged in accordance with the provisions of this Act;

(ii) the expression "Indian rate of tax" means the rate determined by dividing the amount of Indian income-tax after deduction of any relief due under the provisions of this Act but before deduction of any relief due under this Chapter, by the total income;

(iii) the expression "rate of tax of the said country" means income-tax and super-tax actually paid in the said country in accordance with the corresponding laws in force in the said country after deduction of all relief due, but before deduction of any relief due in the said country in respect of double taxation, divided by the whole amount of the income as assessed in the said country;

(iv) the expression "income-tax" in relation to any country includes any excess profits tax or business profits tax charged on the profits by the Government of any part of that country or a local authority in that country.

Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 160 of the Bill seeks to provide for deduction from the Indian income-tax payable by a person who has paid tax outside India in a country with which no agreement exists in respect of his income which accrued or arose during that tax year outside India. The clause corresponds to section 91 of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

160.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Some important suggestions from the stakeholders are reproduced below:-

(i) There is a need for modification of the language of section 160(2) in line with Rule 128 In the alternative, the new rules can provide the manner of computation of credit for tax paid in respect of a country with which India does not have a DTAA in line with section 160(2). Sub-section (3) to (5) be inserted after sub-section (2) and sub-section (3) be renumbered as sub-section (6), as under – (3.) The relief under this section shall be allowed only in respect of income that is included in the total income of the assessee in the relevant tax year, and for which income-tax has been paid in the other country during the same or any earlier year, subject to such conditions and documentary evidence as may be prescribed (4)The amount of relief shall not exceed the foreign income tax paid on such income or the Indian income-tax payable thereon, whichever is lower, and shall be computed in the prescribed manner (5)No relief shall be allowed unless the assessee furnishes, in the prescribed form and manner, proof of foreign tax paid, along with a statement of foreign income offered to tax in India. The manner of computation of deduction provided in section 160(2) of the Income-tax Bill, 2025 is different from the manner provided in Rule 128 of the Income-tax Rules, 1962 on foreign tax credit. Whereas in section 160(2), deduction is allowed by applying the lower of the Indian rate of tax or the rate of tax of the other country on the doubly taxed income, in Rule 128, the credit shall be the lower of the tax payable under the Act on such income and the foreign tax paid on such income. Sub-section (3) will provide clarity on year-mismatch scenarios.

(ii) The term “country” should be be replaced with “country or specified territory” throughout clause 160 of the IT Bill. This recommendation is to align clause 160 with clause 159 read with rule 128 of the IT Rules.

(iii) In clause 160(3), insert the definition of “specified territory” as below: “(e) “specified territory” means any area outside India which may be notified as such by the Central Government.” This recommendation is consequential to our recommendation made for replacing the term “country” should be replaced with “country or specified territory” throughout clause 160 of the IT Bill.

160.5 Examination by the Committee:

Responding to the suggestions, the Ministry have replied as below:-

(i) “Stakeholder seeks to insert the term 'specified territory' in clause 160 of the Bill i.e. countries with which no agreement exists. The rationale for the suggestion has not been explained. The suggestion is the nature of policy change, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025. There is no change in the IT Bill, 2025 vis-a-vis I T Act, 1961. Therefore, the suggested amendment is not feasible”.

(ii) “Stakeholder seeks to align the provisions of clause 160(2) relating to double taxation relief in a case where India has no agreement with rule 128. The suggestion is the nature of policy change, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025. There is no change in the IT Bill, 2025 vis-a-vis I T Act, 1961. Rule 128 provides for allowing foreign tax credit. Further, rule is a matter of subordinate legislation. Adding rules to the main statute is not desirable as it will make the main legislation unwieldy. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions of the I T Act. Therefore, the proposed amendment is not feasible. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions of the I T Act”.

(iii) “The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions of the I T Act”.

160.5.2 On a query pertaining to the usage of specified territory, the representative of Ministry of Finance, during the sitting of the Committee submitted as under:-

> “सर, पुराना सेक्शन 91 है और नया 160 है। सेक्शन 91 में भी यही है। उसकी हेडलाईन में लिखा हुआ है कि 'countries with which no agreement exists'. अब सर बोल रहे हैं कि स्पेसिफाइड टैरिटरी के साथ में, जिसके साथ कोई एग्रीमेंट एग्जिस्ट नहीं करता है उसको भी आप डबल टैक्सेशन बैनिफिट प्रोवाइड करो। सर, स्पेसिफाइड टैरिटरी ऐसे तो कोई डिफाइन नहीं है, जिसके साथ हम एग्रीमेंट करते हैं। एक एग्रीमेंट हुआ है। सर,

हमारा एक कल्चरल एग्रीमेंट इसके अंदर ताईवान से हुआ है, वह स्पेसिफाइड टैरिटरी में आता है। इसके अलावा हमारे जितने एग्रीमेंट हैं वे सब देशों के साथ ही हैं"।

160.5.3 Elaborating further on the same issue, the Secretary, Ministry of Finance (Department of Revenue) submitted as under:-

"Sir, I will just like to draw your attention to this point. There are two Sections – 159 and 160. Section 159 talks about agreements to be signed with foreign countries. Both these sections are a part of a Section which is called double taxation relief. Section 159 allows us to sign an agreement with not only a country but also with a specified territory. That gets covered and specified territory is defined there in the same fashion as has been defined in the existing Act. Section 160 takes care of the cases where there is no agreement. There we have said there will be no agreement where there is another country. There we have not included specified territory, which is not so even in the existing Act". …….. "This is a substantial policy issue. What we are saying is we will give double taxation relief either when there is an agreement or without an agreement. There are two Sections. When it comes to agreement clause, we are saying we can sign agreement either with a country or with a specified territory. But, without an agreement, we can give tax relief, double taxation under 160, only if the other side is a country. If we want to include specified territory there, we will have to really look at it carefully because we are offering under this Section to give double taxation relief without an agreement. So, who is that other specified territory? How can we give without agreement? We will have to see it very carefully for it not to be misused. So, my request is this. It is not about drafting. We may look at it separately as a policy". ……. "We will agree to acknowledge tax paid elsewhere type of a relief. So, for a specified territory, what you are saying is logical that we can say that it is notified. So, let us do it as a specific thing even under this. But that window is already available through the agreement. Would we want that kind of a window available on a non-agreement even if it is a notified territory? One will have to see it carefully. We can examine that issue a little more carefully".

160.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that the proposed clause 160 is similar to the Section 91 of the IT Act, 1961 which provides for deduction from the Indian income-tax payable by a person who has paid tax outside India in a country with which no agreement exists in respect of his income which accrued or arose during that tax year outside India. The Committee further find that other than textual simplification, no material changes have been carried out in the proposed Clause vis-à-vis Section 91 of the IT Act, 1961. Therefore, the Committee, finding the justification provided by the Ministry for this Clause satisfactory in nature, accept the proposed Clause in entirety.

CHAPTER X

SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO AVOIDANCE OF TAX

Clause – 161 –Computation of income from international transaction and specified domestic transaction having regard to arm's length price.

161.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

161. (1) Any income arising from an international transaction or a specified domestic transaction shall be determined having regard to the arm's length price.

(2) Any allowance for any expense or interest arising from an international transaction or a specified domestic transaction shall also be determined having regard to the arm's length price.

(3) If in an international transaction or specified domestic transaction, two or more associated enterprises enter into a mutual agreement or arrangement for— (a) allocation or apportionment of any cost or expense incurred or to be incurred in connection with a benefit, service or facility provided or to be provided to any one or more of such enterprises; or (b) any contribution to any cost or expense incurred or to be incurred in connection with a benefit, service or facility provided or to be provided to any one or more of such enterprises, the cost or expense allocated or apportioned to, or, contributed by, any such enterprise shall be determined having regard to the arm's length price of such benefit, service or facility.

(4) The provisions of this section shall not apply if the determination under sub-section (1) or (2) or (3) has the effect of reducing the income chargeable to tax or increasing the loss, computed on the basis of entries made in the books of account in respect of the tax year in which the international transaction or specified domestic transaction was entered.

161.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Computation of income from international transaction having regard to arm's length price.

92. (1) Any income arising from an international transaction shall be computed having regard to the arm's length price.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby clarified that the allowance for any expense or interest arising from an international transaction shall also be determined having regard to the arm's length price.

(2) Where in an international transaction or specified domestic transaction, two or more associated enterprises enter into a mutual agreement or arrangement for the allocation or apportionment of, or any contribution to, any cost or expense incurred or to be incurred in connection with a benefit, service or facility provided or to be provided to any one or more of such enterprises, the cost or expense allocated or apportioned to, or, as the case may be, contributed by, any such enterprise shall be determined having regard to the arm's length price of such benefit, service or facility, as the case may be.

(2A) Any allowance for an expenditure or interest or allocation of any cost or expense or any income in relation to the specified domestic transaction shall be computed having regard to the arm's length price.

(3) The provisions of this section shall not apply in a case where the computation of income under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2A) or the determination of the allowance for any expense or interest under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2A), or the determination of any cost or expense allocated or apportioned, or, as the case may be, contributed under sub-section (2) or sub-section (2A), has the effect of reducing the income chargeable to tax or increasing the loss, as the case may be, computed on the basis of entries made in the books of account in respect of the previous year in which the international transaction or specified domestic transaction was entered into.

161.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 161 of the Bill provides for computation of income from international transaction and specified domestic transaction having regard to arm’s length price. The clause corresponds to section 92 of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

161.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

An important suggest from the stakeholder is produced below:-

> Instead of current transfer pricing assessment, a Fast Track Transfer Pricing assessment should be introduced apart from regular transfer pricing assessment to provide block period pricing on the Arm’s Length basis where the tax payers should be provided a choice to opt for such scheme and it should be monitored by the local Transfer Pricing Commissioner.

161.5 Examination by the Committee:

The Ministry in their written replies have submitted as below:-

"Stakeholder seeks provisions of block assessment for Transfer Pricing cases. Clause 166 of the Bill, provides for multi year audit. The said provision was inserted in the I T Act vide Finance Act, 2025. The said provisions inter alia provides that the Arm's length price determined for a tax year shall be applicable to two consecutive tax years following such tax year. The suggestion already stands addressed. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions of the I T Act".

161.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee observe that Clause 161 of the Bill provides for computation of income from international transaction and specified domestic transaction having regard to arm's length price. The clause corresponds to section 92 of the IT Act, 1961 and has an important role in the avoidance of tax. The Committee further find the justification and reply of the Ministry in assuaging the concern of the stakeholder pertaining to the computation for block period pricing being satisfactory in nature. Further, the provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause, so the Committee accept the proposed Clause 161 in its entirety.

Clause – 162 – Meaning of associated enterprise.

162.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

162. (1) In this Chapter, "associated enterprise", in relation to another enterprise, means an enterprise— (a) which participates, directly or indirectly, or through one or more intermediaries, in the management or control or capital of the other enterprise; or (b) in respect of which one or more persons who participate, directly or indirectly, or through one or more intermediaries, in its management or control or capital, are the same persons who participate, directly or indirectly, or through one or more intermediaries, in the management or control or capital of the other enterprise.

(2) Without affecting the generality of the provisions of sub-section (1), two enterprises shall be deemed to be associated enterprises if, at any time during the tax year,— (a) one enterprise holds, directly or indirectly, shares carrying at least 26% of the voting power in the other enterprise; or (b) any person or enterprise holds, directly or indirectly, shares carrying at least 26% of the voting power in each of such enterprises; or (c) a loan advanced by one enterprise to the other enterprise constitutes at least 51% of the book value of the total assets of the other enterprise; or (d) one enterprise guarantees at least 10% of the total borrowings of the other enterprise; or (e) more than half of the board of directors or members of the governing board, or one or more executive directors or executive members of the governing board of one enterprise, are appointed by the other enterprise; or (f) more than half of the directors or members of the governing board, or one or more of the executive directors or members of the governing board, of each of the two enterprises are appointed by the same person or persons; or (g) the manufacture or processing of goods or articles or business carried out by one enterprise is wholly dependent on the use of know-how, patents, copyrights, trademarks, licences, franchises or any other business or commercial rights of similar nature, or any data, documentation, drawing or specification relating to any patent, invention, model, design, secret formula or process, of which the other enterprise is the owner or in respect of which the other enterprise has exclusive rights; or (h) 90% or more of the raw materials and consumables required for the manufacture or processing of goods or articles carried out by one enterprise, are supplied by the other enterprise, or by persons specified by the other enterprise, and the prices and other conditions relating to the supply are influenced by such other enterprise; or (i) the goods or articles manufactured or processed by one enterprise, are sold to the other enterprise or to persons specified by the other enterprise, and the prices and other conditions relating thereto are influenced by such other enterprise; or (j) where one enterprise is controlled by an individual, the other enterprise is also controlled by such individual or his relative or jointly by such individual and relative of such individual; or (k) where one enterprise is controlled by a Hindu undivided family, the other enterprise is controlled by a member of such Hindu undivided family or by a relative of a member of such Hindu undivided family or jointly by such member and his relative; or (l) where one enterprise is a firm, association of persons or body of individuals, the other enterprise holds at least 10% interest in such firm, association of persons or body of individuals; or (m) there exists between the two enterprises, any relationship of mutual interest, as prescribed.

(3) In relation to a specified domestic transaction entered into by an assessee, associated enterprise shall also include— (a) other units or undertakings or businesses of such assessee in respect of a transaction referred to in section 122 or 140(9); (b) any other person referred to in section 140(13) or 205(4) in respect of a transaction referred to therein; and (c) other units, undertakings, enterprises or business of such assessee, or other person referred to in section 140(13) in respect of a transaction referred to in section 144 or the transactions referred to in Chapter VIII to which the provisions of section 140(9) or (13) are applicable.

162.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Meaning of associated enterprise.

92A. (1) For the purposes of this section and sections 92, 92B, 92C, 92D, 92E and 92F, "associated enterprise", in relation to another enterprise, means an enterprise—

(a) which participates, directly or indirectly, or through one or more intermediaries, in the management or control or capital of the other enterprise; or

(b) in respect of which one or more persons who participate, directly or indirectly, or through one or more intermediaries, in its management or control or capital, are the same persons who participate, directly or indirectly, or through one or more intermediaries, in the management or control or capital of the other enterprise.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1), two enterprises shall be deemed to be associated enterprises if, at any time during the previous year,—

(a) one enterprise holds, directly or indirectly, shares carrying not less than twenty-six per cent of the voting power in the other enterprise; or

(b) any person or enterprise holds, directly or indirectly, shares carrying not less than twenty-six per cent of the voting power in each of such enterprises; or

(c) a loan advanced by one enterprise to the other enterprise constitutes not less than fifty-one per cent of the book value of the total assets of the other enterprise; or

(d) one enterprise guarantees not less than ten per cent of the total borrowings of the other enterprise; or

(e) more than half of the board of directors or members of the governing board, or one or more executive directors or executive members of the governing board of one enterprise, are appointed by the other enterprise; or

(f) more than half of the directors or members of the governing board, or one or more of the executive directors or members of the governing board, of each of the two enterprises are appointed by the same person or persons; or

(g) the manufacture or processing of goods or articles or business carried out by one enterprise is wholly dependent on the use of know-how, patents, copyrights, trade-marks, licences, franchises or any other business or commercial rights of similar nature, or any data, documentation, drawing or specification relating to any patent, invention, model, design, secret formula or process, of which the other enterprise is the owner or in respect of which the other enterprise has exclusive rights; or

(h) ninety per cent or more of the raw materials and consumables required for the manufacture or processing of goods or articles carried out by one enterprise, are supplied by the other enterprise, or by persons specified by the other enterprise, and the prices and other conditions relating to the supply are influenced by such other enterprise; or

(i) the goods or articles manufactured or processed by one enterprise, are sold to the other enterprise or to persons specified by the other enterprise, and the prices and other conditions relating thereto are influenced by such other enterprise; or

(j) where one enterprise is controlled by an individual, the other enterprise is also controlled by such individual or his relative or jointly by such individual and relative of such individual; or

(k) where one enterprise is controlled by a Hindu undivided family, the other enterprise is controlled by a member of such Hindu undivided family or by a relative of a member of such Hindu undivided family or jointly by such member and his relative; or

(l) where one enterprise is a firm, association of persons or body of individuals, the other enterprise holds not less than ten per cent interest in such firm, association of persons or body of individuals; or

(m) there exists between the two enterprises, any relationship of mutual interest, as may be prescribed.

162.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 162 of the Bill seeks to define the expression "associated enterprise". The clause corresponds to section 92A of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

There is an ambiguity in interplay of sub-section (1) and (2) of section 92A in view of words "for the purposes of sub-section (1)" appearing in the beginning of sub- section (1) in the Act. In order to remove the ambiguity and give intended interpretation, the words "for the purposes of sub-section (1)" are replaced with the words "Without affecting the generality of the provisions of sub-section(1)"in sub-clause (2) of clause 162 of the Bill. The change is made to reflect the intent that clause 162(1) is general definition of associated enterprise and clause 162(2) provides for specific circumstances where two entities will be considered as associated enterprise. Since the specific instances do not override the general provisions but they only provide for certainty in specified circumstances, the phrase "without affecting the generality of the provisions of sub-section (1)" has been used in clause 162(2) of the Bill".

162.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Some of the important suggestions given by the stakeholders are summarized as under:-

(i) Clause 162(2) of the New Bill has been reworded as 'Without affecting the generality of the provisions of sub-section (1),.." In comparison Section 92A(2) was amended to incorporate the words 'For the purpose of sub-section (1)…', aiming to clarify that meeting the criteria of section 92A(2) is essential, and mere satisfaction of the conditions of section 92A(1) would not be enough to treat the enterprises as AEs. The alteration of language in the above phrase appears to reverse the earlier position leading to widening the scope of AEs. This creates an anomalous situation where even where conditions of 162(2) are not fulfilled, AE relationship may be created. Cause 162(2) retains the phrase 'for the purpose of sub-section (1)' to avoid undue expansion of scope of transfer pricing provisions.Clause 162(2) retains the phrase ‘for the purpose of sub-section (1)’ to avoid undue expansion of scope of transfer pricing provisions.

(ii) The Bill proposes to amend the language to effectively state that the term participation in management, control or capital in a generic sense shall be sufficient to trigger an associated enterprise relationship. Under the existing Act, the definition of associated enterprises was read with a deeming function which explained the contours of management, control or capital. However, this amendment seeks to override the settled interpretation on the matter, which is not the intention of the New Bill. Retain the provisions of the Income-tax Act, 1961.

(iii) It is recommended that the AE definition can be divided into two parts- Part 1- defining the de-facto condition along with the criteria such as involvement in shareholding, control over composition of Board, etc. Part 2 may consist of the list of deeming objective criteria which do not require participation in the management, control or capital such as dependency on intangible assets, etc.

(iv) Should maintain interdependence

(v) The New Income-Tax Bill 2025 has expanded the scope of AE by delinking the section 162(1) and 162(2) in such a way that they are mutually exclusive and independent. This will increase subjectivity in interpretation of the law that may lead to litigation besides increased compliances.

(vi) May cause overreach

(vii) It is recommended to define the scope of clause 162(1) of the ITB, 2025 by specifying control, capital, and management, or retain the language of section 92A(2) of the IT Act i.e., “For the purposes of sub-section (1)” to maintain consistency.

(viii) It is suggested that the scope of the definition of associated enterprise as per the existing provisions of the Act and as settled by the Supreme Court in the case of Page Industries may be retained in the Proposed Bill. The proposed modification to the definition of the term “Associated Enterprises” would expand the scope of the transfer pricing provisions and would add subjectivity as the terms ‘Control’, ‘Capital’ and ‘management’ have not been defined in the proposed Bill The proposed changes are therefore, likely increase disputes with regard to interpretation of the term “Associated enterprises.

(ix) The Bill's proposed change breaks the essential link between sub-sections (1) and (2), making the latter an independent test and risking classification of entities with insignificant ties—like a 1% stake—as AE. Retaining the extant provision preserves legal clarity, aligns with judicial precedent, and covers only substantive relationships

(x) Section 162(3) only duplicates relationships already covered in Section 164.

(xi) A clarification is sought regarding the interpretation of sub section (1) of section 162, particularly in relation to the phrase "(a) which participates, directly or indirectly, or through one or more intermediaries, in the management, control, or capital of the other enterprise." It is suggested the terms "management," "control," and "capital" be explicitly defined. The specified percentage for deeming as controlled may be prescribed. It is suggested to explicitly include REITs, LLPs, and other modern business structures within the definition of Associated Enterprises (AEs) for greater clarity. It is suggested to introduce specific control and ownership thresholds for these entities, aligning them with existing AE criteria such as shareholding, voting rights, or management control, while also addressing indirect participation in capital, management, or control for greater clarity. This would clarify the applicability of transfer pricing rules to these entities, ensuring consistency with modern business practices, reducing litigation risks, and preventing tax disputes. It is suggested to define the term "Management", "Control" and "Capital" for better understanding of the provision of law. In sub-clauses (j) and (k) of sub-section (2) of this provision, the scope of the word "controlled" is not defined by a percentage like in other sub-clauses. This may be prone to litigation Section 92A of the Income-tax Act, 1961, defines Associated Enterprises (AEs) based on capital, management, or control.

(xii) Replace '(2) Without affecting the generality of the provisions of sub-section (1)', with '(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1)' The general (and vague) provisions of section 162(1) will lead to litigation affecting the ease of doing business To provide tax certainty, the intended arrangements that are not covered in 162(2) can be specifically covered to aid tax certainty.

(xiii) Section 162(2) should be eliminated which is universally followed practise and accepted in the OECD and UN guidelines and also in all treaties signed by India This is also an international norm followed in most of the jurisdictions of developed and developing countries except Korea and China. Therefore, section 162(2) should be eliminated leaving only section 162(1) in effect as section 162(1) being the broad principle test covers relationships based on participation in control, capital and management as well.

(xiv) The definition of AE is divided under two parts under S.92A of ITA 1961 (Cl 162 of ITB 2025): 1 First part under S.92A in sub-section (1) defines the broad contours of the term and is based on participation in "management" or "control" or "capital"; and 2 The second part under S.92A in sub-section

(2) contains a deeming provision, giving specific illustrations [clauses (a) to (m)], to indicate when two enterprises will be deemed to be AEs. • S.92A(2) of ITA 1961 starts with “for the purposes of sub-section (1)” which is proposed to be replaced with "Without affecting the generality of the provisions of sub-section (1)" in Cl.162 of ITB 2025 This leads to a possible interpretation that the provisions of Clause 162(1) and 162(2) of ITB 2025 [existing 92A(1) and 92A(2) of ITA 1961] are to be applied independently. • S.92A was amended vide Finance Act 2002 by inserting the phrase “for the purposes of sub-section (1)” in beginning of S.92A(2). The memorandum to Finance Bill, 2002 clarified the purpose of amendment that for considering an enterprise as an AE of the other enterprise, not only conditions of S.92A(1) but also atleast one of the clauses of S.92A(2) must also be satisfied The Karnataka HC in the case of PCIT v Page Industries Ltd [2021] 124 taxmann.com 605 (Kar.) held that the provisions of S.92A(1) and S.92A(2) are interlinked and have to be read together In case the provisions are read independently, then one of the provisions would be rendered otiose which is impermissible in law in view of the well settled rule of statutory limitation It is recommended that the well settled and accepted definition of the term “Associated Enterprise” be retained without any changes to avoid unintentional noThe definition of AE is divided under two parts under S.92A of ITA 1961 (Cl 162 of ITB 2025): 1 First part under S.92A in sub-section (1) defines the broad contours of the term and is based on participation in “management” or “control” or “capital”; and 2 The second part under S.92A in sub-section (2) contains a deeming provision, giving specific illustrations [clauses (a) to (m)], to indicate when two enterprises will be deemed to be AEs. • S.92A(2) of ITA 1961 starts with “for the purposes of sub-section (1)” which is proposed to be replaced with "Without affecting the generality of the provisions of sub-section (1)" in Cl.162 of ITB 2025 This leads to a possible interpretation that the provisions of Clause 162(1) and 162(2) of ITB 2025 [existing 92A(1) and 92A(2) of ITA 1961] are to be applied independently. • S.92A was amended vide Finance Act 2002 by inserting the phrase “for the purposes of sub-section (1)” in beginning of S.92A(2). The memorandum to Finance Bill, 2002 clarified the purpose of amendment that for considering an enterprise as an AE of the other enterprise, not only conditions of S.92A(1) but also atleast one of the clauses of S.92A(2) must also be satisfied The Karnataka HC in the case of PCIT v Page Industries Ltd [2021] 124 taxmann.com 605 (Kar.) held that the provisions of S.92A(1) and S.92A(2) are interlinked and have to be read together In case the provisions are read independently, then one of the provisions would be rendered otiose which is impermissible in law in view of the well settled rule of statutory limitation It is recommended that the well settled and accepted definition of the term “Associated Enterprise” be retained without any changes to avoid unintentional non-compliance.

(xv) 1) In this Chapter, “associated enterprise”, in relation to another enterprise, means an enterprise— (a) which participates, directly or indirectly, or through one or more intermediaries, in the management or control or capital of the other enterprise; or(b) in respect of which one or more persons who participate, directly or indirectly, or through one or more intermediaries, in its management or control or capital, are the same persons who participate, directly or indirectly, or through one or more intermediaries, in the management or control or capital of the other enterprise (2) For the purposes of sub-section (1), two enterprises shall be deemed to be associated enterprises if, at any time during the tax year, This change in the Income-Tax Bill constitutes a significant amendment to the position Section 92A(2) defines the scope of section 92A(1) of the Act as is evident in the Memorandum to the Finance Bill, 2002, when it was introduced, which provides as under, “It is proposed to amend subsection (2) of the said section to clarify that the mere fact of participation by one enterprise in the management or control orcapital of the other enterprise, or the participation of one or more persons in the management or control or capital of both the enterprises shall not make them associated enterprises, unless the criteria specified in subsection (2) are fulfilled.

(xvi) The existing language under section 92A(2) should not be changed in Section 162(2) of the New Income-Tax Bill 2025. This is for the reason that sub-section (2) defines what constitute participation in management, control and capital for the purposes of section (1) If generality of sub-section (1) will be kept as it is, then it will again be prone to litigation In case, there are more situations which are left to be covered in sub-section (2) like common directorship etc, those can be specifically covered.

(xvii) Suggestion: “Section 162(2) should be eliminated which is universally followed practise and accepted in the OECD and UN guidelines and also in all treaties signed by India. This is also an international norm followed in most of the jurisdictions of developed and developing countries except Korea and China. Therefore, section 162(2) should be eliminated leaving only section 162(1) in effect as section 162(1) being the broad principle test covers relationships based on participation in control, capital and management as well.” Analysis: In order to analyse our above suggestion in detail, it is important to critically examine the introductory language of section 92A(2) of the old Income-Tax Act, 1961 and corresponding section 162(2) of the new Income-Tax Bill, 2025 which are reproduced below: “Section 92A of the Income-Tax Act, 1961 (1) ……..…… …… (2) For the purposes of sub-section (1), two enterprises shall be deemed to be associated enterprises if, at any time during the previous year,- (a) to (m) ……..." “Section 162 of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 (1) …… (2) Without affecting the generality of the provisions of sub-section (1), two enterprises shall be deemed to be associated enterprises if, at any time during the tax year,- (a) to (m) …… …… (3) ..... ……" On combined reading of sub-sections (1) and (2) of section 92A, it becomes evident that the classification of an entity as an associated enterprise requires fulfilment of conditions stipulated in both sub-section (1) and (2) of section 92A of the Income-Tax Act, 1961. The above requirement stems from the fact that sub-section (1) talks about participation through control, capital and management which establishes general control whereas sub-section (2) elaborates various examples of participation through control, capital and management thus stating specific relationship. However, under section 162 of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025, the situation is reversed. To classify an entity as an associated enterprise, it is now sufficient if any one of the two sub sections of Section 162 is satisfied independently. This interpretation stems from the wording of sub-section (2), which begins with the phrase "Without affecting the generality of the provisions of sub-section (1)" - clearly indicating that each sub-section can apply on its own. Furthermore, clauses (a) to (m) under sub-section (2) serve merely as illustrations of specific scenarios that fall within the broader principles of participation through capital, management and control as outlined in sub-section (1).

162.5 Examination by the Committee:

The Ministry in their written replies have responded to the suggestions as furnished below:-

(i) "The change is made to reflect the intent that cl. 162(1) is general definition of associated enterprise and cl. 162(2) provides for specific circumstances where two entities will be considered as associated enterprise. Since the specific instances do not override the general provisions but they only provide for certainty in specified circumstances, the phrase "without affecting the generality of the provisions of sub-section (1)" has been rightly used in cl. 162(2) of the Bill. The intention was the same in section 92A(2) of the IT Act, but it was being wrongly interpreted in some cases. A deeming provision either adds to the substantive law by giving an artificial meaning (that is, a 'deeming fiction') or it clarifies the substantive provision. It should not serve to narrow or dilute the scope of the substantive or general law provision. This shall remove the existing ambiguity and minimise the probable future disputes on said matter. The amendment has been made with a view to rationalise the provision so as to provide tax certainty and reduce litigation and to make the language clear and direct. Therefore, no change in the provision may be necessary.

There is some change in the drafting of clause 162(2) of the Bill vis-à-vis section 92A(2) of the Income-tax Act, 1961. The said change has been carried out to provide clarity on the intended provisions of the relevant section. This shall remove the existing ambiguity and minimise the probable dispute on said matter".

(ii) "The change is made to reflect the intent that cl. 162(1) is general definition of associated enterprise and cl. 162(2) provides for specific circumstances where two entities will be considered as associated enterprise. Since the specific instances do not override the general provisions but they only provide for certainty in specified circumstances, the phrase "without affecting the generality of the provisions of sub-section (1)" has been rightly used in cl. 162(2) of the Bill. The intention was the same in section 92A(2) of the IT Act, but it was being wrongly interpreted in some cases. The amendment has been made with a view to rationalise the provision so as to provide tax certainty and reduce litigation and to make the language clear and direct. Therefore, no change in the provision may be necessary. There is some change in the drafting of clause 162(2) of the Bill vis-à-vis section 92A(2) of the Income-tax Act, 1961. The said change has been carried out to provide clarity on the intended provisions of the relevant section. This shall remove the existing ambiguity and minimise the probable dispute on said matter".

(iii) "Stakeholder seeks clarity on the proposed definition of 'Associated Enterprise' in clause 162. The change is made to reflect the intent that cl. 162(1) is general definition of associated enterprise and cl. 162(2) provides for specific circumstances where two entities will be considered as associated enterprise. This shall remove the existing ambiguity and minimise the probable future disputes on said matter. Clause 162 (section 92A) has been rationalised to provide clarity on the intended provisions of the relevant section. This shall remove the existing ambiguity and minimise the probable dispute on said matter."

(iv) "Stakeholder seeks to state that provisions of clause 162(3) and clause 164 are similar. In the Bill, the provisions of International transaction and specified domestic transaction have been aligned and clause 162(3) has been inserted to provide reference of 'associated enterprise' in the context of specified domestic transaction. Clause 162(3) defines the 'associated enterprise' in the context of specified domestic transaction and clause 164 defines the specified domestic transaction itself. Therefore the observation is incorrect. Therefore, the observation/suggestion is incorrect. Clause 162 (section 92A) has been rationalised to provide clarity on the intended provisions of the relevant section. This shall remove the existing ambiguity and minimise the probable dispute on said matter".

(v) "Stakeholders seeks to inter alia expand the provisions of clause 162(1) by explicitly defining 'management', 'control 'and 'capital', introducing control and ownership thresholds specifically in sub-clause (j) and (k) of clause 162(2). The suggestion is the nature of policy change, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025. The extant provisions of clause 162 (1) provide general definition of associated enterprise and clause 162(2) provides specific instances. In specific instances percentage participation, control, contribution etc. has been specified. In clauses 162(2)(j) and (k), specific percentage control has not be specified as it is in the context where an individual and HUF is having control over the both enterprises. Clause 162 (section 92A) has been rationalised to provide clarity on the intended provisions of the relevant section. This shall remove the existing ambiguity and minimise the probable dispute on said matter".

(vi) "Stakeholder seeks deletion of clause 162(2) of the Bill. The suggestion is the nature of policy change, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025. The present provision has been rationalised to remove ambiguity and minimise dispute arising out of multiple interpretation. The suggestion to remove clause 162(2) has no rationale as said clause covers the specific circumstances/instances where two enterprises may be considered as 'associated enterprise'. Hence, brings clarity and minimises litigation".

162.5.2 Clause 162 of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 explains the meaning of Associated Enterprise referred to under Section 92A of the Income-Tax Act, 1961. A marked change has been noticed in the wordings of Clause 162 (2) which substitutes the words "without affecting the generality of the provisions of sub-section (1)" for the earlier used "for the purpose of sub-section (1)" in the Section 92A of the Income-Tax Act, 1961. In this context, the Ministry of Finance were requested to categorically state, whether:-

(i) meeting either of the conditions of sub-section (1) or (2) is sufficient enough to be called Associated Enterprises (AE); or

(ii) satisfaction of any of the clauses (a) to (m) of sub-section (2), ipso facto renders the status of AE without fulfilling the conditions of sub-section (1);

(iii) to clarify their response taking into consideration the established and settled Judicial pronouncements:-

(iv) the Ministry was further requested to elucidate the rationale behind the introduction of the phrase “without affecting the generality of the provisions of sub-section (1)” for the earlier used “for the purpose of sub-section (1)”, more so, when the probability of increased disputes and litigations are being anticipated by the experts/stakeholders.

In their elaborate written response, the Ministry have submitted the following details:-

(i) “The change is made to reflect the intent that cl. 162(1) is general definition of associated enterprise and cl. 162(2) provides for specific circumstances where two entities will be considered as associated enterprise. The intention was the same in section 92A(2) of the IT Act, but it was being wrongly interpreted in some cases.

(ii) Since the specific instances do not override the general provisions but they only provide for certainty in specified circumstances, the phrase “without affecting the generality of the provisions of sub-section (1)” has been rightly used in cl. 162(2) of the Bill. A deeming provision either adds to the substantive law by giving an artificial meaning (that is, a ‘deeming fiction’) or it clarifies the substantive provision. It should not serve to narrow or dilute the scope of the substantive or general law provision.

(iii) The existing sub-section (1) of section 92A provides for the following:

“Meaning of associated enterprise.

92A. (1) For the purposes of this section and sections 92, 92B, 92C, 92D, 92E and 92F, "associated enterprise", relation to another enterprise, means an enterprise—

a	which participates, directly or indirectly, or through one or more intermediaries, in the management or control or capital of the other enterprise; or
b	in respect of which one or more persons who participate, directly or indirectly, or through one or more intermediaries, in its management or control or capital, are the same persons who participate, directly or indirectly, or through one or more intermediaries, in the management or control or capital of the other enterprise

(iv) Sub-section (1) is by way of a general principle. Following this, sub-section (2) of section 92A begins as follows:

"For the purposes of sub-section (1), two enterprises shall be deemed to be associated enterprises if, …"

(v) It then enumerates conditions (a) to (m), which are separated by the word 'or', thereby meaning that if any one is fulfilled, the two enterprises shall be treated as 'associated enterprises' "for the purposes of sub-section (1)". Sub-section (2) has been incorporated as a deeming provision. A deeming provision can play both roles - providing an artificial meaning as well as having a clarificatory nature. Thus, a deeming provision can extend or enlarge the scope of the general provision, but it is not brought in to limit the scope of the general provision.

(vi) Had there been only sub-section (1) on the statute, it would have led to wide variance in reporting associated enterprises. Sub-section (2) deems certain situations, which provide a determinable measure or a quantitative norm in this regard. This was for bringing certainty. This is evident from Annexure to Form No. 3CEB, which is to be furnished under section 92E (containing description of the associated enterprises and the international transactions). Column 10 of Part B of this Annexure unequivocally and unambiguously refers to section 92A(2) in the following manner:

PART B (International Transactions)

10.	List of associated enterprises with whom the assessee has entered into international transactions, with the following details: (a) Name of the associated enterprise. (b) Nature of the relationship with the associated enterprise as referred to in section 92A(2). (c) Brief description of the business carried on by the associated enterprise

(vii) This reference to section 92A(2) clearly shows that what was envisaged for the purposes of implementation and certainty to taxpayers, the situations provided in sub-section (2) as a deeming fiction were to be taken into account for furnishing Form 3CEB. The general provision was required to deal with specific anti-avoidance circumstances or cases, as transfer pricing provisions are in the nature of 'special ant-avoidance rule' (SAAR).

(viii) Some taxpayers were of the view that even when sub-section (2) was in the nature of a deeming fiction, the general conditions contained in sub-section (1) needed to be satisfied in addition to any one of the conditions mentioned in sub-section (2). In other words, sub-section (1) was considered as being subsumed in sub-section (2), that is, first the specific condition in sub-section (2) needed to be satisfied and then the principle mentioned in sub-section (1) was to be applied. This led to litigation.

(ix) It is felt that as provisions of sub-section (1) are general and subjective in nature, the requirement of its fulfilment in spite of the fulfilment of the deeming fiction will lead to more litigation.

(x) Sub-section (2) has the role of providing both an artificial meaning and clarification, and it does so in a quantitative and deterministic manner so that the taxpayers can file their Form 3CEB with certainty and thereby preventing any further litigation in this regard. The general provision remains on the statute as the internationally accepted general principle, in accordance with the status of transfer pricing regulation being in the nature of an anti-avoidance rule.

(xi) It is necessary to mention here that the associated enterprises are part of a general tax treaty principle. For example, Article 9 of the India-USA DTAA provides the following:

"1. Where :

(a)	an enterprise of a Contracting State participates directly or indirectly in the management, control or capital of an enterprise of the other Contracting State ; or
(b)	the same persons participate directly or indirectly in the management, control, or capital of an enterprise of a Contracting State and an enterprise of the other Contracting State, and in either case conditions are made or imposed between the two enterprises in their commercial or financial relations which differ from those which would be made between independent enterprises, then any profits which, but for those conditions would have accrued to one of the enterprises, but by reason of those conditions have not so accrued, may be included in the profits of that enterprise and taxed accordingly."

(xii) The general principle of control, management etc is captured in sub-section (1) of section 92A. The US IRS Code does not have any quantitative formulation has contained in sub-section 2 of section 92A. The general rule is given in section 482(1)(a) of the US IRS Code as follows:

> In general -- (1) Purpose and scope. The purpose of section 482 is to ensure that taxpayers clearly reflect income attributable to controlled transactions, and to prevent the avoidance of taxes with respect to such transactions. Section 482 places a controlled taxpayer on a tax parity with an uncontrolled taxpayer by determining the true taxable income of the controlled taxpayer.

(xiii) The term 'controlled' is then defined in section 482(1)(i) as follows:

> "Controlled includes any kind of control, direct or indirect, whether legally enforceable or not, and however exercisable or exercised, including control resulting from the actions of two or more taxpayers acting in concert or with a common goal or purpose. It is the reality of the control that is decisive, not its form or the mode of its exercise. A presumption of control arises if income or deductions have been arbitrarily shifted."

(xiv) 'controlled taxpayer' is then defined as follows:

> Controlled taxpayer means any one of two or more taxpayers owned or controlled directly or indirectly by the same interests, and includes the taxpayer that owns or controls the other taxpayers. Uncontrolled taxpayer means any one of two or more taxpayers not owned or controlled directly or indirectly by the same interests.

(xv) It is mentioned in the OECD Transfer Pricing Country profile for the USA that:

> "This is a facts and circumstances analysis without pre-determined thresholds, as control includes "any kind of control, direct or indirect, whether legally enforceable or not, and however exercisable or exercised, including control resulting from the actions of two or more taxpayers acting in concert or with a common goal or purpose."

(xvi) It can be seen that these are not quantitative. Thus, having pre-defined thresholds or formulaic provision and then applying the general principle to them defeats the purpose of the general principle. If we apply this to sub-section (2) of section 92A, then it would itself become a truncated provision.

(xvii) The IT Bill, 2025 has accordingly, placed the general and deeming provision separate.

(xviii) An analysis considering the decisions of ITAT as mentioned in clause (iii) is of the point 8 is enclosed as “Annexure A””

162.5.3 About Clause 162(3) regarding 'associated enterprise' in the context of specified domestic transaction, the representative of the Ministry of Finance clarified before the Committee as mentioned below:-

> “in the meaning of ‘associated enterprises’ for specified domestic transactions, we have said that these items also should be covered. In case of specified domestic transactions, these are the few other items which should be categorized in the definition of associated enterprises. And then there is clause164, where we have specified what are specified domestic transactions because the transfer pricing provisions apply on international transactions and also specified domestic transactions. So, the stakeholder is saying that clause 162(3), which provides for additional items, and then clause 164, which provides for what is a specified domestic transaction are similar. We are saying that they are not similar. They are entirely different. Clause 164 is about SDT and clause 162(3) is relating to associated enterprises for the purposes of SDT”.

162.5.4 In a subsequent sitting, the representatives of the Ministry of fInance, further explained their pont of view before the Committee as under:-

> “सर, जो हमारी ट्रांसफर प्राइसिंग होती है और हमारा जो इंटरनेशनल टैक्सेशन है, the law is that any transaction with an associated enterprise has to be at arm's length price. Now, the question is who is an associated enterprise? So, Section 92A provides this. In this, there are two categories. One is general definition and the other is deeming provisions, which state that for the purposes of this clause, following will be deemed to be associated enterprises. There was litigation on this issue, whether both clauses are to be separately fulfilled or both had to be read together. So, even ITATs are not on the same level. The stakeholder has given many case laws here. So, all the case laws are not on similar length. These are specific examples. Some say, if a condition of clause 2 is fulfilled, or some enterprise is holding 26 per cent shareholding in the other enterprise, or someone is purchasing the entire products of the other enterprise. So, they said, if it is fulfilled, it will be AE. Others said No, along with second, you have to read first also. So, we have tried to give a detailed explanation. We have also studied the global practices. We have given example of United States, which only incorporates the first part. It gives no example, as we have given in the second part. When we provided the second part, it was to bring tax certainty, that once you fall in this, you should treat the other international party as your AE, and accordingly you file your Form 3CEB. Our Form 3CEB also incorporates this clause. If you see our reply, we have given what is incorporated in our form. It clearly says:

"List of associated enterprises with whom the assessee has entered into international transactions with the following detail:- Name of the associated enterprise, nature of the relationship with the AE, as referred to in Section 92A2."

Sir, even one ITAT decision has held our view and said that the deeming provision cannot restrict the general provision; it only expands it. It brings certainty to the general provision. So, to settle the issue, in sub-section 2 of the Bill, we have brought that without affecting the generality of sub-section 1, following will be deemed to be the associated enterprises so that whoever falls in this second part, they are certain that yes, these are our associated enterprises and we should report the transactions with them in our Form 3CEB. So, our submission is that this change will bring more tax certainty to the issue…….. सर, जो ये डिसीज़न्स दिए हुए हैं, उनको हमने एग्जामिन किया है और नोट में लिखा है। उनके बीच में भी आपस में सेम व्यू नहीं है। हमारा यह कहना है। आईटीएटी के जो डिसीजन्स हैं, वे भी अलग-अलग फॉर्म पर चल रहे हैं। हमारा यह कहना है कि जो डीमिंग प्रोविज़न्स है, once it is deemed, that should become final…….. : Sir, with the earlier wording, they are saying that even if you fulfil any of the conditions in 2, you still have to fulfil the conditions of 1. In another decision of ITAT in 2015, they have also said that the deeming provisions should expand general provisions. They should not limit it. So, once they are saying that even after 2, you have to go to 1. So, there is diversity of use of the ITAT itself.Like ORCHID case which they have referred to. In ORCHID case, we have used the word ‘control, participation in management’ under 1 whereas the examples of that are given in 2. So, once we fulfil any of the conditions, that should become the AE. But they say, no, you somehow go back to 1 after 2,and 1 is a general provision which is very difficult to fulfil. So, our submission is that the present words are leading to more litigation whereas we want to end to that litigation”.

162.5.5 Intervening, the Secretary, Ministry of Finance (Department of Revenue) further deposed before the Committee, as produced below:-

> "I would just like to explain this. I think both of us are probably meaning the same. We would just like to understand it a little bit. What we are saying is also the same. I will not go into whether what we have legally drafted represents that. But I will explain the concept or thought behind it. Section 162(1) defines what is associated, and as you rightly pointed out, 162(2) lists out all the reasons, or any one of them, which, if it is satisfied, will make it an associated enterprise. The legal problem that you have pointed out is that this language, which I also appreciate, would result in a case where, suppose I do not meet any of these, somebody may still go and use the first clause and say, you are associated, independent of you not having met any of those clauses. In two, if you look at the last sub-clause, that is, (m), which anyway says that between two enterprises exists any relationship of mutual interest as prescribed. So, there is a window being made available there also. What the Department is arguing here was that under the current formulation, some ITATs interpreted, what we wanted, that if somebody has met one of the two clauses, then you should treat it as associated. Some ITATs, after having met that also, went back to that general clause, and interpreted saying, under general clause prove something more, and that resulted in dilution of the interpretation itself. So, the intention is same. We also want to represent correctly that '2' is nothing but listing out of the first. The way we have drafted probably is giving an impression that after having met this specific, we still want to keep a freedom to do something under 1, whereas our intention is to prevent that either way. So, we can draft it".

162.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

On scrutinizing the proposed Clause 162 of the Bill which seeks to define the expression "associated enterprise" and corresponds to section 92A of the Act, the Committee find that the words "for the purposes of sub-section (1)" are replaced with the words "Without affecting the generality of the provisions of sub-section (1)"in sub-clause (2) of the proposed Clause 162 of the Bill. This alteration has attracted a number of suggestions raising concerns for future litigation. The Committee went through the merit of each argument closely and took into consideration the different point of views. The Committee examined the detailed reply of the Ministry in this regard wherein it has been contended that there is an ambiguity in interplay of sub-section (1) and (2) of section 92A in view of words "for the purposes of sub-section (1)" appearing in the beginning of sub-section (1) in the IT Act, 1961. In order to remove the ambiguity and give intended interpretation, the change is made to reflect the intent that clause 162(1) is general definition of associated enterprise and clause 162(2) provides for specific circumstances where two entities will be considered as associated enterprise. It can be seen that with the altered language proposed in the Clause 162, there is a possible interpretation that the condition for being an associated enterprise is fulfilled by meeting the conditions under 162 (2) or 162 (1) independently and that the two sub-sections have become mutually exclusive. The discussion with the Ministry on this aspect enlightened the Committee that the intent behind the change was to reduce litigation and bring in more clarity. However, the Committee are of the opinion that reinstating the earlier phrase "for the purposes of sub-section (1)" in sub-clause (2) of the proposed Clause 162 of the Bill in the place of "Without affecting the generality of the provisions of sub-section (1)", would serve the intent of defining Associated Enterprises in a better way, as earlier in the IT Act, 1961. Thus, the Committee, recommend the Ministry to reinstate the position of the proposed Clause 162 in consonance with the Section 92A of the IT Act, 1961 vis-à-vis the reinstatement of the earlier phrase "for the purposes of sub-section (1)" in the opening line of sub-clause (2) of the proposed Clause 162 of the Bill in the place of proposed phrase "Without affecting the generality of the provisions of sub-section (1)".

Clause – 163 – Meaning of international transaction.

163.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

163. (1) In this Chapter, "international transaction" means a transaction between two or more associated enterprises, one of which is necessarily a non-resident, and includes— (a) the purchase, sale, transfer, lease or use of tangible property, including building, transportation vehicle, machinery, equipment, tools, plant, furniture, commodity or any other article, product or thing; (b) the purchase, sale, transfer, lease or use of intangible property, including the transfer of ownership or the provision of use of rights regarding land use, copyrights, patents, trademarks, licences, franchises, customer list, marketing channel, brand, commercial secret, know-how, industrial property right, exterior design or practical and new design or any other business or commercial rights of similar nature; (c) capital financing, lending and borrowing of money, including,— (i) any type of long-term or short-term borrowing, lending or guarantee; or (ii) purchase or sale of marketable securities; or (iii) any type of advance, payments or deferred payment or receivable or any other debt arising during the course of business; (d) provision of services, including provision of market research, market development, marketing management, administration, technical service, repairs, design, consultation, agency, scientific research, legal or accounting service; (e) a transaction of business restructuring or reorganisation, entered into by an enterprise with an associated enterprise, irrespective of the fact that it has any bearing on the profit, income, losses or assets of such enterprises at the time of the transaction or at any future date; (f) a mutual agreement or arrangement between two or more associated enterprises for the allocation or apportionment of, or any contribution to, any cost or expense incurred or to be incurred in connection with a benefit, service or facility provided or to be provided to any one or more of such enterprises; and (g) any other transaction having a bearing on the profits, income, losses or assets of such enterprises.

(2) A transaction entered into by an enterprise with a person other than an associated enterprise ("other person") shall, for sub-section (1), be deemed to be an international transaction entered into between two associated enterprises, if— (a) there exists a prior agreement in relation to the relevant transaction between such other person and the associated enterprise; or (b) the terms of the relevant transaction are determined, in substance, between such other person and the associated enterprise, and the enterprise or the associated enterprise or both of them are non-residents, irrespective of whether the other person is a non-resident or not.

(3) The expression "intangible property" shall include the following,— (a) marketing related intangible assets, such as, trademarks, trade names, brand names, logos; (b) technology related intangible assets, such as, process patents, patent applications, technical documentation such as laboratory notebooks, technical know-how; (c) artistic related intangible assets, such as, literary works and copyrights, musical compositions, copyrights, maps, engravings; (d) data processing related intangible assets, such as, proprietary computer software, software copyrights, automated databases, and integrated circuit masks and masters; (e) engineering related intangible assets, such as, industrial design, product patents, trade secrets, engineering drawing and schematics, blueprints, proprietary documentation; (f) customer related intangible assets, such as, customer lists, customer contracts, customer relationship, open purchase orders; (g) contract related intangible assets, such as, favourable supplier, contracts, licence agreements, franchise agreements, non-compete agreements; (h) human capital related intangible assets, such as, trained and organised work force, employment agreements, union contracts; (i) location related intangible assets, such as, leasehold interest, mineral exploitation rights, easements, air rights, water rights; (j) goodwill related intangible assets, such as, institutional goodwill, professional practice goodwill, personal goodwill of professional, celebrity goodwill, general business going concern value; (k) methods, programmes, systems, procedures, campaigns, surveys, studies, forecasts, estimates, customer lists or technical data; and (l) any other similar item that derives its value from its intellectual content rather than its physical attributes.

163.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Meaning of international transaction.

92B. (1) For the purposes of this section and sections 92, 92C, 92D and 92E, "international transaction" means a transaction between two or more associated enterprises, either or both of whom are non-residents, in the nature of purchase, sale or lease of tangible or intangible property, or provision of services, or lending or borrowing money, or any other transaction having a bearing on the profits, income, losses or assets of such enterprises, and shall include a mutual agreement or arrangement between two or more associated enterprises for the allocation or apportionment of, or any contribution to, any cost or expense incurred or to be incurred in connection with a benefit, service or facility provided or to be provided to any one or more of such enterprises.

(2) A transaction entered into by an enterprise with a person other than an associated enterprise shall, for the purposes of sub-section (1), be deemed to be an international transaction entered into between two associated enterprises, if there exists a prior agreement in relation to the relevant transaction between such other person and the associated enterprise, or the terms of the relevant transaction are determined in substance between such other person and the associated enterprise where the enterprise or the associated enterprise or both of them are non-residents irrespective of whether such other person is a non-resident or not.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby clarified that—(i) the expression "international transaction" shall include—

(a) the purchase, sale, transfer, lease or use of tangible property including building, transportation vehicle, machinery, equipment, tools, plant, furniture, commodity or any other article, product or thing;

(b) the purchase, sale, transfer, lease or use of intangible property, including the transfer of ownership or the provision of use of rights regarding land use, copyrights, patents, trademarks, licences, franchises, customer list, marketing channel, brand, commercial secret, know-how, industrial property right, exterior design or practical and new design or any other business or commercial rights of similar nature;

(c) capital financing, including any type of long-term or short-term borrowing, lending or guarantee, purchase or sale of marketable securities or any type of advance, payments or deferred payment or receivable or any other debt arising during the course of business;

(d) provision of services, including provision of market research, market development, marketing management, administration, technical service, repairs, design, consultation, agency, scientific research, legal or accounting service;

(e) a transaction of business restructuring or reorganisation, entered into by an enterprise with an associated enterprise, irrespective of the fact that it has bearing on the profit, income, losses or assets of such enterprises at the time of the transaction or at any future date;

(ii) the expression "intangible property" shall include—

(a) marketing related intangible assets, such as, trademarks, trade names, brand names, logos;

(b) technology related intangible assets, such as, process patents, patent applications, technical documentation such as laboratory notebooks, technical know-how;

(c) artistic related intangible assets, such as, literary works and copyrights, musical compositions, copyrights, maps, engravings;

(d) data processing related intangible assets, such as, proprietary computer software, software copyrights, automated databases, and integrated circuit masks and masters;

(e) engineering related intangible assets, such as, industrial design, product patents, trade secrets, engineering drawing and schematics, blueprints, proprietary documentation;

(f) customer related intangible assets, such as, customer lists, customer contracts, customer relationship, open purchase orders;

(g) contract related intangible assets, such as, favourable supplier, contracts, licence agreements, franchise agreements, non-compete agreements;

(h) human capital related intangible assets, such as, trained and organised work force, employment agreements, union contracts;

(i) location related intangible assets, such as, leasehold interest, mineral exploitation rights, easements, air rights, water rights;

(j) goodwill related intangible assets, such as, institutional goodwill, professional practice goodwill, personal goodwill of professional, celebrity goodwill, general business going concern value;

(k) methods, programmes, systems, procedures, campaigns, surveys, studies, forecasts, estimates, customer lists, or technical data;

(l) any other similar item that derives its value from its intellectual content rather than its physical attributes.

163.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 163 of the Bill seeks to define the expression "international transaction". The clause corresponds to section 92B of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

163.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Some of the key suggestions from the stakeholders are summarized as below:-

(i) It is suggested to remove clauses (h) and (i), as they currently classify "organized workforce" and "location savings" as intangible properties for transfer pricing purposes. The OECD Transfer Pricing Guidelines (2017) redefined the concept of "Intangibles" by specifically excluding "organised workforce" and "location savings" from being classified as intangible assets. Need for Alignment with Global Standards: The definition of “Intangible property” under Income-Tax Act, 1961 and Income-Tax Bill, 2025 does not align with the updated OECD standards This can lead to inconsistencies in transfer pricing practices, especially for multinational companies involved in cross-border transactions.

(ii) Provisions may be amended to provide that such capital account transaction are not required to be reported and correspondingly Form 3CEB (under old Act) can be modified, Clause 16 of Form 3CEB requires the reporting of purchase or sale of marketable securities, issue and buyback of securities. Assessees are bound to report issue/purchase of shares transaction as international transaction in Form 3CEB even if it does not impact taxable income.

163.5 Examination by the Committee:

The Ministry in their written replies to the suggestions have submitted as under:-

(i) “The stakeholder seeks to align the definition of 'intangibles' in the Act/Bill as per OECD guidelines. The suggestion is the nature of policy change, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025. There is no change in the IT Bill, 2025 vis-a-vis I T Act, 1961. Under Clause 163(3)(h) specific human capital related intangible such as trained and organised work force, employment agreements and union contracts have been included and under Clause 163(3)(i) specific location related intangibles assets, such as leasehold interest, mineral exploitation rights, easements, air rights, water rights have been included. It is therefore evident that definition of intangibles under clause 163(3)(h)and (i) are specific and may fall under the broad guidance of intangibles issued by OECD”

(ii) “Stakeholder seeks removal of reporting requirement of purchase or sale of marketable securities, issue and buyback of securities from clause 16 of Form 3CEB. Amendment of Form 3CEB is a matter of rules and subordinate legislation. Being a sub-ordinate legislation matter, it is out of the purview of Bill. The rationale given is that international transaction includes ‘purchase or sale of marketable securities' and CBDT has clarified that premium arising on issue of shares is a capital account transaction and it does not give rise to income. Hence, it is not liable to transfer pricing adjustment. Transfer pricing provisions ensure fair valuation of economic activity (production of goods, services and other transactions) undertaken in a country and tackles artificial shifting of taxable profits. Therefore, though premium in excess of fair market value received on a issuance of shares may not be taxable due to non application of section 56(2)(viib) with effect from 1.4.2025, the transaction is shares may have relevance from the angle of transfer pricing provisions. It could be appreciated that transaction in shares may also result in capital gains subsequently, which would certainly attract Transfer Pricing provisions. In view of the above, amendment on proposed suggestion is……"

163.5.2 On the issue of aligning the definition of 'intangibles' in the Act/Bill as per OECD guidelines, the representatives of the Ministry of Finance, during the sitting of the Committee, submitted as under:-

"the suggestion is that there is a definition of intangibles in the Act as well as Bill. So, the suggestion is that it should be aligned to the OECD guidelines. So, our view is that we have given specific definition of intangibles and then we go by our Act rather than referring to some international guidelines as far as definition of intangibles is concerned".

163.5.3 Elaborating further on the same issue, during the sitting, the representative of the ministry of Finance submitted as under:-

"Regarding 454, the stakeholder is asking that there is a reporting requirement of purchase or sale of marketable securities. That reporting requirement is in Form 3CEB. So, the stakeholder is saying that you remove this reporting requirement. We are saying it is a matter of rules and subordinate legislation. And then regarding removal of this, the stakeholder is saying that you do not apply transfer pricing provisions to such transactions. We have explained that issue and buyback of securities, purchase or sale of marketable securities and issue and buyback of securities are a transaction where transfer pricing provisions have to apply because that can result in profit shifting".

163.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, having examined the contents of proposed Clause 163 of the Bill pertaining to the meaning of international transaction, alongwith the corresponding Section 92B of the IT Act, 1961, find that there is content migration from the earlier section to the current Bill. Other than textual simplification, nothing more has been disturbed. The Committee also find the justification of the Ministry against the suggestions of the stakeholders cogent and sound enough, adding clarity to the text in defining the expression "international transaction". Therefore, the Committee, accept the proposed clause 163 without any changes.

Clause – 164 –Meaning of specified domestic transaction.

164.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

164. In this Chapter, “specified domestic transaction” in case of an assessee means any of the following transactions, not being an international transaction— (a) any transaction referred to in section 122; (b) any transfer of goods or services referred to in section 140(9); (c) any business transacted between the assessee and other person as referred to in section 140(13); (d) any transaction, referred to in any other section under Chapter VIII or section 144, to which provisions of section 140(9) or (13) are applicable; (e) any business transacted between the persons referred to in section 205(4); (f) any other transaction as prescribed, and where the aggregate of such transactions entered into by the assessee in a tax year exceeds a sum of twenty crore rupees.

164.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Meaning of specified domestic transaction.

92BA. For the purposes of this section and sections 92, 92C, 92D and 92E, "specified domestic transaction" in case of an assessee means any of the following transactions, not being an international transaction, namely:—

(i) []

(ii) any transaction referred to in section 80A;

(iii) any transfer of goods or services referred to in sub-section (8) of section 80-IA;

(iv) any business transacted between the assessee and other person as referred to in sub-section (10) of section 80-IA;

(v) any transaction, referred to in any other section under Chapter VI-A or section 10AA, to which provisions of sub-section (8) or sub-section (10) of section 80-IA are applicable; or

(va) any business transacted between the persons referred to in sub-section (6) of section 115BAB;

[5][(vb) any business transacted between the assessee and other person as referred to in sub-section (4) of section 115BAE;]

(vi) any other transaction as may be prescribed, and where the aggregate of such transactions entered into by the assesse in the previous year exceeds a sum of twenty crore rupees.

164.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 164 of the Bill seeks to define the expression "specified domestic transaction". The clause corresponds to section 92BA of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

164.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Some of the important suggestions from the stakeholders are mentioned below:-

(i) Propose to change the reference in clause (e) from 205(4) to 205(5), Since section 205(5) refers to the transaction between the related enterprises that requires the amount of profits to be determined having regard to arm's length.

(ii) The said provision should be eliminated because most of the incentive provisions are phased out and if not, are being gradually phased out.
Presently, income tax is levied on companies by classifying the companies into 5 categories namely:
Newly setup companies who commenced manufacturing on or before the 31st March, 2024 taxable at 15% under section 115BAB
Domestic Companies taxable at the rate of 22% under section 115BAA
Domestic Companies whose turnover does not exceed Rs. 400 Cr taxable at the rate of 25% under section 115BA
Companies taxable under normal provisions at the rate of 30% which is subject to MAT provisions Companies incorporated in gift city are exempted for 10 years but subject to MAT under section 115JB at the rate of 9%.
(Surcharge and Cess shall be levied separately on all the above mentioned tax rates)
Therefore, even if in principle, the provisions of this transaction needs to be continued, transfer pricing provisions should be made applicable to transactions between category (i) to (iv) with category (v) type of companies.

164.5 Examination by the Committee:

(i) "Accepted: Drafting error. May be corrected by substituting reference of clause 205(4) with clause 205(5) in clause 164. The proposed provisions of the Bill are similar to the provisions of the I T Act".

(ii) "Stakeholder seeks deletion of provisions concerning 'Specified Domestic Transaction'. The suggestion is the nature of policy change, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025. There is no change in the IT Bill, 2025 vis-a-vis I T Act, 1961. Like in transfer pricing provisions, determination of arm's length price in specified domestic transaction between two related parties to ensure fair valuation of economic activity (production of goods, services and other transactions) undertaken between such parties and tackles artificial shifting of taxable profits to tax efficient entity. In view of the above, amendment on the proposed suggestion is not feasible. The proposed provisions of the Bill are similar to the provisions of the I T Act".

164.5.2 On the aspect of deletion of provisions concerning 'Specified Domestic Transaction', the representative of the Ministry of Finance submitted before the Committee, during the sitting, as under:-

"Sir, there are international transactions and there are specified domestic transactions for which transfer pricing provisions are applicable. The stakeholders' request is that we delete the provisions concerning specified domestic transactions. That means on specified domestic transactions, no transfer pricing provision should be applicable. In domestic area also, beyond a threshold, we have provided that wherever there are associate enterprises, they also can use the provisions because if there is a profit-making company, it can reduce its profit and transfer its profit to its associate enterprises. That way, both get tax arbitrage and in certain cases tax abuse also. That is why these SDD provisions are there".

164.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee find that Clause 164 of the Bill seeks to define the expression "specified domestic transaction". The clause corresponds to section 92BA of the Act. However, the scrutiny of the text reveal that there is a incorrect reference in Clause 164 (e) to 205 (4). The actual reference should be to 205 (5) since section 205(5) refers to the transaction between the related enterprises that requires the amount of profits to be determined having regard to arm's length. On pointing to the Ministry, it has been identified to be a drafting error. Therefore, the Committee, other than recommending the Ministry to carry out the change of reference in clause 164 (e) from 205(4) to 205(5), find the provisions of the existing section to be a textual simplification and accept the proposed Clause.

Clause – 165 –Determination of arm's length price.

165.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

165. (1) The arm's length price in relation to an international transaction or specified domestic transaction shall be determined by any of the following methods, being the most appropriate method— (a) comparable uncontrolled price method; (b) resale price method; (c) cost plus method; (d) profit split method; (e) transactional net margin method; (f) such other method as prescribed by the Board.

(2) The most appropriate method referred to in sub-section (1) shall be,— (a) selected having regard to the nature of transaction or class of transaction or class of associated enterprise or functions performed by such enterprises or such other relevant factors as the Board may prescribe; (b) applied for determination of arm's length price in such manner as prescribed.

(3) The arm's length price shall be— (a) in case, only one price is determined by the most appropriate method,— (i) the price determined by that method; or (ii) the price at which the international transaction or specified domestic transaction has actually been undertaken, if the variation between the arm's length price so determined and price at which the international transaction or specified domestic transaction has actually been undertaken does not exceed such percentage not exceeding 3% of the latter, notified by the Central Government in this behalf; or (b) in case, more than one price is determined by the most appropriate method, the price determined in such manner as prescribed.

(4) The Assessing Officer, during the course of any proceeding for the assessment of income, may proceed to determine the arm's length price in relation to an international transaction or specified domestic transaction as per sub-sections (1), (2) and (3) if, on the basis of material or information or document in his possession, he is of the opinion that— (a) the price charged or paid in an international transaction or specified domestic transaction has not been determined as per sub-sections (1), (2) and (3); or (b) any information and document relating to an international transaction or specified domestic transaction has not been kept and maintained by the assessee as per section 168(1); or (c) the information or data used in determination of the arm's length price by the assessee is not reliable or correct; or (d) the assessee has failed to furnish, within the specified time, any information or document which he was required to furnish by a notice issued under section 171(2).

(5) The Assessing Officer, before determining the arm's length price under sub-section (4), shall give a notice calling upon the assessee to show cause, on the date and time to be specified in the notice, why the arm's length price should not be determined on the basis of material or information or document in his possession.

(6) The Assessing Officer, on determination of arm's length price under sub-section (4), may compute the total income of the assessee having regard to the arm's length price so determined.

(7) No deduction shall be allowed under section 144 or under Chapter VIII in respect of income by which the total income of the assessee is enhanced after computation of income under sub-section (6).

(8) When the total income of an associated enterprise is computed under sub-section (6) on determination of the arm's length price paid to another associated enterprise from which tax has been deducted or was deductible under the provisions of Chapter XIX-B, the income of the other associated enterprise shall not be recomputed by reason of such determination of arm's length price in the case of the first mentioned enterprise.

165.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Computation of arm's length price.

92C. (1) The arm's length price in relation to an international transaction or specified domestic transaction shall be determined by any of the following methods, being the most appropriate method, having regard to the nature of transaction or class of transaction or class of associated persons or functions performed by such persons or such other relevant factors as the Board may prescribe, namely :—

(a) comparable uncontrolled price method;

(b) resale price method;

(c) cost plus method;

(d) profit split method;

(e) transactional net margin method;

(f) such other method as may be prescribed by the Board.

(2) The most appropriate method referred to in sub-section (1) shall be applied, for determination of arm's length price, in the manner as may be prescribed :

Provided that where more than one price is determined by the most appropriate method, the arm's length price shall be taken to be the arithmetical mean of such prices:

Provided further that if the variation between the arm's length price so determined and price at which the international transaction or specified domestic transaction has actually been undertaken does not exceed such percentage not exceeding three per cent of the latter, as may be notified by the Central Government in the Official Gazette in this behalf, the price at which the international transaction or specified domestic transaction has actually been undertaken shall be deemed to be the arm's length price :

Provided also that where more than one price is determined by the most appropriate method, the arm's length price in relation to an international transaction or specified domestic transaction undertaken on or after the 1st day of April, 2014, shall be computed in such manner as may be prescribed and accordingly the first and second proviso shall not apply.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby clarified that the provisions of the second proviso shall also be applicable to all assessment or reassessment proceedings pending before an Assessing Officer as on the 1st day of October, 2009.

(2A) Where the first proviso to sub-section (2) as it stood before its amendment by the Finance (No. 2) Act, 2009 (33 of 2009), is applicable in respect of an international transaction for an assessment year and the variation between the arithmetical mean referred to in the said proviso and the price at which such transaction has actually been undertaken exceeds five per cent of the arithmetical mean, then, the assessee shall not be entitled to exercise the option as referred to in the said proviso.

(2B) Nothing contained in sub-section (2A) shall empower the Assessing Officer either to assess or reassess under section 147 or pass an order enhancing the assessment or reducing a refund already made or otherwise increasing the liability of the assessee under section 154 for any assessment year the proceedings of which have been completed before the 1st day of October, 2009.

(3) Where during the course of any proceeding for the assessment of income, the Assessing Officer is, on the basis of material or information or document in his possession, of the opinion that—

(a) the price charged or paid in an international transaction or specified domestic transaction has not been determined in accordance with sub-sections (1) and (2); or

(b) any information and document relating to an international transaction or specified domestic transaction have not been kept and maintained by the assessee in accordance with the provisions contained in sub-section (1) of section 92D and the rules made in this behalf; or

(c) the information or data used in computation of the arm's length price is not reliable or correct; or

(d) the assessee has failed to furnish, within the specified time, any information or document which he was required to furnish by a notice issued under sub-section (3) of section 92D, the Assessing Officer may proceed to determine the arm's length price in relation to the said international transaction or specified domestic transaction in accordance with sub-sections (1) and (2), on the basis of such material or information or document available with him:

Provided that an opportunity shall be given by the Assessing Officer by serving a notice calling upon the assessee to show cause, on a date and time to be specified in the notice, why the arm's length price should not be so determined on the basis of material or information or document in the possession of the Assessing Officer.

(4) Where an arm's length price is determined by the Assessing Officer under sub-section (3), the Assessing Officer may compute the total income of the assessee having regard to the arm's length price so determined :

Provided that no deduction under section 10A or section 10AA or section 10B or under Chapter VI-A shall be allowed in respect of the amount of income by which the total income of the assessee is enhanced after computation of income under this sub-section :

Provided further that where the total income of an associated enterprise is computed under this sub-section on determination of the arm's length price paid to another associated enterprise from which tax has been deducted or was deductible under the provisions of Chapter XVIIB, the income of the other associated enterprise shall not be recomputed by reason of such determination of arm's length price in the case of the first mentioned enterprise.

165.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 165 of the Bill provides for determination of arm’s length price and the methods for determining the arm’s length price. The clause corresponds to section 92C of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

165.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Few important suggestions on the Clause are summarized as under:-

(i) Transfer Pricing ('TP') provisions seek to avoid base erosion and shifting of profits using transactions with related parties. However, currently there is litigation even when there is no flight of profits from India. Example:-

I Co importing services from its related parties for $100 and the arms' length price (ALP) is $125.00. When I Co pays lower amount, there is no flight of profits from India. But TPO, though satisfied from I Co perspective, argues F Co should have charged extra $25.00 and taxes it in F Co's assessment, without appreciating that if F Co charges $25 extra, I Co (taxed @ 30% or 22%) would claim higher deduction while F Co pays tax @10%.) Amendment must be made in section 92C of the Act (Section 165 of the Bill) to clarify that if the transaction has been found to be at arms' length from the perspective of the Indian company, then there should be no scrutiny or adjustments for the same transaction from the perspective of the Foreign Company.

(ii) The proposed section 165(3) needs to be modified. Sub-clause (i) be made part of clause (a) and sub-clause (ii) shall be made clause (c) because the present clause (ii) will apply to both one price and more than one price. It should read as follows: (3) The arm's length price shall be — (a) in case, only one price is determined by the most appropriate method, the price determined by that method; or (b) in case, more than one price is determined by the most appropriate method, the price determined in such manner as prescribed. (c) the price at which the international transaction or specified domestic transaction has actually been undertaken, if the variation between the arm's length price so determined and price at which the international transaction or specified domestic transaction has actually been undertaken does not exceed such percentage not exceeding 3% of the latter, notified by the Central Government in this behalf.

(iii) Section 171(1) refers to the maintenance, and keeping of information and documents in respect of the transaction entered into. This appears to be an inadvertent error in referencing and needs correction.

(iv) The new Income-Tax Bill now provides a flat 3% range which is now applicable to the determined ALP even when only a single comparable is used. However, a rate of 1% for wholesalers, maximum rate for manufacturing industry and 3% for trade should be appropriate.

The new bill drops references to metric like arithmetic mean which is welcomed. However, the Percentile-based ranges (like interquartile) should continue to apply as it is accepted internationally.
The words “as may be prescribed’ should be deleted in the new Income-Tax Bill and the reference should be drawn in the statute itself. Comparatively, the existing provisions are better than the bill because discretion giving to the officers is mostly misused giving rise to uncountable litigations out of which 94% cases are against the department. The time has come to go back to Rule 10 and Formulary Apportionment Method on Transfer pricing When even OECD who is the originator of Transfer Pricing have started thinking about the Formulary Apportionment Method in the Base Erosion and Profit Sharing project [BEPS], it is time for us to implement this method which is already contained in the rules and could be extended to transfer pricing purpose as well.

(v) In order to be consistent with the international practices, it is suggested that inter quartile range may be adopted for computing the arm’s length range in cases where the application of most appropriate method results in more than one comparable transaction. An approach consistent with international practices would reduce cross-border tax disputes and facilitate smoother compliance for multinational enterprises operating in multiple jurisdictions

(vi) The new Income-Tax Bill now provides a flat 3% range which is now applicable to the determined ALP even when only a single comparable is used. However, a rate of 1% for wholesalers, maximum rate for manufacturing industry and 3% for trade should be appropriate. The new bill drops references to metric like arithmetic mean which is welcomed. However, the Percentile based ranges (like interquartile) should continue to apply as it is accepted internationally. The words “as may be prescribed’ should be deleted in the new Income-Tax Bill and the reference should be drawn in the statute itself. Comparatively, the existing provisions are better than the bill because discretion giving to the officers is mostly misused giving rise to uncountable litigations out of which 94% cases are against the department. We believe the time has come to go back to Rule 10 and Formulary Apportionment Method on Transfer pricing. When even OECD who is the originator of Transfer Pricing have started thinking about the Formulary Apportionment Method in the Base Erosion and Profit Sharing project [BEPS], it is time for us to implement this method which is already contained in the rules and could be extended to transfer pricing purpose as well.” Section 165 of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 provides a flat 3% range which is now applicable to the determined Arm’s Length Price even when a single comparable is used. However, such 3% tolerance level while administratively simple, does not reflect the economic realities across industries. Therefore, a tolerance rate of 1% for wholesalers, maximum rate for manufacturing industry and 3% for trade should be considered to be appropriate. To illustrate the above suggestion, lets understand with the help of an example: Case 1: Wholesale Trade Transaction (High Volume, Low Margin) ALP Determined Actual Transaction Price Rs. 101 Rs. 100 Difference Rs. 1 [1% of the actual price] This would pass under the 3% tolerance level. But in wholesale, where margins are often below 2%, this 1% variance could be significant, leading to profit shifting. In wholesale, even small deviations can materially affect margins. This tighter band helps safeguard base erosion in thin-margin wholesale operations. Case 2: Manufacturing Sector (Complex, Differentiated Products) ALP Determined Actual Transaction Price Rs. 107 Rs. 100 Difference Rs. 7 [7% of the actual price] This fails the 3% rule. But manufacturing involves variability in costs, asset base, etc. Hence, strict 3% tolerance level may reject genuine transactions. A flexible or maximum range up to 5% would be appropriate for this sector, with necessary guidelines based on industry standards. Case 3: Retail Trade (Moderate Margin, Price Sensitivity) ALP Determined Actual Transaction Price Rs. 102.8 Rs. 100 Difference Rs. 2.8 [2.8% of the actual price] This passes under the 3% tolerance level. However, retail margins tend to vary, and pricing is dynamic. Therefore, a 3% fixed band is appropriate which allows normal price fluctuations. The above example emphasize that industry specific tolerance levels would better balance the ease of compliance to enhance accuracy of transfer pricing.

(vii) It is recommended that India also follow the internationally accepted range concept, i.e., interquartile range (25th – 75th percentile) to align with international standards.

165.5 Examination by the Committee:

The Ministry in their written replies have submitted as under:-

(i) “The principle of arms length price is that the price is to be determined as if the transaction is between two unrelated parties. The principle of ALP ensures that none of the companies are able to decrease their profits liable to tax in India. In the example stated, if the payment to the foreign company is in the nature of royalty/FTS, the foreign company will benefit on account of lower liability to taxes and consequently lower withholding. In view of the reasons stated, the suggestion has no merit. The proposed provision is similar to provisions of the Income-tax Act, 1961. So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no policy change has been proposed in the Bill”.

(ii) “The stakeholder seeks to provide provisions of 'tolerance band/range' of not exceeding 3 percent as provided in clause 165(3)(a)(ii) [corresponding to second proviso to section 92C(2)] to cases where more than one price is determined.Tolerance band where two prices are determined is already enabled through Rule. Therefore, the suggestion is already taken care of. The proposed provisions of the Bill are similar to the provisions of the I T Act”.

(iii) "Stakeholder seeks an amendment of rule 10CA to provide that inter quartile range may be adopted for computing the arm's length range in cases where the application of most appropriate method results in more than one comparable transaction. The suggestion relates to rules which is a matter of subordinate legislation. Amendment of rule is a policy matter and outside the purview of Bill. The proposed provisions of the Bill are similar to the provisions of the I T Act".

(iv) "Accepted: It is a drafting error. May be corrected by reference of 168(1) with 171(1) in clause 165(4). The proposed provisions of the Bill are similar to the provisions of the I T Act".

(v) "Stakeholder seeks amendment in the manner of computation of Arms length price(ALP). The suggestion is in respect of continuation of percentile based ranges, ALP to be determined based on formulatory apportionment under rule 10, deletion of prescription for ALP computation etc. The suggestion is the nature of change to subordinate legislation, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025. The manner of computation of ALP has been provided in detail in rule 10CA of the Income-tax Rules, 1962. The said rule inter alia include percentile based ranges. Further for each Assessment Year 'range' is notified as per the provisions of section 92C read with rule 10CA. Also, amendment of the rule is a matter of subordinate legislation. Therefore, it is out of the purview of the Bill. Hence, the suggested amendment is not feasible". The proposed provisions of the Bill are similar to the provisions of the I T Act".

165.5.2 When enquired upon the issue of Transfer Pricing, the representative of Ministry of Finance, during the Sitting, submitted before the Committee as under:-

"सर, ट्रांसफर प्राइसिंग के बारे में एक सिम्पल सा प्रिंसिपल है, जो यह डिटरमिन करता है कि ट्रांजैक्शन का आर्म्सलेंथ प्राइस कितना है। अगर मैं अनरिलेटेड पार्टी से ट्रांजैक्शन करता और अब मैंने रिलेटेड पार्टी में ट्रांजैक्शन किया है, तो उसका डिफरेंस कितना है, उसको हम ट्रांसफर प्राइसिंग में ले लेते हैं और अनरिलेटेड पार्टी के जितना ट्रांजैक्शन वैल्यू कर देते हैं।"

165.5.3 When asked to elaborate on the basis for arm's length price, the representative of the Ministry of Finance further submitted as below:-

"वे कम्पेरेबल देखते हैं कि मैंने अपने पेरेंट से एक सौ रुपए का कुछ खरीदा। अगरअपने पेरेंट से खरीदा तो क्या मैंने फेयर वैल्यू दी कि नहीं, आर्म्सलेंथ प्राइस दी गई कि नहीं, इसको डिटरमिन करने के लिए मैं बाकी कम्पेरेबल देखता हूँ कि अगर मैं किसी और से खरीदता तो कितने का खरीदता। अगर मैं 110 रुपए का खरीदता, तो उस ट्रांजैक्शन की वैल्यू 110 रुपए की मानते।"...."यह प्रिंसिपल है। इसमें यह होता है कि मैं यहाँ की इनकम इनक्रीज करता हूँ, जब भी आर्म्सलेंथ की ट्रांसफर प्राइसिंग की जाती है, तो यहाँ की इनकम इनक्रीज करता हूँ। लेकिन यह भी लिखा है कि अगर आर्म्सलेंथ प्राइस की इनकम रिड्यूस होती है, तो मैं उसको इफेक्ट नहीं दूँगा। कोरेस्पांडिंगली, जब यहाँ इनक्रीज हुई, तो फॉरेन एंटिटी की डिक्रीज होगी या न्यूट्रल भी रह सकती है। यह कहा जा रहा है कि आप डिपली स्टडी करें ही न, ऐसे केसेज में, जब फ्लाइटऑफ प्रॉफिट न हो रहा हो। लेकिन हम डिपली स्टडी किये बिना इस पर अराइव नहीं कर सकते हैं।"

165.5.4 Elaborating further on the aspect of tolerance band in transfer pricing, the representative of the Ministry of Finance submitted as under:-

"When we do this transfer pricing, if there are two prices which are determined by our exercise, then we take average of two prices and there is a tolerance range of three per cent. The stakeholder is saying that this tolerance band should be provided in case there are more than one price determined. That is exactly the provision as per the current law".

165.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee observe that Clause 165 of the Bill provides for determination of arm's length price and the methods for determining the arm's length price. The provisions and text of the clause corresponds to section 92C of the IT Act, 1961. During the examination, the Committee note that in Clause 165 (4) there is a reference to any information and document relating to an international transaction or specified domestic transaction that has not been kept and maintained by the assessee as per Clause 168(1). However, the Committee find that Clause 171(1) refers to the maintenance, and keeping of information and documents in respect of the transaction entered into. This appears to be an inadvertent error in referencing and needs correction. This anomaly was pointed to the Ministry and subsequently it has been identified as a drafting error which may be corrected by reference to 171(1) in clause 165(4). Thus, the Committee recommend the Ministry to rectify this drafting error and reflect the correct reference to Clause 171(1) in 165 (4) in place of 168 (1) and further accept the remaining portion of the proposed clause in the wake of textual simplification and retention of the same intent.

Clause – 166 –Reference to Transfer Pricing Officer.

166.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

166. (1) Where,— (a) the assessee has entered into an international transaction or specified domestic transaction in any tax year; and (b) the Assessing Officer considers it necessary or expedient so to do, he may refer the determination of the arm's length price in relation to such transaction to the Transfer Pricing Officer, with the previous approval of the Principal Commissioner or Commissioner.

(2) No reference under sub-section (1) for computation of the arm's length price in relation to an international transaction or a specified domestic transaction shall be made, if the Transfer Pricing Officer has declared that option exercised by the assessee in sub-section (9) in relation to such transaction is valid for such tax year.

(3) If any reference for an international transaction or a specified domestic transaction under sub-section (1), in respect of a tax year, for which the option is declared valid under sub-section (9) is made before or after such declaration by the Transfer Pricing Officer, the provisions of sub-section (1) shall have the effect as if no reference is made for such transaction.

(4) Where a reference is made under sub-section (1), the Transfer Pricing Officer shall serve a notice on the assessee requiring him to produce or cause to be produced on a date specified therein, any evidence on which the assessee may rely in support of the determination made by him of the arm's length price in relation to such transaction.

(5) Where,— (a) any international transaction or specified domestic transaction, other than an international transaction or a specified domestic transaction referred under sub-section (1); or (b) any international transaction or a specified domestic transaction that the assessee has not included in the report under section 172, comes to the notice of the Transfer Pricing Officer during the course of the proceedings before him, the provisions of this Chapter shall apply as if such transaction is a transaction referred to him under sub-section (1).

(6) On the date specified in the notice under sub-section (4), or as soon thereafter as may be,— (a) after hearing such evidence as the assessee may produce, including any information or documents referred to in section 171(2); (b) after considering such evidence as the Transfer Pricing Officer may require on any specified points; and (c) after taking into account all relevant materials which he has gathered, the Transfer Pricing Officer shall, by order in writing, determine the arm's length price in relation to the international transaction or specified domestic transaction as per section 165(4) and send a copy of his order to the Assessing Officer and to the assessee.

(7) Where a reference was made under sub-section (1), an order under sub-section (6) may be made at any time before sixty days before the expiry of limitation period referred to in section 286, or 296, for making the order of assessment or reassessment or recomputation or fresh assessment.

(8) If the period of limitation available to the Transfer Pricing Officer for making an order under sub-section (6) is less than sixty days in the circumstances referred to in section 286(3)(b) or (i) ,such remaining period shall be extended to sixty days and the aforesaid period of limitation shall be deemed to have been extended accordingly.

(9) The arm's length price, being determined in relation to the international transaction or the specified domestic transaction under sub-section (6) for any tax year shall apply to similar international transaction or specified domestic transaction for the two consecutive tax years immediately following such tax year, on fulfilment of the following conditions:— (a) the assessee exercises an option or options to the above effect for the said two consecutive tax years; (b) such option or options are exercised in such form, manner and within such period as prescribed; and, (c) the Transfer Pricing Officer shall, within one month from the end of the month in which such option or options are exercised, by an order in writing, declare that such option or options are valid subject to the conditions, as prescribed.

(10) The provisions of sub-section (9) shall not apply to any proceedings under Chapter XVI-B.

(11) On receipt of the order under sub-section (6), the Assessing Officer shall compute the total income of the assessee under section 165(6) in conformity with the arm's length price as so determined by the Transfer Pricing Officer.

(12) Irrespective of anything contained in sub-section (11), where the Transfer Pricing Officer has declared an option exercised by the assessee as valid option under sub-section (9), he shall examine and determine the arm's length price in relation to such similar transaction for two consecutive tax years immediately following such tax year, in the order referred to in sub-section (4) and on receipt of such order, the Assessing Officer shall proceed to recompute the total income of the assessee for the said two consecutive tax years as per the provisions of section 288.

(13) For rectifying any mistake apparent from the record, the Transfer Pricing Officer,— (a) may amend any order passed by him under sub-section (6), and the provisions of section 287 shall, so far as may be, apply accordingly; and (b) shall send a copy of such order to the Assessing Officer who shall thereafter amend the order of assessment in conformity with such order of the Transfer Pricing Officer.

(14) The Transfer Pricing Officer may exercise all or any of the powers specified in section 246(1)(a) to (d) or 252(1)(a) or 253 for the purposes of determining the arm's length price under this section.

(15) If any difficulty arises in giving effect to the provisions of sub-sections (9) and (12), the Board may, with the prior approval of the Central Government, issue guidelines for the purpose of removing such difficulty.

(16) No guideline under sub-section (15) shall be issued after the expiration of two years from the 1st April, 2026.

(17) Every guideline issued by the Board under sub-section (15) shall be laid before each House of Parliament while it is in session for a total period of thirty days which may be comprised in one session or in two or more successive sessions, and if, before the expiry of the session immediately following the session or the successive session aforesaid, both houses agree in making any modification in such guideline or both Houses agree that the guideline, should not be issued, the guideline shall thereafter have effect only in such modified form or be of no effect, as the case may be; so, however, that any such modification or annulment shall be without prejudice to the validity of anything previously done under that guideline.

(18) In this section, "Transfer Pricing Officer" means a Joint Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner or Assistant Commissioner authorised by the Board to perform all or any of the functions of an Assessing Officer specified in sections 165 and 171 in respect of any person or class of persons.

166.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Reference to Transfer Pricing Officer.

92CA. (1) Where any person, being the assessee, has entered into an international transaction or specified domestic transaction in any previous year, and the Assessing Officer considers it necessary or expedient so to do, he may, with the previous approval of the Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, refer the computation of the arm's length price in relation to the said international transaction or specified domestic transaction under section 92C to the Transfer Pricing Officer.

Following provisos shall be inserted in sub-section (1) of section 92CA by the Finance Act, 2025, w.e.f. 1-4-2026:

Provided that no reference for computation of the arm's length price in relation to an international transaction or a specified domestic transaction shall be made, if the Transfer Pricing Officer has declared that option exercised by the assessee in sub-section (3B) in relation to such transaction is valid for such previous year:

Provided further that if any reference for an international transaction or a specified domestic transaction, in respect of a previous year, for which the option is declared valid under sub-section (3B) is made before or after such declaration by the Transfer Pricing Officer, the provisions of this sub-section shall have the effect as if no reference is made for such transaction.

(2) Where a reference is made under sub-section (1), the Transfer Pricing Officer shall serve a notice on the assessee requiring him to produce or cause to be produced on a date to be specified therein, any evidence on which the assessee may rely in support of the computation made by him of the arm's length price in relation to the international transaction or specified domestic transaction referred to in sub-section (1).

(2A) Where [6][any other international transaction or specified domestic transaction [other than an international transaction or a specified domestic transaction]referred under sub-section (1)], comes to the notice of the Transfer Pricing Officer during the course of the proceedings before him, the provisions of this Chapter shall apply as [7][if such other international transaction or a specified domestic transaction is an international transaction or a specified domestic transaction]referred to him under sub-section (1).

(2B) Where in respect of an international transaction [8][or a specified domestic transaction], the assessee has not furnished the report under section 92E and such transaction comes to the notice of the Transfer Pricing Officer during the course of the proceeding before him, the provisions of this Chapter shall apply as if [9][such transaction is an international transaction or a specified domestic transaction]referred to him under sub-section (1).

(2C) Nothing contained in sub-section (2B) shall empower the Assessing Officer either to assess or reassess under section 147 or pass an order enhancing the assessment or reducing a refund already made or otherwise increasing the liability of the assessee under section 154, for any assessment year, proceedings for which have been completed before the 1st day of July, 2012.

(3) On the date specified in the notice under sub-section (2), or as soon thereafter as may be, after hearing such evidence as the assessee may produce, including any information or documents referred to in sub-section (3) of section 92D and after considering such evidence as the Transfer Pricing Officer may require on any specified points and after taking into account all relevant materials which he has gathered, the Transfer Pricing Officer shall, by order in writing, determine the arm's length price in relation to the international transaction or specified domestic transaction in accordance with sub-section (3) of section 92C and send a copy of his order to the Assessing Officer and to the assessee.

(3A) Where a reference was made under sub-section (1) before the 1st day of June, 2007 but the order under sub-section (3) has not been made by the Transfer Pricing Officer before the said date, or a reference under sub-section (1) is made on or after the 1st day of June, 2007, an order under sub-section (3) may be made at any time before sixty days prior to the date on which the period of limitation referred to in section 153, or as the case may be, in section 153B for making the order of assessment or reassessment or recomputation or fresh assessment, as the case may be, expires:

Provided that in the circumstances referred to in clause (ii) or clause (x) of Explanation 1 to section 153, if the period of limitation available to the Transfer Pricing Officer for making an order is less than sixty days, such remaining period shall be extended to sixty days and the aforesaid period of limitation shall be deemed to have been extended accordingly.

Following sub-section (3B) shall be inserted after sub-section (3A) of section 92CA by the Finance Act, 2025, w.e.f. 1-4-2026:

(3B) The arm's length price, being determined in relation to the international transaction or the specified domestic transaction under sub-section (3) for any previous year shall apply to similar international transaction or specified domestic transaction for the two consecutive previous years immediately following such previous year, on fulfilment of the following conditions, namely:—

*(a)* the assessee exercises an option or options to the above effect for the said two consecutive previous years;

*(b)* such option or options are exercised in such form, manner and within such period as prescribed; and

*(c)* the Transfer Pricing Officer shall, within one month from the end of the month in which such option or options are exercised, by an order in writing, declare that such option or options are valid subject to the conditions, as prescribed:

Provided*that the provisions of this sub-section shall not apply to any proceedings under Chapter XIV-B.*

(4) On receipt of the order under sub-section (3), the Assessing Officer shall proceed to compute the total income of the assessee under sub-section (4) of section 92C in conformity with the arm's length price as so determined by the Transfer Pricing Officer.

Following sub-section (4A) shall be inserted after sub-section (4) of section 92CA by the Finance Act, 2025, w.e.f. 1-4-2026:

(4A) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (4), where the Transfer Pricing Officer has declared an option exercised by the assessee as valid option under sub-section (3B), he shall examine and determine the arm's length price in relation to such similar transaction for two consecutive previous years immediately following such previous year, in the order referred to in sub-section (3) and on receipt of such order, the Assessing Officer shall proceed to recompute the total income of the assessee for the said two consecutive previous years as per the provisions of sub-section (21) of section 155.

(5) With a view to rectifying any mistake apparent from the record, the Transfer Pricing Officer may amend any order passed by him under sub-section (3), and the provisions of section 154 shall, so far as may be, apply accordingly.

(6) Where any amendment is made by the Transfer Pricing Officer under sub-section (5), he shall send a copy of his order to the Assessing Officer who shall thereafter proceed to amend the order of assessment in conformity with such order of the Transfer Pricing Officer.

(7) The Transfer Pricing Officer may, for the purposes of determining the arm's length price under this section, exercise all or any of the powers specified in clauses (a) to (d) of sub-section (1) of section 131 or sub-section (6) of section 133 or section 133A.

(8) The Central Government may make a scheme, by notification in the Official Gazette, for the purposes of determination of the arm's length price under sub-section (3), so as to impart greater efficiency, transparency and accountability by—

(a) eliminating the interface between the Transfer Pricing Officer and the assessee or any other person to the extent technologically feasible;

(b) optimising utilisation of the resources through economies of scale and functional specialisation;

(c) introducing a team-based determination of arm's length price with dynamic jurisdiction.

(9) The Central Government may, for the purpose of giving effect to the scheme made under sub-section (8), by notification in the Official Gazette, direct that any of the provisions of this Act shall not apply or shall apply with such exceptions, modifications and adaptations as may be specified in the notification.

[10][]

(10) Every notification issued under sub-section (8) and sub-section (9) shall, as soon as may be after the notification is issued, be laid before each House of Parliament.

Following sub-sections (11) and (12) shall be inserted after sub-section (10) of section 92CA by the Finance Act, 2025, w.e.f. 1-4-2026:

(11) If any difficulty arises in giving effect to the provisions of sub-sections (3B) and (4A), the Board may, with the previous approval of the Central Government, issue guidelines for the purpose of removing such difficulty:

Provided that no such guideline shall be made after the expiration of two years from the 1st April, 2026.

(12) Every guideline issued by the Board under sub-section (11) shall be laid before each House of Parliament while it is in session for a total period of thirty days which may be comprised in one session or in two or more successive sessions, and if, before the expiry of the session immediately following the session or the successive sessions aforesaid, both houses agree in making any modification in such guideline or both Houses agree that the guideline, should not be issued, the guideline shall thereafter have effect only in such modified form or be of no effect, as the case may be; so, however, that any such modification or annulment shall be without prejudice to the validity of anything previously done under that guideline.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, "Transfer Pricing Officer" means a Joint Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner or Assistant Commissioner authorised by the Board to perform all or any of the functions of an Assessing Officer specified in sections 92C and 92D in respect of any person or class of persons.

166.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 166 of the Bill provides for referral of cases by the Assessing Officer to the Transfer Pricing Officer for determining the arm’s length price. The clause corresponds to section 92CA of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

166.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Some important suggestions from the stakeholders are summarized as follows:-

(i) The taxpayer may be permitted to exercise the option for either one or two consecutive years 2 The taxpayer may be given an option to exercise rollback for the two immediately preceding previous years, subject to fulfilment of specified conditions Rollback may not be permitted in cases where the determination of ALP of the said international transaction has been subject matter of an appeal before the Appellate Tribunal and the Appellate Tribunal has passed an order disposing of such appeal at any time before exercise of option 3 The phrase “similar transaction” may be elucidated to ensure clarity. Providing flexibility to opt for either one or two consecutive years allows the taxpayer to align the option with their business cycle and promotes voluntary compliance Allowing rollback enhances certainty and reduces prolonged litigation for past years, encouraging taxpayers to opt for the arrangement.

(ii) We appreciate the spirit of sub-section 9 to introduce block assessment in transfer pricing provisions.
For smooth and efficient working of transfer pricing, a specialised Transfer Pricing wing should be created where fully trained officers are deployed. Since in the existing transfer pricing framework, officers dedicate their first year into understanding the transfer pricing system and methodologies. In the same year, they often tend to replicate previous year's orders without fully understanding evolving economic conditions of the period under examination, which is a basic requirement of economic conditions. Subsequently, in the second and third year they follow the orders of previous years which renders the entire transfer pricing process as ineffective. Further, the practice of assessment based on situations and circumstances of earlier years should be eliminated.

166.5 Examination by the Committee:

In response to the suggestions, the Ministry have submitted in their written replies as under:-

(i) "Stakeholder seeks amendment in the multi year transfer pricing provisions which were introduced vide Finance Act, 2025. The suggestion is to inter alia include roll back provisions and flexibility to apply for one or two consecutive previous year. The multi year Transfer Pricing audit provisions have been inserted in the I T Act vide Finance Act, 2025 after due consideration. The said provisions are effective from 1.4.2026 and shall apply to assessment year 2026-27 and subsequent assessment year. As new provisions for multi year audit have not yet come into effect, the suggestion to bring additional changes, without assessing the actual acceptance/impact is premature and may not be feasible. The proposed provisions of the Bill are similar to the provisions of the I T Act".

(ii) "Stakeholder has suggested the manner in which transfer pricing assessment should be conducted. The suggestions are administrative in the nature. The proposed provisions of the Bill are similar to the provisions of the I T Act".

166.5.2 On the provision of block years for transfer pricing, the representatives of the Ministry of Finance, submitted before the Committee as produced below:-

"Again, it is again multi-year transfer pricing provision that has come by Finance Act 2025. The provisions are effective from 1st April, 2026. The suggestion is that this should include the rollback provisions and flexibility to apply for one or two consecutive previous years also. So, it should go back to the earlier years. For earlier years, we have APAs where a taxpayer enters into a unilateral or bilateral agreement. Whatever agreement is entered into, it applies for the five future years and also applies for four rollback years….Sir, this is a very new provision which we have brought as a block concept for transfer pricing".

166.5.3 On the issue of deployment of fully trained Officers for transfer pricing cases, the representatives of the Ministry of Finance stated before the Committee as produced below:-

"What they are saying is actually happening. Our assessments are done by assessing officers. Naturally, they are juniormost direct recruits or promotee officers…… We already have one transfer pricing wing and that is not faceless. If any matter related to transfer pricing comes in faceless assessment also, reference is made to transfer pricing officer. He does the transfer pricing order and sends it back to the assessing officer…. Every year they do the FAR analysis. Every assessment is a new assessment…. In the first year, since they don't understand the full issue, they tend to replicate the earlier year's orders. Whenever transfer pricing officers are posted, we have their training also. There is range head or Commissioner also who is already an experienced person to guide them. It is an administrative issue. We have taken note of it"

166.5.4 The Committee noted that Clause 166 of IT Bill, 2025 is similar to the Section 92CA of the IT Act, 1961. However, with the introduction of two consecutive year application, the Ministry were requested to provide few clarifications on "Similar Transactions", the criteria for what constituted a "similar" transaction for multi-year application and what were the steps for ensuring that Transfer Pricing Officers (TPOs) adhered to strict timelines, especially in complex cases involving multiple transactions. In their written response, the Ministry have stated as under:-

"The concept of muti year transfer pricing audit has been introduced vide Finance Act, 2025. The rules are yet to be prescribed which will clarify the procedure in detail.'

166.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee after going through the details of the proposed Clause 166 of the Bill find that it provides for reference of cases by the Assessing Officer to the Transfer Pricing Officer for determining the arm's length price. The clause corresponds to section 92CA of the IT Act, 1961. No substantial change has been noticed and the proposed clause elicits streamlining and simplification. The Committee, therefore, finding the justification provided by the Ministry, being satisfactory in nature, accept the proposed clause in its entirety without further recommendation.

Clause – 167– Power of Board to make safe harbour rules.

167.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

167. (1) The determination of— (a) income referred to in section 9(2); or (b) arm's length price under section 165 or 166, shall be subject to safe harbour rules.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1), the Board may make rules for safe harbour.

(3) In this section, "safe harbour" means circumstances in which the income tax authorities shall accept,— (a) the transfer price; or (b) the income, deemed to accrue or arise under section 9(2), declared by the assesse.

167.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Power of Board to make safe harbour rules.

92CB. (1) The determination of—

(a) income referred to in clause (i) of sub-section (1) of section 9; or

(b) arm's length price under section 92C or section 92CA, shall be subject to safe harbour rules.

(2) The Board may, for the purposes of sub-section (1), make rules for safe harbour.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, "safe harbour" means circumstances in which the income-tax authorities shall accept the transfer price or income, deemed to accrue or arise under clause (i) of sub-section (1) of section 9, as the case may be, declared by the assessee.

167.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 167 of the Bill provides for power of Board to make safe harbour rules to simplify compliance and reduce litigation. The clause corresponds to section 92CB of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

167.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Important suggestions pertaining to Safe Harbour Rules are produced below:-

(i) Industry stakeholders and MeitY may be consulted before notifying the rules pertaining to the Safe Harbour. Safe Harbour rules should not involve extensive paperwork or audit requirements, as they are time consuming and could lead to operational inefficiencies. Therefore, while framing the rules, the Income Tax authorities should be cognizant of these factors; otherwise, the solution will remain sub-optimal.

(ii) To make safe harbour provisions more attractive and reduce administrative and compliance burden, primacy needs to be given to the fact that the eligible entities are small and bear insignificant risks. Safe harbour rates for software development and IT- enabled services should be considered in the range of 14% and are seen as closer to the commercial realities for small insignificant risk bearing entities. The current safe harbour rates for IT-enabled services are 17%/ 18%, whereas rates for knowledge process outsourcing services, having employee costs of 40% or more is 21% / 24%. These rates are similar to the rates determined by the Transfer Pricing Officers in TP assessments, thus virtually negating the efficacy of safe harbour provisions. Considering that the eligible entities are not of significant size and bear insignificant risks, a range of 19% to 20% could be considered. On similar grounds, for contract R&D services, rates ranging from 20% to 21% could be considered. These rates would also result in a reasonable distinction (rather than a disproportionate distinction) with the 17%/ 18% rates. Considering the general increase in the scale of the GCC operating in India and to make the safe harbour provisions more attractive, the current limits of Rs. 100 crore and Rs. 200 crores for software development services, IT-enabled services, knowledge outsourcing services and contract R&D services should be enhanced to Rs. 300 crores and Rs. 500 crores respectively. Introduction of a safe harbour range could be considered instead of a fixed rate.The prescribed safe harbour rates for outbound loans cast an obligation of having credit rating of the overseas borrower being approved by CRISIL, is perhaps an additional cost burden for taxpayers who wish to opt for SHRs. Thus, the requirement of credit rating of the overseas borrower to be approved by CRISIL could be removed.SHR is applicable only in case of receipt of low value- adding intra-group services from one or more members of its group. No safe harbour prescribed for outbound low value-adding intra-group services by Indian MNE. Further, the cap of Rs. 10 crores could also be increased so that more such taxpayers can opt for SHRs.To enhance the certainty associated with safe harbour regime, it would be advisable to revert to the earlier practice of making the rates applicable for a set of three years, rather than the current practice of publishing rates on an annual basis. This will enable taxpayers to take a medium-term view of the safe harbour provisions. To align with the Government's initiative of "Make in India", a larger number of industries in the manufacturing sector could be prescribed. At the very least, safe harbour rules could be extended to sectors where "profit Linked incentives" scheme is applicable. Safe harbour provisions could be introduced for contract manufacturing companies wherein mark-up on cost could be in range of 5% to 7% as per TNMM analysis with turnover criteria up to Rs. 500 crores. The definitions of "software development" and "Contract R&D in software development" were coined in 2013. Since then, the nature of work undertaken by the captive service providers has evolved. Further, newer business models have come into existence (e.g. cloud-based services, e-commerce, etc.) Hence, to keep with the changing nature of the industry, these definitions should be modified. The definition of "software development" could be modified to cover most activities in the nature of software development and only specific high-end activities could get covered under the definition of "Contract R&D in software development". The process should be made easier by doing away with Form 3CEFA and the safe harbour selection could be made either in the Form 3CEB or in the tax return itself, thus saving administrative burden for both – the taxpayer and the revenue authorities. To further ease the burden of compliance / documentation, the requirement for maintaining transfer pricing documentation should be dispensed with where the taxpayer's application for safe harbour has been accepted. While the new Safe harbour rules are being worked upon by the government as per Finance Minister's speech in the Budget Speech for 2024, it should ensure the following three criteria: (1) Global capability centers (GCCs) are generally covered under safe harbour provisions. With the expansion of GCCs in India, carrying out divergent offshore functions, the conditions of "eligible assessee" may be re-evaluated to cover the current functional profile of GCCs. (2) There is no linkage of turnover and the functional profiles of GCCs. Therefore, the safe harbour rules should cover all the GCCs irrespective of turnover threshold. Alternatively, if the government intends to restrict safe harbour to medium and small enterprises, the turnover should align to the turnover threshold of MSMEs which is currently INR 500 cr. (3) To provide the safe harbour rates closer to comparable benchmarks in the industry. This can serve dual purpose of providing tax certainty to taxpayers and easing the burden of the APA.

167.5 Examination by the Committee:

Responding to the suggestions, the Ministry have responded as under:-

(i) "The suggestion is in respect of framing of safe harbour rules. It does not pertain to IT Bill, 2025. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961.So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no new policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025".

(ii) "The suggestion is in respect of framing of safe harbour rules. It is a matter of rules, which pertain to subordinate legislation. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961.

167.5.1 The representatives of the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology, on the issue of Safe Harbour Rules, submitted before the Committee, during the course of deliberations as under:-

"The other provision is with regard to Section 167, which gives the Central Board of Direct Taxes the power to make safe harbour rules. These rules were there in the earlier Act also, and they have been retained here. These safe harbour rules are also again very important, especially when one has to deal with complex subjects which are prone to litigation like transfer pricing and all. So, these provisions also will be helpful for driving investments in India. What we have suggested is that since we are seeing investments in global capability centres and more investments coming in for global companies, the safe harbour rules, whenever they are notified, should be done in consultation with the industry. But it will again be a very progressive measure which will drive investments in this sector".

167.5.2 While the provisions under Clause 167 and Section 92 CB of IT Act, 1961 are similar, the Ministry were further requested to highlight about the nuances of Safe Harbour Rules pertaining to the necessity of the creation of Safe Harbour Rules and whether broadening of Safe Harbour Rules would have an impact on Arm's Length Principle and on double taxation/non taxation. The Ministry in their written response have stated as under:-.

"Safe harbour provides simplified method of determining arm's length price on international transactions. It provides tax certainty and minimises litigation. (ii) Safe harbour is an optional mechanism. So, if applied judicially considering business activity, nature of transaction/income, profit margin etc. it benefits the assessee in terms of disputes resolution and tax certainty and the Government in terms of tax administration and revenue realisation with certainty".

167.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee while examining Clause 167 of the Bill note that it provides for power of Board to make safe harbour rules to simplify compliance and reduce litigation. The clause corresponds to section 92CB of the Act. The Committee note from the replies that the Ministry, taking into account the importance of safe harbour rules have suggested for consultation with the industries before the notification of the same. The Committee acknowledge the stance of the Ministry and opine that the justification of the Ministry is satisfactory regarding the proposed Clause and considering that no substantial changes have been brought about, concur with the simplification and accept the proposed clause in its entirety.

Clause – 168–Advance pricing agreement.

168.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

168. (1) The Board, with the approval of the Central Government, may enter into an advance pricing agreement with any person, determining the— (a) arm's length price or specifying the manner in which the arm's length price is to be determined, in relation to an international transaction to be entered into by that person; (b) income referred to in section 9(2), or specifying the manner in which the said income is to be determined, as is reasonably attributable to the operations carried out in India by or on behalf of that person, being a non-resident.

(2) The manner of determination of the arm's length price referred to in sub-section (1)(a) or (b) may include, respectively,–– (a) the methods referred to in section 165(1); or (b) the methods provided by rules made under this Act, with such adjustments or variations, as may be necessary or expedient so to do.

(3) Irrespective of anything contained in section 165 or 166 or the methods provided by rules made under this Act,— (a) the arm's length price of any international transaction; or (b) the income referred to in sub-section (1)(b), in respect of which the advance pricing agreement has been entered into, shall be determined as per the advance pricing agreement so entered.

(4) The agreement referred to in sub-section (1) shall be valid for such period not exceeding five consecutive tax years as specified in the agreement.

(5) The advance pricing agreement entered into shall be binding— (a) on the person in whose case, and in respect of the transaction in relation to which, the agreement has been entered into; and (b) on the Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, and the income-tax authorities subordinate to him, in respect of the said person and the said transaction.

(6) The agreement referred to in sub-section (1) shall not be binding if there is a change in law or facts having bearing on the agreement so entered.

(7) The Board may, with the approval of the Central Government, by an order, declare an agreement to be void ab initio, if it finds that the agreement has been obtained by the person by fraud or misrepresentation of facts.

(8) Upon declaring the agreement void ab initio,— (a) all the provisions of the Act shall apply to the person as if such agreement had never been entered into; (b) irrespective of anything contained in the Act, the period beginning with the date of such agreement and ending on the date of order under sub-section (7) shall be excluded for the purpose of computing any period of limitation under this Act; and (c) if immediately after the exclusion of the aforesaid period, the period of limitation, referred to in any provision of this Act, is less than sixty days, such remaining period shall be extended to sixty days and the aforesaid period of limitation shall be deemed to be extended accordingly.

(9) For the purposes of this section, the Board may prescribe a scheme specifying therein the manner, form, procedure and any other matter in respect of the advance pricing agreement.

(10) The agreement referred to in sub-section (1), may, subject to such conditions, procedure and manner as prescribed, provide for determining the— (a) arm's length price or specify the manner in which the arm's length price shall be determined in relation to the international transaction entered into by the person; (b) income referred to in section 9(2), or specifying the manner in which the said income is to be determined, as is reasonably attributable to the operations, transactions and activities carried out in India by or on behalf of that non-resident person, during any period not exceeding four tax years preceding the first of the tax years referred to in sub-section (4).

(11) Where an application is made by a person for entering into an agreement referred to in sub-section (1), the proceedings shall be deemed to be pending in the case of the person for the purposes of this Act till such agreement is entered into, or such proceedings are closed as per rules prescribed.

168.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Advance pricing agreement.

92CC. (1) The Board, with the approval of the Central Government, may enter into an advance pricing agreement with any person, determining the—

(a) arm's length price or specifying the manner in which the arm's length price is to be determined, in relation to an international transaction to be entered into by that person;

(b) income referred to in clause (i) of sub-section (1) of section 9, or specifying the manner in which said income is to be determined, as is reasonably attributable to the operations carried out in India by or on behalf of that person, being a non-resident.

(2) The manner of determination of the arm's length price referred to in clause (a) or the income referred to in clause (b) of sub-section (1), may include the methods referred to in sub-section (1) of section 92C or the methods provided by rules made under this Act, respectively, with such adjustments or variations, as may be necessary or expedient so to do.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 92C or section 92CA or the methods provided by rules made under this Act, the arm's length price of any international transaction or the income referred to in clause (b) of sub-section (1), in respect of which the advance pricing agreement has been entered into, shall be determined in accordance with the advance pricing agreement so entered.

(4) The agreement referred to in sub-section (1) shall be valid for such period not exceeding five consecutive previous years as may be specified in the agreement.

(5) The advance pricing agreement entered into shall be binding—

(a) on the person in whose case, and in respect of the transaction in relation to which, the agreement has been entered into; and

(b) on the Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, and the income-tax authorities subordinate to him, in respect of the said person and the said transaction.

(6) The agreement referred to in sub-section (1) shall not be binding if there is a change in law or facts having bearing on the agreement so entered.

(7) The Board may, with the approval of the Central Government, by an order, declare an agreement to be void abinitio, if it finds that the agreement has been obtained by the person by fraud or misrepresentation of facts.

(8) Upon declaring the agreement void ab initio,—

(a) all the provisions of the Act shall apply to the person as if such agreement had never been entered into; and

(b) notwithstanding anything contained in the Act, for the purpose of computing any period of limitation under this Act, the period beginning with the date of such agreement and ending on the date of order under sub-section (7) shall be excluded:

Provided that where immediately after the exclusion of the aforesaid period, the period of limitation, referred to in any provision of this Act, is less than sixty days, such remaining period shall be extended to sixty days and the aforesaid period of limitation shall be deemed to be extended accordingly.

(9) The Board may, for the purposes of this section, prescribe a scheme specifying therein the manner, form, procedure and any other matter generally in respect of the advance pricing agreement.

(9A) The agreement referred to in sub-section (1), may, subject to such conditions, procedure and manner as may be prescribed, provide for determining the—

(a) arm's length price or specify the manner in which the arm's length price shall be determined in relation to the international transaction entered into by the person;

(b) income referred to in clause (i) of sub-section (1) of section 9, or specifying the manner in which the said income is to be determined, as is reasonably attributable to the operations carried out in India by or on behalf of that person, being a non-resident, during any period not exceeding four previous years preceding the first of the previous years referred to in sub-section (4), and the arm's length price of such international transaction or the income of such person shall be determined in accordance with the said agreement.

(10) Where an application is made by a person for entering into an agreement referred to in sub-section (1), the proceeding shall be deemed to be pending in the case of the person for the purposes of the Act.

168.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 168 of the Bill provides for advance pricing agreement (APA) between the taxpayer and the tax authorities to pre-determine the arm's length price for specified transactions. The clause corresponds to section 92CC of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. Further, the provision for closure of proceedings as per prescribed rules have clearly been specified in the Bill to provide for certainty for the APA procedure".

168.4 Examination by the Committee:

In the context of Clause 168 (7) which provides for APAs to be declared void ab initio for fraud or misrepresentation, the Committee were desirous to be informed about the Procedural safeguards (e.g., right to be heard, appeal mechanisms) etc. for the assesse from the Ministry. The Ministry in their written replies have submitted as under:-

"The template of the APA as approved by the MoL&J, clearly specifies that the Applicant will be given an opportunity to be heard. No action will be taken under this provision without giving the Applicant an opportunity to be heard. In any case, since the inception of the programme, no agreement has been terminated for fraud or misrepresentation. The APA programme is one where the Applicant is involved in every step of the way". (RLoP III, pg. 8)

168.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that Clause 168 of the Bill provides for advance pricing agreement (APA) between the taxpayer and the tax authorities to pre-determine the arm's length price for specified transactions. While the Clause corresponds to section 92CC of the Act, the Committee find that the provision for closure of proceedings as per prescribed rules have clearly been specified in the Bill to provide for certainty for the APA procedure. The Committee agree with the minor alteration brought about to simplify the comprehension of the text and provision. Hence, the Committee accept the proposed clause without any further changes.

Clause – 169–Effect to advance pricing agreement.

169.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

169. (1) If a return of income for any tax year covered by an advance pricing agreement has been furnished by any person, before the date of entering into the said agreement, he shall, irrespective of anything to the contrary contained in section 263, furnish a modified return, in accordance with and limited to the agreement, in respect of such tax years, within three months from the end of the month in which the agreement was entered into.

(2) Except as provided in this section, all other provisions of this Act shall apply accordingly as if the modified return is a return furnished under section 263.

(3) Where a modified return is furnished under sub-section (1), and assessment or reassessment proceedings, in respect of a tax year to which the agreement applies, were initiated before the filing of such return then,— (a) if such proceedings have been completed, the Assessing Officer shall pass an order modifying the total income of the relevant tax year; or (b) if such proceedings are pending on the date of filing of modified return, the Assessing Officer shall proceed to complete them, as per the agreement after taking into consideration the modified return so furnished.

(4) Irrespective of anything contained in section 275 or 286 or 296,— (a) the order in respect of a case falling under sub-section (3)(a) shall be passed within one year from the end of the financial year in which the modified return under sub-section (1) is furnished; (b) in respect of a case falling under sub-section (3)(b), the period of limitation as provided in section 275 or 286 or section 296 for completion of pending assessment or reassessment proceedings shall be extended by twelve months.

(5) In this section,— (a) “agreement” means an agreement referred to in section 168(1); (b) the assessment or reassessment proceedings for a tax year shall be deemed to have been completed where— (i) an assessment or reassessment order has been passed; or (ii) no notice has been issued under section 270(8) till the expiry of the limitation period provided under the said section.

169.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Effect to advance pricing agreement.

92CD. (1) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in section 139, where any person has entered into an agreement and prior to the date of entering into the agreement, any return of income has been furnished under the provisions of section

139 for any assessment year relevant to a previous year to which such agreement applies, such person shall furnish, within a period of three months from the end of the month in which the said agreement was entered into, a modified return in accordance with and limited to the agreement.

(2) Save as otherwise provided in this section, all other provisions of this Act shall apply accordingly as if the modified return is a return furnished under section 139.

(3) If the assessment or reassessment proceedings for an assessment year relevant to a previous year to which the agreement applies have been completed before the expiry of period allowed for furnishing of modified return under sub-section (1), the Assessing Officer shall, in a case where modified return is filed in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1), pass an order modifying the total income of the relevant assessment year determined in such assessment or reassessment, as the case may be, having regard to and in accordance with the agreement.

(4) Where the assessment or reassessment proceedings for an assessment year relevant to the previous year to which the agreement applies are pending on the date of filing of modified return in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1), the Assessing Officer shall proceed to complete the assessment or reassessment proceedings in accordance with the agreement taking into consideration the modified return so furnished.

(5) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 153 or section 153B or section 144C,—

(a) the order under sub-section (3) shall be passed within a period of one year from the end of the financial year in which the modified return under sub-section (1) is furnished;

(b) the period of limitation as provided in section 153 or section 153B or section 144C for completion of pending assessment or reassessment proceedings referred to in sub-section (4) shall be extended by a period of twelve months.

(6) For the purposes of this section,—

(i) "agreement" means an agreement referred to in sub-section (1) of section 92CC;

(ii) the assessment or reassessment proceedings for an assessment year shall be deemed to have been completed where—

(a) an assessment or reassessment order has been passed; or

(b) no notice has been issued under sub-section (2) of section 143 till the expiry of the limitation period provided under the said section.

169.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 169 of the Bill, inter alia, seeks to provide for giving effect to advance pricing agreement entered into by an assessee and consequential procedures. The clause corresponds to section 92CD of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

169.4 Examination by the Committee:

The Committee requested the Ministry to clarify the scope of issues that can be modified in the return-if it is limited to transfer pricing adjustments only or whether related consequential items (e.g., interest, penalties) can also be revised. The Ministry in their written replies have submitted as under:-

> "The effect of this provision is to modify the operating income arising from the international transactions covered by the APA. The interest that may have been levied prior to the APA taking effect, will also be modified for the completed APA years. Penalty proceedings (in respect of penalties already imposed before signing of the APA), continue in the normal litigation process." (RLoP III, pg. 8)

169.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee find Clause 169 of the Bill providing for giving effect to advance pricing agreement entered into by an assessee and consequential procedures. Other than the textual simplification in the body of text and migration of existing modalities in Section 92CD of the IT Act, 1961 to the proposed clause, there is no finding of any substantial changes to the existing Act. Thus, considering the satisfactory justification provided by the Ministry, the Committee accept the proposed Clause in its entirety.

Clause – 170–Secondary adjustment in certain cases.

170.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

170. (1) An assessee shall make a secondary adjustment in every case where primary adjustment of one crore rupees or more to transfer price— (a) has been made on his own in his return of income; (b) made by the Assessing Officer has been accepted by him; Effect to advance pricing agreement. (c) is determined by an advance pricing agreement entered into by him under section 168; (d) is made as per the safe harbour rules made under section 167; or (e) is arising as a result of resolution of an assessment by way of the mutual agreement procedure under an agreement entered into under section 159 for avoidance of double taxation.

(2) The excess money or part thereof available with its associated enterprise shall be deemed to be an advance made by the assessee to such associated enterprise if— (a) as a result of primary adjustment to the transfer price, there is an increase in the total income or reduction in the loss, as the case may be, of the assessee; and (b) such excess money or part thereof is not repatriated to India within the time as prescribed.

(3) The excess money or part thereof referred to in sub-section (2) may be repatriated from any of the associated enterprises of the assessee which is not a resident in India. (4) The interest on advance as referred to in sub-section (2) shall be computed in such manner as prescribed.

(5) Without prejudice to the provisions of sub-section (2), where the excess money or part thereof has not been repatriated within the prescribed time, the assessee may, at his option, pay additional income-tax at the rate of 18% on such excess money or part thereof, as the case may be.

(6) The tax on the excess money or part thereof so paid by the assessee under sub-section (5) shall be treated as the final payment of tax in respect of the excess money or part thereof not repatriated and no further credit thereof shall be claimed by the assessee or by any other person in respect of tax so paid.

(7) Deduction under any other provision of this Act shall not be allowed to the assessee in respect of the amount on which tax has been paid as per sub-section (5).

(8) In a case where the additional income-tax referred to in sub-section (5) is paid by the assessee, he shall not be required to make secondary adjustment under sub-section (1) and compute interest under sub-section (4) from the date of payment of such tax.

(9) In this section,— (a) “arm’s length price” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 173(a); (b) “excess money” means the difference between the arm’s length price determined in primary adjustment and the price at which the international transaction has actually been undertaken; (c) “primary adjustment” to a transfer price, means the determination of transfer price as per the arm’s length principle resulting in an increase in the total income or reduction in the loss, as the case may be, of the assessee; (d) “secondary adjustment” means an adjustment in the books of account of the assessee and its associated enterprise to reflect that the actual allocation of profits between the assessee and its associated enterprise are consistent with the transfer price determined as a result of primary adjustment, thereby removing the imbalance between cash account and actual profit of the assessee.

170.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Secondary adjustment in certain cases.

92CE. (1) Where a primary adjustment to transfer price,—

(i) has been made suomotu by the assessee in his return of income;

(ii) made by the Assessing Officer has been accepted by the assessee;

(iii) is determined by an advance pricing agreement entered into by the assessee under section 92CC, on or after the 1st day of April, 2017;

(iv) is made as per the safe harbour rules framed under section 92CB; or

(v) is arising as a result of resolution of an assessment by way of the mutual agreement procedure under an agreement entered into under section 90 or section 90A for avoidance of double taxation,

The assessee shall make a secondary adjustment:

Provided that nothing contained in this section shall apply, if,—

(i) the amount of primary adjustment made in any previous year does not exceed one crore rupees; or

(ii) the primary adjustment is made in respect of an assessment year commencing on or before the 1st day of April, 2016:

Provided further that no refund of taxes paid, if any, by virtue of provisions of this sub-section as they stood immediately before their amendment by the Finance (No. 2) Act, 2019 shall be claimed and allowed.

(2) Where, as a result of primary adjustment to the transfer price, there is an increase in the total income or reduction in the loss, as the case may be, of the assessee, the excess money or part thereof, as the case may be, which is available with its associated enterprise, if not repatriated to India within the time as may be prescribed, shall be deemed to be an advance made by the assessee to such associated enterprise and the interest on such advance, shall be computed in such manner as may be prescribed.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby clarified that the excess money or part thereof may be repatriated from any of the associated enterprises of the assessee which is not a resident in India.

(2A) Without prejudice to the provisions of sub-section (2), where the excess money or part thereof has not been repatriated within the prescribed time, the assessee may, at his option, pay additional income-tax at the rate of eighteen per cent on such excess money or part thereof, as the case may be.

(2B) The tax on the excess money or part thereof so paid by the assessee under sub-section (2A) shall be treated as the final payment of tax in respect of the excess money or part thereof not repatriated and no further credit therefor shall be claimed by the assessee or by any other person in respect of the amount of tax so paid.

(2C) No deduction under any other provision of this Act shall be allowed to the assessee in respect of the amount on which tax has been paid in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (2A).

(2D) Where the additional income-tax referred to in sub-section (2A) is paid by the assessee, he shall not be required to make secondary adjustment under sub-section (1) and compute interest under sub-section (2) from the date of payment of such tax.

(3) For the purposes of this section,—

(i) "associated enterprise" shall have the meaning assigned to it in sub-section (1) and sub-section (2) of section 92A;

(ii) "arm's length price" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (ii) of section 92F;

(iii) "excess money" means the difference between the arm's length price determined in primary adjustment and the price at which the international transaction has actually been undertaken;

(iv) "primary adjustment" to a transfer price, means the determination of transfer price in accordance with the arm's length principle resulting in an increase in the total income or reduction in the loss, as the case may be, of the assessee;

(v) "secondary adjustment" means an adjustment in the books of account of the assessee and its associated enterprise to reflect that the actual allocation of profits between the assessee and its associated enterprise are consistent with the transfer price determined as a result of primary adjustment, thereby removing the imbalance between cash account and actual profit of the assessee.

170.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 170 of the Bill provides for secondary adjustment in certain cases to ensure that the actual allocation of profits between the associated enterprises aligns with the arm’s length price. The clause corresponds to section 92CE of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

170.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

An important suggestion from the stakeholder is produced below:-

> In certain cases, secondary adjustments create unnecessary compliance burdens without meaningful benefits, such as: > When the Ultimate Parent Entity (UPE) is in India, as funds remain within the same economic jurisdiction > When the adjustment is determined in the hands of Non-Residents (NR), including NR-to-NR and NR-to-Resident transactions, where repatriation or fund movement complexities arise > In cases of Deemed International Transactions (DIT), where no actual cash flow occurs, making secondary adjustments redundant Providing exemptions in these scenarios would align with practical business considerations, reduce unnecessary administrative costs, and improve ease of compliance. Secondary adjustments are intended to ensure that transfer pricing adjustments reflect actual cash repatriation, but in certain cases, they create unnecessary complexities without adding value In transactions between two Non-Residents (NR to NR), the transaction occurs entirely outside India, with no direct impact on Indian tax jurisdiction Imposing secondary adjustments in such cases leads to undue compliance burdens without aligning with the arm’s length principle When the Ultimate Parent Entity (UPE) is in India, secondary adjustments become redundant since the overall economic impact remains within the country Enforcing such adjustments does not contribute to revenue protection but increases administrative challenges In Deemed International Transactions (DIT) cases, where transfer pricing adjustments are determined in the hands of a non-resident, applying secondary adjustments may lead to complexities, particularly when the non resident does not have a substantial economic nexus with India This could result in double taxation, excessive compliance requirements, or reporting obligations without any real economic impact on India's tax base Aligning secondary adjustment requirements with practical realities would streamline compliance, reduce unnecessary administrative costs, and ensure a fairer application of transfer pricing regulations Further repatriation of profits are subject to FEMA restrictions.

170.5 Examination by the Committee:

The Ministry in their written response to the suggestion have stated as under:-

"Stakeholder seeks non application of secondary adjustment provisions in certain cases like in case of deemed international transaction, where When the Ultimate Parent Entity (UPE) is in India, as funds remain within the same economic jurisdiction orWhen the adjustment is determined in the hands of Non-Residents (NR) etc. The suggestion is the nature of policy change, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025. There is no change in the IT Bill, 2025 vis-a-vis I T Act, 1961. Secondary adjustments provisions were introduced to align with best international practices in transfer pricing domain. The need for secondary adjustment arises to plug the gap between book entries and actual fund transactions. It is fundamental to base erosion and profit shifting initiatives and ensure greater transparency and tax compliances. Therefore, the suggestion may not be considered. The proposed provisions of the Bill are similar to the provisions of the I T Act".

170.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note the importance of Clause 170 of the Bill which provides for secondary adjustment in certain cases to ensure that the actual allocation of profits between the associated enterprises aligns with the arm's length price. The Committee find that the clause corresponds to section 92CE of the Act and the contents of the proposed Clause is a textually simplified version of the corresponding Section 92CE of IT Act, 1961 without any policy change. Considering the sound justification provided by the Ministry to be satisfactory in nature, the Committee, accept the proposed Clause in its entirety without any further changes.

Clause – 171–Maintenance, keeping and furnishing of information and document by certain persons.

171.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

171. (1) Every person,— (a) who has entered into an international transaction or specified domestic transaction; or (b) is a constituent entity of an international group, shall keep and maintain such information and document in respect thereof and for such period and in such manner, as prescribed.

(2) The Assessing Officer or the Commissioner (Appeals) may, during any proceeding under this Act, require any person referred to in sub-section (1)(a) to furnish any information or document referred therein within ten days from the date of receipt of a notice issued in this regard.

(3) The Assessing Officer or the Commissioner (Appeals) may, on an application made by such person, extend the period of ten days by a further period not exceeding thirty days.

(4) Every person referred to in sub-section (1)(b) shall furnish the information and document referred to in sub-section (1) to the authority prescribed under section 511(1), in such manner, on or before such date, as prescribed.

(5) In this section,— (a) “constituent entity” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 511 (10)(d); (b) “international group” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 511 (10)(g).

171.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Maintenance, keeping and furnishing of information and document by certain persons.

92D. (1) Every person,—

(i) who has entered into an international transaction or specified domestic transaction shall keep and maintain such information and document in respect thereof as may be prescribed;

(ii) being a constituent entity of an international group, shall keep and maintain such information and document in respect of an international group as may be prescribed.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this clause,—

(A) "constituent entity" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (d) of sub-section (9) of section 286;

(B) "international group" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (g) of sub-section (9) of section 286.

(2) Without prejudice to the provisions contained in sub-section (1), the Board may prescribe the period for which the information and document shall be kept and maintained under the said sub-section.

(3) The Assessing Officer or the Commissioner (Appeals) may, in the course of any proceeding under this Act, require any person referred to in clause (i) of sub-section (1) to furnish any information or document referred therein, within a period of [11][ten] days from the date of receipt of a notice issued in this regard:

Provided that the Assessing Officer or the Commissioner (Appeals) may, on an application made by such person, extend the period of [11] [ten] days by a further period not exceeding thirty days.

(4) The person referred to in clause (ii) of sub-section (1) shall furnish the information and document referred therein to the authority prescribed under sub-section (1) of section 286, in such manner, on or before such date, as may be prescribed.

171.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 171 of the Bill provides for maintenance, keeping and furnishing of information and document by certain persons and documents by entities involved in international or specified domestic transactions. The clause corresponds to section 92D of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

171.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

Clause 171 of the Bill provides for maintenance, keeping and furnishing of information and document by certain persons and documents by entities involved in international or specified domestic transactions. The Committee on examining this clause find that it corresponds to section 92D of the IT Act, 1961 and that no changes have been caused to the intent of the Section. The Committee find the justification and reply of the Ministry pertaining to this Clause satisfactory and accept the proposed Clause in its entirety without any change.

Clause – 172– Report from an accountant to be furnished by persons entering into international transaction or specified domestic transaction

172.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

172. Every person who has entered into an international transaction or specified domestic transaction during a tax year shall obtain a report from an accountant and furnish such report on or before the specified date in the prescribed form duly signed and verified in the manner as prescribed by such accountant and setting forth such particulars as prescribed

172.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Report from an accountant to be furnished by persons entering into international transaction or specified domestic transaction.

92E. Every person who has entered into an international transaction or specified domestic transaction during a previous year shall obtain a report from an accountant and furnish such report on or before the specified date in the prescribed form duly signed and verified in the prescribed manner by such accountant and setting forth such particulars as may be prescribed.

172.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 172 of the Bill provides for report from an accountant to be furnished by persons entering into international transaction or specified domestic transaction. The clause corresponds to section 92E of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

172.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Few important suggestions from the stakeholders are summarized as under:-

(i) Every person who has entered into an international transaction or specified domestic transaction during a tax year shall obtain a report from a chartered accountant in practice or cost accountant in practice and furnish such report on or before the specified date in the prescribed form duly signed and verified in the manner as prescribed a chartered accountant in practice or cost accountant in practice and setting forth such particulars as prescribed.

(ii) The report from the accountant should be binding on the assessing officer unless he rejects the books of accounts.

172.5 Examination by the Committee:

Responding to the suggestions, the Ministry have submitted their written replies as under:-

(i) "The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961. The term accountant has been defined in clause 2(1) and has meaning as assigned to in clause 515(3)(b) of the I T Bill. The said provision is similar to the provisions contained in Explanation to section 288 of the I T Act".

(ii) "Stakeholder seeks that report of the TP audit should be binding on the Assessing Officer. The suggestion is the nature of policy change, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025. There is no change in the IT Bill, 2025 vis-a-vis I T Act, 1961. The suggestion would mean dispensing with TP adjustments. This will have significant revenue impact. The report under section 92E is a procedural requirement and does not qualify the correctness of the transfer pricing methodology. Therefore, the suggestion to make it binding on the Assessing Officer has no rationale. Therefore, the suggested amendment is not feasible. The proposed provisions of the Bill are similar to the provisions of the I T Act".

172.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that the proposed Clause 172 of the Bill provides for report from an accountant to be furnished by persons entering into international transaction or specified domestic transaction and that the clause corresponds to section 92E of the IT Act, 1961. The Committee find the underlying objective of the Section being untouched and the rationale provided by the Ministry regarding the suggestions, also satisfactory in nature, in terms of no policy change being effected here. Keeping this in view the Committee accept the proposed Clause with the textual simplification.

Clause – 173– Definitions of certain terms relevant to determination of arm's length price, etc.

173.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

173 In this section and sections 161, 162, 163, 165, 171 and 172, unless the context otherwise requires,— (a) "arm's length price" means a price which is applied or proposed to be applied in a transaction between persons other than associated enterprises, in uncontrolled conditions; (b) "enterprise" means a person (including a permanent establishment of such person) who is, or has been, or is proposed to be, engaged in any activity relating to— (i) the production, storage, supply, distribution, acquisition or control of articles or goods; or (ii) know-how, patents, copyrights, trade-marks, licences, franchises or any other business or commercial rights of similar nature; or (iii) any data, documentation, drawing or specification relating to any patent, invention, model, design, secret formula or process of which the other enterprise is the owner or in respect of which the other enterprise has exclusive rights; or (iv) provision of services of any kind; or (v) carrying out any work in pursuance of a contract; or (vi) investment or providing loan; or (vii) business of acquiring, holding, underwriting or dealing with shares, debentures or other securities of any other body corporate, whether such activity or business is carried on, directly or through one or more of its units or divisions or subsidiaries, or whether such unit or division or subsidiary is located at the same place where the enterprise is located or at a different place or places; (c) "permanent establishment", referred to in clause (b), includes a fixed place of business through which the business of the enterprise is wholly or partly carried on; Report from an accountant to be furnished by persons entering into international transaction or specified domestic transaction. Definitions of certain terms relevant to determination of arm's length price, etc. (d) "specified date" means the date one month before the due date for furnishing the return of income under section 263 (1) for the relevant tax year; (e) "transaction" includes an arrangement, understanding or action in concert,— (i) whether or not such arrangement, understanding or action is formal or in writing; or (ii) whether or not such arrangement, understanding or action is intended to be enforceable by legal proceeding.

173.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Definitions of certain terms relevant to computation of arm's length price, etc.

92F. In sections 92, 92A, 92B, 92C, 92D and 92E, unless the context otherwise requires,—

(i) "accountant" shall have the same meaning as in the Explanation below sub-section (2) of section 288;

(ii) "arm's length price" means a price which is applied or proposed to be applied in a transaction between persons other than associated enterprises, in uncontrolled conditions;

(iii) "enterprise" means a person (including a permanent establishment of such person) who is, or has been, or is proposed to be, engaged in any activity, relating to the production, storage, supply, distribution, acquisition or control of articles or goods, or know-how, patents, copyrights, trade-marks, licences, franchises or any other business or commercial rights of similar nature, or any data, documentation, drawing or specification relating to any patent, invention, model, design, secret formula or process, of which the other enterprise is the owner or in respect of which the other enterprise has exclusive rights, or the provision of services of any kind, or in carrying out any work in pursuance of a contract, or in investment, or providing loan or in the business of acquiring, holding, underwriting or dealing with shares, debentures or other securities of any other body corporate, whether such activity or business is carried on, directly or through one or more of its units or divisions or subsidiaries, or whether such unit or division or subsidiary is located at the same place where the enterprise is located or at a different place or places;

(iiia) "permanent establishment", referred to in clause (iii), includes a fixed place of business through which the business of the enterprise is wholly or partly carried on;

(iv) "specified date" means the date one month prior to the due date for furnishing the return of income under sub-section (1) of section 139 for the relevant assessment year;

(v) "transaction" includes an arrangement, understanding or action in concert,—

(A) whether or not such arrangement, understanding or action is formal or in writing; or (B) whether or not such arrangement, understanding or action is intended to be enforceable by legal proceeding.

173.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 173 of the Bill provides for definitions of certain terms relevant to determination of arm's length price. The clause corresponds to section 92F of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

173.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Few important suggestions on this Clause from the stakeholders are as below:-

(i) The term enterprise under this definition should mean only enterprise and include permanent establishment. The phrase "enterprise to mean a person" should be eliminated.

(ii) "The term enterprise under this definition should mean only enterprise and include permanent establishment. The phrase "enterprise to mean a person" should be eliminated. Consider the following example: A Head Office (HO) in India sells goods to its Dubai branch, which is located outside India and qualifies as a permanent establishment. Suppose the HO purchases goods from the local market and transfers them to the Dubai branch with a 10% profit margin. This markup may be considered at arm's length, supported by data from publicly available sources. However, if the Dubai branch subsequently sells these goods to a U.S. enterprise for a significantly higher price - say Rs. 45, earning a profit of Rs. 35 - Indian transfer pricing authorities would not have the jurisdiction to make adjustments or report the transaction, as it falls outside the scope of India's transfer pricing regulations. However, contrary of the above-mentioned illustration does not hold true".

173.5 Examination by the Committee:

The Ministry in their written responses have submitted as under:-

(i) "Stakeholder seeks that the term 'enterprise' for the purpose of computation of arm's length price should not include a person. The suggestion is the nature of policy change, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025.

There is no change in the IT Bill, 2025 vis-a-vis I T Act, 1961. No. rationale has been provided for the suggestion. The 'person' under the I T Act/ IT Bill represents a legal identifier. Even a firm, AOP and Company is considered as person under the Act/Bill.

Therefore, there is no cause of concern to change the definition of term 'enterprise' under said clause. The proposed provisions of the Bill are similar to the provisions of the I T Act.

173.5.2 On being queried upon by the Committee that the term 'enterprise' for the purpose of computation of arm's length price should not include a person, the representatives of the Ministry of Finance submitted before the Committee as under:-

> "The suggestion is that in associate enterprise, the enterprise for the purpose of computation of arm's length price should not include a person. So, persons are in the Act and also in the Bill. That is a kind of legal term which includes other legal identifiers also, include firm, AOP. So, in that way, it is applicable on all transfer pricing provisions. They are applicable on all persons".

173.5.3 When the Committee sought further clarification on whether enterprise is considered a legal person, the representative of Ministry of Law submitted during the Sitting as under:-

> "Yes, Sir. It is an inclusive definition".

173.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

Proposed Clause 173 of the Bill provides for definitions of certain terms relevant to determination of arm's length price. The committee, while examining this important Clause did not find any material changes/alteration in the text of this Clause corresponding to section 92F of the IT Act, 1961. Finding the reply and justification provided by the Ministry cogent for carrying no policy changes and only simplification of text had been carried out, the Committee accept the proposed Clause in its entirety.

Clause – 174– Avoidance of income-tax by transactions resulting in transfer of income to non-residents.

174.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

174. (1) Where there is a transfer of assets before and after the commencement of this Act, and by virtue or in consequence of it,— (a) either alone; or (b) in conjunction with associated operations, any income becomes payable to a non-resident, the provisions of this section shall apply.

(2) If any person ("first mentioned person"), by means of any transfer referred to in sub-section (1), either alone or in conjunction with associated operations, acquires any rights,— (a) by virtue of which he has, within the meaning of this section, power to enjoy, whether forthwith or in the future, any income of a non-resident; and (b) such income would have been chargeable to income-tax if it were such first mentioned person's income, then, that income shall, whether or not it would have been chargeable to income-tax under any other provisions of this Act, be deemed to be the income of such first mentioned person for all the purposes of this Act.

(3) If any such first mentioned person receives or is entitled to receive any capital sum,– – (a) the payment of which is in any way connected with the transfer or any associated operations; and (b) whether before or after any such transfer, then any income, which has become the income of a non-resident by virtue or in consequence of such transfer, either alone or in conjunction with associated operations, shall be deemed to be the income of such first mentioned person for all the purposes of this Act, whether or not it would have been chargeable to income-tax under any other provisions of this Act.

(4) Where any person has been charged to income-tax on any income deemed to be his under the provisions of this section and that income is subsequently received by him, whether as income or in any other form, it shall not again be deemed to form part of his income for the purposes of this Act.

(5) The provisions of this section shall not apply if the first mentioned person in sub-section (2) or (3) shows to the satisfaction of the Assessing Officer that— (a) neither the transfer nor any associated operation had for its purpose or for one of its purposes the avoidance of liability to taxation; or (b) the transfer and all associated operations were bona fide commercial transactions and were not designed for the purpose of avoiding liability to taxation.

(6) In this section,— (a) references to assets representing any assets, income or accumulations of income include references to shares in or obligation of any company to which, or obligation of any other person to whom, those assets, that income or those accumulations are or have been transferred; (b) any body corporate incorporated outside India shall be treated as if it were a non-resident; (c) a person shall be deemed to have power to enjoy the income of a non resident if— (i) the income is in fact so dealt with by any person as to be calculated at some point of time and, whether in the form of income or not, to ensure for the benefit of the first mentioned person in sub-section (2) or (3); or (ii) the receipt or accrual of the income operates to increase the value to such first mentioned person of any assets held by him or for his benefit; or (iii) such first mentioned person receives or is entitled to receive at any time any benefit provided or to be provided out of that income or out of moneys which are or shall be available for the purpose by reason of the effect or successive effects of the associated operations on that income and assets which represent that income; or (iv) such first mentioned person has power by means of the exercise of any power of appointment or power of revocation or otherwise to obtain for himself, whether with or without the consent of any other person, the beneficial enjoyment of the income; or (v) such first mentioned person is able, in any manner whatsoever and whether directly or indirectly, to control the application of the income; (d) in determining whether a person has power to enjoy income, regard shall be had to the substantial result and effect of the transfer and any associated operations, and all benefits which may at any time accrue to such person as a result of the transfer and any associated operations shall be taken into account irrespective of the nature or form of the benefits.

(7) In this section,— (a) “assets” includes property or rights of any kind and “transfer” in relation to rights includes the creation of those rights; (b) “associated operation” in relation to any transfer, means an operation of any kind effected by any person in relation to— (i) any of the assets transferred; or (ii) any assets representing, whether directly or indirectly, any of the assets transferred; or (iii) the income arising from any such assets; or (iv) any assets representing, whether directly or indirectly, the accumulations of income arising from any such assets; (c) “benefit” includes a payment of any kind; (d) “capital sum” means— (i) any sum paid or payable by way of a loan or repayment of a loan; and (ii) any other sum paid or payable otherwise than as income, being a sum, which is not paid or payable for full consideration in money or money’s worth.

174.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Avoidance of income-tax by transactions resulting in transfer of income to non-residents.

93. (1) Where there is a transfer of assets by virtue or in consequence whereof, either alone or in conjunction with associated operations, any income becomes payable to a non-resident, the following provisions shall apply—

(a) where any person has, by means of any such transfer, either alone or in conjunction with associated operations, acquired any rights by virtue of which he has, within the meaning of this section, power to enjoy, whether forthwith or in the future, any income of a non-resident person which, if it were income of the first-mentioned person, would be chargeable to incometax, that income shall, whether it would or would not have been chargeable to income-tax apart from the provisions of this section, be deemed to be income of the first-mentioned person for all the purposes of this Act;

(b) where, whether before or after any such transfer, any such first-mentioned person receives or is entitled to receive any capital sum the payment whereof is in any way connected with the transfer or any associated operations, then any income which, by virtue or in consequence of the transfer, either alone or in conjunction with associated operations, has become the income of a non-resident shall, whether it would or would not have been chargeable to income-tax apart from the provisions of this section, be deemed to be the income of the first-mentioned person for all the purposes of this Act.

Explanation.—The provisions of this sub-section shall apply also in relation to transfers of assets and associated operations carried out before the commencement of this Act.

(2) Where any person has been charged to income-tax on any income deemed to be his under the provisions of this section and that income is subsequently received by him, whether as income or in any other form, it shall not again be deemed to form part of his income for the purposes of this Act.

(3) The provisions of this section shall not apply if the first-mentioned person in sub-section (1) shows to the satisfaction of the Assessing Officer that—

(a) neither the transfer nor any associated operation had for its purpose or for one of its purposes the avoidance of liability to taxation; or

(b) the transfer and all associated operations were bona fide commercial transactions and were not designed for the purpose of avoiding liability to taxation.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(a) references to assets representing any assets, income or accumulations of income include references to shares in or obligation of any company to which, or obligation of any other person to whom, those assets, that income or those accumulations are or have been transferred;

(b) any body corporate incorporated outside India shall be treated as if it were a non-resident;

(c) a person shall be deemed to have power to enjoy the income of a non-resident if—

(i) the income is in fact so dealt with by any person as to be calculated at some point of time and, whether in the form of income or not, to enure for the benefit of the first-mentioned person in sub-section (1), or

(ii) the receipt or accrual of the income operates to increase the value to such first-mentioned person of any assets held by him or for his benefit, or

(iii) such first-mentioned person receives or is entitled to receive at any time any benefit provided or to be provided out of that income or out of moneys which are or will be available for the purpose by reason of the effect or successive effects of the associated operations on that income and assets which represent that income, or

(iv) such first-mentioned person has power by means of the exercise of any power of appointment or power of revocation or otherwise to obtain for himself, whether with or without the consent of any other person, the beneficial enjoyment of the income, or

(v) such first-mentioned person is able, in any manner whatsoever and whether directly or indirectly, to control the application of the income;

(d) in determining whether a person has power to enjoy income, regard shall be had to the substantial result and effect of the transfer and any associated operations, and all benefits which may at any time accrue to such person as a result of the transfer and any associated operations shall be taken into account irrespective of the nature or form of the benefits.

(4) (a) "Assets" includes property or rights of any kind and "transfer" in relation to rights includes the creation of those rights ;

(b) "associated operation", in relation to any transfer, means an operation of any kind effected by any person in relation to—

(i) any of the assets transferred, or

(ii) any assets representing, whether directly or indirectly, any of the assets transferred, or

(iii) the income arising from any such assets, or

(iv) any assets representing, whether directly or indirectly, the accumulations of income arising from any such assets ;

(c) "benefit" includes a payment of any kind ;

(d) "capital sum" means—

(i) any sum paid or payable by way of a loan or repayment of a loan ; and

(ii) any other sum paid or payable otherwise than as income, being a sum which is not paid or payable for full consideration in money or money's worth.

174.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 174 of the Bill provides for avoidance of income-tax by transactions resulting in transfer of income to non-residents. The clause corresponds to section 93 of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

174.4 Examination by the Committee:

On the issue of Avoidance of Income Tax by transactions resulting in transfer of income to non-residents as provided for in S. 93 of the IT Act, 1961, the Committee were curious to know as to how Clause 174 provides greater alignment to international anti-avoidance norms, particularly the BEPS (Base Erosion and Profit Shifting) framework, the Ministry in their written response have submitted as below:-

> “Section 93 is one of the oldest provisions in the Income-tax Act, 1961. It has evolved largely from Section 44D of the Income-tax Act, 1922, making it one of earliest enactments to prevent tax avoidance. As there were very few provisions in that Act to contain or prevent tax avoidance and resultant tax base erosion and profit shifting, it can be considered a provision that is historically, a precursor of international anti-avoidance norms that evolved into the Base Erosion & Profit Shifting (BEPS) project of G20/OECD in 2013-15 and developed several elaborate rules for the purpose of preventing tax avoidance. Sub-section (1) of Section 93 lays down that in cases where assets are transferred to a non resident (which would not be taxable in India) even though the beneficial owner of the income arising from such assets is a resident of India, then such income will be deemed to be the income of such resident in India. Thus, it intends to prevent tax avoidance by nominal shifting of legal ownership, e.g. from a resident to a non-resident just for the purpose of avoiding the tax liability of the resident taxpayer in India. This provision has a policy alignment with the Principal Purpose Test (PPT) in Article 7 of the Multilateral Instrument (MLI) developed under Action 15 of Base Erosion & Profit Shifting (BEPS) Project with the objective of enabling the application of anti-avoidance and other measures agreed under Actions 6, 7 and 14 of BEPS project. The PPT provides that, "Notwithstanding any provisions of a Covered Tax Agreement, a benefit under the Covered Tax Agreement shall not be granted in respect of an item of income or capital if it is reasonable to conclude, having regard to all relevant facts and circumstances, that obtaining that benefit was one of the principal purposes of any arrangement or transaction that resulted directly or indirectly in that benefit, unless it is established that granting that benefit in these circumstances would be in accordance with the object and purpose of the relevant provisions of the Covered Tax Agreement. PPT is a minimum standard agreed by all G20 and OECD countries, and is hence applicable on every covered tax agreement, that is subjected to MLI. The MLI has already been signed and ratified by India and a large number of other countries and is applicable to several thousand tax treaties, making it an international norm. Sub-section 3 of Section 93 provides relief in case of bona fide transactions or where the avoidance of tax was not one of the purposes. This again is similar to the BEPS PPT. Thus, section 93 is closely aligned with the international norms developed under BEPS. It intends to achieve a result under the Act that is similar to PPT and thereby supplements the international tax avoidance norms developed in BEPS and applied in the treaties."

174.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee find during examination that the proposed Clause 174 of the Bill provides for avoidance of income-tax by transactions resulting in transfer of income to non-residents. This clause corresponds to section 93 of the IT Act, 1961 both in terms of content and intent. Moreover, the justification provided by the Ministry is also found to be satisfactory in nature. Keeping this in mind and appreciating the textual simplification carried out, the Committee accept the proposed Clause in its entirety.

Clause – 175– Avoidance of tax by certain transactions in securities.

175.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

175 (1) Where the owner of any securities (hereinafter referred to as “the owner”) sells or transfers such securities and buys back or reacquires them or buys or acquires any similar securities, any interest that becomes payable in respect of such securities,— (a) is receivable by a person other than the owner, shall be deemed, for all purposes of this Act, to be the income of the owner; and Avoidance of tax by certain transactions in securities. 204 (b) shall not be the income of the other person, irrespective of whether it would have been chargeable to income-tax under any other provision of this Act.

(2) Where similar securities as referred to in sub-section (1) are bought or acquired, the owner shall not be under greater liability to income-tax than he would if the original securities had been bought back or reacquired.

(3) If any person has had a beneficial interest in any securities at any time during a tax year, and the result of any transaction relating to such securities or the income from it is that, in respect of such securities within such year,— (a) either no income is received by him; or (b) the income received by him is less than what would have been if the income from such securities had accrued from day to day and been apportioned accordingly, the income from such securities for such year shall be deemed to be the income of such person.

(4) The provisions of sub-sections (1), (2) and (3) shall not apply if the owner, or the person who has had a beneficial interest in the securities, proves to the satisfaction of the Assessing Officer that— (a) there has been no avoidance of income-tax; or (b) the avoidance of income-tax was exceptional and not systematic and also that in any of the three preceding years any avoidance of income-tax by a transaction of the nature referred to in sub-sections (1), (2) or (3) was not there in his case.

(5) If a person carrying on a business which consists wholly or partly in dealing in securities, buys or acquires any securities and sells back or retransfers the securities, then, if the result of the transaction is that interest in respect of the securities receivable by him is not deemed to be his income by reason of the provisions contained in sub-section (1), no account shall be taken of the transaction in computing the profits arising from or loss sustained in the business for any of the purposes of this Act.

(6) The provisions of sub-section (5) shall have effect, subject to any necessary modifications, as if references to selling back or retransferring the securities included references to selling or transferring similar securities.

(7) The Assessing Officer may, by notice in writing, require any person to provide within specified time, which shall not be less than twenty-eight days, details in respect of all securities of which such person was the owner or in which he had a beneficial interest at any time during the period specified in the notice, for the purposes of this section and for the purpose of discovering whether income-tax has been borne in respect of the interest on all those securities.

(8) If— (a) any person buys or acquires any securities or unit within three months before the record date; (b) such person sells or transfers— (i) such securities within three months after such date; or (ii) such unit within nine months after such date; (c) the dividend or income on such securities or unit received or receivable by such person is exempt, then, the loss, if any, arising to him on account of such purchase and sale of securities or unit, to the extent such loss does not exceed dividend or income received or receivable on such securities or unit, shall be ignored for the purposes of computing his income chargeable to tax.

(9) If— (a) any person buys or acquires any securities or unit within three months before the record date; (b) such person is allotted additional securities or unit without any payment on the basis of holding of such securities or unit on such date; (c) such person sells or transfers all or any of the securities or unit referred to in clause (a) within nine months after such date, while continuing to hold all or any of the additional securities or unit referred to in clause (b), then, the loss, if any, arising to him on account of such purchase and sale of all or any of such securities or unit shall be ignored for the purposes of computing his income chargeable to tax.

(10) Irrespective of any other provision of this Act, loss ignored as per sub-section (9) shall be deemed to be the cost of purchase or acquisition of such additional securities or unit referred to in sub-section (9)(b) as are held by him on the date of such sale or transfer.

(11) In this section,— (a) “interest” includes a dividend; (b) “record date” means such date as may be fixed by— (i) a company; (ii) a Mutual Fund or the Administrator of the specified undertaking or the specified company referred to in the Explanation to section 10(35) of the Income-tax Act, 1961; or (iii) a business trust defined in section 2(21); or (iv) an Alternative Investment Fund defined in regulation 2(1)(b) of the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Alternative Investment Funds) Regulations, 2012, made under the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992, for the purposes of entitlement of the holder of the securities or unit to receive dividend, income, or additional securities or unit without any consideration; (c) “securities” includes stocks and shares; (d) securities shall be deemed to be similar if they entitle their holders to the same rights against the same persons as to capital and interest and the same remedies for the enforcement of those rights, irrespective of any difference in the total nominal amounts of the respective securities or in the form in which they are held or in the manner in which they can be transferred; (e) “unit” shall mean,— (i) a unit of a business trust defined in section 2(21); (ii) a unit defined in section 208(3)(c); or (iii) beneficial interest of an investor in an Alternative Investment Fund, referred to in clause (b)(iv), and shall include shares or partnership interests.

175.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Avoidance of tax by certain transactions in securities.

94. (1) Where the owner of any securities (in this sub-section and in sub-section (2) referred to as "the owner") sells or transfers those securities, and buys back or reacquires the securities, then, if the result of the transaction is that any interest becoming payable in respect of the securities is receivable otherwise than by the owner, the interest payable as aforesaid shall, whether it would or would not have been chargeable to income-tax apart from the provisions of this sub-section, be deemed, for all the purposes of this Act, to be the income of the owner and not to be the income of any other person.

Explanation.—The references in this sub-section to buying back or reacquiring the securities shall be deemed to include references to buying or acquiring similar securities, so, however, that where similar securities are bought or acquired, the owner shall be under no greater liability to income-tax than he would have been under if the original securities had been bought back or reacquired.

(2) Where any person has had at any time during any previous year any beneficial interest in any securities, and the result of any transaction relating to such securities or the income thereof is that, in respect of such securities within such year, either no income is received by him or the income received by him is less than the sum to which the income would have amounted if the income from such securities had accrued from day to day and been apportioned accordingly, then the income from such securities for such year shall be deemed to be the income of such person.

(3) The provisions of sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) shall not apply if the owner, or the person who has had a beneficial interest in the securities, as the case may be, proves to the satisfaction of the Assessing Officer—

(a) that there has been no avoidance of income-tax, or

(b) that the avoidance of income-tax was exceptional and not systematic and that there was not in his case in any of the three preceding years any avoidance of income-tax by a transaction of the nature referred to in sub-section (1) or subsection (2).

(4) Where any person carrying on a business which consists wholly or partly in dealing in securities, buys or acquires any securities and sells back or retransfers the securities, then, if the result of the transaction is that interest becoming payable in respect of the securities is receivable by him but is not deemed to be his income by reason of the provisions contained in sub-section (1), no account shall be taken of the transaction in computing for any of the purposes of this Act the profits arising from or loss sustained in the business.

(5) Sub-section (4) shall have effect, subject to any necessary modifications, as if references to selling back or retransferring the securities included references to selling or transferring similar securities.

(6) The Assessing Officer may, by notice in writing, require any person to furnish him within such time as he may direct (not being less than twenty-eight days), in respect of all securities of which such person was the owner or in which he had a beneficial interest at any time during the period specified in the notice, such particulars as he considers necessary for the purposes of this section and for the purpose of discovering whether income-tax has been borne in respect of the interest on all those securities.

(7) Where—

(a) any person buys or acquires any securities or unit within a period of three months prior to the record date;

(b) such person sells or transfers—

(i) such securities within a period of three months after such date; or

(ii) such unit within a period of nine months after such date;

(c) the dividend or income on such securities or unit received or receivable by such person is exempt, then, the loss, if any, arising to him on account of such purchase and sale of securities or unit, to the extent such loss does not exceed the amount of dividend or income received or receivable on such securities or unit, shall be ignored for the purposes of computing his income chargeable to tax.

(8) Where—

(a) any person buys or acquires any securities or units within a period of three months prior to the record date;

(b) such person is allotted additional securities or units without any payment on the basis of holding of such securities or units on such date;

(c) such person sells or transfers all or any of the securities or units referred to in clause (a) within a period of nine months after such date, while continuing to hold all or any of the additional securities or units referred to in clause (b), then, the loss, if any, arising to him on account of such purchase and sale of all or any of such securities or units shall be ignored for the purposes of computing his income chargeable to tax and notwithstanding anything contained in any other provision of this Act, the amount of loss so ignored shall be deemed to be the cost of purchase or acquisition of such additional securities or units referred to in clause (b) as are held by him on the date of such sale or transfer.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "interest" includes a dividend ;

(aa) "record date" means such date as may be fixed by—

(i) a company;

(ii) a Mutual Fund or the Administrator of the specified undertaking or the specified company referred to in the Explanation to clause (35) of section 10; or

(iii) a business trust defined in clause (13A) of section 2; or

(iv) an Alternative Investment Fund defined in clause (b) of sub-regulation (1) of regulation 2 of the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Alternative Investment Funds) Regulations, 2012, made under the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992 (15 of 1992), for the purposes of entitlement of the holder of the securities or units, as the case may be, to receive dividend, income, or additional securities or units without any consideration, as the case may be;

(b) "securities" includes stocks and shares ;

(c) securities shall be deemed to be similar if they entitle their holders to the same rights against the same persons as to capital and interest and the same remedies for the enforcement of those rights, notwithstanding any difference in the total nominal amounts of the respective securities or in the form in which they are held or in the manner in which they can be transferred;

(d) "unit" shall mean,—

(i) a unit of a business trust defined in clause (13A) of section 2;

(ii) a unit defined in clause (b) of the Explanation to section 115AB; or

(iii) beneficial interest of an investor in an Alternative Investment Fund, defined in clause (b) of sub-regulation (1) of regulation 2 of the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Alternative Investment Funds) Regulations, 2012, made under the Securities and Exchange

Board of India Act, 1992 (15 of 1992), and shall include shares or partnership interests.

175.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

"Clause 175 of the Bill provides for avoidance of tax by certain transactions in securities. The clause corresponds to section 94 of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause".

175.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

An important suggestion from the stakeholder is mentioned below:-

> The term can be defined suitably under clause 175(11) itself as against providing for any reference to the Income-Tax Act, 1961. The clause being a definition clause, the same can be incorporated in the clause 175(11) itself Reference to old Act is unwarranted as the same leads to complexity and requires one to always refer to Old Act for all times to come.

175.5 Examination by the Committee:

Responding to the suggestion, the Ministry have submitted as under:-

> "Accepted: Drafting error. May be corrected. The correct reference shall be "note 6(a) and (g) below Schedule

XV". The proposed provisions of the Bill are similar to the provisions of the I T Act."

175.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, while examining the Clause 175 of the Bill which provides for avoidance of tax by certain transactions in securities find that it corresponds to section 94 of the IT Act, 1961 and that the term 'mutual fund or Administrator of the specified undertaking or the specified company' has been stated to be as referred to in Explanation to section 10(35) of the Income-Tax Act, 1961. The Committee opine that the definition could have been produced in the text itself without any reference to the IT Act, 1961. The Ministry, in this regard have treated this as a drafting error which shall be referenced as "note 6(a) and (g) below Schedule XV". In view of the indicated change, the Committee recommend the Ministry to rectify the drafting error and make a correct referencing as indicated. The content of rest of the proposed Clause 175 is accepted.

Clause – 176– Special measures in respect of transactions with persons located in notified jurisdictional area.

176.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

176. (1) The Central Government may, by notification specify any country or territory outside India, as a notified jurisdictional area, having regard to the lack of effective exchange of information with such jurisdiction.

(2) Irrespective of anything contrary in this Act, if an assessee enters into a transaction where one of the parties to the transaction is a person located in a notified jurisdictional area, then,— (a) all the parties to the transaction shall be deemed to be associated enterprises within the meaning of section 162; Special measures in respect of transactions with persons located in notified jurisdictional area. (b) any transaction of the nature described in section 163(1) and (2) shall be deemed to be an international transaction within the meaning of section 163, and the provisions of sections161, 162, 163, 165 except the benefit of variation specified in sections 165(3)(a)(ii), 166, 167, 171, 172 and 173 shall apply accordingly.

(3) Irrespective of anything to the contrary in this Act, no deduction shall be allowed— (a) for any payment made to any financial institution located in a notified jurisdictional area, unless the assessee furnishes an authorisation in the prescribed form authorising the Board or any other income-tax authority acting on its behalf to seek relevant information from the said financial institution on behalf of such assessee; and (b) for any other expenditure or allowance (including depreciation) arising from the transaction with a person located in a notified jurisdictional area, unless the assessee maintains such other documents and furnishes such information as prescribed, in this behalf.

(4) Irrespective of anything to the contrary in this Act, if, in any tax year, the assessee has received or credited any sum from any person located in a notified jurisdictional area and— (a) the assessee does not provide any explanation about the source of the said sum in the hands of such person or in the hands of the beneficial owner (if such person is not the beneficial owner of the said sum); or (b) the explanation provided by the assessee, in the opinion of the Assessing Officer, is not satisfactory, then such sum shall be deemed to be the income of the assessee for that tax year.

(5) Irrespective of anything to the contrary in this Act, if any person located in a notified jurisdictional area is entitled to receive any sum or income or amount on which tax is deductible under Chapter XIX-B, the tax shall be deducted at the highest of the following rates— (a) at the rate or rates in force; (b) at the rate specified in the relevant provisions of this Act; (c) at the rate of 30%.

(6) In this section,— (a) “person located in a notified jurisdictional area” shall include,— (i) a person who is resident of the notified jurisdictional area; (ii) a person, not being an individual, which is established in the notified jurisdictional area; or (iii) a permanent establishment of a person not falling in sub-clause (i) or (ii), in the notified jurisdictional area; (b) “permanent establishment” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 173(c); (c) “transaction” shall have meaning assigned to it in section 173(e).

176.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Special measures in respect of transactions with persons located in notified jurisdictional area.

94A. (1) The Central Government may, having regard to the lack of effective exchange of information with any country or territory outside India, specify by notification in the Official Gazette such country or territory as a notified jurisdictional area in relation to transactions entered into by any assessee.

(2) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this Act, if an assessee enters into a transaction where one of the parties to the transaction is a person located in a notified jurisdictional area, then—

(i) all the parties to the transaction shall be deemed to be associated enterprises within the meaning of section 92A;

(ii) any transaction in the nature of purchase, sale or lease of tangible or intangible property or provision of service or lending or borrowing money or any other transaction having a bearing on the profits, income, losses or assets of the assessee including a mutual agreement or arrangement for allocation or apportionment of, or any contribution to, any cost or expense incurred or to be incurred in connection with a benefit, service or facility provided or to be provided by or to the assessee shall be deemed to be an international transaction within the meaning of section 92B, and the provisions of sections 92, 92A, 92B, 92C [except the second proviso to sub-section (2)], 92CA, 92CB, 92D, 92E and 92F shall apply accordingly.

(3) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this Act, no deduction,—

(a) in respect of any payment made to any financial institution located in a notified jurisdictional area shall be allowed under this Act, unless the assessee furnishes an authorisation in the prescribed form authorising the Board or any other income-tax authority acting on its behalf to seek relevant information from the said financial institution on behalf of such assessee; and

(b) in respect of any other expenditure or allowance (including depreciation) arising from the transaction with a person located in a notified jurisdictional area shall be allowed under any other provision of this Act, unless the assessee maintains such other documents and furnishes such information as may be prescribed, in this behalf.

(4) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this Act, where, in any previous year, the assessee has received or credited any sum from any person located in a notified jurisdictional area and the assessee does not offer any explanation about the source of the said sum in the hands of such person or in the hands of the beneficial owner (if such person is not the beneficial owner of the said sum) or the explanation offered by the assessee, in the opinion of the Assessing Officer, is not satisfactory, then, such sum shall be deemed to be the income of the assessee for that previous year.

(5) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provisions of this Act, where any person located in a notified jurisdictional area is entitled to receive any sum or income or amount on which tax is deductible under Chapter XVII-B, the tax shall be deducted at the highest of the following rates, namely:—

(a) at the rate or rates in force;

(b) at the rate specified in the relevant provisions of this Act;

(c) at the rate of thirty per cent.

(6) In this section,—

(i) "person located in a notified jurisdictional area" shall include,—

(a) a person who is resident of the notified jurisdictional area;

(b) a person, not being an individual, which is established in the notified jurisdictional area; or

(c) a permanent establishment of a person not falling in sub-clause (a) or sub-clause (b), in the notified jurisdictional area;

(ii) "permanent establishment" shall have the same meaning as defined in clause

(iiia) of section 92F;

(iii) "transaction" shall have the same meaning as defined in clause (v) of section 92F.

176.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause176 of the Bill seeks to provide for special measures in respect of transactions with persons located in notified jurisdictional area. The clause corresponds to section 94A of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause”.

176.4 Examination by the Committee:

With regard to special measures in respect of transactions with persons located in notified jurisdictional areas, the Committee queried from the Ministry on the probable aspect of shifting of burden of proof regarding unexplained receipts on the assessee and its challenges particularly in cases where the taxpayer has limited access to information about the beneficial owner, and whether, there was an overlap with General Anti-Avoidance Rule (GAAR) with the applicability of the provisions of this clause. Clarifying upon this, the Ministry have submitted as under:-

“It is an anti-abuse provision. Section 94A serves as a framework that enables the Indian government to manage tax information exchanges with other countries. It mandates that taxpayers provide the necessary financial details when requested by tax authorities. The government introduced this section to prevent entities from transferring undeclared income to foreign jurisdictions, especially those that refuse to cooperate with India on tax matters. (ii) Both are anti-abuse provisions. However, GAAR provisions wider in term of its application and ramification. On the other hand, provisions of section 94A simply lays down certain measures in respect of transaction with persons located in notified jurisdictions”.

176.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee scrutinised the proposed Clause 176 of the Bill which provisions for special measures in respect of transactions with persons located in notified jurisdictional area. Noting the importance of this clause in terms of establishing accountability, the Committee went through the justification provided by the Ministry and found that the clause corresponds to section 94A of the Income-Tax Act, 1961. Observing that the provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this proposed Clause, the Committee accept the Clause as proposed.

Clause – 177–Limitation on interest deduction in certain cases.

177.1 Provisions proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

177. (1) Irrespective of anything contrary in this Act, any expenditure by way of interest or similar payment in respect of excess interest, as specified in sub-section (4), shall not be deductible in computation of income chargeable under the head “Profits and gains of business or profession”, if,— (a) it is paid or payable by an Indian company or a permanent establishment of a foreign company in India, in respect of any debt issued by an associated enterprise which is a non-resident; and (b) the sum of such expenditure in a tax year exceeds one crore rupees.

(2) Where a lender, not being an associated enterprise, has issued a debt referred to in sub-section (1), such debt shall be deemed to have been issued by an associated enterprise if an associated enterprise has— (a) provided an implicit or explicit guarantee to the lender in respect of such debt; or (b) deposited a corresponding and matching funds with such lender.

(3) The provisions of this section shall not apply to— (a) interest paid in respect of a debt issued by a lender which is a permanent establishment in India of a non-resident engaged in the business of banking; (b) an Indian company or a permanent establishment of a foreign company which is engaged in the business of banking or insurance or a Finance Company located in any International Financial Services Centre, or such class of non-banking financial companies as notified by the Central Government in this behalf.

(4) In sub-section (1), the “excess interest” means— (a) In total interest paid or payable in excess of 30% of earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortisation of the borrower in the tax year; or (b) interest paid or payable to associated enterprises for that tax year, whichever is less.

(5) Interest expenditure not wholly deducted against income under the head “Profits and gains of business or profession” for any tax year shall be— (a) carried forward to the following tax year or years; and (b) allowed as a deduction against the profits and gains, if any, of any business or profession carried on by it and assessable for such tax year, to the extent of maximum allowable interest expenditure as per sub-section (4).

(6) The interest expenditure referred to in sub-section (5) shall not be carried forward for more than eight tax years immediately succeeding the tax year for which the excess interest expenditure was first computed.

(7) In this section,— (a) “debt” means any loan, financial instrument, finance lease, financial derivative, or any arrangement that gives rise to interest, discounts or other finance charges that are deductible in the computation of income chargeable under the head “Profits and gains of business or profession”; (b) “Finance Company” means a finance company as defined in regulation 2(1)(e) of the International Financial Services Centres Authority (Finance Company) Regulations, 2021 made under the International Financial Services Centres Authority Act, 2019 and which satisfies such conditions and carries on such activities, as prescribed; (c) “permanent establishment” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 173(c).

177.2 Relevant Provisions of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Limitation on interest deduction in certain cases.

94B. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, where an Indian com- pany, or a permanent establishment of a foreign company in India, being the borrower, incurs any expenditure by way of interest or of similar nature exceeding one crore rupees which is deductible in computing income chargeable under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession" in respect of any debt issued by a non-resident, being an associated enterprise of such borrower, the interest shall not be deductible in computation of income under the said head to the extent that it arises from excess interest, as specified in sub-section (2) :

Provided that where the debt is issued by a lender which is not associated but an associated enterprise either provides an implicit or explicit guarantee to such lender or deposits a corresponding and matching amount of funds with the lender, such debt shall be deemed to have been issued by an associated enterprise.

(1A) Nothing contained in sub-section (1) shall apply to interest paid in respect of a debt issued by a lender which is a permanent establishment in India of a non-resident, being a person engaged in the business of banking.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1), the excess interest shall mean an amount of total interest paid or payable in excess of thirty per cent of earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortisation of the borrower in the previous year or interest paid or payable to associated enterprises for that previous year, whichever is less.

(3) Nothing contained in sub-section (1) shall apply to an Indian company or a permanent establishment of a foreign company which is engaged in the business of banking or insurance [12][or a Finance Company located in any International Financial Services Centre,] [13][or such class of non-banking financial companies as may be notified by the Central Government in the Official Gazette in this behalf].

(4) Where for any assessment year, the interest expenditure is not wholly deducted against income under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession", so much of the interest expenditure as has not been so deducted, shall be carried forward to the following assessment year or assessment years, and it shall be allowed as a deduction against the profits and gains, if any, of any business or profession carried on by it and assessable for that assessment year to the extent of maximum allowable interest expenditure in accordance with sub-section (2):

Provided that no interest expenditure shall be carried forward under this sub-section for more than eight assessment years immediately succeeding the assessment year for which the excess interest expenditure was first computed.

(5) For the purposes of this section, the expressions—

(i) "associated enterprise" shall have the meaning assigned to it in sub-section (1) and sub-section (2) of section 92A;

(ii) "debt" means any loan, financial instrument, finance lease, financial derivative, or any arrangement that gives rise to interest, discounts or other finance charges that are deductible in the computation of income chargeable under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession";

[14][(iia) "non-banking financial company" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (vii) of the Explanation to clause (viia) of sub-section (1) of section 36;]

(iii) "permanent establishment" includes a fixed place of business through which the business of the enterprise is wholly or partly carried on;

[15][*(iv) "Finance Company" means a finance company as defined in clause (e) of sub-regulation (1) of regulation 2 of the International Financial Services Centres Authority (Finance Company) Regulations, 2021 made under the International Financial Services Centres Authority Act, 2019 (50 of 2019) and which satisfies such conditions and carries on such activities, as may be prescribed;*

*(v) "International Financial Services Centre" shall have the meaning as assigned to it in clause (q) of section 2 of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005 (28 of 2005).*]

177.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry for the proposed provisions:

“Clause 177 of the Bill seeks to provide for limitation on interest deduction in certain cases. The clause corresponds to section 94B of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained witzh the same intent in this clause”.

177.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Few key suggestions from the stakeholders are summarized as below:-

(i) It is suggested that – (a) for the purpose of computing 'excess interest' under section 177(4), the term 'total interest paid or payable' should only include interest paid to the associated enterprises (b) borrowings by Indian companies backed by corporate guarantee may be excluded from applicability of section 177. (c) loan taken from an Indian bank which is guaranteed by a non-resident associated enterprise be excluded from the scope of section 177. Whereas section 177(4) defines excess interest as the total interest payable in excess of 30% of EBITDA, section 177(1)(a) indicates that the disallowance is in relation to interest in respect of debt issued by a non resident associated enterprise of the borrower. The issue under consideration is whether for purpose of determining the amount of excess interest under section 177(4), interest paid to third party lenders (i.e other than associated enterprises) should be included in 'total interest paid or payable' or it should only include interest paid or payable to associated enterprises.

(ii) There is no outflow of interest payments to entity outside India. Further, in case of default, NR AE would pay funds to Indian third-party lender, thereby leading to inflow of funds. Accordingly, clarification should be provided to exclude domestic borrowings guaranteed by non-resident AE. The inherent idea of thin capitalization provisions is to prevent shifting of profits outside India Thus, it is pertinent not to disturb domestic debt scenarios for various sectors. The current provisions may affect domestic funding from third parties.

177.5 Examination by the Committee:

The Ministry in their written responses have submitted as under:-

(i) "Stakeholder seeks that for computing disallowance of excess interest deduction, interest paid to third party lender other than associated enterprise be excluded. The suggestion is the nature of policy change, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025. There is no change in the IT Bill, 2025 vis-a-vis I T Act, 1961. The said provision is one of the fundamental strategy to prevent the Base Erosion and Profit Shifting (BEPS). Following BEPS initiative implemented by The Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development several reforms were introduced in the domestic tax legislation to plug loopholes, prevent double non-taxation and to strengthen data sharing between the contracting states. The provisions of limitation on interest deduction is one of them. A distinction in tax treatment of equity and debt source of fund minimises chances of tax avoidance by multinational companies. In view of the above facts, provisions of both clause 177(4)(a) and (b) are necessary to achieve the stated objectives".

The proposed provisions of the Bill are similar to the provisions of the I T Act".

177.5.2 On the aspect of limitation of interest, when queried upon, the representative of the Ministry of Finance submitted before the Committee as under:-

> "there are specific anti-avoidance rules prescribing limitation of interest. So, the interest when it is paid to associate enterprise or even to a third party, that is considered for disallowing interest beyond a certain limit. So, the stakeholder suggestion is that associate enterprise, you can continue for inclusion for disallowing of interest. But if I am paying interest to a third party, why should it be part of limitation of own interest? Actually, the word that has come, first para, last word should be excluded, not included. So, that is a correction"…… "Sir, there are certain exclusions also provided in 94B, and it does not apply to an Indian company or permanent establishment of foreign company, which is engaged in business of banking or insurance or a finance company located in IFSCA or such class of non-banking financial companies as may be notified because if a loan is taken from some other party, there is a chance that the profits are shifted by way of interest on loans. These are thin capitalization provisions, so that the company maintains a healthy ratio of debt as well as equity. This thin capitalization ratio is applicable, used internationally. We have also incorporated it".

177.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that Clause 177 of the Bill seeks to provide for limitation on interest deduction in certain cases and is synonymous to Section 94B of the IT Act, 1961. The Committee find the justification for proposing the text in this Clause satisfactory and are also convinced with the response of the Ministry vis-à-vis the suggestions from the stakeholders. Other than textual simplification in the body of text, the intent of the original source, Section 94B of IT Act, 1961 has not been tinkered with. Thus, the Committee accept the proposed Clause in its entirety without any changes.

Chapter XI-
GENERAL ANTI-AVOIDANCE RULE

Clause – 178-Applicability of General Anti-Avoidance Rule

178.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

Provisions of the Section 178 under Chapter XI- General Anti-Avoidance Rule are as under

(1) Irrespective of anything contained in this Act, an arrangement entered into by an assessee may be declared to be an impermissible avoidance arrangement and the consequence in relation to tax arising from it may be determined subject to the provisions of this Chapter.
(2) The provisions of this Chapter may be applied to any step in, or a part of, the arrangement as they are applicable to the arrangement.

178.2Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Applicability of General Anti-Avoidance Rule.

95.(1) notwithstanding anything contained in the Act, an arrangement entered into by an assessee may be declared to be an impermissible avoidance arrangement and the consequence in relation to tax arising there from may be determined subject to the provisions of this Chapter.
(2) This Chapter shall apply in respect of any assessment year beginning on or after the 1st day of April, 2018.
Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that the provisions of this Chapter may be applied to any step in, or a part of, the arrangement as they are applicable to the arrangement.

178.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

"Clause 178 of the Bill provides the framework for the applicability of the General Anti-Avoidance Rule. This clause corresponds to Section 95 of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause."

178.4Examination by the Committee:

178.4.1 In response to concerns about safeguards preventing interpretational shifts in the judicial or administrative application of GAAR—especially its retrospective or prospective applicability—the Ministry stated:

"The apprehension that the proposed GAAR provisions in the Bill may result in interpretational shift in judicial and administrative application has no basis. The proposed provisions are similar as it was in the I T Act. GAAR is a general rule. This is required in exceptional cases. For exceptional cases, the term should take its normal meaning. Clause 183 specifies that the chapter relating to GAAR shall apply in addition to or in lieu of any other basis for determination of tax liability and as per such guidelines and subject to such conditions as prescribed. GAAR provisions are fundamentally for such persons who employ complex tax planning strategies to avoid tax. Such practices are not only detrimental to the nation but unfair to the other genuine tax payers. Therefore, to tackle such situation, and complex strategies of tax evasion, it is necessary to provide inbuilt mechanism is statute itself . However, the assessee is given an opportunity to the prove that the arrangement is for the bonafide reasons and contrary to the presumption that it is mainly for obtaining tax benefit. Further, GAAR provisions are resorted to in some exceptional circumstances and the mechanism set up implementation of the GAAR provisions has inbuilt checks and balances. The very fact that GAAR can be invoked only with the approval of the GAAR Panel which is headed by a High Court Judge and two other senior members, one of which is an academic is a sufficient safeguard."

178.4.2 In response to the question on why the specific commencement date (1st April 2018) in Section 95(2) was omitted from Clause 178, and whether this implies a change in GAAR's temporal scope, the Ministry stated:

"At present it is governed by the provisions of the I T Act. The day on which the proposed Bill comes into effect, it shall be governed by the said Act. So there is no ambiguity and the apprehension has no basis."

178.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

After careful consideration of the proposal and the justifications provided by the Ministry of Finance, the Committee concur with the retention and textual simplification of Section 95 of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, as proposed under Clause 178 of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025.Accordingly, the Committee accept the clause as proposed.

Clause - 179. Impermissible avoidance arrangement

179.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) An impermissible avoidance arrangement means an arrangement, the main purpose of which is to obtain a tax benefit, and it—

(a) creates rights, or obligations, which are not ordinarily created between persons dealing at arm's length;

(b) results, directly or indirectly, in the misuse, or abuse, of the provisions of this Act;

(c) lacks commercial substance or is deemed to lack commercial substance under section 180, in whole or in part; or

(d) is entered into, or carried out, by means, or in a manner, which are not ordinarily employed for bonafide purposes.

(2) An arrangement shall be presumed, unless it is proved to the contrary by the assessee, to have been entered into, or carried out, for the main purpose of obtaining a tax benefit, if the main purpose of a step in, or a part of, the arrangement is to obtain a tax benefit, irrespective of the fact that the main purpose of the whole arrangement is not to obtain a tax benefit.

179.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Impermissible avoidance arrangement.

96. (1) An impermissible avoidance arrangement means an arrangement, the main purpose of which is to obtain a tax benefit, and it—

(a) creates rights, or obligations, which are not ordinarily created between persons dealing at arm's length;

(b) results, directly or indirectly, in the misuse, or abuse, of the provisions of this Act;

(c) lacks commercial substance or is deemed to lack commercial substance under section 97, in whole or in part; or

(d) is entered into, or carried out, by means, or in a manner, which are not ordinarily employed for bona fide purposes.

(2) An arrangement shall be presumed, unless it is proved to the contrary by the assessee, to have been entered into, or carried out, for the main purpose of obtaining a tax benefit, if the main purpose of a step in, or a part of, the arrangement is to obtain a tax benefit, notwithstanding the fact that the main purpose of the whole arrangement is not to obtain a tax benefit.

179.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

179.3 The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed Clause is as under:

"Clause 179 of the Bill seeks to define impermissible avoidance arrangements under the General Anti-Avoidance Rule. The clause corresponds to section 96 of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause."

179.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

The meaning of "arm's length" may be defined as follows: 'arm's length' shall be understood to mean a relationship that reflects independent and commercially rational conduct between unrelated parties" In the alternative, arm's length can be defined to have the meaning assigned in section 173(a) . Definition of 'arm's length' may be incorporated to provide clarity or reduce litigations. Alternatively, specific reference may be given to clause (a) of section 173 of the Income-tax Bill, 2025 which defines the meaning of the term "arm's length price". At present, the meaning of arm's length is defined in clause (a) of section 173 solely for the purpose of transfer pricing provisions.

179.5 Examination by the Committee:

179.5.1 In response to the suggestion that the term 'arm’s length' be defined under the GAAR provisions, the Ministry, in its written reply stated as under:

> “Stakeholder seeks to define term "arm’s length" under GAAR provisions. The suggestion is the nature of policy change, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025. There is no change in the IT Bill, 2025 vis-a-vis I T Act, 1961. GAAR is a general rule. This is required in exceptional cases. For exceptional cases, the term should take its normal meaning. Clause 183 specifies that the chapter relating to GAAR shall apply in addition to or in lieu of any other basis for determination of tax liability and as per such guidelines and subject to such conditions as prescribed. Therefore, there is no requirement to defining the term 'arms length' as such, when power to issue guidelines and prescribe conditions have been provided under the Chapter itself. Further, no rationale has been provided for suggested change. Therefore, the suggested amendment is not feasible.

179.5.2 Regarding the potential subjectivity in defining a “significant effect,” could the Ministry clarify the objective criteria or guiding principles tax authorities use to make this assessment, the Ministry in its written reply, the stated as under:

> “The term used in the chapter has been defined appropriately and the suggested amendment has no rationale. Further, Clause 183 inter alia specifies that the chapter relating to GAAR shall apply as per such guidelines and subject to such conditions as prescribed. Therefore, in case of any ambiguity, it can be clarified through issuance of guidelines.”

179.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 179 under examination, including the views/suggestions of stakeholders and the justification given by the Ministry of Finance, find that the proposed provisions effectively simplify and retain the principle of "impermissible avoidance arrangement" in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025. The Clause specifies that an arrangement may be treated as impermissible if its main purpose is to obtain a tax benefit and it (a) creates rights or obligations not ordinarily created in transactions at arm's length; (b) results in the misuse or abuse of the provisions of the Act; (c) lacks commercial substance; or (d) is entered into by means not ordinarily employed for bona fide purposes. Furthermore, a presumption is provided that the main purpose of an arrangement or a part of it is to obtain a tax benefit, unless proved otherwise by the assessee. The Committee find these provisions appropriate for addressing aggressive tax avoidance while preserving fairness and equity in the application of the income tax law. Therefore, the Committee accept the provisions as proposed.

Clause-180- Arrangement to lack commercial substance

180.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) An arrangement shall be deemed to lack commercial substance, if—

(a) the substance or effect of the arrangement as a whole, is inconsistent with, or differs significantly from, the form of its individual steps or a part; or
(b) it involves or includes—
(i) round trip financing; or
(ii) an accommodating party; or
(iii) elements that have effect of offsetting or cancelling each other; or
(iv) a transaction which is conducted through one or more persons and disguises the value, location, source, ownership or control of funds which is the subject matter of such transaction; or
(c) it involves the location of an asset or of a transaction or of the place of residence of any party which is without any substantial commercial purpose other than obtaining a tax benefit (but for the provisions of this Chapter) for a party; or
(d) it does not have a significant effect upon the business risks or net cash flows of any party to the arrangement apart from any effect attributable to the tax benefit that would be obtained (but for the provisions of this Chapter) .
(2) In sub-section (1) , round trip financing includes any arrangement in which, through a series of transactions—
(a) funds are transferred among the parties to the arrangement; and
(b) such transactions do not have any substantial commercial purpose other than obtaining the tax benefit (but for the provisions of this Chapter) , without having any regard to—
(A) whether or not the funds involved in the round trip financing can be traced to any funds transferred to, or received by, any party in connection with the arrangement;

(B) the time, or sequence, in which the funds involved in the round trip financing are transferred or received; or

(C) the means by, or manner in, or mode through, which funds involved in the round trip financing are transferred or received.

(3) The following may be relevant but shall not be sufficient for determining whether an arrangement lacks commercial substance or not:—

(a) the period of time for which the arrangement (including operations therein) exists;

(b) the fact of payment of taxes, directly or indirectly, under the arrangement;

(c) the fact that an exit route (including transfer of any activity or business or operations) is provided by the arrangement.

180.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Arrangement to lack commercial substance.

97. (1) An arrangement shall be deemed to lack commercial substance, if—

(a) the substance or effect of the arrangement as a whole, is inconsistent with, or differs significantly from, the form of its individual steps or a part; or

(b) it involves or includes—

(i) round trip financing;

(ii) an accommodating party;

(iii) elements that have effect of offsetting or cancelling each other; or

(iv) a transaction which is conducted through one or more persons and disguises the value, location, source, ownership or control of funds which is the subject matter of such transaction; or

(c) it involves the location of an asset or of a transaction or of the place of residence of any party which is without any substantial commercial purpose other than obtaining a tax benefit (but for the provisions of this Chapter) for a party; or

(d) it does not have a significant effect upon the business risks or net cash flows of any party to the arrangement apart from any effect attributable to the tax benefit that would be obtained (but for the provisions of this Chapter) .

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) , round trip financing includes any arrangement in which, through a series of transactions—

(a) funds are transferred among the parties to the arrangement; and

(b) such transactions do not have any substantial commercial purpose other than obtaining the tax benefit (but for the provisions of this Chapter) ,

without having any regard to—

(A) whether or not the funds involved in the round trip financing can be traced to any funds transferred to, or received by, any party in connection with the arrangement;

(B) the time, or sequence, in which the funds involved in the round trip financing are transferred or received; or

(C) the means by, or manner in, or mode through, which funds involved in the round trip financing are transferred or received.

(3) For the purposes of this Chapter, a party to an arrangement shall be an accommodating party, if the main purpose of the direct or indirect participation of that party in the arrangement, in whole or in part, is to obtain, directly or indirectly, a tax benefit (but for the provisions of this Chapter) for the assessee whether or not the party is a connected person in relation to any party to the arrangement.

(4) For the removal of doubts, it is hereby clarified that the following may be relevant but shall not be sufficient for determining whether an arrangement lacks commercial substance or not, namely:—

(i) the period or time for which the arrangement (including operations therein) exists;

(ii) the fact of payment of taxes, directly or indirectly, under the arrangement;

(iii) the fact that an exit route (including transfer of any activity or business or operations) is provided by the arrangement.

180.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed Clause is as under:

> "Clause 180 of the Bill seeks to outline the conditions under which an arrangement shall be deemed to lack commercial substance. This clause corresponds to Section 97 of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause."

180.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Regarding the subjectivity in assessing whether an arrangement lacks a 'significant effect' on business risks or cash flows under Sub-clause (1) (d) of Clause 180, the Ministry was asked to clarify the objective criteria tax authorities would apply. The Ministry responded as follows:

"The term used in the chapter has been defined appropriately and the suggested amendment has no rationale. Further, Clause 183 inter alia specifies that the chapter relating to GAAR shall apply as per such guidelines and subject to such conditions as prescribed. Therefore, in case of any ambiguity, it can be clarified through issuance of guidelines.

180.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after careful consideration of the proposal contained in Clause 180, along with the justification provided by the Ministry of Finance, find the proposed provision to be appropriate. The Committee observe that Clause 180 corresponds to the provisions relating to impermissible avoidance arrangements under the General Anti-Avoidance Rule in the Income-Tax Act, 1961, and that the language has been refined to provide greater clarity without altering the substantive intent. Accordingly, the Committee accept the provisions of clause 180 as proposed.

Clause 181- Consequences of impermissible avoidance arrangement

181.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) If an arrangement is declared to be an impermissible avoidance arrangement, then, the consequences, in relation to tax, of the arrangement, including denial of tax benefit or a benefit under a tax treaty, shall be determined, in the manner as deemed appropriate.

(2) The consequences of an arrangement declared to be an impermissible avoidance arrangement as referred to in sub-section (1) shall include but shall not be limited to the following:—

(a) disregarding, combining or recharacterising any step in, or a part or whole of, the impermissible avoidance arrangement;

(b) treating the impermissible avoidance arrangement as if it had not been entered into or carried out;

(c) disregarding any accommodating party or treating any accommodating party and any other party as one and the same person;

(d) deeming persons who are connected persons in relation to each other to be one and the same person for the purposes of determining tax treatment of any amount;

(e) reallocating amongst the parties to the arrangement—

(i) any accrual, or receipt, of a capital nature or revenue nature; or

(ii) any expenditure, deduction, relief or rebate;

(f) treating—

(i) the place of residence of any party to the arrangement; or

(ii) the situs of an asset or of a transaction, at a place other than the place of residence, location of the asset or location of the transaction as provided under the arrangement; or

(g) considering or looking through any arrangement by disregarding any corporate structure.

(3) In this section,—

(a) any equity may be treated as debt or viceversa;

(b) any accrual, or receipt, of a capital nature may be treated as of revenue nature or viceversa; or

(c) any expenditure, deduction, relief or rebate may be recharacterised.

181.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Consequences of impermissible avoidance arrangement.

98. (1) If an arrangement is declared to be an impermissible avoidance arrangement, then, the consequences, in relation to tax, of the arrangement, including denial of tax benefit or a benefit under a tax treaty, shall be determined, in such manner as is deemed appropriate, in the circumstances of the case, including by way of but not limited to the following, namely:—

(a) disregarding, combining or recharacterising any step in, or a part or whole of, the impermissible avoidance arrangement;

(b) treating the impermissible avoidance arrangement as if it had not been entered into or carried out;

(c) disregarding any accommodating party or treating any accommodating party and any other party as one and the same person;

(d) deeming persons who are connected persons in relation to each other to be one and the same person for the purposes of determining tax treatment of any amount;

(e) reallocating amongst the parties to the arrangement—

(i) any accrual, or receipt, of a capital nature or revenue nature; or

(ii) any expenditure, deduction, relief or rebate;

(f) treating—

(i) the place of residence of any party to the arrangement; or

(ii) the situs of an asset or of a transaction,

at a place other than the place of residence, location of the asset or location of the transaction as provided under the arrangement; or

(g) considering or looking through any arrangement by disregarding any corporate structure.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) ,—

(i) any equity may be treated as debt or vice versa;

(ii) any accrual, or receipt, of a capital nature may be treated as of revenue nature or vice versa; or

(iii) any expenditure, deduction, relief or rebate may be recharacterised.

181.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed Clause is as under:

> "Clause 181 of the Bill provides for the consequences of an impermissible avoidance arrangement under the General Anti-Avoidance Rule. This clause corresponds to Section 98 of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause."

181.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders

Some of the important views/suggestions from the stakeholders are summarized as under:-

i. When the provisions of GAAR are applicable and an arrangement is classified to be an IAA, the tax consequences of the IAA are to be determined in accordance with the provisions of section 98(1) of the Act 2 The issue with section 181 of the ITB (which is similar to section 98(1) of the Act) arises from the omission of the phrase "in the circumstances of the case" that is present in section 98(1) of the Act The original language in the Act (i.e., 'deemed appropriate', 'in the circumstances of the case') mandates that the tax authority's determination of consequences must be deemed appropriate in light of the specific circumstances surrounding the case This requirement acts as a safeguard, ensuring that the tax authority's actions are tailored to the context and details of each individual case, including present realities and legitimate considerations for future events 3 The omission of this phrase in the ITB could potentially broaden the tax authority's powers, allowing for a more subjective interpretation of what is deemed appropriate without the obligation to consider the unique facts and nuances of the case. To address the potential for overreach by tax authorities, it is recommended to modify the language of section 181 of the ITB to include the phrase "in the circumstances of the case" when determining the tax consequences of an IAA This would ensure that the tax authority's determinations are appropriate and consider all relevant factors, aligning with the procedural safeguards intended in the Act.

ii. Remove the phrase “but shall not be limited to the following” The consequences of an arrangement being declared as an impermissible avoidance arrangement are overarching and stringent. This phrase“ but shall not be limited to the following” further broadens the scope of GAAR, without providing adequate certainty to taxpayers.

iii. (clause181(1)) read with clause159(6) (in the present form of the ITBill) denies DTAA benefits based on domestic legislative provisions However, DTAAs are bilaterally negotiated agreements between two sovereign states, which contain mutually agreed upon anti-abuse provisions Enabling domestic provisions to unilaterally override negotiated treaty provisions would be in contravention of our obligations as treaty partners However, Chapter XI an be relied on to determine whether a treaty benefit should be available Therefore, we have recommended for removal of clause159(6) in the IT Bill and for certain additions to clause159(8) along these lines, which are in accordance with global best practice. (2) Nothing in this Chapter shall be applicable if: (a) there isa tax treaty to which the taxpayer is eligible as per section 159(8);or (b) it is established that granting of the concerned tax benefit was in accordance with the object and purpose of the relevant provisions of this Act, read with any rules, regulations, circulars, notifications, guidelines or orders made under this Act, and/or the applicable tax treaty."

181.5 Examination by the Committee:

181.5.1 On the suggestions given by the stakeholders regarding omitting "in the circumstances of the case" from Section 181 may allow excessive discretion to tax authorities, the Ministry of Finance initially had responded responded as under:

"Removal of phrases like "in the circumstances of the case" was made to reduce the number of words used and to make the Act leaner and concise. The phrase has no added advantage as any determination of consequences of any impermissible avoidance arrangement has to be done in the circumstances of the case only. Thus the phrase was in nature of overdrafting and hence has been removed. The suggestion has no merits. In view of the above, the suggestion has no merit and may not be considered acceptable.

"Upon further examination and deliberation on the matter, the Ministry stated the following: Stakeholder seeks inclusion of the phrase ""in the circumstances of the case" in clause 181 of the Bill. The suggestion is same as as sent earlier. The said suggestion has been examined and found to be acceptable. This has also been communicated in reply to 40 Question to the committee."

181.5.2 The stakeholders suggested removing the phrase 'but shall not be limited to the following' from Clause 181 of the GAAR provisions under Section 183, citing concerns that it may grant excessive discretion to tax authorities. In response, the Ministry of Finance stated the following:

"Stakeholder seeks to remove the phrase "but shall not be limited to the following" from clause 181 of the GAAR provisions. The suggestion is the nature of policy change, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025. There is no change in the IT Bill, 2025 vis-a-vis I T Act, 1961. GAAR provisions are fundamentally for such persons who employ complex tax planning strategies to avoid tax. Such practices are not only detrimental to the nation but unfair to the other genuine tax payers. Therefore, to tackle such situation, and complex strategies of tax evasion, it is necessary to provide inbuilt mechanism is statute itself. However, the assessee is given an opportunity to the prove that the arrangement is for the bonafide reasons and contrary to the presumption that it is mainly for obtaining tax benefit .Further, GAAR provisions are resorted to in some exceptional circumstances and the mechanism set up implementation of the GAAR provisions has inbuilt checks and balances. In view of the above, the suggestion may not be considered."

181.5.3 With regard to the suggestion that the GAAR provisions should not override the provisions of the DTAA, the Ministry, in its written reply, stated the following:

"Stakeholder seeks that provisions of GAAR should not override provisions of DTAA. The suggestion is the nature of policy change, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025. There is no change in the IT Bill, 2025 vis-a-vis I T Act, 1961. Application of GAAR irrespective of treaty is required to protect the tax base. It is an accepted international practice. GAAR provisions are fundamentally for such persons who employ complex tax planning strategies to avoid tax. Such practices are not only detrimental to the nation but unfair to the other genuine tax payers. Therefore, to tackle such situation, and complex strategies of tax evasion, it is necessary to provide inbuilt mechanism is statute itself."

181.5.4 Regarding the need for a comprehensive and clear definition of GAAR, the ministry during the sitting of the select committee deposed as under:

“GAAR is a general anti-avoidance rule and then the taxpayer can come up with any kind of device to escape tax. That is why, the general anti-avoidance rule is built in like this fashion that certain impermissible avoidance arrangementsare defined that what would be its nature, and then the certain steps which can be disregarded while making assessment while invoking GAAR provisions. But then again, some window has to be left that it shall not be limited to the following. So, any device which the taxpayer may adopt, that device also should be enabled to be captured under the GAAR. That is its nature to capture any kind of impermissible avoidance arrangement. : It is very difficult to define it exactly. Daily new schemes are coming. For financial evasion, tax evasion or even financial scams, we encounter some different type of scams every day. So, this takes care of that. Then, GAAR provisions, as I earlier told also, are to be implemented under very strict supervision of a very high-powered Committee.”

181.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee examined Clause 181 of the Bill, which seeks to provide for the consequences of an impermissible avoidance arrangement under the General Anti-Avoidance Rules. The Committee note that this largely corresponds to Section 98 of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, and that the provisions have been simplified in the Bill while retaining their original intent.

The Committee also considered submissions from several stakeholders who expressed reservations about removing the phrase "in the circumstances of the case," which had served as a safeguard to ensure that the application of GAAR remained reasonable and sensitive to the specific context.Recognizing the merit of this concern, the Committee are of the view that while deterrence against tax avoidance must remain robust, it must also be tempered with procedural fairness and contextual sensitivity. The Committee, therefore, accept the provisions under Clause 181 with the modification that the words "in the circumstances of the case" shall be expressly reinstated to clarify that the consequences of impermissible avoidance arrangements will be determined having regard to the specific facts and context of each case. This addition will ensure that the determination of consequences under GAAR will continue to be guided by the specific facts and context of each case, thereby preserving the balance between effective enforcement and taxpayer protection.

Clause 182- Treatment of connected person and accommodating party

182.1Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

In this Chapter, in determining whether a tax benefit exists,—

(a) the parties who are connected persons in relation to each other may be treated as one and the same person;

(b) any accommodating party may be disregarded;

(c) the accommodating party and any other party may be treated as one and the same person;

(d) the arrangement may be considered or looked through by disregarding any corporate structure.

182.2Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Treatment of connected person and accommodating party.

99. For the purposes of this Chapter, in determining whether a tax benefit exists,—

(i) the parties who are connected persons in relation to each other may be treated as one and the same person;

(ii) any accommodating party may be disregarded;

(iii) the accommodating party and any other party may be treated as one and the same person;

(iv) the arrangement may be considered or looked through by disregarding any corporate structure.

182.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> "Clause 182 of the Bill provides for the treatment of connected persons and accommodating parties under the General Anti-Avoidance Rule. This clause corresponds to Section 99 of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause."

182.4 Examination by the Committee:

On the question as to how Clause 182(d)'s broad power to disregard corporate structures will be balanced with protecting legitimate business arrangements and preventing misuse where genuine commercial substance exists, Ministry stated as under:-

> "The apprehension that the proposed GAAR provisions in the BIll may result in interpretational shift in judicial and administrative application has no basis. The proposed provisions are similar as it was in the I T Act. Further, Clause 183 inter alia specifies that the chapter relating to GAAR shall apply as per such guidelines and subject to such conditions as prescribed. GAAR can be invoked only after a reference is made by the Principal Commissioner to the Approving panel which is headed by a Retd. High Court Judge and also includes an academia as an independent member. One member is a senior officer of the Income-tax Department. There are sufficient safeguards in place. There is no cause for any apprehension."

182.5Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after careful consideration of the provisions contained in Clause 182, along with the justification provided by the Ministry of Finance, find the proposed provision to be appropriate. The Committee observe that Clause 182 corresponds to Section 99 of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, and that the language has been simplified without altering the substantive intent. Accordingly, the Committee accept the provisions under clause 182 as proposed.

Clause- 183-Application of this Chapter

183.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

The provision of the clause 183 are as under:

The provisions of this Chapter—
(a) in addition to, or inlieu of, any other basis for determination of tax liability;
(b) as per such guidelines and subject to such conditions, as prescribed.

183.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 100 and 101are as under:

Application of this Chapter.
100. The provisions of this Chapter shall apply in addition to, or in lieu of, any other basis for determination of tax liability.
Framing of guidelines.
101. The provisions of this Chapter shall be applied in accordance with such guidelines and subject to such conditions, as may be prescribed.

183.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed clause are as under:

> "Clause 183 of the Bill seeks to provide for the applicability of General Anti-Avoidance Rule. The clause corresponds to section 100 and 101 of the Act. The two sections 100 and 101 of the Act have been merged. The provisions of the existing sections have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause."

183.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

A gist of submissions/objections by various stakeholders is given as under:

> Upon reviewing Clause 183, which aligns with Section 100 of the existing provisions, it is evident that the phrase "shall apply" is omitted in the new bill prior to the insertion of the sub-clause. To ensure ease of reading, it is recommended that the words "shall apply" be inserted before the sub clauses.
>
> Section 183 to be redrafted as follows - The provisions of this Chapter shall apply — (a) in addition to, or in lieu of, any other basis for determination of tax liability; (b) as per such guidelines and subject to such conditions, as prescribed. The sentence is incomplete and is not conveying the desired meaning without the words “shall apply” Hence, it needs to be redrafted to include these 183 101 Framing of guidelines words.

183.5 Examination by the Committee:

On the question of drafting error or omission of shall apply in the new Bill, the ministry of Finance stated as under:

> “It is a drafting error. May be corrected by inserting the words "shall apply" in the opening line. In view of the above the suggestion may be considered acceptable.”

183.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the provisions made in the Clause under examination, including the views/suggestions of the stakeholders and the justification given by the Ministry and note that Clause 183 seeks to provide for the applicability of General Anti-Avoidance Rule. The clause corresponds to Section 100 and Section 101 of the Income-Tax Act, 1961. The Ministry explained in its justification that these two sections have been merged and the provisions of the existing sections have been textually simplified while retaining the same intent in this clause.

The Committee are of the view that the proposed modifications to be acceptable; however, the Committee observe that the phrase "shall apply" is missing in the first line of the clause 183, which may clarity of its application. To provide ease of reading and to convey its intended meaning more accurately, the Committee recommend that the first line of the sentence be amended to "The provisions of this Chapter shall apply — (a) in addition to, or in lieu of, any other basis for determination of tax liability; (b) as per such guidelines and subject to such conditions, as prescribed."

Therefore, the Committee accept the proposed provisions under Clause 183 subject to the above modification.

Clause 184-Definitions

184.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

In this Chapter, unless the context otherwise requires,—

(1) “accommodating party” means a party to an arrangment, if the main purpose of the direct or indirect participation of that party in the arrangement, in whole or in part, is to obtain, directly or indirectly, a tax benefit (but for the provisions of this Chapter) for the assessee whether or not the party is a connected person in relation to any party to the arrangement;

(2) “arrangement” means any step in, or a part or whole of, any transaction, operation, scheme, agreement or understanding, whether enforceable or not, and includes the alienation of any property in such transaction, operation, scheme, agreement or understanding;

(3) “asset” includes property, or right, of any kind;

(4) “benefit” includes a payment of any kind whether in tangible or intangible form;

(5) “connected person” means any person who is connected directly or indirectly to another person and includes,—

(a) any relative of the person, if such person is an individual;

(b) any director of the company or any relative of such director, if the person is a company;

(c) any partner or member of a firm or association of persons or body of individuals or any relative of such partner or member, if the person is a firm or association of persons or body of individuals;

(d) any member of the Hindu undivided family or any relative of such member, if the person is a Hindu undivided family;

(e) any individual who has a substantial interest in the business of the person or any relative of such individual;

(f) a company, firm or an association of persons or a body of individuals, whether incorporated or not, or a Hindu undivided family having a substantial interest in the business of the person or any director, partner, or member of the company, firm or association of persons or body of individuals or family, or any relative of such director, partner or member;

(g) a company, firm or association of persons or body of individuals, whether incorporated or not, or a Hindu undivided family, whose director, partner, or member has a substantial interest in the business of the person, or family or any relative of such director, partner or member;

(h) any other person who carries on a business, if—

(i) the person being an individual, or any relative of such person, has a substantial interest in the business of that other person; or

(ii) the person being a company, firm, association of persons, body of individuals, whether incorporated or not, or a Hindu undivided family, or any director, partner or member of such company, firm or association of persons or body of individuals or family, or any relative of such director, partner or member, has a substantial interest in the business of that other person;

(6) “fund” includes—

(a) any cash;

(b) cash equivalents; and

(c) any right, or obligation, to receive or pay, the cash or cash equivalent;

(7) “party” includes a person or a permanent establishment which participates or takes part in an arrangement;

(8) “relative” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 92(5) (g) ;

(9) a person shall be deemed to have a substantial interest in the business, if,—

(a) in a case where the business is carried on by a company, such person is, at any time during the financial year, the beneficial owner of equity shares carrying atleast 20% of the voting power; or

(b) in any other case, such person is, at any time during the financial year, beneficially entitled to atleast 20% of the profits of such business;

(10) “step” includes a measure or an action, particularly one of a series taken in order to deal with or achieve a particular thing or object in the arrangement;

(11) “tax benefit”includes,—

(a) a reduction or avoidance or deferral of tax or other amount payable under this Act; or

(b) an increase in a refund of tax or other amount under this Act; or

(c) a reduction or avoidance or deferral of tax or other amount that would be payable under this Act, as a result of a tax treaty; or

(d) an increase in a refund of tax or other amount under this Act as a result of a tax treaty; or

(e) a reduction in total income; or

(f) an increase in loss,

in the relevant tax year or any other tax year;

(12) “tax treaty” means an agreement referred to in section 159(1) or (2) .

184.2Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 102 are as under :

Definitions.

102. In this Chapter, unless the context otherwise requires,—

(1) "arrangement" means any step in, or a part or whole of, any transaction, operation, scheme, agreement or understanding, whether enforceable or not, and includes the alienation of any property in such transaction, operation, scheme, agreement or understanding;

(2) "asset" includes property, or right, of any kind;

(3) "benefit" includes a payment of any kind whether in tangible or intangible form;

(4) "connected person" means any person who is connected directly or indirectly to another person and includes,—

(a) any relative of the person, if such person is an individual;

(b) any director of the company or any relative of such director, if the person is a company;

(c) any partner or member of a firm or association of persons or body of individuals or any relative of such partner or member, if the person is a firm or association of persons or body of individuals;

(d) any member of the Hindu undivided family or any relative of such member, if the person is a Hindu undivided family;

(e) any individual who has a substantial interest in the business of the person or any relative of such individual;

(f) a company, firm or an association of persons or a body of individuals, whether incorporated or not, or a Hindu undivided family having a substantial interest in the business of the person or any director, partner, or member of the company, firm or association of persons or body of individuals or family, or any relative of such director, partner or member;

(g) a company, firm or association of persons or body of individuals, whether incorporated or not, or a Hindu undivided family, whose director, partner, or member has a substantial interest in the business of the person, or family or any relative of such director, partner or member;

(h) any other person who carries on a business, if—

(i) the person being an individual, or any relative of such person, has a substantial interest in the business of that other person; or

(ii) the person being a company, firm, association of persons, body of individuals, whether incorporated or not, or a Hindu undivided family, or any director, partner or member of such company, firm or association of persons or body of individuals or family, or any relative of such director, partner or member, has a substantial interest in the business of that other person;

(5) "fund" includes—

(a) any cash;

(b) cash equivalents; and

(c) any right, or obligation, to receive or pay, the cash or cash equivalent;

(6) "party" includes a person or a permanent establishment which participates or takes part in an arrangement;

(7) "relative" shall have the meaning assigned to it in the Explanation to clause (vi) of sub-section (2) of section 56;

(8) a person shall be deemed to have a substantial interest in the business, if,—

(a) in a case where the business is carried on by a company, such person is, at any time during the financial year, the beneficial owner of equity shares carrying twenty per cent or more, of the voting power; or

(b) in any other case, such person is, at any time during the financial year, beneficially entitled to twenty per cent or more, of the profits of such business;

(9) "step" includes a measure or an action, particularly one of a series taken in order to deal with or achieve a particular thing or object in the arrangement;

(10) "tax benefit" includes,—

(a) a reduction or avoidance or deferral of tax or other amount payable under this Act; or

(b) an increase in a refund of tax or other amount under this Act; or

(c) a reduction or avoidance or deferral of tax or other amount that would be payable under this Act, as a result of a tax treaty; or

(d) an increase in a refund of tax or other amount under this Act as a result of a tax treaty; or

(e) a reduction in total income; or

(f) an increase in loss,

in the relevant previous year or any other previous year;

(11) "tax treaty" means an agreement referred to in sub-section (1) of section 90 or sub-section (1) of section 90A.

184.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed clause is as under:
"Clause 184 of the Bill seeks to provide for definition of General Anti-Avoidance Rule. The clause corresponds to section 102 of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause."

184.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

A gist of submissions/objections by various stakeholders is given as under:

i. It is recommended that all terms used two or more times in the Act/Bill can be defined in the definition clause itself. This will prevent taxpayers from having to repeatedly cross-reference different sections. Therefore, Clause 2 should comprehensively include all definitions, ensuring that definitions for different purposes are consolidated in a single section for ease of reference.

ii. Introduce a specific definition for the terms 'beneficial owner' and 'beneficially entitled'. The terms “beneficial owner” and “beneficially entitled” are used here to determine when a person is considered to have a substantial interest in a business. However, these terms do not have uniform definitions across various laws. It is therefore recommended that specific definitions be introduced in the GAAR provisions to provide greater clarity and avoid unnecessary confusion.

iii. Sub-clause (3) may be substituted with the following : (3) “asset” includes property, or right, of any kind or Virtual Digital Asset; 1.Computation of tax benefit on deferral of tax (which is merely a timing difference) needs to be clarified 2. In sub-clauses (e) and (f) of clause (11) , the reference to income/loss should not be the base for defining the term ‘tax benefit’ Sub-clauses (e) and (f) of clause (11) may be appropriately worded to correspond with the ‘tax’ amount 3. For the sake of clarity, it may be specified that “tax benefit” for the purposes of the threshold shall include only income tax and shall not include other amounts like interest, etc. Computation of tax benefit on deferral of tax (which is merely a timing difference) needs to be clarified In cases of tax deferral, the only benefit to the taxpayer is not paying taxes in one year but paying it in a later year Overall, there may not be any tax benefit but the benefit is in terms of the present value of money 2 Sub-clauses (e) and (f) in the definition refer to “reduction of total income” and “increase in loss” as tax benefit An ambiguity arises as to how tax benefit is conditioned at income / loss level This may also defeat the objective of tax benefit threshold to be provided in Rules 3 The term “tax benefit” has been defined to include tax or other amount payable under this Act or reduction in income or increase in loss .The other amount could cover interest. Virtual Digital Asset’ as defined in 2(111) of Income-Tax Bill, 2025 may be specifically included in the definition of asset.

iv. Introduce a clear definition of “investments” as provided below: “Investments ”include assets held by all taxpayers in order to earn income by way of dividends, interest, rentals and for capital appreciation Lease contracts and loan arrangements are, by themselves, not investments.” GAAR does not apply to income from transfer of investments made before April1, 2017, under Chapter X-A of the IT IT Bill Some guidance is provided in communications such as CBDT’sCircularNo.7of2017.This definition is based on Question of the said Circular Act read with Rule 10U(1) (d) of the Income-taxRules,1962(“IT Rules”) However, the term “investment” is not defined under IT Act or IT Rules or the.

184.5 Examination by the Committee:

184.5.1 On the query of whether the definition in Chapter X (GAAR) can take its meaning from the general definition, the Ministry of Finance stated as under:

> “Definition of relative has been provided differently in different contexts in theBill. While there is already a general definition in cl. 2(94) of the Bill, there are specific definitions in cl. 92(5) (g) and also in cl. 129(3) (e) of the Bill. Therefore, the definition in Chapter X (GAAR) can not take its meaning from the general definition. In view of the reasons stated, the suggestion has no merit. Based on the context (beneficial provision or restrictive or anti-abuse provision) , general definitions provided in clause 2 of the Bill have been contextually modified at specific places.In view of the above, the suggestion has no merits.’

184.5.2 Regarding the suggestion on definition of the terms 'beneficial owner' and 'beneficially entitled' in GAAR provisions, the ministry of finance in its written reply stated as under:

> “Stakeholder seeks to definition of the terms 'beneficial owner' and 'beneficially entitled' in GAAR provisions. The suggestion is the nature of policy change, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025. There is no change in the IT Bill, 2025 vis-a-vis I T Act, 1961. Clause 184 inter alia defines the term 'benefit', 'connected person' and 'a person who shall be deemed to have substantial interest in the business'. Therefore, the term used in the chapter has been defined appropriately and the suggested amendment has no rationale. Further, Clause 183 inter alia specifies that the chapter relating to GAAR shall apply as per such guidelines and subject to such conditions as prescribed. Therefore, in case of any ambiguity, it can be clarified through issuance of guidelines."

184.5.3 Regarding the suggestion on definition of the terms 'asset ' in GAAR provisions, the ministry of finance in its written reply stated as under:

"Stakeholder seeks to definition of the term 'asset' in GAAR provisions. The suggestion is the nature of policy change, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025. There is no change in the IT Bill, 2025 vis-a-vis I T Act, 1961. The terms used in the chapter have been defined appropriately and the suggested amendment has no rationale. Further, Clause 183 inter alia specifies that the chapter relating to GAAR shall apply as per such guidelines and subject to such conditions as prescribed. Therefore, in case of any ambiguity, it can bee clarified through issuance of guidelines."

184.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 184 under examination, including the views/suggestions of stakeholders and the justification given by the Ministry of Finance, find that the proposed provisions align with the policy objective of simplifying and clarifying the legal framework.The Committee note that the provisions proposed under Clause 184 of the Bill provide for definitions of various terms used in this Chapter. The Committee note that the Clause defines terms such as "accommodating party", "arrangement", "asset", "benefit", "connected person", "fund", "party", "relative", "step", "tax benefit" and "tax treaty". The Committee further observe that these definitions largely correspond to Section 102 of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, and that the provisions have been simplified in the Bill while retaining their original intent. The Committee therefore accept the provisions under Clause 184 as it is.

Chapter XII

MODE OF PAYMENT IN CERTAIN CASES ETC.

Clause 185-Mode of taking or accepting certain loans, deposits and specified sum

185.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) No person shall take or accept from another person any loan or deposit or specified sum, except through—

(a) an account payee cheque;

(b) account payee bank draft;

(c) electronic clearing system through a bank account; or

(d) any other prescribed electronic mode,

if,—

(i) the amount or the aggregate amount of such loan, deposit, or specified sum; or

(ii) the amount or the aggregate amount of any previously taken or accepted loan or deposit or specified sum by such person from such another person, which is remaining unpaid, whether due for repayment or not, as on the date of taking or accepting such amount as referred to in clause (i) ; or

(iii) the aggregate of the amountsreferred to in of clauses (i) and (ii) , is twenty thousand rupees or more.

(2) Sub-section (1) shall not apply to loans or deposits or specified sums taken or accepted from or by,—

(a) the Government;

(b) any banking company, post office savings bank, or co-operative bank;

(c) any corporation established by a Central, State or Provincial Act;

(d) any Government company as defined under section 2(45) of the Companies Act, 2013;

(e) any institution, association, or body or class of institutions, associations or bodies notified by the Central Government.

(3) The provisions of sub-section (1) shall not apply to any loan or deposit or specified sum where, the person taking or accepting such loan or deposit or specified sum and person from whom such loan or deposit or specified sum is taken or accepted, both, have agricultural income and neither has any income chargeable to tax under this Act.
(4) In sub-section (1) , “two lakh rupees” shall be substituted for “twenty thousand rupees” in the case of any deposit or loan, where—
(a) such deposit is accepted by a primary agricultural credit society or a primary co-operative agricultural and rural development bank from its member; or
(b) such loan is taken from a primary agricultural credit society or primary co-operative agricultural and development bank by its member.
(5) In this section,“loan or deposit” means loan or deposit of money.

185.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 269SS are as under :

Chapter XX-BREQUIREMENT AS TO MODE OF ACCEPTANCE, PAYMENT ORREPAYMENT IN CERTAIN CASES TO COUNTERACT EVASION OF TAX

Mode of taking or accepting certain loans, deposits and specified sum.
269SS. No person shall take or accept from any other person (herein referred to as the depositor) , any loan or deposit or any specified sum, otherwise than by an account payee cheque or account payee bank draft or use of electronic clearing system through a bank account or through such other electronic mode as may be prescribed, if,—
(a) the amount of such loan or deposit or specified sum or the aggregate amount of such loan, deposit and specified sum; or
(b) on the date of taking or accepting such loan or deposit or specified sum, any loan or deposit or specified sum taken or accepted earlier by such person from the depositor is remaining unpaid (whether repayment has fallen due or not) , the amount or the aggregate amount remaining unpaid; or

(c) the amount or the aggregate amount referred to in clause (a) together with the amount or the aggregate amount referred to in clause (b) ,
is twenty thousand rupees or more:

Provided that the provisions of this section shall not apply to any loan or deposit or specified sum taken or accepted from, or any loan or deposit or specified sum taken or accepted by,—
(a) the Government;
(b) any banking company, post office savings bank or co-operative bank;
(c) any corporation established by a Central, State or Provincial Act;
(d) any Government company as defined in clause (45) of section 2 of the Companies Act, 2013 (18 of 2013) ;
(e) such other institution, association or body or class of institutions, associations or bodies which the Central Government may, for reasons to be recorded in writing, notify in this behalf in the Official Gazette:
Provided further that the provisions of this section shall not apply to any loan or deposit or specified sum, where the person from whom the loan or deposit or specified sum is taken or accepted and the person by whom the loan or deposit or specified sum is taken or accepted, are both having agricultural income and neither of them has any income chargeable to tax under this Act:
90[Provided also that the provisions of this section shall have effect, as if for the words "twenty thousand rupees", the words "two lakh rupees" had been substituted in the case of any deposit or loan where,--
(a) such deposit is accepted by a primary agricultural credit society or a primary co-operative agricultural and rural development bank from its member; or
(b) such loan is taken from a primary agricultural credit society or a primary co-operative agricultural and rural development bank by its member.]
Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—
(i) "banking company" means a company to which the provisions of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 (10 of 1949) applies and includes any bank or banking institution referred to in section 51 of that Act;

91[(ii) "co-operative bank", "primary agricultural credit society" and "primary co-operative agricultural and rural development bank" shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in the Explanation to sub-section (4) of section 80P;]
(iii) "loan or deposit" means loan or deposit of money;
(iv) "specified sum" means any sum of money receivable, whether as advance or otherwise, in relation to transfer of an immovable property, whether or not the transfer takes place.

185.3Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed clause is as under:
”Clause 185 of the Bill provides for mode of taking or accepting certain loans, deposits and specified sum. This clause corresponds to section 269SS of the Act. There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.”

185.4Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

A gist of submissions/objections by various stakeholders is given as under:

i. In case of credit cooperative society or mutuality concept associations whether provisions of Sec. 185 or so are applicable or not it must be clarified. If any mutuality benefit association or credit cooperative society accept deposit or amount in savings account of 20000 or more during whole year it may attract provisions of Sec. 185 and similar other provisions therefore it must be clarified that whether these provisions of sec, 185 for amount of 20000 or more during a year are applicable or not.

ii. In proposed section 185(1) (iii) ‘of’ before ‘clauses’ be deleted. (

iii. Mode of Receipt or Repayment in Certain Cases Etc. 1 Word “or” may be inserted after clause (a) as well as clause (b) in sub-section (1) : The opening para be redrafted as follows - (1) No person shall take or accept from another person any loan or deposit or specified sum, except through— (a) an account payee cheque; or (b) account payee bank draft; or (c) electronic clearing system through a bank account; or (d) any other prescribed electronic mode, (1) No person shall take or accept from another person any loan or deposit or specified sum, except through specified banking or online mode 2 Alternatively, a consolidated section has been suggested for sections 185, 186 and 188. The section has been given at the end and presented in tabular format. 1 Since receipt of loan or deposit or specified sum is allowed in any of the modes mentioned in clauses (a) to (d) of sub section (1) , it is necessary to use the word “or” after each of the clauses (a) , (b) and (c) to convey the correct intent of the provision online mode” This term has been defined in clause (36) of section 66 It may be incorporated in section 2 so that it is applicable for all sections in the Act 2 A consolidated section may be considered for sections 185, 186 and 188 in the form of a table for simplification. Alternatively, it may be referred to as “specified banking. The Chapter heading may be modified to include receipts and repayments as well since section 185 and 186 deal with receipts and section 188 deals with repayment. (ii) A consolidated section may be considered for sections 185, 186 and 188 in the form of a table for simplification.

184.5.1 Examination by the Committee:

185.5.1 On the suggestion to delete “of” in Clause 185(1) (iii) , the Ministry stated in its written reply:

> “The suggestion seeks to delete "of" in clause 185(1) (iii) . In proposed section 185(1) (iii) , ‘of’ before ‘clauses’ will be deleted.

185.5.2 On the suggestion seeking to insert'or' after each clause of proposed sub-section 185(1) , the ministry in its written reply stated as under:

> “The suggestion seeks to insert 'or' after each clause of proposed sub-section 185(1) . The drafting rules mandate that if 'or' is used between the last clause and the penultimate clause, then 'or' has to be read between all the previous clauses. The drafting has been correctly made. Therefore, suggestion is not feasible.”

185.5.3 On the suggestion to consolidate three sclauses185,186 and 188, the ministry in its written reply stated as under

> “The suggestion seeks to consolidate three sections 185,186 and 188. Considering the different nature of all the three sections, clubbing of these sections would not be feasible. Further, any such clubbing will result in serious implications on cross-referencing across the Act without any tangible benefit. Therefore, suggestion is not acceptable.

185.5.4 On the issue of presenting Clauses 185, 186, and 188 in a tabular format for greater clarity, the Secretary, Ministry of Finance, deposed as follows during the sitting:

> “If you look at Clause 185, this is how it is presently formulated. So, Clause 185 says that no person shall accept from other person loan and deposit and so and so. Subsequently, there are conditions, and then it talks about what it will not apply to, like money received from Government, bank, established corporations, etc. So, Clause 185 is about taking i.e. taking from another person as loan or deposit. If you go to Clause 186 which is just below this, it says that no person shall receive two lakh rupees or more in aggregate from a person in respect of so and so and then again it will not apply to receipts from Government, etc. Clause 187 is about acceptance through electronic mode. अगर टैबुलर फॉर्म में एक साथ रखना होगा तो, probably he feels that recipient is on one side and giver of money is on another side and show it in the form of a table. But that does not seem to be the construct. This is independent for those who give the other one to receive. But we will have a look, if it can be made in the form of a table independently. That part, we will examine. Like we have used tabular form elsewhere, will it improve? We will examine it. But putting it together does not like it has that kind of a connection. अभी तक हम लोगों ने टैबुलर फॉर्म कई सेक्शन्स में डाले हैं। Will it read better, we will just look at it once we structure it. But together, it would not be a good idea because they look to be independent and not connected which can be made in the form of a common table."

185.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 185 under examination, including the views/suggestions of stakeholders and the justification given by the Ministry of Finance, find that the proposed provisions are broadly acceptable. The Committee note that Clause 185 seeks to provide for the mode of taking or accepting certain loans, deposits, and specified sums. The clause corresponds to Section 269SS of the Income-Tax Act, 1961. The Ministry clarified in its justification that there is no policy change and the provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified while retaining the same intent in this clause. However, the Committee accept the provisions under Clause 185 with a modification that the word 'of' be deleted in Clause 185(1) (iii) to align the drafting with legislative norms.

Therefore, the Committee recommend that the clause be written as follows:

"185(1)*(iii) the aggregate of the amounts referred to in clauses (i) and (ii),is twenty thousand rupees or more."

Clause- 186 -Mode of undertaking transactions

186.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) No person shall receive two lakh rupees or more—
(a) in aggregate from a person in a day; or
(b) in respect of a single transaction; or
(c) in respect of transactions relating to one event or occasion from a person, except through—
(i) an account payee cheque;
(ii) account payee bank draft;
(iii) electronic clearing system through a bank account; or
(iv) any other electronic mode, as prescribed.
(2) Sub-section (1) shall not apply to—
(a) any receipt by Government, any banking company, post office savings bank, or co-operative bank;
(b) transactions of the nature referred to in section 185;
(c) such other persons or class of persons or receipts, as notified by the Central Government.

186.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 269ST are as under :

Mode of undertaking transactions.

269ST. No person shall receive an amount of two lakh rupees or more—

(a) in aggregate from a person in a day; or

(b) in respect of a single transaction; or

(c) in respect of transactions relating to one event or occasion from a person,otherwise than by an account payee cheque or an account payee bank draft or use of electronic clearing system through a bank account or through such other electronic mode as may be prescribed:

Provided that the provisions of this section shall not apply to—

(i) any receipt by—

(a) Government;

(b) any banking company, post office savings bank or co-operative bank;

(ii) transactions of the nature referred to in section 269SS;

(iii) such other persons or class of persons or receipts, which the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "banking company" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (i) of the Explanation to section 269SS;

(b) "co-operative bank" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (ii) of the Explanation to section 269SS.

186.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> “Clause 186 of the Bill provides for mode of undertaking transactions. This clause corresponds to section 269ST of the Act. There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.”

186.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

A gist of submissions/objections by various stakeholders is given as under:

> Amount from one person in one day should be reduced from Rs 2 lakhs to Rs 10000/- Cash transaction in business or profession will decrease, will reduce revenue leakage.

186.5 Examination by the Committee:

Regarding the proposal to reduce the threshold for receiving cash from one person in a single day from the existing ₹ 2 lakh to ₹ 10 thousand, the Ministry stated as follows:

> "The suggestion seeks to change the threshold of receiving amount in cash from one person in one day from existing Rs. 2 lakhs to Rs. 10 thousand. It is in the nature of Policy Change which is outside the scope of the Bill. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis-a vis Act. There are many critical services like hospitals and other emergency services where Rs. 2 lakh limit would be required. In such situations, Rs. 10000 limit will hamper day to day work. Thus, the suggestion is not feasible. "

186.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 186 under examination, including justification given by the Ministry of Finance, find that the proposed provisions are acceptable. The Committee note that Clause 186 corresponds to Section 269ST of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, and the provisions have been textually simplified while retaining their original intent. Accordingly, the Committee accept the clause as it stands.

Clause-187- Acceptance of payment through prescribed electronic modes

187.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

Every person shall provide facility for accepting payment, through electronic modes as prescribed, in addition to other electronic modes, if any, being provided by him, where—
(a) such person is carrying on business; and
(b) total sales, turnover, or gross receipts in such business exceeds fifty crore rupees during the immediately preceding tax year

.

187.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Provisions of the Section 269SUare as under :

Acceptance of payment through prescribed electronic modes.
269SU. Every person, carrying on business, shall provide facility for accepting payment through prescribed electronic modes, in addition to the facility for other electronic modes, of payment, if any, being provided by such person, if his total sales, turnover or gross receipts, as the case may be, in business exceeds fifty crore rupees during the immediately preceding previous year.

187.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> "Clause 187 of the Bill provides for acceptance of payment through prescribed electronic modes. This clause corresponds to section 269SU of the Act. There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause."

187.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

A gist of submissions/objections by various stakeholders is given as under:

i. It is suggested that the provisions of this section may be confined to be applicable only in respect of B2C transactions and the B2B transactions may be kept outside the purview of this section In relation to Section 269SU of the Income-tax Act, 1961, the CBDT has issued a Circular No 12/2020 dated 20 May 2020 which clarified that the provision applies only for B2C transactions and not for B2B transactions Since now a new Act is being enacted, it would be appropriate if this intention of the CBDT is duly codified into law itself.

ii. A word 'Profession' should be added after the business under clause (a) .

iii. In the section heading, the words "specified advances" may be inserted – Mode of repayment of certain loans or deposits or 1.The opening para of subsection (1) may be redrafted as follows - (1) No branch of a banking company or co-operative bank and no other company or cooperative society and no firm or other person shall repay— (a) any loan or deposit made with it; or (b) any specified advance received by it, except through specified banking or online mode if 2 Alternatively, a consolidated section has been suggested for sections 185, 186 and 188 The section has been given at the end and presented in tabular format. (i) Since the section covers mode of repayment of certain loans, deposits as well as specified advances, reference to "specified advances" to be included in the section heading." (ii) Reference may be given to "specified banking and online mode" This term has been defined in clause (36) of section 66 It may be incorporated in section 2 so that it is applicable for all sections in the Act. (iii) A consolidated section may be considered for sections 185, 186 and 188 in the form of a table for simplification.

187.5.Examination by the Committee:

187.5.1 On the suggestion seeking to restrict the scope of clause 187 only to B2C transactions by keeping B2B transactions outside the purview of this section, the ministry stated as under:

> “The suggestion seeks to restrict the scope of clause 187 only to B2C transactions by keeping B2B transactions outside the purview of this section. B2B transactions are already enabled by any mode by the CBDT clarification dt. 20.5.2020, whereby 95% of payment in a year is by any mode other than cash. The matter is administrative and not required to be built in the Bill as it will make the Bill unwieldy. The suggestion may not be feasible. Further, the difference between B2C and B2B may not be feasible and difficult to implement, therefore cannot be brought on the statute.”

187.5.2 On the suggestion seeking to expand the scope of clause 187 by including the word 'profession', the ministry stated as under:

> “The suggestion seeks to expand the scope of clause 187 by including the word 'profession' so that professional with receipts of more than 50 crores in a year shall provide the facility of prescribed electronic modes. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis-a vis Act. However, the suggestion can be considered.”

187.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 187 under examination, including the views/suggestions of stakeholders and the justification given by the Ministry of Finance, find the proposed provisions to be acceptable; however, the Committee are of the opinion that the word "profession" should be added after "business" in clause (a) to provide greater clarity in its application. Furthermore, this change will provide professionals with total receipts exceeding ₹50 crore in a year the facility of prescribed electronic modes of payment. Therefore, the Committee accept the provisions under Clause 187 subject to the following modification:

The clause be written as:

"Every person shall provide facility for accepting payment, through electronic modes as prescribed, in addition to other electronic modes, if any, being provided by him, where —

(a) such person is carrying on business or profession; and.

Clause-188 -Mode of repayment of certain loans or deposits

188.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) No branch of a banking company or co-operative bank and no other company or co-operative society andno firm or other person shall repay—
(a) any loan or deposit made with it; or
(b) any specified advance received by it, except through—
(i) an account payee cheque; or
(ii) account payee bank draft drawn in the name of the person who has made the loan or deposit or paid the specified advance; or
(iii) by use of electronic clearing system through a bank account, or any other prescribed electronic mode, if,—
(A) loan or deposit or specified advance, together with the interest, if any, payable thereon; or
(B) the aggregate amount of the loans or deposits held by such person with the branch of the banking company or co-operative bank or, as the case may be, the other company or co-operative society or the firm or other person (either individually or jointly) on the date of such repayment together with interest, if any, payable thereon; or
(C) the aggregate amount of the specified advances received by such person (either individually or jointly) on the date of such repayment together with the interest, if any, payable thereon, is twenty thousand rupees or more.
(2) Irrespective of the provision in sub-section (1) , a branch of a banking company or co-operative bank, may also make the repayment by crediting such loan or deposit to the savings bank account or current account, if any, with such branch of the person to whom such loan or deposit has to be repaid.
(3) Sub-section (1) shall not apply to repayment of any loan, deposit, or specified advance taken or accepted from—

(a) Government;
(b) any banking company, post office savings bank, or co-operative bank;
(c) any corporation established by a Central, State, or Provincial Act;
(d) any Government company as defined in section 2 (45) of the Companies Act, 2013;
(e) any institution, association, or body or class of institutions, associations or bodies notified by the Central Government.
(4) In sub-section (1) , “two lakh rupees” shall be substituted for “twenty thousand rupees” in the case of any deposit or loan where—
(a) such deposit is paid to a member by a primary agricultural credit society or a primary co-operative agricultural and rural development bank; or
(b) such loan is repaid by a member to a primary agricultural credit society or a primary co-operative agricultural and rural development bank.
(5) In this section, “loan or deposit” means any loan or deposit of money which is repayable after notice or repayable after a period and, in the case of a person other than a company, includes loan or deposit of any nature.

188.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 269Tare as under :

Mode of repayment of certain loans or deposits.

269T. No branch of a banking company or a co-operative bank and no other company or co-operative society and no firm or other person shall repay any loan or deposit made with it or any specified advance received by it otherwise than by an account payee cheque or account payee bank draft drawn in the name of the person who has made the loan or deposit or paid the specified advance, or by use of electronic clearing system through a bank account or through such other electronic mode as may be prescribed if—

(a) the amount of the loan or deposit or specified advance together with the interest, if any, payable thereon, or

(b) the aggregate amount of the loans or deposits held by such person with the branch of the banking company or co-operative bank or, as the case may be, the other company or co-operative society or the firm, or other person either in his own name or jointly with any other person on the date of such repayment together with the interest, if any, payable on such loans or deposits, or

(c) the aggregate amount of the specified advances received by such person either in his own name or jointly with any other person on the date of such repayment together with the interest, if any, payable on such specified advances,is twenty thousand rupees or more:

Provided that where the repayment is by a branch of a banking company or co-operative bank, such repayment may also be made by crediting the amount of such loan or deposit to the savings bank account or the current account (if any) with such branch of the person to whom such loan or deposit has to be repaid :

Provided further that nothing contained in this section shall apply to repayment of any loan or deposit or specified advance taken or accepted from—

(i) Government;

(ii) any banking company, post office savings bank or co-operative bank;

(iii) any corporation established by a Central, State or Provincial Act;

(iv) any Government company as defined in section 617 of the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956) ;

(v) such other institution, association or body or class of institutions, associations or bodies which the Central Government may, for reasons to be recorded in writing, notify in this behalf in the Official Gazette:

92[Provided also that the provisions of this section shall have effect, as if for the words "twenty thousand rupees", the words "two lakh rupees" had been substituted in the case of any deposit or loan where,--

(a) such deposit is paid by a primary agricultural credit society or a primary co-operative agricultural and rural development bank to its member; or

(b) such loan is repaid to a primary agricultural credit society or a primary co-operative agricultural and rural development bank by its member.]

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(i) "banking company" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (i) of the Explanation to section 269SS;

93[(ii) "co-operative bank", "primary agricultural credit society" and "primary co-operative agricultural and rural development bank" shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in Explanation to sub-section (4) of section 80P;]

(iii) "loan or deposit" means any loan or deposit of money which is repayable after notice or repayable after a period and, in the case of a person other than a company, includes loan or deposit of any nature;

(iv) "specified advance" means any sum of money in the nature of advance, by whatever name called, in relation to transfer of an immovable property, whether or not the transfer takes place.

188.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

"Clause 188 of the Bill provides for mode of repayment of certain loans or deposits. This clause corresponds to section 269T of the Act. There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause."

188.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

A gist of submissions/objections by various stakeholders is given as under:

i. In proposed section 188(4) (a) , 'paid' be replaced with 'repaid.

ii. In the section heading, the words "specified advances" may be inserted – Mode of repayment of certain loans or deposits or 1.The opening para of subsection (1) may be redrafted as follows - (1) No branch of a banking company or co-operative bank and no other company or cooperative society and no firm or other person shall repay— (a) any loan or deposit made with it; or (b) any specified advance received by it, except through specified banking or online mode if 2 Alternatively, a consolidated section has been suggested for sections 185, 186 and 188 The section has been given at the end and presented in tabular format. (i) Since the section covers mode of repayment of certain loans, deposits as well as specified advances, reference to "specified advances" to be included in the section heading." (ii) Reference may be given to "specified banking and online mode" This term has been defined in clause (36) of section 66 It may be incorporated in section 2 so that it is applicable for all sections in the Act.

iii. A consolidated section may be considered for sections 185, 186 and 188 in the form of a table for simplification.

188.5 Examination by the Committee:

188.5.1 Regarding the suggestion seeking to replace ‘paid with ‘repaid' in clause 188(4) (a) the Ministry in its written reply stated as under:

i. “The suggestion seeks to replace ‘paid with ‘repaid' in clause 188(4) (a) as the clause relates to mode of repayment of certain loans or deposits. In proposed section 188(4) (a), the word 'paid' shall be replaced with 'repaid'.”

188.5.2 On the query of inserting a word specified advances in section heading, the Ministry in its written reply stated as under:

> “The suggestion seeks to insert word 'specified advances' in section heading of proposed clause 188 since the clause covers mode of repayment of certain loans, deposits as well as specified advances. Marginal heading need not cover all the items contained in the section. It provides only a broad outline. However, to provide clarity, in proposed clause 188, the word 'specified advances' shall be added in the section heading.”

188.5.3 Regarding the suggestion seeking to make consolidated section for section 185, 186 and 188, the Ministry in its written reply submitted as under:

> “The suggestion seeks to make consolidated section for section 185, 186 and 188. Section 185 relates to mode of taking or accepting certain loans, deposits and specified sum. Section 186 relates to mode of undertaking transactions. Section 188 relates to mode of repayment of certain loans or deposits. Considering the different nature of all the three sections, clubbing of these sections would not be feasible. Further, any such clubbing will result in serious implications on cross-referencing across the Act without any tangible benefit. Therefore, suggestion is not acceptable.

188.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 188 under examination, including the views/suggestions of stakeholders and the justification given by the Ministry of Finance, find the proposed provisions to be broadly acceptable; however, the Committee observe that certain modifications are desirable for greater clarity and precision in its application.

The Committee recommend to replace the word "paid" with "repaid" in clause (4) (a) in view of the context that the clause pertains to the repayment of a deposit or a loan. Furthermore, the Committee is of the view that adding the words "specified advances" in the section heading will help clarify its coverage.Therefore, the Committee accept the proposed provisions under Clause 188 subject to the following modifications:

The section be amended to replace 'paid' with 'repaid' in clause (4) (a) .

The section heading of the Section be amended to read:

"Mode of repayment of certain loans, deposits and specified advances".

Clause-189-Interpretation

189.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

In this Chapter, unless the context otherwise requires,—

(a) “banking company” means a company to which the provisions of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 applies and includes any bank or banking institution referred to in section 51 of that Act;

(b) “primary agricultural credit society”, and “primary co-operative agricultural and rural development bank” shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in section 149(6) ;

(c) “specified sum” means any sum of money receivable, whether as advance or otherwise, in relation to transfer of an immovable property, whether or not the transfer takes place;

(d) “specified advance” means any sum of money in the nature of advance, by whatever name called, in relation to transfer of an immovable property, whether or not the transfer takes place.

189.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 269SS, 269ST are as under:

Chapter XX-B REQUIREMENT AS TO MODE OF ACCEPTANCE, PAYMENT ORREPAYMENT IN CERTAIN CASES TO COUNTERACT EVASION OF TAX

Mode of taking or accepting certain loans, deposits and specified sum.

269SS. No person shall take or accept from any other person (herein referred to as the depositor) , any loan or deposit or any specified sum, otherwise than by an account payee cheque or account payee bank draft or use of electronic clearing system through a bank account or through such other electronic mode as may be prescribed, if,—

(a) the amount of such loan or deposit or specified sum or the aggregate amount of such loan, deposit and specified sum; or

(b) on the date of taking or accepting such loan or deposit or specified sum, any loan or deposit or specified sum taken or accepted earlier by such person from the depositor is remaining unpaid (whether repayment has fallen due or not) , the amount or the aggregate amount remaining unpaid; or

(c) the amount or the aggregate amount referred to in clause (a) together with the amount or the aggregate amount referred to in clause (b) ,

is twenty thousand rupees or more:

Provided that the provisions of this section shall not apply to any loan or deposit or specified sum taken or accepted from, or any loan or deposit or specified sum taken or accepted by,—

(a) the Government;

(b) any banking company, post office savings bank or co-operative bank;

(c) any corporation established by a Central, State or Provincial Act;

(d) any Government company as defined in clause (45) of section 2 of the Companies Act, 2013 (18 of 2013) ;

(e) such other institution, association or body or class of institutions, associations or bodies which the Central Government may, for reasons to be recorded in writing, notify in this behalf in the Official Gazette:

Provided further that the provisions of this section shall not apply to any loan or deposit or specified sum, where the person from whom the loan or deposit or specified sum is taken or accepted and the person by whom the loan or deposit or specified sum is taken or accepted, are both having agricultural income and neither of them has any income chargeable to tax under this Act:

90[Provided also that the provisions of this section shall have effect, as if for the words "twenty thousand rupees", the words "two lakh rupees" had been substituted in the case of any deposit or loan where,--

(a) such deposit is accepted by a primary agricultural credit society or a primary co-operative agricultural and rural development bank from its member; or

(b) such loan is taken from a primary agricultural credit society or a primary co-operative agricultural and rural development bank by its member.]

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(i) "banking company" means a company to which the provisions of the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 (10 of 1949) applies and includes any bank or banking institution referred to in section 51 of that Act;

91[(ii) "co-operative bank", "primary agricultural credit society" and "primary co-operative agricultural and rural development bank" shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in the Explanation to sub-section (4) of section 80P;]

(iii) "loan or deposit" means loan or deposit of money;

(iv) "specified sum" means any sum of money receivable, whether as advance or otherwise, in relation to transfer of an immovable property, whether or not the transfer takes place.

Mode of undertaking transactions.

269ST. No person shall receive an amount of two lakh rupees or more—

(a) in aggregate from a person in a day; or

(b) in respect of a single transaction; or

(c) in respect of transactions relating to one event or occasion from a person, otherwise than by an account payee cheque or an account payee bank draft or use of electronic clearing system through a bank account or through such other electronic mode as may be prescribed:

Provided that the provisions of this section shall not apply to—

(i) any receipt by—

(a) Government;

(b) any banking company, post office savings bank or co-operative bank;

(ii) transactions of the nature referred to in section 269SS;

(iii) such other persons or class of persons or receipts, which the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "banking company" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (i) of the Explanation to section 269SS;

(b) "co-operative bank" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (ii) of the Explanation to section 269SS.

189.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> "Clause 189 of the Bill provides for interpretation in relation to Chapter XII. This is a new clause inserted in the Bill. It has provided the definitions of banking company, primary agricultural credit society, specified sum and specified advance consolidating the definitions used at multiple places in Chapter-XX-B of the Act."

189.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

A gist of submissions/objections by various stakeholders is given as under:

> "(b) "Cooperative bank", "primary agricultural credit society", and "primary cooperative agricultural and rural development bank" shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in section 149(6) ; The term co-operative bank is used in section 185(2) , 186(2) , and 188(1) /(2) Thus, it needs to be defined in section 189."

189.5 Examination by the Committee:

189.5 Regarding the use of the term 'co-operative bank' in Sections 185(2) , 186(2) , and 188(1) /(2) , and the suggestion to define it in Section 189 for clarity, the Ministry responded as follows:

> "The suggestion seeks to add "Cooperative bank" in clause 189 in line with existing Act. In order to align the provision of the Bill vis-a vis Act, the definition of 'cooperative bank' shall be added in clause 189."

189.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 189 under examination, including the views/suggestions of stakeholders and the justification given by the Ministry of Finance, find the proposed provisions to be broadly acceptable; however, the Committee observes that the term "co-operative bank" is used in clauses 185(2) , 186(2) , and 188(1) /(2) of the Bill, but it has not been defined in Clause 189.To bring greater clarity and consistency to the provisions of this Chapter and to align them with related provisions, the Committee consider it appropriate to insert a definition of "co-operative bank" in Clause 189. This will help avoid ambiguity, facilitate uniform and effective application of the provisions, and provide greater legal certainty and guidance to all stakeholders concerned. Therefore, the Committee accept the proposal under Clause 189 subject to the following modification:

The following sub-clause shall be added in Clause 189:

"(e) '"Cooperative bank", "primary agricultural credit society", and "primary cooperative agricultural and rural development bank" shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in section 149(6)

Chapter XIII

DETERMINATION OF TAX IN SPECIAL CASES

A.—Determination of tax in certain special cases

Clause 190-Determination of tax where total income includes income on which no tax is payable.

190.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

Where there is included in the total income of an assessee any income on which no income-tax is payable under the provisions of this Act, the assessee shall be entitled to a deduction, from income-tax with which he is chargeable on his total income, of an amount equal to the income-tax calculated at the average rate of income-tax on the amount on which no income-tax is payable.

190.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 110 are as under :

Chapter XIIDETERMINATION OF TAX IN CERTAIN SPECIAL CASES

Determination of tax where total income includes income on which no tax is payable.

110. Where there is included in the total income of an assessee any income on which no income-tax is payable under the provisions of this Act, the assessee shall be entitled to a deduction, from the amount of income-tax with which he is chargeable on his total income, of an amount equal to the income-tax calculated at the average rate of income-tax on the amount on which no income-tax is payable.

190.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> "Clause 190 of the Bill provides for the mode of computation of total income if it includes any income on which no income tax is payable. The clause corresponds to Section 110 of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause."

190.4 Examination by the Committee:

On the issue of whether Clause 190's use of "average rate of income-tax" for deductions on untaxed income could cause unintended discrepancies in tax liability across different taxpayer categories, the ministry in its written reply stated as under:

> "The provisions of the IT Act, 1961 has been reproduced faithfully in the Bill with no change in the intent and applicability. The provisions are settled and there is no ambiguity on their application. Deduction on average rate of tax ensures equity and fairness in application of the provision. The average rate of income tax is different for different categories of taxpayers, especially individuals and hence different "average rates" exist."

190.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, having examined the provisions under clause 190, agree with the Ministry's view and find the simplified text to be clear, appropriate, and consistent with the policy objective of granting a deduction from income tax where total income includes income on which no tax is payable. Accordingly, the Committee accept the clause as proposed.

Clause 191

Clause-191-Tax on accumulated balance of recognised provident fund

191.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

Where the accumulated balance due to an employee participating in a recognised provident fund is included in his total income, owing to the provisions of paragraph 8 of Part A of Schedule XI not being applicable, the Assessing Officer shall calculate the total of the various sums of tax as per the provisions of paragraph 9thereof.

191.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 111are as under:

Tax on accumulated balance of recognized provident fund.

111. (1) Where the accumulated balance due to an employee participating in a recognised provident fund is included in his total income, owing to the provisions of rule 8 of Part A of the Fourth Schedule not being applicable, the Assessing Officer shall calculate the total of the various sums of tax in accordance with the provisions of sub-rule (1) of rule 9 thereof.

(2) Where the accumulated balance due to an employee participating in a recognised provident fund which is not included in his total income under the provisions of rule 8 of Part A of the Fourth Schedule becomes payable, super-tax shall be calculated in the manner provided in sub-rule (2) of rule 9 thereof.

191.3Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> “Clause 191 of the Bill seeks to provide for tax on accumulated balance of recognised provident fund. The clause corresponds to Section 111 of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.”

191.4 Examination by the Committee:

Regarding theissue of potential tax liability discrepancies due to using the "average rate of income-tax" under Clause 190., the ministry in its written reply stated as under:-

> “The provisions of Clause 191 are applicable where Para 8 of Part A of Schedule IX does not apply. Para 9 of the said Schedule gives the mechanism for calculation of tax for the same. There is no ambiguity as the procedures are laid clearly. This section is appliable only for recognized provident fund and not for other related tax provisions. The suggestion does not mention where any such "potential conflicts" or "confusion" arises as things stand now. “

191.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee considered the view of the Ministry of Finance that Clause 191 textually simplifies Section 111 while retaining its original intent and application. The Committee, having examined the provisions, agree with the Ministry's view and find the simplified text to be clear, appropriate, and consistent with the policy objective of taxing the accumulated balance of a recognised provident fund in cases where exemption conditions are not met. Accordingly, the Committee accept the provisions under clause 191 as proposed.

Clause192- Tax in case of block assessment of search cases

192.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) The total income of the block period, determined under section 294 shall be chargeable to tax at the rate of 60%.
(2) The tax chargeable under sub-section (1) shall be increased by a surcharge, if any, levied by any Central Act.

192.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 113 are as under:

Tax in the case of block assessment of search cases.

113. The total 24[undisclosed] income of the block period, determined under section 158BC, shall be chargeable to tax at the rate of sixty per cent:
Provided that the tax chargeable under this section shall be increased by a surcharge, if any, levied by any Central Act 25[].

192.3Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> "Clause 192 of the Bill provides for tax in case of block assessment of search cases. This clause corresponds to section 113 of the Act. There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. However, taxation of total income in the case of Block Assessment has been substituted to the taxation of total undisclosed income vide Government Amendments to Finance Bill. Accordingly, amendment is required to be made in the clause 192 of the Bill."

192.4.Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

A gist of submissions/objections by various stakeholders is given as under:

> At present, income-tax has to be calculated by first applying the relevant rates of tax (there are differential rates for certain income like long-term capital gains,short-term capital gains on transfer of listed equity shares, units of equity oriented fund and business trust on which securities transaction tax has been paid, winnings from online games/ lotteries, etc.). For individuals/HUFs/AOPs/ BOIs, there are slab rates, which are different under the default tax regime and alternative tax regime.The process of computation of tax liability becomes complex on account of applicability of different rates of surcharge and provisions of marginal relief in certain cases where total income exceeds the limits of Rs.50 lakh, Rs.1 crore and Rs.2 crore marginally. Subsuming surcharge and cess in the rate of tax itself would ease comprehension and simplify tax computation. This will facilitate ease of compliance.

192.5 Examination by the Committee:

192.5.1 Regarding the suggestion on subsuming surcharge and cess in the rate of tax, the Ministry in its written reply stated as under:

> "The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025."

192.5.2 Regarding the issue of subsuming both surcharge and cess and bringing an all-inclusive rate of tax, the Ministry during the sitting of the committee deposed as under:-

> "they are saying that surcharge and cess should be subsumed. They should be made one. But, in case of surcharge, it applies in a graded form, means, for higher income, they give the surcharge but cess is everywhere."

192.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough examination, accept Clause 192 as effectively retaining the policy intent of Section 113 while simplifying its language. Accordingly, the Committee accept the clause as proposed.

Clause- 193-Tax on income from Global Depository Receipts purchased in foreign currency or capital gains arising from their transfer

193.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Where the total income of an assessee, being an individual, who is a resident and an employee of an Indian company engaged in specified knowledge based industry or service, or an employee of its subsidiary engaged in specified knowledge based industry or service (hereafter in this section referred to as the resident employee) , includes income specified in column B of the Table below, the income-tax payable shall be the aggregate of income-tax specified in thecolumn C thereof.

Sl. No.	Income	Income-tax payable
A	B	C
1.	Dividend on Global Depository Receipts of an Indian company engaged in specified knowledge based industry or service, issued as per such Employees' Stock Option Scheme as the Central Government may, by notification, specify in this behalf and purchased by him in foreign currency.	10%
2.	Income from long-term capital gains arising from the transfer of Global Depository Receipts referred to in serial number 1.	12.5%
3.	Total income as reduced by income referred to in serial numbers 1 and 2.	Income-tax chargeable on such income

(2) Where the gross total income of the resident employee—

(a) consists only of income by way of dividends in respect of Global Depository Receipts referred to in sub-section (1) (Table: Sl. No. 1) , no deduction shall be allowed to him under any other provision of this Act;

(b) includes any income referred to in sub-section (1) (Table: Sl. No. 1) and(Table: Sl. No. 2) ,—

(i) the gross total income shall be reduced by such income; and

(ii) the deduction under any provision of this Act shall be allowed as if the gross total income as so reduced were the gross total income of the assessee.

(3) The section 72(6) shall not apply for computation of long-term capital gains arising out of the transfer of long-term capital asset, being Global Depository Receipts referred to in sub-section (1) (Table: Sl. No. 2) .

(4) In this section,—

(a) “Global Depository Receipts” means any instrument in the form of a depository receipt or certificate (by whatever name called) created by the Overseas Depository Bank outside India or in an International Financial Services Centre and issued to investors against the issue of,—

(i) ordinary shares of issuing company, being a company listed on a recognised stock exchange in India; or

(ii) foreign currency convertible bonds of issuing company;

(iii) ordinary shares of issuing company, being a company incorporated outside India, if such depository receipt or certificate is listed and traded on any International Financial Services Centre;

(b) “information technology service” means any service which results from the use of any information technology software over a system of information technology products for realising value addition;

(c) “information technology software” means any representation of instructions, data, sound or image, including source code and object code, recorded in a machinereadable form and capable of being manipulated or providing inter-activity to a user, by means of an automatic data processing machine falling under heading information technology products but does not include non-information technology products;

(d) “Overseas Depository Bank” means a bank authorised by the issuing company to issue Global Depository Receipts against issue of Foreign Currency Convertible Bonds or ordinary shares of the issuing company;

(e) “specified knowledgebased industry or service” means—

(i) information technology software;

(ii) information technology service;

(iii) entertainment service;

(iv) pharmaceutical industry;

(v) bio-technology industry; and

(vi) any other industry or service, as specified by the Central Government, by notification; and

(f) “subsidiary” shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 2(87) of the Companies Act, 2013 and includes subsidiary incorporated outside India.

193.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Tax on income from Global Depository Receipts purchased in foreign currency or capital gains arising from their transfer.

115ACA. (1) Where the total income of an assessee, being an individual, who is a resident and an employee of an Indian company engaged in specified knowledge based industry or service, or an employee of its subsidiary engaged in specified knowledge based industry or service (hereafter in this section referred to as the resident employee) , includes—

(a) income by way of dividends on Global Depository Receipts of an Indian company engaged in specified knowledge based industry or service, issued in accordance with such Employees' Stock Option Scheme as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf and purchased by him in foreign currency; or

(b) income by way of long-term capital gains arising from the transfer of Global Depository Receipts referred to in clause (a) ,

the income-tax payable shall be the aggregate of—

(i) the amount of income-tax calculated on the income by way of dividends in respect of Global Depository Receipts referred to in clause (a) , if any, included in the total income, at the rate of ten per cent;

30[(ii) the amount of income-tax calculated on the income by way of long-term capital gains referred to in clause (b) , if any, included in the total income,—

(A) at the rate of ten per cent for any transfer which takes place before the 23rd day of July, 2024; and

(B) at the rate of twelve and one-half per cent for any transfer which takes place on or after the 23rd day of July, 2024; and]

(iii) the amount of income-tax with which the resident employee would have been chargeable had his total income been reduced by the amount of income referred to in clauses (a) and (b) .

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section,—

(a) "specified knowledge based industry or service" means—

(i) information technology software;

(ii) information technology service;

(iii) entertainment service;

(iv) pharmaceutical industry;

(v) bio-technology industry; and

(vi) any other industry or service, as may be specified by the Central Government, by notification in the Official Gazette;

(b) "subsidiary" shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 4 of the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956) and includes subsidiary incorporated outside India.

(2) Where the gross total income of the resident employee—

(a) consists only of income by way of dividends in respect of Global Depository Receipts referred to in clause (a) of sub-section (1) , no deduction shall be allowed to him under any other provision of this Act;

(b) includes any income referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) of sub-section (1) , the gross total income shall be reduced by the amount of such income and the deduction under any provision of this Act shall be allowed as if the gross total income as so reduced were the gross total income of the assessee.

(3) Nothing contained in the first and second provisos to section 48 shall apply for the computation of long-term capital gains arising out of the transfer of long-term capital asset, being Global Depository Receipts referred to in clause (b) of sub-section (1) .

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "Global Depository Receipts" means any instrument in the form of a depository receipt or certificate (by whatever name called) created by the Overseas Depository Bank outside India or in an International Financial Services Centre and issued to investors against the issue of,—

(i) ordinary shares of issuing company, being a company listed on a recognised stock exchange in India; or

(ii) foreign currency convertible bonds of issuing company;

(iii) ordinary shares of issuing company, being a company incorporated outside India, if such depository receipt or certificate is listed and traded on any International Financial Services Centre;

(b) "information technology service" means any service which results from the use of any information technology software over a system of information technology products for realising value addition;

(c) "information technology software" means any representation of instructions, data, sound or image, including source code and object code, recorded in a machine readable form and capable of being manipulated or providing inter-activity to a user, by means of an automatic data processing machine falling under heading information technology products but does not include non-information technology products;

(ca) "International Financial Services Centre" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (q) of section 2 of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005 (28 of 2005) ;

(d) "Overseas Depository Bank" means a bank authorised by the issuing company to issue Global Depository Receipts against issue of Foreign Currency Convertible Bonds or ordinary shares of the issuing company.

193.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

Clause 193 of the Bill provides for, inter alia, for special rates of tax on resident individuals employed by an entity engaged in a specified knowledge-based industry or services on income, either dividend or long term capital gains or both, from Global Depository Receipts purchased in foreign currency. The clause corresponds to Section 115ACA of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. Some of the provisions have been provided in a tabular format for ease of comprehension.

193.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Gist of important suggestions given stakeholders/Experts are summarised as under:

i. On the issue of proposal to make units of a business trust eligible as underlying securities for GDRs:

Currently, there is no separate tax framework provided for the GDRs where the underlying securities are units of SEBI registered BTs. Pursuant to regulatory changes, necessary amendments to be introduced to section 2, section 10, section 115AC and section 47 (to the extent dealing with taxability of GDRs) (corresponding sections 2, Schedule V, section 209 and section 70 of the Bill respectively) to even include GDRs which have been created by Overseas Depository Bank (ODB) in IFSC and issued to investors against units of SEBI registered BTs. To amend the definition of GDRs as provided under section 115AC (corresponding section 193 of the Bill) to even include GDRs created by ODBs in IFSC and issued against units of SEBI registered BT. To amend the provisions of section 115AC (Section 209 of the Bill) to provide for the concessional tax rates for income earned by non-resident investors through the GDRs from the underlying units of SEBI registered BTs (similar tax framework to be provided as currently provided for BTs).

193.5 Examination by the Committee:

193.5.1 On the issue of proposal to make units of a business trust eligible as underlying securities for GDRs:

This is a specific change in the definition of GDRs which are presently restricted to underlying assets which are shares or listed company or foreign currency convertible bonds. The widening of this to include units of Business Trusts which are themselves secondary instruments may require further examination in association with stakeholders. The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025.

193.5.2 During the Committee's deliberations on the proposal to make units of a business trust eligible as underlying securities for GDRs, the Ministry was asked whether this provision existed in the Income-Tax Act, 1961, and whether it had been brought in its original form or with any changes. The Ministry deposed as follows:

"यह हमने चेंज नहीं किया है। वे चेंज चाहते हैं कि बिज़नेस ट्रस्ट की यूनिट्स को भी GDR की अंडरलाइंग सिक्योरिटी बना दें। वह आज की डेट में नहीं है। IFSCA ने बिज़नेस ट्रस्ट्स को GDR इश्यू करने के लिए परमिट दे दिया है। इसलिए उस कॉन्टेक्स्ट में यह रिक्वेस्ट आई थी। सर, किसी तरह का कोई भी चेंज नहीं है। 1961 के एक्ट में शेयर्स ही अंडरलाइंग सिक्योरिटी हो सकते हैं।/What we are saying is that business trust is there which is owning a company and then there are units of business trust. So, the units are the secondary instruments. Units in business trust, then business trust owning shares. If that unit again becomes an underlying asset of GDR, it would be a multi-layered structure of GDR, then units, then business trust, and then business trust is having an SPV. According to us, this is a complicated scheme. That is why we have provided GDR where the underlying asset is 'direct security'.We cannot pre-empt a policy called by the Government. He has just explained it because ultimately it will be taken at an appropriate level. So, for us to say, not to be done or to be done, may not be proper. He just explained the dynamics. As of now, what we are requesting is that it is same as 61 but as hon. Chairman Sir said that it is a new development, so you may review and give us a suggestion."

193.5.3 On the issue that one of the recent policy priorities of the Government is the development of GIFT City — which permits certain instruments requiring backing by units of a business trust — and that excluding such units from eligibility as underlying securities for GDRs could potentially hinder its growth, the Secretary, Ministry of Finance, deposed as follows during the sitting of the Select Committee:

" I would like to clarify because the same issue came in for the de-merger also. There are two parts of it, a legal framework to allow GDR and its tax treatment. They are not automatically the same. So, while IFAC may allow GDR, the arrangements in GDR allows certain tax treatment which is what they are asking to be automatically made available and we are saying that we will examine that aspect of it. But nothing is there related to stocks. For example, automatic de-merger can happen the fast track. The only point is that it will not be treated as tax neutral. They are not coming in the way of any policy. Income tax scope is only how it is to be treated under the tax regime."

193.6Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after careful examination of the proposed Clause 193 — along with stakeholder inputs and submissions from the Ministry of Finance — recognize that the clause aims to retain and simplify the existing tax provisions concerning income from Global Depository Receipts (GDRs) purchased in foreign currency or capital gains arising from their transfer. The Committee welcome the improved clarity brought by the tabular presentation of tax rates. Accordingly, the Committee accept the clause as proposed.

Clause-194. Tax on certain incomes

194.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Irrespective of anything contained in any other provision of this Act, where the total income of an assessee as mentioned in column B of the Table below, includes income of the nature specified in column C of the said Table, the income-tax payable by such assessee, for a tax year, shall be the aggregate of—

(a) income-tax calculated on income mentioned in column C, at the rate mentioned in column D, subject to the conditions specified in the Note relating to the respective serial number; and

(b) income-tax with which the assessee would have been chargeable had his total income been reduced by income mentioned in column C thereof.

Sl.No.	Assessee	Income	Rate of tax	Conditions
A	B	C	D	E
1.	Any person.	Winnings (other than from any online game) from— (a) lottery; or (b) crossword puzzle; or (c) race including horse race (not being income from the activity of	30%	Nil.

		owning and maintaining race horses) ; or (d) card game and other game of any sort; or (e) gambling or betting of any form or nature.
2.	A person, resident in India and who is a patentee (herein referred to as an eligible assessee) .	Royalty in respect of a patent developed and registered in India.	10%	(a) No deduction in respect of any expenditure or allowance shall be allowed to the eligible assessee under any provision of this Act in computing his income referred to in column C; (b) an option for taxation of income by way of royalty in respect of a patent developed and registered in India is exercised in the prescribed manner, on or before the due date specified under section 263(1) for furnishing the return of income for the relevant tax year; (c) where an option is exercised under clause (b) and the eligible assessee does not offer its income for taxation as per the provisions of columns C and D for any of the five tax years, succeeding such tax year, then such assessee shall not be eligible to claim the benefit of the provisions of columns C and D for five tax years subsequent to the tax year in which such income has not been offered to tax as per such provisions.

A	B	C	D	E

3.	Any person.	Income by way of transfer of carbon credits.	10%	No deduction in respect of any expenditure or allowance shall be allowed to the assessee under any provision of this Act in computing his income referred to column C.
4.	Any person.	Any income from the transfer of any virtual digital asset.	30%	(a) No deduction in respect of any expenditure (other than cost of acquisition, if any) or allowance or set off of any loss shall be allowed to the assessee under any provision of this Act in computing the income referred to in column C; and (b) no set off of loss from transfer of the virtual digital asset computed herein shall be allowed against income computed under any provision of this Act to theassesseeand such loss shall not be allowed to be carried forward to succeeding tax years.

A	B	C	D	E
5.	Any person.	Any income by way of net winnings from any online game, computed in the manner, as prescribed.	30%	Nil.
6.	Any	Any profits and	12.5	Nil.

person.	gains from life insurance business.	%

(2) In this section,—

(a) “carbon credit”, in respect of one unit, means reduction of one tonne of carbon dioxide emissions or emission of its equivalent gases which is validated by the United Nations Framework on Climate Change and which can be traded in market at its prevailing market price;

(b) “computer resource” shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 2(1) (k) of the Information Technology Act,2000;

(c) “developed” means at least 75% of the expenditure incurred in India by the eligible assessee for any invention in respect of which patent is granted under the Patents Act, 1970 (herein referred to as the Patents Act) ;

(d) “horse race” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 115;

(e) “internet” means the combination of computer facilities and electromagnetic transmission media including related equipment and software, comprising the interconnected worldwide network of computer networks that transmits information based on a protocol for controlling such transmission;

(f) “invention” shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 2(1) (j) of the Patents Act;

(g) “lump sum” includes an advance payment on account of such royalties which is not returnable;

(h) “online game” means a game that is offered on the internet and is accessible by a user through a computer resource including any telecommunication device;

(i) “patent” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 2(1) (m) of the Patents Act;

(j) “patented article” and “patented process” shall have the meanings as respectively assigned to them in section 2(1) (o) of the Patents Act;

(k) “patentee” means the person, being the true and first inventor of the invention, whose name is entered on the patent register as the patentee, as per the Patents Act, and includes every such person, being the true and first inventor of the invention, where more than one person is registered as patentee under that Act in respect of that patent;

(l) “royalty”, in respect of a patent, means consideration (including any lump sum consideration but excluding any consideration which would be the income of the recipient chargeable under the head “Capital gains” or consideration for sale of product manufactured with the use of patented process or the patented article for commercial use) for the—

(i) transfer of all or any rights (including the granting of a licence) in respect of a patent; or

(ii) imparting of any information concerning the working of, or the use of, a patent; or

(iii) use of any patent; or

(iv) rendering of any services in connection with the activities referred to in sub-clauses (i) to (iii) ;

(m) “true and first inventor” shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 2(1) (y) of the Patents Act; and (n) for the purposes of sub-section (1) (Table: Sl. No. 4) , the term “transfer” as defined in section 2(109) , shall apply to any virtual digital asset, whether capital asset or not.

194.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115BB, 115BBF, 115BBG, 115BBH and 115BBJ of the Act. are as under:

Tax on winnings from lotteries, crossword puzzles, races including horse races, card games and other games of any sort or gambling or betting of any form or nature whatsoever.

115BB. Where the total income of an assessee includes any income by way of winnings from any lottery or crossword puzzle or race including horse race (not being income from the activity of owning and maintaining race horses) or card game and other game of any sort or from gambling or betting of any form or nature whatsoever, the income-tax payable shall be the aggregate of—

(i) the amount of income-tax calculated on income by way of winnings from such lottery or crossword puzzle or race including horse race or card game and other game of any sort or from gambling or betting of any form or nature whatsoever, at the rate of thirty per cent; and

(ii) the amount of income-tax with which the assessee would have been chargeable had his total income been reduced by the amount of income referred to in clause (i) :

44[Provided that nothing contained in this section shall apply to income by way of winnings from any online game for the assessment year beginning on or after the 1st day of April, 2024.

Explanation.— For the purposes of this section,—

(i) "horse race" shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 74A;

(ii) "online game" shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 115BBJ.]

Tax on income from patent.

115BBF. (1) Where the total income of an eligible assessee includes any income by way of royalty in respect of a patent developed and registered in India, the income-tax payable shall be the aggregate of—

- (a) the amount of income-tax calculated on the income by way of royalty in respect of the patent at the rate of ten per cent; and
- (b) the amount of income-tax with which the assessee would have been chargeable had his total income been reduced by the income referred to in clause (a) .

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, no deduction in respect of any expenditure or allowance shall be allowed to the eligible assessee under any provision of this Act in computing his income referred to in clause (a) of sub-section (1) .

(3) The eligible assessee may exercise the option for taxation of income by way of royalty in respect of a patent developed and registered in India in accordance with the provisions of this section, in the prescribed manner, on or before the due date specified under sub-section (1) of section 139 for furnishing the return of income for the relevant previous year.

(4) Where an eligible assessee opts for taxation of income by way of royalty in respect of a patent developed and registered in India for any previous year in accordance with the provisions of this section and the assessee offers the income for taxation for any of the five assessment years relevant to the previous year succeeding the previous year not in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) , then, the assesseeshall not be eligible to claim the benefit of the provisions of this section for five assessment years subsequent to the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which such income has not been offered to tax in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) .

Explanation*.—For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "developed" means at least seventy-five per cent of the expenditure incurred in India by the eligible assessee for any invention in respect of which patent is granted under the Patents Act, 1970 (39 of 1970) (herein referred to as the Patents Act) ;

(b) "eligibleassessee" means a person resident in India and who is a patentee;

(c) "invention" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (j) of sub-section (1) of section 2 of the Patents Act;

(d) "lump sum" includes an advance payment on account of such royalties which is not returnable;

(e) "patent" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (m) of sub-section (1) of section 2 of the Patents Act;

(f) "patentee" means the person, being the true and first inventor of the invention, whose name is entered on the patent register as the patentee, in accordance with the Patents Act, and includes every such person, being the true and first inventor of the invention, where more than one person is registered as patentee under that Act in respect of that patent;

(g) "patented article" and "patented process" shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in clause (o) of sub-section (1) of section 2 of the Patents Act;

(h) "royalty", in respect of a patent, means consideration (including any lump sum consideration but excluding any consideration which would be the income of the recipient chargeable under the head "Capital gains" or consideration for sale of product manufactured with the use of patented process or the patented article for commercial use) for the—

(i) transfer of all or any rights (including the granting of a licence) in respect of a patent; or

(ii) imparting of any information concerning the working of, or the use of, a patent; or

(iii) use of any patent; or

(iv) rendering of any services in connection with the activities referred to in sub-clauses (i) to (iii) ;

(i) "true and first inventor" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (y) of sub-section (1) of section 2 of the Patents Act.

Tax on income from transfer of carbon credits.

115BBG. (1) Where the total income of an assessee includes any income by way of transfer of carbon credits, the income-tax payable shall be the aggregate of—

(a) the amount of income-tax calculated on the income by way of transfer of carbon credits, at the rate of ten per cent; and

(b) the amount of income-tax with which the assessee would have been chargeable had his total income been reduced by the amount of income referred to in clause (a) .

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, no deduction in respect of any expenditure or allowance shall be allowed to the assessee under any provision of this Act in computing his income referred to in clause (a) of sub-section (1) .

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, "carbon credit" in respect of one unit shall mean reduction of one tonne of carbon dioxide emissions or emissions of its equivalent gases which is validated by the United Nations Framework on Climate Change and which can be traded in market at its prevailing market price.

Tax on income from virtual digital asset.

115BBH. *(*1) Where the total income of an assessee includes any income from the transfer of any virtual digital asset, notwithstanding anything contained in any other provision of this Act, the income-tax payable shall be the aggregate of,—

(a) the amount of income-tax calculated on the income from transfer of such virtual digital asset at the rate of thirty per cent; and

(b) the amount of income-tax with which the assessee would have been chargeable, had the total income of the assessee been reduced by the income referred to in clause (a) .

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provision of this Act,—

(a) no deduction in respect of any expenditure (other than cost of acquisition, if any) or allowance or set off of any loss shall be allowed to the assessee under any provision of this Act in computing the income referred to in clause (a) of sub-section (1) ; and

(b) no set off of loss from transfer of the virtual digital asset computed under clause (a) of sub-section (1) shall be allowed against income computed under any provision of this Act to the assessee and such loss shall not be allowed to be carried forward to succeeding assessment years.

(3) For the purposes of this section, the word "transfer" as defined in clause (47) of section 2, shall apply to any virtual digital asset, whether capital asset or not.

[Tax on winnings from online games.

115BBJ. Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provisions of this Act, where the total income of an assessee includes any income by way of winnings from any online game, the income-tax payable shall be the aggregate of—

(i) the amount of income-tax calculated on net winnings from such online games during the previous year, computed in the manner as may be prescribed, at the rate of thirty per cent; and

(ii) the amount of income-tax with which the assessee would have been chargeable had his total income been reduced by the net winnings referred to in clause (i) .

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(i) "computer resource" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (e) of the Explanation to section 144B;

(ii) "internet" means the combination of computer facilities and electromagnetic transmission media, and related equipment and software, comprising the interconnected worldwide network of computer networks that transmits information based on a protocol for controlling such transmission;

(iii) "online game" means a game that is offered on the internet and is accessible by a user through a computer resource including any telecommunication device.]

194.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

Clause 194 of the Bill seeks to provide for tax of certain incomes such as income from life insurance business, income from transfer of virtual digital assets, income from patent etc. The clause corresponds to section 115B, 115BB, 115BBF, 115BBG, 115BBH and 115BBJ of the Act. The provisions of the existing sections have been presented in a tabular format for simplification purpose. Definitions of various terms of the existing sections have been provided in clause 194(2) of the Bill. The provisions of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

194.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Some of the important Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholdersare as under:

i. Broaden patent box regime to profits derived from patented products, including licensing fees, embedded patents in goods, etc. Expand scope of S.115BBF to allow global patents owned by Indian residents to get preferential tax treatment. Lastly, patent filing costs should be clarified as deductible under Section 37 of the Act .

ii. At present, the coverage of regime has been restricted to Patents only and not available to other IPRs, like industrial design, copyrights, trademarks, etc The benefit of the regime may be extended to other forms of IPRs, like industrial design, copyrights trademarks, etc so as to promote IPR registration in India The benefit is available to the true and first inventor of the invention only However, where a company or other person acquires a patent developed by a person and invests to develop it further to make it marketable, it may not be eligible for the benefit.The existing regime may be liberalised to grant benefit to a person who acquires patent from the 'true and first inventor' and further makes it commercially usable Further, there are no guidelines on outsourcing of R&D functions Thus, limited outsourcing may also raise an issue on availability of benefit under patent box regime The benefit of the regime may be available, subject to a reasonable threshold, in cases where IP development is outsourced. In point (2) column C, the text may be amended as follows: Royalty in respect of a patent, industrial design, copyright, trademark, etc developed and registered in India. The term "patentee" defined in clause (k) of section 194(2) may be amended as follows: "patentee" means the person, being the true and first inventor of the invention, whose name is entered on the patent register as the patentee, as per the Patents Act, and includes every such person, being the true and first inventor of the invention, where more than one person is registered as patentee under that Act in respect of that patent or a person who acquires patent from the ‘true and first inventor’ and further makes it commercially usable Deduction in respect of brokerage on transfer of virtual digital asset may be allowed while computing income from virtual digital asset, since such expenditure incurred should qualify as deduction Further, it is to be clarified that loss arising from one virtual digital asset can be allowed to set-off against the income from other virtual digital asset It is an intra-source set-off i.e., setoff within the same source of income, which should be permissible.

iii. Set off and carry forward of losses should be allowed assessee for income generated through VDA/crypto- asset. Time limitation may be put in as present in similar trading/investment related sectors. It will improve tax compliance, reduce the burden on the general citizen will remedy the discrimination meted at to this sector.

As per Section 115 BBH of Income-Tax Act, 1961, losses incurred in crypto cannot be offset against any income, including gains from crypto assets. So, a crypto investor cannot offset previous year losses from a crypto asset while filing ITR. The intended purpose of this provision was to discourage Indian investors from investing in crypto assets. However, multiple independent research studies on the sector have reported that adoption of crypto as an asset class is the highest in India, for two years in a row (Copy of the reports enclosed) . The other concern was the non-availability of valid loss proofs. It is pertinent to note that set-off of losses is even allowed in case of income earned through various businesses and speculative activities, as listed below (all sections mentioned as per Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Section 72: Carry forward and set off of business losses Section 73: Losses in speculation business

Section 74: Losses under the head "Capital gains"

Section 74A: Losses from certain specified sources falling under the head "Income from other sources". (includes income from owning and maintaining race horses)

Hence, it can be comfortably assumed that all income earned through legal means in India has a provision for set-off of losses, except for income generated from trading of Crypto Assets. Considering that all legal crypto platforms/exchanges are reporting entities of the FIU and compliant with Indian taxation laws, set-off of losses may kindly be permitted to individuals who invest / trade using FIU-registered platforms. As a measure to maintain a check on the use of the offset provision, assesses can be directed to submit profit & loss / transaction statements from FIU-registered entities. This will increase tax compliance, move Indian users crypto investments to reporting entities and increase tax revenue to the exchequer. (Web3 Bharat, post evidence replies, page no 2) .

- Globally, various countries are adopting different measures for regulating VDAs or crypto assets. Some countries have decided to include regulation of VDAs through their existing regulators but by amending their current laws. These regulators vary from Central Banks at one end to Securities Regulators at the other end. The following is a brief summary of some important jurisdictions: -EU has implemented Markets in Crypto Asset Regulation (MICAR) 5 after years of discussion and debate, which has a full licensing/authorization regime -UAE had established Virtual Digital Asset Regulator (VARA) 6 - a specialized regulatory body for VDAs and it has been operational for more than 3 years now -UK's FCA7 has started implementing a roadmap for regulation of VDAs and plans to complete it by 2026 - Japan8 have recognized Industry led Self RegulatoryOrganizations for supervision -The Commonwealth Secretariat has released a Model Law for Virtual Assets9 - US SEC10 has formed a task force and is conducting round-table discussions to frame a wah ahead In addition to the above, please find attached PwC Global Crypto Regulation Report 2025 & University of Cambridge's 2nd Global cryptoasset regulatory which contains details on select jurisdictions.

iv. LIC There is a case for considering lower income tax rate for life insurance business from 12.5%, since 1977 till present This Section was amended w.e.f 01.04.1977 The corporate tax rate since then has been reduced from 55% to 30% hence there may be a need for proportionate reduction of tax rate for life insurance business.

v. Clause (d) of subsection (2) may be substituted as follows: (d) “horse race” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 115 94(6) Section 115(4) (c) defines the term “race horse” not “horse race” In this section, term income from horse race is taxable, thus the term “horse race” needs to be defined The term “horse race” is defined u/s 94(6) Accordingly, subsection (2) (d) may be amended to give reference of section 94(6) instead of section 115.

vi. It is suggested that section 2(49) may be amended to include income from transfer of carbon credits in the definition of “Income” Climate Change and which can be traded in market at its prevailing market price; This provision helped resolve the uncertainty and litigation over the taxability of income from transfer of carbon credits Consequent amendment is required in the definition of the term ‘income’ under section 2(49) to include the income from transfer of carbon credits.

vii. The provision given in point (a) in Column (D) at point (4) may be amended as follows: No deduction in respect of any expenditure (other than cost of acquisition, if any brokerage on transfer of virtual digital asset and interest on loan borrowed for acquiring such asset) or allowance or set off of any loss shall be allowed to the assessee under any provision of this Act in computing the income referred to in column C; and Further, point (b) in the same column may be amended as follows: (b) No set off of loss from transfer of the virtual digital asset computed herein shall be allowed against income computed under any provision of this Act (other than against income arising from any other virtual digital asset) to the assessee and such loss shall not be allowed to be carried forward to succeeding tax years.

194.5 Examination by the Committee:

194.5.1 On the suggestion of Broadening the patent box regime, the ministry in their written reply responded as under;

> "The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025."

194.5.2 Regarding the decision not to broaden the patent box regime and the rationale for restricting the patent box benefit exclusively to the true and first inventor, the Ministry stated in its written response as follows:

(i) The concessional tax regime for royalty income from patents under cl. 194 (s. 115BBF in the Act) has been allowed in order to encourage indigenous research & development activities and to make India a global R & D hub.

(ii) The incentive allows companies to retain and commercialise existing patents and to develop new innovative patented products. This will encourage companies to locate the high-value jobs associated with the development, manufacture and exploitation of patents in India.

(iii) The concessional tax regime is allowed to a person resident in India, who is the true and first inventor of the invention. Any subsequent transfer to any other entity will result in tax arbitrage.

(iv) No deduction is allowed against royalty income considering the tax rate of only ten percent.

(v) The OECD in BEPS project recommended for 'nexus' approach i.e. the income from exploitation of IP should be attributed and taxed in the jurisdiction where substantial research & development (R&D) activities are undertaken rather than the jurisdiction of legal ownership only.

(vi) Indian innovators are increasingly registering intellectual property (IP) domestically, as reflected by a surge in patent, trademark, and design filings in recent years. Government initiatives—such as streamlined patent rules, financial support for startups, and awareness programs—have made it more attractive and easier for Indian startups and inventors to protect their IP within India.

(vii) According to the World Intellectual Property Organisation (WIPO), a U.N. agency, India registered more than 64,480 patents in 2023 alone, making it the sixth highest in the world. Domestic IP filings in India are rapidly increasing, supported by policy reforms and government incentives such as the National IPR Policy (2016), Atmanirbhar Bharat, financial support for startups, scrapping of the 'angel tax', and IPR awareness programs. A combination of these factors has made it more attractive and easier for Indian startups and inventors to protect their IP within India.

194.5.3 In response to the suggestion to extend the patent box benefit beyond the true and first inventor, the Ministry stated the following in its written reply:

> "The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis a vis Act."

194.5.3Regarding LIC's request to reduce the life insurance tax rate from 12.5%—citing the corporate tax rate drop from 55% to 30% since 1977—the Ministry responded as follows:

> "The rate of taxation of life insurance companies to lower than 12.5%. The suggestion is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025.There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis a vis Act. The tax rate for life insurance companies is already at low level as compared to the other businesses."

194.5.4 Regarding the proposed substitution of Clause (d) in subsection (2) to reference section 194(6) for the definition of 'horse race'—instead of section 115, which defines 'race horse'—the Ministry responded as follows:

"It is an inadvertent drafting error. Clause 194(2) (d) presently states: "horse race" shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 115; Definition of "horse race" may be clarified by giving reference to the definition in clause 94(6) of the Bill , instead of clause 115."

194.5.5Regarding the suggestion to amend Section 2(49) to include income from the transfer of carbon credits—traded at market value and to address tax uncertainty—the Ministry responded as under:

"The stakeholder seeks inclusion of the income from transfer of carbon credits in the definition of the term 'income' under section 2(49) of the IT Bill. The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis a vis Act The suggestion is not acceptable as the definition of income is inclusive definition. So even if income of any nature is not specifically mentioned in clause (2) , it may be treated as income based on the facts of the case."

194.5.6Regarding the proposed amendments to point (a) and (b) in Column (D) at point (4) —restricting deductions and set-off of losses related to virtual digital assets—the Ministry responded as follows

"The suggestion requests deduction of any expenditure and set off of any loss in respect of virtual digital asset transfer. The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis a vis Act."

194.5.7 On the issue of setting off losses in the case of taxation of Virtual Digital Assets (VDAs) the Ministry stated the following during the sitting of the Committee:

"As far as taxation is concerned, we tax the income. The matters relating to the nature of income have gone up to the Supreme Court. If I remember it correctly, there was a decision with respect to Piara Singh. The issue was with regard to smuggling income and that whether any deduction is to be given out of the confiscated item or not. Another item of drug has also gone there.So, here, we are taxing the income. But any income we tax, that does not mean that the source from which the income has come becomes legal. If it is illegal in other aspects, it will remain illegal."

194.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation on the provisions contained in Clause 194, including the views and suggestions of stakeholders and the justification provided by the Ministry of Finance, noted that Clause 194 primarily consolidates and rationalises existing provisions previously scattered across Sections 115B, 115BB, 115BBF, 115BBG, 115BBH, and 115BBJ of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, into a single, simplified clause. The Ministry explained that while the provisions have been textually simplified, their underlying policy intent has been preserved. Additionally, definitions that were earlier dispersed across multiple sections have now been incorporated into sub-clause (2) of Clause 194 to improve clarity and facilitate easier application. Further, the Committee identified an inadvertent drafting error in Clause 194(2)(d), which presently defines "horse race" by reference to Section 115. To avoid ambiguity, the Committee recommend amending Clause 194(2)(d) to instead refer to the definition provided in Section 94(6) of the Bill. This modification will clarify the intended meaning of "horse race" within the context of this Clause and help prevent any confusion during its application. Accordingly the Committee accept the clause as proposed, subject to the above-mentioned modifications.

Clause-195 Tax on income referred to in section 102 or 103 or 104 or 105

195.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Where the total income of an assessee—

(a) includes any income referred to in section 102 or 103 or 104 or 105 or 106 and reflected in the return of income furnished under section 263; or

(b) determined by the Assessing Officer includes any income referred to in any of the said sections, if such income is not covered under clause (a) ,

the income-tax payable shall be the aggregate of—

(i) income-tax calculated on the income referred to in clauses (a) and (b) , at the rate of 60%; and

(ii) income-tax with which the assessee would have been chargeable had his total income been reduced by income referred to in clause (i) .

(2) Irrespective of anything contained in this Act, no deduction in respect of any expenditure or allowance or set off of any loss shall be allowed to the assessee under any provision of this Act in computing his income referred to in sub-section (1) (a) and (b) .

195.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115BBE are as under:

Tax on income referred to in section 68 or section 69 or section 69A or section 69B or section 69C or section 69D.

115BBE. (1) Where the total income of an assessee,—

(a) includes any income referred to in section 68, section 69, section 69A, section 69B, section 69C or section 69D and reflected in the return of income furnished under section 139; or

(b) determined by the Assessing Officer includes any income referred to in section 68, section 69, section 69A, section 69B, section 69C or section 69D, if such income is not covered under clause (a) ,

the income-tax payable shall be the aggregate of—

(i) the amount of income-tax calculated on the income referred to in clause (a) and clause (b) , at the rate of sixty per cent; and

(ii) the amount of income-tax with which the assessee would have been chargeable had his total income been reduced by the amount of income referred to in clause (i) .

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, no deduction in respect of any expenditure or allowance or set off of any loss shall be allowed to the assessee under any provision of this Act in computing his income referred to in clause (a) and clause (b) of sub-section (1) .

195.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> "Clause 195 of the Bill seeks to provide for tax on incomes referred to in clause 102, 103, 104, 105 and 106 of the Bill. The clause corresponds to section 115BBE of the Act. The provisions of the existing sections have been simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause."

195.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Gist of suggestions given by various stakeholder is as under:

> Section 195(1) (b) (i) may be amended as follows: (i) income-tax calculated on the income referred to in clauses (a) and (b) , at the rate of 60% 30%; It is suggested that the rate of tax u/s 195 be rationalized. It may be kept @ 30% plus surcharge at the applicable rate and cess @ 4% Penalty@10% of tax payable under section 443 may continue. It is suggested that the rate of tax u/s 195 be rationalized. It may be kept @ 30% plus surcharge at the applicable rate and cess @ 4% Penalty@10% of tax payable under section 443 may continue.

195.5 Examination by the Committee:

On the suggestion to amend Section 195(1) (b) (i) by rationalizing the tax rate to 30% plus applicable surcharge and 4% cess—while retaining the 10% penalty under Section 443—the Ministry responded as follows:

> "The stakeholder through the suggestion seeks rationalisation of tax rates under clause 195 of the Bill. The suggestion is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the IT Bill, 2025. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis a vis Act. The suggestion is not acceptable because tax rate of 60% on income referred to in section 68/69/69A/69B/69C/69D was introduced as a deterrance measure and to discourage the conversion of unaccounted money to accounted money"

195.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

> The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 195, including the views and suggestions of stakeholders and the submission made by the Ministry of Finance, took note that this clause largely consolidates and rationalises existing provisions — previously contained in Section 115BBE of the Income-Tax Act, 1961 — into a single, simplified framework.The Committee note that the main objective of this consolidation is to provide greater clarity and ease of application while retaining the policy intent of deterring transactions routed through undisclosed sources of income. Accordingly, the Committee accept the provisions under Clause 195 as proposed.

B.—Special provisions relating to tax on capital gains

Clause- 196.Tax on short-term capital gains in certain cases

196.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Where the total income of an assessee includes any income chargeable under the head “Capital gains”, arising from the transfer of a short-term capital asset—
(a) being an equity share in a company or a unit of an equity oriented fund or a unit of a business trust; and
(b) the transaction of sale of such equity share or unit is chargeable to securities transaction tax under Chapter VII of the Finance (No. 2) Act, 2004, then, the tax payable by the assessee on the total income, subject to the provisions of sub-section (2) , shall be the aggregate of—
(i) income-tax calculated on such short-term capital gains at the rate of 20%;
(ii) income-tax payable on the balance amount of the total income as if such balance amount were the total income of the assessee.
(2) In the case of an individual or a Hindu undivided family, being a resident, where the total income, as reduced by short-term capital gains computed under sub-section (1) , is below the maximum amount which is not chargeable to income-tax, then,—
(a) such short-term capital gains shall be reduced by the amount by which the total income as so reduced falls short of the maximum amount which is not chargeable to income-tax; and
(b) the tax on the balance of such short-term capital gains shall be computed at the rate as applicable in sub-section (1) (i) .
(3) The provisions of sub-section (1) (b) shall not apply to a transaction undertaken on a recognised stock exchange located in any International Financial Services Centre and where the consideration for such transaction is paid or payable in foreign currency.
(4) Where the gross total income of an assessee includes any short-term capital gains referred to in sub-section (1) , the deduction under Chapter VIII shall be allowed from the gross total income as reduced by such capital gains.

(5) In this section,“equity oriented fund” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 198.

196.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 111A are as under:

Tax on short-term capital gains in certain cases.
111A. (1) Where the total income of an assessee includes any income chargeable under the head "Capital gains", arising from the transfer of a short-term capital asset, being an equity share in a company or a unit of an equity oriented fund or a unit of a business trust and—
(a) the transaction of sale of such equity share or unit is entered into on or after the date on which Chapter VII of the Finance (No. 2) Act, 2004 comes into force; and
(b) such transaction is chargeable to securities transaction tax under that Chapter, 16[the tax payable by the assessee on the total income shall be the aggregate of—
(i) the amount of income-tax calculated on such short-term capital gains—
(a) at the rate of fifteen per cent for any transfer which takes place before the 23rd day of July, 2024; and
(b) at the rate of twenty per cent for any transfer which takes place on or after the 23rd day of July, 2024;
(ii) the amount of income-tax payable on the balance amount of the total income as if such balance amount were the total income of the assessee:]
Provided that in the case of an individual or a Hindu undivided family, being a resident, where the total income as reduced by such short-term capital gains is below the maximum amount which is not chargeable to income-tax, then, such short-term capital gains shall be reduced by the amount by which the total income as so reduced falls short of the maximum amount which is not chargeable to income-tax and the tax on the balance of such short-term capital gains shall be computed at the 17[rate as applicable in clause (i)]:

Provided further that nothing contained in clause (b) shall apply to a transaction undertaken on a recognised stock exchange located in any International Financial Services Centre and where the consideration for such transaction is paid or payable in foreign currency.

(2) Where the gross total income of an assessee includes any short-term capital gains referred to in sub-section (1) , the deduction under Chapter VI-A shall be allowed from the gross total income as reduced by such capital gains.

(3) 18[]

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "equity oriented fund" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (a) of the Explanation to section 112A;

(b) "International Financial Services Centre" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (q) of section 2 of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005 (28 of 2005) ;

(c) "recognised stock exchange" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (ii) of the Explanation 1 to sub-section (5) of section 43.

196.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> “Clause 196 of the Bill provides for taxation of short-term capital gains in case of a transfer of short-term capital asset, being an equity share in a company or a unit of an equity-oriented fund or a unit of a business trust subject to certain conditions. The clause corresponds to Section 111A of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.”

196.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

After careful consideration of the proposed provision under Clause 196 and the justifications provided by the Ministry of Finance, the Committee concur with the retention and textual simplification of Section 111A of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, as proposed under Clause 196 of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025. The Committee acknowledge that the proposed amendment preserves the taxation of short-term capital gains in case of a transfer of short-term capital asset, being an equity share in a company or a unit of an equity-oriented fund or a unit of a business trust subject to certain conditions. Accordingly, the Committee accept the provisions under clause 196 as proposed.

Clause-197. Tax on long-term capital gains

197.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Where the total income of an assessee includes any income arising from the transfer of a long-term capital asset which is chargeable under the head “Capital gains”, the tax payable by the assessee on the total income, subject to sub-sections (2) and (3) , shall be the aggregate of—

(a) income-tax payable on the total income as reduced by such long-term capital gains, had the total income, as so reduced, been his total income; and

(b) income-tax calculated on such long-term capital gains at the rate of 12.5%.

(2) In the case of an individual or a Hindu undivided family, being a resident, where the total income as reduced by long-term capital gains computed under sub-section (1) is below the maximum amount which is not chargeable to income-tax, then,—

(a) such long-term capital gains shall be reduced by the amount by which the total income as so reduced falls short of the maximum amount which is not chargeable to income-tax; and

(b) the tax on the balance of such long-term capital gains shall be computed at the rate as referred in sub-section (1) .

(3) In the case of an individual or a Hindu undivided family, being a resident, in the case of transfer of a long-term capital asset, being land or building, or both, which is acquired before the 23rd July, 2024, the excess income-tax computed as per the following formula shall be ignored:—

E = A – B

where—

E = excess income-tax to be ignored;

A = income-tax computed under clause (b) of sub-section (1) ;

B = income-tax computed under clause (b) of sub-section (1) taking the rate as 20% and the capital gains is computed by taking the cost of acquisition as indexed cost of acquisition and the cost of improvement as indexed cost of improvement.

(4) Where the gross total income of an assessee includes any income arising from the transfer of a long-term capital asset, the gross total income shall be reduced by such income and the deduction under Chapter VIII shall be allowed as if the gross total income as so reduced were the gross total income of the assessee.

(5) In this section,—

(a) “securities” shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 2(h) of the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956;

(b) “listed securities” means the securities which are listed on any recognised stock exchange in India;

(c) “unlisted securities” means securities other than listed securities;

(d) “indexed cost of acquisition” and “indexed cost of improvement” shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in section 72.

197.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 112are as under:

Tax on long-term capital gains.

112. (1) Where the total income of an assessee includes any income, arising from the transfer of a long-term capital asset, which is chargeable under the head "Capital gains", the tax payable by the assessee on the total income shall be the aggregate of,—

19[(a) in the case of an individual or a Hindu undivided family, being a resident,—

(i) the amount of income-tax payable on the total income as reduced by the amount of such long-term capital gains, had the total income as so reduced been his total income; and

(ii) the amount of income-tax calculated on such long-term capital gains,—

(A) at the rate of twenty per cent for any transfer which takes place before the 23rd day of July, 2024; and

(B) at the rate of twelve and one-half per cent for any transfer which takes place on or after the 23rd day of July, 2024:

Provided that where the total income as reduced by such long-term capital gains is below the maximum amount which is not chargeable to income-tax, then, such long-term capital gains shall be reduced by the amount by which the total income as so reduced falls short of the maximum amount which is not chargeable to income-tax and the tax on the balance of such long-term capital gains shall be computed at the rate as applicable in sub-clause (ii) :

Provided further that in the case of transfer of a long-term capital asset, being land or building or both, which is acquired before the 23rd day of July, 2024, where the income-tax computed under item (B) exceeds the income-tax computed in accordance with the provisions of this Act, as they stood immediately before their amendment by the Finance (No. 2) Act, 2024, such excess shall be ignored;

(b) in the case of a domestic company,—

(i) the amount of income-tax payable on the total income as reduced by the amount of such long-term capital gains, had the total income as so reduced been its total income; and

(ii) the amount of income-tax calculated on such long-term capital gains,—

(A) at the rate of twenty per cent for any transfer which takes place before the 23rd day of July, 2024; and

(B) at the rate of twelve and one-half per cent for any transfer which takes place on or after the 23rd day of July, 2024;

(c) in the case of a non-resident (not being a company) or a foreign company,—

(i) the amount of income-tax payable on the total income as reduced by the amount of such long-term capital gains, had the total income as so reduced been its total income; and

(ii) the amount of income-tax calculated on long-term capital gains [except where such gain arises from transfer of capital asset referred to in sub-clause (iii)],—

(A) at the rate of twenty per cent for any transfer which takes place before the 23rd day of July, 2024; and

(B) at the rate of twelve and one-half per cent for any transfer which takes place on or after the 23rd day of July, 2024; and

(iii) the amount of income-tax on long-term capital gains arising from the transfer of a capital asset, being unlisted securities or shares of a company not being a company in which the public are substantially interested, as computed without giving effect to the first and second provisos to section 48, calculated on such long-term capital gains,—

(A) at the rate of ten per cent for any transfer which takes place before the 23rd day of July, 2024; and

(B) at the rate of twelve and one-half per cent for any transfer which takes place on or after the 23rd day of July, 2024;

(d) in any other case of a resident,—

(i) the amount of income-tax payable on the total income as reduced by the amount of long-term capital gains, had the total income as so reduced been its total income; and

(ii) the amount of income-tax calculated on such long-term capital gains,—

(A) at the rate of twenty per cent for any transfer which takes place before the 23rd day of July, 2024; and

(B) at the rate of twelve and one-half per cent for any transfer which takes place on or after the 23rd day of July, 2024:

Provided that where the tax payable in respect of any income arising from the transfer of a long-term capital asset which takes place before the 23rd day of July, 2024, being listed securities (other than a unit) or zero coupon bond, exceeds ten per cent of the amount of capital gains before giving effect to the provisions of the second proviso to section 48, then, such excess shall be ignored for the purpose of computing the tax payable by the assessee :]

Provided further that where the tax payable in respect of any income arising from the transfer of a long-term capital asset, being a unit of a Mutual Fund specified under clause (23D) of section 10, during the period beginning on the 1st day of April, 2014 and ending on the 10th day of July, 2014, exceeds ten per cent of the amount of capital gains, before giving effect to the provisions of the second proviso to section 48, then, such excess shall be ignored for the purpose of computing the tax payable by the assessee.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section,—

(a) the expression "securities" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (h) of section 2 of the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956 (32 of 1956) ;
(aa) "listed securities" means the securities which are listed on any recognised stock exchange in India;
(ab) "unlisted securities" means securities other than listed securities.
(b) []
(2) Where the gross total income of an assessee includes any income arising from the transfer of a long-term capital asset, the gross total income shall be reduced by the amount of such income and the deduction under Chapter VI-A shall be allowed as if the gross total income as so reduced were the gross total income of the assessee.
(3) 20[]

197.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> "Clause 197 of the Bill provides for taxation of long-term capital gains where the capital gains arise from the transfer of a long-term capital asset (other than an equity share in a company or a unit of an equity-oriented fund or a unit of a business trust) . The clause corresponds to Section 112 of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. [Clause 197 of the Bill may be amended to incorporate provision prohibiting foreign exchange fluctuation benefit for non-residents on sale of unlisted securities and shares of CHC to ensure uniformity with earlier provision in the Act]."

197.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

A gist of submissions/objections by various stakeholders is given as under:

i. Non-residents other than FIIs/specified funds may avail foreign exchange fluctuation benefit while computing long-term capital gains, contrary to the intent of rationalisation by Finance (No.2) Act 2024.Amend Section 197 of ITB 2025 to deny foreign exchange fluctuation benefit while computing LTCG from transfer of unlisted securities and shares of CHC, aligning it with ITA 1961.

ii. LTCG Taken Place Before 23 July 2024 Does not distinguish between long-term capital gains arising on transfers before 23 July 2024 and after 23 July 2024, potentially creating uncertainty for taxpayers. It is recommended that S. 197 of the new Bill be modified to incorporate the mechanism of taxing transfers that have taken place before 23 July 2024.

iii. MSMEs may be allowed to sell their property- residential, commercial or industrial, to set-up an industry without attracting Capital Gain Tax. The provision of Levying Capital Gain Tax when an enterprise relocates to a larger area by selling property is financial disincentive for organic growth and scale up of enterprises from small to medium or to large. Exempting capital gains tax on property sales for reinvestment in industrial growth can encourage MSMEs to scale up without financial hurdles.

iv. New sub-section (4) may be inserted as follows: (4) Where a longterm capital loss is computed by taking the cost of acquisition as indexed cost of acquisition and the cost of improvement as indexed cost of improvement, the provisions of Chapter VII shall apply in respect of such loss. Alternatively, the option to the assessee being an individual or a HUF resident in India may be allowed while computing longterm capital gain applying the provisions of section 72. Though resident individuals and HUFs can avail the benefit of paying lower taxes/no taxes on account of applying the erstwhile indexation provisions, however, if the resultant figure is a loss, the same cannot be set-off or carried forward, since the erstwhile provisions can be applied only for computing tax liability and not for computation of capital gains to be included in total income.

197.5 Examination by the Committee:

The corresponding views/responses of the Ministry of Finance on the suggestions submitted by stakeholders are as under:

i. "Clause 197 of the Bill may be amended to incorporate provision prohibiting foreign exchange fluctuation benefit for non-residents on sale of unlisted securities and shares of CHC and ensure uniformity with earlier provision under Section 112(1) (c) (iii).

ii. The Income-Tax Bill 2025, if accepted shall be implemented from April 1, 2026, i.e from Tax Year 2026-27. Hence, the separate reference to transfers before and after 23rd July, 2024 is not required. This is covered by the provisions of Repeal and Savings in Clause 536(2) (b) of the Income-Tax Bill. The suggestion is already taken care of

iii. The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025.

iv. It is suggested that in cases where the calculation of capital gains (with indexation) on property by resident individuals/HUF results in a loss be also allowed to be carried forward. Substantive provisions applicable are those which are after 23rd July, 2024. Substantive provisions prior to 23rd July, 2024 can not be revived. The default capital gains regime prescribes a lower rate of taxation with no indexation. The benefit of indexation has been provided to individual and HUF only in some instances, so that the taxpayer will not suffer higher taxes because of this change, if any. This benefit is not provided to claim loss or carry it forward. The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025.

197.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation on the proposal set out in Clause 197 — including the views and suggestions of stakeholders and submissions from the Ministry of Finance — observes that this clause largely consolidates and rationalises the existing provisions previously contained in Section 112 of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, into a single, simplified framework.

However, the Committee note a specific concern regarding the availability of the foreign exchange fluctuation benefit to non-residents (other than FIIs and specified funds) when computing long-term capital gains (LTCG) on the transfer of unlisted securities and shares of closely held companies (CHCs). The Committee believe this practice contradicts the policy intent of rationalisation introduced by the Finance (No. 2) Act, 2024. To ensure consistency with the earlier provision under Section 112(1)(c)(iii) of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, and to maintain equity among different classes of taxpayers, the Committee recommend amending Clause 197 to explicitly deny the foreign exchange fluctuation benefit to such non-residents in relation to these transfers.

Additionally, some stakeholders expressed concern that Clause 197 does not explicitly distinguish between LTCG arising from transfers made before and after 23 July 2024, potentially causing interpretational uncertainty. However, the Committee note— as clarified by the Ministry of Finance — that this issue is already addressed within the legislative framework. Since the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 is proposed to come into effect from April 1, 2026 (i.e., Assessment Year 2026–27), a separate reference to transfers occurring prior to 23 July 2024 is unnecessary. The Repeal and Savings clause, specifically Clause 536(2)(b), adequately governs the treatment of transactions undertaken under the existing law. Accordingly, the Committee consider this concern as already addressed through transitional provisions in the Bill.

Accordingly, the Committee recommend retaining Clause 197 in its present form, subject to the above modification, as it effectively streamlines and consolidates the provisions governing the taxation of long-term capital gains.

Clause- 198. Tax on long-term capital gains in certain cases

198.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Irrespective of anything contained in section 197,the tax payable by an assessee on his total income shall be determined as per the provisions of sub-section (2) , if—

(a) the total income includes any income chargeable under the head “Capital gains”;

(b) the capital gains arise from the transfer of a long-term capital asset being an equity share in a company or a unit of an equity oriented fund or a unit of a business trust;

(c) securities transaction tax under Chapter VII of the Finance (No. 2) Act, 2004 has—

(i) in a case where the long-term capital asset is in the nature of an equity share in a company, been paid on acquisition and transfer of such capital asset; or

(ii) in a case where the long-term capital asset is in the nature of a unit of an equity oriented fund or a unit of a business trust, been paid on transfer of such capital asset.

(2) The tax payable by the assessee on the total income referred to in sub-section (1) shall be the aggregate of—

(a) income-tax calculated on such long-term capital gains exceeding one lakh twenty five thousand rupees on long-term capital gains at the rate of 12.5%; and

(b) income-tax payable on the total income as reduced by long-term capital gains referred to in sub-section (1) as if the total income so reduced were the total income of the assessee.

(3) In the case of an individual or a Hindu undivided family, being a resident, where the total income as reduced by long-term capital gains computed under sub-section (1) is below the maximum amount which is not chargeable to income-tax, then,—

(a) such long-term capital gains shall be reduced by the amount by which the total income as so reduced falls short of the maximum amount which is not chargeable to income-tax; and

(b) the tax on the balance of such long-term capital gains shall be computed at the rate as referred to in sub-section (2) .

(4) The condition specified in sub-section (1) (c) shall not apply to a transfer undertaken on a recognised stock exchange located in any International Financial Services Centre and where the consideration for such transfer is received or receivable in foreign currency.

(5) The Central Government may, by notification, specify the nature of acquisition in respect of which the provisions of sub-section (1) (c) (i) shall not apply.

(6) Where the gross total income of an assessee includes any long-term capital gains referred to in sub-section (1) , the deduction under Chapter VIII shall be allowed from the gross total income as reduced by such capital gains.

(7) Where the total income of an assessee includes any long-term capital gains referred to in sub-section (1) , the rebate under section 156shall be allowed from the income-tax on the total income as reduced by tax payable on such capital gains.

(8) In this section, “equity oriented fund” means a fund set up under a scheme of a mutual fund specified in Schedule VII (Table: Sl. No. 20 or 21) or under a scheme of an insurance company comprising unit linked insurance policies to which exemption in Schedule II (Table: Sl. No. 2) does not apply and—

(i) in a case where the fund invests in the units of another fund which is traded on a recognised stock exchange,—

(A) a minimum of 90% of the total proceeds of such fund is invested in the units of such other fund; and

(B) such other fund also invests a minimum of 90% of its total proceeds in the equity shares of domestic companies listed on a recognised stock exchange; and

(ii) in any other case, a minimum of 65% of the total proceeds of such fund is invested in the equity shares of domestic companies listed on a recognised stock exchange, and, for the purposes of this clause,—

(I) the percentage of equity shareholding or unit held in respect of the fund, shall be computed with reference to the annual average of the monthly averages of the opening and closing figures;

(II) in case of a scheme of an insurance company comprising unit linked insurance policies to which exemption in Schedule II (Table: Sl. No.2) does not apply, the minimum requirement of 90% or 65%, as the case may be, is required to be satisfied throughout the term of such insurance policy.

198.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 112Aare as under:

Tax on long-term capital gains in certain cases.

112A. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 112, the tax payable by an assessee on his total income shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (2) , if—

(i) the total income includes any income chargeable under the head "Capital gains";

(ii) the capital gains arise from the transfer of a long-term capital asset being an equity share in a company or a unit of an equity oriented fund or a unit of a business trust;

(iii) securities transaction tax under Chapter VII of the Finance (No. 2) Act, 2004 (23 of 2004) has,—

(a) in a case where the long-term capital asset is in the nature of an equity share in a company, been paid on acquisition and transfer of such capital asset; or

(b) in a case where the long-term capital asset is in the nature of a unit of an equity oriented fund or a unit of a business trust, been paid on transfer of such capital asset.

(2) The tax payable by the assessee on the total income referred to in sub-section (1) shall be the aggregate of—

21[(i) the amount of income-tax calculated on such long-term capital gains exceeding one lakh twenty-five thousand rupees—

(a) on long-term capital gains at the rate of ten per cent for any transfer which takes place before the 23rd day of July, 2024; and

(b) on long-term capital gains, at the rate of twelve and one-half per cent for any transfer which takes place on or after the 23rd day of July, 2024:

Provided that the limit of one lakh twenty-five thousand rupees shall apply on aggregate of the long-term capital gains under sub-clauses (a) and (b) ;]

(ii) the amount of income-tax payable on the total income as reduced by the amount of long-term capital gains referred to in sub-section (1) as if the total income so reduced were the total income of the assessee:

Provided that in the case of an individual or a Hindu undivided family, being a resident, where the total income as reduced by such long-term capital gains is below the maximum amount which is not chargeable to income-tax, then, the long-term capital gains, for the purposes of clause (i) , shall be reduced by the amount by which the total income as so reduced falls short of the maximum amount which is not chargeable to income-tax.

(3) The condition specified in clause (iii) of sub-section (1) shall not apply to a transfer undertaken on a recognised stock exchange located in any International Financial Services Centre and where the consideration for such transfer is received or receivable in foreign currency.

(4) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify the nature of acquisition in respect of which the provisions of sub-clause (a) of clause (iii) of sub-section (1) shall not apply.

(5) Where the gross total income of an assessee includes any long-term capital gains referred to in sub-section (1) , the deduction under Chapter VI-A shall be allowed from the gross total income as reduced by such capital gains.

(6) Where the total income of an assessee includes any long-term capital gains referred to in sub-section (1) , the rebate under section 87A shall be allowed from the income-tax on the total income as reduced by tax payable on such capital gains.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "equity oriented fund" means a fund set up under a scheme of a mutual fund specified under clause (23D) of section 10 or under a scheme of an insurance company comprising unit linked insurance policies to which exemption under clause (10D) of the said section does not apply 22-23[on account of the applicability of the fourth and fifth provisos thereof] and,—

(i) in a case where the fund invests in the units of another fund which is traded on a recognised stock exchange,—

(A) a minimum of ninety per cent of the total proceeds of such fund is invested in the units of such other fund; and

(B) such other fund also invests a minimum of ninety per cent of its total proceeds in the equity shares of domestic companies listed on a recognised stock exchange; and

(ii) in any other case, a minimum of sixty-five per cent of the total proceeds of such fund is invested in the equity shares of domestic companies listed on a recognised stock exchange:

Provided that the percentage of equity shareholding or unit held in respect of the fund, as the case may be, shall be computed with reference to the annual average of the monthly averages of the opening and closing figures:

Provided further that in case of a scheme of an insurance company comprising unit linked insurance policies to which exemption under clause (10D) of section 10 does not apply 22-23[on account of the applicability of the fourth and fifth provisos thereof], the minimum requirement of ninety per cent or sixty-five per cent, as the case may be, is required to be satisfied throughout the term of such insurance policy;

(b) "International Financial Services Centre" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (q) of section 2 of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005 (28 of 2005);

(c) "recognised stock exchange" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (ii) of Explanation 1 to clause (5) of section 43.

198.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> Clause 198 of the Bill provides for taxation of long-term capital gains where the capital gains arise from the transfer of a long-term capital asset being an equity share in a company or a unit of an equity-oriented fund or a unit of a business trust subject to certain conditions. The clause corresponds to Section 112A of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause

198.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

A gist of submissions/objections by various stakeholders/ Experts are given as under:

i. In proposed section 198(3) (a) , “as so reduced” be deleted and it should read as under: Page No 16 of 20 “such long-term capital gains shall be reduced by the amount by which the total income falls short of the maximum amount which is not chargeable to income-tax; and”

ii. In proposed section 198 (2) (a) , ‘on long-term capital gains’ be deleted and be read as under: “(a) income-tax calculated on such long-term capital gains exceeding one lakh twenty five thousand rupees at the rate of 12.5%; and

198.5 Examination by the Committee:

The Ministry, in its written replies, submitted the following responses corresponding to the above-mentioned suggestions:

i. The word “on long term capital gains” is repeating and may be deleted.

ii. It is important to include in the clause “as so reduced” so that there is no confusion and the intent of the section is communicated clearly. This suggestion is not feasible.

198.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after a thorough examination of the proposal under Clause 198—including consideration of stakeholder inputs and the rationale provided by the Ministry of Finance—find the proposed provisions to be broadly acceptable. However, the Committee note that the phrase "on long-term capital gains" in Clause 198(2)(a) is repeated unnecessarily, which may cause ambiguity in interpretation.To enhance clarity and ensure precision without altering the policy intent, the Committee recommend the following modification:

Modification to Clause 198:

In sub-section (2)(a), the expression "on long-term capital gains" shall be deleted to streamline the language and avoid potential confusion.

C.—New tax regime

Clause-199- Tax on income of certain manufacturing domestic companies

199.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Irrespective of anything contained in this Act, but subject to the provisions of Parts A, B and this Part other than sections200and 201, the income-tax payable in respect of the total income of a person, being a domestic company, for any tax year, shall, at the option of such person, be computed at the rate of 25% subject to the following conditions:—

(a) the company has been set-up and registered on or after the 1st March, 2016;

(b) the company is not engaged in any business other than the business of manufacture or production of any article or thing and research in relation to, or distribution of, such article or thing manufactured or produced by it; and

(c) the total income of the company has been computed,—

(i) without any deduction under—

(A) sections45(2) (c) and 47(1) (b) ;

(B) Chapter VIII-C, other than the provisions of section 146; or

(C) sections specified in section 205(1) (a) to (g) ;

(ii) without set off of any loss carried forward from any earlier tax year, if such loss is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in sub-clause (i) .

(2) The loss referred to in sub-section (1) (c) (ii) shall be deemed to have been given full effect to and no further deduction for such loss shall be allowed for any subsequent year.

(3) The provisions of this section shall not apply unless an option is exercised by the person in the manneras prescribed on or before the due date specified under section263(1) for furnishing the first of the returns of income which such person is required to furnish and such option once exercised, shall apply to subsequent tax years.

(4) Once the option under sub-section (3) has been exercised for any tax year, it cannot be subsequently withdrawn for the same or any other tax year, except where the person exercises option under section section200.

199.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115 BA are as under:

Tax on income of certain manufacturing domestic companies.

115BA. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act but subject to the other provisions of this Chapter, other than those mentioned under section 115BAA and section 115BAB, the income-tax payable in respect of the total income of a person, being a domestic company, for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or after the 1st day of April, 2017, shall, at the option of such person, be computed at the rate of twenty-five per cent, if the conditions contained in sub-section (2) are satisfied.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) , the following conditions shall apply, namely:—

(a) the company has been set-up and registered on or after the 1st day of March, 2016;

(b) the company is not engaged in any business other than the business of manufacture or production of any article or thing and research in relation to, or distribution of, such article or thing manufactured or produced by it; and

(c) the total income of the company has been computed,—

(i) without any deduction under the provisions of section 10AA or clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of section 32 or section 32AC or section 32AD or section 33AB or section 33ABA or sub-clause (ii) or sub-clause (iia) or sub-clause (iii) of sub-section (1) or sub-section (2AA) or sub-section (2AB) of section 35 or section

35AC or section 35AD or section 35CCC or section 35CCD or under any provisions of Chapter VI-A under the heading "C.—Deductions in respect of certain incomes" other than the provisions of section 80JJAA;

(ii) without set off of any loss carried forward from any earlier assessment year if such loss is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in sub-clause (i) ; and

(iii) depreciation under section 32, other than clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of the said section, is determined in the manner as may be prescribed.

(3) The loss referred to in sub-clause (ii) of clause (c) of sub-section (2) shall be deemed to have been already given full effect to and no further deduction for such loss shall be allowed for any subsequent year.

(4) Nothing contained in this section shall apply unless the option is exercised by the person in the prescribed manner on or before the due date specified under sub-section (1) of section 139 for furnishing the first of the returns of income which the person is required to furnish under the provisions of this Act:

Provided that once the option has been exercised for any previous year, it cannot be subsequently withdrawn for the same or any other previous year:

Provided further that where the person exercises option under section 115BAA, the option under this section may be withdrawn.

199.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> Clause 199 of the Bill provides for beneficial rate of tax on manufacturing companies subject to satisfaction of conditions. The clause corresponds to section 115BA of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

199.4 Examination by the Committee:

199.4.1 In response to the drafting error suggesting “domestic manufacturing companies” instead of “manufacturing domestic companies” in Clauses 199 and 201, the Ministry clarified as follows:—

> The term "domestic company" has been defined in the Act/Bill and the provisions apply to domestic company engaged in specified manufacturing activities. So, the correct phrase is 'manufacturing domestic company'. The suggestion is not feasible.

199.4.2 Regarding the identified drafting error in Section 199(4), where the word "section" is repeated in line 30, the Ministry acknowledged it as a drafting mistake and stated it will be corrected.

199.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 199 under examination, including the justification given by the Ministry of Finance, find the proposed provisions to be broadly acceptable. The clause provides for a beneficial tax rate of 25% for certain domestic manufacturing companies set up and registered on or after 1st March 2016, subject to conditions such as having their business limited to manufacture or production and forgoing certain deductions and carry forward of losses. The Committee identified a drafting error in Clause 199(4), where the word "section" is unnecessarily repeated in line 30. The Committee therefore recommend that the error be rectified and the provisions under Clause 199 be accepted, subject to this correction.

.

Clause- 200-Tax on income of certain domestic companies

200.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Irrespective of anything contained in this Act but subject to the provisions of Parts A, B and this Part, other than sections199 and 201, the income-tax payable for a tax year shall be at the rate of 22%, at the option of a person being a domestic company, in respect of the total income of such person computed in the following manner:—

(a) without any deduction under—

(i) sections 45(2) (c) and 47(1) (b) ; or

(ii) Chapter VIII other than the provisions of section 146; or

(iii) sections specified in section 205(1) (a) to (g) ;

(b) without set off of any loss carried forward or depreciation from any earlier tax year, if such loss or depreciation is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in clause (a) ;

(c) without set off of any loss or allowance for unabsorbed depreciation deemed so under section 116(1) ,if such loss or depreciation is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in clause (a) .

(2) Where the person fails to satisfy the requirements contained in sub-section (1) in any tax year, the option shall become invalid in respect of the said tax year and subsequent years and other provisions of the Act shall apply, as if the option had not been exercised for such tax year and for subsequent years.

(3) The loss and depreciation referred to in sub-section (1) (b) and (c) shall be deemed to have been given full effect to and no further deduction for such loss or depreciation shall be allowed for any subsequent year.

(4) In case of a person, having a Unit in the International Financial Services Centre, which has exercised option under sub-section (5) , the requirements contained in sub-section (1) shall be modified to the extent that the deduction under the said section shall be available to such Unit subject to fulfilment of the conditions contained in that section.

(5) The provisions of this section shall not apply unless the option is exercised by the person in the such manner as prescribed on or before the due date specified under section 263(1) for furnishing the return of income and such option once exercised, shall apply to subsequent tax years.

(6) Once the option under this section has been exercised for any tax year, it shall not be subsequently withdrawn for the same or any other tax year.

(7) In case of a person, being a domestic company, where the option exercised by it under section 201, has been rendered invalid due to violation of the conditions contained in section 205(2) (b) or (c) or (d) , such person may exercise the option under this section.

200.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115BAAare as under:

Tax on income of certain domestic companies.

115BAA. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act but subject to the provisions of this Chapter, other than those mentioned under section 115BA and section 115BAB, the income-tax payable in respect of the total income of a person, being a domestic company, for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or after the 1st day of April, 2020, shall, at the option of such person, be computed at the rate of twenty-two per cent, if the conditions contained in sub-section (2) are satisfied:

Provided that where the person fails to satisfy the conditions contained in sub-section (2) in any previous year, the option shall become invalid in respect of the assessment year relevant to that previous year and subsequent assessment years and other provisions of the Act shall apply, as if the option had not been exercised for the assessment year relevant to that previous year and subsequent assessment years.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) , the total income of the company shall be computed,—

(i) without any deduction under the provisions of section 10AA or clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of section 32 or section 32AD or section 33AB or section 33ABA or sub-clause (ii) or sub-clause (iia) or sub-clause (iii) of sub-section (1) or sub-section (2AA) or sub-section (2AB) of section 35 or section 35AD or section 35CCC or section 35CCD or under any provisions of Chapter VI-A other than the provisions of section 80JJAA or section 80M;

(ii) without set off of any loss carried forward or depreciation from any earlier assessment year, if such loss or depreciation is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in clause (i) ;

(iii) without set off of any loss or allowance for unabsorbed depreciation deemed so under section 72A, if such loss or depreciation is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in clause (i) ; and

(iv) by claiming the depreciation, if any, under any provision of section 32, except clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of the said section, determined in such manner as may be prescribed.

(3) The loss and depreciation referred to in clause (ii) and clause (iii) of sub-section (2) shall be deemed to have been given full effect to and no further deduction for such loss or depreciation shall be allowed for any subsequent year:

Provided that where there is a depreciation allowance in respect of a block of asset which has not been given full effect to prior to the assessment year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2020, corresponding adjustment shall be made to the written down value of such block of assets as on the 1st day of April, 2019 in the prescribed manner, if the option under sub-section (5) is exercised for a previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2020.

(4) In case of a person, having a Unit in the International Financial Services Centre, as referred to in sub-section (1A) of section 80LA, which has exercised option under sub-section (5) , the conditions contained in sub-section (2) shall be modified to the extent that the deduction under section 80LA shall be available to such Unit subject to fulfilment of the conditions contained in the said section.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section, the term "Unit" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (zc) of section 2 of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005 (28 of 2005) .

(5) Nothing contained in this section shall apply unless the option is exercised by the person in the prescribed manner on or before the due date specified under sub-section (1) of section 139 for furnishing the returns of income for any previous year relevant to the assessment year commencing on or after the 1st day of April, 2020 and such option once exercised shall apply to subsequent assessment years:

Provided that in case of a person, where the option exercised by it under section 115BAB has been rendered invalid due to violation of conditions contained in sub-clause (ii) or sub-clause (iii) of clause (a) , or clause (b) of sub-section (2) of said section, such person may exercise option under this section:

Provided further that once the option has been exercised for any previous year, it cannot be subsequently withdrawn for the same or any other previous year.

200.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

Clause 200 of the Bill provides for the (optional) concessional tax rate applicable to companies other than those covered under clauses 199 and 201, if they do not claim specific deductions. The said clause further provides for the manner of opting, method of computing the income and also implications for Unit in the International Financial Services Centre. The clause corresponds to section 115BAA of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

200.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

A gist of submissions/ objections by various stakeholders are given as under:

i. Clause 200(1) (a) - Presently, under the existing Act, domestic companies opting for concessional tax regime (CTR) of either 15% (new manufacturing companies) under section 115BAB (or) 22% under section 115BAA are allowed to claim deduction in respect of employment cost of new employees and inter corporate dividend subject to fulfilment of conditions stipulated in the respective sections. Under the New Bill, while benefit of deduction of employment cost of new employees and inter corporate dividend is proposed to be at 15% concessional rate under Clause 201 of the New Bill, the deduction with reference to inter-corporate dividends has not been provided for companies opting for 22% CTR under Clause 200 of the New Bill. This seems to be an inadvertent error and deserves to be rectified. Extend the deduction on inter-corporate dividend deduction under Clause 148 of the New Bill to domestic companies opting for the concessional tax regime under Clause 200 of the New Bill.Add reference of clause 148 (corresponding to section 80M of the IT Act) under clause 200 of ITB, 2025 .

ii. Currently, concessional tax rate of 15% is available to entities which have commenced business of generation of electricity before the 31 March 2024 To boost investment and growth in the infrastructure power sector, the aforesaid sunset period should be further extended by additional period to incentivise investments To extend sunset period for commencing business under section 115BAB (corresponding section 201 of the Bill) to 31 March 2030.

200.5 Examination by the Committee:

On the question of extending the deduction on inter-corporate dividend deduction under Clause 148 of the New Bill to domestic companies opting for the concessional tax regime under Clause 200 of the New Bill, the ministry in its written reply stated as under:

> This is a drafting Correction. The reference to Clause 148 (Section 80M in the Act) is to be included in Clause 200(1) (a) (ii) . The suggestion is acceptable.

200.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 200 under examination, including the views/suggestions of stakeholders and the justification given by the Ministry of Finance, find the proposed provisions to be broadly acceptable. The clause provides for a beneficial rate of 22% for certain domestic companies subject to conditions, and prescribes the manner of computing total income and the implications for companies having Units in the International Financial Services Centre.

The Committee, however, note that while the existing provisions under Section 115BAA allowed a deduction in respect of inter-corporate dividends, the corresponding clause in the Bill inadvertently omits this benefit. The Ministry of Finance has explained that this is a drafting oversight and has accepted the suggestion to add a reference to clause 148 (section 80M) under Clause 200(1) (a) (ii). The Committee consider this change appropriate, as it will align the new provisions with the policy intent of the existing Section 115BAA.

Therefore, the Committee accept the provisions under Clause 200 subject to the following modification:

To insert a reference to Clause 148 (section 80M) under Clause 200(1) (a) (ii) .

This modification will enable domestic companies opting for the 22% concessional rate to deduct income by way of certain inter-corporate dividends, thereby removing an unintended inconsistency and aligning the new provisions with the policy of the existing Act.

201. Tax on income of new manufacturing domestic companies

201.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Irrespective of anything contained in this Act, but subject to the provisions of Parts A, B and this Part other than sections199 and 200, the income-tax payable in respect of the total income of an assessee, being a domestic company, specified in column B of the Table below, shall, at the option of such assessee, be computed at the rates specified in columnC, if the conditions contained in column D thereof are fulfilled.

Sl. No.	Assessee	Total income and rate of tax	Conditions
A	B	C	D
1.	A domestic company engaged in business of manufacture or production of any article or thing.	(a) 15% on the total income other than the income mentioned in clauses (b) , (c) and (d) ; (b) 22% (without any deduction or allowance in respect of any expenditure or allowance) on such income,— (i) which has neither been derived from nor is incidental to	Such domestic company— (a) exercises the option in the manner provided in sub-section (2) ; (b) has been set-up and registered on or after the 1st October, 2019; (c) has commenced manufacturing or production of an article or thing on orbeforethe 31st March, 2024;

		manufacturing or production of an article or thing; and

A	B	C	D
		(ii) in respect of which no specific rate of tax has been provided separately under this Part; (c) 22% on short-term capital gains derived from transfer of a capital asset on which no depreciation is allowable under this Act; (d) 30% on the income deemed so under section 205(4) .	(d) the total incomeof which is computed as per the provisions ofsub-section (3) ; and (e) fulfils all the conditions provided in sub-section (5) of this section and section 205(2) .

(2) The option under this section shall be exercised by the assessee in the mannerprescribedsubject to the following conditions:—

(a) it shall be exercised on or before the due date specified under section 263(1) for furnishing first of the returns of income for any tax year;

(b) such option, once exercised, shall apply to subsequent tax years;

(c) once the option has been exercised for any tax year, it shall not be subsequently withdrawn for the same or any other tax year; and

(d) where the assessee fails to fulfil the conditions contained in sub-section (1) (Table: Sl. No. 1.D) in any tax year,—

(i) the option shall become invalid in respect of such tax year and subsequent tax years; and

(ii) the other provisions of this Act shall apply, as if the option had not been exercised for that tax year and subsequent tax years.

(3) For the purposes of sub-section (1) , the total income of the assessee shall be computed,—

(a) without any deduction under—

(i) sections45(2) (c) and 47(1) (b) ;

(ii) Chapter VIII other than sections146 and 148; or

(iii) section 205(1) (a) to (g) ;

(b) without set off of any loss or allowance for unabsorbed depreciation deemed sounder section 116(1) , if such loss or depreciation is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in clause (a) .

(4) While computing the income of the assessee, the loss and depreciation, or both, as specified in sub-section (3) (b) shall be deemed to have been given full effect to and no further deduction for such loss or depreciation, or both, shall be allowed for any subsequent year.

(5) In case of an amalgamation, option under this section shall remain valid in case of the amalgamated company only and if the conditions contained in sub-section (1) (Table: Sl. No. 1.D) are continued to be fulfilled by such company.

201.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115BABare as under:

Tax on income of new manufacturing domestic companies.

115BAB. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act but subject to the provisions of this Chapter, other than those mentioned under section 115BA and section 115BAA, the income-tax payable in respect of the total income of a person, being a domestic company, for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or after the 1st day of April, 2020, shall, at the option of such person, be computed at the rate of fifteen per cent, if the conditions contained in sub-section (2) are satisfied:

Provided that where the total income of the person, includes any income, which has neither been derived from nor is incidental to manufacturing or production of an article or thing and in respect of which no specific rate of tax has been provided separately under this Chapter, such income shall be taxed at the rate of twenty-two per cent and no deduction or allowance in respect of any expenditure or allowance shall be allowed in computing such income:

Provided further that the income-tax payable in respect of the income of the person deemed so under second proviso to sub-section (6) shall be computed at the rate of thirty per cent:

Provided also that the income-tax payable in respect of income being short term capital gains derived from transfer of a capital asset on which no depreciation is allowable under the Act shall be computed at the rate of twenty-two per cent:

Provided also that where the person fails to satisfy the conditions contained in sub-section (2) in any previous year, the option shall become invalid in respect of the assessment year relevant to that previous year and subsequent assessment years and other provisions of the Act shall apply to the person as if the option had not been exercised for the assessment year relevant to that previous year and subsequent assessment years.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) , the following conditions shall apply, namely:—

(a) the company has been set-up and registered on or after the 1st day of October, 2019, and has commenced manufacturing or production of an article or thing on or before the 31st day of March, 2024 and,—

(i) the business is not formed by splitting up, or the reconstruction, of a business already in existence:

Provided that this condition shall not apply in respect of a company, business of which is formed as a result of the re-establishment, reconstruction or revival by the person of the business of any such undertaking as is referred to in section 33B, in the circumstances and within the period specified in the said section;

(ii) does not use any machinery or plant previously used for any purpose.

Explanation 1.—For the purposes of sub-clause (ii) , any machinery or plant which was used outside India by any other person shall not be regarded as machinery or plant previously used for any purpose, if the following conditions are fulfilled, namely:—

(A) such machinery or plant was not, at any time previous to the date of the installation used in India;

(B) such machinery or plant is imported into India from any country outside India; and

(C) no deduction on account of depreciation in respect of such machinery or plant has been allowed or is allowable under the provisions of this Act in computing the total income of any person for any period prior to the date of the installation of machinery or plant by the person.

Explanation 2.—Where in the case of a person, any machinery or plant or any part thereof previously used for any purpose is put to use by the company and the total value of such machinery or plant or part thereof does not exceed twenty per cent of the total value of the machinery or plant used by the company, then, for the purposes of sub-clause (ii) of this clause, the condition specified therein shall be deemed to have been complied with;

(iii) does not use any building previously used as a hotel or a convention centre, as the case may be, in respect of which deduction under section 80-ID has been claimed and allowed.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-clause, the expressions "hotel" and "convention centre" shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in clause (a) and clause (b) of sub-section (6) of section 80-ID;

(b) the company is not engaged in any business other than the business of manufacture or production of any article or thing and research in relation to, or distribution of, such article or thing manufactured or produced by it.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby clarified that the business of manufacture or production of any article or thing referred to in clause (b) shall not include business of,—

(i) development of computer software in any form or in any media;

(ii) mining;

(iii) conversion of marble blocks or similar items into slabs;

(iv) bottling of gas into cylinder;

(v) printing of books or production of cinematograph film; or

(vi) any other business as may be notified by the Central Government in this behalf; and

(c) the total income of the company has been computed,—

(i) without any deduction under the provisions of section 10AA or clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of section 32 or section 32AD or section 33AB or section 33ABA or sub-clause (ii) or sub-clause (iia) or sub-clause (iii) of sub-section (1) or sub-section (2AA) or sub-section (2AB) of section 35 or section 35AD or section 35CCC or section 35CCD or under any provisions of Chapter VI-A other than the provisions of section 80JJAA or section 80M;

(ii) without set-off of any loss or allowance for unabsorbed depreciation deemed so under section 72A where such loss or depreciation is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in sub-clause (i) .

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby clarified that in case of an amalgamation, the option under sub-section (7) shall remain valid in case of the amalgamated company only and if the conditions contained in sub-section (2) are continued to be satisfied by such company; and

(iii) by claiming the depreciation under the provision of section 32, except clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of the said section, determined in such manner as may be prescribed.

Explanation.—For the purposes of clause (b) , the "business of manufacture or production of any article or thing" shall include the business of generation of electricity.

(3) The loss referred to in sub-clause (ii) of clause (c) of sub-section (2) shall be deemed to have been given full effect to and no further deduction for such loss shall be allowed for any subsequent year.

(4) If any difficulty arises regarding fulfilment of the conditions contained in sub-clause (ii) or sub-clause (iii) of clause (a) of sub-section (2) or clause (b) of said sub-section, as the case may be, the Board may, with the approval of the Central Government, issue guidelines for the purpose of removing the difficulty and to promote manufacturing or production of article or thing using new plant and machinery.

(5) Every guideline issued by the Board under sub-section (4) shall be laid before each House of Parliament, and shall be binding on the person, and the income-tax authorities subordinate to it.

(6) Where it appears to the Assessing Officer that, owing to the close connection between the person to which this section applies and any other person, or for any other reason, the course of business between them is so arranged that the business transacted between them produces to the person more than the ordinary profits which might be expected to arise in such business, the Assessing Officer shall, in computing the profits and gains of such business for the purposes of this section, take the amount of profits as may be reasonably deemed to have been derived therefrom:

Provided that in case the aforesaid arrangement involves a specified domestic transaction referred to in section 92BA, the amount of profits from such transaction shall be determined having regard to arm's length price as defined in clause (ii) of section 92F:

Provided further that the amount, being profits in excess of the amount of the profits determined by the Assessing Officer, shall be deemed to be the income of the person.

(7) Nothing contained in this section shall apply unless the option is exercised by the person in the prescribed manner on or before the due date specified under sub-section (1) of section 139 for furnishing the first of the returns of income for any previous year relevant to the assessment year commencing on or after 1st day of April, 2020 and such option once exercised shall apply to subsequent assessment years:

Provided that once the option has been exercised for any previous year, it cannot be subsequently withdrawn for the same or any other previous year.

Explanation.—For the purposes of section 115BAA and this section, the expression "unabsorbed depreciation" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (b) of sub-section (7) of section 72A.

201.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

Clause 201 of the Bill provides for an incentivised tax rate of 15% on income of new manufacturing domestic companies subject to satisfaction of specified conditions. The clause corresponds to section 115BAB of the Act. Table have been provided in this clause to do away with multiple explanations and provisos in section 115BAB of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

201.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

A gist of submissions/objections by stakeholders are given as under:

i. India aspires to emerge as a global manufacturing hub - Need to surge ahead of countries like Vietnam, Thailand, Cambodia, and Malaysia in the race of ‘China Plus One’ strategy and that is predicated on labor cost, attractive tax costs and tariffs and several other factors. Tax Incentive is an essential part of an attractive package – This was the reason for India to introduce section 115 BAB of the Act allowing a tax rate of 15% for new manufacturing companies but with sunset of March 31, 2024. India should have a perpetual tax provision for manufacturing @ 15% for new manufacturing companies.

ii. Currently, concessional tax rate of 15% is available to entities which have commenced business of generation of electricity before the 31 March 2024 To boost investment and growth in the infrastructure power sector, the aforesaid sunset period should be further extended by additional period to incentivise investments To extend sunset period for commencing business under section 115BAB (corresponding section 201 of the Bill) to 31 March 2030.

iii. Dividend income distributed by BTs is not taxable in the hands of the unitholders, provided such dividend has not been received from a Special Purpose Vehicle ('SPV') which has opted for taxation under Section 115BAA/ 115BAB of the Act ('CTR') (Section 200 and 201 of the Bill). In other words, such proportion of dividend which is received from the SPVs which have opted for CTR is taxable in the hands of the unitholders. Section 115BAA/ 115BAB of the Act ((Section 200 and 201 of the Bill) provides that once CTR has been opted for by a company, such option cannot be subsequently withdrawn. This creates a long-term issue for the SPVs which may be contributed to BTs in future as the dividends paid by such SPVs would be taxable in the hands of the unit holders. Post their initial setup, BTs grow inorganically through the acquisitions of new asset-owning companies, however, such asset-owning companies which have already opted for CTR become unattractive for acquisition A onetime opt out of CTR will restore parity for such new asset-owning companies and it is therefore requested that a one-time opt out of the CTR be provided under Act for SPVs which are subsequently transferred to a BT. To amend section 115BAA/ 115BAB of the Act (Section 200 and 201 of the Bill) to provide for a one time opt out option to SPVs which are transferred to a BT. one-time CTR opt-out would address tax inefficiencies and support fair, flexible BT acquisitions without diluting the CTR framework.

205.5 Examination by the Committee:

201.5.1On the suggestion of India should have a perpetual tax provision for manufacturing @ 15% for new manufacturing companies, the ministry stated as under:

> The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025.

201.5.2 Regarding the issue of extension of concessional regime in clause 201, the Ministry stated as under:

> Stakeholder seeks extension of concessional regime in clause 201. The suggestion is the nature of policy change, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025. There is no change in the IT Bill, 2025 vis-a-vis I T Act, 1961. The said provisions was inserted for a specified period to encourage setting up of new domestic companies is specified manufacturing sectors . The Government has taken conscious decision to not extend said provision beyond 31st March, 2024. It is also against the stated policy of the Government to phase out deductuon and exemption. Therefore, the suggested amendment is not feasible.

201.5.3 Regarding the suggestion to allow a one-time opt-out option for SPVs that have opted for the concessional tax regime under Sections 115BAA/115BAB (Clause 200 and 201 of the Bill), the Ministry in its written reply stated as under:

> Suggestion seeks to provide one time opt out options to SPV who has opted for concessional tax regime under section 115BAA/115BAB(Clause 200 and 201 of the Bill) as dividend distributed by such SPVs are taxable in the hand of unit holders. The suggestion is the nature of policy change, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025. There is no change in the IT Bill, 2025 vis-a-vis I T Act, 1961. At present, in clause 10(23FD) of the Act (Schedule V.Sr. No.5) such dividend income distributed by a SPV of Business Trust is not exempted in the hands of unit holder. The suggestion will encourage tax arbitrage.

201.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 201 under examination — including the views and suggestions of stakeholders and the justification provided by the Ministry of Finance — find the proposed provisions to be broadly acceptable. The Committee note that the policy objective of providing a temporary stimulus to the manufacturing sector is adequately addressed through the current formulation of the clause.Accordingly, the Committee accept the clause as proposed.

Clause- 202. New tax regime for individuals, Hindu undivided family and others

202.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Irrespective of anything contained in this Act but subject to the provisions of Parts A, B and this Part the income-tax payable by a person, being—

(a) an individual; or

(b) a Hindu undivided family; or

(c) an association of persons (other than a co-operative society) ; or

(d) a body of individuals, whether incorporated or not; or

(e) an artificial juridical person referred to in section 2(77) (g) , in respect of the total income for a tax year, shall, unless the person exercises the option in the manner provided under sub-section (4) , be computed at the rate of tax given in the following Table:—

Sl.No.	Total income	Rate of tax
A	B	C
1.	Upto ₹4,00,000	Nil
2.	From ₹4,00,001 to ₹8,00,000	5%
3.	From ₹8,00,001 to ₹12,00,000	10%
4.	From ₹12,00,001 to ₹16,00,000	15%
5.	From ₹16,00,001 to ₹20,00,000	20%
6.	From ₹20,00,001 to ₹24,00,000	25%.
7.	Above ₹24,00,000	30%

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) , the total income of the assessee shall be computed—

(a) without any exemption or deduction under the provisions of or in—

(i) Schedule III (Table: Sl. No.5 or 6 or 7 or 8 or 11 or 17) ;

(ii) Schedule III (Table: Sl. No. 12 or 13) (other than those as prescribed for this purpose) ;

(iii) section 144;

(iv) section 19(1) (Table: Sl. No. 1) ;

(v) section 22(1) (b) , in respect of properties referred to in section 21(6) ;

(vi) section 33(8) ;

(vii) section 48;

(viii) section 49;

(ix) section 45(3) (a) or (b) or (c) ;

(x) section 46;

(xi) section 47(1) (a) ;

(xii) of Chapter VIII other than the provisions of sections 124(1) , 125(3) and 146; and

(b) without set off of—

(i) any loss carried forward or depreciation from any earlier tax year, if such loss or depreciation is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in clause (a) ; or

(ii) any loss under the head “Income from house property” with any other head of income;and

(c) without any exemption or deduction for allowances or perquisite, called by any name, provided under any other law in force.

(3) The loss and depreciation referred to in sub-section (2) (b) shall be deemed to have been given full effect to and no further deduction for such loss or depreciation shall be allowed for any subsequent year.

(4) Nothing contained in sub-section (1) shall apply to a person, where an option is exercised by such person under this section, in such manner as prescribed, for any tax year, and such option is exercised,—

(a) in case of a person having income from business or profession,—

(i) on or before the due date specified under section 263(1) for furnishing the returns of income for such tax year;

(ii) such option, once exercised, shall apply to subsequent tax years;

(iii) such option, once exercised, may be withdrawn only once for a tax year other than the tax year for which it was exercised; and

(iv) after such withdrawal, the person shall never be eligible to exercise the option under this sub-section, except where such person ceases to have any income from business or profession, and in such a case the option under clause (b) shall be available;

(b) in case of a person not having income from business or profession, along with the return of income to be furnished under section 263(1) for the tax year.

(5) In case of a person, having a Unit in the International Financial Services Centre, who has exercised the option under sub-section (4) for any tax year from 2020-21 to 2023-24, the provisions of sub-section (2) shall be modified to the extent that deduction under the said section shall be available to such Unit subject to fulfilment of the conditions contained in that section.

202.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115BACare as under:

Tax on income of individuals [34][, Hindu undivided family and others].

115BAC. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act but subject to the provisions of this Chapter, the income-tax payable in respect of the total income of a person, being an individual or a Hindu undivided family, for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or after the 1st day of April, 2021 [35][but before the 1st day of April, 2024], shall, at the option of such person, be computed at the rate of tax given in the following Table, if the conditions contained in sub-section (2) are satisfied, namely:—

TABLE

Sl. No.	Total income	Rate of tax
(1)	(2)	(3)

1.	Upto Rs. 2,50,000	Nil
2.	From Rs. 2,50,001 to Rs. 5,00,000	5 per cent
3.	From Rs. 5,00,001 to Rs. 7,50,000	10 per cent
4.	From Rs. 7,50,001 to Rs. 10,00,000	15 per cent
5.	From Rs. 10,00,001 to Rs. 12,50,000	20 per cent
6.	From Rs. 12,50,001 to Rs. 15,00,000	25 per cent
7.	Above Rs. 15,00,000	30 per cent:

Provided that where the person fails to satisfy the conditions contained in sub-section (2) in any previous year, the option shall become invalid in respect of the assessment year relevant to that previous year and other provisions of this Act shall apply, as if the option had not been exercised for the assessment year relevant to that previous year:

Provided further that where the option is exercised under clause (i) of sub-section (5) , in the event of failure to satisfy the conditions contained in sub-section (2) , it shall become invalid for subsequent assessment years also and other provisions of this Act shall apply for those years accordingly.

[36][*(1A) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act but subject to the provisions of this Chapter, the income-tax payable in respect of the total income of a person, being an individual or Hindu undivided family or association of persons (other than a co-operative society) , or body of individuals, whether incorporated or not, or an artificial juridical person referred to in sub-clause (vii) of clause (31) of section 2, other than a person who has exercised an option under sub-section (6) ,—*

(i) for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2024, shall be computed at the rate of tax given in the following Table, namely:—

TABLE

Sl. No.	Total income	Rate of tax
(1)	(2)	(3)
1.	Upto Rs. 3,00,000	Nil
2.	From Rs. 3,00,001 to Rs. 6,00,000	5 per cent
3.	From Rs. 6,00,001 to Rs. 9,00,000	10 per cent
4.	From Rs. 9,00,001 to Rs. 12,00,000	15 per cent
5.	From Rs. 12,00,001 to Rs. 15,00,000	20 per cent
6.	Above Rs. 15,00,000	30 per cent;

*(*ii) for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on [37][or after] the 1st day of April, 2025, shall be computed at the rate of tax given in the following Table, namely:—

TABLE

Sl. No.	Total income	Rate of tax
(1)	(2)	(3)
1.	Upto Rs. 3,00,000	Nil
2.	From Rs. 3,00,001 to Rs. 7,00,000	5 per cent
3.	From Rs. 7,00,001 to Rs. 10,00,000	10 per cent
4.	From Rs. 10,00,001 to Rs. 12,00,000	15 per cent
5.	From Rs. 12,00,001 to Rs. 15,00,000	20 per cent
6.	Above Rs. 15,00,000	30 per cent.]

Following clause (iii) shall be inserted after clause (ii) of sub-section (1A) of section 115BAC by the Finance Act, 2025, w.e.f. 1-4-2026:

(iii) for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or after the 1st April, 2026, shall be computed at the rate of tax given in the following Table, namely:—

TABLE

S. No.	Total income	Rate of tax
(1)	(2)	(3)
1.	Upto Rs. 4,00,000	Nil
2.	From Rs. 4,00,001 to Rs. 8,00,000	5 per cent
3.	From Rs. 8,00,001 to Rs. 12,00,000	10 per cent
4.	From Rs. 12,00,001 to Rs. 16,00,000	15 per cent
5.	From Rs. 16,00,001 to Rs. 20,00,000	20 per cent
6.	From Rs. 20,00,001 to Rs. 24,00,000	25 per cent
7.	Above Rs. 24,00,000	30 per cent.

[38][(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1A) , the total income of the person referred to therein, shall be computed—

(i) without any exemption or deduction under the provisions of clause (5) or clause (13A) or prescribed under clause (14) (other than those as may be prescribed for this purpose) or clause (17) or clause (32) , of section 10 or section 10AA or clause (ii) or clause (iii) of section 16 or clause (b) of section 24 [in respect of the property referred to in sub-section (2) of section 23] or clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of section 32 or section 32AD or section 33AB or section 33ABA or sub-clause (ii) or sub-clause (iia) or sub-clause (iii) of sub-section (1) or sub-section (2AA) of section 35 or section 35AD or section 35CCC or under any of the provisions of Chapter VI-A other than the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 80CCD or sub-section (2) of section 80CCH or section 80JJAA;]

(ii) without set off of any loss,—

(a) carried forward or depreciation from any earlier assessment year, if such loss or depreciation is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in clause (i) ;

(b) under the head "Income from house property" with any other head of income;

(iii) by claiming the depreciation, if any, under any provision of section 32, except clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of the said section, determined in such manner as may be prescribed; and

(iv) without any exemption or deduction for allowances or perquisite, by whatever name called, provided under any other law for the time being in force.

(3) The loss and depreciation referred to in clause (ii) of sub-section (2) shall be deemed to have been given full effect to and no further deduction for such loss or depreciation shall be allowed for any subsequent year:

Provided that where there is a depreciation allowance in respect of a block of assets which has not been given full effect to prior to the assessment year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2021, corresponding adjustment shall be made to the written down value of such block of assets as on the 1st day of April, 2020 in the prescribed manner, if the option under sub-section (5) is exercised for a previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2021:

[39][Provided further that in a case where,—

(i) the assessee has not exercised the option under sub-section (5) for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or before the 1st day of April, 2023;

(ii) the income-tax on the total income of the assessee is computed under sub-section (1A) ; and

(iii) there is a depreciation allowance in respect of a block of assets which has not been given full effect prior to the assessment year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2024,

corresponding adjustment shall be made to the written down value of such block of assets as on the 1st day of April, 2023 in the manner as may be prescribed.]

[40][(4) In case of a person, having a Unit in the International Financial Services Centre, as referred to in sub-section (1A) of section 80LA,—

(i) who has exercised option under sub-section (5) for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or after the 1st day of April, 2021 but before the 1st day of April, 2024;

(ii) whose total income is computed under sub-section (1A) , the conditions contained in sub-section (2) shall be modified to the extent that the deduction under section 80LA shall be available to such Unit subject to fulfilment of the conditions contained in the said section.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section, the term "Unit" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (zc) of section 2 of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005 (28 of 2005) .]

(5) Nothing contained in this section shall apply unless option is exercised in the prescribed manner by the person,—

(i) having income from business or profession, on or before the due date specified under sub-section (1) of section 139 for furnishing the returns of income for any previous year relevant to the assessment year commencing on or after the 1st day of April, 2021, and such option once exercised shall apply to subsequent assessment years;

(ii) having income other than the income referred to in clause (i) , alongwith the return of income to be furnished under sub-section (1) of section 139 for a previous year relevant to the assessment year:

Provided that the option under clause (i) , once exercised for any previous year can be withdrawn only once for a previous year other than the year in which it was exercised and thereafter, the person shall never be eligible to exercise option under this section, except where such person ceases to have any income from business or profession in which case, option under clause (ii) shall be available:

[41-42][Provided further that the provisions of this sub-section shall not apply for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or after the 1st day of April, 2024.]

[41-42][(6) Nothing contained in sub-section (1A) shall apply to a person where an option is exercised by such person, in the manner as may be prescribed, for any assessment year, and such option is exercised,—

(i) on or before the due date specified under sub-section (1) of section 139 for furnishing the return of income for such assessment year, in case of a person having income from business or profession, and such option once exercised shall apply to subsequent assessment years; or

(ii) along with the return of income to be furnished under sub-section (1) of section 139 for such assessment year, in case of a person not having income referred to in clause (i) :

Provided that the option under clause (i) , once exercised for any previous year can be withdrawn only once for a previous year other than the year in which it was exercised and thereafter, the person shall never be eligible to exercise the option under this sub-section, except where such person ceases to have any income from business or profession in which case, option under clause (ii) shall be available.]

202.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

Clause 202 of the Bill provides for a simplified tax regime for individuals, Hindu undivided families and other specified persons. The clause corresponds to section 115BAC of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

202.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Important suggestions/ comments received by various stakeholders and experts summarised as under:

i. The phraseology in Section 202(1) may cause it to prevail over special rates prescribed in Sections 207-211 of ITB 2025, leading to potential issues for non-resident taxpayers. Rectify by making Section 202 of ITB 2025 subject to Part A, B, C, D, and E of Chapter XIII or the entire Chapter XIII except Section 202.

ii. It is proposed to allow a deduction for interest on housing loan taken for the purpose of acquiring, construction, repairing, renewal or reconstruction of self-occupied property under the default tax regime. This will support the Government objectives of “Housing for All” and fostering home ownership.

iii. Finance Act 2023 has extended the new concessional tax regime as per Section 115BAC of the Act to all non-corporate taxpayers i.e association of persons, body of individuals, artificial juridical person However, language of section 115BAC (1A) of the Act, does not explicitly include trusts, which are assessed under separate provisions of the Act Thus, it is imperative to clarify that trusts are also eligible for concessional tax regime To amend Section 115BAC(1A) to explicitly include trusts for the purpose of concessional tax regime.

iv. It is suggested that deduction u/s 126 i.e premium paid for keeping medical insurance policy for self and family members and/or medical expenditure incurred be allowed as a deduction even for assessees opting for section 202 in order encourage such tax payers to continue their mediclaim policy by paying premium, considering limited affordable healthcare facilities in the country (ii) It is suggested that a separate deduction be introduced under Chapter VIII of the Income-tax Bill, 2025 to allow the expenditure on the education of girl children both under the default tax regime under section 202 and under the optional tax regime Furthermore, the deduction should cover a broader spectrum of educational expenses (including expenses for pursuing professional accounting education) beyond just tuition fees and contribution to Sukanya Samriddhi Scheme (iii) It is suggested that the threshold limit above which surcharge is attracted be suitably increased under the default tax regime under section 202. (i) Under section 126, premium paid towards medical insurance for family members is allowed as deduction from gross total income Till the time subsidized medical/health care facilities are available to all taxpayers, it may be considered that at least medical insurance premium paid for family members allowable as deduction u/s 126 be allowed u/s 202 It would continue to encourage all taxpayers including the taxpayers paying tax under the default tax regime to keep their mediclaim policy alive to secure the health of the family members (ii) Presently, only tuition fees paid to educational institutions and contribution to Sukanya Samriddhi Scheme are eligible for deduction under Section 123 Section 123 is available only where an individual opts out of the default tax regime There is a need for a separate and enhanced deduction specifically for expenses incurred on the education of girl children, both under the default tax regime and the optional tax regime (iii) The Income-Tax Bill, 2025 has rationalized the tax slabs and the corresponding rates of taxes under the default tax regime under section 202 However, there is no change in the threshold of total income for attracting surcharge Since the total income computed under the default tax regime under section 202 would always be higher than the total income computed under the regular provisions of the Act, the threshold for attracting surcharge should also be higher under the default tax regime.

202.5 Examination by the Committee:

The response of the Ministry corresponding to the above suggestions are given as under

i. The application of Section 115BAC of the Income-tax Act, 1961 is subject to provisions of chapter XII of the said Act. While incorporating said provision in the Bill, there is inconsistency in referring to provisions which were contained in Chapter XII of the Income-tax Act, 1961 in the corresponding provisions of Income-Tax Bill, 2025.Such reference is missing in Clauses 199 to clause 204 as well. Therefore, reference of 'subject to clause 207, 208, 209, 210, 211 and Clause 377 of Part B to Chapter XVII' may also be inserted in Clauses 199 to clause 204.It is a drafting correction and may be considered acceptable.

ii. The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025.

iii. Stakeholder seeks extension of the new tax regime under clause 202 to trusts. The suggestion is the nature of policy change, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025. There is no change in the IT Bill, 2025 vis-a-vis I T Act, 1961. The trusts or registered non profit organisation have beneficial provisions in the form of exemption under the Act/Bill. So extending concessional regime to trust has no rationale. Therefore, the suggested amendment is not feasible.

iv. Stakeholder seeks extension of deduction u/s 126 i.e premium paid for keeping medical insurance policy for self and family members and/or medical expenditure incurred be allowed as a deduction even for assessees opting for new tax regime under clause 202. The suggestion is the nature of policy change, which is beyond the scope of I T Bill, 2025. There is no change in the IT Bill, 2025 vis-avis I T Act, 1961. The new regime under section 11BAC/clause 202 provides a concessional tax regime at lower rate without specified exemptions and deduction. Further, the assessee has option to opt for old tax regime if intend to claim other deductions and it is beneficial to him/her. Therefore, the suggested amendment is not feasible.

202.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

Upon careful consideration of the proposal under Clause 202, along with the views and suggestions of stakeholders and the rationale provided by the Ministry of Finance, the Committee is of the view that the proposed provisions are, in principle, acceptable.

The Committee, however, note that while the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 broadly corresponds to Section 115BAC of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, there is a drafting oversight in the Bill. Specifically, Clause 202(1) omits a reference to Part A, B, C, D, and E of Chapter XIII, which prescribes special regimes for certain income. The Ministry of Finance has explained that this is a drafting correction and has accepted the suggestion to insert a reference to "Part A, B, C, D, and E of Chapter XIII" under Clause 202(1) .

Therefore, the Committee accept the proposed Clause 202 subject to the following modification:

To insert a reference to "Part A, B, C, D, and E of Chapter XIII" under Clause 202(1) .

This modification will clarify that the new regimes under Clause 202 are subject to the special regimes under Part A, B, C, D, and E of Chapter XIII, thereby aligning the provisions with the policy intent of the existing Section 115BAC.

Clause-203.Tax on income of certain resident co-operative societies

203.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Irrespective of anything contained in this Act but subject to the provisions of Part A, B and this Part, other than section 204, the income-tax payable for a tax year shall be at the rate of 22%, at the option of a person being a co-operative society resident in India, in respect of the total income of such person computed in the following manner:—

(a) without any deduction under—

(i) Chapter VIII other than the provisions of section146;or

(ii) sections specified in section 205(1) (a) to (g) ;

(b) without set off of any loss carried forward or depreciation from any earlier tax year, if such loss or depreciation is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in clause (a) .

(2) Where a person fails to satisfy the requirements contained in sub-section (1) in any tax year, the option shall become invalid in respect of the said tax year and subsequent tax years and other provisions of the Act shall apply, as if the option had not been exercised for such tax year and for subsequent tax years.

(3) The loss and depreciation referred to in clause (b) of sub-section (1) shall be deemed to have been given full effect to and no further deduction for such loss or depreciation shall be allowed for any subsequent tax year.

(4) In case of a person, having a Unit in the International Financial Services Centre, which has exercised option under this section, the requirements contained in sub-section (1) shall be modified to the extent that the deduction under section 147 shall be available to such Unit subject to fulfilment of the conditions contained in the said section.

(5) The provisions of this section shall not apply unless the option is exercised by the person in the prescribed manner on or before the due date specified under section263(1) for furnishing the return of income and such option once exercised shall apply to subsequent tax years.

(6) Once the option under this section has been exercised for any tax year, it shall not be subsequently withdrawn for the same or any other tax year.

203.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115BADare as under:

Tax on income of certain resident co-operative societies.

115BAD. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act but subject to the provisions of this Chapter, 41-42[other than those mentioned under section 115BAE,] the income-tax payable in respect of the total income of a person, being a co-operative society resident in India, for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or after the 1st day of April, 2021, shall, at the option of such person, be computed at the rate of twenty-two per cent, if the conditions contained in sub-section (2) are satisfied:

Provided that where the person fails to satisfy the conditions contained in sub-section (2) in computing its income in any previous year, the option shall become invalid in respect of the assessment year relevant to that previous year and subsequent assessment years and other provisions of the Act shall apply, as if the option had not been exercised for the assessment year relevant to that previous year and subsequent assessment years.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) , the total income of the co-operative society shall be computed,—

(i) without any deduction under the provisions of section 10AA or clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of section 32 or section 32AD or section 33AB or section 33ABA or sub-clause (ii) or sub-clause (iia) or sub-clause (iii) of sub-section (1) or sub-section (2AA) of section 35 or section 35AD or section 35CCC or under any of the provisions of Chapter VI-A other than the provisions of section 80JJAA;

(ii) without set off of any loss carried forward or depreciation from any earlier assessment year, if such loss or depreciation is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in clause (i) ; and

(iii) by claiming the depreciation, if any, under section 32, other than clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of the said section, determined in such manner as may be prescribed.

(3) The loss and depreciation referred to in clause (ii) of sub-section (2) shall be deemed to have been given full effect to and no further deduction for such loss or depreciation shall be allowed for any subsequent year:

Provided that where there is a depreciation allowance in respect of a block of asset which has not been given full effect to prior to the assessment year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2021, corresponding adjustment shall be made to the written down value of such block of assets as on the 1st day of April, 2020 in such manner as may be prescribed, if the option under sub-section (5) is exercised for a previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2021.

(4) In case of a person, having a Unit in the International Financial Services Centre, as referred to in sub-section (1A) of section 80LA, which has exercised option under sub-section (5) , the conditions contained in sub-section (2) shall be modified to the extent that the deduction under the said section shall be available to such Unit subject to fulfilment of the conditions contained in that section.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section, the term "Unit" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (zc) of section 2 of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005 (28 of 2005) .

(5) Nothing contained in this section shall apply unless option is exercised by the person in such manner as may be prescribed on or before the due date specified under sub-section (1) of section 139 for furnishing the return of income for any previous year relevant to the assessment year commencing on or after the 1st day of April, 2021 and such option once exercised shall apply to subsequent assessment years:

Provided that once the option has been exercised for any previous year, it cannot be subsequently withdrawn for the same or any other previous year.

203.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

Clause 203 of the Bill provides for the (optional) concessional tax rate applicable to co-operative societies other than those covered under clause 204, if they do not claim specific deductions. The clause corresponds to section 115BAD of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

203.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 203 under examination and the justification given by the Ministry of Finance, find the proposed provisions to be broadly acceptable.The Committee recommend retaining Clause 203 as it stands, noting that it corresponds to Section 115BAD of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, and simplifies the text without changing its policy intent or benefits for co-operative societies.

Clause- 204. Tax on income of certain new manufacturing co-operative societies

204.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Irrespective of anything contained in this Act but subject to the provisions of PartA,B and thisPart other than section 203, the income-tax payable in respect of the total income of an assessee, being a co-operative society, resident in India, engaged in the business of manufacture or production of any article or thing,shall at the option of such assessee, be computed at the rates specified in column A of the said Table, if the conditions contained in column B thereof are fulfilled.

Total income and rate of tax	Conditions
A	B
(a) 15% on the total income other than the income mentioned in clauses (b) , (c) and (d) ; (b) 22% (without any deduction or allowance in respect of any expenditure or allowance) on such income,— (i) which has neither been derived from nor is incidental to	Such co-operative society— (a) exercises the option in the manner provided in sub-section (2) ; (b) has been set-up and registered on or after the 1st April, 2023; and (c) has commenced manufacturing or production of an article or thing on or before the 31st March, 2024; and (d) the total income of which is computedas per the provisions ofsub-section (3) ; and (e) fulfils all the conditions

manufacturing or production of an article or thing; and (ii) in respect of which no specific rate of tax has been provided separately under this Part; (c) 22% on short-term capital gains derived from transfer of a capital asset on which no depreciation is allowable under this Act; (d) 30% on the income deemed so undersection 205 (4) .	provided in section 205(2) .

(2) The option under this section shall be exercised by the assessee in the manner as prescribed subject to the following conditions:—

(a) it shall be exercised on or before the due date specified under section 263(1) for furnishing the first of the returns of income for any tax year; and

(b) such option, once exercised, shall apply to subsequent tax years;

(c) once the option has been exercised for any tax year, it shall not be subsequently withdrawn for the same or any other tax year;

(d) where the assessee fails to fulfil the conditions contained in sub-section (1) (Table: Sl. No. 1. B) in any tax year,—

(i) the option shall become invalid in respect of the tax year and subsequent tax years; and

(ii) the other provisions of this Act shall apply, as if the option had not been exercised for that tax year and subsequent tax years.

(3) For the purposes of sub-section (1) , the total income of the assessee shall be computed,—

(a) without any deduction under—

(i) Chapter VIII other than the provisions of section 146; or

(ii) sections specified in 205(1) (a) to (g) ;

(b) without set off of any loss carried forward or depreciation from earlier tax year, if such loss or depreciation is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in clause (a) .

(4) While computing the income of the assessee, the loss and depreciation, or both, as specified in sub-section (3) (b) be shall be deemed to have been given full effect to and no further deduction for such loss or depreciation, or both, shall be allowed for any subsequent year.

204.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115BAEare as under:

[Tax on income of certain new manufacturing co-operative societies.

115BAE. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act but subject to the provisions of this Chapter, other than those mentioned under section 115BAD, the income-tax payable in respect of the total income of an assessee, being a co-operative society resident in India, for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or after the 1st day of April, 2024, shall, at the option of such assessee, be computed at the rate of fifteen per cent if the conditions contained in sub-section (2) are satisfied:

Provided that where the total income of the assessee includes any income, which has neither been derived from nor is incidental to, manufacturing or production of an article or thing and in respect of which no specific rate of tax has been provided separately under this Chapter, such income shall be taxed at the rate of twenty-two per cent and no deduction or allowance in respect of any expenditure or allowance shall be made in computing such income:

Provided further that the income-tax payable in respect of the income, of the assessee deemed so under the second proviso to sub-section (4) shall be computed at the rate of thirty per cent:

Provided also that the income-tax payable in respect of income, being short term capital gains derived from transfer of a capital asset on which no depreciation is allowable under the Act shall be computed at the rate of twenty-two per cent:

Provided also that where the assessee fails to satisfy the conditions contained in sub-section (2) in any previous year, the option shall become invalid in respect of the assessment year relevant to that previous year and subsequent assessment years and other provisions of the Act shall apply to the assessee as if the option had not been exercised for the assessment year relevant to that previous year and subsequent assessment years.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) , the following conditions shall apply, namely:—

(a) the co-operative society has been set-up and registered on or after the 1st day of April, 2023, and has commenced manufacturing or production of an article or thing on or before the 31st day of March, 2024 and,—

(i) the business is not formed by splitting up, or the reconstruction, of a business already in existence;

(ii) does not use any machinery or plant previously used for any purpose.

Explanation 1.— For the purposes of sub-clause (ii) , any machinery or plant which was used outside India by any other person shall not be regarded as machinery or plant previously used for any purpose, if the following conditions are fulfilled, namely:—

(A) such machinery or plant was not, at any time previous to the date of the installation, used in India;

(B) such machinery or plant is imported into India from any country outside India; and

(C) no deduction on account of depreciation in respect of such machinery or plant has been allowed or is allowable under the provisions of this Act in computing the total income of any person for any period prior to the date of installation of machinery or plant by the person.

Explanation 2.— Where any machinery or plant or any part thereof previously used for any purpose is put to use by the assessee and the total value of such machinery or plant or part thereof does not exceed twenty per cent of the total value of the machinery or plant used by the assessee, then, for the purposes of sub-clause (ii) , the condition specified therein shall be deemed to have been complied with;

(b) the assessee is not engaged in any business other than the business of manufacture or production of any article or thing and research in relation to, or distribution of, such article or thing manufactured or produced by it.

Explanation.— For the removal of doubts, it is hereby clarified that the business of manufacture or production of any article or thing shall include the business of generation of electricity, but not include a business of,—

(i) development of computer software in any form or in any media;

(ii) mining;

(iii) conversion of marble blocks or similar items into slabs;

(iv) bottling of gas into cylinder;

(v) printing of books or production of cinematograph film; or

(vi) any other business as may be notified by the Central Government in this behalf;

(c) the total income of the assessee has been computed,—

(i) without any deduction under the provisions of section 10AA or clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of section 32 or section 33AB or section 33ABA or sub-clause (ii) or sub-clause (iia) or sub-clause (iii) of sub-section (1) or sub-section (2AA) of section 35 or section 35AD or section 35CCC or under any of the provisions of Chapter VI-A other than the provisions of section 80JJAA;

(ii) without set off of any loss carried forward or depreciation from any earlier assessment year, if such loss or depreciation is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in clause (i) ; and

(iii) by claiming the depreciation, if any, under section 32, other than clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of the said section, determined in such manner as may be prescribed.

(3) The loss and depreciation referred to in sub-clause (ii) of clause (c) of sub-section (2) shall be deemed to have been given full effect to and no further deduction for such loss shall be allowed for any subsequent year.

(4) Where it appears to the Assessing Officer that, owing to the close connection between the assessee to which this section applies and any other person, or for any other reason, the course of business between them is so arranged that the business transacted between them produces to the assessee more than the ordinary profits which might be expected to arise in such business, the Assessing Officer shall, in computing the profits and gains of such business for the purposes of this section, take the amount of profits as may be reasonably deemed to have been derived therefrom:

Provided that in case the aforesaid arrangement involves a specified domestic transaction referred to in section 92BA, the amount of profits from such transaction shall be determined having regard to arm's length price as defined in clause (ii) of section 92F:

Provided further that the amount, being profits in excess of the amount of the profits determined by the Assessing Officer, shall be deemed to be the income of the assessee.

(5) Nothing contained in this section shall apply unless the option is exercised by the person in the prescribed manner on or before the due date specified under sub-section (1) of section 139 for furnishing the first of the returns of income for any previous year relevant to the assessment year commencing on or after the 1st day of April, 2024, and such option once exercised shall apply to subsequent assessment years:

Provided that once the option has been exercised for any previous year shall not be allowed to be withdrawn for the same or any other previous year.]

204.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> Clause 204 of the Bill provides for an incentivised tax rate of 15% on the manufacturing income of new manufacturing co-operative societies subject to satisfaction of certain conditions. The clause corresponds to section 115BAE of the Act. Table have been provided in this clause to do away with multiple explanations and provisos in section 115BAE of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

204.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 204, including the views/suggestions of stakeholders and the justification provided by the Ministry of Finance, find the proposed provisions to be broadly acceptable. Therefore, the Committee recommend retaining Clause 204 in its present form, noting that it corresponds to Section 115BAE of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, and simply simplifies the text while retaining its policy intent to provide an incentivised 15% tax rate for new manufacturing co-operative societies.

Clause -205- Conditions for tax on income of certain companies and co-operative societies

205.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) For the purposes of sections 199(1) (c) (i) (C) , 200(1) (a) (iii) , 201(3) (a) (iii) , 203(1) (a) (ii) and 204(3) (a) (ii) , the total income shall be computed without any deduction or exemption, under the following provisions:—

(a) section 33(8) , determined in such manner, as prescribed;

(b) section 45(3) (a) or (b) or (c) ;

(c) section 46;

(d) section 47(1) (a) .;

(e) section 48;

(f) section 49; and

(g) section 144.

(2) For the purposes of section 201or 204, the following conditions shall apply to the assessee:—

(a) its business is not formed by splitting up, or the reconstruction, of a business already in existence, unless it is formed as a result of the re-establishment, reconstruction or revival of the business of any such undertaking as is referred to in section 140(4) in the circumstances and within the period specified in the said section;

(b) it does not use any machinery or plant, previously used for any purpose, other than—

(i) permitted machinery or plant used outside India;

(ii) machinery or plant or any part thereof previously used for any purpose and the total value of such machinery or plant or any part thereof put to use by the assessee does not exceed 20% of the total value of the machinery or plant used by such assessee;

(c) in case of a domestic company, it does not use any building previously used as a hotel or a convention centre, in respect of which deduction under section 80-ID of the Income-Tax Act, 1961 has been claimed and allowed;

(d) it is not engaged in any business other than the business of manufacture or production of any article or thing and research in relation to, or distribution of, such article or thing manufactured or produced by it, and, if any difficulty arises in fulfilling any of the conditions contained in clause (b) or (c) or (d) , the Board may, with the previous approval of the Central Government, issue guidelines for the purpose of removing the difficulty and to promote manufacturing or production of article or thing using new plant and machinery.

(3) No guideline under sub-section (2) shall be issued after the expiration of two years from the 1st April,2026.

(4) Every guideline issued by the Board under sub-section (2) shall be laid before each House of Parliament while it is in session for a total period of thirty days which may be comprised in one session or in two or more successive sessions, and if, before the expiry of the session immediately following the session or the successive session aforesaid, both houses agree in making any modification in such guideline or both Houses agree that the guideline, should not be issued, the guideline shall thereafter have effect only in such modified form or be of no effect, as the case may be; so, however, that any such modification or annulment shall be without prejudice to the validity of anything previously done under that guideline.

(5) For the purposes of section 201,—

(a) where it appears to the Assessing Officer that, owing to the close connection between the person to which the said section applies and any other person, or for any other reason, the course of business between them is so arranged that the business transacted between them produces to the assessee more than the ordinary profits which might be expected to arise in such business, then the Assessing Officer shall, in computing the profits and gains of such business for the purposes of this section, take profits as may be reasonably deemed to have been derived therefrom, and where the said arrangement involves a specified domestic transaction referred to in section 164, profits from such transaction shall be determined having regard to the arm's length price as defined in section 173(a) ; and

(b) the amount, being profits in excess of the profits determined by the Assessing Officer under clause (a) , shall be deemed to be the income of the person and shall be chargeable at the rates specified in section 201(1) [Table: Sl. No. 1.B(d)] or 204 (1) [Table: Sl. No. 1.A(d)],as the case may be.

(6) For the purposes of this Part,—

(a) the business of manufacture or production of any article or thing shall include the business of generation of electricity but shall not include business of—

(i) development of computer software in any form or in any media; or

(ii) mining; or

(iii) conversion of marble blocks or similar items into slabs; or

(iv) bottling of gas into cylinder; or

(v) printing of books or production of cinematograph film; or

(vi) any other business as may be notified by the Central Government in this behalf; and

(b) the expressions,—

(i) "hotel" and "convention centre" shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in clause (b) and clause (a) of section 80-ID(6) of the Income-Tax Act, 1961;

(ii) "permitted machinery and plant used outside India" means the machinery or plant, which was previously used outside India by any other person, if the following conditions are fulfilled:—

(A) such machinery or plant was not, at any time previous to the date of the installation, used in India;

(B) such machinery or plant is imported into India from any country outside India; and

(C) no deduction on account of depreciation in respect of such machinery or plant has been allowed or is allowable under the provisions of this Act in computing the total income of any person for any period before the date of installation of machinery or plant by the person;

(iii) “unabsorbed depreciation” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 116(13) (e) ;and

(iv) “Unit” shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 2(zc) of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005.

205.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115BA, 115BAA, 115BAB, 115BAC, 115BAD, 115BAE are as under:

Tax on income of certain manufacturing domestic companies.

115BA. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act but subject to the other provisions of this Chapter, other than those mentioned under section 115BAA and section 115BAB, the income-tax payable in respect of the total income of a person, being a domestic company, for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or after the 1st day of April, 2017, shall, at the option of such person, be computed at the rate of twenty-five per cent, if the conditions contained in sub-section (2) are satisfied.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) , the following conditions shall apply, namely:—

(a) the company has been set-up and registered on or after the 1st day of March, 2016;

(b) the company is not engaged in any business other than the business of manufacture or production of any article or thing and research in relation to, or distribution of, such article or thing manufactured or produced by it; and

(c) the total income of the company has been computed,—

(i) without any deduction under the provisions of section 10AA or clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of section 32 or section 32AC or section 32AD or section 33AB or section 33ABA or sub-clause (ii) or sub-clause (iia) or sub-clause (iii) of sub-section (1) or sub-section (2AA) or sub-section (2AB) of section 35 or section 35AC or section 35AD or section 35CCC or section 35CCD or under any provisions of Chapter VI-A under the heading "C.—Deductions in respect of certain incomes" other than the provisions of section 80JJAA;

(ii) without set off of any loss carried forward from any earlier assessment year if such loss is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in sub-clause (i) ; and

(iii) depreciation under section 32, other than clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of the said section, is determined in the manner as may be prescribed.

(3) The loss referred to in sub-clause (ii) of clause (c) of sub-section (2) shall be deemed to have been already given full effect to and no further deduction for such loss shall be allowed for any subsequent year.

(4) Nothing contained in this section shall apply unless the option is exercised by the person in the prescribed manner on or before the due date specified under sub-section (1) of section 139 for furnishing the first of the returns of income which the person is required to furnish under the provisions of this Act:

Provided that once the option has been exercised for any previous year, it cannot be subsequently withdrawn for the same or any other previous year:

Provided further that where the person exercises option under section 115BAA, the option under this section may be withdrawn.

Tax on income of certain domestic companies.

115BAA. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act but subject to the provisions of this Chapter, other than those mentioned under section 115BA and section 115BAB, the income-tax payable in respect of the total income of a person, being a domestic company, for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or after the 1st day of April, 2020, shall, at the option of such person, be computed at the rate of twenty-two per cent, if the conditions contained in sub-section (2) are satisfied:

Provided that where the person fails to satisfy the conditions contained in sub-section (2) in any previous year, the option shall become invalid in respect of the assessment year relevant to that previous year and subsequent assessment years and other provisions of the Act shall apply, as if the option had not been exercised for the assessment year relevant to that previous year and subsequent assessment years.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) , the total income of the company shall be computed,—

(i) without any deduction under the provisions of section 10AA or clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of section 32 or section 32AD or section 33AB or section 33ABA or sub-clause (ii) or sub-clause (iia) or sub-clause (iii) of sub-section (1) or sub-section (2AA) or sub-section (2AB) of section 35 or section 35AD or section 35CCC or section 35CCD or under any provisions of Chapter VI-A other than the provisions of section 80JJAA or section 80M;

(ii) without set off of any loss carried forward or depreciation from any earlier assessment year, if such loss or depreciation is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in clause (i) ;

(iii) without set off of any loss or allowance for unabsorbed depreciation deemed so under section 72A, if such loss or depreciation is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in clause (i) ; and

(iv) by claiming the depreciation, if any, under any provision of section 32, except clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of the said section, determined in such manner as may be prescribed.

(3) The loss and depreciation referred to in clause (ii) and clause (iii) of sub-section (2) shall be deemed to have been given full effect to and no further deduction for such loss or depreciation shall be allowed for any subsequent year:

Provided that where there is a depreciation allowance in respect of a block of asset which has not been given full effect to prior to the assessment year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2020, corresponding adjustment shall be made to the written down value of such block of assets as on the 1st day of April, 2019 in the prescribed manner, if the option under sub-section (5) is exercised for a previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2020.

(4) In case of a person, having a Unit in the International Financial Services Centre, as referred to in sub-section (1A) of section 80LA, which has exercised option under sub-section (5) , the conditions contained in sub-section (2) shall be modified to the extent that the deduction under section 80LA shall be available to such Unit subject to fulfilment of the conditions contained in the said section.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section, the term "Unit" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (zc) of section 2 of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005 (28 of 2005) .

(5) Nothing contained in this section shall apply unless the option is exercised by the person in the prescribed manner on or before the due date specified under sub-section (1) of section 139 for furnishing the returns of income for any previous year relevant to the assessment year commencing on or after the 1st day of April, 2020 and such option once exercised shall apply to subsequent assessment years:

Provided that in case of a person, where the option exercised by it under section 115BAB has been rendered invalid due to violation of conditions contained in sub-clause (ii) or sub-clause (iii) of clause (a) , or clause (b) of sub-section (2) of said section, such person may exercise option under this section:

Provided further that once the option has been exercised for any previous year, it cannot be subsequently withdrawn for the same or any other previous year.

Tax on income of new manufacturing domestic companies.

115BAB. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act but subject to the provisions of this Chapter, other than those mentioned under section 115BA and section 115BAA, the income-tax payable in respect of the total income of a person, being a domestic company, for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or after the 1st day of April, 2020, shall, at the option of such person, be computed at the rate of fifteen per cent, if the conditions contained in sub-section (2) are satisfied:

Provided that where the total income of the person, includes any income, which has neither been derived from nor is incidental to manufacturing or production of an article or thing and in respect of which no specific rate of tax has been provided separately under this Chapter, such income shall be taxed at the rate of twenty-two per cent and no deduction or allowance in respect of any expenditure or allowance shall be allowed in computing such income:

Provided further that the income-tax payable in respect of the income of the person deemed so under second proviso to sub-section (6) shall be computed at the rate of thirty per cent:

Provided also that the income-tax payable in respect of income being short term capital gains derived from transfer of a capital asset on which no depreciation is allowable under the Act shall be computed at the rate of twenty-two per cent:

Provided also that where the person fails to satisfy the conditions contained in sub-section (2) in any previous year, the option shall become invalid in respect of the assessment year relevant to that previous year and subsequent assessment years and other provisions of the Act shall apply to the person as if the option had not been exercised for the assessment year relevant to that previous year and subsequent assessment years.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) , the following conditions shall apply, namely:—

(a) the company has been set-up and registered on or after the 1st day of October, 2019, and has commenced manufacturing or production of an article or thing on or before the 31st day of March, 2024 and,—

(i) the business is not formed by splitting up, or the reconstruction, of a business already in existence:

Provided that this condition shall not apply in respect of a company, business of which is formed as a result of the re-establishment, reconstruction or revival by the person of the business of any such undertaking as is referred to in section 33B, in the circumstances and within the period specified in the said section;

(ii) does not use any machinery or plant previously used for any purpose.

Explanation 1.—For the purposes of sub-clause (ii) , any machinery or plant which was used outside India by any other person shall not be regarded as machinery or plant previously used for any purpose, if the following conditions are fulfilled, namely:—

(A) such machinery or plant was not, at any time previous to the date of the installation used in India;

(B) such machinery or plant is imported into India from any country outside India; and

(C) no deduction on account of depreciation in respect of such machinery or plant has been allowed or is allowable under the provisions of this Act in computing the total income of any person for any period prior to the date of the installation of machinery or plant by the person.

Explanation 2.—Where in the case of a person, any machinery or plant or any part thereof previously used for any purpose is put to use by the company and the total value of such machinery or plant or part thereof does not exceed twenty per cent of the total value of the machinery or plant used by the company, then, for the purposes of sub-clause (ii) of this clause, the condition specified therein shall be deemed to have been complied with;

(iii) does not use any building previously used as a hotel or a convention centre, as the case may be, in respect of which deduction under section 80-ID has been claimed and allowed.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-clause, the expressions "hotel" and "convention centre" shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in clause (a) and clause (b) of sub-section (6) of section 80-ID;

(b) the company is not engaged in any business other than the business of manufacture or production of any article or thing and research in relation to, or distribution of, such article or thing manufactured or produced by it.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby clarified that the business of manufacture or production of any article or thing referred to in clause (b) shall not include business of,—

(i) development of computer software in any form or in any media;

(ii) mining;

(iii) conversion of marble blocks or similar items into slabs;

(iv) bottling of gas into cylinder;

(v) printing of books or production of cinematograph film; or

(vi) any other business as may be notified by the Central Government in this behalf; and

(c) the total income of the company has been computed,—

(i) without any deduction under the provisions of section 10AA or clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of section 32 or section 32AD or section 33AB or section 33ABA or sub-clause (ii) or sub-clause (iia) or sub-clause (iii) of sub-section (1) or sub-section (2AA) or sub-section (2AB) of section 35 or section 35AD or section 35CCC or section 35CCD or under any provisions of Chapter VI-A other than the provisions of section 80JJAA or section 80M;

(ii) without set-off of any loss or allowance for unabsorbed depreciation deemed so under section 72A where such loss or depreciation is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in sub-clause (i) .

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby clarified that in case of an amalgamation, the option under sub-section (7) shall remain valid in case of the amalgamated company only and if the conditions contained in sub-section (2) are continued to be satisfied by such company; and

(iii) by claiming the depreciation under the provision of section 32, except clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of the said section, determined in such manner as may be prescribed.

Explanation.—For the purposes of clause (b) , the "business of manufacture or production of any article or thing" shall include the business of generation of electricity.

(3) The loss referred to in sub-clause (ii) of clause (c) of sub-section (2) shall be deemed to have been given full effect to and no further deduction for such loss shall be allowed for any subsequent year.

(4) If any difficulty arises regarding fulfilment of the conditions contained in sub-clause (ii) or sub-clause (iii) of clause (a) of sub-section (2) or clause (b) of said sub-section, as the case may be, the Board may, with the approval of the Central Government, issue guidelines for the purpose of removing the difficulty and to promote manufacturing or production of article or thing using new plant and machinery.

(5) Every guideline issued by the Board under sub-section (4) shall be laid before each House of Parliament, and shall be binding on the person, and the income-tax authorities subordinate to it.

(6) Where it appears to the Assessing Officer that, owing to the close connection between the person to which this section applies and any other person, or for any other reason, the course of business between them is so arranged that the business transacted between them produces to the person more than the ordinary profits which might be expected to arise in such business, the Assessing Officer shall, in computing the profits and gains of such business for the purposes of this section, take the amount of profits as may be reasonably deemed to have been derived therefrom:

Provided that in case the aforesaid arrangement involves a specified domestic transaction referred to in section 92BA, the amount of profits from such transaction shall be determined having regard to arm's length price as defined in clause (ii) of section 92F:

Provided further that the amount, being profits in excess of the amount of the profits determined by the Assessing Officer, shall be deemed to be the income of the person.

(7) Nothing contained in this section shall apply unless the option is exercised by the person in the prescribed manner on or before the due date specified under sub-section (1) of section 139 for furnishing the first of the returns of income for any previous year relevant to the assessment year commencing on or after 1st day of April, 2020 and such option once exercised shall apply to subsequent assessment years:

Provided that once the option has been exercised for any previous year, it cannot be subsequently withdrawn for the same or any other previous year.

Explanation.—For the purposes of section 115BAA and this section, the expression "unabsorbed depreciation" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (b) of sub-section (7) of section 72A.

Tax on income of individuals [34][, Hindu undivided family and others].

115BAC. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act but subject to the provisions of this Chapter, the income-tax payable in respect of the total income of a person, being an individual or a Hindu undivided family, for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or after the 1st day of April, 2021 [35][but before the 1st day of April, 2024], shall, at the option of such person, be computed at the rate of tax given in the following Table, if the conditions contained in sub-section (2) are satisfied, namely:—

TABLE

Sl. No.	Total income	Rate of tax
(1)	(2)	(3)
1.	Upto Rs. 2,50,000	Nil
2.	From Rs. 2,50,001 to Rs. 5,00,000	5 per cent
3.	From Rs. 5,00,001 to Rs. 7,50,000	10 per cent
4.	From Rs. 7,50,001 to Rs. 10,00,000	15 per cent

5.	From Rs. 10,00,001 to Rs. 12,50,000	20 per cent
6.	From Rs. 12,50,001 to Rs. 15,00,000	25 per cent
7.	Above Rs. 15,00,000	30 per cent:

Provided that where the person fails to satisfy the conditions contained in sub-section (2) in any previous year, the option shall become invalid in respect of the assessment year relevant to that previous year and other provisions of this Act shall apply, as if the option had not been exercised for the assessment year relevant to that previous year:

Provided further that where the option is exercised under clause (i) of sub-section (5) , in the event of failure to satisfy the conditions contained in sub-section (2) , it shall become invalid for subsequent assessment years also and other provisions of this Act shall apply for those years accordingly.

[36][*(1A) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act but subject to the provisions of this Chapter, the income-tax payable in respect of the total income of a person, being an individual or Hindu undivided family or association of persons (other than a co-operative society) , or body of individuals, whether incorporated or not, or an artificial juridical person referred to in sub-clause (vii) of clause (31) of section 2, other than a person who has exercised an option under sub-section (6) ,—*

(i) for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2024, shall be computed at the rate of tax given in the following Table, namely:—

TABLE

Sl. No.	Total income	Rate of tax
(1)	(2)	(3)

1.	Upto Rs. 3,00,000	Nil
2.	From Rs. 3,00,001 to Rs. 6,00,000	5 per cent
3.	From Rs. 6,00,001 to Rs. 9,00,000	10 per cent
4.	From Rs. 9,00,001 to Rs. 12,00,000	15 per cent
5.	From Rs. 12,00,001 to Rs. 15,00,000	20 per cent
6.	Above Rs. 15,00,000	30 per cent;

for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on [37][or after] the 1st day of April, 2025, shall be computed at the rate of tax given in the following Table, namely:—

(ii)

TABLE

Sl. No.	Total income	Rate of tax
(1)	(2)	(3)
1.	Upto Rs. 3,00,000	Nil
2.	From Rs. 3,00,001 to Rs. 7,00,000	5 per cent
3.	From Rs. 7,00,001 to Rs. 10,00,000	10 per cent
4.	From Rs. 10,00,001 to Rs. 12,00,000	15 per cent
5.	From Rs. 12,00,001 to Rs. 15,00,000	20 per cent
6.	Above Rs. 15,00,000	30 per cent.]

Following clause (iii) shall be inserted after clause (ii) of sub-section (1A) of section 115BAC by the Finance Act, 2025, w.e.f. 1-4-2026:

(iii) for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or after the 1st April, 2026, shall be computed at the rate of tax given in the following Table, namely:—

TABLE

S. No.	Total income	Rate of tax
(1)	(2)	(3)
1.	Upto Rs. 4,00,000	Nil
2.	From Rs. 4,00,001 to Rs. 8,00,000	5 per cent
3.	From Rs. 8,00,001 to Rs. 12,00,000	10 per cent
4.	From Rs. 12,00,001 to Rs. 16,00,000	15 per cent
5.	From Rs. 16,00,001 to Rs. 20,00,000	20 per cent
6.	From Rs. 20,00,001 to Rs. 24,00,000	25 per cent
7.	Above Rs. 24,00,000	30 per cent.

[38][(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1A) , the total income of the person referred to therein, shall be computed—

(i) without any exemption or deduction under the provisions of clause (5) or clause (13A) or prescribed under clause (14) (other than those as may be prescribed for this purpose) or clause (17) or clause (32) , of section 10 or section 10AA or clause (ii) or clause (iii) of section 16 or clause (b) of section 24 [in respect of the property referred to in sub-section (2) of section 23] or clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of section 32 or section 32AD or section 33AB or section 33ABA or sub-clause (ii) or sub-clause (iia) or sub-clause (iii) of sub-section (1) or sub-section (2AA) of section 35 or section 35AD or section 35CCC or under any of the provisions of Chapter VI-A other than the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 80CCD or sub-section (2) of section 80CCH or section 80JJAA;]

(ii) without set off of any loss,—

(a) carried forward or depreciation from any earlier assessment year, if such loss or depreciation is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in clause (i) ;

(b) under the head "Income from house property" with any other head of income;

(iii) by claiming the depreciation, if any, under any provision of section 32, except clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of the said section, determined in such manner as may be prescribed; and

(iv) without any exemption or deduction for allowances or perquisite, by whatever name called, provided under any other law for the time being in force.

(3) The loss and depreciation referred to in clause (ii) of sub-section (2) shall be deemed to have been given full effect to and no further deduction for such loss or depreciation shall be allowed for any subsequent year:

Provided that where there is a depreciation allowance in respect of a block of assets which has not been given full effect to prior to the assessment year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2021, corresponding adjustment shall be made to the written down value of such block of assets as on the 1st day of April, 2020 in the prescribed manner, if the option under sub-section (5) is exercised for a previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2021:

[39][Provided further that in a case where,—

(i) the assessee has not exercised the option under sub-section (5) for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or before the 1st day of April, 2023;

(ii) the income-tax on the total income of the assessee is computed under sub-section (1A) ; and

(iii) there is a depreciation allowance in respect of a block of assets which has not been given full effect prior to the assessment year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2024, corresponding adjustment shall be made to the written down value of such block of assets as on the 1st day of April, 2023 in the manner as may be prescribed.]

[40][(4) In case of a person, having a Unit in the International Financial Services Centre, as referred to in sub-section (1A) of section 80LA,—

(i) who has exercised option under sub-section (5) for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or after the 1st day of April, 2021 but before the 1st day of April, 2024;

(ii) whose total income is computed under sub-section (1A) ,

the conditions contained in sub-section (2) shall be modified to the extent that the deduction under section 80LA shall be available to such Unit subject to fulfilment of the conditions contained in the said section.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section, the term "Unit" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (zc) of section 2 of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005 (28 of 2005) .]

(5) Nothing contained in this section shall apply unless option is exercised in the prescribed manner by the person,—

(i) having income from business or profession, on or before the due date specified under sub-section (1) of section 139 for furnishing the returns of income for any previous year relevant to the assessment year commencing on or after the 1st day of April, 2021, and such option once exercised shall apply to subsequent assessment years;

(ii) having income other than the income referred to in clause (i) , alongwith the return of income to be furnished under sub-section (1) of section 139 for a previous year relevant to the assessment year:

Provided that the option under clause (i) , once exercised for any previous year can be withdrawn only once for a previous year other than the year in which it was exercised and thereafter, the person shall never be eligible to exercise option under this section, except where such person ceases to have any income from business or profession in which case, option under clause (ii) shall be available:

41-42[Provided further that the provisions of this sub-section shall not apply for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or after the 1st day of April, 2024.]

41-42[(6) Nothing contained in sub-section (1A) shall apply to a person where an option is exercised by such person, in the manner as may be prescribed, for any assessment year, and such option is exercised,—

(i) on or before the due date specified under sub-section (1) of section 139 for furnishing the return of income for such assessment year, in case of a person having income from business or profession, and such option once exercised shall apply to subsequent assessment years; or

(ii) along with the return of income to be furnished under sub-section (1) of section 139 for such assessment year, in case of a person not having income referred to in clause (i) :

Provided that the option under clause (i) , once exercised for any previous year can be withdrawn only once for a previous year other than the year in which it was exercised and thereafter, the person shall never be eligible to exercise the option under this sub-section, except where such person ceases to have any income from business or profession in which case, option under clause (ii) shall be available.]

Tax on income of certain resident co-operative societies.

115BAD. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act but subject to the provisions of this Chapter, 41-42[other than those mentioned under section 115BAE,] the income-tax payable in respect of the total income of a person, being a co-operative society resident in India, for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or after the 1st day of April, 2021, shall, at the option of such person, be computed at the rate of twenty-two per cent, if the conditions contained in sub-section (2) are satisfied:

Provided that where the person fails to satisfy the conditions contained in sub-section (2) in computing its income in any previous year, the option shall become invalid in respect of the assessment year relevant to that previous year and subsequent assessment years and other provisions of the Act shall apply, as if the option had not been exercised for the assessment year relevant to that previous year and subsequent assessment years.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) , the total income of the co-operative society shall be computed,—

(i) without any deduction under the provisions of section 10AA or clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of section 32 or section 32AD or section 33AB or section 33ABA or sub-clause (ii) or sub-clause (iia) or sub-clause (iii) of sub-section (1) or sub-section (2AA) of section 35 or section 35AD or section 35CCC or under any of the provisions of Chapter VI-A other than the provisions of section 80JJAA;

(ii) without set off of any loss carried forward or depreciation from any earlier assessment year, if such loss or depreciation is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in clause (i) ; and

(iii) by claiming the depreciation, if any, under section 32, other than clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of the said section, determined in such manner as may be prescribed.

(3) The loss and depreciation referred to in clause (ii) of sub-section (2) shall be deemed to have been given full effect to and no further deduction for such loss or depreciation shall be allowed for any subsequent year:

Provided that where there is a depreciation allowance in respect of a block of asset which has not been given full effect to prior to the assessment year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2021, corresponding adjustment shall be made to the written down value of such block of assets as on the 1st day of April, 2020 in such manner as may be prescribed, if the option under sub-section (5) is exercised for a previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on the 1st day of April, 2021.

(4) In case of a person, having a Unit in the International Financial Services Centre, as referred to in sub-section (1A) of section 80LA, which has exercised option under sub-section (5) , the conditions contained in sub-section (2) shall be modified to the extent that the deduction under the said section shall be available to such Unit subject to fulfilment of the conditions contained in that section.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section, the term "Unit" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (zc) of section 2 of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005 (28 of 2005) .

(5) Nothing contained in this section shall apply unless option is exercised by the person in such manner as may be prescribed on or before the due date specified under sub-section (1) of section 139 for furnishing the return of income for any previous year relevant to the assessment year commencing on or after the 1st day of April, 2021 and such option once exercised shall apply to subsequent assessment years:

Provided that once the option has been exercised for any previous year, it cannot be subsequently withdrawn for the same or any other previous year.

[Tax on income of certain new manufacturing co-operative societies.

115BAE. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act but subject to the provisions of this Chapter, other than those mentioned under section 115BAD, the income-tax payable in respect of the total income of an assessee, being a co-operative society resident in India, for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or after the 1st day of April, 2024, shall, at the option of such assessee, be computed at the rate of fifteen per cent if the conditions contained in sub-section (2) are satisfied:

Provided that where the total income of the assessee includes any income, which has neither been derived from nor is incidental to, manufacturing or production of an article or thing and in respect of which no specific rate of tax has been provided separately under this Chapter, such income shall be taxed at the rate of twenty-two per cent and no deduction or allowance in respect of any expenditure or allowance shall be made in computing such income:

Provided further that the income-tax payable in respect of the income, of the assessee deemed so under the second proviso to sub-section (4) shall be computed at the rate of thirty per cent:

Provided also that the income-tax payable in respect of income, being short term capital gains derived from transfer of a capital asset on which no depreciation is allowable under the Act shall be computed at the rate of twenty-two per cent:

Provided also that where the assessee fails to satisfy the conditions contained in sub-section (2) in any previous year, the option shall become invalid in respect of the assessment year relevant to that previous year and subsequent assessment years and other provisions of the Act shall apply to the assessee as if the option had not been exercised for the assessment year relevant to that previous year and subsequent assessment years.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) , the following conditions shall apply, namely:—

(a) the co-operative society has been set-up and registered on or after the 1st day of April, 2023, and has commenced manufacturing or production of an article or thing on or before the 31st day of March, 2024 and,—

(i) the business is not formed by splitting up, or the reconstruction, of a business already in existence;

(ii) does not use any machinery or plant previously used for any purpose.

Explanation 1.— For the purposes of sub-clause (ii) , any machinery or plant which was used outside India by any other person shall not be regarded as machinery or plant previously used for any purpose, if the following conditions are fulfilled, namely:—

(A) such machinery or plant was not, at any time previous to the date of the installation, used in India;

(B) such machinery or plant is imported into India from any country outside India; and

(C) no deduction on account of depreciation in respect of such machinery or plant has been allowed or is allowable under the provisions of this Act in computing the total income of any person for any period prior to the date of installation of machinery or plant by the person.

Explanation 2.— Where any machinery or plant or any part thereof previously used for any purpose is put to use by the assessee and the total value of such machinery or plant or part thereof does not exceed twenty per cent of the total value of the machinery or plant used by the assessee, then, for the purposes of sub-clause (ii) , the condition specified therein shall be deemed to have been complied with;

(b) the assessee is not engaged in any business other than the business of manufacture or production of any article or thing and research in relation to, or distribution of, such article or thing manufactured or produced by it.

Explanation.— For the removal of doubts, it is hereby clarified that the business of manufacture or production of any article or thing shall include the business of generation of electricity, but not include a business of,—

(i) development of computer software in any form or in any media;

(ii) mining;

(iii) conversion of marble blocks or similar items into slabs;

(iv) bottling of gas into cylinder;

(v) printing of books or production of cinematograph film; or

(vi) any other business as may be notified by the Central Government in this behalf;

(c) the total income of the assessee has been computed,—

(i) without any deduction under the provisions of section 10AA or clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of section 32 or section 33AB or section 33ABA or sub-clause (ii) or sub-clause (iia) or sub-clause (iii) of sub-section (1) or sub-section (2AA) of section 35 or section 35AD or section 35CCC or under any of the provisions of Chapter VI-A other than the provisions of section 80JJAA;

(ii) without set off of any loss carried forward or depreciation from any earlier assessment year, if such loss or depreciation is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in clause (i) ; and

(iii) by claiming the depreciation, if any, under section 32, other than clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of the said section, determined in such manner as may be prescribed.

(3) The loss and depreciation referred to in sub-clause (ii) of clause (c) of sub-section (2) shall be deemed to have been given full effect to and no further deduction for such loss shall be allowed for any subsequent year.

(4) Where it appears to the Assessing Officer that, owing to the close connection between the assessee to which this section applies and any other person, or for any other reason, the course of business between them is so arranged that the business transacted between them produces to the assessee more than the ordinary profits which might be expected to arise in such business, the Assessing Officer shall, in computing the profits and gains of such business for the purposes of this section, take the amount of profits as may be reasonably deemed to have been derived therefrom:

Provided that in case the aforesaid arrangement involves a specified domestic transaction referred to in section 92BA, the amount of profits from such transaction shall be determined having regard to arm's length price as defined in clause (ii) of section 92F:

Provided further that the amount, being profits in excess of the amount of the profits determined by the Assessing Officer, shall be deemed to be the income of the assessee.

(5) Nothing contained in this section shall apply unless the option is exercised by the person in the prescribed manner on or before the due date specified under sub-section (1) of section 139 for furnishing the first of the returns of income for any previous year relevant to the assessment year commencing on or after the 1st day of April, 2024, and such option once exercised shall apply to subsequent assessment years:

Provided that once the option has been exercised for any previous year shall not be allowed to be withdrawn for the same or any other previous year.]

[Tax on income of certain new manufacturing co-operative societies.

115BAE. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act but subject to the provisions of this Chapter, other than those mentioned under section 115BAD, the income-tax payable in respect of the total income of an assessee, being a co-operative society resident in India, for any previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or after the 1st day of April, 2024, shall, at the option of such assessee, be computed at the rate of fifteen per cent if the conditions contained in sub-section (2) are satisfied:

Provided that where the total income of the assessee includes any income, which has neither been derived from nor is incidental to, manufacturing or production of an article or thing and in respect of which no specific rate of tax has been provided separately under this Chapter, such income shall be taxed at the rate of twenty-two per cent and no deduction or allowance in respect of any expenditure or allowance shall be made in computing such income:

Provided further that the income-tax payable in respect of the income, of the assessee deemed so under the second proviso to sub-section (4) shall be computed at the rate of thirty per cent:

Provided also that the income-tax payable in respect of income, being short term capital gains derived from transfer of a capital asset on which no depreciation is allowable under the Act shall be computed at the rate of twenty-two per cent:

Provided also that where the assessee fails to satisfy the conditions contained in sub-section (2) in any previous year, the option shall become invalid in respect of the assessment year relevant to that previous year and subsequent assessment years and other provisions of the Act shall apply to the assessee as if the option had not been exercised for the assessment year relevant to that previous year and subsequent assessment years.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) , the following conditions shall apply, namely:—

(a) the co-operative society has been set-up and registered on or after the 1st day of April, 2023, and has commenced manufacturing or production of an article or thing on or before the 31st day of March, 2024 and,—

(i) the business is not formed by splitting up, or the reconstruction, of a business already in existence;

(ii) does not use any machinery or plant previously used for any purpose.

Explanation 1.— For the purposes of sub-clause (ii) , any machinery or plant which was used outside India by any other person shall not be regarded as machinery or plant previously used for any purpose, if the following conditions are fulfilled, namely:—

(A) such machinery or plant was not, at any time previous to the date of the installation, used in India;

(B) such machinery or plant is imported into India from any country outside India; and

(C) no deduction on account of depreciation in respect of such machinery or plant has been allowed or is allowable under the provisions of this Act in computing the total income of any person for any period prior to the date of installation of machinery or plant by the person.

Explanation 2.— Where any machinery or plant or any part thereof previously used for any purpose is put to use by the assessee and the total value of such machinery or plant or part thereof does not exceed twenty per cent of the total value of the machinery or plant used by the assessee, then, for the purposes of sub-clause (ii) , the condition specified therein shall be deemed to have been complied with;

(b) the assessee is not engaged in any business other than the business of manufacture or production of any article or thing and research in relation to, or distribution of, such article or thing manufactured or produced by it.

Explanation.— For the removal of doubts, it is hereby clarified that the business of manufacture or production of any article or thing shall include the business of generation of electricity, but not include a business of,—

(i) development of computer software in any form or in any media;

(ii) mining;

(iii) conversion of marble blocks or similar items into slabs;

(iv) bottling of gas into cylinder;

(v) printing of books or production of cinematograph film; or

(vi) any other business as may be notified by the Central Government in this behalf;

(c) the total income of the assessee has been computed,—

(i) without any deduction under the provisions of section 10AA or clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of section 32 or section 33AB or section 33ABA or sub-clause (ii) or sub-clause (iia) or sub-clause (iii) of sub-section (1) or sub-section (2AA) of section 35 or section 35AD or section 35CCC or under any of the provisions of Chapter VI-A other than the provisions of section 80JJAA;

(ii) without set off of any loss carried forward or depreciation from any earlier assessment year, if such loss or depreciation is attributable to any of the deductions referred to in clause (i) ; and

(iii) by claiming the depreciation, if any, under section 32, other than clause (iia) of sub-section (1) of the said section, determined in such manner as may be prescribed.

(3) The loss and depreciation referred to in sub-clause (ii) of clause (c) of sub-section (2) shall be deemed to have been given full effect to and no further deduction for such loss shall be allowed for any subsequent year.

(4) Where it appears to the Assessing Officer that, owing to the close connection between the assessee to which this section applies and any other person, or for any other reason, the course of business between them is so arranged that the business transacted between them produces to the assessee more than the ordinary profits which might be expected to arise in such business, the Assessing Officer shall, in computing the profits and gains of such business for the purposes of this section, take the amount of profits as may be reasonably deemed to have been derived therefrom:

Provided that in case the aforesaid arrangement involves a specified domestic transaction referred to in section 92BA, the amount of profits from such transaction shall be determined having regard to arm's length price as defined in clause (ii) of section 92F:

Provided further that the amount, being profits in excess of the amount of the profits determined by the Assessing Officer, shall be deemed to be the income of the assessee.

(5) Nothing contained in this section shall apply unless the option is exercised by the person in the prescribed manner on or before the due date specified under sub-section (1) of section 139 for furnishing the first of the returns of income for any previous year relevant to the assessment year commencing on or after the 1st day of April, 2024, and such option once exercised shall apply to subsequent assessment years:

Provided that once the option has been exercised for any previous year shall not be allowed to be withdrawn for the same or any other previous year.]

205.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

Clause 205 of the Bill provides for the conditions for the concessional rate of taxes applicable under clauses 199, 200, 201, 203 and 204. The clause corresponds to same or similar provisions across sections 115BA, 115BAA, 115BAB, 115BAD and 115BAE of the Act which have been consolidated in the clause.

205.4 Examination by the Committee:

Regarding clarification sought on Clause 205(5)'s phrase "more than ordinary profits" align consistently with Clause 152 and other special pricing rules in the Bill, the Ministry in its written reply stated as under:

> The phraseology used in clause 205(5) pertaining to income deemed due to arrangements producing "more than ordinary profits" in respect of section 201 and section 204 is as per the extant provisions of section 115BAB and 115BAE. So it is consistent with the provisions of the I T Act.

205.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 205 under examination, including the justification given by the Ministry of Finance, find the proposed provisions appropriate and reasonable. The Committee recommend to accept Clause 205 as proposed. The Clause consolidates and streamlines conditions previously contained in sections 115BA, 115BAA, 115BAB, 115BAD, and 115BAE of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, thereby providing greater clarity and ease of application. Further, the Committee note that there are references to the IT Act, 1961 in the proposed clause, which deviates from the intention of the Committee for a clean break of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 from the IT Act, 1961. The committee are of the view that the clause referencing to 1961 will make the reading unwieldy and therefore the Committee recommend that the Ministry remove this reference from the proposed provisions under clause 205 of the Income-tax Bill, 2025, and instead incorporate it under the Repeal and Saving provisions under Clause 536.

D.—Special provisions relating to minimum alternate tax and alternate minimum tax Clause-206-.Special provision for minimum alternate tax and alternate minimum tax.

206.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

206. (1) Irrespective of anything contained in any other provision of this Act, where in the case of an assessee, referred to in column B of Table, the income-tax payable on the total income as computed under this Act in respect of a tax year is less than the percentage referred to in column C of the said Table of book profit in the case of a company or of adjusted total income in any other case, computed as per the provisions of Note to the said Table, then—–

(a) such book profit in the case of a company or such adjusted total income in any other case shall be deemed to be the total income of that assessee for such tax year; and

(b) the tax payable on such total income shall be at the rate provided in column C of the said Table.

Sl. No.	Assessee	Percentageof book profit or adjusted total income
A	B	C
1.	A company, other than a unit as referred to against serial number 2.	15% of book profit.
2.	A unit, being a company located in an International Financial Services Centre and derives its income solely in convertible foreign exchange.	9%of book profit.
3.	A person, other than—	18.5% of adjusted total income.

	(a) a company; (b) a co-operative society; (c) a unit as referred to against serial number 4.
4	A unit, being a person other than a company located in an International Financial Services Centre and derives its income solely in convertible foreign exchange.	9%of adjusted total income.
5	A co-operative society.	15%of adjusted total income.

.

A	B	C
	(i) the amount or amounts set aside as provision for diminution in the value of any asset, if any such amount is debited to the statement of profit and loss; (j) the amount standing in revaluation reserve relating to revalued asset on the retirement or disposal of such asset, if any such amount is not credited to the statement of profit and loss; and (k) such amounts mentioned in column C of the Table under sub-section (4) , in case of an assessee mentioned in column B of the said Table.

(3) For the purposes of this section, every company shall prepare its statement of profit and loss for the relevant tax year in the following manner:—

(a) if it is an insurance or banking company, or a company engaged in the generation or supply of electricity, or any other class of company for which a form of financial statement has been specified under the enactment governing such class of company, as per the provisions of such enactment;

(b) in all other cases, as per the provisions of Schedule III to the Companies Act, 2013.

(4) While computing the book profit under sub-section (2) , the following amounts shall be further adjusted:—

S. No.	Assessee	Amounts (to be increased)	Amount (to be decreased)
A	B	C	D
1.	A company being a member of association of persons or body of individuals	The amount or amounts of expenditure relatable to income referred to in Note if any such amount is debited to the statement of profit and loss	Income referred to in Note if any such amount is credited to the statement of profit and loss.

Note : Income, being share of the assessee in the income of an association of persons or body of individuals, on which no income-tax is payable as per the provisions of section 310.

2.	A foreign company	The amount or amounts of expenditure	Income referred to in Note , if such income is credited relatable to income referred to in Note ,if any such amount is debited to the statement of profit and loss.	to the statement of profit and loss.

A	B	C	D

Note: Income, accruing or arising to an assessee from—

(a) the capital gains arising on transactions in securities; or

(b) the interest, dividend, royalty or fees for technical services chargeable to tax at the rate or rates specified in Chapter XIII, if the income-tax payable thereon as per the provisions of this Act, other than the provisions of this Part, is at a rate less than the rate specified in sub-section (1) .

3.	A company, which has transferred any capital asset, being share of a special purpose vehicle to a business	Amount referred to in Note,if any such amount is debited to the statement of profit and loss.	Amount referred to in Note, if any such amount is credited to the statement of profit and loss.

	trust

Note: The amount representing—

(a) the notional loss on transfer of such capital asset, to a business trust in exchange of units allotted by the trust referred to in section 70(1) (zi) ; or

(b) the notional loss resulting from any change in carrying amount of the said units; or

(c) the loss on transfer of units referred to in section 70(1) (zi) .

4.	A company, which has transferred any capital asset, as referred to against serial number 3	Gain on transfer of units referred to in Note	Loss on transfer of units referred to in Note.

Note: Units referred to in section 70(1) (zi) , computed by taking into account the cost of the shares exchanged with units referred to in the said clause, or the carrying amount of the shares at the time of exchange, where such shares are carried at a value other than the cost through statement of profit and loss, as the case may be.

5.	Where total income includes	The amount or amounts of expenditure	Income by way of such royalty.

	income by way of royalty in respect of a patent which is chargeable to tax under section 194(1) (Table: Sl. No. 2) .	relatable to such royalty income, if any such amount is debited to the statement of profit and loss

A	B	C	D
6.	A company, and its subsidiary and the subsidiary of such subsidiary, where, the Tribunal, on an application moved by the Central Government under section 241 of the Companies Act, 2013 has after suspension of the Board of	Nil	The aggregate of unabsorbed depreciation and loss (excluding depreciation) brought forward.

	Directors of such company has nominated new directors under section 242 of the said Act
7.	A company against whom corporate insolvency resolution process has been admitted by the Adjudicating Authority under section 7 or 9 or 10 of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016	Nil	The aggregate of unabsorbed depreciation and loss (excluding depreciation) brought forward.
8.	A sick industrial company under section 17(1) of the Sick Industrial Companies	Nil.	Profits for the tax year in which the such company has become a sick industrial company and ending with the tax year during (Special Provisions) Act, 1985, as it stood immediately before its repeal by the Sick Industrial Companies (Special Provisions) Repeal Act, 2003		which the entire net worth of such company becomes equal to or exceeds the accumulated losses.

A	B	C	D
9.	A company whose financial statements are drawn up in compliance with the Indian Accounting Standards, specified in Annexure to the Companies (Indian Accounting	(a) All amounts credited to the statement of profit and loss as referred in Note 1; (c) the amounts or aggregate of the amounts debited to the statement of profit and loss on distribution as referred in Note 2; (c) one-fifth of the transition amount, in the year of	(a) All amounts debited to the statement of profit and loss as referred in Note 1; (b) the amounts or aggregate of the amounts credited to the statement of profit and loss on distribution as referred in Note 2; (c) one-fifth of the transition amount, in the year of convergence and Standards) Rules, 2015 made under the Companies Act, 2013.	convergence and each of the following four tax years, if such amount is not decreased; (d) the amount or the aggregate of the amounts referred to in Note 3, if such amount is not decreased; (e) the amount or the aggregate of the amounts referred to in Note 4, if such amount is not decreased.	each of the following four tax years, if such amount is not increased; (d) the amount or the aggregate of the amounts referred to in Note 3, if such amount is not increased; (f) the amount or the aggregate of the amounts referred to in Note 4, if such amount is not increased.

Note 1: Other comprehensive income in the statement of profit and loss under the head “Items that will not be re-classified to profit or loss”, excluding—

(i) revaluation surplus for assets as per the Indian Accounting Standards 16 and Indian Accounting Standards 38; or

(ii) gains or losses from investments in equity instruments designated at fair value through other comprehensive income as per the Indian Accounting Standards 109; and the amount or the aggregate of the amounts referred to in clause (a) (i) and (ii) for the tax year or any of the preceding tax years, and relatable to such asset or investment, in the tax year in which the said asset or investment referred to in clause (a) is retired, disposed, realised or otherwise transferred.

Note 2: on distribution of non-cash assets to shareholders in a demerger as per Appendix A of the Indian Accounting Standards 10.

Note 3: sub-section (19) (f) (ii) to (v) relatable to such asset or investment, in the tax year in which the asset or investment referred to in such sub-clauses is retired, disposed, realised or otherwise transferred.

Note 4: sub-section (19) (f) (ii) to (v) relatable to such foreign operations, in the tax year in which the foreign operation referred to in such sub-clause is disposed or otherwise transferred.

of a country or a specified territory with which India has an agreement referred to in section 159(1) or the Central Government has adopted any agreement under section 159(2) and the assessee does not have a permanent establishment (5) In case of a person, being a company, while preparing the annual accounts including statement of profit and loss,—

(a) the accounting policies;

(b) the accounting standards adopted for preparing such accounts including statement of profit and loss; and

(c) the method and rates adopted for calculating the depreciation, shall be the same as have been adopted for the purpose of preparing such accounts including statement of profit and loss and laid before the company at its annual general meeting as per the provisions of section 129 of the Companies Act, 2013, or correspond to the accounting policies, accounting standards and the method and rates for calculating the depreciation which have been adopted for preparing such accounts including statement of profit and loss for, such financial year or part of such financial year falling within the relevant tax year, where the company has adopted or adopts the financial year under the which is different from the tax year under this Act.

(6) The provisions of this section shall not be applicable to any assessee, being a foreign company, where—

(a) the assessee is a resident in India as per the provisions of such agreement; or

(b) the assessee is a resident of a country with which India does not have an agreement of the nature referred to in clause (a) and the assessee is not required to seek registration under any law in force relating to companies; or

(c) its total income comprises solely of profits and gains from business referred to in section 61(2) (Table: Sl. Nos. 1, 3, 4 and 5) , and such income has been offered to tax at the rates specified in the respective sections.

(7) In the case of a resulting company, where the property and the liabilities of the undertaking or undertakings being received by it are recorded at values different from the values appearing in the books of account of the demerged company immediately before the demerger, any change in such value shall be ignored for the purpose of computation of book profit of the resulting company under this section.

(8) In the case of an assessee being a company, where—

(a) there is an increase in book profit of the tax year due to income of past year or years included in the book profit on account of—

(i) an advance pricing agreement entered into by the assessee under section 168; or

(ii) a secondary adjustment required to be made under section 170; and

(b) the assessee has not utilised the credit of tax paid under this section in any subsequent tax year under sub-section (13) , the Assessing Officer shall, on an application made to him in this behalf by the assessee,––

(i) recompute the book profit of the past year or years and tax payable, if any, by the assessee during the tax year under sub-section (1) in such manner, as prescribed; and

(ii) the provisions of section 287 shall, so far as may be, apply and the period of four years specified in sub-sections(7) and (8) of that section shall be reckoned from the end of the tax year in which the said application is received by the Assessing Officer.

(9) Irrespective of anything contained in any other provisions of this Act, no interest shall be payable to an assessee on the refund arising on account of the provisions of sub-section (8) .

(10) In the case of an assessee being a company, nothing contained in sub-section (1) shall affect the determination of the amounts in relation to the relevant tax year to be carried forward to the subsequent year or years under the provisions of—

(a) section 33(11) ; or

(b) section 111; or

(c) section 112(1) ; or

(d) section 113; or

(e) section 115.

(11) Every assessee to which this section applies, shall furnish a report in the prescribed form from an accountant, certifying that the book profit in the case of a company, or adjusted total income in any other case, has been computed as per the provisions of this section—

(a) before the specified date referred to in section 63; or

(b) along with the return of income furnished in response to a notice under section 268(1) in the case of an assessee being a company.

(12) Save as otherwise provided in this section, all other provisions of this Act shall apply to every assessee mentioned in this section.

(13) Where any tax is paid under sub-section (1) by an assessee, then, credit shall be allowed to him of an amount which shall be the difference of the tax paid for any tax year under sub-section (1) and tax payable by the assessee on his total income computed as per the other provisions of this Act.

(14) While allowing credit under sub-section (13) ,—

(a) no interest shall be payable on the tax credit so allowed; and

(b) where tax credit in respect of any income-tax paid in any country or specified territory outside India, under section 159(1) or (2) , allowed against the tax payable under the provisions of sub-section (1) exceeds such tax credit admissible against the tax payable by the assessee on its income as per the other provisions of this Act, then, while computing the credit under sub-section (13) , such excess amount shall be ignored.

(15) Tax credit determined under sub-section (13) shall be carried forward and—

(a) set off in a year, when tax becomes payable on the total income computed as per the provisions of this Act exceeds tax determined under sub-section (1) ; and

(b) such set off in respect of brought forward tax credit shall be allowed for any tax year to the extent of the difference between the tax on his total income and the tax which would have been payable under the provisions of sub-section (1) for that tax year, and such carry forward shall not be allowed beyond the fifteenth tax year immediately succeeding the tax year in which the tax credit becomes allowable under sub-section (13) .

(16) Where as a result of any order passed under this Act, tax payable under this Act is reduced or increased, tax credit allowed under sub-section (13) shall also be increased or reduced accordingly.

(17) In case of conversion of a private company or unlisted public company into a limited liability partnership under the Limited Liability Partnership Act, 2008, the provisions of this section shall not apply to the successor limited liability partnership.

(18) The provisions of this section shall not apply to—

(a) a person, being a company having income accruing or arising from life insurance business referred to in section 194(1) (Table: Sl. No. 6) ; or

(b) a person, who has exercised the option under—

(i) section 200(5) ; or

(ii) section 201(2) ; or

(iii) section 203(5) ; or

(iv) section 204(2) ; or

(c) a person, whose income-tax payable in respect of the total income of such person is computed under section 202(1) ; or

(d) an individual or a Hindu undivided family or an association of persons or a body of individuals, whether incorporated or not, or an artificial juridical person referred to in section 2(77) (g) , if the adjusted total income of such person does not exceed twenty lakh rupees; or

(e) any specified fund referred to in Schedule VI (Note 1) .

(19) In this section,—

(a) “Adjudicating Authority” shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 5(1) of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016;

(b) “convergence date” means the first day of the first Indian Accounting Standards reporting period as defined in the Indian Accounting Standards 101;

(c) “net worth” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 3(1) (ga) of the Sick Industrial Companies (Special Provisions) Act, 1985, as it stood immediately before its repeal by the Sick Industrial Companies (Special Provisions) Repeal Act, 2003;

(d) “private company” and “unlisted public company” shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in the Limited Liability Partnership Act, 2008;

(e) “securities” shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 2(h) of the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956;

(f) “transition amount” means the amount or the aggregate of the amounts adjusted in the other equity (excluding capital reserve and securities premium reserve) on the convergence date, but not including the following:—

(i) amount or aggregate of the amounts adjusted in the other comprehensive income on the convergence date which shall be subsequently re-classified to the profit or loss;

(ii) revaluation surplus for assets as per the Indian Accounting Standards 16 and Indian Accounting Standards 38 adjusted on the convergence date;

(iii) gains or losses from investments in equity instruments designated at fair value through other comprehensive income as per the Indian Accounting Standards 109 adjusted on the convergence date;

(iv) adjustments relating to items of property, plant and equipment and intangible assets recorded at fair value as deemed cost as per paragraphs D5 and D7 of the Indian Accounting Standards 101 on the convergence date;

(v) adjustments relating to investments in subsidiaries, joint ventures and associates recorded at fair value as deemed cost as per paragraph D15 of the Indian Accounting Standards 101 on the convergence date; and

(vi) adjustments relating to cumulative translation differences of a foreign operation as per paragraph D13 of the Indian Accounting Standards 101 on the convergence date.

(g) “Tribunal” shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 2(90) of the Companies Act, 2013;

(h) “Unit” means a unit established in an International Financial Services Centre;

(i) “year of convergence” means the tax year within which the convergence date falls; and

(j) a company shall be a subsidiary of another company, if such other company holds more than half in the nominal value of equity share capital of the company.

206.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115JB,115JC, 115JD, 115JE, 115JEE and 115JFare as under :

Special provision for payment of tax by certain companies.

115JB. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provision of this Act, where in the case of an assessee, being a company, the income-tax, payable on the total income as computed under this Act in respect of any previous year relevant to the assessment year commencing on or after the 1st day of April, 2012, is less than eighteen and one-half per cent of its book profit, such book profit shall be deemed to be the total income of the assessee and the tax payable by the assessee on such total income shall be the amount of income-tax at the rate of eighteen and one-half per cent:

Provided that for the previous year relevant to the assessment year commencing on or after the 1st day of April, 2020, the provisions of this sub-section shall have effect as if for the words "eighteen and one-half per cent" occurring at both the places, the words "fifteen per cent" had been substituted.

(2) Every assessee,—

(a) being a company, other than a company referred to in clause (b) , shall, for the purposes of this section, prepare its statement of profit and loss for the relevant previous year in accordance with the provisions of Schedule III to the Companies Act, 2013 (18 of 2013) ; or

(b) being a company, to which the second proviso to sub-section (1) of section 129 of the Companies Act, 2013 (18 of 2013) is applicable, shall, for the purposes of this section, prepare its statement of profit and loss for the relevant previous year in accordance with the provisions of the Act governing such company:

Provided that while preparing the annual accounts including statement of profit and loss,—

(i) the accounting policies;

(ii) the accounting standards adopted for preparing such accounts including statement of profit and loss;

(iii) the method and rates adopted for calculating the depreciation,

shall be the same as have been adopted for the purpose of preparing such accounts including statement of profit and loss and laid before the company at its annual general meeting in accordance with the provisions of section 129 of the Companies Act, 2013 (18 of 2013) :

Provided further that where the company has adopted or adopts the financial year under the Companies Act, 2013 (18 of 2013) , which is different from the previous year under this Act,—

(i) the accounting policies;

(ii) the accounting standards adopted for preparing such accounts including statement of profit and loss;

(iii) the method and rates adopted for calculating the depreciation, shall correspond to the accounting policies, accounting standards and the method and rates for calculating the depreciation which have been adopted for preparing such accounts including statement of profit and loss for such financial year or part of such financial year falling within the relevant previous year.

Explanation 1.—For the purposes of this section, "book profit" means the profit as shown in the statement of profit and loss for the relevant previous year prepared under sub-section (2) , as increased by—

(a) the amount of income-tax paid or payable, and the provision therefor; or

(b) the amounts carried to any reserves, by whatever name called, other than a reserve specified under section 33AC; or

(c) the amount or amounts set aside to provisions made for meeting liabilities, other than ascertained liabilities; or

(d) the amount by way of provision for losses of subsidiary companies; or

(e) the amount or amounts of dividends paid or proposed ; or

(f) the amount or amounts of expenditure relatable to any income to which section 10 (other than the provisions contained in clause (38) thereof) or section 11 or section 12 apply; or

(fa) the amount or amounts of expenditure relatable to income, being share of the assessee in the income of an association of persons or body of individuals, on which no income-tax is payable in accordance with the provisions of section 86; or

(fb) the amount or amounts of expenditure relatable to income accruing or arising to an assessee, being a foreign company, from,—

(A) the capital gains arising on transactions in securities; or

(B) the interest, dividend, royalty or fees for technical services chargeable to tax at the rate or rates specified in Chapter XII,

if the income-tax payable thereon in accordance with the provisions of this Act, other than the provisions of this Chapter, is at a rate less than the rate specified in sub-section (1) ; or

(fc) the amount representing notional loss on transfer of a capital asset, being share of a special purpose vehicle, to a business trust in exchange of units allotted by the trust referred to in clause (xvii) of section 47 or the amount representing notional loss resulting from any change in carrying amount of said units or the amount of loss on transfer of units referred to in clause (xvii) of section 47; or

(fd) the amount or amounts of expenditure relatable to income by way of royalty in respect of patent chargeable to tax under section 115BBF; or

(g) the amount of depreciation,

(h) the amount of deferred tax and the provision therefor,

(i) the amount or amounts set aside as provision for diminution in the value of any asset,

(j) the amount standing in revaluation reserve relating to revalued asset on the retirement or disposal of such asset,

(k) the amount of gain on transfer of units referred to in clause (xvii) of section 47 computed by taking into account the cost of the shares exchanged with units referred to in the said clause or the carrying amount of the shares at the time of exchange where such shares are carried at a value other than the cost through statement of profit and loss as the case may be;

if any amount referred to in clauses (a) to (i) is debited to the statement of profit and loss or if any amount referred to in clause (j) is not credited to the statement of profit and loss, and as reduced by,—

(i) the amount withdrawn from any reserve or provision (excluding a reserve created before the 1st day of April, 1997 otherwise than by way of a debit to the statement of profit and loss) , if any such amount is credited to the statement of profit and loss:

Provided that where this section is applicable to an assessee in any previous year, the amount withdrawn from reserves created or provisions made in a previous year relevant to the assessment year commencing on or after the 1st day of April, 1997 shall not be reduced from the book profit unless the book profit of such year has been increased by those reserves or provisions (out of which the said amount was withdrawn) under this Explanation or Explanation below the second proviso to section 115JA, as the case may be; or

(ii) the amount of income to which any of the provisions of section 10 (other than the provisions contained in clause (38) thereof) or section 11 or section 12 apply, if any such amount is credited to the statement of profit and loss; or

(iia) the amount of depreciation debited to the statement of profit and loss (excluding the depreciation on account of revaluation of assets) ; or

(iib) the amount withdrawn from revaluation reserve and credited to the statement of profit and loss, to the extent it does not exceed the amount of depreciation on account of revaluation of assets referred to in clause (iia) ; or

(iic) the amount of income, being the share of the assessee in the income of an association of persons or body of individuals, on which no income-tax is payable in accordance with the provisions of section 86, if any, such amount is credited to the statement of profit and loss; or

(iid) the amount of income accruing or arising to an assessee, being a foreign company, from,—

(A) the capital gains arising on transactions in securities; or

(B) the interest, dividend, royalty or fees for technical services chargeable to tax at the rate or rates specified in Chapter XII, if such income is credited to the statement of profit and loss and the income-tax payable thereon in accordance with the provisions of this Act, other than the provisions of this Chapter, is at a rate less than the rate specified in sub-section (1) ; or

(iie) the amount representing,—

(A) notional gain on transfer of a capital asset, being share of a special purpose vehicle to a business trust in exchange of units allotted by that trust referred to in clause (xvii) of section 47; or

(B) notional gain resulting from any change in carrying amount of said units; or

(C) gain on transfer of units referred to in clause (xvii) of section 47, if any, credited to the statement of profit and loss; or

(iif) the amount of loss on transfer of units referred to in clause (xvii) of section 47 computed by taking into account the cost of the shares exchanged with units referred to in the said clause or the carrying amount of the shares at the time of exchange where such shares are carried at a value other than the cost through statement of profit and loss, as the case may be; or

(iig) the amount of income by way of royalty in respect of patent chargeable to tax under section 115BBF; or

(iih) the aggregate amount of unabsorbed depreciation and loss brought forward in case of a—

(A) company, and its subsidiary and the subsidiary of such subsidiary, where, the Tribunal, on an application moved by the Central Government under section 241 of the Companies Act, 2013 (18 of 2013) has suspended the Board of Directors of such company and has appointed new directors who are nominated by the Central Government under section 242 of the said Act;

(B) company against whom an application for corporate insolvency resolution process has been admitted by the Adjudicating Authority under section 7 or section 9 or section 10 of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016 (31 of 2016) .

Explanation.—For the purposes of this clause,—

(i) "Adjudicating Authority" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (1) of section 5 of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016 (31 of 2016) ;

(ii) "Tribunal" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (90) of section 2 of the Companies Act, 2013 (18 of 2013) ;

(iii) a company shall be a subsidiary of another company, if such other company holds more than half in the nominal value of equity share capital of the company;

(iv) "loss" shall not include depreciation; or

(iii) the amount of loss brought forward or unabsorbed depreciation, whichever is less as per books of account in case of a company other than the company referred to in clause (iih) .

Explanation.—For the purposes of this clause,—

(a) the loss shall not include depreciation;

(b) the provisions of this clause shall not apply if the amount of loss brought forward or unabsorbed depreciation is nil; or

(iv) to (vi) []

(vii) the amount of profits of sick industrial company for the assessment year commencing on and from the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which the said company has become a sick industrial company under sub-section (1) of section 17 of the Sick Industrial Companies (Special Provisions) Act, 1985 (1 of 1986) and ending with the assessment year during which the entire net worth of such company becomes equal to or exceeds the accumulated losses.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this clause, "net worth" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (ga) of sub-section (1) of section 3 of the Sick Industrial Companies (Special Provisions) Act, 1985 (1 of 1986) ; or (viii) the amount of deferred tax, if any such amount is credited to the statement of profit and loss.

Explanation 2.—For the purposes of clause (a) of Explanation 1, the amount of income-tax shall include—

(i) any tax on distributed profits under section 115-O or on distributed income under section 115R;

(ii) any interest charged under this Act;

(iii) surcharge, if any, as levied by the Central Acts from time to time;

(iv) Education Cess on income-tax, if any, as levied by the Central Acts from time to time; and

(v) Secondary and Higher Education Cess on income-tax, if any, as levied by the Central Acts from time to time.

Explanation 3.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby clarified that for the purposes of this section, the assessee, being a company to which the second proviso to sub-section (1) of section 129 of the Companies Act, 2013 (18 of 2013) is applicable, has, for an assessment year commencing on or before the 1st day of April, 2012, an option to prepare its statement of profit and loss for the relevant previous year either in accordance with the provisions of Schedule III to the Companies Act, 2013 (18 of 2013) or in accordance with the provisions of the Act governing such company.

Explanation 4.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby clarified that the provisions of this section shall not be applicable and shall be deemed never to have been applicable to an assessee, being a foreign company, if—

(i) the assessee is a resident of a country or a specified territory with which India has an agreement referred to in sub-section (1) of section 90 or the Central Government has adopted any agreement under sub-section (1) of section 90A and the assessee does not have a permanent establishment in India in accordance with the provisions of such agreement; or

(ii) the assessee is a resident of a country with which India does not have an agreement of the nature referred to in clause (i) and the assessee is not required to seek registration under any law for the time being in force relating to companies.

Explanation 4A.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby clarified that the provisions of this section shall not be applicable and shall be deemed never to have been applicable to an assessee, being a foreign company, where its total income comprises solely of profits and gains from business referred to in section 44B or section 44BB or section 44BBA or section 44BBB and such income has been offered to tax at the rates specified in those sections.

Explanation 5.—For the purposes of sub-section (2) , the expression "securities" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (h) of section 2 of the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956 (42 of 1956) .

(2A) For a company whose financial statements are drawn up in compliance to the Indian Accounting Standards specified in Annexure to the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015, the book profit as computed in accordance with Explanation 1 to sub-section (2) shall be further—

(a) increased by all amounts credited to other comprehensive income in the statement of profit and loss under the head "Items that will not be re-classified to profit or loss";

(b) decreased by all amounts debited to other comprehensive income in the statement of profit and loss under the head "Items that will not be re-classified to profit or loss";

(c) increased by amounts or aggregate of the amounts debited to the statement of profit and loss on distribution of non-cash assets to shareholders in a demerger in accordance with Appendix A of the Indian Accounting Standards 10;

(d) decreased by all amounts or aggregate of the amounts credited to the statement of profit and loss on distribution of non-cash assets to shareholders in a demerger in accordance with Appendix A of the Indian Accounting Standards 10:

Provided that nothing contained in clause (a) or clause (b) shall apply to the amount credited or debited to other comprehensive income under the head "Items that will not be re-classified to profit or loss" in respect of—

(i) revaluation surplus for assets in accordance with the Indian Accounting Standards 16 and Indian Accounting Standards 38; or

(ii) gains or losses from investments in equity instruments designated at fair value through other comprehensive income in accordance with the Indian Accounting Standards 109:

Provided further that the book profit of the previous year in which the asset or investment referred to in the first proviso is retired, disposed, realised or otherwise transferred shall be increased or decreased, as the case may be, by the amount or the aggregate of the amounts referred to in the first proviso for the previous year or any of the preceding previous years and relatable to such asset or investment.

(2B) In the case of a resulting company, where the property and the liabilities of the undertaking or undertakings being received by it are recorded at values different from values appearing in the books of account of the demerged company immediately before the demerger, any change in such value shall be ignored for the purpose of computation of book profit of the resulting company under this section.

(2C) For a company referred to in sub-section (2A) , the book profit of the year of convergence and each of the following four previous years, shall be further increased or decreased, as the case may be, by one-fifth of the transition amount:

Provided that the book profit of the previous year in which the asset or investment referred to in sub-clauses (B) to (E) of clause (iii) of the Explanation is retired, disposed, realised or otherwise transferred, shall be increased or decreased, as the case may be,

by the amount or the aggregate of the amounts referred to in the said sub-clauses relatable to such asset or investment:

Provided further that the book profit of the previous year in which the foreign operation referred to in sub-clause (F) of clause (iii) of the Explanation is disposed or otherwise transferred, shall be increased or decreased, as the case may be, by the amount or the aggregate of the amounts referred to in the said sub-clause relatable to such foreign operations.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section, the expression—

(i) "year of convergence" means the previous year within which the convergence date falls;

(ii) "convergence date" means the first day of the first Indian Accounting Standards reporting period as defined in the Indian Accounting Standards 101;

(iii) "transition amount" means the amount or the aggregate of the amounts adjusted in the other equity (excluding capital reserve and securities premium reserve) on the convergence date but not including the following:—

(A) amount or aggregate of the amounts adjusted in the other comprehensive income on the convergence date which shall be subsequently re-classified to the profit or loss;

(B) revaluation surplus for assets in accordance with the Indian Accounting Standards 16 and Indian Accounting Standards 38 adjusted on the convergence date;

(C) gains or losses from investments in equity instruments designated at fair value through other comprehensive income in accordance with the Indian Accounting Standards 109 adjusted on the convergence date;

(D) adjustments relating to items of property, plant and equipment and intangible assets recorded at fair value as deemed cost in accordance with paragraphs D5 and D7 of the Indian Accounting Standards 101 on the convergence date;

(E) adjustments relating to investments in subsidiaries, joint ventures and associates recorded at fair value as deemed cost in accordance with paragraph D15 of the Indian Accounting Standards 101 on the convergence date; and

(F) adjustments relating to cumulative translation differences of a foreign operation in accordance with paragraph D13 of the Indian Accounting Standards 101 on the convergence date.

(2D) In the case of an assessee being a company, where there is an increase in book profit of the previous year due to income of past year or years included in the book profit on account of an advance pricing agreement entered into by the assessee under section 92CC or on account of secondary adjustment required to be made under section 92CE, the Assessing Officer shall, on an application made to him in this behalf by the assessee, recomputed the book profit of the past year or years and tax payable, if any, by the assessee during the previous year under sub-section (1) , in such manner as may be prescribed and the provisions of section 154 shall, so far as may be, apply and the period of four years specified in sub-section (7) of that section shall be reckoned from the end of the financial year in which the said application is received by the Assessing Officer:

Provided that the provisions of this sub-section shall apply only if the assessee has not utilised the credit of tax paid under this section in any subsequent assessment year under section 115JAA:

Provided further that the provisions of this sub-section shall also apply to an assessment year beginning on or before the 1st day of April, 2020 and notwithstanding anything contained in any other provisions of this Act, no interest shall be payable to such assessee on the refund arising on account of the provisions of this sub-section.

(3) Nothing contained in sub-section (1) shall affect the determination of the amounts in relation to the relevant previous year to be carried forward to the subsequent year or years under the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 32 or sub-section (3) of section 32A or clause (ii) of sub-section (1) of section 72 or section 73 or section 74 or sub-section (3) of section 74A.

(4) Every company to which this section applies, shall furnish a report in the prescribed form from an accountant as defined in the Explanation below sub-section (2) of section 288, certifying that the book profit has been computed in accordance with the provisions of this section before the specified date referred to in section 44AB or along with the return of income furnished in response to a notice under clause (i) of sub-section (1) of section 142.

(5) Save as otherwise provided in this section, all other provisions of this Act shall apply to every assessee, being a company, mentioned in this section.

(5A) The provisions of this section shall not apply to,—

(i) any income accruing or arising to a company from life insurance business referred to in section 115B;

(ii) a person who has exercised the option referred to under section 115BAA or section 115BAB.

(6) The provisions of this section shall not apply to the income accrued or arising on or after the 1st day of April, 2005 from any business carried on, or services rendered, by an entrepreneur or a Developer, in a Unit or Special Economic Zone, as the case may be:

Provided that the provisions of this sub-section shall cease to have effect in respect of any previous year relevant to the assessment year commencing on or after the 1st day of April, 2012.

(7) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1) , where the assessee referred to therein, is a unit located in an International Financial Services Centre and derives its income solely in convertible foreign exchange, the provisions of sub-section (1) shall have the effect as if for the words "eighteen and one-half per cent" wherever occurring in that sub-section, the words "nine per cent" had been substituted.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section,—

(a) "International Financial Services Centre" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (q) of section 2 of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005 (28 of 2005) ;

(b) "unit" means a unit established in an International Financial Services Centre;

(c) "convertible foreign exchange" means a foreign exchange which is for the time being treated by the Reserve Bank of India as convertible foreign exchange for the purposes of the Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999 (42 of 1999) and the rules made thereunder.

Special provisions for payment of tax by certain persons other than a company.

115JC. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, where the regular income-tax payable for a previous year by a person, other than a company, is less than the alternate minimum tax payable for such previous year, the adjusted total income shall be deemed to be the total income of that person for such previous year and he shall be liable to pay income-tax on such total income at the rate of eighteen and one-half per cent.

(2) Adjusted total income referred to in sub-section (1) shall be the total income before giving effect to this Chapter as increased by—

(i) deductions claimed, if any, under any section (other than section 80P) included in Chapter VI-A under the heading "C.—Deductions in respect of certain incomes";

(ii) deduction claimed, if any, under section 10AA; and

(iii) deduction claimed, if any, under section 35AD as reduced by the amount of depreciation allowable in accordance with the provisions of section 32 as if no deduction under section 35AD was allowed in respect of the assets on which the deduction under that section is claimed.

(3) Every person to whom this section applies shall obtain a report, before the specified date referred to in section 44AB, in such form as may be prescribed, from an accountant referred to in the Explanation below sub-section (2) of section 288, certifying that the adjusted total income and the alternate minimum tax have been computed in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter and furnish such report by that date.

(4) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1) , where the person referred to therein, is a—

(i) unit located in an International Financial Services Centre and derives its income solely in convertible foreign exchange, the provisions of sub-section (1) shall have effect as if for the words "eighteen and one-half per cent", the words "nine per cent" had been substituted;

(ii) co-operative society, the provisions of sub-section (1) shall have effect as if for the words "eighteen and one-half per cent", the words "fifteen per cent" had been substituted.

47[(5) The provisions of this section shall not apply to a person, where—

(i) such person has exercised the option referred to in sub-section (5) of section 115BAC or sub-section (5) of section 115BAD or sub-section (5) of section 115BAE; or

(ii) income-tax payable in respect of the total income of such person is computed under sub-section (1A) of section 115BAC.]

Tax credit for alternate minimum tax.

115JD. (1) The credit for tax paid by a person under section 115JC shall be allowed to him in accordance with the provisions of this section.

(2) The tax credit of an assessment year to be allowed under sub-section (1) shall be the excess of alternate minimum tax paid over the regular income-tax payable of that year:

Provided that where the amount of tax credit in respect of any income-tax paid in any country or specified territory outside India under section 90 or section 90A or section 91, allowed against the alternate minimum tax payable, exceeds the amount of the tax credit admissible against the regular income-tax payable by the assessee, then, while computing the amount of credit under this sub-section, such excess amount shall be ignored.

(3) No interest shall be payable on tax credit allowed under sub-section (1) .

(4) The amount of tax credit determined under sub-section (2) shall be carried forward and set off in accordance with the provisions of sub-sections (5) and (6) but such carry forward shall not be allowed beyond the fifteenth assessment year immediately succeeding the assessment year for which tax credit becomes allowable under sub-section (1) .

(5) In any assessment year in which the regular income-tax exceeds the alternate minimum tax, the tax credit shall be allowed to be set off to the extent of the excess of regular income-tax over the alternate minimum tax and the balance of the tax credit, if any, shall be carried forward.

(6) If the amount of regular income-tax or the alternate minimum tax is reduced or increased as a result of any order passed under this Act, the amount of tax credit allowed under this section shall also be varied accordingly.

[48][(7) The provisions of this section shall not apply to a person, where—

(i) such person has exercised the option referred to in sub-section (5) of section 115BAC or sub-section (5) of section 115BAD or sub-section (5) of section 115BAE; or

(ii) income-tax payable in respect of the total income of such person is computed under sub-section (1A) of section 115BAC.]

Application of other provisions of this Act.

115JE. Save as otherwise provided in this Chapter, all other provisions of this Act shall apply to a person referred to in this Chapter.

Application of this Chapter to certain persons.

115JEE. (1) The provisions of this Chapter shall apply to a person who has claimed any deduction under—

(a) any section (other than section 80P) included in Chapter VI-A under the heading "C.—Deductions in respect of certain incomes"; or

(b) section 10AA; or

(c) section 35AD.

(2) The provisions of this Chapter shall not apply to an individual or a Hindu undivided family or an association of persons or a body of individuals, whether incorporated or not, or an artificial juridical person referred to in sub-clause (vii) of clause (31) of section 2, if the adjusted total income of such person does not exceed twenty lakh rupees.

(2A) The provisions of this Chapter shall not apply to specified fund referred to in clause (c) of the Explanation to clause (4D) of section 10.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) , the credit for tax paid under section 115JC shall be allowed in accordance with the provisions of section 115JD.

Interpretation in this Chapter.

115JF. In this Chapter—

(a) "accountant" shall have the same meaning as in the Explanation below sub-section (2) of section 288;

(b) "alternate minimum tax" means the amount of tax computed on adjusted total income,—

(i) in case of an assessee being a unit referred to in clause (i) of sub-section (4) of section 115JC, at the rate of nine per cent;

(ia) in case of an assessee, being a co-operative society referred to in clause (ii) of sub-section (4) of section 115JC, at the rate of fifteen per cent;

(ii) in any other case, at a rate of eighteen and one-half per cent;

(ba) "convertible foreign exchange" means a foreign exchange which is for the time being treated by the Reserve Bank of India as convertible foreign exchange for the purpose of the Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999 (42 of 1999) and the rules made thereunder;

(bb) "International Financial Services Centre" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (q) of section 2 of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005 (28 of 2005) ;

(c) []

(d) "regular income-tax" means the income-tax payable for a previous year by a person on his total income in accordance with the provisions of this Act other than the provisions of this Chapter;

(e) "unit" means a unit established in an International Financial Services Centre.

206.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> Clause 206 of the Bill provides for provisions relating to taxation on book profits and deals with minimum alternate tax and alternate minimum tax. The clause is a combination of Section 115JB which pertains to MAT and Sections 115JC, 115JD, 115JE, 115JEE, 115JF of the Act which pertains to AMT. The provisions have been consolidated in a tabular format along with relevant note for the purposes of computation. This was provided for better clarity and ease of understanding. (further, on inputs of stakeholder it is proposed to separate the provisions of MAT and AMT) [The clause is proposed to be amended to restrict AMT applicability to taxpayers claiming specified deductions, to allow for setting off AMT credit in years where taxpayer is excluded from AMT scope and to allow for AMT provisions for companies converted to LLPs, to ensure conformity with the provisions of the Act].

206.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Important suggestions given by stakeholders/Experts are as under:

I. On Clause 206(1) regarding Clarification and Drafting Revisions on Clause 206(1) – Treatment and Scope of MAT & AMT under ITB 2025

   i. Clause 206 does not have a provision corresponding to section 115JEE (1) . In the absence of aforesaid provision, all eligible entities [e.g. individuals, firms, limited liability partnerships (LLPs)], would be liable to alternate minimum tax (AMT) irrespective of whether any deduction has been claimed under the specified sections. This may adversely impact such taxpayers by possibly increasing the effective tax rate on capital gains from 12.5% to 18.5%.

ii. Only non-corporate taxpayers opting for the new regime are insulated from AMT levy. AMT can trigger incremental tax liability for other noncorporate taxpayers not claiming specified deductions. AMT levy also applies to non-residents.

iii. Under the Income-Tax Act, 1961 (ITA) , non-corporate taxpayers are not liable to the Alternate Minimum Tax (AMT) levy if: · (i) The taxpayer has not claimed any of the specified deductions under Section 10AA, Section 35AD, or Part C of Chapter VI-A of the Act; and · (ii) The taxpayer is an individual, HUF, AOP, BOI, or AJP whose adjusted total income (ATI) , as defined under the ITA, 1961, does not exceed Rs 20 lakhs. b Condition (a) of the existing Act provides that the provisions of AMT are applicable only if a person has claimed deductions under Section 10AA, Section 35AD, or Part C of Chapter VI-A This implies that if deductions are claimed under any other sections or parts of Chapter VI-A, the AMT provisions would not apply. c Condition (b) of the existing Act provides that AMT provisions are not applicable if the person is an individual, HUF, AOP, BOI, or AJP, and has adjusted total income not exceeding Rs 20 lakhs. d In the new bill, through the introduction of Clause 206(18) (d) , only the second condition — relating to the income limit.

II. Drafting Correction to Clause 206(2) – Exclusion of Pre-1997 Reserves from MAT Computation

i. To claim the MAT exclusion, both conditions need to be fulfilled. If the reserve was created before April 1, 1997, by debit to P&L, it was not possible to increase the book profit as MAT provisions were not applicable during that period. Sub-clause (ii) should not be applicable to reserves created before April 1, 1997, by debit to P&L, so that withdrawal from such reserves is not subjected to the requirement of increasing book profit in the past year.

ii. In Sub-section (2) , in the formula I and R may represent as follows: I - amounts mentioned in column B of Table below, if such amount is debited to the statement of profit and loss R = amounts mentioned in column C of said Table, if such amount is credited to the statement of profit and loss. Consequently, such words “if any such amount is debited to the statement of profit and loss” can be removed from the point (a) to (j) in column B and the words “is credited to he statement of profit and loss” from (a) to (e) in column C. Further, in this Table, Column A may be deleted since there is only (1) in the Sl. No. Further, point (k) can be removed from this table since it is in relation to those adjustments separately stated in sub-section (4) . Also, point (f) can be stated as a note below the Table. This suggestion is for avoiding repetition of words.

III. Clarification on Inclusion of Surcharge in MAT Credit Computation under Clause 206(3)

i. It may be clarified whether surcharge should be considered while computing the credit, and similarly, whether the credit eligible for set-off in the year of utilization is inclusive or exclusive of surcharge. Controversy has arisen in the past regarding how to compute credit while comparing regular tax and MAT, particularly whether to include surcharge on either side— especially in the year of seeking setoff.

IV. On Clause 206(4)

i. The last part of the clauses causes circularity and ambiguity. Amend column C to refer to a positive transition amount or gain on retirement, disposal, realisation, or transfer of the revalued asset. Amend column D to refer to a negative transition amount or loss on disposal of the revalued asset.

ii. Under the existing provisions of the ITA, 1961, an upward as well as downward adjustment to the book profit is required to be made in the case of notional gains and notional losses These notional gains/notional losses are on account of transfer of capital asset being share of special purpose vehicle to a business trust in exchange of units allotted by that trust. b Under the ITB, 2025 adjustments in relation to notional losses are kept intact but there is no provision for adjustment of notional gain This leads to an ambiguity about whether adjustment for only notional losses would be allowed or notional gains are assumed to be incorporated in it. This omission means that notional gains on the transfer of SPV shares to a business trust, or on the fair valuation of units, are not accounted for in the downward adjustments This could potentially lead to an unfair tax burden on the sponsor of the business trust Creating such a liability for the promoters could undermine the attractiveness of using a business trust as a vehicle. Moreover, there does not appear to be any clear rationale for such a policy change. The anomaly seems to be unintended. A provision for adjustment in respect of such gains should be introduced, similar to the existing provision for adjustment in respect of losses. It is recommended that the ITB 2025 be amended to include a specific provision for the reduction of notional gains on the transfer of SPV shares to a business trust, to ensure fair and consistent tax treatment for the sponsors of business trusts.

- No specific provision to exclude notional gain either at the time of transfer of shares of SPV to business trust or on a year-on-year basis till the date of transfer of units. Include a specific downward adjustment for notional gain in Section 206(4) to avoid double taxation of MAT on notional and actual gain on units of business trust.
- Include a specific downward adjustment for notional gain in Clause 206(4) to avoid double taxation of MAT on notional and actual gain on units of business trust. No specific provision to exclude notional gain either at the time of transfer of shares of SPV to business trust or on a year-on-year basis till the date of transfer of units which implies double taxation. Also, not in line with existing provisions.

ITA 1961 provides specific provisions for deferral of capital gains tax on transfer of shares of Special Purpose Vehicle (SPV) by a sponsor to a business trust in exchange of units allotted by said trust to the stage of subsequent transfer of such units Correspondingly, the computation of ‘book profit' for s.115JB of ITA 1961 excludes gain or loss at the stage of exchange of shares against units of business trust, and any subsequent fair valuation gain or loss of the said units At the stage of subsequent transfer of units of business trust, the computation of 'book profit' determines the gains on such transfer with reference to the cost of shares The Bill has not incorporated exclusion in Note for notional gain in line with existing provisions which seems intended.

iii. Corrections to Table Below Section 206(4) of ITB 2025 – Textual Edits and Clause Reference Alignment

In table below section 206(4) , the following changes are suggested: a. In column D, against serial number 8, after which 'the' be deleted. b. In note 1 reference to clause (a) (i) and (ii) needs correction as there is no such clause.

iv. In place of the terms credited/debited to the statement of profit and loss terms "credited/debited to other comprehensive income in the statement of profit and loss" may be used.

V. On Inclusion of Cost Accountants for Certification under Section 206(11) of ITB 2025

i. Every assessee to which this section applies, shall furnish a report in the prescribed form from a chartered accountant in practice or cost accountant in practice, certifying that the book profit in the case of a company, or adjusted total income in any other case, has been computed as per the provisions of this section— (a) before the specified date referred to in section 63; or (b) along with the return of income furnished in response to a notice under section 268(1) in the case of an assessee being a company. In the curriculum of CMA, all the provisions related to calculation of tax are included in detail. So, cost accountants may be equally eligible to certify such statements or issue such types of certificates. (Keeping in mind that CMAs are well-versed in tax laws, it seems reasonable to consider them eligible for such certification; the Ministry of Finance may evaluate and decide appropriately.

VI. On correction of Anomaly in Section 206(17) of ITB 2025 Regarding AMT Liability of Successor LLP

i. This relieves the successor LLP from the entire AMT liability under Section 206 of ITB 2025, which seems to be an unintentional drafting error.Correct the anomaly so that the successor LLP remains liable to AMT under ITB 2025, while denying MAT credit of the predecessor company. Restore the position under ITA 1961 in ITB 2025 to avoid policy changes.

VII. On allowing Cost Accountants to Furnish Reports under Section 21(b) of ITB 2025

i. 206 21(b) furnishes, before the specified date referred to in sections 63, the report of a chartered accountant in practice or cost accountant in practice, in the prescribed form, duly signed and verified by such chartered accountant in practice or cost accountant in practice. Cost accountants are adequately qualified to prepare and certify such types of reports. Hence the cost accountants may be allowed to furnish such reports.

VIII. On clarification of Transition Amount Reporting under Revaluation Provisions to Avoid Circularity and Ambiguity (Columns C & D)

i. Amend column C to refer to a positive transition amount or gain on retirement, disposal, realisation, or transfer of the revalued asset. Amend column D to refer to a negative transition amount or loss on disposal of the revalued asset. The last part of the clauses causes circularity and ambiguity.

IX. On restriction of Alternate Minimum Tax (AMT) and MAT Rates on Long-Term Capital Gains to 12.5% Under Income-Tax Bill, 2025

i. AMT on long term capital gains should be restricted to 12.5% and not 18.5% .
(1) Irrespective of anything contained in any other provision of this Act, where in the case of an assessee, referred to in column B of Table, the income-tax payable on the total income as computed under this Act in respect of a tax year is less than the percentage referred to in column C of the said Table of book profit in the case of a company or of adjusted total income in any other case, computed as per the provisions of Note to the said Table, then– (a) such book profit in the case of a company or such adjusted total income in any other case shall be deemed to be the total income of that assessee for such tax year; and (b) the tax payable on such total income shall be at the following rates: (i) Long term capital gains forming part of total income at 12.5% and (ii) remaining sum of total income at rates provided in column C of the said Table.
(2) With a regime of tax law having a very skeletal set of 'tax.

ii. MAT on long-term capital gains should be restricted to 12.5% and not 15%.
1) Irrespective of anything contained in any other provision of this Act, where in the case of an assessee, referred to in column B of Table, the income-tax payable on the total income as computed under this Act in respect of a tax year is less than the percentage referred to in column C of the said Table of book profit in the case of a company or of adjusted total income in any other case, computed as per the provisions of Note to the said Table, then–
(a) such book profit in the case of a company or such adjusted total income in any other case shall be deemed to be the total income of that assessee for such tax year; and
(b) the tax payable on such total income shall be at the following rates:
(i) Long term capital gains forming part of total income at 12.5% and

(ii) remaining sum of total income at rates provided in column C of the said Table.

206.5 Examination by the Committee:

The corresponding written responses received from the Ministry of Finance on the above suggestions made by stakeholders are as under:

I. On Clause 206(1) regarding Clarification and Drafting Revisions on Clause 206(1) – Treatment and Scope of MAT & AMT under ITB 2025

i. The proposed provision is similar to the parallel provision in Income-tax Act, 1961. No new provisions or policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025. Policy decision taken towards simplification and consolidation of similar provisions in tabular format as far as feasible. Accepted Drafting Corrections. An exception similar to Section 115JEE (3) of ITA 1961 for setting off AMT credit in years where the taxpayer is excluded from AMT scope may be inserted.

II. Drafting Correction to Clause 206(2) – Exclusion of Pre-1997 Reserves from MAT Computation

ii. The proposed provision is similar to the parallel provision in Income-tax Act, 1961. Accepted: Drafting Corrections Clause 206(2) may be amended to include the provision related to 'exclusion of reserves created before April 1, 1997' for sub-clause (ii) as well.

iii. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961. So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no new policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025. This is in the nature of drafting suggestion. The intent of the section nor the provisions have been changed and the Clause is consistent with the drafting in the IT Act. However, the suggestion may be considered.

III. Clarificaon on Inclusion of Surcharge in MAT Credit Computation under

Clause

i. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961. So, other than simplification of language to make the bill concise and easy to comprehend, no new policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025. The provisions of the Act are clear in that "tax" includes surcharge. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in CIT v. K. Srinivasan [83 ITR 346] held that the expression "income tax" includes surcharge whenever provided in the Act. Therefore, the comparison of tax under normal provisions and tax under MAT includes surcharge. The generation of MAT credit and its subsequent setting off are determined accordingly. This was upheld by judicial rulings as well. The suggestion made by the stakeholder is already addressed.

IV. On 206(4)

i. The proposed provision is the simplified version of the corresponding provision of Income-Tax Act. It appears that the provisions in the IT Act, 1961 have been reproduced faithfully in the ITB, 2025 and there is no change. The suggestion has no merits.

ii. The proposed provision is the simplified version of the corresponding provision of Income-Tax Act, 1961 and no amendment has been introduced in this simplified version from the policy perspective apart from this drafting error. ACCEPTED: This is in the nature of drafting correction In Table in 206(4) , the Note in S. No 3, reference to notional gain as referred to in (iie) of the Explanation of section 115JB of the Act which is credited to the P&L statement may be inserted.

iii. The proposed provisions are similar to the provisions in Income-tax Act, 1961 except for this drafting error. (i) This is in the nature of drafting correction. The word "the" may be deleted in Si.No 8. (ii) This is in the nature of drafting correction. The phrase "(i) and (ii) " may be deleted in Note 1

iv. This is in the nature of drafting suggestion. The intent of the section nor the provisions have been changed and the Clause is consistent with the drafting in the IT Act. . However, the suggestion may be considered.

V. On Inclusion of Cost Accountants for Certification under Section 206(11) of ITB 2025

i. The suggestion made by the stakeholder to incorporate "cost accountants" is not in line with the provisions of the IT Act 1961. This is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025.

VI. On correction of Anomaly in Section 206(17) of ITB 2025 Regarding AMT Liability of Successor LLP

i. The proposed provision is similar to the parallel provision in Income-tax Act, 1961. No new provisions or policy change has been proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025. The applicability of the provisions of 115 JAA (7) may be limited to the applicability of MAT and not for AMT.

VII. On allowing Cost Accountants to Furnish Reports under Section 21(b) of ITB 2025

i. The suggestion made by the stakeholder to incorporate "cost accountants" is not in line with the provisions of the IT Act 1961. This is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025.

VIII. On clarification of Transition Amount Reporting under Revaluation Provisions to Avoid Circularity and Ambiguity (Columns C & D)

i. It appears that the provisions in the IT Act, 1961 have been reproduced faithfully in the ITB, 2025 and there is no change. The suggestion has no merits.

IX. On restriction of Alternate Minimum Tax (AMT) and MAT Rates on Long-Term Capital Gains to 12.5% Under Income-Tax Bill, 2025

i. It is suggested that the AMT provisions on Long term capital gains must be restricted to a rate of 12.5% or completely eliminate AMT provisions. AMT is calculated on total income. Head wise income is not considered for its purposes. The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025.

206.5.2 On the issue whether surcharge would be included for computation of Minimum Alternate Tax, the ministry during the sitting deposed as under:

"The issue is that whether surcharge would be included for computation of MAT – Minimum Alternate Tax. So, we are saying that the provisions are quite clear that tax includes surcharge and it has also been so decided by the Supreme Court that Income Tax includes surcharge whenever provided in the Act. So, comparison of tax under normal provisions and under MAT, they include surcharge. बेसिकली MAT कम्प्यूटेशन में यह होता है कि प्रॉफिट के हिसाब से MAT कितना आया, प्लस नॉर्मल कम्प्यूटेशन से टैक्स कितना आया? टैक्स पर सरचार्ज लगना है और MAT पर भी सरचार्ज, सेस ऐड हो जाता है। जो भी ग्रेटर है, उसे पे करना पड़ता है। अगर MAT ग्रेटर है, तो MAT पे करना पड़ता है। अगर नॉर्मल टैक्स ग्रेटर है, तो नॉर्मल टैक्स पे करना पड़ता है। दोनों में ही सरचार्ज है। वही मैं एक्सप्लेन कर रहा था। एक तरफ सरचार्ज नहीं जुड़ रहा है। Tax plus surcharge is compared to MAT plus surcharge. सेक्शन 115(J)(a) जब आया था, तब केवल सेक्शन ही इंट्रोड्यूस किया था, अलग से एक्ट नहीं आया था। आप पर्पज़ के बारे में बिल्कुल ठीक कह रहे हैं। ज़ीरो टैक्स कंपनियाँ थीं, जो

डिविडेंड दे रही थीं, उन पर कुछ टैक्स लाइबिलिटी लाने के लिए बुक प्रॉफिट पर उनको 17 प्रतिशत टैक्स डिमार्केट कर दिया था। जब हम क्रेडिट या एक्सेस एक्युमुलेशन की बात करते हैं, तो अगर उधर सरचार्ज और सेस ऐड हो रहा है, तो इधर सरचार्ज और सेस ऐड होना है, और उनका डिफरेंस ही क्यूमुलेटव कन्ज़्यूम होता है। इसमें किसी के लिए कुछ नेगेटिव नहीं है।"

206.6Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

In view of the deliberations with various stakeholders and experts, and taking into account the detailed submissions and justification given by the Ministry of Finance, the Committee concur with the broad intent and direction of Clause 206 of the Income-tax Bill, 2025 (ITB 2025), particularly in relation to the consolidation and simplification of provisions concerning Minimum Alternate Tax (MAT) and Alternate Minimum Tax (AMT). However, the Committee also note the substantive concerns raised by multiple stakeholders regarding the potential unintended consequences arising from the omission of safeguards and exemptions earlier available under Section 115JEE of the ITA, 1961, as well as the absence of express provision for adjustment of notional gains in the computation of MAT under Clause 206(4), and the drafting anomalies concerning surcharge treatment, pre-1997 reserves, and the liability of successor LLPs under AMT. While many of these issues are categorised by the Ministry as drafting corrections, the Committee are of the view that incorporation of these clarifications within the Bill text would strengthen legal certainty and reduce avoidable litigation.

Accordingly, to remove any ambiguity and ensure legal continuity with the legislative intent of the Income-tax Act, 1961 (ITA), the Committee recommend the redrafting of Clause 206 of the Income-tax Bill, 2025 (ITB) as follows:

Clause 206(1): Clarification on Scope of AMT for Non-Corporates

A new sub-clause may be inserted to clarify that AMT shall not apply to individuals, HUFs, AOPs, BOIs, or AJPs if:

(a) They have not claimed deductions under Section 10AA, Section 35AD, or Chapter VI-A (Part C), and

(b) Their adjusted total income does not exceed ₹20 lakhs.

A provision similar to Section 115JEE(3) of the ITA, allowing the carry-forward and set-off of AMT credit even in years where AMT is not applicable, may also be included.

Clause 206(2): Exclusion for Pre-1997 Reserves & Table Refinements

A proviso may be added to exempt reserves created before 1 April 1997 (by debit to profit and loss) from MAT adjustments, as MAT was not applicable during that time.

Further technical edits to the adjustment Table are recommended:

- Remove redundant text regarding debit/credit to profit and loss.
- Delete Column A (serial number), remove point (k), and restate point (f) as a footnote to avoid duplication.

Clause 206(3): Inclusion of Surcharge in MAT Credit

An Explanation may be inserted clarifying that "tax" includes surcharge and cess, both for determining MAT credit and its set-off—consistent with judicial precedent (CIT v. K. Srinivasan, 83 ITR 346).

206(4): Downward Adjustment for Notional Gains & Minor Corrections

- Allow a downward adjustment for notional gains on transfer of SPV shares to a business trust in exchange for units, as per Explanation (iie) to Section 115JB.
- Correct minor drafting errors in the Table (e.g., remove redundant "the", fix clause references in Note 1, and update language to refer to "other comprehensive income").

Clause 206(17): AMT Applicability for Successor LLPs

Clarify that AMT liability shall apply to the successor LLP post-conversion, but MAT credit of the predecessor company shall not be carried forward—thereby restoring the position under the ITA, 1961.

These modifications are essential to ensure that ITB 2025 remains consistent with established tax policy under the ITA, 1961, removes drafting ambiguities, and safeguards against unintended consequences. The revised provisions strike a balanced approach between simplification, legal clarity, and fairness, while reducing scope for disputes.

E.—Special provisions relating to non-residents and foreign companies

Clause-207. Tax on dividends, royalty and technical service fees in case of foreign companies

207.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) The income-tax payable on the total income of a non-resident (not being a company) ora foreign company, which includes any income specified in the column B of the Table below, shall be the aggregate of income-tax specified in the column C thereof.

Sl. No.	Income	Income-tax payable
A	B	C
1.	Dividend [other than dividends specified against serial number 2.	20%
2.	Dividend received from a unit in an International Financial Services Centre.	10%
3.	Interest received from Government or an Indian concern on monies borrowed or debt incurred by Government or the Indian concern in foreign currency not being interest referred to against serial numbers 4 and 5.	20%
4.	Interest received from an infrastructure debt fund referred to in Schedule VII (Table: Sl. No. 46) .	5%
5.	Interest of the nature and extent referred toin section 393(2) (Table: Sl. No. 2) ,	Rates specified in (Table: Sl. No.3 and 4) .	section 393(2) (Table: Sl. No. 2, 3 and4) .

6.	Distributed income being interest referred to in section 393(2) (Table: Sl. No. 6) .	Rate specified in section 393(2) (Table: Sl. No. 6) .
7.	Income received in respect of units, purchased in foreign currency, of a Mutual Fund specified in Schedule VII (Table: Sl. No. 20 or 21) or of the Unit Trust of India.	20 %
A	B	C
8.	Total income as reduced by income referred to against serial numbers 1 to 7.	Income-tax chargeable on such income.

(2) Where the total income of a non-resident (not being a company) or of a foreign company, includes any income by way of royalty or fees for technical services received from Government or an Indian concern in pursuance of an agreement made after the 31st March,1976, other than income referred to in section 59(1) , and—

(a) the agreement is approved by the Central Government where such agreement is with an Indian concern; or

(b) where the agreement relates to a matter included in the industrial policy, for the time being in force, of the Government of India, it is as per that policy, then, subject to the provisions of sub-section (3) , the income-tax payable shall be the aggregate ofincome-tax specified in column C of the Table below:—

Sl. No.	Income	Income-tax payable
A	B	C
1.	Royalty [other than income referred to in section 59(1)].	20%
2.	Fees for technical services [other than income referred to in section 59(1)].	20%
3.	Total income as reduced by income referred to against serial numbers 1 and 2.	Income-tax chargeable on such income.

(3) Where the royalty referred to in sub-section (2) is in consideration for the transfer or grant of all or any rights (including the granting of a licence) —

(a) in respect of copyright in any book to an Indian concern; or

(b) in respect of any computer software to a person resident in India, then the provisions of sub-section (2) shall apply in relation to such royalty without application of provisions of clause (a) or(b) of that sub-section.

(4) In this section,—

(a) "computer software" means any computer programme recorded on any disc, tape, perforated media or other information storage device; or any customised electronic data or any product or service of similar nature as notified by the Board, which is transmitted or exported from India to a place outside India by any means;

(b) "fees for technical services" shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 9;

(c) "royalty" shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 9.

(5) No deduction in respect of any expenditure or allowance shall be allowed under sections 28 to 61 and section 93 for computing income referred to in sub-sections (1) and (2) .

(6) Where the gross total income of an assessee—

(a) consists only of the income referred to in sub-section (1) (Table: Sl. No. 1 to 7) , no deduction shall be allowed under Chapter VIII;

(b) includes any income referred to in sub-section (1) (Table: Sl. No. 1to 7) ,the gross total income shall be reduced by such income and the deduction under Chapter VIIIshall be allowed as if such reduced amount were the gross total income of the assessee;

(7) the provisions of sub-section (6) shall not apply to a deduction allowed to Unit of an International Financial Services Centre under section 147.

(8) It shall not be necessary for an assessee to furnish a return of income under section 263(1) , if—

(a) the total income during the tax year consisted only of income referred to in sub-sections (1) (Table: Sl. No. 1 to 7) and sub-section (2) (Table: Sl. No. 1 and 2) ; and

(b) the tax deductible at source under the provisions of Chapter XIX-B has been deducted from such income at a rate not less than the rate specified in sub-sections (1) and (2) .

207.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115A are as under:

Tax on dividends, royalty and technical service fees in the case of foreign companies.

115A. (1) Where the total income of—

(a) a non-resident (not being a company) or of a foreign company, includes any income by way of—

(i) dividends ; or

(ii) interest received from Government or an Indian concern on monies borrowed or debt incurred by Government or the Indian concern in foreign currency not being interest of the nature referred to in sub-clause (iia) or sub-clause (iiaa) ; or

(iia) interest received from an infrastructure debt fund referred to in clause (47) of section 10; or

(iiaa) interest of the nature and extent referred to in section 194LC; or (iiab) interest of the nature and extent referred to in section 194LD; or

(iiac) distributed income being interest referred to in sub-section (2) of section 194LBA;

(iii) income received in respect of units, purchased in foreign currency, of a Mutual Fund specified under clause (23D) of section 10 or of the Unit Trust of India, the income-tax payable shall be aggregate of—

(A) the amount of income-tax calculated on the amount of income by way of dividends, if any, included in the total income, at the rate of twenty per cent :

26[Provided that the amount of income-tax calculated on the amount of income by way of dividend received from a unit in an International Financial Services Centre, as referred to in sub-section (1A) of section 80LA, shall be ten per cent;]

(B) the amount of income-tax calculated on the amount of income by way of interest referred to in sub-clause (ii) , if any, included in the total income, at the rate of twenty per cent ;

(BA) the amount of income-tax calculated on the amount of income by way of interest referred to in,—

(i) sub-clause (iia) , if any, included in the total income, at the rate of five per cent;

(ii) sub-clause (iiaa) or sub-clause (iiab) or sub-clause (iiac) , if any, included in the total income, at the rate provided in the respective sections referred to in the said sub-clauses;

(C) the amount of income-tax calculated on the income in respect of units referred to in sub-clause (iii) , if any, included in the total income, at the rate of twenty per cent ; and

(D) the amount of income-tax with which he or it would have been chargeable had his or its total income been reduced by the amount of income referred to in sub-clause (i) , sub-clause (ii) , sub-clause (iia) , sub-clause (iiaa) , sub-clause (iiab) , sub-clause (iiac) and sub-clause (iii) ;

(b) a non-resident (not being a company) or a foreign company, includes any income by way of royalty or fees for technical services other than income referred to in sub-section (1) of section 44DA received from Government or an Indian concern in pursuance of an agreement made by the foreign company with Government or the Indian concern after the 31st day of March, 1976, and where such agreement is with an Indian concern, the agreement is approved by the Central Government or where it relates to a matter included in the industrial policy, for the time being in force, of the Government of India, the agreement is in accordance with that policy, then, subject to the provisions of sub-sections (1A) and (2) , the income-tax payable shall be the aggregate of,—

(A) the amount of income-tax calculated on the income by way of royalty, if any, included in the total income, at the rate of 27[twenty] per cent;

(B) the amount of income-tax calculated on the income by way of fees for technical services, if any, included in the total income, at the rate of 27[twenty] per cent; and

(C) the amount of income-tax with which it would have been chargeable had its total income been reduced by the amount of income by way of royalty and fees for technical services.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "fees for technical services" shall have the same meaning as in Explanation 2 to clause (vii) of sub-section (1) of section 9 ;

(b) "foreign currency" shall have the same meaning as in the Explanation below item (g) of sub-clause (iv) of clause (15) of section 10 ;

(c) "royalty" shall have the same meaning as in Explanation 2 to clause (vi) of sub-section (1) of section 9 ;

(d) "Unit Trust of India" means the Unit Trust of India established under the Unit Trust of India Act, 1963 (52 of 1963) .

(1A) Where the royalty referred to in clause (b) of sub-section (1) is in consideration for the transfer of all or any rights (including the granting of a licence) in respect of copyright in any book to an Indian concern or in respect of any computer software to a person resident in India, the provisions of sub-section (1) shall apply in relation to such royalty as if the words the agreement is approved by the Central Government or where it relates to a matter included in the industrial policy, for the time being in force, of the Government of India, the agreement is in accordance with that policy occurring in the said clause had been omitted :

Provided that such book is on a subject, the books on which are permitted, according to the Import Trade Control Policy of the Government of India for the period commencing from the 1st day of April, 1977, and ending with the 31st day of March, 1978, to be imported into India under an Open General Licence :

Provided further that such computer software is permitted according to the Import Trade Control Policy of the Government of India for the time being in force to be imported into India under an Open General Licence.

Explanation 1.—In this sub-section, "Open General Licence" means an Open General Licence issued by the Central Government in pursuance of the Imports (Control) Order, 1955.

Explanation 2.—In this sub-section, the expression "computer software" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (b) of the Explanation to section 80HHE.

(2) Nothing contained in sub-section (1) shall apply in relation to any income by way of royalty received by a foreign company from an Indian concern in pursuance of an agreement made by it with the Indian concern after the 31st day of March, 1976, if such agreement is deemed, for the purposes of the first proviso to clause (vi) of sub-section (1) of section 9, to have been made before the 1st day of April, 1976; and the provisions of the annual Finance Act for calculating, charging, deducting or computing income-tax shall apply in relation to such income as if such income had been received in pursuance of an agreement made before the 1st day of April, 1976.

(3) No deduction in respect of any expenditure or allowance shall be allowed to the assessee under sections 28 to 44C and section 57 in computing his or its income referred to in sub-section (1) .

(4) Where in the case of an assessee referred to in sub-section (1) ,—

(a) the gross total income consists only of the income referred to in clause (a) of that sub-section, no deduction shall be allowed to him or it under Chapter VI-A;

(b) the gross total income includes any income referred to in clause (a) of that sub-section, the gross total income shall be reduced by the amount of such income and the deduction under Chapter VI-A shall be allowed as if the gross total income as so reduced were the gross total income of the assessee:

Provided that nothing contained in this sub-section shall apply to a deduction allowed to a Unit of an International Financial Services Centre under section 80LA.

(5) It shall not be necessary for an assessee referred to in sub-section (1) to furnish under sub-section (1) of section 139 a return of his or its income if—

(a) his or its total income in respect of which he or it is assessable under this Act during the previous year consisted only of income referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) of sub-section (1) ; and

(b) the tax deductible at source under the provisions of Part B of Chapter XVII has been deducted from such income and the rate of such deduction is not less than the rate specified under clause (a) or, as the case may be, clause (b) of sub-section (1) .

207.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> Clause 207 of the Bill provides special rates of taxes for non-residents on certain types of income (like dividends, interest, distributed income, income in respect of units, royalties and fees for technical services).The clause corresponds to Section 115A of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. Some of the provisions have been provided in a tabular format for ease of comprehension.

207.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Important gist of suggestions/ views given by Experts/ stakeholders are as under:

i. It is suggested that the rates of tax on income by way of interest and dividend from business trust, interest from Indian company in respect of money borrowed by it in foreign currency from a source outside India and income by way of interest on certain rupee denominated bonds of an Indian company and municipal debt securities be provided in section 207 itself; and the TDS provisions under section 393 can make a reference to the rates in section 207. It is suggested that point 6 in table 1 of section 207 may be reworded as follows – "distributed income being interest and dividend referred to in section 393(2) (Table: Sl. No. 6) . The TDS provisions under Section 393 may refer to rates specified in Section 207, as TDS is a mechanism for recovering tax on chargeable income. Aligning the structure this way ensures logical consistency and clarity in the relationship between charging and procedural provisions. The business trust has to deduct tax@10% on dividend as per section 393, which should have also been the rate of tax on such income under section 207. However, since Sl No.6 refers to distributed income being interest referred to in section 393(2) , the rate of tax on dividend received from SPV and distributed by a business trust to its unit holders would become 20%, being the rate of tax applicable for dividend distributed directly by the company to shareholders. To bring consistency rates can be defined here in the section itself.

207.5 Examination by the Committee:

207.5.1 On the suggestion of mentioning the tax rate in charging section rather than referring to TDS section, the committee in its written reply stated as under

"Suggestion seeks to mention tax rate in charging section rather than referring to TDS section. This is in the nature of drafting suggestion. The intent of the section is not changed by referring to the TDS section and this is consistent with the drafting in the IT Act. This suggestion is already addressed. "

207.5.2 Further on the same issue the ministry during the sitting of the select committee deposed as under:

" there is a rate which is mentioned in the TDS provision for certain interest income of the non-resident. Inthe charging section, we have said that the rate as referred to in the TDS section. So, the stakeholder is saying that the we have mentioned the ratein the charging section itself rather than referring to the TDS section. So, for non-resident, the rate of withholding and the rate at which income is taxed, is like mirror to each other. So, we have just provided a reference to the TDS section. So, I think it has been addressed.

207.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 207 under examination, including the views/suggestions of stakeholders and the justification given by the Ministry of Finance, find the proposed provisions appropriate and reasonable.

The Committee accept Clause 207 as proposed. The Clause corresponds to Section 115A of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, and has been simplified and presented in a tabular format for ease of understanding. Accordingly, the Committee accept the proposed provision.

Clause 208. Tax on income from units purchased in foreign currency or capital gains arising from their transfer

208.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) The income-tax payable on the total income of an assessee, being an overseas financial organisation (hereinreferred to as Offshore Fund) , which includes income specified in column B of the Table below,shall be the aggregate of the amount specified in column C thereof.

Sl. No.	Income	Income-tax payable
A	B	C
1.	Income received in respect of units purchased in foreign currency.	10%
2.	Long-term capital gains arising from the transfer of units purchased in foreign currency.	12.5%
3.	Total income as reduced by income referred to in against serial numbers 1 and 2.	Income-tax chargeable on such income.

(2) Where the gross total income of the Offshore Fund—

(a) consists only of income from units or income by way of long-term capital gains arising from the transfer of units, or both,no deduction shall be allowed to the assessee under sections 26 to 61 or section 93(1) (a) and (e) or under Chapter VIII;

(b) includes any income referred to in clause (a) ,—

(i) the gross total income shall be reduced by such income; and

(ii) the deduction under Chapter VIIIshall be allowed as if the gross total income so reduced were the gross total income of the assessee.

(3) In this section,—

(a) "overseas financial organisation" means any fund, institution, association or body, whether incorporated or not, established under the laws of a country outside India,—

(i) which has entered into an arrangement for investment in India with any public sector bank or public financial institution or a mutual fund specified in Schedule VII (Table: Sl. No. 20 or 21) ; and

(ii) such arrangement is approved by the Securities and Exchange Board of India, established under the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992, for this purpose;

(b) "public financial institution" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 2(72) of the Companies Act, 2013;

(c) "unit" means unit of,—

(i) a mutual fund specified in Schedule VII (Table: Sl. No. 20) or (Table: Sl. No. 20 or 21) ; or

(ii) the Unit Trust of India.

208.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115AB are as under:

Tax on income from units purchased in foreign currency or capital gains arising from their transfer.

115AB. (1) Where the total income of an assessee, being an overseas financial organisation (hereinafter referred to as Offshore Fund) includes—

(a) income received in respect of units purchased in foreign currency; or

(b) income by way of long-term capital gains arising from the transfer of units purchased in foreign currency,

the income-tax payable shall be the aggregate of—

(i) the amount of income-tax calculated on the income in respect of units referred to in clause (a) , if any, included in the total income, at the rate of ten per cent;

28[(ii) the amount of income-tax calculated on the income by way of long-term capital gains referred to in clause (b) , if any, included in the total income,—

(A) at the rate of ten per cent for any transfer which takes place before the 23rd day of July, 2024; and

(B) at the rate of twelve and one-half per cent for any transfer which takes place on or after the 23rd day of July, 2024; and]

(iii) the amount of income-tax with which the Offshore Fund would have been chargeable had its total income been reduced by the amount of income referred to in clause (a) and clause (b) .

(2) Where the gross total income of the Offshore Fund,—

(a) consists only of income from units or income by way of long-term capital gains arising from the transfer of units, or both, no deduction shall be allowed to the assessee under sections 28 to 44C or clause (i) or clause (iii) of section 57 or under Chapter VI-A and nothing contained in the provisions of the second proviso to section 48 shall apply to income referred to in clause (b) of sub-section (1) ;

(b) includes any income referred to in clause (a) , the gross total income shall be reduced by the amount of such income and the deduction under Chapter VI-A shall be allowed as if the gross total income as so reduced were the gross total income of the assessee.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "overseas financial organisation" means any fund, institution, associa-tion or body, whether incorporated or not, established under the laws of a country outside India, which has entered into an arrangement for investment in India with any public sector bank or public financial institution or a mutual fund specified under clause (23D) of section 10 and such arrangement is approved by the Securities and Exchange Board of India, established under the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992 (15 of 1992) , for this purpose;

(b) "unit" means unit of a mutual fund specified under clause (23D) of section 10 or of the Unit Trust of India;

(c) "foreign currency" shall have the meaning as in the Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999 (42 of 1999) ;

(d) "public sector bank" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (23D) of section 10;

(e) "public financial institution" shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 4A of the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956) ;

(f) "Unit Trust of India" means the Unit Trust of India established under the Unit Trust of India Act, 1963 (52 of 1963) .

208.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

Clause 208 of the Bill provides for special rates of taxes for offshore funds on investments made in foreign currency. The clause corresponds to Section 115AB of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. Some of the provisions have been provided in a tabular format for ease of comprehension.

208.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee has examined the provisions of Clause 208 and recommend to accept the clause as proposed. The clause is a simplification and retention of the existing Section 115AB of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, with some provisions presented in a tabular format for ease of comprehension. The intent and policy of the original Section 115AB have been maintained in this clause.

Clause- 209. Tax on income from bonds or Global Depository Receipts purchased in foreign currency or capital gains arising from their transfer

209.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) The income -tax payable, on the total income of an assessee, being a non- resident, which includes income specified in column B of the Table below, shall be the aggregate of the amounts mentioned in column C thereof.

Sl. No.	Income	Income-tax payable
A	B	C
1.	From interest on— (a) bonds of an Indian company issued in accordance with such scheme as notified by the Central Government; or (b) bonds of a public sector company sold by the Government, and purchased in foreign currency.	10 %
2.	From dividends on Global Depository Receipts— (a) issued as per such scheme as the Central Government may, notified, against the initial issue of shares of an Indian company and purchased in foreign currency through an approved intermediary; or (b) issued against the shares of a	10 %

	public sector company sold by the Government and purchased by him in foreign currency through an approved intermediary; or (c) issued or re-issued in accordance with a scheme notified by the Central Government, against the existing shares of an Indian company purchased in foreign currency through an approved intermediary.
3.	Long-term capital gains arising from the transfer of bonds referred to against serial number 1 or Global Depository Receipts referred to against serial number 2.	12.5%
4.	Total income as reduced by income referred to against serial numbers 1 to 3.	Income-tax chargeable on such income.

(2) Where the gross total income of the non-resident—

(a) consists only of income by way of interest or dividends in respect of—
(i) bonds referred to in sub-section (1) (Table: Sl. No. 1) ; or sub-section (1) ; or
(ii) Global Depository Receipts referred to in sub-section (1) (Table: Sl. No. 2) ,no deduction shall be allowed under sections 26 to 61 or section 93(1) (a) or 93(1) (e) or under Chapter VIII;
(b) includes any income referred to in sub-section (1) (Table: Sl. No. 1) to (Table: Sl. No. 3) ,––
(i) the gross total income shall be reduced by the such income; and

(ii) the deduction under Chapter VIII shall be allowed as if the gross total income so reduced, were the gross total income of the assessee.

(3) The provisions of section 72(6) shall not apply for computation of long-term capital gains arising out of the transfer of long-term capital asset being bonds or Global Depository Receipts referred to in sub-section (1) (Table: Sl. No. 3) .

(4) It shall not be necessary for a non-resident to furnish a return of his income under section 263(1) , if—

(a) his total income during the tax year consisted only of income referred to in sub-sections (1) (Table: Sl. No. 1) and (Table: Sl. No. 2) ; and

(b) the tax deductible at source under the provisions of Chapter XIX-B has been deducted from such income.

(5) Where the assessee acquired Global Depository Receipts or bonds in an amalgamated or resulting company by virtue of his holding Global Depository Receipts or bonds in the amalgamating or demerged company, as the case may be, as per the provisions of sub-section (1) , the provisions of that sub-section shall apply to such Global Depository Receipts or bonds.

(6) In this section,—

(a) “approved intermediary” means an intermediary which is approved as per a scheme notified by the Central Government; and

(b) “Global Depository Receipts” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 190(4) (a) .

209.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961)

Existing provisions of the Section 115AC are as under :

Tax on income from bonds or Global Depository Receipts purchased in foreign currency or capital gains arising from their transfer.

115AC. (1) Where the total income of an assessee, being a non-resident, includes—

(a) income by way of interest on bonds of an Indian company issued in accordance with such scheme as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf, or on bonds of a public sector company sold by the Government, and purchased by him in foreign currency; or

(b) income by way of dividends on Global Depository Receipts—

(i) issued in accordance with such scheme as the Central Govern-ment may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf, against the initial issue of shares of an Indian company and purchased by him in foreign currency through an approved intermediary; or

(ii) issued against the shares of a public sector company sold by the Government and purchased by him in foreign currency through an approved intermediary; or

(iii) issued or re-issued in accordance with such scheme as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf, against the existing shares of an Indian company purchased by him in foreign currency through an approved intermediary; or

(iv) []

(c) income by way of long-term capital gains arising from the transfer of bonds referred to in clause (a) or, as the case may be, Global Depository Receipts referred to in clause (b) ,

the income-tax payable shall be the aggregate of—

(i) the amount of income-tax calculated on the income by way of interest or dividends, as the case may be, in respect of bonds referred to in clause (a) or Global Depository Receipts referred to in clause (b) , if any, included in the total income, at the rate of ten per cent;

29[(ii) the amount of income-tax calculated on the income by way of long-term capital gains referred to in clause (c) , if any, included in the total income,—

(A) at the rate of ten per cent for any transfer which takes place before the 23rd day of July, 2024; and

(B) at the rate of twelve and one-half per cent for any transfer which takes place on or after the 23rd day of July, 2024; and]

(iii) the amount of income-tax with which the non-resident would have been chargeable had his total income been reduced by the amount of income referred to in clauses (a) , (b) and (c) .

(2) Where the gross total income of the non-resident—

(a) consists only of income by way of interest or dividends in respect of bonds referred to in clause (a) of sub-section (1) or, as the case may be, Global Depository Receipts referred to in clause (b) of that sub-section, no deduction shall be allowed to him under sections 28 to 44C or clause (i) or clause (iii) of section 57 or under Chapter VI-A;

(b) includes any income referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) or clause (c) of sub-section (1) , the gross total income shall be reduced by the amount of such income and the deduction under Chapter VI-A shall be allowed as if the gross total income as so reduced, were the gross total income of the assessee.

(3) Nothing contained in the first and second provisos to section 48 shall apply for the computation of long-term capital gains arising out of the transfer of long-term capital asset, being bonds or Global Depository Receipts referred to in clause (c) of sub-section (1) .

(4) It shall not be necessary for a non-resident to furnish under sub-section (1) of section 139 a return of his income if—

(a) his total income in respect of which he is assessable under this Act during the previous year consisted only of income referred to in clauses (a) and (b) of sub-section (1) ; and

(b) the tax deductible at source under the provisions of Chapter XVII-B has been deducted from such income.

(5) Where the assessee acquired Global Depository Receipts or bonds in an amalgamated or resulting company by virtue of his holding Global Depository Receipts or bonds in the amalgamating or demerged company, as the case may be, in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) , the provisions of that sub-section shall apply to such Global Depository Receipts or bonds.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "approved intermediary" means an intermediary who is approved in accordance with such scheme as may be notified by the Central Government in the Official Gazette;

(b) "Global Depository Receipts" shall have the same meaning as in clause (a) of the Explanation to section 115ACA.

209.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> Clause 209 of the Bill provides for special rates of taxes for non-residents on Global Depository Receipts including income by way of interest, dividend and income on transfer of such Global Depository Receipts. The clause corresponds to Section 115AC of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. Some of the provisions have been provided in a tabular format for ease of comprehension.

209.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Important suggestions received from stakeholders/ experts are as under:

i. In proposed section 209(1) Table serial no 2, in column B after Government 'may' be deleted.

ii. In proposed section 209(2) (a) (i) , 'sub-section (1) ;or' be deleted.

iii. Currently, there is no separate tax framework provided for the GDRs where the underlying securities are units of SEBI registered BTs. Pursuant to regulatory changes, necessary amendments to be introduced to section 2, section 10, section 115AC and section 47 (to the extent dealing with taxability of GDRs) (corresponding sections 2, Schedule V, section 209 and section 70 of the Bill respectively) to even include GDRs which have been created by Overseas Depository Bank (ODB) in IFSC and issued to investors against units of SEBI registered BTs. To amend the definition of GDRs as provided under section 115AC (corresponding section 193 of the Bill) to even include GDRs created by ODBs in IFSC and issued against units of SEBI registered

BT. To amend the provisions of section 115AC (Section 209 of the Bill) to provide for the concessional tax rates for income earned by non-resident investors through the GDRs from the underlying units of SEBI registered BTs (similar tax framework to be provided as currently provided for BTs) .

iv. In column B of table in serial no: 1 and 2 - the word "From" may be deleted. The word “from” in Income from interest and dividend is not required as interest and dividend by themselves are in the nature of income and the heading of column B clearly mentions the same as “Income”.)

209.5 Examination by the Committee:

209.5 The corresponding written responses received from the Ministry of Finance on the above suggestions made by stakeholders are as under:

i. This is in the nature of drafting corrections and suitable changes may be made in clause 209. This is acceptable.

ii. This is in the nature of drafting corrections and suitable changes may be made in clause 209. This is acceptable.

iii. This is a specific change in the definition of GDRs which are presently restricted to underlying assets which are shares or listed company or foreign currency convertible bonds. The widening of this to include units of Business Trusts which are themselves secondary instruments may require further examination in association with stakeholders. The suggestion made by the stakeholder is in the nature of policy change which is beyond the scope of the objectives of the IT Bill, 2025.

iv. This is in the nature of drafting suggestion. The intent of the section is not changed by the use of this word. This suggestion is already addressed.

209.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, having carefully considered the proposed provisions under Clause 209, including stakeholder inputs and the rationale provided by the Ministry of Finance, is of the opinion that the provisions are broadly acceptable. The clause prescribedconcessional tax rates for non-residents on income from bonds and Global Depository Receipts (GDRs) purchased in foreign currency and on capital gains arising from their transfer.The Committee, however, note that while the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 broadly corresponds to Section 115AC of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, there are certain drafting oversights in the Bill. The word "From" in column B of Serial 1 and 2 of the table under Clause 209(1) is redundant and may affect clarity. Furthermore, in Clause 209(2) (a) (i) , the expression "sub-section (1) ; or" is unnecessary and should be removed.

Therefore, the Committee accept the provisions under Clause 209 subject to the following modifications:

Remove the word "From" in column B of Serial 1 and 2 of the table under Clause 209(1) .

Remove the expression "sub-section (1) ; or" in Clause 209(2) (a) (i) .

Therefore, the Committee accept the provisions under Clause 209 as proposed subject to the above modifications.

Clause- 210.Tax on income of Foreign Institutional Investors from securities or capital gains arising from their transfer

210.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) The income-tax payable on total income of an assessee, being a specified fund or Foreign Institutional Investor, which includes the income referred to in column B of the Table below, shall be the aggregate of the amounts mentioned in column C thereof.

Sl. No.	Income	Income-tax payable
A	B	C
1.	Securities other than units referred to in section 208.	(a) 20 % in case of Foreign Institutional Investor; (b) 10 % in case of specified fund.
2.	Short-term capital gains (not being short-term capital gains referred to in section 196) arising from the transfer of such securities.	30 %
3.	Short-term capital gains referred to in section 196 arising from the transfer of such securities	20 %
4.	Long-term capital gains (not being long-term capital gains referred to in section 198 arising from the transfer of such securities	12.5 %

5.	Long-term capital gains referred to in section 198 arising from the transfer of such securities which exceeds ₹1,25,000.	12.5 %
6.	Total income as reduced by income referred to against serial numbers 1 to 5.	Income-tax chargeable on such income.

(2) In case of specified fund, provisions of this section shall apply only to the extent of income that is attributable to units held by non-resident (not being a permanent establishment of such non-resident in India) calculated in the manner as prescribed, irrespective of the provisions of sub-section (1) .

(3) Irrespective of anything contained in sub-section (1) , where the specified fund—

(a) is investment division of an offshore banking unit as specified against serial number 1 of the Table in Schedule III.6; and

(b) fulfills the conditions referred to in clause (g) D(ii) of cell E1 of the Table in Schedule VI (Note 1) , the provisions of this section shall apply to the extent of income that is attributable to such investment division, calculated in the manner, as prescribed.

(4) Where the gross total income of the specified fund or Foreign Institutional Investor—

(a) consists only of income in respect of securities referred in sub-section (1) (Table: Sl. No. 1) , no deduction shall be allowed to it under sections 26 to 61 or section 93(1) (a) or (e) or underChapter VIII;

(b) includes any income referred to in sub-section (1) (Table: Sl. No. 1) to (Table: Sl. No. 5) ,––

(i) the gross total income shall be reduced by the amount of such income; and

(ii) the deduction under Chapter VIII shall be allowed as if the gross total income as so reduced, were the gross total income of the specified fund or Foreign Institutional Investor.

(5) The provisions of section 72(6) shall not apply for the computation of capital gains arising out of the transfer of securities referred to in sub-section (1) (Table: Sl. No. 2) to (Table: Sl. No. 5) .

(6) In this section,—

(a) “Foreign Institutional Investor” means an investor so specified in a notification by the Central Government;

(b) “permanent establishment” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 173(c) ;

(c) “securities” shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 2(h) of the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956;

(d) “specified fund” shall have the meaning assigned to it in Schedule VI [Note 1]

210.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115AD

Tax on income of Foreign Institutional Investors from securities or capital gains arising from their transfer.

115AD. (1) Where the total income of a specified fund or Foreign Institutional Investor includes—

(a) income received in respect of securities (other than units referred to in section 115AB) ; or

(b) income by way of short-term or long-term capital gains arising from the transfer of such securities, the income-tax payable shall be the aggregate of—

(i) the amount of income-tax calculated on the income in respect of securities referred to in clause (a) , if any, included in the total income,—

(A) at the rate of twenty per cent in case of Foreign Institutional Investor;

(B) at the rate of ten per cent in case of specified fund:

Provided that the amount of income-tax calculated on the income by way of interest referred to in section 194LD shall be at the rate of five per cent;

(ii) the amount of income-tax calculated on the income by way of short-term capital gains referred to in clause (b) , if any, included in the total income, at the rate of thirty per cent :

31[Provided that the amount of income-tax calculated on the income by way of short-term capital gains referred to in section 111A shall be at the rate of—

(A) fifteen per cent for any transfer which takes place before the 23rd day of July, 2024; and

(B) twenty per cent for any transfer which takes place on or after the 23rd day of July, 2024;]

(iii) the amount of income-tax calculated on the income by way of long-term capital gains referred to in clause (b) , if any, included in the total income, at the rate of 32[ten] per cent:

33[Provided that in case of income arising from the transfer of a long-term capital asset referred to in section 112A which exceeds one lakh and twenty-five thousand rupees, income-tax shall be calculated at the rate of—

(A) ten per cent where transfer of such asset takes place before the 23rd day of July, 2024; and

(B) twelve and one-half per cent where transfer of such asset takes place on or after the 23rd day of July, 2024:

Provided further that the limit of one lakh twenty-five thousand rupees mentioned in the first proviso shall apply on aggregate of the long-term capital gains referred to in clauses (A) and (B) ; and]

(iv) the amount of income-tax with which the specified fund or Foreign Institutional Investor would have been chargeable had its total income been reduced by the amount of income referred to in clause (a) and clause (b) .

(1A) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1) , in case of specified fund, the provision of this section shall apply only to the extent of income that is attributable to units held by non-resident (not being a permanent establishment of a non-resident in India) calculated in the prescribed manner.

(1B) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1) , where the specified fund is investment division of an offshore banking unit, the provisions of this section shall apply to the extent of income that is attributable to the investment division of such banking units, referred to in sub-clause (ii) of clause (c) to the Explanation to clause (4D) of section 10, as a Category-I portfolio investor under the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Foreign Portfolio Investors) Regulations, 2019 made under the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992 (15 of 1992) , calculated in such manner as may be prescribed.

(2) Where the gross total income of the specified fund or Foreign Institutional Investor—

(a) consists only of income in respect of securities referred to in clause (a) of sub-section (1) , no deduction shall be allowed to it under sections 28 to 44C or clause (i) or clause (iii) of section 57 or under Chapter VI-A;

(b) includes any income referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) of sub-section (1) , the gross total income shall be reduced by the amount of such income and the deduction under Chapter VI-A shall be allowed as if the gross total income as so reduced, were the gross total income of the specified fund or Foreign Institutional Investor.

(3) Nothing contained in the first and second provisos to section 48 shall apply for the computation of capital gains arising out of the transfer of securities referred to in clause (b) of sub-section (1) .

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,—

(a) the expression "Foreign Institutional Investor" means such investor as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf;

(aa) the expression "investment division of offshore banking unit" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (aa) of the Explanation to clause (4D) of section 10;

(b) the expression "permanent establishment" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (iiia) of section 92F;

(c) the expression "securities" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (h) of section 2 of the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956 (42 of 1956) ;

(d) the expression "specified fund" shall have the same meaning assigned to it in clause (c) of the Explanation to clause (4D) of section 10.

210.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

Clause 210 of the Bill provides for special rates of tax on income earned by Foreign Institutions Investors including dividend and interest on securities and capital gains on transfer of their securities. The clause corresponds to Section 115AD of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. Some of the provisions have been provided in a tabular format for ease of comprehension.

210.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 210 under examination, including the views/suggestions of stakeholders and the justification given by the Ministry of Finance, find the proposed provisions to be broadly acceptable. The clause provides for special rates of income tax on income of Foreign Institutional Investors and specified funds from transfer of securities and capital gains arising therefrom. It prescribes concessional tax rates for different categories of income — ranging from 10% to 30% — depending on whether the income is from securities, short-term capital gains, or long-term capital gains.

The Committee note that the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 broadly corresponds to Section 115AD of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, and the provisions have been simplified and presented in a tabular format for ease of comprehension. The Ministry of Finance has explained that this is a consolidation and reorganization of existing provisions without affecting their policy intent.Therefore, the Committee accept the provision under Clause 210 as proposed.

Clause-211. Tax on non-resident sportsmen or sports associations

211.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Where the total income of an assessee,—

(a) being a sportsman (including an athlete) , who is not a citizen of India and is a non-resident, includes any income received or receivable by way of—

(i) participation in India in any game [other than a game the winnings from which are taxable as specified in section 194(1) (Table: Sl. No. 1)] or sport; or

(ii) advertisement; or

(iii) contribution of articles relating to any game or sport in India in newspapers, magazines or journals; or

(b) being a non-resident sports association or institution, includes any amount guaranteed to be paid or payable to such association or institution in relation to any game, other than a game the winnings from which are taxable as specified in section 194(1) (Table: Sl. No. 1) or sport played in India; or

(c) being an entertainer, who is not a citizen of India and is a non-resident, includes any income received or receivable from his performance in India, then, the income-tax payable by the assessee shall be the aggregate of amounts mentioned in column C of the Table below:—

Sl. No.	Income	Income-tax payable
A	B	C
1.	Income referred to in clause (a) or (b) or (c) .	20 %
2.	Total income as reduced by income referred to in clause (a) or (b) or (c) .	Income-tax chargeable on such income.

(2) No deduction in respect of any expenditure or allowance shall be allowed under any provision of this Act in computing the income referred to in sub-section (1) .

(3) It shall not be necessary for the assessee to furnish a return of his income under section 263(1) , if—

(a) his total income during the tax year consisted only of income referred to in sub-section (1) ; and

(b) the tax deductible at source under the provisions of Chapter XIX-B has been deducted from such income.

211.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115BBAare as under:

Tax on non-resident sportsmen or sports associations.

115BBA. (1) Where the total income of an assessee,—

(a) being a sportsman (including an athlete) , who is not a citizen of India and is a non-resident, includes any income received or receivable by way of—

(i) participation in India in any game (other than a game the winnings wherefrom are taxable under section 115BB) or sport; or

(ii) advertisement; or

(iii) contribution of articles relating to any game or sport in India in newspapers, magazines or journals; or

(b) being a non-resident sports association or institution, includes any amount guaranteed to be paid or payable to such association or institution in relation to any game (other than a game the winnings wherefrom are taxable under section 115BB) or sport played in India; or

(c) being an entertainer, who is not a citizen of India and is a non-resident, includes any income received or receivable from his performance in India, the income-tax payable by the assessee shall be the aggregate of—

(i) the amount of income-tax calculated on income referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) or clause (c) at the rate of twenty per cent; and

(ii) the amount of income-tax with which the assessee would have been chargeable had the total income of the assessee been reduced by the amount of income referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) or clause (c) :

Provided that no deduction in respect of any expenditure or allowance shall be allowed under any provision of this Act in computing the income referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) or clause (c) .

(2) It shall not be necessary for the assessee to furnish under sub-section (1) of section 139 a return of his income if—

(a) his total income in respect of which he is assessable under this Act during the previous year consisted only of income referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) or clause (c) of sub-section (1) ; and

(b) the tax deductible at source under the provisions of Chapter XVII-B has been deducted from such income.

211.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> Clause 211 of the Bill seeks to provide for tax on income of non-resident sportsmen or sports association. The clause corresponds to section 115BBA of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been presented in a tabular format for simplification purpose. The provisions of the existing sections have been simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

211.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after a detailed examination of Clause 211, including the suggestions of stakeholders and the rationale provided by the Ministry of Finance, is of the view that the provisions under Clause 211are broadly acceptable. The Committee note that the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 broadly corresponds to Section 115BBA of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, and the provisions have been simplified and presented in a tabular format for ease of understanding. Therefore, the Committee accept the proposal under Clause 211 as it stands.

Chapter XI

GENERAL ANTI-AVOIDANCE RULE

Clause 212–Interpretation

212.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

In sections 213 to 218,—

(a) “foreign exchange asset” means any specified asset which the assessee has acquired or purchased with, or subscribed to in, convertible foreign exchange;

(b) “investment income” means any income derived from a foreign exchange asset;

(c) “long-term capital gains” means income chargeable under the head “Capital gains” relating to a capital asset, being a foreign exchange asset which is not a short-term capital asset;

(d) “non-resident Indian” means an individual, who is not a resident and is—

(i) a citizen of India; or

(ii) a person of Indian origin;

(e) “specified asset” means any of the following assets:—

(i) shares in an Indian company; or

(ii) debentures issued by an Indian company which is not a private company as defined in the Companies Act, 2013; or

(iii) deposits with an Indian company which is not a private company as defined in the Companies Act, 2013; or

(iv) any security of the Central Government as defined in section 2(c) of the Public Debt Act, 1944; or

(v) such other assets as the Central Government may specify in this behalf by notification.

212.2Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115C under Chapter XII-A SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO CERTAIN INCOMES OF NON-RESIDENTS are as under:

Definitions.

115C. In this Chapter, unless the context otherwise requires,—

(a) "convertible foreign exchange" means foreign exchange which is for the time being treated by the Reserve Bank of India as convertible foreign exchange for the purposes of the Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999 (42 of 1999) , and any rules made thereunder;

(b) "foreign exchange asset" means any specified asset which the assessee has acquired or purchased with, or subscribed to in, convertible foreign exchange;

(c) "investment income" means any income derived from a foreign exchange asset;

(d) "long-term capital gains" means income chargeable under the head "Capital gains" relating to a capital asset, being a foreign exchange asset which is not a short-term capital asset;

(e) "non-resident Indian" means an individual, being a citizen of India or a person of Indian origin who is not a "resident".

Explanation.—A person shall be deemed to be of Indian origin if he, or either of his parents or any of his grand-parents, was born in undivided India;

(f) "specified asset" means any of the following assets, namely :—

(i) shares in an Indian company;

(ii) debentures issued by an Indian company which is not a private company as defined in the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956) ;

(iii) deposits with an Indian company which is not a private company as defined in the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956) ;

(iv) any security of the Central Government as defined in clause (2) of section 2 of the Public Debt Act, 1944 (18 of 1944) ;

(v) such other assets as the Central Government may specify in this behalf by notification in the Official Gazette.

212.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> Clause 212 of the Bill seeks to provide for interpretation of terms used in clause 213 to 218 of the Bill. The clause corresponds to section 115C of the Act. Definition of “Convertible Foreign Exchange” which was provided in section 115C(a) of the Act has been moved to clause 2(30) of the Bill for simplification purpose. The provisions of the existing section have been simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

212.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 212 under examination, including the views and suggestions of stakeholders and the justification provided by the Ministry of Finance, find the proposed provisions to be broadly acceptable. The Committee note that the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 broadly corresponds to Section 115C of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, and the definition of "convertible foreign exchange" has been removed here and placed under Clause 2(30) of the Bill for simplification and ease of reference. The Ministry of Finance has explained that this change is meant to streamline the structure of the Act without affecting the policy intent or application of these provisions. Furthermore, the existing provisions have been simplified and presented more clearly in this clause while retaining their original intent.Therefore, the Committee accept the proposed provisions under Clause 212 as it stands.

213. Special provision for computation of total income of non-residents

213.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) No deduction in respect of any expenditure or allowance shall be allowed under any provision of this Act in computing the investment income of a non-resident Indian.

(2) In the case of an assessee, being a non-resident Indian, where—

(a) the gross total income consists only of investment income or income by way of long-term capital gains or both then no deduction shall be allowed under Chapter VIII;

(b) the gross total income includes any income referred to in clause (a) ,—

(i) the gross total income shall be reduced by such income; and

(ii) the deductions under Chapter VIII shall be allowed as if the gross total income as so reduced was the gross total income of the assessee.

213.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115D are as under :

Special provision for computation of total income of non-residents.

115D. (1) No deduction in respect of any expenditure or allowance shall be allowed under any provision of this Act in computing the investment income of a non-resident Indian.

(2) Where in the case of an assessee, being a non-resident Indian,—

(a) the gross total income consists only of investment income or income by way of long-term capital gains or both, no deduction shall be allowed to the assessee under Chapter VI-A and nothing contained in the provisions of the second proviso to section 48 shall apply to income chargeable under the head "Capital gains";

(b) the gross total income includes any income referred to in clause (a) , the gross total income shall be reduced by the amount of such income and the deductions under Chapter VI-A shall be allowed as if the gross total income as so reduced were the gross total income of the assessee.

213.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

Clause 213 of the Bill seeks to provide for special provision for computation of total income of non-residents. The clause corresponds to section 115D of the Act. The provisions of the existing sections have been simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

213.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after careful consideration of the proposal under Clause 213, including the justification provided by the Ministry of Finance, find the proposed provisions appropriate and consistent with the existing legal framework. The Committee note that Clause aims to rationalize the computation of total income for non-resident Indians by consolidating and clarifying provisions previously contained in Section 115D of the Income-Tax Act, 1961.Accordingly, the Committee accept Clause 213 as proposed, recognizing that it provides greater clarity and ease of application in line with the policy intent.

214. Tax on investment income and long-term capital gains

214.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

Provisions of clause the 214 are as under:

The Income-tax payable, on the total income of an assessee, being a non-resident Indian, which includes income specified in column B of the Table below, shall be the aggregate of the amounts mentioned in column C thereof.

Sl. No.	Income	Income-tax payable
A	B	C
1.	Income from investment or income from long-term capital gains of an asset other than a specified asset.	20 %
2.	Income from long-term capital gainson specified asset.	12.5%
3.	Total income as reduced by income referred to against serial numbers 1 and 2.	Income-tax chargeable on such income.

214.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115E are as under:

Tax on investment income and long-term capital gains.

115E. Where the total income of an assessee, being a non-resident Indian, includes—

(a) any income from investment or income from long-term capital gains of an asset other than a specified asset;

(b) income by way of long-term capital gains, the tax payable by him shall be the aggregate of—

(i) the amount of income-tax calculated on the income in respect of investment income referred to in clause (a) , if any, included in the total income, at the rate of twenty per cent;

46[(ii) the amount of income-tax calculated on the income by way of long-term capital gains referred to in clause (b) , if any, included in the total income,--

(A) at the rate of ten per cent for any transfer which takes place before the 23rd day of July, 2024; and

(B) at the rate of twelve and one-half per cent for any transfer which takes place on or after the 23rd day of July, 2024; and]

(iii) the amount of income-tax with which he would have been chargeable had his total income been reduced by the amount of income referred to in clauses (a) and (b) .

214.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> Clause 214 of the Bill provides for the special rates of taxes on investment income and long terms capital gains earned by non-resident Indians. The clause corresponds to Section 115E of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. (The reference to “income from long term capital gains of an asset other than specified asset” must be deleted as this is inconsistent with the provisions of IT Act, 1961) .

214.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Gist of important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders are provided as under:

i. In table, at S No. 1, the phrase can be reworded as follows - Income from investment or income from long-term capital gains of an asset other than a specified asset The Income from any asset other than specified asset (income/ capital gains) does not form part of this Chapter. Hence, specifying rate for such income under this chapter is not required. This may be considered to be removed.

214.5 Examination by the Committee:

The corresponding written responses received from the Ministry of Finance on the above suggestions made by stakeholders are as under:

i. This is in the nature of drafting correction. The phrase "income from long-term capital gains of an asset other than a specified asset" may be deleted. The suggestion is acceptable.

214.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 214 under examination, including the views and suggestions of stakeholders and the justification provided by the Ministry of Finance, find the proposed provisions to be broadly acceptable. The clause prescribes the special rate of income tax payable by non-resident Indians on their investment income and long-term capital gains.

The Committee note that thesaid clause of Income-Tax Bill, 2025 broadly corresponds to Section 115E of the Income-Tax Act, 1961. The provisions have been simplified and presented more clearly while retaining their original intent. However, the Committee observe that the reference to "income from long-term capital gains of an asset other than a specified asset" under Serial No. 1 of the table is a drafting oversight and should be removed. Therefore, the Committee accept the proposed Clause 214 with the following modifications:

To delete the words "income from long-term capital gains of an asset other than a specified asset" under Serial No. 1 of the table.

215. Capital gains on transfer of foreign exchange assets not to be charged in certain cases

215.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Where, in case of an assessee, being a non-resident Indian,—

(a) any long-term capital gains arises from the transfer of a foreign exchange asset (herein referred as original asset) ; and

(b) within six months after the date of such transfer, he has invested the whole or any part of the net consideration in any specified asset (herein referred as new asset) , then the capital gains shall be dealt with in the following manner:—

(i) if the cost of the new asset is not less than the net consideration in respect of the original asset, the whole of such capital gain shall not be charged under section 67;

(ii) if the cost of the new asset is less than the net consideration in respect of the original asset, then the capital gain computed by the following formula shall not be charged under section 67:—

$$A = \frac{B \times C}{D}$$

Where,

A = the capital gains not to be charges being computed;

B = whole of the capital gain;

C = cost of acquisition of the new asset;

D = net consideration in respect of the original asset.

(2) For the In sub-section (1) ,—

(a) “cost”, in relation to any new asset, being a deposit referred to in section 212(e) (iii) (v) , means the amount of such deposit;

(b) “net consideration” in relation to the transfer of the original asset, means the full value of the consideration received or accruing as a result of the transfer of such asset as reduced by any expenditure incurred wholly and exclusively in connection with such transfer.

(3) Where the new asset is transferred or converted (otherwise than by transfer) into money, within three years from date of its acquisition, the capital gain arising from transfer of original asset not so charged under section 67 shall be deemed to be income by way of capital gains of the tax year in which such transfer or conversion takes placerelating to capital assets other than short-term capital assets of the tax year in which the new asset is transferred or converted (otherwise than by transfer) into money.

215.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115F are as under:

Capital gains on transfer of foreign exchange assets not to be charged in certain cases.

115F. (1) Where, in the case of an assessee being a non-resident Indian, any long-term capital gains arise from the transfer of a foreign exchange asset (the asset so transferred being hereafter in this section referred to as the original asset) , and the assessee has, within a period of six months after the date of such transfer, invested the whole or any part of the net consideration in any specified asset, or in any savings certificates referred to in clause (4B) of section 10 (such specified asset, or such savings certificates being hereafter in this section referred to as the new asset) , the capital gain shall be dealt with in accordance with the following provisions of this section, that is to say,—

(a) if the cost of the new asset is not less than the net consideration in respect of the original asset, the whole of such capital gain shall not be charged under section 45;

(b) if the cost of the new asset is less than the net consideration in respect of the original asset, so much of the capital gain as bears to the whole of the capital gain the same proportion as the cost of acquisition of the new asset bears to the net consideration shall not be charged under section 45.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section,—

(i) "cost", in relation to any new asset, being a deposit referred to in sub-clause (iii) , or specified under sub-clause (v) , of clause (f) of section 115C, means the amount of such deposit;

(ii) "net consideration", in relation to the transfer of the original asset, means the full value of the consideration received or accruing as a result of the transfer of such asset as reduced by any expenditure incurred wholly and exclusively in connection with such transfer.

(2) Where the new asset is transferred or converted (otherwise than by transfer) into money, within a period of three years from the date of its acquisition, the amount of capital gain arising from the transfer of the original asset not charged under section 45 on the basis of the cost of such new asset as provided in clause (a) or, as the case may be, clause (b) , of sub-section (1) shall be deemed to be income chargeable under the head "Capital gains" relating to capital assets other than short-term capital assets of the previous year in which the new asset is transferred or converted (otherwise than by transfer) into money.

215.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> Clause 215 of the Bill provides for the exemption of taxation of long-term capital gains on foreign exchange assets earned by non-resident Indians, if they make specific investment(s) subject to certain conditions. The clause corresponds to Section 115F of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. Formula has been provided in the clause for ease of computation.

215.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Gist of important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders are provided as under:

> The following words may be deleted. (2) For the In sub-section (1) ,— Words “for the” are not required.

215.5 Examination by the Committee:

214.5.1Clarifying the drafting error, the Ministry in its written reply stated as follows:The word "in" may be deleted and the phrase would read. 215: (2) For the In sub-section

214.5.2 Regarding safeguards to prevent misuse or artificial structuring of the three-year holding period, the Ministry stated as follows:—

> The savings certificates mentioned in Section 10(4B) pertain to those issued before 01.06.2002. and hence these provisions are redundant now. Regarding rollover, the suggestion seeks that once benefit of exemption from capital gains is taken on reinvestment in a specified asset, the condition of lock-in of 3 years should not be treated as being violated if further investment is made to another specified asset. This is a provision given to benefit the tax payer and avoid capital gains tax by reinvestment. This is not provided for further investment or trading in such "specified assets".

215.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 215 under examination, including the justification provided by the Ministry of Finance, find the proposed provisions broadly acceptable. The Committee note that this clause corresponds to Section 115F of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, and the Ministry has simplified the text while retaining its original intent. The formula for computing exemption when the cost of the new asset is less than the net consideration of the original asset has been explicitly incorporated in the Bill for ease of application and clarity.However, the Committee identified a drafting error in sub-section (2), where the phrase 'For the' are unnecessary and should be omitted to avoid redundancy.

Therefore, the Committee accept the proposed Clause 215 with the following modifications:

To omit the words "For the" in sub-section (2) for greater clarity.

216. Return of income not to be furnished in certain cases

216.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

It shall not be necessary for a non-resident Indian to furnish a return of his income under section 263(1) , if—

(a) his total income during the tax year consisted only of investment income or income by way of long-term capital gains or both; and

(b) the tax deductible at source under the provisions of Chapter XIX-B has been deducted from such income.

216.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115G are as under:

Return of income not to be filed in certain cases.

115G. It shall not be necessary for a non-resident Indian to furnish under sub-section (1) of section 139 a return of his income if—

(a) his total income in respect of which he is assessable under this Act during the previous year consisted only of investment income or income by way of long-term capital gains or both; and

(b) the tax deductible at source under the provisions of Chapter XVII-B has been deducted from such income.

216.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

Clause 216 of the Bill provides for the exemption from filing of the return of income of non-resident Indians, if his income consists only of long-term capital gains or from investment or both, and tax has been deducted on such income. The clause corresponds to Section 115G of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

216.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after consideration of Clause 216 of the Bill, find the proposal reasonable and in keeping with the intent of the existing Section 115G of the Income-Tax Act, 1961.The clause provides that a non-resident Indian is not required to furnish a return of income if their total income consists only of investment income or long-term capital gains or both, and the applicable tax has already been deducted at source under Chapter XIX-B.The Ministry's justification—that this simply textually streamlines the existing exemption without making any substantial change—is appropriate and desirable.Therefore, the Committee recommend retaining Clause 216 as it stands in the Bill.

217. Benefit under Chapter to be available in certain cases even after assessee becomes resident

217.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Where a non-resident Indianin any tax year,—
(a) becomes assessable as a resident in India in a subsequent tax year; and
(b) furnishes a declaration in writing to the Assessing Officer along with his return of income under section 263for the tax year for which he is so assessable,to the effect that provisions of sections 212 to 218 shall continue to apply to him in relation to the investment income derived from any foreign exchange asset referred to in section 212(e) other than a share in an Indian company, then the provisions of this Chapter shall continue to apply in relation to such income until the transfer or conversion (otherwise than by transfer) of such assets into money.

217.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115H are as under:

Benefit under Chapter to be available in certain cases even after the assessee becomes resident.

115H. Where a person, who is a non-resident Indian in any previous year, becomes assessable as resident in India in respect of the total income of any subsequent year, he may furnish to the Assessing Officer a declaration in writing along with his return of income under section 139 for the assessment year for which he is so assessable, to the effect that the provisions of this Chapter shall continue to apply to him in relation to the investment income derived from any foreign exchange asset being an asset of the nature referred to in sub-clause (ii) or sub-clause (iii) or sub-clause (iv) or sub-clause (v) of clause (f) of section 115C; and if he does so, the provisions of this Chapter shall continue to apply to him in relation to such income for that assessment year and for every subsequent assessment year until the transfer or conversion (otherwise than by transfer) into money of such assets.

217.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> Clause 217 of the Bill provides for benefit to be available in case of investment income from foreign exchange asset to a non-resident Indian if he becomes a resident at a later year. The clause corresponds to Section 115H of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

217.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Gist of important suggestions given by Experts/ Stakeholders are as under:

> Form is yet to be prescribed for electing to be governed by special provisions to avail the benefit of this provision. The requirement of selection of this Scheme may be made as part of return of income itself. Since the ROI is annexure less and electronic, suitable provisions may be incorporated in the ROI itself to be governed by the provisions of Chapter XIIIE.

217.5Examination by the Committee:

Views of the Ministry of Finance on the above suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders are as under :

> The provisions of the Clause do not allow for any prescription of Rules/Forms as this power has not been delegated by the Parliament. The only requirement of the section is to provide a declaration in writing to the AO. Moreover, this suggestion relates to the drafting of Rules/Forms or making a change in the Return of Income. This will be examined during the drafting of the Rules if the provisions of the Clause are modified to provide for any prescription. This suggestion is noted.

217.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 217 under examination — including the views and suggestions of stakeholders and the justification provided by the Ministry of Finance — find that this clause aims to provide a benefit to a non-resident Indian who subsequently becomes a resident in India. It allows such a person to continue to be governed by the provisions of this Chapter in relation to income from certain specified assets, provided a declaration is furnished to the Assessing Officer along with their return of income.

The Ministry has explained that this change simply streamlines the text of the existing Section 115H of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, while retaining its main intent.

The Committee feel that the option of furnishing a separate declaration to the Assessing Officer could be incorporated directly into the return of income form instead. However, the Committee find this to be a procedural matter, which can be addressed at the time of framing Rules and designing the income tax return form. Therefore, the Committee consider it appropriate to retain the clause in its present form, subject to this consideration.

218. Chapter not to apply if the assessee so chooses

218.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) A non-resident Indian may choose not to be governed by the provisions of sections 212 to 217 for any tax year by declaring it in his return of income under section 263 for such tax year.and if he does so,—

(a) the provisions of sections 212 to 217 shall not apply to him for that tax year, and

(b) his total income for that tax year shall be computed and charged to tax according to the other provisions of this Act.

218.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115-Iare as under

Chapter not to apply if the assessee so chooses.

115-I. A non-resident Indian may elect not to be governed by the provisions of this Chapter for any assessment year by furnishing his return of income for that assessment year under section 139 declaring therein that the provisions of this Chapter shall not apply to him for that assessment year and if he does so, the provisions of this Chapter shall not apply to him for that assessment year and his total income for that assessment year shall be computed and tax on such total income shall be charged in accordance with the other provisions of this Act.

218.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> Clause 218 of the Bill provides for the method for opting out of the provisions of the clauses 212 to 217 by a non-resident. Where such an option is made, the income shall be computed and charged in accordance with other provisions of the Act. The clause corresponds to Section 115-I of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

218.4 Examination by the Committee:

On the question of whether the narrower language unintentionally exclude other linked provisions (such as exemption from return filing under Clause 216), the Ministry in its written reply stated as under:

> There is no change/confusion in the transition from assessment year to tax year as "tax year" means "previous year". The Chapter XXII-A referred to in Section 115-I contains sections 115C to 115-I. These correspond to Clause 212 to 218 and hence the reference in Clause 218 is correct.

218.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after careful consideration of the proposal made in Clause 218 under examination — including the justification provided by the Ministry of Finance — find that this clause simply streamlines and retains the intent of Section 115-I of the Income-Tax Act, 1961. It provides a non-resident Indian with the option to opt out of the special provisions of this Chapter by making a declaration in their return of income under Section 263.Once such a declaration is made, the provisions of this Chapter will not apply for that tax year, and the total income of the non-resident Indian will be computed and taxed in the normal manner under the other provisions of the Act.The Committee consider this a reasonable and flexible approach, allowing non-resident Indians to choose the regimen most beneficial to them in a given year.The Committee, therefore,accept the provisions under clause 218 as proposed.

Clause 219- Conversion of an Indian branch of foreign company into subsidiary Indian company

219.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Where a foreign company is engaged in the business of banking in India through its branch situated in India and such branch is converted into a subsidiary Indian company as per the scheme framed by the Reserve Bank of India, then, irrespective of anything contained in this Act and subject to the conditions as notified by the Central Government,—

(a) the capital gains arising from such conversion shall not be chargeable to tax in the tax year in which such conversion takes place; and

(b) the provisions of this Act relating to—

(i) treatment of unabsorbed depreciation, set off or carry forward and set off of losses;

(ii) tax credit in respect of tax paid on deemed income relating to certain companies; and

(iii) computation of income of the foreign company and subsidiary Indian company, shall apply with such exceptions, modifications and adaptations as specified in that notification.

(2) In case of failure to comply with any of the conditions specified in the scheme or in the notification issued under sub-section (1) , all the provisions of this Act shall apply to the foreign company and the said subsidiary Indian company without any benefit, exemption or relief under the said sub-section.

(3) Where, in a tax year, any benefit, exemption or relief has been claimed and granted as per the provisions of sub-section (1) and, subsequently, there is failure to comply with any of the conditions specified in the scheme or in the notification issued under the said sub-section then,—

(a) such benefit, exemption or relief shall be deemed to have been wrongly allowed;

(b) the Assessing Officer may, irrespective of anything in this Act, re-compute the total income of the assessee for the said tax year and make the necessary amendment; and

(c) the provisions of section 287 shall, so far as may be, apply thereto and the period of four years specified in sub-section (8) of that section being reckoned from the end of the tax year in which the failure to comply with the condition referred to in sub-section (1) takes place.

(4) Every notification issued under this section shall be laid before each House of Parliament.

219.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115JG are as under:

Chapter XII-BBSPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO CONVERSION OF INDIAN BRANCH OF A FOREIGN BANK INTO A SUBSIDIARY COMPANY

Conversion of an Indian branch of foreign company into subsidiary Indian company.

115JG. (1) Where a foreign company is engaged in the business of banking in India through its branch situate in India and such branch is converted into a subsidiary company thereof, being an Indian company (hereafter referred to as an Indian subsidiary company) in accordance with the scheme framed by the Reserve Bank of India, then, notwithstanding anything contained in the Act and subject to the conditions as may be notified by the Central Government in this behalf,—

(i) the capital gains arising from such conversion shall not be chargeable to tax in the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which such conversion takes place;

(ii) the provisions of this Act relating to treatment of unabsorbed depreciation, set off or carry forward and set off of losses, tax credit in respect of tax paid on deemed income relating to certain companies and the computation of income in the case of the foreign company and Indian subsidiary company shall apply with such exceptions, modifications and adaptations as may be specified in that notification.

(2) In case of failure to comply with any of the conditions specified in the scheme or in the notification issued under sub-section (1) , all the provisions of this Act shall apply to the foreign company and the said Indian subsidiary company without any benefit, exemption or relief under sub-section (1) .

(3) Where, in a previous year, any benefit, exemption or relief has been claimed and granted to the foreign company or the Indian subsidiary company in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) and, subsequently, there is failure to comply with any of the conditions specified in the scheme or in the notification issued under sub-section (1) , then,—

(i) such benefit, exemption or relief shall be deemed to have been wrongly allowed;

(ii) the Assessing Officer may, notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, re-compute the total income of the assessee for the said previous year and make the necessary amendment; and

(iii) the provisions of section 154 shall, so far as may be, apply thereto and the period of four years specified in sub-section (7) of that section being reckoned from the end of the previous year in which the failure to comply with the condition referred to in sub-section (1) takes place.

(4) Every notification issued under this section shall be laid before each House of Parliament.

219.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> Clause 219 of the Bill provides for relaxation from capital gains tax and entitlement to carry forward losses, etc., when an Indian branch of a foreign bank is converted into an Indian company. The clause corresponds to Section 115JG of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

219.4 Examination by the Committee:

On the issue of Clause 219(3) introduces a reversal of benefit provision similar to GAAR-like rules. Should taxpayers be required to self-report non-compliance within a specified period to avoid penalties, and will there be a grace period before reassessment under Section 287 is triggered?

> There are no new provisions introduced in Clause 219(3) of the Bill. There is no change from the corresponding provisions of Section 115JG(2) of the Act. These are beneficial provisions given for conversion of Indian branch of a foreign banking company into a subsidiary Indian company - the failure of which will lead to withdrawal of benefit. The taxpayer has already enjoyed the benefit and is required to ensure compliance to the conditions. Therefore, there are no provisions either for self-reporting of non-compliance and grace period of reassessment/rectification.

219.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

> The Committee, after careful consideration of the proposal made in Clause 219 under examination — including the justification provided by the Ministry of Finance — find that this clause largely retains the intent and benefits previously available under Section 115JG of the Income-Tax Act, 1961.

The main objective of this clause is to facilitate the conversion of a branch of a foreign bank in India into a subsidiary company, without causing a capital gains event and while preserving certain benefits, such as carry forward of losses and depreciation and tax credit on previously deemed income.The conditions for this exemption and the procedure to withdraw these benefits if conditions are subsequently contravened have been adequately specified. The Ministry has simplified the wording while retaining the substance of the existing provisions.The Committee, therefore, consider it appropriate to retain Clause 219 of the Bill as it stands.

Clause 220

Clause- 220Foreign company said to be resident in India

220.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Where a foreign company is said to be a resident in India in any tax year and such company has not been a resident in India in earlier tax years, then, irrespective of anything in this Act and subject to the conditions as notified by the Central Government in this behalf, the provisions of this Act relating to—

(a) the computation of total income;

(b) treatment of unabsorbed depreciation;

(c) set off or carry forward and set off of losses;

(d) collection and recovery; and

(e) special provisions relating to avoidance of tax, shall apply with such exceptions, modifications and adaptations as specified in that notificationfor such tax years;

(2) Where the determination regarding foreign company to be resident in India has been made in the assessment proceedings for any tax year, then, the provisions of sub-section (1) shall also apply to any other tax year succeeding such tax year, which ends on or before the date of completion of such assessment proceeding.

(3) Where, in a tax year, any benefit, exemption or relief has been claimed and granted to the foreign company as per the provisions of sub-section (1) , and, subsequently, there is failure to comply with any of the conditions specified in the notification issued under the said sub-section, then,—

(a) such benefit, exemption or relief shall be deemed to have been wrongly allowed;

(b) the Assessing Officer may, irrespective of anything in this Act, re-compute the total income of the assessee for the said tax year and make the necessary amendment as if the exceptions, modifications and adaptation referred to in sub-section (1) did not apply; and

(c) the provisions of section 287 shall, so far as may be, apply thereto and the period of four years specified in sub-section (8) of that section being reckoned from the end of the tax year in which the failure to comply with the condition referred to in sub-section (1) takes place.

(4) Every notification issued under this section shall be laid before each House of Parliament.

220.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115JHare as under:

Chapter XII-BCSPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO FOREIGN COMPANY SAID TO BE RESIDENT IN INDIA

Foreign company said to be resident in India.

115JH. (1) Where a foreign company is said to be resident in India in any previous year and such foreign company has not been resident in India in any of the previous years preceding the said previous year, then, notwithstanding anything contained in this Act and subject to the conditions as may be notified by the Central Government in this behalf, the provisions of this Act relating to the computation of total income, treatment of unabsorbed depreciation, set off or carry forward and set off of losses, collection and recovery and special provisions relating to avoidance of tax shall apply with such exceptions, modifications and adaptations as may be specified in that notification for the said previous year:

Provided that where the determination regarding foreign company to be resident in India has been made in the assessment proceedings relevant to any previous year, then, the provisions of this sub-section shall also apply in respect of any other previous year, succeeding such previous year, if the foreign company is resident in India in that previous year and the previous year ends on or before the date on which such assessment proceeding is completed.

(2) Where, in a previous year, any benefit, exemption or relief has been claimed and granted to the foreign company in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) , and, subsequently, there is failure to comply with any of the conditions specified in the notification issued under sub-section (1) , then,—

(i) such benefit, exemption or relief shall be deemed to have been wrongly allowed;

(ii) the Assessing Officer may, notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, re-compute the total income of the assessee for the said previous year and make the necessary amendment as if the exceptions, modifications and adaptations referred to in sub-section (1) did not apply; and

(iii) the provisions of section 154 shall, so far as may be, apply thereto and the period of four years specified in sub-section (7) of that section being reckoned from the end of the previous year in which the failure to comply with the conditions referred to in sub-section (1) takes place.

(3) Every notification issued under this section shall be laid before each House of Parliament.

220.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> Clause 220 of the Bill provides for implications related to, inter alia, computation of total income, treatment of unabsorbed depreciation, set off or carry forward of losses, collection and recovery and special provisions related to avoidance of taxes, where a foreign company is said to be a resident in India in any tax year and such company is not resident in earlier tax years. The clause corresponds to Section 115JH of the Act. The provision of the existing section has been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

220.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after consideration of Clause 220 of the Bill, find the proposal reasonable and in keeping with the intent of Section 115JH of the Income-Tax Act, 1961.The Committee notethe justification furnished by the Ministry that this simply streamlines the text and retains the main intent of the existing provision. Therefore, the Committee accept the proposed clause.

F.—Special provisions relating to pass-through entities

221. Tax on income from securitisation trusts

221.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Irrespective of anything contained in this Act, where a person being an investor of a securitisation trust, receives any income or any income accrues or arises to him, out of investments made in the securitisation trust, such income shall be chargeable to income-tax in the same manner as if, it were the income accruing or arising to, or received by, such person, had the investments by the securitisation trust been made directly by him.

(2) The income paid or credited by the securitisation trust shall be deemed to be of the same nature and in the same proportion in the hands of the person referred to in sub-section (1) , as if it had been received by, or had accrued or arisen to, the securitisation trust during the tax year.

(3) The income accruing or arising to, or received by, the securitisation trust during a tax year, if not paid or credited to the person referred to in sub-section (1) , shall be deemed to have been credited to the account of the said person—

(a) on the last day of the tax year; and

(b) in the same proportion in which such person would have been entitled to receive the income had it been paid in the tax year.

(4) The person responsible for crediting or making payment of the income on behalf of securitisation trust, and the securitisation trust, shall furnish, within such period, as prescribed, to the person who is liable to tax in respect of such income and to the prescribed income-tax authority, a statement in such form and verified in such manner, giving details of the nature of the income paid or credited during the tax year and such other relevant details, as prescribed.

(5) Any income which has been included in the total income of the person referred to in sub-section (1) in a tax year, on account of it having accrued or arisen in the said tax year, shall not be included in the total income of such person in the tax year in which such income is actually paid to him by the securitisation trust.

(6) In this section,—

(a) “investor” means a person who is holder of any securitised debt instrument or securities or security receipt issued by the securitisation trust;

(b) “securities” means debt securities issued by a Special Purpose Vehicle as referred to in the guidelines on securitisation of standard assets issued by the Reserve Bank of India;

(c) “securitised debt instrument” shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in regulation 2(1) (s) of the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Public Offer and Listing of Securitised Debt Instruments) Regulations, 2008 made under the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992 and the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956;

(d) “securitisation trust” means a trust, being a—

(i) “special purpose distinct entity” as defined in regulation 2(1) (u) of the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Public Offer and Listing of SecuritisedDebt Instruments) Regulations, 2008 made under the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992 and the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956 and regulated under the said regulations; or

(ii) “Special Purpose Vehicle” as defined in, and regulated by, the guidelines on securitisation of standard assets issued by the Reserve Bank of India; or

(iii) trust set-up by a securitisation company or a reconstruction company formed, for the purposes of the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002, or in pursuance of any guidelines or directions issued for the said purposes by the Reserve Bank of India,

which fulfils such conditions, as prescribed;

(e) “security receipt” shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 2(1) (zg) of the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002.

221.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115TCAare as under:

Tax on income from securitisation trusts.

115TCA. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, any income accruing or arising to, or received by, a person, being an investor of a securitisation trust, out of investments made in the securitisation trust, shall be chargeable to income-tax in the same manner as if it were the income accruing or arising to, or received by, such person, had the investments by the securitisation trust been made directly by him.

(2) The income paid or credited by the securitisation trust shall be deemed to be of the same nature and in the same proportion in the hands of the person referred to in sub-section (1) , as if it had been received by, or had accrued or arisen to, the securitisation trust during the previous year.

(3) The income accruing or arising to, or received by, the securitisation trust, during a previous year, if not paid or credited to the person referred to in sub-section (1) , shall be deemed to have been credited to the account of the said person on the last day of the previous year in the same proportion in which such person would have been entitled to receive the income had it been paid in the previous year.

(4) The person responsible for crediting or making payment of the income on behalf of securitisation trust and the securitisation trust shall furnish, within such period, as may be prescribed, to the person who is liable to tax in respect of such income and to the prescribed income-tax authority, a statement in such form and verified in such manner, giving details of the nature of the income paid or credited during the previous year and such other relevant details, as may be prescribed.

(5) Any income which has been included in the total income of the person referred to in sub-section (1) , in a previous year, on account of it having accrued or arisen in the said previous year, shall not be included in the total income of such person in the previous year in which such income is actually paid to him by the securitisation trust.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this Chapter,—

(a) "investor" means a person who is holder of any securitised debt instrument or securities or security receipt issued by the securitisation trust;

(b) "securities" means debt securities issued by a Special Purpose Vehicle as referred to in the guidelines on securitisation of standard assets issued by the Reserve Bank of India;

(c) "securitised debt instrument" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (s) of sub-regulation (1) of regulation 2 of the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Public Offer and Listing of Securitised Debt Instruments) Regulations, 2008 made under the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992 (15 of 1992) and the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956 (42 of 1956) ;

(d) "securitisation trust" means a trust, being a—

(i) "special purpose distinct entity" as defined in clause (u) of sub-regulation (1) of regulation 2 of the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Public Offer and Listing of Securitised Debt Instruments) Regulations, 2008 made under the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992 (15 of 1992) and the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956 (42 of 1956) , and regulated under the said regulations; or

(ii) "Special Purpose Vehicle" as defined in, and regulated by, the guidelines on securitisation of standard assets issued by the Reserve Bank of India; or which fulfils such conditions, as may be prescribed;

(iii) trust set-up by a securitisation company or a reconstruction company formed, for the purposes of the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 (54 of 2002) , or in pursuance of any guidelines or directions issued for the said purposes by the Reserve Bank of India,

(e) "security receipt" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (zg) of sub-section (1) of section 2 of the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 (54 of 2002) .

221.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

Clause 221 of the Bill provides for special taxation regime for income from a securitisation trust earned by its investors. The clause corresponds to section 115TCA of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

221.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after careful consideration of Clause 221 of the Bill, find the proposal reasonable and in consonance with the intent and policy objective of Section 115TCA of the Income-Tax Act, 1961.The Committee notethe Ministry's submission that the proposed clause does not introduce any substantial change in policy but rather streamlines and clarifies the existing provisions to align them more closely with their original legislative intent. The Committee find this approach appropriate and desirable. Therefore, the Committee accept the proposal as contained in Clause 221 of the Bill.

222. Tax on income in case of venture capital undertakings

222.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Irrespective of anything contained in any other provision of this Act, where a person, out of investments made in a venture capital company or venture capital fund, receives any income, or any income accrues or arises to him, such income shall be chargeable to income-tax in the same manner as if, it were the income accruing or arising to, or received by, such person, had he made investments directly in the venture capital undertaking.

(2) The person responsible for crediting or making payment of the income on behalf of a venture capital company or a venture capital fund and the venture capital company or venture capital fund shall furnish, within such time, as prescribed, to the person who is liable to tax in respect of such income and to the prescribed income-tax authority, a statement in the prescribed form and verified in the prescribed manner, giving details of the nature of the income paid or credited during the tax year and such other relevant details, as prescribed.

(3) The income paid or credited by the venture capital company and the venture capital fund shall be deemed to be of the same nature and in the same proportion in the hands of the person referred to in sub-section (1) as it had been received by, or had accrued or arisen to, the venture capital company or the venture capital fund, as the case may be, during the tax year.

(4) The provisions of Chapter XIX-B shall not apply to the income paid by a venture capital company or venture capital fund under this Chapter.

(5) The income accruing or arising to or received by the venture capital company or venture capital fund during a tax year from investments made in venture capital undertaking, if not paid or credited to the person referred to in sub-section (1) , shall be deemed to have been credited to the account of the said person—

(a) on the last day of the tax year; and

(b) in the same proportion in which such person would have been entitled to receive the income had it been paid in the tax year.

(6) Any income which has been included in total income of the person referred to in sub-section (1) in a tax year, on account of it having accrued or arisen in the said tax year, shall not be included in the total income of such person in the tax year in which such income is actually paid to him by the venture capital company or the venture capital fund.

(7) Nothing contained in this section shall apply in respect of any income accruing or arising to, or received by, a person from investments made in a venture capital company or venture capital fund, being an investment fund specified in section 224(10) (a) .

(8) For the purposes of this section, “venture capital company”, “venture capital fund” and “venture capital undertaking” shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in Schedule V (Note 4) .

222.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115U are as under:

Chapter XII-FSPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO TAX ON INCOME RECEIVED FROM VENTURE CAPITAL COMPANIES AND VENTURE CAPITAL FUNDS

Tax on income in certain cases.

115U. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provisions of this Act, any income accruing or arising to or received by a person out of investments made in a venture capital company or venture capital fund shall be chargeable to income-tax in the same manner as if it were the income accruing or arising to or received by such person had he made investments directly in the venture capital undertaking.

(2) The person responsible for crediting or making payment of the income on behalf of a venture capital company or a venture capital fund and the venture capital company or venture capital fund shall furnish, within such time as may be prescribed, to the person who is liable to tax in respect of such income and to the prescribed income-tax authority, a statement in the prescribed form and verified in the prescribed manner, giving details of the nature of the income paid or credited during the previous year and such other relevant details as may be prescribed.

(3) The income paid or credited by the venture capital company and the venture capital fund shall be deemed to be of the same nature and in the same proportion in the hands of the person referred to in sub-section (1) as it had been received by, or had accrued or arisen to, the venture capital company or the venture capital fund, as the case may be, during the previous year.

(4) The provisions of Chapter XII-D or Chapter XII-E or Chapter XVII-B shall not apply to the income paid by a venture capital company or venture capital fund under this Chapter.

(5) The income accruing or arising to or received by the venture capital company or venture capital fund, during a previous year, from investments made in venture capital undertaking if not paid or credited to the person referred to in sub-section (1) , shall be deemed to have been credited to the account of the said person on the last day of the previous year in the same proportion in which such person would have been entitled to receive the income had it been paid in the previous year.

(6) Nothing contained in this Chapter shall apply in respect of any income, of a previous year relevant to the assessment year beginning on or after the 1st day of April, 2016, accruing or arising to, or received by, a person from investments made in a venture capital company or venture capital fund, being an investment fund specified in clause (a) of the Explanation 1 to section 115UB.

Explanation 1.—For the purposes of this Chapter, "venture capital company", "venture capital fund" and "venture capital undertaking" shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in clause (23FB) of section 10.

Explanation 2.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that any income which has been included in total income of the person referred to in sub-section (1) in a previous year, on account of it having accrued or arisen in the said previous year, shall not be included in the total income of such person in the previous year in which such income is actually paid to him by the venture capital company or the venture capital fund.

222.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

Clause 222 of the Bill seeks to provide for tax on income in case of venture capital undertakings. The clause corresponds to section 115U of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

222 .4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, having carefully considered Clause 222 of the Bill, find the proposal to be reasonable, well-crafted, and in consonance with the legislative intent of Section 115U of the Income-Tax Act, 1961.The Committee note that the Ministry has explained these modifications as a textual streamlining of the existing provisions, while retaining their essential policy objective and procedural safeguards. Importantly, the mechanisms for attribution of income, filing of statements by the venture capital company or fund, and disclosure to the income-tax authorities remain adequately robust to facilitate proper oversight and compliance.In view of the above, the Committee find the proposal appropriate, desirable, and in keeping with the principle of pass-through taxation. Therefore, the Committee accept Clause 222 of the Bill in its present form.

223. Tax on income of unit holder and business trust

223.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Irrespective of anything contained in any other provisions of this Act, any income distributed by a business trust to its unit holders shall be deemed to be of the same nature and in the same proportion in the hands of the unit holder as it had been received by, or accrued to, the business trust.

(2) Subject to the provisions of sections 196 and 197, the total income of a business trust shall be charged to tax at the maximum marginal rate.

(3) If in any tax year, the distributed income or any part thereof, received by a unit holder from the business trust is of the nature as referred to in Schedule V (Table: Sl. No. 3) or (Table: Sl. No. 4) , then, such distributed income or part thereof shall be deemed to be income of such unit holder and shall be charged to tax as income of the tax year.

(4) The provisions of sub-section (1) shall not apply in respect of any sum referred to in section 92(2) (k) received by a unit holder from a business trust.

(5) Any person responsible for making payment of the income distributed on behalf of a business trust to a unit holder, shall furnish a statement to the unit holder and the prescribed authority, within such time and in such form and manner, asprescribed, giving the details of the nature of the income paid during the tax year and such other details, as prescribed.

223.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115UAare as under:

Chapter XII-FA SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO BUSINESS TRUSTS

Tax on income of unit holder and business trust.

115UA. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provisions of this Act, any income distributed by a business trust to its unit holders shall be deemed to be of the same nature and in the same proportion in the hands of the unit holder as it had been received by, or accrued to, the business trust.

(2) Subject to the provisions of 53[section 111A and section 112], the total income of a business trust shall be charged to tax at the maximum marginal rate.

(3) If in any previous year, the distributed income or any part thereof, received by a unit holder from the business trust is of the nature as referred to in clause (23FC) or clause (23FCA) of section 10, then, such distributed income or part thereof shall be deemed to be income of such unit holder and shall be charged to tax as income of the previous year.

54[(3A) The provisions of sub-section (1) shall not apply in respect of any sum referred to in clause (xii) of sub-section (2) of section 56, received by a unit holder from a business trust.]

(3) Any person responsible for making payment of the income distributed on behalf of a business trust to a unit holder shall furnish a statement to the unit holder and the prescribed authority, within such time and in such form and manner as may be prescribed, giving the details of the nature of the income paid during the previous year and such other details as may be prescribed.

223.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> Clause 223 of the Bill provides for special taxation regime for Infrastructure Investment Trust under the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Infrastructure Investment Trusts) Regulations, 2014 and Real Estate Investment Trust under the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Real Estate Investment Trusts) Regulations, 2014 and their unit holders. The clause corresponds to section 115UA of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

223.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Gist of important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders are as under:

i. The amendment to Section 115UA(2) proposed in Finance Bill, 2025, which includes the tax rate of 12.5% for income covered by Section 112A, is not reflected in Section 223(2) of ITB 2025. Amend Section 223(2) of ITB 2025 to include the proposal contained in Finance Bill, 2025, ensuring the tax rate of 12.5% for income covered by Section 112A is applied.

ii. Sub-section (2) of section 223 may be reworded as follows - (2) Subject to the provisions of sections 196 and 197 and 198 the total income of a business trust shall be charged to tax at the maximum marginal rate. Capital gains on transfer of long-term capital assets referred to in section 198 also has to be charged to tax at the rate of 12.5% and not at MMR However, there is no reference to section 198 in section 223(2) Accordingly, reference to Section 198 to be added.

223.5 Examination by the Committee:

In response to the above suggestions submitted by the Experts/Stakeholders are provided as under :

Reference to section 112A was made in section 115UA(2) by the Finance Act, 2025. Similarly, the reference of cl. 198 was required to be made in cl. 223(2) . Same is missing in the proposed Income-Tax Bill, 2025. Reference of clause 198 corresponding to section 112A may be inserted in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025.It is a drafting correction and may be considered acceptable.)

223.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 223 — including the views and suggestions of stakeholders and the justification provided by the Ministry of Finance — find the proposed provision broadly acceptable and in consonance with the policy intent of Section 115UA of the Income-Tax Act, 1961.

However, the Committee observe a minor drafting inconsistency in sub-section (2) of Clause 223. The proposal, as currently worded, omits a specific reference to Section 112A and Section 198, which was incorporated into Section 115UA(2) by the Finance Act, 2025. This oversight may affect the application of the 12.5% tax rate to income covered under Section 112A and the proper treatment of capital gains on transfer of long-term capital assets.

The Committee, therefore, consider it appropriate to recommend that Clause 223(2) be amended to expressly refer to Section 112A and Section 198. Such a modification would align the provision with its legislative intent and policy framework, thereby ensuring fairness, consistency, and clarity in application.

The Committee, therefore, accept the provisions of Clause 223 of the Bill subject to the above modification.

224. Tax on income of investment fund and its unit holders

224.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Irrespective of anything contained in any other provision of this Act and subject to the provisions of this section, where a person, being a unit holder of an investment fund, out of investments made in the investment fund, receives any income or any income accrues or arises to him, such income shall be chargeable to income-tax in the same manner as if, it were the income accruing or arising to, or received by, such person, had the investments made by the investment fund been made directly by him.

(2) Where in any tax year, the net result of computation of total income of the investment fund, without giving effect to the provisions of Schedule V (Table: Sl. No. 1) , is a loss under any head of income and such loss cannot be or is not wholly set off against income under any other head of income of the said tax year, then out of such loss,—

(a) the loss arising to the investment fund as a result of the computation under the head “Profits and gains of business or profession”, if any, shall be—

(i) allowed to be carried forward and it shall be set off by the investment fund as per the provisions of Chapter VII; and

(ii) ignored for the purposes of sub-section (1) ;

(b) the loss other than the loss referred to in clause (a) , if any, shall also be ignored for the purposes of sub-section (1) , if such loss has arisen in respect of a unit which has not been held by the unit holder for at least twelve months.

(3) The loss other than the loss under the head “Profits and gains of business or profession”, if any, accumulated at the level of investment fund as on the 31st March, 2019, shall be—

(a) deemed to be the loss of a unit holder who held the unit on the 31st March, 2019 in respect of the investments made by him in the investment fund, in the same manner as provided in sub-section (1) ; and

(b) allowed to be carried forward by such unit holder for the remaining period calculated from the year in which the loss had occurred for the first time taking that year as the first year and shall be set off by him in as per the provisions of Chapter VII.

(4) The loss so deemed under sub-section (3) shall not be available to the investment fund on or after the 1st April, 2019.

(5) The income paid or credited by the investment fund shall be deemed to be of the same nature and in the same proportion in the hands of the person referred to in sub-section (1) , as if it had been received by, or had accrued or arisen to, the investment fund during the tax year subject to the provisions of sub-section (2) .

(6) The total income of the investment fund shall be charged to tax—

(a) at the rate or rates as specified in the Finance Act of the relevant year, where such fund is a company or a firm; or

(b) at maximum marginal rate, in any other case.

(7) The income accruing or arising to, or received by, the investment fund, during a tax year, if not paid or credited to the person referred to in sub-section (1) , shall subject to the provisions of sub-section (2) , be deemed to have been credited to the account of the said person on the last day of the tax year in the same proportion in which such person would have been entitled to receive the income had it been paid in the tax year.

(8) Any income, which has been included in total income of the person referred to in sub-section (1) in a tax year, on account of it having accrued or arisen in the said tax year, shall not be included in the total income of such person in the tax year in which such income is actually paid to him by the investment fund.

(9) The person responsible for crediting or making payment of the income on behalf of an investment fund and the investment fund shall furnish, within such time, as prescribed, to the person who is liable to tax in respect of such income and to the prescribed income-tax authority, a statement in the prescribed form and verified in such manner, giving details of the nature of the income paid or credited during the tax year and such other relevant details, as prescribed.

(10) In this section,—

(a) “investment fund” means any fund established or incorporated in India in the form of a trust or a company or a limited liability partnership or a body corporate which has been—

(i) granted a certificate of registration as a Category I or a Category II Alternative Investment Fund and is regulated under the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Alternative Investment Funds) Regulations, 2012 made under the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992; or

(ii) regulated under the International Financial Services Centres Authority (Fund Management) Regulations, 2022 made under the International Financial Services Centres Authority Act, 2019;

(b) “trust” means a trust established under the Indian Trusts Act, 1882 or under any other law in force; and

(c) “unit” means beneficial interest of an investor in the investment fund or a scheme of the investment fund and shall include shares or partnership interests.

224.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115UBare as under:

Chapter XII-FBSPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO TAX ON INCOME OF INVESTMENT FUNDS AND INCOME RECEIVED FROM SUCH FUNDS

Tax on income of investment fund and its unit holders.

115UB. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provisions of this Act and subject to the provisions of this Chapter, any income accruing or arising to, or received by, a person, being a unit holder of an investment fund, out of investments made in the investment fund, shall be chargeable to income-tax in the same manner as if it were the income accruing or arising to, or received by, such person had the investments made by the investment fund been made directly by him.

(2) Where in any previous year, the net result of computation of total income of the investment fund [without giving effect to the provisions of clause (23FBA) of section 10] is a loss under any head of income and such loss cannot be or is not wholly set off against income under any other head of income of the said previous year, then,—

(i) out of such loss, the loss arising to the investment fund as a result of the computation under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession", if any, shall be,—

(a) allowed to be carried forward and it shall be set off by the investment fund in accordance with the provisions of Chapter VI; and

(b) ignored for the purposes of sub-section (1) ;

(ii) the loss other than the loss referred to in clause (i) , if any, shall also be ignored for the purposes of sub-section (1) , if such loss has arisen in respect of a unit which has not been held by the unit holder for a period of atleast twelve months.

(2A) The loss other than the loss under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession", if any, accumulated at the level of investment fund as on the 31st day of March, 2019, shall be,—

(i) deemed to be the loss of a unit holder who held the unit on the 31st day of March, 2019 in respect of the investments made by him in the investment fund, in the same manner as provided in sub-section (1) ; and

(ii) allowed to be carried forward by such unit holder for the remaining period calculated from the year in which the loss had occurred for the first time taking that year as the first year and shall be set off by him in accordance with the provisions of Chapter VI:

Providedthat the loss so deemed under this sub-section shall not be available to the investment fund on or after the 1st day of April, 2019.

(3) The income paid or credited by the investment fund shall be deemed to be of the same nature and in the same proportion in the hands of the person referred to in sub-section (1) , as if it had been received by, or had accrued or arisen to, the investment fund during the previous year subject to the provisions of sub-section (2) .

(4) The total income of the investment fund shall be charged to tax—

(i) at the rate or rates as specified in the Finance Act of the relevant year, where such fund is a company or a firm; or

(ii) at maximum marginal rate in any other case.

(5) The provisions of Chapter XII-D or Chapter XII-E shall not apply to the income paid by an investment fund under this Chapter.

(6) The income accruing or arising to, or received by, the investment fund, during a previous year, if not paid or credited to the person referred to in sub-section (1) , shall subject to the provisions of sub-section (2) , be deemed to have been credited to the account of the said person on the last day of the previous year in the same proportion in which such person would have been entitled to receive the income had it been paid in the previous year.

(7) The person responsible for crediting or making payment of the income on behalf of an investment fund and the investment fund shall furnish, within such time as may be prescribed, to the person who is liable to tax in respect of such income and to the prescribed income-tax authority, a statement in the prescribed form and verified in such manner, giving details of the nature of the income paid or credited during the previous year and such other relevant details, as may be prescribed.

Explanation 1.—For the purposes of this Chapter,—

(a) "investment fund" means any fund established or incorporated in India in the form of a trust or a company or a limited liability partnership or a body corporate which has been granted a certificate of registration as a Category I or a Category II Alternative Investment Fund and is regulated under the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Alternative Investment Funds) Regulations, 2012, made under the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992 (15 of 1992) or 55[regulated under the International Financial Services Centres Authority (Fund Management) Regulations, 2022 made] under the International Financial Services Centres Authority Act, 2019 (50 of 2019) ;

(b) "trust" means a trust established under the Indian Trusts Act, 1882 (2 of 1882) or under any other law for the time being in force;

(c) "unit" means beneficial interest of an investor in the investment fund or a scheme of the investment fund and shall include shares or partnership interests.

Explanation 2.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that any income which has been included in total income of the person referred to in sub-section (1) in a previous year, on account of it having accrued or arisen in the said previous year, shall not be included in the total income of such person in the previous year in which such income is actually paid to him by the investment fund.

224.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

Clause 224 of the Bill provides for special taxation regime for income of investment fund and its unit holders. The clause corresponds to section 115UB of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

224.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Gist of important suggestions given by Experts/ Stakeholders are provided as under:

The definition in ITB 2025 suggests that any company, LLP, or trust regulated by IFSC (Fund Management) Regulations, 2022, is considered an investment fund, which may lead to unintended inclusion of Cat III AIF. Amend the definition in Section 224(10) to specify that the AIF should be Category I or II AIF under IFSCA regulations to be entitled to pass-through taxation.

224.5 Examination by the Committee:

In response to the abovesuggestions given by Experts/ Stakeholders are as under:

The definition of ‘investment fund’ may be redrafted and thephrase “granted a certificate of registration as a category I or a Category II Alternative Investment Fund and is” may be inserted in the opening paragraph of clause 224(1) (a) at the end and same may be omitted from clause 224(10) (a) (i)

224.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 224 under examination — including the views and suggestions of stakeholders and the justification provided by the Ministry of Finance — find the proposed provision broadly acceptable and in consonance with the policy objective of pass-through taxation for investment funds and their unit holders.

However, the Committee observes a discrepancy arising from the current definition of "investment fund" in Clause 224(10).As presently drafted, the definition could inadvertently encompass Categories of funds (such as Category III AIF) that were not intended to benefit from pass-through treatment. Specifically, the use of the broad expression "regulated under the International Financial Services Centres Authority (Fund Management) Regulations, 2022" may lead to the unintended inclusion of funds that do not fall under Categories I or II AIF.

The Committee feel that this inconsistency should be addressed to reflect the true policy intent and to avoid confusion in application. It, therefore, consider it appropriate to recommend that Clause 224(10) be amended to expressly provide that only "Category I or II Alternative Investment Funds, as defined under the International Financial Services Centres Authority (Fund Management) Regulations, 2022" shall be eligible for pass-through treatment.

G.—Specialprovisions relating toincomeof shipping ompanies

225. Income from business of operating qualifying ships

225.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

Irrespective of anything contained in sections 26 to 54, in the case of a company, the income from the business of operating qualifying ships—

(a) may, at its option, be computed as per provisions of this Part; and

(b) such income shall be deemed to be the profits and gains of such business chargeable to tax under the head “Profits and gains of business or profession”.

225.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115VA are as under:

B.—Computation of tonnage income from business of operating qualifying ships

Computation of profits and gains from the business of operating qualifying ships.

115VA. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in sections 28 to 43C, in the case of a company, the income from the business of operating qualifying ships, may, at its option, be computed in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter and such income shall be deemed to be the profits and gains of such business chargeable to tax under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession".

225.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> Clause 225 of the Bill seeks to provide for income from the business of operating qualifying ships and the option to tax payers to opt for the scheme of tonnage tax. The clause corresponds to section 115VA of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

225.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, having carefully considered Clause 225 of the Bill, find the proposal to be reasonable, well-crafted, and in consonance with the legislative intent of Section 115VA of the Income-Tax Act, 1961.The Committee note that the Ministry has explained these modifications as a textual streamlining of the existing provisions, while retaining their essential policy objective — namely, to simplify and bring predictability to the tax treatment of income from the operations of qualifying ships. Importantly, this approach aligns with international practices and policy incentives designed to foster growth in the country's merchant navy and Shipping industry.In view of the above, the Committee find the proposal appropriate, desirable, and in keeping with the policy intent of tonnage-based taxation. Therefore, the Committee accept the provisions under Clause 225 of the Bill in its present form.

Chapter XI

GENERAL ANTI-AVOIDANCE RULE

226. Tonnage tax scheme

226.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) In this Part, a company shall—

(a) be regarded as operating a ship or inland vessel, as the case may be, if it operates any ship whether owned or chartered by it and includes a case where even a part of the ship or inland vessel, as the case may be, has been chartered in by it in an arrangement such as slot charter, space charter or joint charter; and

(b) not be regarded as operating a ship or inland vessel, as the case may be, which has been chartered out by it on bareboat charter-cum-demise terms or on bareboat charter terms for a period exceeding three years.

(2) A tonnage tax company engaged in the business of operating qualifying ships shall compute the profits from such business under the tonnage tax scheme.

(3) The tonnage tax business shall be considered as a separate business distinct from all other activities or business carried on by the company.

(4) The profits referred to in sub-section (2) shall be computed separately from the profits and gains from any other business.

(5) The tonnage tax scheme shall apply only if an option to that effect is made as per section 231.

(6) Where a company engaged in the business of operating qualifying ships,—

(a) is not covered under the tonnage tax scheme; or

(b) has not made an option in respect of the tonnage tax scheme as per section 231, the profits and gains of such company from such business shall be computed as per other provisions of this Act.

(7) Subject to the other provisions of this Part,—

(a) the tonnage income, shall be—

(i) computed as per section 227; and

(ii) deemed to be the profits chargeable under the head “Profits and gains of business or profession”; and

(b) the relevant shipping income referred to in section 228(1) shall not be chargeable to tax.

226.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115VB 115VE and 115VF are as under:

Operating ships.

115VB. For the purposes of this Chapter, a company shall be regarded as operating a ship if it operates any ship 57[or inland vessel, as the case may be,] whether owned or chartered by it and includes a case where even a part of the ship 57[or inland vessel, as the case may be,] has been chartered in by it in an arrangement such as slot charter, space charter or joint charter:

Providedthat a company shall not be regarded as the operator of a ship 57[or inland vessel, as the case may be,] which has been chartered out by it on bareboat charter-cum-demise terms or on bareboat charter terms for a period exceeding three years.

Manner of computation of income under tonnage tax scheme.

115VE. (1) A tonnage tax company engaged in the business of operating qualifying ships shall compute the profits from such business under the tonnage tax scheme.

(2) The business of operating qualifying ships giving rise to income referred to in sub-section (1) of section 115V-I shall be considered as a separate business (hereafter in this Chapter referred to as the tonnage tax business) distinct from all other activities or business carried on by the company.

(3) The profits referred to in sub-section (1) shall be computed separately from the profits and gains from any other business.

(4) The tonnage tax scheme shall apply only if an option to that effect is made in accordance with the provisions of section 115VP.

(5) Where a company engaged in the business of operating qualifying ships is not covered under the tonnage tax scheme or, has not made an option to that effect, as the case may be, the profits and gains of such company from such business shall be computed in accordance with the other provisions of this Act.

Tonnage income.

115VF. Subject to the other provisions of this Chapter, the tonnage income shall be computed in accordance with section 115VG and the income so computed shall be deemed to be the profits chargeable under the head "Profits and gains of business or profession" and the relevant shipping income referred to in sub-section (1) of section 115V-I shall not be chargeable to tax.

226.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

Clause 226 of the Bill seeks to provide for tonnage tax scheme and provides the manner of computation of income under tonnage tax scheme for a tonnage tax company for its tonnage income. The clause corresponds to section 115VB, 115VE and 115VF of the Act. The provisions of the above existing section has been textually simplified and merged and retained with the same intent in this clause.

226.4Examination by the Committee:

On question of How does a partial charter arrangement affect tax liability, the ministry its written reply stated as under:

> The existing provisions of the Act have been simplified and retained in the Bill. There has been no change in the Bill relating to provision of excluding bareboat charter-out ships for over 3 years from the definition of "operating a ship". In cl 226(6)(b) of the Bill (sec 115VE), it has been explicitly provided that if a company does not make an option in respect of the tonnage tax scheme as per cl 231 (sec 115VP), the profits will be computed under other provisions of the Act. Cl 231 of the Bill clearly provides for (i) The period for which tonnage tax option will remain in force (ii)From when the option for tonnage tax scheme shall cease to have effect (iii) Renewal of tonnage tax scheme (iv) Prohibition to opt for tonnage tax scheme in certain cases.

226.5Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, having carefully examined Clause 226 of the Bill, find the proposal to be reasonable, well-structured, and in harmony with the legislative intent of Sections 115VB, 115VE, and 115VF of the Income-Tax Act, 1961.

The Committee note that the Ministry has explained these modifications as a textual streamlining of the existing provisions, while retaining their essential policy objective — namely, to facilitate ease of computation, provide stability in tax treatment, and foster growth in the merchant navy sector. Importantly, the conditions for applicability of the scheme, the procedure for exercising the option, and the treatment of related income remain adequately clear and robust under the new framework.

In view of the above, the Committee find the proposal appropriate, desirable, and in keeping with the policy of tonnage-based taxation. Therefore, the Committee accept Clause 226 of the Bill in its present form.

Clause-227. Computation of tonnage income

227.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) The tonnage income of a tonnage tax company for a tax year shall be the aggregate of the tonnage income of each qualifying ship computed as per sub-sections (2) and (3) .

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) , the tonnage income of each qualifying ship shall be computed as per the following formula:—

TI= DTI x N

where,—

TI = the tonnage income of each qualifying ship;

DTI = the daily tonnage income of each qualifying ship;

N = the number of days, in the tax year, or in part of the tax year in case the ship is operated by the company as a qualifying ship for only part of the tax year.

(3) For the purposes of sub-section (2) , the daily tonnage income of a qualifying ship having tonnage referred to in column A of the Table below shall be the amount specified in the corresponding entry in column B thereof.

Sl. No.	Qualifying ship having net tonnage	Amount of daily tonnage income
A	B	C
1.	Up to 1,000.	₹ 70 for each 100 tons.
2.	Exceeding 1,000 but not more than 10,000.	₹700 plus ₹53 for each 100 tons exceeding 1,000 tons.
3.	Exceeding 10,000 but not more than 25,000.	₹5,470 plus ₹42 for each 100 tons exceeding 10,000 tons.

4.	Exceeding 25,000.	₹11,770 plus ₹29 for each 100 tons exceeding 25,000 tons.

(4) In this Part, the tonnage shall—

(a) mean the tonnage of a ship or inland vessel, as the case may be, indicated in the certificate referred to in sub-section (9) ; and

(b) include the deemed tonnage, being the tonnage in respect of an arrangement of purchase of slots, slot charter and an arrangement of sharing of break-bulk vessel, computed in the manner, as prescribed.

(5) The tonnage shall be rounded off to the nearest multiple of hundred tons and for this purpose any tonnage consisting of kilograms shall be ignored and if the tonnage so rounded off, as per clause (a) , is not a multiple of hundred, then, if the last figure in that amount is,—

(a) fifty tons or more, the tonnage shall be increased to the next higher tonnage;

(b) less than fifty tons, the tonnage shall be reduced to the next lower tonnage, which is a multiple of hundred and the tonnage so rounded off shall be the tonnage of the ship for the purposes of this section.

(6) No deduction or set off shall be allowed in computing the tonnage income under this Part, irrespective of anything contained in any other provision of this Act.

(7) Where a qualifying ship is operated by two or more companies by way of—

(a) joint interest in the ship; or

(b) an agreement for the use of the ship, and their respective shares are definite and ascertainable, the tonnage income of each such company shall be an amount equal to a share of income proportionate to its share of that interest.

(8) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (7) , where two or more companies are operators of a qualifying ship, the tonnage income of each company shall be computed as if each had been the only operator.

(9) In this Part,—

(a) the tonnage of a ship or inland vessel, as the case may be, shall be determined as per the valid certificate indicating its tonnage;

(b) “valid certificate” means,—

(i) in case of ships registered in India,—

(A) having a length of less than twenty-four metres, a certificate issued under the Merchant Shipping (Tonnage Measurement of Ship) Rules, 1987 made under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1958;

(B) having a length of twenty-four metres or more, an international tonnage certificate issued under the provisions of the Convention on Tonnage Measurement of Ships, 1969, as specified in the Merchant Shipping (Tonnage Measurement of Ship) Rules, 1987 made under the said Act;

(ii) in case of ships registered outside India, a licence issued by the Director-General of Shipping under section 406 or 407 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1958 specifying the net tonnage on the basis of Tonnage Certificate issued by the Flag State Administration, where the ship is registered or any other evidence acceptable to the Director-General of Shipping produced by the ship owner while seeking permission for chartering in the ship;

(iii) in case of inland vessel registered in India, a certificate issued under the Inland Vessels Act, 2021.

227.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115VG, 115VH and 115VX are as under:

Computation of tonnage income.

115VG. (1) The tonnage income of a tonnage tax company for a previous year shall be the aggregate of the tonnage income of each qualifying ship computed in accordance with the provisions of sub-sections (2) and (3) .

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) , the tonnage income of each qualifying ship shall be the daily tonnage income of each such ship multiplied by—

(a) the number of days in the previous year; or

(b) the number of days in part of the previous year in case the ship is operated by the company as a qualifying ship for only part of the previous year, as the case may be.

(3) For the purposes of sub-section (2) , the daily tonnage income of a qualifying ship having tonnage referred to in column (1) of the Table below shall be the amount specified in the corresponding entry in column (2) of the Table:

TABLE

Qualifying ship having net tonnage	Amount of daily tonnage income
(1)	(2)
up to 1,000	Rs. 70 for each 100 tons
exceeding 1,000 but not more than 10,000	Rs. 700 plus Rs. 53 for each 100 tons exceeding 1,000 tons
exceeding 10,000 but not more than 25,000	Rs. 5,470 plus Rs. 42 for each 100 tons exceeding 10,000 tons
exceeding 25,000	Rs. 11,770 plus Rs. 29 for each 100 tons exceeding 25,000 tons.

(4) For the purposes of this Chapter, the tonnage shall mean the tonnage of a ship 59[or inland vessel, as the case may be,] indicated in the certificate referred to in section 115VX and includes the deemed tonnage computed in the prescribed manner.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section, "deemed tonnage" shall be the tonnage in respect of an arrangement of purchase of slots, slot charter and an arrangement of sharing of break-bulk vessel.

(5) The tonnage shall be rounded off to the nearest multiple of hundred tons and for this purpose any tonnage consisting of kilograms shall be ignored and thereafter if such tonnage is not a multiple of hundred, then, if the last figure in that amount is fifty tons or more, the tonnage shall be increased to the next higher tonnage which is a multiple of hundred and if the last figure is less than fifty tons, the tonnage shall be reduced to the next lower tonnage which is a multiple of hundred; and the tonnage so rounded off shall be the tonnage of the ship for the purposes of this section.

(6) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provision of this Act, no deduction or set off shall be allowed in computing the tonnage income under this Chapter.

Calculation in case of joint operation, etc.

115VH. (1) Where a qualifying ship is operated by two or more companies by way of joint interest in the ship or by way of an agreement for the use of the ship and their respective shares are definite and ascertainable, the tonnage income of each such company shall be an amount equal to a share of income proportionate to its share of that interest.

(2) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (1) , where two or more companies are operators of a qualifying ship, the tonnage income of each company shall be computed as if each had been the only operator.

Determination of tonnage.

115VX. (1) For the purposes of this Chapter,—

(a) the tonnage of a ship [69][or inland vessel, as the case may be,] shall be determined in accordance with the valid certificate indicating its tonnage;

(b) "valid certificate" means,—

(i) in case of ships registered in India—

(a) having a length of less than twenty-four metres, a certificate issued under the Merchant Shipping (Tonnage Measurement of Ship) Rules, 1987 made under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1958 (44 of 1958) ;

(b) having a length of twenty-four metres or more, an international tonnage certificate issued under the provisions of the Convention on Tonnage Measurement of Ships, 1969, as specified in the Merchant Shipping (Tonnage Measurement of Ship) Rules, 1987

made under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1958 (44 of 1958) ;

(ii) in case of ships registered outside India, a licence issued by the Director-General of Shipping under section 406 or section 407 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1958 (44 of 1958) specifying the net tonnage on the basis of Tonnage Certificate issued by the Flag State Administration where the ship is registered or any other evidence acceptable to the Director-General of Shipping produced by the ship owner while seeking permission for chartering in the ship.

Following sub-clause (iii) shall be inserted after sub-clause (ii) of sub-section (1) (b) of section 115VX by the Finance Act, 2025, w.e.f. 1-4-2026:

(iii) in case of inland vessel registered in India, a certificate issued under the Inland Vessels Act, 2021 (24 of 2021) .

227.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

Clause 227 of the Bill seeks to provide for computation of tonnage income. The clause corresponds to section 115VG, 115VH and 115VX of the Act. The provisions of the above existing section has been textually simplified and merged and retained with the same intent in this clause.

227.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, having carefully considered Clause 227 of the Bill, find the proposal to be reasonable, well-crafted, and in consonance with the legislative intent of Sections 115VG, 115VH, and 115VX of the Income-Tax Act, 1961.

The Committee note that the Ministry has explained these modifications as a textual streamlining of the existing provisions, while retaining their essential policy objective — namely, to simplify and bring predictability to the computation of tonnage income for companies engaged in the business of operating qualifying ships. Importantly, this approach aligns with international practices and policy incentives designed to foster growth in the country's merchant navy and Shipping industry.

In view of the above, the Committee find the proposal appropriate, desirable, and in keeping with the policy intent of tonnage-based taxation. Therefore, the Committee accept Clause 227 of the Bill in its present form.

228. Relevant shipping income and exclusion from book profit

228.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) In this Part, the relevant shipping income of a tonnage tax company means—

(a) its profits from core activities referred to in sub-section (3) ; and

(b) its profits from incidental activities referred to in sub-section (7) .

(2) Where the aggregate of all such incomes specified in sub-section (1) (b) exceeds 0.25% of the turnover from core activities referred to in sub-section (3) , such excess shall not form part of the relevant shipping income for the purposes of this Part and shall be taxable under the other provisions of this Act.

(3) The core activities of a tonnage tax company shall be—

(a) its activities from operating qualifying ships; and

(b) other ship-related or inland vessel related activities, as the case may be, as follows:—

(i) shipping contracts in respect of—

(A) earning from pooling arrangements;

(B) contracts of affreightment;

(ii) specific shipping trades, being—

(A) on-board or on-shore activities of passenger ships comprising of fares and food and beverages consumed on-board;

(B) slot charters, space charters, joint charters, feeder services and container box leasing of container shipping.

(4) In sub-section (3) (b) (i) ,—

(a) “pooling arrangement” means an agreement between two or more persons for providing services through a pool or operating one or more ships or inland vessels as the case may be, and sharing earnings or operating profits on the basis of mutually agreed terms; and

(b) “contract of affreightment” means a service contract under which a tonnage tax company agrees to transport a specified quantity of specified products at a specified rate, between designated loading and discharging ports over a specified period.

(5) The Central Government, if it consider necessary or expedient so to do, may, by notification, exclude any activity referred to in sub-section 3(b) or prescribe the limit up to which such activities shall be included in the core activities for the purposes of this section.

(6) Every notification issued under this Part shall be laid, as soon as may be after it is issued, before each House of Parliament, while it is in session for a total period of thirty days which may be comprised in one session or in two or more successive sessions, and if, before the expiry of the session immediately following the session or the successive sessions aforesaid, both Houses agree in making any modification in the notification, or both Houses agree that the notification should not be issued, the notification shall thereafter have effect only in such modified form or be of no effect; so, however, that any such modification or annulment shall be without prejudice to the validity of anything previously done under that notification.

(7) The incidental activities shall be the activities which are incidental to the core activities and as prescribed for the purpose.

(8) Where a tonnage tax company operates any ship or inland vessels as the case may be, which is not a qualifying ship, the income attributable to operating such non-qualifying ship shall be computed under other provisions of this Act.

(9) Where any goods or services held for the purposes of—

(a) tonnage tax business are transferred to any other business carried on by a tonnage tax company; or

(b) any other business carried on by such tonnage tax company are transferred to the tonnage tax business, and, in either case, the consideration, if any, for such transfer as recorded in the accounts of the tonnage tax business does not correspond to the market value of such goods or services as on the date of the transfer, then, the relevant shipping income under this section shall be computed as if the transfer, in either case, had been made at the market value of such goods or services as on that date.

(10) In sub-section (9) , “market value”, in relation to any goods or services, means the price that such goods or services would ordinarily fetch on sale in the open market.

(11) Where, in the opinion of the Assessing Officer, the computation of the relevant shipping income in the manner specified in sub-section (9) presents exceptional difficulties, he may compute such income on such reasonable basis as he consider fit.

(12) Where it appears to the Assessing Officer that, owing to the close connection between the tonnage tax company and any other person, or for any other reason, the course of business between them is so arranged that the business transacted between them produces to the tonnage tax company more than the ordinary profits which might be expected to arise in the tonnage tax business, the Assessing Officer shall, in computing the relevant shipping income of the tonnage tax company for the purposes of this Part, take income as may reasonably be deemed to have been derived therefrom.

(13) In this Part, in case the relevant shipping income of a tonnage tax company is a loss, then, such loss shall be ignored for the purposes of computing tonnage income.

(14) Where a tonnage tax company also carries on any business or activity other than the tonnage tax business, common costs attributable to the tonnage tax business shall be determined on a reasonable basis.

(15) Where any asset, other than a qualifying ship, is not exclusively used for the tonnage tax business by the tonnage tax company, depreciation on such asset shall be allocated between its tonnage tax business and other business on a fair proportion to be determined by the Assessing Officer, having regard to the use of such asset for the purposes of the tonnage tax business and for the other business.

(16) The book profit or loss derived from the activities of a tonnage tax company, referred to in sub-section (1) , shall be excluded from the book profit of the company for the purposes of section 206.

228.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115V-I, 115V and 115V-O are as under:

Relevant shipping income.

115V-I. (1) For the purposes of this Chapter, the relevant shipping income of a tonnage tax company means—

(i) its profits from core activities referred to in sub-section (2) ;

(ii) its profits from incidental activities referred to in sub-section (5) :

Providedthat where the aggregate of all such incomes specified in clause (ii) exceeds one-fourth per cent of the turnover from core activities referred to in sub-section (2) , such excess shall not form part of the relevant shipping income for the purposes of this Chapter and shall be taxable under the other provisions of this Act.

(2) The core activities of a tonnage tax company shall be—

(i) its activities from operating qualifying ships; and

(ii) 60[other ship-related activities] mentioned as under :—

(A) shipping contracts in respect of—

(i) earning from pooling arrangements;

(ii) contracts of affreightment.

Explanation.— For the purposes of this sub-clause,—

(a) "pooling arrangement" means an agreement between two or more persons for providing services through a pool or operating one or more ships 61[or inland vessels, as the case may be,] and sharing earnings or operating profits on the basis of mutually agreed terms;

(b) "contract of affreightment" means a service contract under which a tonnage tax company agrees to transport a specified quantity of specified products at a specified rate, between designated loading and discharging ports over a specified period;

(B) specific shipping trades, being—

(i) on-board or on-shore activities of passenger ships comprising of fares and food and beverages consumed on board;

(ii) slot charters, space charters, joint charters, feeder services, container box leasing of container shipping.

(3) The Central Government, if it consider necessary or expedient so to do, may, by notification in the Official Gazette, exclude any activity referred to in clause (ii) of sub-section (2) or prescribe the limit up to which such activities shall be included in the core activities for the purposes of this section.

(4) Every notification issued under this Chapter shall be laid, as soon as may be after it is issued, before each House of Parliament, while it is in session for a total period of thirty days which may be comprised in one session or in two or more successive sessions, and if, before the expiry of the session immediately following the session or the successive sessions aforesaid, both Houses agree in making any modification in the notification, or both Houses agree that the notification should not be issued, the notification shall thereafter have effect only in such modified form or be of no effect, as the case may be; so, however, that any such modification or annulment shall be without prejudice to the validity of anything previously done under that notification.

(5) The incidental activities shall be the activities which are incidental to the core activities and which may be prescribed for the purpose.

(6) Where a tonnage tax company operates any ship, 61a[or inland vessel, as the case may be,] which is not a qualifying ship, the income attributable to operating such non-qualifying ship shall be computed in accordance with the other provisions of this Act.

(7) Where any goods or services held for the purposes of tonnage tax business are transferred to any other business carried on by a tonnage tax company, or where any goods or services held for the purposes of any other business carried on by such tonnage tax company are transferred to the tonnage tax business and, in either case, the consideration, if any, for such transfer as recorded in the accounts of the tonnage tax business does not correspond to the market value of such goods or services as on the date of the transfer, then, the relevant shipping income under this section shall be computed as if the transfer, in either case, had been made at the market value of such goods or services as on that date:

Providedthat where, in the opinion of the Assessing Officer, the computation of the relevant shipping income in the manner hereinbefore specified presents exceptional difficulties, the Assessing Officer may compute such income on such reasonable basis as he may deem fit.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section, "market value", in relation to any goods or services, means the price that such goods or services would ordinarily fetch on sale in the open market.

(8) Where it appears to the Assessing Officer that, owing to the close connection between the tonnage tax company and any other person, or for any other reason, the course of business between them is so arranged that the business transacted between them produces to the tonnage tax company more than the ordinary profits which might be expected to arise in the tonnage tax business, the Assessing Officer shall, in computing the relevant shipping income of the tonnage tax company for the purposes of this Chapter, take the amount of income as may reasonably be deemed to have been derived therefrom.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this Chapter, in case the relevant shipping income of a tonnage tax company is a loss, then, such loss shall be ignored for the purposes of computing tonnage income

CHAPTER XII-G

SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO INCOME OF SHIPPING COMPANIES

A.—Meaning of certain expressions

Definitions.

115V. In this Chapter, unless the context otherwise requires,—

(a) "bareboat charter" means hiring of a ship [56][or inland vessel, as the case may be,] for a stipulated period on terms which give the charterer possession and control of the ship [56][or inland vessel, as the case may be,] including the right to appoint the master and crew;

(b) "bareboat charter-cum-demise" means a bareboat charter where the ownership of the ship [56][or inland vessel, as the case may be,] is intended to be transferred after a specified period to the company to whom it has been chartered;

(c) "Director-General of Shipping" means the Director-General of Shipping appointed by the Central Government under sub-section (1) of section 7 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1958 (44 of 1958) ;

(d) "factory ship" includes a vessel providing processing services in respect of processing of the fishing produce;

(e) "fishing vessel" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (12) of section 3 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1958 (44 of 1958) ;

Following clause (ea) shall be inserted after clause (e) of section 115V by the Finance Act, 2025, w.e.f. 1-4-2026:

(ea) *"inland vessel" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (q) of* section 3 of the Inland Vessels Act, 2021 (24 of 2021) ;

(f) "pleasure craft" means a ship [57][or inland vessel, as the case may be,] of a kind whose primary use is for the purposes of sport or recreation;

(g) "qualifying company" means a company referred to in section 115VC;

(h) "qualifying ship" means a ship [57][or inland vessel, as the case may be,] referred to in section 115VD;

(i) "seagoing ship" means a ship if it is certified as such by the competent authority of any country;

(j) "tonnage income" means the income of a tonnage tax company computed in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter;

(k) "tonnage tax activities" means the activities referred to in sub-sections (2) and (5) of section 115V-I;

(l) "tonnage tax company" means a qualifying company in relation to which tonnage tax option is in force;

(m) "tonnage tax scheme" means a scheme for computation of profits and gains of business of operating qualifying ships under the provisions of this Chapter.

Exclusion from provisions of section 115JB.

115V-O. The book profit or loss derived from the activities of a tonnage tax company, referred to in sub-section (1) of section 115V-I, shall be excluded from the book profit of the company for the purposes of section 115JB.

228.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

Clause 228 of the Bill seeks to provide for relevant shipping income and exclusion from book profit. The clause corresponds to section 115V-I, 115VJ and 115V-O of the Act. The provisions of the above existing sections have been consolidated and textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

228.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after careful consideration of Clause 228 of the Bill, find the proposal reasonable and in keeping with the intent of Section 115V-I, 115VJ, and 115V-O of the Income-Tax Act, 1961.The Committee note the justification furnished by the Ministry that this change simply merges existing provisions into a unified framework while retaining their main intent. The Committee find this approach appropriate and desirable for simplifying the legislation and improving clarity in its application. Therefore, the Committee accept the Clause 228 as it stands in the Bill.

229 . Depreciation and gains relating to tonnage tax assets

229.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) For the purposes of computing depreciation under section 230(1) (d) , the depreciation for the first tax year of the tonnage tax scheme (herein referred to as the first tax year) shall be computed on the written down value of the qualifying ships as specified under sub-section (2) .

(2) The written down value of the block of assets, being ships or inland vessels as the case may be, as on the first day of the first tax year, shall be divided in the ratio of the book written down value of the qualifying ships (herein referred to as the qualifying assets) and the book written down value of the non-qualifying ships (herein referred to as the other assets) , as per the following formula:—

$$D = A \times \frac{B}{B+C}$$

$$E = A \times \frac{C}{B+C}$$

where,—

D = the written down value of the block of qualifying assets as on the first day of the tax year;

E = the written down value of the block of other assets as on the first day of the tax year;

A = the written down value of the existing block of assets, being ships as on the last day of the immediately preceding tax year;

B = the aggregate of book written down value of qualifying assets as on the last day of the preceding tax year; and

C = the aggregate of the book written down value of other assets as on the last day of the preceding tax year.

(3) The block of qualifying assets as determined under sub-section (2) shall constitute a separate block of assets for the purposes of this Part.

(4) Where an asset forming part of a block of,—

(a) qualifying assets begins to be used for purposes other than the tonnage tax business, an appropriate portion of the written down value allocable to such asset shall be reduced from the written down value of that block and shall be added to the block of other assets as per the following formula:—

$$A = \frac{B \times C}{D}$$

where,—

A = the appropriate portion to be added to the block of the other assets;

B = the written down value of block of qualifying assets as on the first day of the tax year;

C = the book written down value of qualifying asset which begins to be used for purpose other than the tonnage tax business; and

D = the aggregate of book written down value of all the assets forming the block of qualifying assets;

(b) other assets, begins to be used for tonnage tax business, an appropriate portion of the written down value allocable to such asset shall be reduced from the written down value of the block of other assets and shall be added to the block of qualifying asset as per the following formula:—

$$E = \frac{F \times G}{I}$$

where,—

E = the appropriate proportion to be added to the block of qualifying asset;

F = the written down value of block of other assets as on the first day of the tax year;

G = book written down value of the other asset which begins to be used for tonnage tax business; and

I = the aggregate of book written down value of all the assets forming the block of other assets.

(5) For the purposes of computing depreciation under section 230(1) (d) in respect of an asset mentioned in sub-sections (4) (a) and (b) , the depreciation computed for the tax year shall be allocated in the ratio of the number of days for which the asset was used for the tonnage tax business and for purposes other than tonnage tax business.

(6) For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that for the purposes of this Act, the depreciation on the block of qualifying assets and block of other assets so created shall be allowed as if such written down value referred to in sub-section (2) had been brought forward from the preceding tax year.

(7) In this section,—

(a) “book written down value” means the written down value as per books of accounts; and

(b) “written down value” means the written down value as calculated for purposes of income-tax.

(8) Any profits or gains arising from the transfer of a capital asset being an asset forming part of the block of qualifying assets shall be chargeable to income-tax as per sections 67 and 74, and the capital gains so arising shall be computed as per sections 67 to 81.

(9) For the purposes of computing such profits or gains, as referred to in sub-section (8) , the provisions of section 74 shall have effect as if for the words “written down value of the block of assets”, the words “written down value of the block of qualifying assets” had been substituted.

(10) In this section, “written down value of the block of qualifying assets” means the written down value computed as per sub-section (2) .

229.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115VKand 115VN are as under:

Depreciation.

115VK. (1) For the purposes of computing depreciation under clause (iv) of section 115VL, the depreciation for the first previous year of the tonnage tax scheme (hereafter in this section referred to as the first previous year) shall be computed on the written down value of the qualifying ships as specified under sub-section (2) .

(2) The written down value of the block of assets, being ships 62[or inland vessels, as the case may be], as on the first day of the first previous year, shall be divided in the ratio of the book written down value of the qualifying ships (hereafter in this section referred to as the qualifying assets) and the book written down value of the non-qualifying ships (hereafter in this section referred to as the other assets) .

(3) The block of qualifying assets as determined under sub-section (2) shall constitute a separate block of assets for the purposes of this Chapter.

(4) For the purposes of sub-section (2) , the book written down value of the block of qualifying assets and the block of other assets shall be computed in the following manner, namely:—

(a) the book written down value of each qualifying asset and each other asset as on the first day of the previous year and which form part of the block of assets to be divided shall be determined by taking the book written down value of each asset appearing in the books of account as on the last day of the preceding previous year:

Providedthat any change in the value of the assets consequent to their revaluation after the date on which the Finance (No. 2) Act, 2004 receives the assent of the President shall be ignored;

(b) the book written down value of all the qualifying assets and other assets shall be aggregated; and

(c) the ratio of the aggregate book written down value of the qualifying assets to the aggregate book written down value of the other assets shall be determined.

(5) Where an asset forming part of a block of qualifying assets begins to be used for purposes other than the tonnage tax business, an appropriate portion of the written down value allocable to such asset shall be reduced from the written down value of that block and shall be added to the block of other assets.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section, appropriate portion of the written down value allocable to the asset, which begins to be used for purposes other than the tonnage tax business, shall be an amount which bears the same proportion to the written down value of the block of qualifying assets as on the first day of the previous year as the book written down value of the asset beginning to be used for purposes other than tonnage tax business bears to the book written down value of all the assets forming the block of qualifying asset.

(6) Where an asset forming part of a block of other assets begins to be used for tonnage tax business, an appropriate portion of the written down value allocable to such asset shall be reduced from the written down value of the block of other assets and shall be added to the block of qualifying asset.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section, appropriate portion of written down value allocable to the asset which begins to be used for the tonnage tax business shall be an amount which bears the same proportion to the written down value of the block of other assets as on the first day of the previous year as the book written down value of the asset beginning to be used for tonnage tax business bears to the total book written down value of all the assets forming the block of other assets.

(7) For the purposes of computing depreciation under clause (iv) of section 115VL in respect of an asset mentioned in sub-sections (5) and (6) , depreciation computed for the previous year shall be allocated in the ratio of the number of days for which the asset was used for the tonnage tax business and for purposes other than tonnage tax business.

Explanation 1.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that for the purposes of this Act, depreciation on the block of qualifying assets and block of other assets so created shall be allowed as if such written down value referred to in sub-section (2) had been brought forward from the preceding previous year.

Explanation 2.—For the purposes of this section, "book written down value" means the written down value as appearing in the books of account.

Chargeable gains from transfer of tonnage tax assets.

115VN. Any profits or gains arising from the transfer of a capital asset being an asset forming part of the block of qualifying assets shall be chargeable to income-tax in accordance with the provisions of section 45, read with section 50, and the capital gains so arising shall be computed in accordance with the provisions of sections 45 to 51:

Provided that for the purpose of computing such profits or gains, the provisions of section 50 shall have effect as if for the words "written down value of the block of assets", the words "written down value of the block of qualifying assets" had been substituted.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this Chapter, "written down value of the block of qualifying assets" means the written down value computed in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 115VK.

229.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> Clause 229 of the Bill provides for manner of calculation of depreciation along with treatment of capital gains relating to tonnage tax assets. The clause corresponds to section 115VK and 115VN of the Act. The provisions of the above existing section have been textually simplified and merged and retained with the same intent in this clause.

229.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

> The Committee, after considering Clause 229 of the Bill, find the proposal reasonable and in keeping with the main intent of Section 115VK and Section 115VN of the Income-Tax Act, 1961. The Ministry's explanation that this simply clarifies and reorganises the text, without making substantial policy changes, is appropriate and desirable.Therefore, the Committee accept the provisions under Clause 229 as proposed in the Bill.

Clause- 230.Exclusion of deduction,loss, set off etc.

230.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Irrespective of anything contained in any other provision of this Act, in computing the tonnage income of a tonnage tax company for any tax year (herein referred to as the "relevant tax year") in which it is chargeable to tax as per this Part—

(a) sections 28 to 52 shall apply as if every loss, allowance or deduction referred to therein and relating to or allowable for any of the relevant tax years, had been given full effect to for that tax year itself;

(b) no loss referred to in section 108(1) or (2) (a) or 109 or 112(1) or 116(1) , in so far as such loss relates to the business of operating qualifying ships of the company, shall be carried forward or set off where such loss relates to any of the tax years when the company is under the tonnage tax scheme;

(c) no deduction shall be allowed under Chapter VIII in relation to the profits and gains from the business of operating qualifying ships; and

(d) in computing the depreciation allowance under section 33, the written down value of any asset used for the purposes of the tonnage tax business shall be computed as if the company has claimed and has been actually allowed the deduction in respect of depreciation for the relevant tax years.

(2) Section 112 shall apply in respect of any losses that have accrued to a company before its option for tonnage tax scheme and which are attributable to its tonnage tax business, as if such losses had been set off against the relevant shipping income in any of the tax years when the company is under the tonnage tax scheme.

(3) The losses referred to in sub-section (2) shall not be available for set off against any income other than relevant shipping income in any tax year beginning on or after the company exercises its option under section 231.

(4) Any apportionment necessary to determine the losses referred to in sub-section (2) shall be made on a reasonable basis.

230.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115VL and 115VM are as under:

General exclusion of deduction and set off, etc.

115VL. Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provision of this Act, in computing the tonnage income of a tonnage tax company for any previous year (hereafter in this section referred to as the "relevant previous year") in which it is chargeable to tax in accordance with this Chapter—

(i) sections 30 to 43B shall apply as if every loss, allowance or deduction referred to therein and relating to or allowable for any of the relevant previous years, had been given full effect to for that previous year itself;

(ii) no loss referred to in sub-sections (1) and (3) of section 70 or sub-sections (1) and (2) of section 71 or sub-section (1) of section 72 or sub-section (1) of section 72A, in so far as such loss relates to the business of operating qualifying ships of the company, shall be carried forward or set off where such loss relates to any of the previous years when the company is under the tonnage tax scheme;

(iii) no deduction shall be allowed under Chapter VI-A in relation to the profits and gains from the business of operating qualifying ships; and

(iv) in computing the depreciation allowance under section 32, the written down value of any asset used for the purposes of the tonnage tax business shall be computed as if the company has claimed and has been actually allowed the deduction in respect of depreciation for the relevant previous years.

Exclusion of loss.

115VM. (1) Section 72 shall apply in respect of any losses that have accrued to a company before its option for tonnage tax scheme and which are attributable to its tonnage tax business, as if such losses had been set off against the relevant shipping income in any of the previous years when the company is under the tonnage tax scheme.

(2) The losses referred to in sub-section (1) shall not be available for set off against any income other than relevant shipping income in any previous year beginning on or after the company exercises its option under section 115VP.

(3) Any apportionment necessary to determine the losses referred to in sub-section (1) shall be made on a reasonable basis.

230.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

Clause 230 of the Bill seeks to provide for exclusion of losses, deductions and set off including the accrued losses incurred or claimed prior to opting of tonnage tax scheme by the company. The clause corresponds to section 115VL and 115VM of the Act. The provisions of the above existing section have been textually simplified and merged and retained with the same intent in this clause.

230.4 Examination by the Committee:

On the issue as whether the Ministry will issue rules or guidance to ensure consistent application of the "reasonable basis" apportionment method in Clause 230(4) of the Income-Tax Bill 2025, replacing the Assessing Officer's discretion under Section 115VI, the Ministry in its written reply stated as under:

The existing provisions of the Act have been simplified and retained in the Bill. The provisions of cl 230(4) are clear in the sense that AO shall on reasonable basis apportion the losses which have accrued to company before opting of tonnage tax scheme. There is no need to prescribe rules, guidance in this regard.

Further, provisions of cl. 230(4) of the Bill are same as provided in sec. 115VM(3) of the Act.

230.5Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after careful consideration of Clause 230 of the Bill, find the proposal reasonable and in keeping with the intent of sections 115VL and 115VM of the Income-Tax Act, 1961.The Committee note Ministry's justification that Clause 230 simply merges and streamlines the text of the existing provisions of Income-Tax Act, 1961while retaining their main intent is appropriate and desirable. Therefore, the Committee recommend retaining Clause 230 as it stands in the Bill.

231. Method of opting of tonnage tax scheme and validity

231.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) A qualifying company may opt for the tonnage tax scheme by making an application to the Joint Commissioner having jurisdiction over the company in the form and manner, as prescribed, for such scheme.

(2) A qualifying company may make an application within three months, of the date of its incorporation, or of the date on which it becomes a qualifying company for the first time.

(3) A Unit of an International Financial Services Centre which has availed of deduction under section 147 may make an application within three months from the date on which such deduction ceases.

(4) On receipt of an application for option for tonnage tax scheme under sub-section (1) , the Joint Commissioner may call for such information or documents from the company as he thinks necessary in order to satisfy himself about the eligibility of the company and after satisfying himself about such eligibility of the company to make such option for tonnage tax scheme, he shall pass an order in writing—

(a) approving the option for tonnage tax scheme; or

(b) refusing to approve the option for tonnage tax scheme, if he is not so satisfied, and a copy of such order shall be sent to the applicant.

(5) No order under sub-section 4(b) shall be passed unless the applicant has been given a reasonable opportunity of being heard.

(6) Every order under sub-section (4) shall be passed before the expiry of three months from the end of the quarter in which the application under sub-section (1) was received.

(7) Where an order granting approval is passed under sub-section (4) , the provisions of this Part shall apply from the tax year in which the option for tonnage tax scheme is exercised.

(8) An option for tonnage tax scheme, after it has been approved under sub-section (4) , shall remain in force for ten years from the date on which such option has been exercised and shall be taken into account from the tax year in which such option is exercised.

(9) An option for tonnage tax scheme shall cease to have effect from the tax year, in which—

(a) the qualifying company ceases to be a qualifying company;

(b) a default is made in complying with the provisions contained in section 232(1) to (20) ;

(c) the tonnage tax company is excluded from the tonnage tax scheme under section 234;

(d) the qualifying company furnishes to the Assessing Officer, a declaration in writing to the effect that the provisions of this Part may not be made applicable to it, and the profits and gains of the company from the business of operating qualifying ships shall be computed as per other provisions of this Act.

(10) An option for tonnage tax scheme approved under sub-section (4) may be renewed within one year from the end of the tax year in which the option ceases to have effect.

(11) The provisions of sub-sections (1) to (10) shall apply in relation to a renewal of the option for tonnage tax scheme in the same manner as they apply in relation to the approval of option for tonnage tax scheme.

(12) A qualifying company,—

(a) which on its own, opts out of the tonnage tax scheme; or

(b) which makes a default in complying with the provisions contained in sections232(1) to (20) ; or

(c) whose option has been excluded from tonnage tax scheme in pursuance of an order made under section 234(4) , shall not be eligible to opt for tonnage tax scheme for ten years from the date of opting out or default or order.

231.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115VP, 115VQ, 115VR and 115VS are as under:

C.—Procedure for option of tonnage tax scheme

Method and time of opting for tonnage tax scheme.

115VP. (1) A qualifying company may opt for the tonnage tax scheme by making an application to the Joint Commissioner having jurisdiction over the company in the form and manner as may be prescribed, for such scheme.

(2) The application under sub-section (1) may be made by any existing qualifying company at any time after the 30th day of September, 2004 but before the 1st day of January, 2005 (hereafter referred to as the "initial period") :

Providedthat—

(i) a company incorporated after the initial period; or

(ii) a qualifying company incorporated before the initial period but which becomes a qualifying company for the first time after the initial period, may make an application within three months of the date of its incorporation or the date on which it became a qualifying company, as the case may be:

63[Provided further that a Unit of an International Financial Services Centre which has availed of deduction under section 80LA may make an application within three months from the date on which such deduction ceases.]

(3) On receipt of an application for option for tonnage tax scheme under sub-section (1) , the Joint Commissioner may call for such information or documents from the company as he thinks necessary in order to satisfy himself about the eligibility of the company and after satisfying himself about such eligibility of the company to make such option for tonnage tax scheme, he—

(i) shall pass an order in writing approving the option for tonnage tax scheme; or

(ii) shall, if he is not so satisfied, pass an order in writing refusing to approve the option for tonnage tax scheme, and a copy of such order shall be sent to the applicant:

Providedthat no order under clause (ii) shall be passed unless the applicant has been given a reasonable opportunity of being heard.

(4) Every order granting or refusing the approval of the option for tonnage tax scheme under clause (i) or clause (ii) , as the case may be, of sub-section (3) shall be passed before the expiry of one month from the end of the month in which the application was received under sub-section (1) :

64[Provided that for an application received under sub-section (1) on or after the 1st April, 2025, order under sub-section (3) shall be passed before the expiry of three months from the end of the quarter in which such application was received.]

(5) Where an order granting approval is passed under sub-section (3) , the provisions of this Chapter shall apply from the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which the option for tonnage tax scheme is exercised.

65[Explanation.—For the purposes of this section "International Financial Services Centre" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (q) of section 2 of the Special Economic Zones Act, 2005 (28 of 2005) .]

Period for which tonnage tax option to remain in force.

115VQ. (1) An option for tonnage tax scheme, after it has been approved under sub-section (3) of section 115VP, shall remain in force for a period of ten years from the date on which such option has been exercised and shall be taken into account from the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which such option is exercised.

(2) An option for tonnage tax scheme shall cease to have effect from the assessment year relevant to the previous year in which—

(a) the qualifying company ceases to be a qualifying company;

(b) a default is made in complying with the provisions contained in section 115VT or section 115VU or section 115VV;

(c) the tonnage tax company is excluded from the tonnage tax scheme under section 115VZC;

(d) the qualifying company furnishes to the Assessing Officer, a declaration in writing to the effect that the provisions of this Chapter may not be made applicable to it, and the profits and gains of the company from the business of operating qualifying ships shall be computed in accordance with the other provisions of this Act.

Renewal of tonnage tax scheme.

115VR. (1) An option for tonnage tax scheme approved under sub-section (3) of section 115VP may be renewed within one year from the end of the previous year in which the option ceases to have effect.

(2) The provisions of sections 115VP and 115VQ shall apply in relation to a renewal of the option for tonnage tax scheme in the same manner as they apply in relation to the approval of option for tonnage tax scheme.

Prohibition to opt for tonnage tax scheme in certain cases.

115VS. A qualifying company, which, on its own, opts out of the tonnage tax scheme or makes a default in complying with the provisions of section 115VT or section 115VU or section 115VV or whose option has been excluded from tonnage tax scheme in pursuance of an order made under sub-section (1) of section 115VZC, shall not be eligible to opt for tonnage tax scheme for a period of ten years from the date of opting out or default or order, as the case may be.

231.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> Clause 231 of the Bill seeks to provide for the method of opting of tonnage tax scheme and its validity. The clause corresponds to section 115VP, 115VQ, 115VR, 115VS of the Act. Redundant provisions have been removed. The provisions of the existing section have been simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

231.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after consideration of Clause 231 of the Bill, find the proposal reasonable and in keeping with the intent of Section 115VP, 115VQ, 115VR, and 115VS of the Income-Tax Act, 1961.The clause sets out the procedure for a qualifying company to opt for the tonnage tax scheme, the period of its validity, renewal conditions, and the circumstances under which the option may cease or be withdrawn. The justification furnished by the Ministry — that the provisions have been simplified and redundancy removed while retaining their main intent — is appropriate and desirable.Therefore, the Committee recommend retaining Clause 231 as it stands in the Bill.

Clause-232. Certain conditions for applicability of tonnage tax scheme

232.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) A tonnage tax company shall, subject to and as per the provisions of this section, be required to credit to a reserve account (herein referred to as the Tonnage Tax Reserve Account) an amount, being 20% or more of the book profit derived from the activities referred to in section 228(1) (a) and (b) in each tax year to be utilised in the manner laid down in sub-section (6) .

(2) In this section, “book profit” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 206(2) so far as it relates to the income derived from the activities referred to in section 228(1) (a) and (b) .

(3) Where the company has—

(a) book profit from the business of operating qualifying ships; and

(b) book loss from any other sources, and consequently, the company is not in a position to create the full or any part of the reserves under sub-section (1) , the company shall create the reserves to the extent possible in that tax year and the shortfall, if any, shall be added to the reserves required to be created for the following tax year and such shortfall shall be deemed to be part of the reserve requirement of that following tax year.

(4) For the purposes of sub-section (3) , to the extent the shortfall in creation of reserves during a particular tax year is carried forward to the following tax year under the said sub-section, the company shall be considered as having created sufficient reserves for the first mentioned tax year.

(5) Nothing contained in sub-section (4) shall apply in respect of the second year in case the shortfall in creation of reserves continues for two consecutive tax years.

(6) The amount credited to the Tonnage Tax Reserve Account under sub-section (1) shall be utilised by the company before the expiry of eight years following the tax year in which the amount was credited—

(a) for acquiring a new ship or new inland vessel, as the case may be, for the purposes of the business of the company; and

(b) until the acquisition of a new ship or new inland vessel, as the case may be, for the purposes of the business of operating qualifying ships other than for distribution by way of dividends or profits or for remittance outside India as profits or for the creation of any asset outside India.

(7) Where any amount credited to the Tonnage Tax Reserve Account under sub-section (1) ,—

(a) has been utilised for any purpose other than that referred to in sub-section (6) ; or

(b) has not been utilised for the purpose specified in sub-section (6) (a) ; or

(c) has been utilised for the purpose of acquiring a new ship or new inland vessel, as the case may be,as specified in sub-section (6) (a) , but such shipor new inland vessel, as the case may be, is sold or otherwise transferred, other than in any scheme of demerger by the company to any person at any time before the expiry of three years from the end of the tax year in which it was acquired,

an amount which bears the same proportion to the total relevant shipping income of the year in which such reserve was created, as the amount out of such reserve so utilised or not utilised bears to the total reserve created during that year under sub-section (1) shall be taxable under the other provisions of this Act—

(i) in a case referred to in clause (a) , in the year in which the amount was so utilised; or

(ii) in a case referred to in clause (b) , in the year immediately following eight years specified in sub-section (6) ; or

(iii) in a case referred to in clause (c) , in the year in which the sale or transfer took place.

(8) The income so taxable under the other provisions of this Act, referred to in sub-section (7) , shall be reduced by the proportionate tonnage income charged to tax in the year of creation of such reserves.

(9) Irrespective of anything contained in any other provision of this Part, where the amount credited to the Tonnage Tax Reserve Account as per sub-section (1) is less than the minimum amount required to be credited under sub-section (1) , an amount which bears the same proportion to the total relevant shipping income, as the shortfall in credit to the reserves bears to the minimum reserve required to be credited under sub-section (1) , shall not be taxable under the tonnage tax scheme and shall be taxable under the other provisions of this Act.

(10) If the reserve required to be created under sub-section (1) is not created for any two consecutive tax years, the option of the company for tonnage tax scheme shall cease to have effect from the beginning of the tax year following the second consecutive tax year in which the failure to create the reserve under sub-section (1) had occurred.

(11) In this section, “new ship”or “new inland vessel”, as the case may be, includes a qualifying ship which, before the date of acquisition by the qualifying company was used by any other person, if it was not at any time previous to the date of such acquisition owned by any person resident in India.

(12) A tonnage tax company, after its option has been approved under section 231(4) , shall comply with the minimum training requirement in respect of trainee officers as per the guidelines made by the Director-General of Shipping and notified by the Central Government.

(13) The tonnage tax company shall be required to furnish a copy of the certificate issued by the Director-General of Shipping in the form and manner as prescribed, along with the return of income under section 263 to the effect that such company has complied with the minimum training requirement as per the guidelines referred to in sub-section (12) for the tax year.

(14) If the minimum training requirement is not complied with for any five consecutive tax years, the option of the company for tonnage tax scheme shall cease to have effect from the beginning of the tax year following the fifth consecutive tax year in which the failure to comply with the minimum training requirement as per sub-section (12) had occurred.

(15) In the case of every company which has opted for tonnage tax scheme, not more than 49% of the net tonnage of the qualifying ships operated by it during any tax year shall be chartered in.

(16) The proportion of net tonnage referred to in sub-section (15) in respect of a tax year shall be calculated based on the average of net tonnage during that tax year.

(17) For the purposes of sub-section (16) , the average of net tonnage shall be computed in such manner, as prescribed, in consultation with the Director-General of Shipping.

(18) Where the net tonnage of ships or new inland vessel, as the case may be, chartered in exceeds the limit under sub-section (15) during any tax year, the total income of such company in relation to that tax year shall be computed as if the option for tonnage tax scheme does not have effect for that tax year.

(19) Where the limit under sub-section (15) had exceeded in any two consecutive tax years, the option for tonnage tax scheme shall cease to have effect from the beginning of the tax year following the second consecutive tax year in which the limit had exceeded.

(20) In this section, the term “chartered in” shall exclude a ship or new inland vessel, as the case may be, chartered in by the company on bareboat charter-cum-demise terms.

(21) An option for tonnage tax scheme by a tonnage tax company shall not have effect in relation to a tax year unless such company—

(a) maintains separate books of account in respect of the business of operating qualifying ships; and

(b) furnishes, before the specified date referred to in sections 63, the report of an accountant, in the prescribed form, duly signed and verified by such accountant.

(22) A temporary cessation (as against permanent cessation) of operating any qualifying ship by a company shall not be considered as a cessation of operating of such qualifying ship and the company shall be deemed to be operating such qualifying ship for the purposes of this Part.

(23) Where a qualifying company continues to operate a ship or new inland vessel, as the case may be, which temporarily ceases to be a qualifying ship, such ship or inland vessel, as the care may be shall not be deemed as a qualifying ship for the purposes of this Part.

232.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115VT, 115VU, 115VV, 115VW, 115VZA are as under:

D.—Conditions for applicability of tonnage tax scheme

Transfer of profits to Tonnage Tax Reserve Account.

115VT. (1) A tonnage tax company shall, subject to and in accordance with the provisions of this section, be required to credit to a reserve account (hereafter in this section referred to as the Tonnage Tax Reserve Account) an amount not less than twenty per cent of the book profit derived from the activities referred to in clauses (i) and (ii) of sub-section (1) of section 115V-I in each previous year to be utilised in the manner laid down in sub-section (3) :

Providedthat a tonnage tax company may transfer a sum in excess of twenty per cent of the book profit and such excess sum transferred shall also be utilised in the manner laid down in sub-section (3) .

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, "book profit" shall have the same meaning as in the Explanation to sub-section (2) of section 115JB so far as it relates to the income derived from the activities referred to in clauses (i) and (ii) of sub-section (1) of section 115V-I.

(2) Where the company has book profit from the business of operating qualifying ships and book loss from any other sources, and consequently, the company is not in a position to create the full or any part of the reserves under sub-section (1) , the company shall create the reserves to the extent possible in that previous year and the shortfall, if any, shall be added to the amount of the reserves required to be created for the following previous year and such shortfall shall be deemed to be part of the reserve requirement of that following previous year :

Providedthat to the extent the shortfall in creation of reserves during a particular previous year is carried forward to the following previous year under this sub-section, the company shall be considered as having created sufficient reserves for the first mentioned previous year:

Provided furtherthat nothing contained in the first proviso shall apply in respect of the second year in case the shortfall in creation of reserves continues for two consecutive previous years.

(3) The amount credited to the Tonnage Tax Reserve Account under sub-section (1) shall be utilised by the company before the expiry of a period of eight years next following the previous year in which the amount was credited—

(a) for acquiring a new ship 66[or new inland vessel, as the case may be], for the purposes of the business of the company; and

(b) until the acquisition of a new ship 66[or new inland vessel, as the case may be], for the purposes of the business of operating qualifying ships other than for distribution by way of dividends or profits or for remittance outside India as profits or for the creation of any asset outside India.

(4) Where any amount credited to the Tonnage Tax Reserve Account under sub-section (1) ,—

(a) has been utilised for any purpose other than that referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) of sub-section (3) ; or

(b) has not been utilised for the purpose specified in clause (a) of sub-section (3) ; or

(c) has been utilised for the purpose of acquiring a new ship 67[as specified in clause (a) of sub-section (3) , but such ship]is sold or otherwise transferred, other than in any scheme of demerger by the company to any person at any time before the expiry of three years from the end of the previous year in which it was acquired,

an amount which bears the same proportion to the total relevant shipping income of the year in which such reserve was created, as the amount out of such reserve so utilised or not utilised bears to the total reserve created during that year under sub-section (1) shall be taxable under the other provisions of this Act—

(i) in a case referred to in clause (a) , in the year in which the amount was so utilised; or

(ii) in a case referred to in clause (b) , in the year immediately following the period of eight years specified in sub-section (3) ; or

(iii) in a case referred to in clause (c) , in the year in which the sale or transfer took place:

Providedthat the income so taxable under the other provisions of this Act shall be reduced by the proportionate tonnage income charged to tax in the year of creation of such reserves.

(5) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provision of this Chapter, where the amount credited to the Tonnage Tax Reserve Account in accordance with sub-section (1) is less than the minimum amount required to be credited under sub-section (1) , an amount which bears the same proportion to the total relevant shipping income, as the shortfall in credit to the reserves bears to the minimum reserve required to be credited under sub-section (1) shall not be taxable under the tonnage tax scheme and shall be taxable under the other provisions of this Act.

(6) If the reserve required to be created under sub-section (1) is not created for any two consecutive previous years, the option of the company for tonnage tax scheme shall cease to have effect from the beginning of the previous year following the second consecutive previous year in which the failure to create the reserve under sub-section (1) had occurred.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this 68[section, "new ship" includes] a qualifying ship which, before the date of acquisition by the qualifying company was used by any other person, if it was not at any time previous to the date of such acquisition owned by any person resident in India.

Minimum training requirement for tonnage tax company.

115VU. (1) A tonnage tax company, after its option has been approved under sub-section (3) of section 115VP, shall comply with the minimum training requirement in respect of trainee officers in accordance with the guidelines framed by the Director-General of Shipping and notified in the Official Gazette by the Central Government.

(2) The tonnage tax company shall be required to furnish a copy of the certificate issued by the Director-General of Shipping along with the return of income under section 139 to the effect that such company has complied with the minimum training requirement in accordance with the guidelines referred to in sub-section (1) for the previous year.

(3) If the minimum training requirement is not complied with for any five consecutive previous years, the option of the company for tonnage tax scheme shall cease to have effect from the beginning of the previous year following the fifth consecutive previous year in which the failure to comply with the minimum training requirement under sub-section (1) had occurred.

Limit for charter in of tonnage.

115VV. (1) In the case of every company which has opted for tonnage tax scheme, not more than forty-nine per cent of the net tonnage of the qualifying ships operated by it during any previous year shall be chartered in.

(2) The proportion of net tonnage referred to in sub-section (1) in respect of a previous year shall be calculated based on the average of net tonnage during that previous year.

(3) For the purposes of sub-section (2) , the average of net tonnage shall be computed in such manner as may be prescribed in consultation with the Director-General of Shipping.

(4) Where the net tonnage of ships [69][or inland vessels, as the case may be,] chartered in exceeds the limit under sub-section (1) during any previous year, the total income of such company in relation to that previous year shall be computed as if the option for tonnage tax scheme does not have effect for that previous year.

(5) Where the limit under sub-section (1) had exceeded in any two consecutive previous years, the option for tonnage tax scheme shall cease to have effect from the beginning of the previous year following the second consecutive previous year in which the limit had exceeded.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, the term "chartered in" shall exclude a ship [69][or inland vessel, as the case may be,] chartered in by the company on bareboat charter-cum-demise terms.

Maintenance and audit of accounts.

115VW. An option for tonnage tax scheme by a tonnage tax company shall not have effect in relation to a previous year unless such company—

(i) maintains separate books of account in respect of the business of operating qualifying ships; and

(ii) furnishes, before the specified date referred to in section 44AB, the report of an accountant, in the prescribed form duly signed and verified by such accountant.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, "accountant" shall have the same meaning as in the Explanation below sub-section (2) of section 288.

Effect of temporarily ceasing to operate qualifying ships.

115VZA. (1) A temporary cessation (as against permanent cessation) of operating any qualifying ship by a company shall not be considered as a cessation of operating of such qualifying ship and the company shall be deemed to be operating such qualifying ship for the purposes of this Chapter.

(2) Where a qualifying company continues to operate a ship, [70][or inland vessel, as the case may be,] which temporarily ceases to be a qualifying ship, such ship [70][or inland vessel, as the case may be,] shall not be considered as a qualifying ship for the purposes of this Chapter.

232.2 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> Clause 232 of the Bill seeks to provide for certain conditions for applicability of tonnage tax scheme. The clause corresponds to section 115VT, 115VU, 115VV, 115VW, 115VZA of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

232.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Gist of suggestions received from stakeholders/ experts are given as under:

> The prefix "new" is inserted only for inland vessels, not for ships. This may lead to unintended relaxation, allowing more second-hand vessels to be chartered-in without breaching the limit.Address and rectify the discrepancy in referencing "new inland vessel" to ensure consistent application of the 49% limit for all chartered-in vessels. Ensure that the relief applies to both new and second-hand inland vessels as intended.

232.5 Examination by the Committee:

In response to the suggestion that the prefix “new” should be inserted only for inland vessels and not for ships—identifying this as a drafting error—the Ministry, in its written reply, clarified tha that itis an inadvertent drafting error. The suggestion made by the stakeholders is acceptable.

232.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 232 under examination — including the views and suggestions of stakeholders and the justification provided by the Ministry of Finance — find the proposed provision broadly acceptable.

However, the Committee observe a discrepancy arising from the use of the prefix "new" for inland vessels but not for ships. This may inadvertently allow more second-hand vessels to be chartered in, exceeding the intended 49% limit.

The Committee feel that this inconsistency should be addressed to reflect the true policy intent and to avoid confusion in application. It, therefore, consider it appropriate to recommend that the terminology be amended to apply the 49% limit uniformly to all chartered-in vessels — whether new or second-hand — in order to maintain fairness and policy consistency.The Committee, therefore, suggestthat the Ministry consider this modification while finalizing the provisions of Clause 232 of the Bill.

233. Amalgamation and demerger

233.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Where there has been an amalgamation of a company with another company or companies, then, subject to the other provisions of this section, the provisions relating to the tonnage tax scheme shall, as far as may be, apply to the amalgamated company, if it is a qualifying company.

(2) Where the amalgamated company is not a tonnage tax company, it shall exercise an option for tonnage tax scheme under section 231(1) within three months from the date of the approval of the scheme of amalgamation.

(3) Where the amalgamating companies are tonnage tax companies, the provisions of this Part shall, as far as may be, apply to the amalgamated company for such period as the option for tonnage tax scheme which has the longest unexpired period continues to be in force.

(4) Where one of the amalgamating companies is a qualifying company as on the 1st October, 2004 and which has not exercised the option for tonnage tax scheme before the 1st January, 2005, the provisions of this Part shall not apply to the amalgamated company and the income of the amalgamated company from the business of operating qualifying ships shall be computed as per the other provisions of this Act.

(5) Where in a scheme of demerger, the demerged company transfers its business to the resulting company before the expiry of the option for tonnage tax scheme, then, subject to the other provisions of this Part, the tonnage tax scheme shall, as far as may be, apply to the resulting company for the unexpired period, if it is a qualifying company.

(6) The option for tonnage tax scheme in respect of the demerged company shall remain in force for the unexpired period of the tonnage tax scheme if it continues to be a qualifying company.

Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

233.2 Existing provisions of the Section 115VY and 115VZ are as under:

E.—Amalgamation and demerger of shipping companies

Amalgamation.

115VY. Where there has been an amalgamation of a company with another company or companies, then, subject to the other provisions of this section, the provisions relating to the tonnage tax scheme shall, as far as may be, apply to the amalgamated company if it is a qualifying company:

Provided that where the amalgamated company is not a tonnage tax company, it shall exercise an option for tonnage tax scheme under sub-section (1) of section 115VP within three months from the date of the approval of the scheme of amalgamation:

Provided furtherthat where the amalgamating companies are tonnage tax companies, the provisions of this Chapter shall, as far as may be, apply to the amalgamated company for such period as the option for tonnage tax scheme which has the longest unexpired period continues to be in force:

Provided alsothat where one of the amalgamating companies is a qualifying company as on the 1st day of October, 2004 and which has not exercised the option for tonnage tax scheme within the initial period, the provisions of this Chapter shall not apply to the amalgamated company and the income of the amalgamated company from the business of operating qualifying ships shall be computed in accordance with the other provisions of this Act.

Demerger.

115VZ. Where in a scheme of demerger, the demerged company transfers its business to the resulting company before the expiry of the option for tonnage tax scheme, then, subject to the other provisions of this Chapter, the tonnage tax scheme shall, as far as may be, apply to the resulting company for the unexpired period if it is a qualifying company:

Provided that the option for tonnage tax scheme in respect of the demerged company shall remain in force for the unexpired period of the tonnage tax scheme if it continues to be a qualifying company.

233.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> Clause 233 of the Bill seeks to provide for continuance of and validity of the tonnage tax scheme in the case of amalgamation and demerger. The clause corresponds to section 115VY, 115VZ of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

233.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Gist of suggestions received from stakeholders/ experts are given as under:

ICAI Clause (23) of Section 233 may be amended as under: Where a qualifying company continues to operate a ship or new inland vessel, as the case may be, which temporarily ceases to be a qualifying ship, such ship or inland vessel, as the care case may be shall not be deemed as a qualifying ship for the purposes of this Part. The discrepancy may have arisen due to the substitution of the term 'inland vessel' with 'new inland vessel' in other provisions of this Part However, using it in this particular clause may not be appropriate The use of the term 'new inland vessel' herein may constitute an apparent discrepancy, which may require clarification or definition.

233.5 Examination by the Committee:

233.5.1 In response to the above suggestion, the ministry in its written reply stated as under:

> It is an inadvertent drafting error. The word "new" has been inadvertently added with the words inland vessel in clause 233(23) of the Bill. The word "new" is to be omitted from clause 233(23) of the Bill.

233.5.2 On the question of whether multiple successive amalgamations (i.e., amalgamation of already amalgamated entities) impact the continuity of the tonnage tax scheme and whether the unexpired period gets recalculated in such cases:

> The existing provisions of the Act have been simplified and retained in the Bill. The stakeholder has sought response to specific queries with regard to amalgamation and demerger, which depends on facts of the case. It may not be possible to draft law based on each facts of the case. The law has stated its position in clear terms and AO has to apply the law based on the facts of the case.

233.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 233 under examination — including the views and suggestions of stakeholders and the justification provided by the Ministry of Finance — find the proposed provision broadly acceptable.

However, the Committee observea discrepancy arising from the use of the term "new inland vessel" in this context. The use of "new" may inadvertently create confusion and inconsistency in application, particularly when the policy intent applies uniformly to all inland vessels, regardless of whether they are new or second-hand.

The Committee feel that this inconsistency should be addressed to reflect the true policy intent and to avoid confusion in application. It, therefore, consider it appropriate to recommend that the terminology be amended to refer simply to "inland vessel" — thereby applying the provisions uniformly to all such vessels — in order to maintain fairness and policy consistency.The Committee, therefore, suggest that the Ministry consider this modification while finalizing the provisions of Clause 233 of the Bill.

234. Avoidance of tax and exclusion from tonnage tax scheme

234.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Subject to the provisions of this Part, the tonnage tax scheme shall not apply where a tonnage tax company is a party to any transaction or arrangement which amounts to an abuse of the tonnage tax scheme.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) , a transaction or arrangement shall be considered an abuse, if the entering into or the application of such transaction or arrangement results, or would but for this section have resulted, in a tax advantage being obtained for—

(a) a person other than a tonnage tax company; or

(b) a tonnage tax company in respect of its non-tonnage tax activities.

(3) In this section, “tax advantage” includes—

(a) the determination of—

(i) the allowance for any expense or interest; or

(ii) any cost or expense allocated or apportioned, which has the effect of reducing the income or increasing the loss, from activities other than tonnage tax activities chargeable to tax, computed on the basis of entries made in the books of account in respect of the tax year in which the transaction was entered into; or

(b) a transaction or arrangement which produces to the tonnage tax company more than ordinary profits which might be expected to arise from tonnage tax activities.

(4) Where a tonnage tax company is a party to any transaction or arrangement referred to in sub-section (1) , the Assessing Officer shall, by an order in writing, exclude such company from the tonnage tax scheme.

(5) The Assessing Officer shall pass an order under sub-section (4) , after—

(a) giving an opportunity to the company by serving a notice calling upon such company to show cause, on a date and time to be specified in the notice, why it should not be excluded from the tonnage tax scheme; and

(b) obtaining prior approval of the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner.

(6) The provisions of this section shall not apply where the company satisfies the Assessing Officer that the transaction or arrangement was a bona fide commercial transaction and had not been entered into for the purpose of obtaining tax advantage under this Part.

(7) Where an order has been passed under sub-section (4) by the Assessing Officer excluding the tonnage tax company from the tonnage tax scheme, the option for tonnage tax scheme shall cease to be in force from the first day of the tax year in which the transaction or arrangement was entered into.

234.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115VZB and 115VZC are as under:

G.—Provisions of this Chapter not to apply in certain cases

Avoidance of tax.

115VZB. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Chapter, the tonnage tax scheme shall not apply where a tonnage tax company is a party to any transaction or arrangement which amounts to an abuse of the tonnage tax scheme.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) , a transaction or arrangement shall be considered an abuse if the entering into or the application of such transaction or arrangement results, or would but for this section have resulted, in a tax advantage being obtained for—

(i) a person other than a tonnage tax company; or

(ii) a tonnage tax company in respect of its non-tonnage tax activities.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, "tax advantage" include,—

(i) the determination of the allowance for any expense or interest, or the determination of any cost or expense allocated or apportioned, or, as the case may be, which has the effect of reducing the income or increasing the loss, as the case may be, from activities other than tonnage tax activities chargeable to tax, computed on the basis of entries made in the books of account in respect of the previous year in which the transaction was entered into; or

(ii) a transaction or arrangement which produces to the tonnage tax company more than ordinary profits which might be expected to arise from tonnage tax activities.

Exclusion from tonnage tax scheme.

115VZC. (1) Where a tonnage tax company is a party to any transaction or arrangement referred to in sub-section (1) of section 115VZB, the Assessing Officer shall, by an order in writing, exclude such company from the tonnage tax scheme:

Providedthat an opportunity shall be given by the Assessing Officer by serving a notice calling upon such company to show cause, on a date and time to be specified in the notice, why it should not be excluded from the tonnage tax scheme:

Provided furtherthat no order under this sub-section shall be passed without the previous approval of the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner.

(2) The provisions of this section shall not apply where the company shows to the satisfaction of the Assessing Officer that the transaction or arrangement was a bona fide commercial transaction and had not been entered into for the purpose of obtaining tax advantage under this Chapter.

(3) Where an order has been passed under sub-section (1) by the Assessing Officer excluding the tonnage tax company from the tonnage tax scheme, the option for tonnage tax scheme shall cease to be in force from the first day of the previous year in which the transaction or arrangement was entered into.

234.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed amendment is as under:

> Clause 234 of the Bill relates to avoidance of tax and exclusion from tonnage tax scheme in case of abuse of the provisions by way of any arrangement made to avail tax advantage. The clause corresponds to section 115VZB, 115VZC of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

234.4 Examination by the Committee:

Regarding the issue whether the Clause 234 provide adequate differentiation between intentional abuse and innocent mischaracterization of inter business allocations , the Ministry in its written reply stated as under:

> The existing provisions of the Act have been simplified and retained in the Bill. Cl 234 of the Bill provides that tonnage tax scheme shall not apply where tonnage tax company is a party to any transactions or arrangement which amounts to an abuse of tonnage tax scheme. Sub-clause (2) and (3) of cl 234 provide when a transaction or arrangement is to be considered an abuse. Any "innocent mischaracterization of inter-business allocations" is to be examined in the context of cl 234(2) and (3) of the Bill to determine whether the transaction is an abuse to tonnage tax scheme.

Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

234.5 The Committee, after thorough deliberation upon the proposal made in Clause 234 under examination — including the views and suggestions of stakeholders and the justification provided by the Ministry of Finance — find the proposed provision broadly acceptable.

The Committee note that this clause aims to curb abuse of the tonnage tax scheme and to empower the Assessing Officer to exclude companies from the scheme where transactions or arrangements are entered into with the main purpose of avoiding tax. The provisions largely retain the intent of the existing sections 115VZB and 115VZC of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, while simplifying their language.

The Committee believe that this measure is reasonable and necessary to safeguard revenue and to maintain fairness in the application of the tonnage tax scheme. However, the Committee underscores the importance of proper safeguards — including a show-cause notice and the approval of the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner — to avoid arbitrary decisions and to provide companies with an opportunity to explain their transactions.

Therefore, the Committee find the proposal appropriate and broadly endorse its retention in the Bill.However, the Committee suggest that the Ministry and the Assessing Officer should apply these provisions judiciously, to deal with cases of abuse while not affecting bona fide transactions.The Committee, therefore, recommend that the Ministry consider this observation while finalizing the provisions of Clause 234 of the Bill.

Clause- 235. Interpretation

235.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

In this Part,—

(a) “bareboat charter” means hiring of a ship or inland vessel, as the case may be, for a stipulated period on terms which give the charterer possession and control of the ship or new inland vessel, as the case may be, including the right to appoint the master and crew;

(b) “bareboat charter-cum-demise” means a bareboat charter where the ownership of the ship or inland vessel, as the case may be, is intended to be transferred after a specified period to the company to whom it has been chartered;

(c) “Director-General of Shipping” means the Director-General of Shipping appointed by the Central Government under section 7(1) of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1958;

(d) “factory ship” includes a vessel providing processing services in respect of processing of the fishing produce;

(e) “fishing vessel” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 3(12) of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1958;

(f) “inland vessel” shall have the meaning assigned to it in section 3(q) of the Inland Vessels Act, 2021;

(g) “pleasure craft” means a ship or inland vessel, as the case may be, of a kind whose primary use is for the purposes of sport or recreation;

(h) “qualifying company” means a company, if—

(i) it is an Indian company;

(ii) the place of effective management of the company is in India;

(iii) it owns at least one qualifying ship; and

(iv) the main object of the company is to carry on the business of operating ships, and for the purposes of sub-clause (ii) , “place of effective management of the company” means—

(A) the place where the board of directors of the company or its executive directors, make their decisions; or

(B) in a case where the board of directors routinely approve the commercial and strategic decisions made by the executive directors or officers of the company, the place where such executive directors or officers of the company perform their functions.

(i) “qualifying ship” means a ship or inland vessel, as the case may be, if—

(i) it is a seagoing ship or vessel or inland vessel, as the case may be, of fifteen net tonnage or more;

(ii) it is a ship registered under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1958, or a ship registered outside India in respect of which a licence has been issued by the Director-General of Shipping under section 406 or 407 of said Act or an inland vessel registered under the Inland Vessels Act, 2021, as the case may be; and

(iii) a valid certificate in respect of such ship or inland vessel, as the case may be,indicating its net tonnage is in force,

but does not include—

(A) a seagoing ship or vessel or inland vessel, as the case may be, if the main purpose for which it is used is the provision of goods or services of a kind normally provided on land;

(B) fishing vessels;

(C) factory ships;

(D) pleasure crafts;

(E) harbour and river ferries;

(F) offshore installations; and

(G) a qualifying ship which is used as a fishing vessel for more than thirty days during a tax year;

(j) “seagoing ship” means a ship, if it is certified as such by the competent authority of any country;

(k) “tonnage income” means the income of a tonnage tax company computed as per the provisions of this Part;

(l) “tonnage tax activities” means the activities referred to in section 228(3) and (7) ;

(m) “tonnage tax business” means the business of operating qualifying ships giving rise to relevant shipping income as referred to in section 228(1) ;

(n) “tonnage tax company” means a qualifying company in relation to which tonnage tax option is in force;
(o) “tonnage tax scheme” means a scheme for computation of profits and gains of business of operating qualifying ships under the provisions of this Part.

235.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961) :

Existing provisions of the Section 115V are as under:

Chapter XII-G SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO INCOME OF SHIPPING COMPANIES

A.—Meaning of certain expressions

Definitions.

115V. In this Chapter, unless the context otherwise requires,—

(a) "bareboat charter" means hiring of a ship 56[or inland vessel, as the case may be,] for a stipulated period on terms which give the charterer possession and control of the ship 56[or inland vessel, as the case may be,] including the right to appoint the master and crew;

(b) "bareboat charter-cum-demise" means a bareboat charter where the ownership of the ship 56[or inland vessel, as the case may be,] is intended to be transferred after a specified period to the company to whom it has been chartered;

(c) "Director-General of Shipping" means the Director-General of Shipping appointed by the Central Government under sub-section (1) of section 7 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1958 (44 of 1958) ;

(d) "factory ship" includes a vessel providing processing services in respect of processing of the fishing produce;

(e) "fishing vessel" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (12) of section 3 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1958 (44 of 1958) ;

Following clause (ea) shall be inserted after clause (e) of section 115V by the Finance Act, 2025, w.e.f. 1-4-2026:

(ea) "inland vessel" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in clause (q) of section 3 of the Inland Vessels Act, 2021 (24 of 2021) ;

(f) "pleasure craft" means a ship 57[or inland vessel, as the case may be,] of a kind whose primary use is for the purposes of sport or recreation;

(g) "qualifying company" means a company referred to in section 115VC;

(h) "qualifying ship" means a ship 57[or inland vessel, as the case may be,] referred to in section 115VD;

(i) "seagoing ship" means a ship if it is certified as such by the competent authority of any country;

(j) "tonnage income" means the income of a tonnage tax company computed in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter;

(k) "tonnage tax activities" means the activities referred to in sub-sections (2) and (5) of section 115V-I;

(l) "tonnage tax company" means a qualifying company in relation to which tonnage tax option is in force;

(m) "tonnage tax scheme" means a scheme for computation of profits and gains of business of operating qualifying ships under the provisions of this Chapter..

235.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision

The justification furnished by the Ministry for the proposed clause is as under:

> Clause 235 of the Bill provides for definition of certain terms relating to tonnage tax scheme. The clause corresponds to section 115V of the Act. All definitions in Chapter XII-G of the Act have been placed together in a single independent clause in the Bill to improve readability. The provisions of the existing section have been simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

235.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Gist of suggestions received from stakeholders/ experts are given as under:

i. It is suggested that section 235(a) may be amended as under: (a) “bareboat charter” means hiring of a ship or inland vessel, as the case may be, for a stipulated period on terms which give the charterer possession and control of the ship or new inland vessel, as the case may be, including the right to appoint the master and crew; Use of the word “new” with “inland vessel” is not needed as the word “new” is not used with “ship” The use of “new” with “inland vessel” may result in interpretational issues.

ii. The provision must be amended to provide a clear inclusive definition of “qualifying ship” There must be a clarification regarding non-requirement of valid certificate in indicating net tonnage for slot charter arrangements There is lack of clarity on what a “qualifying ship” is and whether it includes offshore support vessels, dredgers etc The current definition is not inclusive and this may lead companies engaged in offshore services to face adverse tax assessments due to restrictive interpretation Therefore, this clarification would be beneficial for companies engaged in offshore services In cases of slot charter arrangements, valid certificate is not required as it would fall within “deemed tonnage” as envisioned by the Legislature Therefore, there must be an express provision excluding the same (CIT v Trans Asian Shipping Services P Ltd Civil Appeal No 5870/2016 (SC)

235.5 Examination by the Committee:

235.5.1 In response to the above suggestions made by the stakeholders, the Ministry, in its written submission, stated as under:

i. There is an inadvertent drafting error. The word "new" is not required with "inland vessel" and the same needs to be deleted.
ii. The stakeholder through suggestion seeks to amend definition of "qualifying ship" based on the decision of Hon'ble SC in the case of CIT v Trans Asian Shipping Services P Ltd Civil Appeal No 5870/2016 (SC) . The suggestion is in the nature of policy change and is beyond the scope of IT Bill 2025. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis a vis Act. Every decision of higher courts is not required to be codified in law. The decisions are given on complex facts and all facts written in law will make the law immensely complex. In any case, benefit provided by decision of Supreme Court is available to taxpayer.

235.5.2 On the issue of adoption of definition of qualifying ship which is given by the Supreme Court for the purposes of our provisions, Ministry of finance during its deposition before the ministry stated as under:

> " In this, the stakeholder is requesting that there is a definition of qualifying ship which is given in a Supreme Court judgment. So, the suggestion is that we should adopt that definition which is given by the Supreme Court for the purposes of our provisions. So, we have a specific definition of what is a qualifying ship and then, how its income would be charged to tax. The issue is primarily not codifying the Supreme Court judgment. The issue is that the assessee is now requesting that you make the definition of qualifying ship as an inclusive definition, in terms of which things are included in the term 'Qualifying Ship'. That means, it is not an exhaustive definition. Wherever we are writing 'qualifying', for tonnage tax scheme, a separate code is being specified for them. We have to make that window closed. The Supreme Court in this specific case just went beyond that definition to also include certain types of ships where parts of that ship were under bare boat charter. So, the Supreme Court recognized that part of a ship as being eligible for the tonnage tax scheme. So, codifying that type of judgment is very difficult and not being able to codify does not mean that I remove the exhaustiveness of my definition. What he is suggesting is since you did not codify this thing or it is not if you are not able to codify, make the definition inclusive. We will examine that."

235.5.3 "On the question of whether the implications of new shipping laws should be preemptively incorporated at this stage to avoid future amendments and complications, especially considering the potential impact of recent Supreme Court judgments, even if on niche matters, the Secretary during the sitting of the select committee deposed that they will examine that."

235.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee has carefully examined Clause 235 of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025, which sets out definitions for key terms used in the tonnage tax scheme. The Committee find these definitions broadly align with the existing provisions under Section 115V of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, and help streamline and consolidate all related definitions into a single clause for better readability and clarity. The Committee has taken note of a drafting inconsistency in Clause 235(a) , where the word "new" has inadvertently been placed before "inland vessel"—a terminology not present in the principal Act and not required in this context. The use of "new" may confuse stakeholders and lead to interpretational issues. Therefore, in view of this oversight, the Committee recommend the deletion of the word “new” from Clause 235(a) to align it with the terminology used for “bareboat charter” under the principal Act. The rest of the definitions in this clause may be retained as originally drafted, given their clarity and utility in simplifying the tonnage tax framework. The Committee, therefore, endorses Clause 235 with this minor modification.

Chapter XIV - TAX ADMINISTRATION

Clause 236 – Income-tax authorities

236.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

For the purposes of this Act, there shall be the following classes of income-tax authorities:—

(a) the Central Board of Direct Taxes constituted under the Central Boards of Revenue Act, 1963;

(b) Principal Directors General of Income-tax or Principal Chief Commissioners of Income-tax;

(c) Directors General of Income-tax or Chief Commissioners of Income-tax;

(d) Principal Directors of Income-tax or Principal Commissioners of Income-tax;

(e) Directors of Income-tax or Commissioners of Income-tax or Commissioners of Income-tax (Appeals);

(f) Additional Directors of Income-tax or Additional Commissioners of Income-tax or Additional Commissioners of Income-tax (Appeals);

(g) Joint Directors of Income-tax or Joint Commissioners of Income-tax or Joint Commissioners of Income-tax (Appeals);

(h) Deputy Directors of Income-tax or Deputy Commissioners of Income-tax;

(i) Assistant Directors of Income-tax or Assistant Commissioners of Income-tax;

(j) Income-tax Officers;

(k) Tax Recovery Officers; and (l) Inspectors of Income-tax.

236.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Income-tax authorities.

116. There shall be the following classes of income-tax authorities for the purposes of this Act, namely :—

(a) the Central Board of Direct Taxes constituted under the Central Boards of Revenue Act, 1963 (54 of 1963), (aa) Principal Directors General of Income-tax or Principal Chief Commissioners of Income-tax,

(b) Directors-General of Income-tax or Chief Commissioners of Income-tax, (ba) Principal Directors of Income-tax or Principal Commissioners of Income-tax,

(c) Directors of Income-tax or Commissioners of Income-tax or Commissioners of Income-tax (Appeals),

(cc) Additional Directors of Income-tax or Additional Commissioners of Income-tax or Additional Commissioners of Income-tax (Appeals), (cca) Joint Directors of Income-tax or Joint Commissioners of Income-tax [71][or Joint Commissioners of Income-tax (Appeals)],

(d) Deputy Directors of Income-tax or Deputy Commissioners of Income-tax or Deputy Commissioners of Income-tax (Appeals), (e) Assistant Directors of Income-tax or Assistant Commissioners of Income-tax,

(f) Income-tax Officers,

(g) Tax Recovery Officers,

(h) Inspectors of Income-tax.

236.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 236 of the Bill provides for the provisions relating to Income-tax Authorities. The clause corresponds to section 116 of the Act. There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

236.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, upon examination and the justification provided by the Ministry, note that the provisions proposed in the clause are in line with corresponding section of the 1961 Act. The Committee find the provisions to be a textual simplification and therefore accept the Clause as proposed.

Clause 237 – Appointment of income-tax authorities.

237.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) The Central Government may appoint such persons as it thinks fit to be income-tax authorities.

(2) The Central Government may, subject to the rules and its orders regulating the conditions of service of persons in public services and posts, authorise the Board, or a Principal Director General or Director General, or a Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner, or a Principal Director or Director, or a Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, to appoint income-tax authorities below the rank of a Deputy Commissioner or Assistant Commissioner.

(3) Subject to the rules and orders of the Central Government regulating the conditions of service of persons in public services and posts, an income-tax authority authorised in this behalf by the Board, may appoint such executive or ministerial staff as may be necessary to assist it in the execution of its functions.

237.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Appointment of income-tax authorities.

117. (1) The Central Government may appoint such persons as it thinks fit to be income-tax authorities.

(2) Without prejudice to the provisions of sub-section (1), and subject to the rules and orders of the Central Government regulating the conditions of service of persons in public services and posts, the Central Government may authorise the Board, or a Principal Director General or Director-General, a Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or a Principal Director or Director or a Principal Commissioner or Commissioner to appoint income-tax authorities below the rank of an Assistant Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner.

(3) Subject to the rules and orders of the Central Government regulating the conditions of service of persons in public services and posts, an income-tax authority authorised in this behalf by the Board may appoint such executive or ministerial staff as may be necessary to assist it in the execution of its functions.

237.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 237 of the Bill provides for provisions relating to appointment of income-tax authorities. The clause corresponds to section 117 of the Act. There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

237.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, upon examination and the justification provided by the Ministry, note that the provisions proposed in the clause are mere textual simplification of the existing provision of the 1961 Act. The Committee, therefore, accept the Clause as it stands.

Clause 238– Control of income-tax authorities

238.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

The Board may, by notification, direct that any income-tax authority or authorities specified in the notification shall be subordinate to such other income-tax authority or authorities as specified in such notification.

238.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Control of income-tax authorities.

118. The Board may, by notification in the Official Gazette, direct that any income-tax authority or authorities specified in the notification shall be subordinate to such other income-tax authority or authorities as may be specified in such notification.

238.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 238 of the Bill provides for provisions relating to control of income-tax authorities. The clause corresponds to section 118 of the Act. There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

238.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note the justification provided by the Ministry and find the provisions of the Clause 238 in line with the existing provisions of the 1961 Act. Being a textual simplification, the Committee accept the Clause as proposed.

Clause 239– Instructions to subordinate authorities

239.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) The Board may issue such orders, instructions and directions to other income-tax authorities as it considers fit for the proper administration of this Act, and such authorities and all other persons employed in the execution of this Act shall observe and follow such orders, instructions and directions.

(2) No orders, instructions or directions under sub-section (1) shall be issued to—

(a) require any income-tax authority to make a particular assessment or to dispose of a particular case in a particular manner; or

(b) interfere with the discretion of the Joint Commissioner (Appeals) or Commissioner (Appeals) in the exercise of his appellate functions.

(3) Without prejudice to the foregoing power, the Board may,—

(a) if it considers necessary or expedient so to do for the proper and efficient management of the work of assessment and collection of revenue, issue, from time to time (whether by way of relaxation of any of the provisions of section263, 270, 271, 279, 280, 287, 298, 398(3), 406, 407, 423, 424, 425, 427, 428, 439, 448, 449or otherwise), general or special orders in respect of any class of incomes or class of cases,—

(i) setting forth directions or instructions (not being prejudicial to assessees) as to the guidelines, principles or procedures to be followed by other income-tax authorities in the work relating to assessment or collection of revenue or the initiation of proceedings for the imposition of penalties; and

(ii) any such order may, if the Board is of the opinion that it is necessary in the public interest so to do, be published and circulated in the prescribed manner for general information;

(b) if it considers desirable or expedient so to do for avoiding genuine hardship in any case or class of cases, by general or special order, authorise any income-tax authority, not being a Joint Commissioner (Appeals) or a Commissioner (Appeals) to admit an application or claim for any exemption, deduction, refund or any other relief under this Act after the expiry of the period specified in this Act for making such application or claim and deal with the same on merits as per law;

(c) if it considers desirable or expedient so to do for avoiding genuine hardship in any case or class of cases, by general or special order for reasons to be specified therein, relax any requirement contained in any of the provisions of

Chapter IV or VIII, where the assessee has failed to comply with any requirement specified in such provision for claiming deduction thereunder, subject to the following conditions:—

(i) the default in complying with such requirement was due to circumstances beyond the control of the assessee; and

(ii) the assessee has complied with such requirement before the completion of assessment in relation to the tax year in which such deduction is claimed.

(4) The Central Government shall cause every order issued under sub-section (3)(c) to be laid before each House of Parliament.

239.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Instructions to subordinate authorities.

119. (1) The Board may, from time to time, issue such orders, instructions and directions to other income-tax authorities as it may deem fit for the proper administration of this Act, and such authorities and all other persons employed in the execution of this Act shall observe and follow such orders, instructions and directions of the Board :

Provided that no such orders, instructions or directions shall be issued—

(a) so as to require any income-tax authority to make a particular assessment or to dispose of a particular case in a particular manner; or

(b) so as to interfere with the discretion of [72-73][the Joint Commissioner (Appeals) or] the Commissioner (Appeals) in the exercise of his appellate functions.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power,—

(a) the Board may, if it considers it necessary or expedient so to do, for the purpose of proper and efficient management of the work of assessment and collection of revenue, issue, from time to time (whether by way of relaxation of any of the provisions of sections 115P, 115S, 115WD, 115WE, 115WF, 115WG, 115WH, 115WJ, 115WK, 139, 143 , 144, 147, 148, 154, 155, 158BFA, sub-section (1A) of section 201, sections 210, 211, 234A, 234B, 234C, 234E, 234F, 270A, 271, 271C, 271CA and 273 or otherwise), general or special orders in respect of any class of incomes or fringe benefits or class of cases, setting forth directions or instructions (not being prejudicial to assessees) as to the guidelines, principles or procedures to be followed by other income-tax authorities in the work relating to assessment or collection of revenue or the initiation of proceedings for the imposition of penalties and any such order may, if the Board is of opinion that it is necessary in the public interest so to do, be published and circulated in the prescribed manner for general information;

(b) the Board may, if it considers it desirable or expedient so to do for avoiding genuine hardship in any case or class of cases, by general or special order, authorise any income-tax authority, not being [72-73][a Joint Commissioner (Appeals) or] a Commissioner (Appeals)] to admit an application or claim for any exemption, deduction, refund or any other relief under this Act after the expiry of the period specified by or under this Act for making such application or claim and deal with the same on merits in accordance with law;

(c) the Board may, if it considers it desirable or expedient so to do for avoiding genuine hardship in any case or class of cases, by general or special order for reasons to be specified therein, relax any requirement contained in any of the provisions of Chapter IV or Chapter VI-A, where the assessee has failed to comply with any requirement specified in such provision for claiming deduction thereunder, subject to the following conditions, namely:—

(i) the default in complying with such requirement was due to circumstances beyond the control of the assessee; and

(ii) the assessee has complied with such requirement before the completion of assessment in relation to the previous year in which such deduction is claimed :

Provided that the Central Government shall cause every order issued under this clause to be laid before each House of Parliament.

(3) []

239.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 239 of the Bill provides for provisions relating to instructions to subordinate authorities. The clause corresponds to section 119 of the Act. There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. Redundant provisions of section 119 related to reference to sections 115WD, 115WE, 115WF, 115WG, 115WH, 115WJ and 115WK has been omitted as they relate to fringe benefit tax which is no longer on statute.

239.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

239.4.1 A gist of the suggestions received from the stakeholders is as under:

i. The CBDT, in exercise of its powers under section 119 of the Income-tax Act, 1961, issues circulars for clarifying the provisions of tax laws. Circulars have been issued since the introduction of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, and even prior to that, under the Income-tax Act, 1922, which are still relevant and important. It, however, becomes very difficult for the taxpayers to be aware as to which of the different circulars issued over decades are still relevant for the current assessment year (tax year in the New Regime). There are a number of circulars which are relevant and important even now. Therefore, akin to the Master Circular issued by RBI on Foreign Investment in India, which is issued with a sunset clause of one year and is replaced by an updated Master Circular on the Subject, under the New Income-tax Regime, the CBDT can issue a Master Circular at the beginning of each tax year under the new regime consolidating all such circulars issued which are relevant for the tax year. This would serve as a one stop reference and facilitate ease of compliance.

ii. It is suggested that section 239(3)(a) may be redrafted as '(3) Without prejudice to the foregoing power, the Board may,(a) if it considers necessary or expedient so to do for the proper and efficient management of the work of assessment and collection of revenue, issue, from time to time (whether by way of relaxation of any of the provisions of section 263, 270, 271, 279, 280, 287, 288, 298, 398(3), 406, 407, 408, 423, 424, 425, 427, 428, 439, 448, 449 or otherwise), general or special orders in respect of any class of incomes or class of cases'. Reference to the following Sections of the Income-tax Bill, 2025, may be included in Clause 239, since the corresponding existing sections of the Income-tax Act, 1961 have been included in section119. 1. Section288 of the Income-tax Bill, 2025-Otheramendments (corresponding to Section155ofthe Income-tax Act, 1961). 2.Section408ofthe Income-tax Bill, 2025-Instalmentsof advance tax and due dates(corresponding tosection211ofthe Income-taxAct,1961)

239.5 Examination by the Committee:

239.5.1 In a written reply in regard to the suggestion received to issue a Master Circular, the Ministry submitted as under:

> The Income-Tax Act, 1961, is a comprehensive and evolving statute with frequent amendments, a wide range of provisions, and applicability across a diverse taxpayer base. Consolidating all departmental circulars into a single Master Circular may lead to oversimplification and overlook the nuanced and context-specific nature of tax administration. Unlike regulatory circulars of bodies like RBI or SEBI, Income Tax circulars have often been subject to judicial interpretation. Courts have, at times, laid down binding views that differ from departmental positions. A Master Circular risks restating positions that may be inconsistent with established legal precedents, leading to confusion or potential litigation. Thus, suggestion is administrative in nature and does not pertain to the Bill.

239.5.2 With respect to the suggestion to include reference to Clauses 288 and 408 of the Income-tax Bill, 2025 in Clause 239, the Ministry stated as "The suggestion seeks to redraft the clause 239(3)(a) [s.119] for inclusion of missing sections which were earlier present in existing Act. The suggestion is in nature of drafting correction. The clause 288(section 155 of IT Act) and clause 408(section 211 of IT Act) which were inadvertently left out, will be inserted in clause 239(3)(a) to align it with the provisions of the Act."

239.5.3 During oral evidence, with reference to Committee's query whether there is any problem to issue the master circular for each year, the Ministry replied as follows:

Sir, I will just explain how income-tax law is implemented. सर, टैक्स ईयर के हिसाब से लॉज का इम्प्लीमेंटेशन होता है। उस साल का जो लॉ, रूल्स और सर्कुलर हैं, वह उसी साल के लिए टैक्सपेयर और एडमिनिस्ट्रेशन पर लगते हैं। अगले साल में वे लॉ चेंज हो जाते हैं। अब मान लीजिए कि अगर हम मास्टर सर्कुलर निकालते हैं तो वह एक साल के लिए ही होगा। अगर हम कम्पाइलेशन कर भी देंगे तो उसमें हमें ईयरवाइज बताना पड़ेगा कि वर्ष 1961 के लिए यह लॉ था और यह इस तरह से अप्लाई होगा। वर्ष 1962 के लिए यह लॉ था, वर्ष 1963 के लिए यह लॉ था, इस प्रकार से हमें बताना पड़ेगा।.. सर, आप देखिए कि उसमें 40-50 साल का सारा इकट्ठा हो सकता है, क्योंकि सारे लॉ के बारे में बताना पड़ेगा।

239.5.4 To Committee's apprehension about referring to Income Tax laws of 40-50 years and to existing Act every time, the Ministry stated as follows:

सर, इसे मैं एक्स्प्लेन करने का प्रयास करता हूं। एक तो प्रोसिजरल प्रोविजन है और दूसरा, सब्सटैंटिव है। जिस साल पर लगा है, उसका उस साल में प्रोसिजर चल रहा है। सब्सटेंटिव लॉ के बारे में यह है कि किसी साल मान लीजिए कि रेट 15,000 रुपये तक बढ़ गया और किसी साल कम्प्युटेशन एक रूल से हो रहा था तथा अगले साल के कम्प्युटेशन में कुछ चेंजेज हो गए, तब वह उसी साल के लिए अप्लाई करता है। अगर मान लीजिए कि हम हर साल सब्सटेंटिव को क्लैरिफाई करें कि वर्ष 2021-22 का सब्सटैंटिव लॉ यह था। अब हम अगले साल भी वर्ष 2021-22 का सब्सटेंटिव लॉ के बारे में भी बताते हैं। इसी प्रकार से अगले 10 साल के लिए भी हम सब्सटेंटिव लॉ के बारे में बताएंगे।

239.5.5 Elaborating on the same Clause, the Ministry further submitted as follows:

Sir, conceptually, the suggestion that is being made is a welcome suggestion because once we have the master circular, that brings clarity and certainty to the taxpayers also. Once we come up with this Act, since the sections have changed, we will have to come up with a master circular. Administratively, we will have to see whether in subsequent years those master circulars would be standalone circulars and how do we present them so that it brings clarity and does not add to confusion. But conceptually, to provide clarity is an important thing and we would in any case come up with one master circular.

239.5.6 With respect to Committee's query whether structural changes have taken place now in the Bill, the Ministry submitted as follows:

My point was that since these sections have also changed, the circulars which referred to sections of Income-tax Act 1961, would have to change because the new sections would be there. Therefore, those circulars would be updated and a compendium of master circulars would be there. Once we come out with that, it will provide clarity and guidance to the taxpayer as well as to the tax officer. Subsequently, we will have to see how we update that master circular.

239.5.7 Further, to Committee's clarification whether master law is a substantive law or a procedural law or is it just a rule, the Ministry replied as follows:

Sir, this is part of the delegated legislation. It could be clarificatory also. It could be some instruction to the officers also. It could be different issues on which these circulars are brought out. Till now, what has happened is that when these circulars are taken out, they refer to the particular sections to which these circulars pertain. Naturally, with this new Act, the provisions and the sections would change. Therefore, we will have to come up with an updated master circular which will be a compendium of all the circulars. Subsequently, we will have to see how we update it as we move along in different years. It is because Income-tax Act is a dynamic Act and amendments take place frequently. That would be an administrative call.

239.5.8 When deliberated about consolidating all circulars issued which are relevant for the tax year, the Committee sought clarification from the Ministry. They have stated as follows:

सर, उनकी दूसरी डिमांड यह है कि हरेक साल पुराने कौन-कौन से परिपत्र लागू होंगे। यह हो सकता है कि एक साल के लिए परिपत्र लागू हो रहा हो, दो साल के लिए लागू हो रहा हो, इसमें आगे सालों के लिए कितने सारे ऑलरेडी रिडन्डेंट हो चुके हैं। इनका कहना है कि आप हरेक साल इसका लिस्ट दीजिए कि कौन-कौन से सर्कुलर इस साल के लिए लागू होंगे और हर साल उसको आप अपडेट करते चलिए।सर, जैसा कि चेयरमैन साहब ने कहा कि नये बिल के लिए एक मास्टर सर्कुलर तो हमें अभी लाना ही पड़ेगा, क्योंकि सब क्लॉजेज चेंज हो गए हैं। इसके बाद हम एग्जामिन कर लेंगे कि यह प्रशासनिक रूप से कितना फिजिबल होगा या लोगों के लिए कितनी सहूलियत होगी। इसको हम लोग हर साल अपडेट करेंगे। इस साल के लिए पुराना सर्कुलर लागू होगा या नहीं होगा, उसके लिए चेंजेज करते रहना चाहिए।

239.5.9 The Ministry upon deliberating on the Clause have apprised the Committee as follows:

सर, एक बड़ी इंट्रेस्टिंग एक्सरसाइज हुई। जब यूके और आस्ट्रेलिया में एक्ट को सिंप्लीफाई किया गया, तो यूके ने 14 साल लिए, आस्ट्रेलिया ने 3-4 साल लिए। उनका जो पुराना एक्ट था, वह कुछ सौ पेजेज़ का था। जब वह सिंपलीफाई हुआ, तो कुछ हजार पेजेज़ का हो गया। वह करीब चार या पांच हजार पेजेज़ का हो गया। हम लोगों ने एग्जामिन किया कि यह चार-पांच हजार पेजेज़ का क्यों हो गया? उनके वाल्यूम्स भी चेंज हो गए। एक वाल्यूम पांच वाल्यूम में हो गया। जो मास्टर सर्कुलर की चर्चा हो रही है, मैं उसी के संदर्भ में बोल रहा हूं। उन्होंने गाइडेंस नोट्स बनाए, इलैबोरेट किया, जिससे कि क्लेरिटी आए, एग्जाम्पल्स वगैरह दिए। आपने देखा होगा कि जब यह इनकम टैक्स बिल इंट्रोड्यूस हुआ, तो हमने उसके नेक्स्ट डे गाइडेंस नोट्स निकाले, एफएक्यूज़ निकाले, जिससे कि जो भी संभावनाएं या प्रश्न उठते हैं, तो उन प्रश्नों का हम जवाब दे पाएं, तो हमने उसे दिया। टैक्सपेयर्स और स्टेकहोल्डर्स की जो कैरीज़ थीं, वे वहीं के वहीं एफएक्यू से एड्रेस हो गई। So, going forward, हमारी यही अप्रोच भी है कि जब हम लैंगुएज को सिंप्लीफाई कर रहे हैं तो हम क्लेरिटी लाएं। The master circular is also one of the ways in which we could bring clarity. We are on that. We would come out with a master circular which is one reference document. As has been pointed out, since the Income-Tax Act is a dynamic Act and it frequently gets changed, we will have to see that all the other years, how do we actually further take it forward. But then, the concept of master circular is a welcome concept.

239.5.10 Further, the Ministry have also stated as follows:

सर, जैसा चेयरमैन साहब और मेबर साहब ने बताया कि डिपार्टमेंट को टैक्सपेयर के पॉइंट ऑफ व्यू से अगर देखें, जिस आदमी को टैक्स देना है तो दो बेसिक प्रिंसिपल्स हैं, जो आप लोगों ने हमें बताया। एक तो यह है कि जो हम सर्कुलर की भाषा लिखें, वह इस एक्ट के ही डायरेक्शन में चले, मतलब सरल भाषा लिखें, आराम से समझ में आने वाली भाषा लिखें। इसमें कोई दो बात नहीं है। अभी भी जो ड्रॉफ्टिंग हो रही है, वह उसी अप्रोच से हो रही है।

दूसरा, जो मास्टर सर्कुलर टर्मिनोलॉजी का प्रयोग हुआ है, उससे शायद थोड़ा सा कन्फ्यूजन क्रिएट हुआ है। डिपार्टमेंट ने अपना पॉइंट ऑफ व्यू बताने की कोशिश की है। हम चाह रहे हैं कि जो टैक्स पेयर है, उसको एक सिंगल पॉइंट ऑफ रेफरेंस मिल जाए। वह कहीं भी जाए, आज मैं कंपनी हूं, एक एनजीओ हूं या एक पर्सन हूं, मुझे टैक्स रिटर्न फाइल करना है, समझना है, तो मेरे लिए क्या-क्या वैलिड है, वह एक जगह पर रेफरेंस में मिल जाए।

यहां यह समझाने की कोशिश की गई थी कि डिफरेंट टाइप ऑफ टैक्सपेयर्स हैं, उनकी डिफरेंट टाइप ऑफ इनकम्स हैं और उनकी इनकम का ट्रीटमेंट भी अलग-अलग है। टैक्स का लॉ भी इस तरह का है। दूसरा, वह सालाना बदलता रहता है। जब हम मास्टर सर्कुलर की बात करते हैं। मैं सिर्फ टर्मिनोलॉजी की बात कर रहा हूं, अप्रोच की बात नहीं कर रहा हूं। आपका प्रिंसिपल है कि टैक्सपेयर को एक जगह पर रेफरेंस मिले, डिपार्टमेंट को उसमें कोई इश्यू नहीं है। हम लोग कोशिश करेंगे कि एक जगह पर रेफरेंस मिले। मास्टर सर्कुलर की जो टर्मिनोलॉजी है, इसमें मास्टर सर्कुलर के कांसेप्ट को एक पॉइंट ऑफ रेफरेंस में लें और उस रेफरेंस को हम अपने सिस्टम में कैसे क्रिएट करें, तो आज भी व्यवस्था है कि अगर हम चाहें तो सर्च करके उसे ढूंढ सकते हैं। उस व्यवस्था को थोड़ा डिटेल में मैं अपने लेवल पर, चेयरमैन के साथ बैठकर रिव्यू करूंगा। हमारी यही कोशिश रहेगी कि भाषा सरल हो और एक व्यक्ति को एक पॉइंट ऑफ

रेफरेंस मिले। वह मास्टर सर्कुलर के रूप में कर पाएंगे या एक रेफरेंसट सिस्टम ऐसा बना देंगे कि उसको दिक्कत न हो।

239.5.11 Further in their written reply, the Ministry have submitted as follows:

Since the new IT Bill would involve new sections, the existing circulars based on IT Act, 1961 shall be examined and suitably modified by also cutting redundancies. A compendium of modified circulars would be drawn. Further, tax laws are applicable in respect of a tax year. For every tax year, there may be change in the position of law. Therefore, any circular issued at any time has applicability to the facts and law as stated in that circular and for years as stated therein. The position continues to undergo change in subsequent years on account of changes in law and also on account of court judgments. Therefore, Master Circular in the nature of issue-wise compendium of circulars which are applicable as on date will be accordingly considered.

239.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

239.6.1 The Committee, upon detailed deliberations on various provisions of the Clause, find a missing reference to Clauses 288 and 408 in Clause 239(3)(a) and therefore recommend for insertion thereof for better clarity and to align it with the provisions of the Act.

239.6.2 Apart from the above recommendations, the Committee find the clause to be adequate and in line with the corresponding section of the 1961 Act and accept the same as it stands.

Clause 240– Taxpayer's Charter.

240.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

The Board shall adopt and declare a Charter for Taxpayers and issue such orders, instructions, directions or guidelines to other income-tax authorities as it considers fit for the administration of such Charter.

240.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Taxpayer's Charter.

119A. The Board shall adopt and declare a Taxpayer's Charter and issue such orders, instructions, directions or guidelines to other income-tax authorities as it may deem fit for the administration of such Charter.

240.3Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 240 of the Bill provides for provisions relating to Taxpayer's Charter. The clause corresponds to section 119A of the Act. There are no changes in the provisions of clause 240 in comparison to existing provisions of section 119A.

240.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note the justification provided by the Ministry and find the provisions of the Clause 240 in line with the existing provisions and a textual simplification and therefore accept the Clause as proposed.

Clause 241– Jurisdiction of income-tax authorities

241.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) The income-tax authorities shall exercise all or any of the powers and perform all or any of the functions conferred on, or assigned to, such authorities under this Act as per such directions as the Board may issue for the exercise of the powers and performance of the functions by all or any of those authorities.

(2) Any income-tax authority, being an authority higher in rank, may, if so directed by the Board, exercise the powers and perform the functions of an income-tax authority lower in rank and any such direction issued by the Board shall be deemed to be a direction issued under sub-section (1).

(3) The directions of the Board under sub-section (1) may authorise any other income-tax authority to issue orders in writing for the exercise of the powers and performance of the functions by all or any of the other income-tax authorities who are subordinate to it.

(4) In issuing the directions or orders referred to in sub-sections (1), (2)and (3), the Board or other income-tax authority authorised by it may have regard to any one or more of the following criteria:—

(a) territorial area;

(b) persons or classes of persons;

(c) incomes or classes of income; and

(d) cases or classes of cases.

(5) Without prejudice to sub-sections (1), (2) and (3), the Board may, by general or special order, subject to such conditions, restrictions or limitations as specified therein––

(a) authorise any Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director to perform such functions of any other income-tax authority as may be assigned to him by the Board;

(b) empower the specified income-tax authorityto issue orders in writing that the powers and functions assigned to the Assessing Officer under this Act in respect of any specified area, or persons or classes of persons, or incomes or classes of income, or cases or classes of cases, shall be exercised or performed by an Additional Commissioner or an Additional Director or a Joint Commissioner or a Joint Director.

(6) Where any order is made under sub-section (5)(b), references in any other provision of this Act or in any rule made thereunder, to the Assessing Officer shall be deemed to be references to such Additional Commissioner or Additional Director or Joint Commissioner or Joint Director by whom the powers and functions are to be exercised or performed under such order, and any provision of this Act requiring approval or sanction of the Joint Commissioner shall not apply.

(7) The directions and orders referred to in sub-sections (1), (2) and (3) may, wherever considered necessary or appropriate for the proper management of work, require two or more Assessing Officers (whether or not of the same class) to exercise and perform, concurrently, the powers and functions in respect of any area, or persons or classes of persons, or incomes or classes of income, or cases or classes of cases, and—

(a) where such powers and functions are exercised and performed concurrently by the Assessing Officers of different classes, any authority lower in rank amongst them shall exercise the powers and perform the functions as any higher authority amongst them may direct; and

(b) references in any other provision of this Act or in any rule made thereunder to the Assessing Officer shall be deemed to be references to such higher authority and any provision of this Act requiring approval or sanction of any such authority shall not apply.

(8) Irrespective of anything contained in any direction or order issued under this section, or in section 242, the Board may, by notification, issue any direction for the purposes of furnishing of the return of income or the doing of any other act or thing under this Act or any rule made thereunder by any person or class of persons.

(9) The income-tax authority exercising and performing the powers and functions in relation to the person or class of persons referred to in sub-section (8) shall be such authority as specified in the notification issued under that sub-section.

241.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Jurisdiction of income-tax authorities.

120. (1) Income-tax authorities shall exercise all or any of the powers and perform all or any of the functions conferred on, or, as the case may be, assigned to such authorities by or under this Act in accordance with such directions as the Board may issue for the exercise of the powers and performance of the functions by all or any of those authorities.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that any income-tax authority, being an authority higher in rank, may, if so directed by the Board, exercise the powers and perform the functions of the income-tax authority lower in rank and any such direction issued by the Board shall be deemed to be a direction issued under sub-section (1).

(2) The directions of the Board under sub-section (1) may authorise any other income-tax authority to issue orders in writing for the exercise of the powers and performance of the functions by all or any of the other income-tax authorities who are subordinate to it.

(3) In issuing the directions or orders referred to in sub-sections (1) and (2), the Board or other income-tax authority authorised by it may have regard to any one or more of the following criteria, namely :—

(a) territorial area;

(b) persons or classes of persons;

(c) incomes or classes of income; and

(d) cases or classes of cases.

(4) Without prejudice to the provisions of sub-sections (1) and (2), the Board may, by general or special order, and subject to such conditions, restrictions or limitations as may be specified therein,—

(a) authorise any Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director to perform such functions of any other income-tax authority as may be assigned to him by the Board;

(b) empower the Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner to issue orders in writing that the powers and functions conferred on, or as the case may be, assigned to, the Assessing Officer by or under this Act in respect of any specified area or persons or classes of persons or incomes or classes of income or cases or classes of cases, shall be exercised or performed by an Additional Commissioner or an Additional Director or a Joint Commissioner or a Joint Director, and, where any order is made under this clause, references in any other provision of this Act, or in any rule made thereunder to the Assessing Officer shall be deemed to be references to such Additional Commissioner or Additional Director or Joint Commissioner or Joint Director by whom the powers and functions are to be exercised or performed under such order, and any provision of this Act requiring approval or sanction of the Joint Commissioner shall not apply.

(5) The directions and orders referred to in sub-sections (1) and (2) may, wherever considered necessary or appropriate for the proper management of the work, require two or more Assessing Officers (whether or not of the same class) to exercise and perform, concurrently, the powers and functions in respect of any area or persons or classes of persons or incomes or classes of income or cases or classes of cases; and, where such powers and functions are exercised and performed concurrently by the Assessing Officers of different classes, any authority lower in rank amongst them shall exercise the powers and perform the functions as any higher authority amongst them may direct, and, further, references in any other provision of this Act or in any rule made thereunder to the Assessing Officer shall be deemed to be references to such higher authority and any provision of this Act requiring approval or sanction of any such authority shall not apply.

(6) Notwithstanding anything contained in any direction or order issued under this section, or in section 124, the Board may, by notification in the Official Gazette, direct that for the purpose of furnishing of the return of income or the doing of any other act or thing under this Act or any rule made thereunder by any person or class of persons, the income-tax authority exercising and performing the powers and functions in relation to the said person or class of persons shall be such authority as may be specified in the notification.

241.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 241 of the Bill provides for provisions relating to Jurisdiction of income-tax authorities.The clause corresponds to section 120 of the Act.There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

241.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, upon examination and the justification provided by the Ministry, find the provisions of the Clause 241, as a textual simplification of the existing provisions of the 1961 Act and therefore accept the Clause as it stands.

Clause 242– Jurisdiction of Assessing Officers

242.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Where an Assessing Officer has been vested with jurisdiction over any area by virtue of any direction or order issued under section 241(1) or (2) or (3), he shall have jurisdiction within the limits of such area,—

(a) in respect of any person carrying on a business or profession, if the place at which he carries on his business or profession is situated within the area, or where his business or profession is carried on in more places than one, if the principal place of his business or profession is situated within the area; and

(b) in respect of any other person residing within the area.

(2) Where a question arises under this section as to whether an Assessing Officer has jurisdiction to assess any person, the question shall be determined by the specified income-tax authority.

(3) Where under this section, a question arises relating to areas within the jurisdiction of different specified income-tax authorities, the question shall be determined—

(a) by the concerned specified income-tax authority concerned; or

(b) if they are not in agreement, by the Board or by such specified income-tax authority as the Board may, by notification, specify.

(4) No person shall call in question the jurisdiction of an Assessing Officer,—

(a) where he has made a return under section 263(1), after the expiry of one month from the date on which he was served with a notice under section 268(1) or 270(8) or after the completion of the assessment, whichever is earlier;

(b) where he has made no such return, after the expiry of the time allowed by the notice under section 268(1) or 280(2) for the making of the return or by the notice under section 271(2) to show cause why the assessment should not be completed to the best of the judgment of the Assessing Officer, whichever is earlier;

(c) where an action has been taken under section 247 or 248, after the expiry of one month from the date on which he was served with a notice under section 153C(2) of the Income-tax Act, 1961 or section 294(1)(a) or after the completion of the assessment, whichever is earlier.

(5) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (4), where an assessee calls in question the jurisdiction of an Assessing Officer, then the Assessing Officer shall, if not satisfied with the correctness of the claim, refer the matter for determination under sub-section (2) or (3) before the assessment is made.

(6) Irrespective of anything contained in this section or in any direction or order issued under section 241, every Assessing Officer shall have all the powers conferred under this Act on an Assessing Officer in respect of the income accruing or arising or received within the area, if any, over which he has been vested with jurisdiction by virtue of the directions or orders issued under section 241(1) or. (2) or (3) or section (4).

242.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Jurisdiction of Assessing Officers.

124. (1) Where by virtue of any direction or order issued under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) of section 120, the Assessing Officer has been vested with jurisdiction over any area, within the limits of such area, he shall have jurisdiction—

(a) in respect of any person carrying on a business or profession, if the place at which he carries on his business or profession is situate within the area, or where his business or profession is carried on in more places than one, if the principal place of his business or profession is situate within the area, and

(b) in respect of any other person residing within the area.

(2) Where a question arises under this section as to whether an Assessing Officer has jurisdiction to assess any person, the question shall be determined by the Principal Director General or Director General or the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or the Principal Commissioner or Commissioner; or where the question is one relating to areas within the jurisdiction of different Principal Directors General or Directors General or Principal Chief Commissioners or Chief Commissioners or Principal Commissioners or Commissioners, by the Principal Directors General or Directors General or Principal Chief Commissioners or Chief Commissioners or Principal Commissioners or Commissioners concerned or, if they are not in agreement, by the Board or by such Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner as the Board may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify.

(3) No person shall be entitled to call in question the jurisdiction of an Assessing Officer—

(a) where he has made a return under sub-section (1) of section 115WD or under sub-section (1) of section 139, after the expiry of one month from the date on which he was served with a notice under sub-section (1) of section 142 or sub-section (2) of section 115WE or sub-section (2) of section 143 or after the completion of the assessment, whichever is earlier;

(b) where he has made no such return, after the expiry of the time allowed by the notice under sub-section (2) of section 115WD or sub-section (1) of section 142 or under sub-section (1) of section 115WH or under section 148 for the making of the return or by the notice under the first proviso to section 115WF or under the first proviso to section 144 to show cause why the assessment should not be completed to the best of the judgment of the Assessing Officer, whichever is earlier;

(c) where an action has been taken under section 132 or section 132A, after the expiry of one month from the date on which he was served with a notice under sub-section (1) of section 153A or sub-section (2) of section 153C or after the completion of the assessment, whichever is earlier.

(4) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (3), where an assessee calls in question the jurisdiction of an Assessing Officer, then the Assessing Officer shall, if not satisfied with the correctness of the claim, refer the matter for determination under sub-section (2) before the assessment is made.

(5) Notwithstanding anything contained in this section or in any direction or order issued under section 120, every Assessing Officer shall have all the powers conferred by or under this Act on an Assessing Officer in respect of the income accruing or arising or received within the area, if any, over which he has been vested with jurisdiction by virtue of the directions or orders issued under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) of section 120.

242.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 242 of the Bill provides for provisions relating to Jurisdiction of Assessing Officers. The clause corresponds to section 124 of the Act. There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. Redundant provisions of section 124 related to reference to sections 115WD, 115WE, 115WF, 115WH and 115WJ has been omitted as they relate to fringe benefit tax which is no longer on statute

242.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

A gist of the suggestions received from the stakeholder is as under:

242.4.1 Sub-section (6) may be redrafted as under ‘Irrespective of anything contained in this section or in any direction or order issued under section 241, every Assessing Officer shall have all the powers conferred under this Act on an Assessing Officer in respect of the income, if any, accruing or arising or received within the area, if any, over which he has been vested with jurisdiction by virtue of the directions or orders issued under section 241(1) or. (2) or (3) or section (4)'. For the sake of clarity and proper interpretation, the expression 'if any' should be construed with reference to the term 'income' and not with the phrase 'within the area'.

242.5 Examination by the Committee:

242.5.1 In response to the above suggestion, the Ministry has submitted as under: "The suggestion seeks to redraft the clause 242(6) [s.120] for better clarity. The suggestion is in nature of drafting correction and acceptable."

242.5.2 In a written reply to a point regarding jurisdiction of an assessing officer The Ministry stated as under:

> Suggestion seeks to add the phrase "For the purposes of this Act," at the beginning of Clause 242(1). Clause 241 deals with the jurisdiction of the Assessing Officers. There is no change in this provision of the Bill vis-à-vis the provision of the Act. Sub-clause 242(1) refers to the direction or order referred to in clause 241 by virtue of which the Assessing Officer shall exercise certain functions. Clause 241 itself refers to income-tax authorities exercising powers "under this Act". Hence, the suggestion has already been addressed. Adding the words "For the purposes of this Act," in Clause 242(1) shall not bring any tangible drafting improvement.

242.5.3 As regards query whether the sub-clause 4(c) of Clause 242 could be revised and self-contained without any reference to Income-Tax Act, 1961, which is to be repealed, the Ministry stated: "The same shall be examined in consultation with the Ministry of Law."

242.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

242.6.1 The Committee, upon deliberations on the Clause, note that there is a drafting error in sub-clause (6) which needed to be re-drafted for better clarity and the same is acceptable to the Ministry. The Committee, therefore, recommend that the phrase 'if any,' at Line No. 28 may be removed and be placed at Line no. 27 after 'income' so as to clearly explain the intent of the sub-clause.

242.6.2 The Committee further note a cross reference in sub-clause 4(c) to the 1961 Act, which is proposed to be repealed. Therefore, the Committee recommend the Ministry to remove the reference to the old Act, 1961 from the body of the Bill itself by clubbing it in the Savings clause coherently and accept the remaining portion of the proposed Clause 242 without any further change.

242.6.3 The Committee other than recommending the Ministry to carry out the necessary changes, find the provisions to be a textual simplification and accept the Clause as proposed.

Clause 243– Power to transfer cases.

243.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) The specified income-tax authority may transfer any case from one or more Assessing Officers subordinate to him (whether with or without concurrent jurisdiction) to any other Assessing Officer or Assessing Officers (whether with or without concurrent jurisdiction) subordinate to him.

(2) If the Assessing Officer or Assessing Officers, from whom the case is to be transferred and the Assessing Officer or Assessing Officers, to whom the case is to be transferred are not subordinate to the same specified income-tax authority, and the concerned specified income-tax authorities—

(a) are in agreement, then the specified income-tax authority from whose jurisdiction the case is to be transferred may pass the order;

(b) are not in agreement, the order transferring the case may be passed by the Board or any such specified income-tax authority as the Board may, by notification, specify.

(3) The order of transfer under sub-section (1) or (2) may be passed by the specified income-tax authority after giving the assessee a reasonable opportunity of being heard wherever it is possible to do so and after recording his reasons therefor.

(4) Nothing in sub-section (1) or (2) or (3) shall be considered to require any opportunity of being heard to be given, where the transfer is from any Assessing Officer or Assessing Officers (whether with or without concurrent jurisdiction) to any other Assessing Officer or Assessing Officers (whether with or without concurrent jurisdiction) and the offices of all such officers are situated in the same city, locality or place.

(5) The transfer of a case under sub-section (1) or (2) may be made at any stage of the proceedings, and it shall not be necessary to re-issue any notice already issued by the Assessing Officer or Assessing Officers from whom the case is transferred.

(6) For the purposes of section 241 and this section, “case”, in relation to any person whose name is specified in any order or direction issued thereunder, means all proceedings under this Act in respect of any year, which may—

(a) be pending on the date of that order or direction; or

(b) have been completed on or before such date; or

(c) be commenced after the date of such order or direction in respect of any year.

(7) For the purposes of sections 241, 242 and this section, "specified income-tax authority" means the Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner.

243.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Power to transfer cases.

127. (1) The Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner may, after giving the assessee a reasonable opportunity of being heard in the matter, wherever it is possible to do so, and after recording his reasons for doing so, transfer any case from one or more Assessing Officers subordinate to him (whether with or without concurrent jurisdiction) to any other Assessing Officer or Assessing Officers (whether with or without concurrent jurisdiction) also subordinate to him.

(2) Where the Assessing Officer or Assessing Officers from whom the case is to be transferred and the Assessing Officer or Assessing Officers to whom the case is to be transferred are not subordinate to the same Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner,—

(a) where the Principal Directors General or Directors General or Principal Chief Commissioners or Chief Commissioners or Principal Commissioners or Commissioners to whom such Assessing Officers are subordinate are in agreement, then the Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner from whose jurisdiction the case is to be transferred may, after giving the assessee a reasonable opportunity of being heard in the matter, wherever it is possible to do so, and after recording his reasons for doing so, pass the order;

(b) where the Principal Directors General or Directors General or Principal Chief Commissioners or Chief Commissioners or Principal Commissioners or Commissioners aforesaid are not in agreement, the order transferring the case may, similarly, be passed by the Board or any such Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner as the Board may, by notification in the Official Gazette, authorise in this behalf.

(3) Nothing in sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) shall be deemed to require any such opportunity to be given where the transfer is from any Assessing Officer or Assessing Officers (whether with or without concurrent jurisdiction) to any other Assessing Officer or Assessing Officers (whether with or without concurrent jurisdiction) and the offices of all such officers are situated in the same city, locality or place.

(4) The transfer of a case under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) may be made at any stage of the proceedings, and shall not render necessary the re-issue of any notice already issued by the Assessing Officer or Assessing Officers from whom the case is transferred.

Explanation.—In section 120 and this section, the word "case", in relation to any person whose name is specified in any order or direction issued thereunder, means all proceedings under this Act in respect of any year which may be pending on the date of such order or direction or which may have been completed on or before such date, and includes also all proceedings under this Act which may be commenced after the date of such order or direction in respect of any year.

243.3 Reasons Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 243 of the Bill provides for provisions relating to power to transfer cases.The clause corresponds to section 127 of the Act.There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

243.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note the justification provided by the Ministry and find the provisions of the Clause 243 in line with the existing provisions and a textual simplification and therefore accept the Clause as proposed.

Clause 244– Change of incumbent of an office

244.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Whenever, in respect of any proceeding under this Act, an income-tax authority ceases to exercise jurisdiction and is succeeded by another who has and exercises jurisdiction, the income-tax authority so succeeding may continue the proceeding from the stage at which the proceeding was left by his predecessor.

(2) Before the proceeding referred to in sub-section (1) is so continued, the assessee concerned may demand that—

(a) the previous proceeding or any part thereof be reopened; or (b) he be reheard before any order of assessment is passed against him.

244.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Change of incumbent of an office.

129. Whenever in respect of any proceeding under this Act an income-tax authority ceases to exercise jurisdiction and is succeeded by another who has and exercises jurisdiction, the income-tax authority so succeeding may continue the proceeding from the stage at which the proceeding was left by his predecessor:

Provided that the assessee concerned may demand that before the proceeding is so continued the previous proceeding or any part thereof be reopened or that before any order of assessment is passed against him, he be reheard.

244.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 244 of the Bill provides for change of an incumbent of an office. The clause corresponds to section 129 of the Act. There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

244.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, upon examination and the justification provided by the Ministry, find the provisions of the Clause 244 in line with the corresponding provisions of the 1961 Act. Therefore, the Committee accept the Clause as proposed.

Clause 245– Faceless jurisdiction of income-tax authorities

245.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) The exercise of following powers for the purposes mentioned in sub-section (2) shall be as per a Scheme made by the Central Government:—

(a) all or any of the powers and performance of all or any of the functions conferred on, or, assigned to, income-tax authorities under this Act referred to in section 241; or

(b) vesting the jurisdiction with the Assessing Officer under section 242; or

(c) power to transfer cases under section 243; or

(d) exercise of jurisdiction in case of change of incumbency under section 244.

(2) The purposes of the Scheme referred to in sub-section (1) shall be to impart greater efficiency, transparency and accountability by—

(a) eliminating the interface between the income-tax authority and the assessee or any other person, to the extent technologically feasible;

(b) optimising utilisation of the resources through economies of scale and functional specialisation;

(c) introducing a team-based exercise of powers and performance of functions by two or more income-tax authorities, concurrently, in respect of any area, or persons or classes of persons, or incomes or classes of income, or cases or classes of cases, with dynamic jurisdiction.

(3) The Central Government may, for the purpose of giving effect to the Scheme made under sub-section (1), by notification, direct that any of the provisions of this Act shall not apply or shall apply with such exceptions, modifications and adaptations as specified in such notification.

(4) Every notification issued under sub-sections (1) and (3) shall, as soon as may be after the notification is issued, be laid before each House of Parliament.

245.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Faceless jurisdiction of income-tax authorities.

130. (1) The Central Government may make a scheme, by notification in the Official Gazette, for the purposes of—

(a) exercise of all or any of the powers and performance of all or any of the functions conferred on, or, as the case may be, assigned to income-tax authorities by or under this Act as referred to in section 120; or (b) vesting the jurisdiction with the Assessing Officer as referred to in section 124; or

(c) exercise of power to transfer cases under section 127; or

(d) exercise of jurisdiction in case of change of incumbency as referred to in section 129, so as to impart greater efficiency, transparency and accountability by—

(i) eliminating the interface between the income-tax authority and the assessee or any other person, to the extent technologically feasible;

(ii) optimising utilisation of the resources through economies of scale and functional specialisation;

(iii) introducing a team-based exercise of powers and performance of functions by two or more income-tax authorities, concurrently, in respect of any area or persons or classes of persons or incomes or classes of income or cases or classes of cases, with dynamic jurisdiction.

(2) The Central Government may, for the purpose of giving effect to the scheme made under sub-section (1), by notification in the Official Gazette, direct that any of the provisions of this Act shall not apply or shall apply with such exceptions, modifications and adaptations as may be specified in the notification:

Provided that no direction shall be issued after the 31st day of March, 2022.

(3) Every notification issued under sub-section (1) and sub-section (2) shall, as soon as may be after the notification is issued, be laid before each House of Parliament.

245.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 245 of the Bill provides for Faceless Jurisdiction of income-tax authorities.The clause corresponds to section 130 of the Act.The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

245.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, upon examination and the justification given by the Ministry, find the provisions of the Clause 245 to be in line with the existing provisions of 1961 Act and being a textual simplification, the Committee accept the Clause as proposed.

Clause 246– Power regarding discovery, production of evidence, etc.

246.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) The Assessing Officer, Joint Commissioner, Joint Commissioner (Appeals), Commissioner (Appeals), Commissioner or Principal Commissioner, or Chief Commissioner or Principal Chief Commissioner and the Dispute Resolution Panel referred to in section 275(17)(a), shall, for the purposes of this Act, have the same powers as are vested in a court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, when trying a suit in respect of the following matters:—

(a) discovery and inspection;

(b) enforcing the attendance of any person, including any officer of a banking company and examining him on oath;

(c) compelling the production of books of account and other documents; and

(d) issuing commissions.

(2) The powers conferred under sub-section (1) may also be exercised, in respect of any person or class of persons, even when there are no proceedings pending with respect to such person or class of persons, by the following income-tax authorities:—

(a) any income-tax authority (not below the rank of Assistant Commissioner of Income-tax) notified by the Board, for the purposes of making any inquiry or investigation in relation to an agreement referred to in section 159;

(b) the Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director or Joint Director or Assistant Director for the purposes of making any inquiry or investigation, if he has the reason to suspect that any income has been concealed, or is likely to be concealed; and (c) the authorised officer referred to in section 247(1), before taking action under section 247(1)(b)(i) to (viii), or during the course of such action.

(3) Any income-tax authority exercising the powers referred to in sub-sections (1) and (2) may, subject to the rules made in this behalf, impound any books of account or other documents produced before it in any proceeding under this Act.

(4) The Assessing Officer or the Assistant Director shall record the reasons for impounding any books of account or other documents under sub-section (3) and may retain such impounded books of account or other documents up to fifteen days (exclusive of holidays), or for such further period, with the prior sanction of the approving authority.

246.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Power regarding discovery, production of evidence, etc.

131. (1) The Assessing Officer, Deputy Commissioner (Appeals), Joint Commissioner [74][, Joint Commissioner (Appeals)], Commissioner (Appeals), Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner and the Dispute Resolution Panel referred to in clause (a) of sub-section (15) of section 144C shall, for the purposes of this Act, have the same powers as are vested in a court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908), when trying a suit in respect of the following matters, namely :—

(a) discovery and inspection;

(b) enforcing the attendance of any person, including any officer of a banking company and examining him on oath;

(c) compelling the production of books of account and other documents; and

(d) issuing commissions.

(1A) If the Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director or Joint Director or Assistant Director or Deputy Director, or the authorised officer referred to in sub-section (1) of section 132 before he takes action under clauses (i) to (v) of that sub-section, has reason to suspect that any income has been concealed, or is likely to be concealed, by any person or class of persons, within his jurisdiction, then, for the purposes of making any enquiry or investigation relating thereto, it shall be competent for him to exercise the powers conferred under sub-section (1) on the income-tax authorities referred to in that sub-section, notwithstanding that no proceedings with respect to such person or class of persons are pending before him or any other income-tax authority.

(2) For the purpose of making an inquiry or investigation in respect of any person or class of persons in relation to an agreement referred to in section 90 or section 90A, it shall be competent for any income-tax authority not below the rank of Assistant Commissioner of Income-tax, as may be notified by the Board in this behalf, to exercise the powers conferred under sub-section (1) on the income-tax authorities referred to in that sub-section, notwithstanding that no proceedings with respect to such person or class of persons are pending before it or any other income-tax authority.

(3) Subject to any rules made in this behalf, any authority referred to in sub-section (1) or sub-section (1A) or sub-section (2) may impound and retain in its custody for such period as it thinks fit any books of account or other documents produced before it in any proceeding under this Act :

Provided that an Assessing Officer or an Assistant Director or Deputy Director shall not—

(a) impound any books of account or other documents without recording his reasons for so doing, or

(b) retain in his custody any such books or documents for a period exceeding fifteen days (exclusive of holidays) without obtaining the approval of the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner or Principal Director or Director therefor, as the case may be.

246.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 246 of the Bill provides for power regarding discovery, production of evidence, etc. The clause corresponds to section 131 of the Act. There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. However, reference of DCIT (Appeals) has been omitted considering that no such authority exists as on date.

246.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

246.4.1 A gist of the suggestions received from a stakeholder is as under:

i. The powers given to the authorities under section 246(2)(b) shall be removed and restored to the powers available u/s 131(1A) of the Income-tax Act, 1961. Such powers should be exercised by the officer within whose jurisdiction, the person is situated to avoid unnecessary harassment to the assessee and not by any authority without jurisdictional restrictions.
ii. There should be an upper limit for retention and it cannot be open ended.
iii. Since what is impounded are books of account or document, it should be clarified that in first preference, copies of such records should be retained, instead of original documents.
iv. Without prejudice, an option should be given to person to take copies of documents/ books of accounts if the same are impounded.
v. There should be specific provisions for documents/ books of account in electronic form to avoid confusion.

vi. Where the impounding is done, reasons have to be recorded in writing irrespective of the designation of the officer The current clause, only requires, AO, ADIT to record reasons, whereas, the powers to impound are conferred on many other officers as well.

vii. There should be a specific provision for providing a copy of statement recorded to the person, whose statement is recorded, either immediately or in a time bound manner but not later than 10 days from the date of recording of statement. The wider scope gives unbridled powers which are capable of being misused In any event there are powers to issue commissions Such powers cannot be used to making fishing and roving inquiries There should be appropriate clarification in this regard.

246.5 Examination by the Committee:

246.5.1 The corresponding replies submitted by the Ministry, in response to the suggestions above, are as under:

(i) Accepted. This is in nature of drafting correction. The suggestion seeks to amend clause 246(2)(b) to retain the jurisdiction concept in power regarding discovery, production of evidence etc so that such powers shall be exercised by the officer within whose jurisdiction the person is situated. The clause 246(2)(b) will be amended such that the original language of the existing Act's section 131(1A) is retained with inclusion of jurisdictional concept.

(ii) The suggestion seeks to amend clause 246(3) & 246(4) to set an upper limit of retention upto 15 days in line with existing Act. This limit is already provided in cl. 246(4). There is no limit in 246(3) in line with the IT Act because of a senior functionary impounds books (which is rare) he is not required to further approach any higher authority. The suggestion is already taken care of.

(iii) The suggestion seeks to amend clause 246(3) and 246(4) to provide for retention of copies of books of accounts instead of original documents. There is no change in the provision of law in the Bill as against the Act. As per Evidence Act, the primary evidence means the original books of accounts and copies thereof means secondary evidence. Secondary evidence is to be taken only when primary evidence is out of reach, or destroyed, or is publicly available or cannot be examined due to its volume. As no such condition is satisfied, the evidentiary value is satisfied only when primary evidence i.e. original books of accounts are impounded. Thus, the suggestion is not feasible.

(iv) The suggestion seeks to provide for an option to be given to person to take copies of documents/ books of accounts if the same are impounded The provisions of the Bill are same as that of the Act. The suggestion is of administrative nature. Copies of the impounded material are provided to the assessee as soon as feasible. It may not be feasible to include such provision in statute.

(v) The suggestion seeks to provide for a specific provision for impounding documents/ books of account in electronic form. Books of account may be in digital or non-digital format. The procedure of impounding for both are same so there is no need to separate the two items. Thus, the suggestion is not feasible.

(vi) The suggestion seeks to expand the scope of clause 246(4) wherein only Assessing Officer and ADIT are required to record the reasons for impounding. It is in the nature of Policy Change which is outside the scope of the Bill. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill vis-a vis Act. Where a senior functionary impounds books (which is rare) he is not required to record the reasons for impounding as the situation is rare. The suggestion is not required to be acted upon.

(vii) The suggestion seeks to provide for a specific provision for providing a copy of statement recorded to the person, whose statement is recorded, either immediately or in a time bound manner but not later than 10 days from the date of recording of statement. Copy of the sworn statement of the assessee as well as the employees of the assessee taken during the course of survey proceedings, will be provided, as and when it is proposed to be used as evidence against the assessee. Providing multiple procedural time limits adds to litigation. These are administrative matters and are taken care of administratively.

246.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

246.6.1 The Committee, upon examination of the Clause, note that sub-clause (2)(b) requires an amendment to incorporate the concept of jurisdiction for the exercise of powers related to discovery and production of evidence. Accordingly, the Committee recommend that sub-clause (2)(b) be amended to retain the original language and intent of Section 131(1A) of the existing Income-Tax Act, while specifically including the jurisdictional concept, ensuring such powers are exercised by an officer within whose jurisdiction the assessee is situated.

246.6.2 Apart from the above recommendation, the Committee find the Clause to be adequate and in line with regard to the corresponding section of the 1961 Act and hence accept the Clause as it stands, subject to the above modification.

Clause 247– Search and seizure.

247.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Where the competent authority, in consequence of information in his possession, has reason to believe that—

(a) any person to whom a summons under section 246(1) or a notice under section 268(1),—

(i) was issued to produce, or cause to be produced, any books of account or other documents or any information stored in any electronic media or a computer system, has omitted or failed to produce, or cause to be produced, such books of account or other documents or such information as required by such summons or notice; or

(ii) has been issued or might be issued, will not, or would not, produce or cause to be produced, any books of account or other documents or any information stored in an electronic media or a computer system which will be useful for, or relevant to, any proceedings under this Act; or

(b) any person is in possession of any asset or information in relation to any asset and such asset represents either wholly or partly, income or property which has not been, or would not be, disclosed, for the purposes of this Act, or the Black Money (Undisclosed Foreign Income and Assets) and Imposition of Tax Act, 2015, (herein referred to as the undisclosed income or property in this section),

then the approving authority may authorise any Joint Director or Joint Commissioner or Assistant Director or Assistant Commissioner or Income-tax Officer, or any Joint Director or Joint Commissioner, so authorised, may authorise any Assistant Director or Assistant Commissioner or Income-tax Officer, hereinafter referred to as the authorised officer to—

(i) enter and search any building, place, vessel, vehicle, aircraft where he has reason to suspect that such assets, books of account, other documents, or any information stored in an electronic media or computer systems are kept;

(ii) require any person, who is found to be in possession or control of any books of account or other documents maintained in the form of electronic record [as defined in section 2(1)(ha), (i), (j), (k), (l), (r), and (t) of the Information Technology Act, 2000], on computer systems, any information stored in an electronic media or computer systems, to afford the authorised officer with such reasonable technical and other assistance (including access code, by whatever name called) as may be necessary to enable the authorised officer to inspect any information, electronic records and communication or data contained in or available on such computer systems;

(iii) break open the lock of any door, box, locker, safe, almirah, or other receptacle for exercising the powers conferred by clause (i), to enter and search any building, place, etc., where the keys thereof or the access to such building, place, etc., is not available, or gain access by overriding the access code to any said computer system, or virtual digital space, where the access code thereof is not available;

(iv) search any person who has got out of, or is about to get into, or is in, the building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft, if the authorised officer has reason to suspect that such person has secreted about his person any such books of account, other documents, computer systems or asset;

(v) place marks of identification on any books of account or other documents or make or cause to be made extracts or copies therefrom and also from computer systems;

(vi) make a note or an inventory of any such asset, and stock-in-trade of the business, found as a result of such search;

(vii) seize any such books of account, other documents, computer systems, or asset (other than stock-in-trade of the business), found as a result of such search;

(viii) serve an order of deemed seizure, on the owner or the person who is in immediate possession or control thereof, of any valuable article or thing, which is not stock-in-trade, not to remove, part with or otherwise deal with it, except with the previous permission of the authorised officer, if it is not possible or practicable to take physical possession or removal to a safe place of such article or thing, due to its volume, weight, or other physical characteristics or it being of a dangerous nature.

(2) If any building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft referred to in sub-section (1)(i) is within the area of jurisdiction of any Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, but such income-tax authority has no jurisdiction over the person referred to in sub-section (1)(a) or(b), then, irrespective of the fact that he has no jurisdiction, it shall be competent for him to exercise the powers under sub-section (1), where he has reason to believe that any delay in getting the authorisation from the income-tax authority having jurisdiction over such person may be prejudicial to the interests of the revenue.

(3) If any Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, in consequence of information in his possession, has reason to suspect that any books of account, other documents, or any information stored in an electronic media or computer systems, or asset in respect of which an officer has been authorised by the competent authority to take action under sub-section (1)(i) to (viii) are or is kept in any building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft not mentioned in the authorisation under sub-section (1), then such Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner may, irrespective of anything contained in section 241, authorise the said officer to take action under any of the clauses aforesaid in respect of such building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft.

(4) The authorised officer may, where it is not practicable to seize, any such books of account, other documents, computer systems, asset, bank locker, bank account, for reasons other than deemed seizure under of sub-section (1)(viii),—

(a) serve an order on the owner or the person who is in immediate possession or control thereof, not to remove, part with or otherwise deal with it except with the previous permission of such officer and take such steps as may be necessary for ensuring compliance with the order; and

(b) such order shall not remain in force for a period exceeding sixty days from the date of the order and serving of such order shall not be deemed to be seizure of such books of account, other documents or assets under sub-section (1)(vii),

(5) The authorised officer may requisition the services of—

(a) any police officer or any officer of the Central Government, or of both; or

(b) any person or entity as may be approved by the Principal Chief Commissioner or the Chief Commissioner or the Principal Director General or the Director General, as per with such procedure, as prescribed, to assist him for all or any of the purposes specified in sub-sections (1) and (3) and it shall be the duty of every such officer or person or entity to comply with such requisition.

(6) The authorised officer may, during the course of any search or seizure, examine on oath any person who is found to be in possession or control or access holder of any computer systems, books of account, other documents or asset, or any other person who is present in the premises or is being searched, and—

(a) any statement made by the such person, during such examination may thereafter be used in evidence in any proceeding under this Act; and

(b) the examination of any such person may be not merely in respect of any books of account, other documents or assets found as a result of the search, but also in respect of all matters relevant for the purposes of any investigation connected with any proceeding under this Act.

(7) Where any books of account (in physical form or electronic form), other documents or asset, is found in the possession or control of any person in the course of a search, it may be presumed—

(a) that such books of account, computer systems, virtual digital space, other documents or asset, belong or belongs to such person;

(b) that the contents of such books of account, other documents, electronic content, records or communication found on such computer systems or virtual digital space, are true;

(c) that the signature and every other part of such books of account and other documents which purport to be in the handwriting of any particular person or which may reasonably be assumed to have been signed by, or to be in the handwriting of, any particular person, are in the handwriting of that person; and

(d) in the case of a document stamped, executed or attested, that it was duly stamped and executed or attested by the person by whom it purports to have been so executed or attested, and that the electronic records, data, communication, and information exchange carried out using such electronic devices is presumed to be exchanged between the parties thereto.

(8) The authorised officer may, by order in writing, provisionally attach any property belonging to the assessee, during the course of the search or seizure, or within sixty days from the date of execution of the last of the authorisations for the search and such provisional attachment shall—

(a) be made, if the authorised officer is satisfied, after recording the reasons in writing, that it is necessary to do so in the interest of the revenue, with the prior approval of Principal Director General or Director General or the Principal Director or Director;

(b) be valid for six months from the end of the month in which the order of provisional attachment is made, and the rules prescribed as referred to in section 413 shall, mutatis mutandis, apply to such provisional attachment.

(9) The authorised officer may, during the course of the search or seizure, or within sixty days from the date on which the last of the authorisations for search was executed, make a reference to a Valuation Officer, or any person registered as a value under section 514, or any person or entity registered by or under any law enforce, requiring him to—

(a) estimate the fair market value of the property in the manner, as prescribed; and

(b) submit a report of the estimate to the authorised officer or the Assessing Officer, within sixty days from the date of receipt of such reference.

(10) The provisions of the BharatiyaNagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 relating to searches and seizure shall apply, so far as may be, to search and seizure under this section.

(11) The Board may make rules in relation to any search or seizure under this section including providing for the procedure to be followed by the authorised officer—

(a) for obtaining ingress into any building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft to be searched where free ingress thereto is not available; and

(b) for ensuring safe custody of any books of account or other documents or assets seized.

247.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Search and seizure.

132. (1) Where the Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director or the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner or Additional Director or Additional Commissioner or Joint Director or Joint Commissioner in consequence of information in his possession, has reason to believe that—

(a) any person to whom a summons under sub-section (1) of section 37 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or under sub-section (1) of section 131 of this Act, or a notice under sub-section (4) of section 22 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, or under sub-section (1) of section 142 of this Act was issued to produce, or cause to be produced, any books of account or other documents has omitted or failed to produce, or cause to be produced, such books of account or other documents as required by such summons or notice, or

(b) any person to whom a summons or notice as aforesaid has been or might be issued will not, or would not, produce or cause to be produced, any books of account or other documents which will be useful for, or relevant to, any proceeding under the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or under this Act, or

(c) any person is in possession of any money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing and such money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing represents either wholly or partly income or property which has not been, or would not be, disclosed for the purposes of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or this Act (hereinafter in this section referred to as the undisclosed income or property),

then,—

(A) the Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director or the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, as the case may be, may authorise any Additional Director or Additional Commissioner or Joint Director, Joint Commissioner, Assistant Director or Deputy Director, Assistant Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner or Income-tax Officer, or

(B) such Additional Director or Additional Commissioner or Joint Director, or Joint Commissioner, as the case may be, may authorise any Assistant Director or Deputy Director, Assistant Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner or Income-tax Officer,

(the officer so authorised in all cases being hereinafter referred to as the authorised officer) to—

(i) enter and search any building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft where he has reason to suspect that such books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing are kept;

(ii) break open the lock of any door, box, locker, safe, almirah or other receptacle for exercising the powers conferred by clause (i) where the keys thereof are not available;

(iia) search any person who has got out of, or is about to get into, or is in, the building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft, if the authorised officer has reason to suspect that such person has secreted about his person any such books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing;

(iib) require any person who is found to be in possession or control of any books of account or other documents maintained in the form of electronic record as defined in clause (t) of sub-section (1) of section 2 of the Information Technology Act, 2000 (21 of 2000), to afford the authorised officer the necessary facility to inspect such books of account or other documents;

(iii) seize any such books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing found as a result of such search:

Providedthat bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing, being stock-in-trade of the business, found as a result of such search shall not be seized but the authorised officer shall make a note or inventory of such stock-in-trade of the business;

(iv) place marks of identification on any books of account or other documents or make or cause to be made extracts or copies therefrom;

(v) make a note or an inventory of any such money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing :

Provided that where any building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft referred to in clause (i) is within the area of jurisdiction of any Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, but such Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner has no jurisdiction over the person referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) or clause (c), then, notwithstanding anything contained in section 120, it shall be competent for him to exercise the powers under this sub-section in all cases where he has reason to believe that any delay in getting the authorisation from the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner having jurisdiction over such person may be prejudicial to the interests of the revenue :

Provided further that where it is not possible or practicable to take physical possession of any valuable article or thing and remove it to a safe place due to its volume, weight or other physical characteristics or due to its being of a dangerous nature, the authorised officer may serve an order on the owner or the person who is in immediate possession or control thereof that he shall not remove, part with or otherwise deal with it, except with the previous permission of such authorised officer and such action of the authorised officer shall be deemed to be seizure of such valuable article or thing under clause (iii):

Provided also that nothing contained in the second proviso shall apply in case of any valuable article or thing, being stock-in-trade of the business:

Provided also that no authorisation shall be issued by the Additional Director or Additional Commissioner or Joint Director or Joint Commissioner on or after the 1st day of October, 2009 unless he has been empowered by the Board to do so.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that the reason to believe, as recorded by the income-tax authority under this sub-section, shall not be disclosed to any person or any authority or the Appellate Tribunal.

(1A) Where any Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, in consequence of information in his possession, has reason to suspect that any books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing in respect of which an officer has been authorised by the Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director or any other Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner or Additional Director or Additional Commissioner or Joint Director or Joint Commissioner to take action under clauses (i) to (v) of sub-section (1) are or is kept in any building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft not mentioned in the authorisation under sub-section (1), such Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner may, notwithstanding anything contained in section, authorise the said officer to take action under any of the clauses aforesaid in respect of such building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that the reason to suspect, as recorded by the income-tax authority under this sub-section, shall not be disclosed to any person or any authority or the Appellate Tribunal.

[75][(2) The authorised officer may requisition the services of,—

(i) any police officer or of any officer of the Central Government, or of both; or

(ii) any person or entity as may be approved by the Principal Chief Commissioner or the Chief Commissioner or the Principal Director General or the Director General, in accordance with the procedure, as may be prescribed, in this regard,

to assist him for all or any of the purposes specified in sub-section (1) or sub-section (1A) and it shall be the duty of every such officer or person or entity to comply with such requisition.]

(3) The authorised officer may, where it is not practicable to seize any such books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing, for reasons other than those mentioned in the second proviso to sub-section (1), serve an order on the owner or the person who is in immediate possession or control thereof that he shall not remove, part with or otherwise deal with it except with the previous permission of such officer and such officer may take such steps as may be necessary for ensuring compliance with this sub-section.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that serving of an order as aforesaid under this sub-section shall not be deemed to be seizure of such books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing under clause (iii) of sub-section (1).

(4) The authorised officer may, during the course of the search or seizure, examine on oath any person who is found to be in possession or control of any books of account, documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing and any statement made by such person during such examination may thereafter be used in evidence in any proceeding under the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or under this Act.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that the examination of any person under this sub-section may be not merely in respect of any books of account, other documents or assets found as a result of the search, but also in respect of all matters relevant for the purposes of any investigation connected with any proceeding under the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or under this Act.

(4A) Where any books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing are or is found in the possession or control of any person in the course of a search, it may be presumed—

(i) that such books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing belong or belongs to such person;

(ii) that the contents of such books of account and other documents are true; and

(iii) that the signature and every other part of such books of account and other documents which purport to be in the handwriting of any particular person or which may reasonably be assumed to have been signed by, or to be in the handwriting of, any particular person, are in that person's handwriting, and in the case of a document stamped, executed or attested, that it was duly stamped and executed or attested by the person by whom it purports to have been so executed or attested.

(5) []

(6) []

(7) []

(8) The books of account or other documents seized under sub-section (1) or sub-section (1A) shall not be retained by the authorised officer for a period exceeding [76][one month from the end of the quarter in which the order of assessment or reassessment or recomputation is made] under sub-section (3) of section 143 or section 144 or section 147 or section 153A or clause (c) of section

158BC unless the reasons for retaining the same are recorded by him in writing and the approval of the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner, Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director for such retention is obtained :

Provided that the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner, Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director shall not authorise the retention of the books of account and other documents for a period exceeding thirty days after all the proceedings under the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or this Act in respect of the years for which the books of account or other documents are relevant are completed.

(8A) An order under sub-section (3) shall not be in force for a period exceeding sixty days from the date of the order.

(9) The person from whose custody any books of account or other documents are seized under sub-section (1) or sub-section (1A) may make copies thereof, or take extracts therefrom, in the presence of the authorised officer or any other person empowered by him in this behalf, at such place and time as the authorised officer may appoint in this behalf.

(9A) Where the authorised officer has no jurisdiction over the person referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) or clause (c) of sub-section (1), the books of account or other documents, or any money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing (hereafter in this section and in sections 132A and 132B referred to as the assets) seized under that sub-section shall be handed over by the authorised officer to the Assessing Officer having jurisdiction over such person within a period of sixty days from the date on which the last of the authorisations for search was executed and thereupon the powers exercisable by the authorised officer under sub-section (8) or sub-section (9) shall be exercisable by such Assessing Officer.

(9B) Where, during the course of the search or seizure or within a period of sixty days from the date on which the last of the authorisations for search was executed, the authorised officer, for reasons to be recorded in writing, is satisfied that for the purpose of protecting the interest of revenue, it is necessary so to do, he may with the previous approval of the Principal Director General or Director General or the Principal Director or Director, by order in writing, attach provisionally any property belonging to the assessee, and for the said purposes, the provisions of the Second Schedule shall, mutatis mutandis, apply.

(9C) Every provisional attachment made under sub-section (9B) shall cease to have effect after the expiry of a period of six months from the date of the order referred to in sub-section (9B).

[77][(9D) The authorised officer may, during the course of the search or seizure or within a period of sixty days from the date on which the last of the authorisations for search was executed, make a reference to,—

(i) a Valuation Officer referred to in section 142A; or

(ii) any other person or entity or any valuer registered by or under any law for the time being in force, as may be approved by the Principal Chief Commissioner or the Chief Commissioner or the Principal Director General or the Director General, in accordance with the procedure, as may be prescribed, in this regard,

who shall estimate the fair market value of the property in the manner as may be prescribed, and submit a report of the estimate to the authorised officer or the Assessing Officer, as the case may be, within a period of sixty days from the date of receipt of such reference.]

(10) If a person legally entitled to the books of account or other documents seized under sub-section (1) or sub-section (1A) objects for any reason to the approval given by the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner, Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director under sub-section (8), he may make an application to the Board stating therein the reasons for such objection and requesting for the return of the books of account or other documents and the Board may, after giving the applicant an opportunity of being heard, pass such orders as it thinks fit.

(11) []

(11A) []

(12) []

(13) The provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974), relating to searches and seizure shall apply, so far as may be, to searches and seizure under sub-section (1) or sub-section (1A).

(14) The Board may make rules in relation to any search or seizure under this section ; in particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for the procedure to be followed by the authorised officer—

(i) for obtaining ingress into any building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft to be searched where free ingress thereto is not available ;

(ii) for ensuring safe custody of any books of account or other documents or assets seized.

[78][Explanation 1.—For the purposes of sub-sections (9A), (9B) and (9D), the last of [79][authorisations] for search shall be deemed to have been executed,—

(a) in the case of search, on the conclusion of search as recorded in the last panchnama drawn in relation to any person in whose case the warrant of authorisation has been issued; or

(b) in the case of requisition under section 132A, on the actual receipt of the books of account or other documents or assets by the authorised officer.]

Explanation 2.—In this section, the word "proceeding" means any proceeding in respect of any year, whether under the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or this Act, which may be pending on the date on which a search is authorised under this section or which may have been completed on or before such date and includes also all proceedings under this Act which may be commenced after such date in respect of any year.

247.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 247 of the Bill provides for search and seizure. The Clause corresponds to Section 132 of the Act. The language of the existing section has been simplified. e.g. terms like Approving Authority or Competent Authority have been used in place of authorities prescribed as per the existing provisions of the Act. These terms have been defined in the clause 261 (Interpretation). The clause has also been enabled for undisclosed assets or property pertaining to the Black Money Act. Also, in order to clarify the existing provision, clause 247 provides that in certain cases of search and seizure authorized by the competent authority, where access code is not available and the person concerned is not cooperating with the proceedings, authorized officer may gain access by overriding the access code. 'Computer system' has been sought to be explained in detail to include virtual digital space. In clause 247(9), in addition to reference to valuation officer and a person registered under any other law, reference by an authorised officer could also be made to a person registered as valuer under new Clause 514. The changes have been made with a view to align with the changed circumstances. The amendment has been made with a view to rationalise the provision so as to provide tax certainty and reduce litigation and to make the language clear and direct.

247.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

247.4.1 Some of the important suggestions received on Clause 247 from stakeholders are given below:

i. Access to Digital Systems in Search and Seizure Seeks to introduce a new provision requiring taxpayers to share access codes for computer systems or digital spaces during search and seizure operations. This newly inserted provision should be removed as it infringes upon the 'right to privacy' guaranteed by the Constitution.

ii. A Clear guidelines for the use of personal data obtained during searches.

iii. The phrase ‘any other person who is present in the premises..’, as mentioned in Clause 247(6)ought to be deleted. Under the proposed Bill, the power of the authorised officer as regards recording of statement on oath during search proceedings, has been extended and expanded to cover “any person who is present in the premises” at which search operation is undertaken The proposed amendment is a significant deviation from the existing power under section 132(4) of the IT Act, where the power to record a statement on oath was to be exercised only in respect of such person who was “found to be in possession or control of any books of account, documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing” The expanded power of the authorised officer lacks clarity, proportionality and safeguards and will result in serious violation of constitutional protections, open the door to misuse of power during search and seizure proceedings, for the following reasons:

1 Violation of Right to Privacy under Article 21 The Hon’ble Supreme Court in the case of Pooran Mal vs Directorate of Inspection [1974] 93 ITR 05 (SC), while testing the validity and constitutionality of the power of search provided under section 132 of the IT Act, noted that an action of search results in invasion of privacy; therefore, there has to be safeguards and restrictions which limits and guides the hands of the authority which exercises such a power The Hon’ble Court also noted that such a wide power needs to be utilised with strict adherence to checks and balances, as unsupervised use thereof could lead to harassment of the assessees Later, the Hon’ble Supreme Court in the case of Justice K.S Puttaswamy vs Union of India (2017) 10 SCC 1, recognised the right to privacy as an inalienable facet of the right to life guaranteed under Article 21 of the Constitution of India Clause 247(6), in its present form, permits the authorised officer to examine on oath, any person present in the premises where the search in conducted, regardless of whether such person has any connection with the subject matter of the search, or has any information relating to any undisclosed income or is in possession or control of any material even suspected of resulting in discovery of undisclosed income The provision, in its present form, allows the authorised officer, i.e., the machinery of the State, to intrude into personal space of the person, without any answerability or check warranting such invasion In other words, the clause permits sweeping questioning in a coercive environment without any safeguards, thereby infringing on personal autonomy, dignity, and liberty

2 Scope for Harassment and Abuse The proposed provision, by its wording, is overbroad and vague as it enables the authorised officer to examine “any person” simply on the basis of their location in the searched premises, without specifying the basis for such examination This includes unrelated third parties, such as domestic help, visiting guests, minors, or employees, lawyers, advisers, etc., to name a few, all of whom can be subjected to questioning under oath, in an intimidating environment The lack of procedural safeguards creates scope for misuse, coercion, and psychological pressure, potentially amounting to harassment.

3 Arbitrary and Disproportionate Delegation of Power Clause 247(6) of the IT Bill gives unchecked discretion to the authorised Officer as there is no guiding principle, threshold requirement, or statutory limitation to the exercise of this power, unlike the provision currently existing under section 132(4) of the IT Act, which provides that the power to record a statement on oath can be exercised in respect of any person who is “found to be in possession or control of any books of account, documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing” Such unrestricted discretion is manifestly arbitrary and violative of Article 14 of the Constitution of India as it fails the test of proportionality. 4 No Evident Revenue or Investigative Justification There is no compelling public interest or revenue gain served by allowing tax authorities such unbridled powers to examine individuals present in the searched premises without even establishing any necessity for the same The expansion of such power is not supported by data or precedent indicating the necessity of such a measure It dilutes the legitimacy of search operations by enabling speculative and fishing inquiries, while at the same time, consuming resources which may be otherwise utilized for revenue gain.

iv. Competent authority and approving authority for 247(1) should be an officer of the designation of either Principal Director General, Director General or Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner.

v. 247(1)(a) Reference should also be made to summons issued or notices issued under the Income-Tax Act, 1961, so as to enable smooth transition during the initial period.

vi. 247(1)(a)(i) “Reference to any information stored in electronic media or a computer system” The above referred phrase should be narrowed down to mean some specific information and should not mean, login id and password of any email account or social media account of the person.

vii. 247(1)(b) - This clause enables search even if a person is in possession of information relating to any asset. 1. This part of the clause is draconian and should be removed. 2. There should be no presumption about the fact that the person is in possession of information of the asset 3. Without prejudice, it should be clarified that such information should be owned by or belong to the same person.

viii. 247(1)(b) – reference to the Black Money Act, should be removed. .

ix. 247(1)(ii) “Electronic record as defined in section 2(1)(ha), (i), (j), (k), (l), (r), and (t) of the Information and Technology Act, 2000” To remove reference to all clauses of section 2(1) of the Information and Technology Act, except (t) .

x. 247(1)(iii) empowers to gain access by overriding the access code of any virtual digital space. The same is defined in 261(i) to include social media account, online investment account, trading account, bank account, remote server or clouds server, digital application platforms. The power to gain access code of social media account shall be out of the purview of section 247(1)(iii). It is also necessary that if the access is gained to personal email address and computer system, the use of the same shall be made only to the extent it is relevant for Income-Tax Act and not for any purpose beyond the Income-tax Act. Suitable provisions in this regard may be considered to be made.

xi. 247(5)(b) “… or the Director General, as per with such procedure, as prescribed” The word with should be removed.

xii. 247(6) empowers recording statements of any other person who is present in the premises or is being searched. Reference to “any other person who is present in the premises” may be deleted.

xiii. 247(9) – “..or any other person registered as a value under section 514.” Replace by “valuer’ .

xiv. 247(9) – “..by or under any law enforce..” Replace by “in force’ .

xv. 247(9) – “..or any person or entity registered by or under any law…” Add “registered as may be approved by the Principal Chief Commissioner or the Chief Commissioner or the Principal Director General or the Director General” .

xvi. Insert a specific provision for providing copies of statement recorded within some specified time period. Further, there should be a specific provision, that if such copies of statements are not provided, then such statement cannot be used. .

xvii. The approving officer for a search should be 2 levels above the initiating officer to make the process independent.

xviii. To ensure fairness and proper oversight, data should be provided as part of the budget documents every year on the number of applications received for search and the number of applications approved and rejected by the approving authority.

xix. Incorporation of proportionality standard by requiring the least invasive method - Hon’ble Supreme Court in Justice K.S Puttaswamy v Union of India, (2017) 10 SCC 1, Defining ‘reason to believe’ to prevent arbitrariness Judicial authorisation process could be set in place Non-disclosure of reason to believe or reason to suspect, as referred to in section 247 – may prevent taxpayer from challenging the searches – Amendment may be considered Protection of digital evidence integrity.

xx. Clause 247(1)(ii) and Clause 247(1)(iii) empowering Revenue officials to gain access to any computer system or virtual digital space even if they have no relation with the subject matter of search, may be omitted.

xxi. Alternatively, if the provision is retained, suitable safeguards may be provided in the statute to prevent abuse of power by Revenue officials as well as protect the privacy of taxpayers [such as in section 94 of Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 which requires the Court to issue summons, etc for production of any document, electronic communication, etc "which is likely to contain digital evidence or other thing is necessary or desirable for the purposes of any investigation, inquiry", etc.] Tangible reasons for seeking access may be recorded in writing prior to any such activity being undertaken.

xxii. There is a need to balance privacy rights of individuals and the interest of revenue during the search proceedings Access to personal data like phones or digital content should be allowed only under strict supervision and relevance checks. Likewise, restrictions should also be introduced for protecting privileged communication (between husband and wife, with doctor/ lawyers etc.)

xxiii. The amendment should be withdrawn and old language should be restored. The Officials may seek access to personal emails, private Direct Message, whatsApp messages Unfettered access to the personal data of tax payer affect the fundamental right to privacy There may also be risk of misuse of sensitive and private data.

xxiv. It is suggested that section 247(1)(b) be amended to provide access only to official e-mail accounts of the person. This would protect the fundamental right to privacy of a person. This provision allows authorised officer to inspect any information, electronic records and communication available on computer systems. This includes emails, social media etc. This provision could infringe the fundamental right to privacy of persons. Grant of such unrestricted power to tax authorities to subject personal digital information to surveillance is a cause of concern.

xxv. Section 247(5)(b) can be redrafted as under (b) any person or entity as may be approved by the Principal Chief Commissioner or the Chief Commissioner or the Principal Director General or the Director General, as per with such procedure, as prescribed, as per such procedure as prescribed, to assist him for all or any of the purposes specified in subsections (1) and (3) and it shall be the duty of every such officer or person or entity to comply with such requisition. Section 247(5)(b) may be redrafted to enhance clarity and ease of understanding.

xxvi. Section 247(9) can be redrafted as under: The authorised officer may, during the course of the search or seizure, or within sixty days from the date on which the last of the authorisations for search was executed, make a reference to a Valuation Officer, or any person registered as a value valuer under section 514, or any person or entity registered by or under any law enforce in force, requiring him to— (a) estimate the fair market value of the property in the manner, as prescribed; and (b) submit a report of the estimate to the authorised officer or the Assessing Officer, within sixty days from the date of receipt of such reference.

xxvii. Section 247(9) may be redrafted to correct typographical errors and to ensure that the provision appropriately refers to a 'valuer' and to laws 'in force'.

xxviii. In proposed section 247(1), the competent authority is to form 'a reason to believe' while the power to authorise has been given to 'approving authority'. In section 261, there are four class of officers defined as approving authority and six class of officers are defined as competent authority. In the present law, in section 132, there are two set of officers in clause (A) and (B) having power to authorize. The officers in present clause (A) are referred to as approving authority in proposed law. In present clause (B) Additional Director or Additional Commissioner or Joint Director, or Joint Commissioner are also empowered to authorize any Assistant Director, or Deputy Director, Assistant Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner or Income-tax Officer. In the proposed section for authorization 'Joint director or Joint Commissioner, so authorised' is included to authorize any Assistant Director or Assistant Commissioner. However, it left the Additional Director and Additional Commissioner, which is part of competent authority as defined. It also left Deputy Director and Deputy Commissioner from authorised officer. The term Joint Director and Joint Commissioner is also qualified with 'so authorised' which means only those Joint Director and Joint Commissioner which has been authorised by the approving authority in the first part will only be empowered to authorize. Hence, this needs to be modified as under: "then (a) the approving authority may authorise any Joint Director or Joint Commissioner or Assistant Director or Assistant Commissioner or Income-tax Officer, or any Joint Director or Joint Commissioner; (b) the authorities as referred in section 261(d)(v) or (vi) may authorise any Assistant Director or Assistant Commissioner or Income-tax Officer, or any Joint Director or Joint Commissioner.

247.5 Examination by the Committee:

247.5.1 The corresponding views of the Ministry on the above suggestions are as under:

i. The changes have been made with a view to align with the changed circumstances. The amendment has been made with a view to rationalise the provision so as to provide tax certainty and reduce litigation and to make the language clear and direct. Therefore, no change in the provision may be necessary.

ii. The amendment has been made with a view to rationalise the provision so as to provide tax certainty and reduce litigation and to make the language clear and direct. Therefore, no change in the provision may be necessary.

iii. The suggestion seeks to delete the phrase 'ANY OTHER PERSON WHO IS PRESENT IN THE PREMISES ……', as mentioned in Clause 247(6) search and seizure. During search, situations arise where a person through not possessing any books or other documents but is in the know of the business intricacies or is a key person managing business e.g. accountant, machine operator in the manufacturing industry, gatekeepers who are maintaining exit records, quality control persons who have complete production information and so on. Statements of such person also become extremely important. Therefore, practically these statements are relevant to conduct investigations. It is relevant to note that such statements are taken during the course of search and at the premise being searched. Thus, the amendment has been rightly made to rationalise the provision.

iv. The suggestion seeks to restrict definition of Competent authority and approving authority for clause 247(1) for the purpose of search and seizure actions. No rationale has been given for the suggestion. It is in the nature of Policy Change which is outside the scope of the Bill. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill viz-a-viz Act. The Officers not below the rank of JCIT/JDIT have to record "reason to believe" in writing. After perusal of such reasons, if satisfied, authorisation is given by PDIT/PCIT/DIT/CIT which is also subject to administrative approval of the Director General of Income Tax (Investigation). Thus, the suggestion is not feasible.

v. The suggestion seeks to provide reference to summons issued or notices issued under the Income-tax Act, 1961 for undertaking search so as to enable smooth transition during the initial period. All such cases are covered by repeal and savings. Thus, the suggestion is already addressed.

vi. The suggestion seeks to narrow down the phrase "Reference to any information stored in electronic media or a computer system" to mean some specific information and exclude login id and password of any email account or social media account of the person. The phrase can not be restricted as digital data is all encompassing including login id and password of any email or social media account which are used to hide financial data in encrypted chats. Thus, the amendment has been rightly made to rationalise the provisions.

vii. The suggestion seeks to amend 247(1)(b) be deleting the provision enabling search even if a person is in possession of information relating to any asset. The clause covers person in possession of any asset or information in relation to any asset. The suggestion seeks to exclude the person under search if he is in possession of information relating to any asset but such information is not owned by or does not belong to the same person. This amendment has been made in light of introduction of reference to Black Money Act in clause 247. Typically, asset acquired out of black money are stashed abroad but information in relation to such assets is maintained in India. To cover such cases, the amendment has been made in the Bill. The amendment has been rightly made to rationalise the provisions. Thus, the suggestion is not feasible.

viii. The suggestion seeks to remove reference to the Black Money Act in 247(1)(b) . The Black Money Act has been referred here as many people possess unaccounted foreign income/assets and were out of the purview of such actions. The reference here will enable the tax authorities to discover the undisclosed foreign assets. The amendment has been rightly made to rationalise the provisions. Thus, the suggestion is not feasible.

ix. In the Bill, reference has been made to number of clauses of the Information technology Act as against the Income-tax Act where reference was made only to clause 2(1)(t) which pertained to electronic record. The suggestion seeks to remove reference to all clauses of section 2(1) of the Information and Technology Act, except 2(1)(t). The clauses which have been added pertain to communication devices, mobile data, computer, computer network etc in which financial data is stored. For purposes of accessing digital data, this enablement was much needed. The amendment has been rightly made to rationalise the provisions. Thus, the suggestion is not feasible.

x. The suggestion seeks to exclude social media account in definition of virtual digital space. Various incriminating evidences and material are found/seized from electronic records including WhatsApp communications, emails, etc. In most of the cases of search operation the taxpayers do not share the password/login credential of online forums/portals/e-mail accounts, etc. This is because various encrypted communication modes are being used by tax payers to communicate and discuss their unaccounted transactions. The amendment has been rightly made to rationalise the provisions. Thus, the suggestion is not feasible.

xi. This is drafting correction in clause 247(5)(b) and word "with" shall be removed from phrase "… or the Director General, as per with such procedure, as prescribed".

xii. During search, situations arise where a person through not possessing any books or other documents but is in the know of the business intricacies or is a key person managing business e.g. accountant, machine operator in the manufacturing industry, gatekeepers who are maintaining exit records, quality control persons who have complete production information and so on. Statements of such person also become extremely important. Therefore, practically these statements are relevant to conduct investigations. It is relevant to note that such statements are taken during the course of search and at the premise being searched. Thus, the amendment has been rightly made to rationalise the provision.

xiii. This is drafting correction in clause 247(9) and word "value" shall be substituted by "valuer".

xiv. This is drafting correction in clause 247(9) and word "enforce" shall be substituted by "in force".

xv. This is drafting correction in clause 247(9) and the phrase "as may be approved by the Principal Chief Commissioner or the Chief Commissioner or the Principal Director General or the Director General" shall be added.

xvi. The suggestion seeks to expand the scope of clause 246 wherein there is no specific provision to provide copies of statement recorded. This is an administrative matter. According to the present Instructions, the statement is not given to the deponent on the spot. However, copies of statement(s) may be allowed within fifteen days from the date of receipt of application subject to some relevant conditions. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill viz-a-viz Act. The suggestion already stands addressed.

xvii. The suggestion seeks that the approving officers should be 2 levels above the initiating officer. This provision is already there. The approving officer generally is PDIT and the IO is ADIT/DDIT. The approving officer is three levels above the IO. The suggestion is already taken care of. It is in the nature of Policy Change which is outside the scope of the Bill. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill viz-a-viz Act.

xviii. The suggestion seeks to include in Budget, number of applications received, approved and rejected by the approving authority for the purpose of search.

Regarding issue of providing in budget number of applications received, approved and rejected by the approving authority for the purpose of search, the budget is an altogether different exercise. The suggestion may not be feasible.

xix. The suggestion seeks to define 'reason to believe', to prevent arbitrariness, Judicial authorisation process could be set in place, non-disclosure of reason to believe or reason to suspect, and raises concerns regarding protection of digital evidence integrity. It is in the nature of Policy Change which is outside the scope of the Bill. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill viz-a-viz Act. In addition to the detailed reply submitted earlier regarding search and seizure provisions and issues concerning privacy, following submissions are further made in this regard ---

(i) The department conducts a search and seizure action, based on credible prima facie evidence indicating tax evasion or concealment of income/asset, after obtaining due approvals from senior officers. Strict guidelines and safeguards are in place to prevent any raid, not proportionate to the allegations. The search warrants are issued by senior level officers of the rank of Principal Director of Income-tax (Investigation) after recording the reasons for authorising the search. Administrative approval of the Director General of Income-tax (Investigation) is also obtained before authorising the search. The satisfaction or reasons recorded by the Principal Director of Income-tax (Investigation) can be questioned in a court of law by the aggrieved assessees by invoking the writ jurisdiction of the court. There are sufficient mechanisms in law as well as in the procedures laid down to prevent any abuse of powers. Suggestion may not be feasible.

(ii) 'Reason to believe' is a standard phrase and the jurisprudence on the interpretation thereof, is already well settled. All possible conditions for the same cannot be illustrated and codified in the statute; therefore, suggestion may not be feasible.

(iii) Search and seizure action under the Income-tax Act is only a quasi-judicial proceeding, which is conducted in the presence of two independent witnesses. The authorised officer does not have the power to arrest any person in the course of search action. The primary purpose of search and seizure action is to collect evidence, examine persons on oath and to seize assets/documents etc. as found necessary. Further, in view of the stringent provisions already laid out in the Income-tax Act and procedures prescribed by way of circulars, instructions etc., the safeguards are already in place regarding the conduct of search and seizure operations to and to prevent misuse of personal or business or professional information. In view of the above, Magistrate approval before initiating search action is not required. Income Tax proceedings are judicial proceedings as per section 136 of IT Act 1961 and therefore such judicial proceedings cannot be subject to oversight by other judicial authority. suggestion may not be feasible.

(iv) The confidentiality of the reasons recorded is to be maintained even after the search because of the sensitivity involved. Disclosure of the same may jeopardise potential action in other similar and related cases, and may also endanger the informant, if any. It is not desirable to reveal the source of information and the subsequent process of developing the case, on the basis of which action was conducted.

xx. The suggestion seeks to omit the phrase empowering Revenue officials to gain access to any computer system or virtual digital space even if they have no relation with the subject matter of search. The warrant of authorisation is issued only after due procedure (including reason to believe) has been followed. The data from any computer system, or digital space once extracted will reveal whether there is any subject matter related to search or not. It may be difficult to contend that assessee will voluntarily disclose the specific devices or virtual digital spaces related to subject matter of search. Thus, the suggestion is not feasible.

xxi. The suggestion seeks to provide safeguard in the statute to prevent abuse of power by Revenue officials as well as protect the privacy of taxpayers. Thus, the suggestion is not feasible.

xxii. The suggestion seeks to provide for balance privacy rights of individuals and the interest of revenue during the search proceedings and protecting privileged communication.. Digital devices now hold critical, often voluminous, information relevant to investigations, including emails, chats, documents, and app data. Personal and business data are often intertwined, making it difficult to segregate information on-site during search and seizure operations. The Income Tax Department follows strict forensic procedures to acquire, document, preserve, and analyse digital data while maintaining its integrity and confidentiality. Thus, the suggestion is not feasible.

xxiii. The changes have been made with a view to align with the changed circumstances. The amendment has been made with a view to rationalise the provision so as to provide tax certainty and reduce litigation and to make the language clear and direct. Therefore, no change in the provision may be necessary.

xxiv. The suggestion seeks to redraft the clause 247(1)(b)-search and seizure to access only to official e-mail accounts of the person. The suggestion is not feasible.

xxv. The suggestion seeks to redraft clause 247(5)(b) for better clarity and understanding. The suggestion is in nature of drafting correction. Long line has been added to one sub-clause which is not correct. Thus, suggestion is not feasible.

xxvi. This is drafting correction in clause 247(9) and word "value" shall be substituted by "valuer". This is drafting correction in clause 247(9) and word "enforce" shall be substituted by "in force".

xxvii. The suggestion seeks to redraft the clause 247(9) to make it grammatically correct. The suggestion is acceptable.

xxviii. The suggestion seeks to redraft clause 247(1)(b) to provide for the missing authorities i.e. Additional Commissioner /Addl. Director and Deputy Commissioner /Dy. Director. The suggestion is in nature of drafting improvement. The definition of Assistant Commissioner/Asstt.Director as per clause 2(14) and 2(15) includes Deputy Commissioner Dy. Director. Similarly, the definition of Joint Commissioner/ Jt. Director in clause 2(63) and 2(64) includes Additional Commissioner/ Addl.Director. Thus, suggestion is not feasible.

241.5.2 In addition to the above submissions, the Ministry of Finance (Department of Revenue) has submitted written reply to Committee's specific clarification sought on 'Issues concerning Search and Seizure and Income Tax raids under the provisions of the Income-Tax Bill vis-à-vis the Right to Privacy of Individuals'. The submission made by the Ministry is as follows:

> Search & Seizure provisions are contained in clause 247 of the Income-tax Bill, 2025 and are analogous to section 132 of the present Income-tax Act, 1961.At the outset it may be submitted that the powers provided under section 132 as well as clause 247 of the Bill are only to be exercised during the continuation of the search and seizure proceedings. Such powers start on execution of the warrant of authorization and ends when the search is concluded. To understand the import of clause 247 of the Bill, it would be relevant to discuss the objectives of section 132 of the I T Act 1961, the challenges it faced and the landmark judgments in this context.
>
> Objectives of section 132
>
> 2. Section 132 of the Income-tax Act, 1961, primarily has two objectives: (a) to discover evidence having a bearing on the tax liability of a person, which the said person has not disclosed or would have not disclosed to the income tax authorities; and (b) to discover assets representing income believed to be undisclosed income, to seize such assets to the extent permissible by law and to apply such seized assets to discharge the existing and anticipated tax liabilities of the person concerned.

3. Thus, the objective of the section is not merely to get information about the undisclosed income, but also to discover the money, bullion, etc. representing the undisclosed income and to seize them for the purposes of proper realization of taxes, penalties etc.

Constitutional validity of Search and Seizure Provisions

4. The Constitution enshrined fundamental rights, reflecting a commitment to individual liberties. However, the constitution also included provisions for reasonable restrictions on the fundamental rights in the interest of public order, morality, and the sovereignty of the state, highlighting the inherent tension between individual freedoms and collective well-being. Landmark judicial pronouncements have continuously shaped this dynamic aspect, striving to strike a balance between protecting individual rights and promoting the larger public good in a constantly evolving societal context

5. In this context, it may be noted that in the decision in the case of Pooran Mal vs. Director of Inspection[1974] 93 ITR 505 (SC),the constitutional validity of search & seizure operations under Section 132 of the Income-Tax Act' 1961 [analogous to clause 247 of the ITB' 2025] was decided. Hon'ble Apex Court at page 515 of its judgement has held that:

> "Dealing first with the challenge under Article 19(1)(f) and (g) of the Constitution it is to be noted that the impugned provisions are evidently directed against persons who are believed on good grounds to have illegally evaded the payment of tax on their income and property. Therefore, drastic measures to get at such income and property with a view to recover the government dues would stand justified in themselves. When one has to consider the reasonableness of the restrictions or curbs placed on the freedoms mentioned in Article 19(1)(f) and (g), one cannot possibly ignore how such evasions eat into the vitals of the economic life of the community. It is a well-known fact of our economic life that huge sums of unaccounted money are in circulation endangering its very fabric. ……. Therefore, in the interest of the community it is only right that the fiscal authorities should have sufficient powers to prevent tax evasion."

6. The said portion of the judgement was also referred to in the Hon'ble Apex Court's 2015 judgement in the case of DGIT(Inv), Pune and others vs. Spacewood Furnishers (SLP (Civil) no. 38611 of 2012). This 2015 judgement acknowledges that tax evasion poses a significant threat to the economic life of the community and that search operations help in—

(a) Recovering Government Dues: Search operations can lead to the discovery of undisclosed income and property, which enables the government to recover the taxes owed.
(b) Ensuring Economic Stability: By curbing tax evasion, search operations contribute to a cleaner formal economy by ensuring that taxes are paid fairly and that government revenue is protected.
(c) Maintaining Community Interests: The judgement highlights that search operations protect the interests of the community by ensuring that everyone contributes their fair share of taxes. This revenue is essential for funding public services and infrastructure.

7. It can't be overstated that the interest of the community at large is served through the investigation of the Income tax Department if the black money of tax evaders, who are evading the taxes due to the nation putting the overall developmental works of the Government at risk, is brought to taxation.

8. In the case of Income-tax Officer v. Seth Brothers(74 ITR 836 SC 1969), Hon'ble Supreme Court upheld the constitutionality of the provisions of the section 132 of the existing Act. In the said matter, it was further held that said section does not confer any arbitrary authority upon the revenue officers. Search & Seizure provisions – Contours & safeguards

9. Search & seizure action by ITD is a potent tool to recover evidence regarding serious tax evasion by the assessee, and to collect due taxes on the same. Such actions also creates deterrence against tax evasion.

10. Sources of Information: Such actions are initiated on the basis of specific information regarding tax evasion by an assessee. It may be noted that ITD receives information regarding tax evasion through various channels, inter-alia, the following:

> (a) Information sharing platforms between various Government Agencies/ Organisations like Central Economic Intelligence Bureau (CEIB) and Regional Economic Intelligence Committee (REIC).
> (b) Tax evasion petitions (TEPs) received from anyone who has information about tax evasion and black money.
> (c) Information received through informers, which, if found credible, results in enforcement actions by the ITD.
> (d) Information filed with ITD in form of Specified Financial Transactions (SFTs) above notified thresholds, relating to cash deposits, credit card payments, purchase and sale of properties, purchase of shares and mutual funds, etc.
> (e) Suspicious Transaction Reports (STRs) received regularly through FIU-IND.

(f) Specific information received from any other Law Enforcement Agency (LEA) for appropriate action etc. These actions are initiated only after thorough discrete surveillance/investigations and gathering credible information regarding tax evasion and undisclosed income & assets of an assessee.

11. Authority authorizing the search & seizure operations: The power to issue warrant of authorization for carrying out a search under the Income-Tax Act, 1961 has been given only to senior rank officers of Income Tax Department, not below the rank of Principal Commissioner or Principal Director of Income Tax. Such authorities have to record "reason to believe" in writing before issuing the warrant of authorization. As an additional check, the searches can only be authorized after administrative approval of the Director General of Income Tax (Investigation). Further on a broader perspective searches are carried out only in a select few cases (a miniscule percentage(less than 0.01%) of the total assessee base).

12. Independent witnesses: The search and seizure operations are carried out in the presence of witnesses who testify the record of the proceedings in a legal document in form of Panchnama. The board is conscious of the fact that enforcing higher quality standards on panchnama preparation may yield desirable outcomes and hence has issued instructions regarding the same.

13. Guidelines: Furthermore, to prevent violation of procedures laid down by CBDT during search actions, various instructions and guidelines are issued by CBDT for compliance by search parties. These include the charter of Rights & duties of the persons to be searched, which are to be shown to the searched person(s). (Annexure A). CBDT has also issued manuals, instructions and guidelines from time to time which are required to be followed by the officers involved in the search and seizure operations.

Nature of evidence unearthed during search actions: Shift from physical/paper to digital evidence 14. With the surge in digital transactions and the growing use of virtual platforms for both personal and business purposes, a large portion of financial data now exists in digital form. Further the information is available in encrypted format in password protected files. Such evidences are lying in mobile phones,laptops,servers,cloud etc including servers outside the country.

14.1 This shift has created new challenges for tax authorities, as traditional enforcement methods—focused primarily on physical assets like cash or jewellery— are no longer sufficient. Recognizing this, the Income-Tax Act, 1961 was amended by inserting Section 132(1) (iib) by the Finance Act, 2002, w.e.f. 1-6-2002. This provision explicitly empowers tax officials to access and seize digital records during enforcement actions.

14.2 Section 132(1)(iib) of Income-Tax Act, 1961 enables authorised officer to require any person who is found to be in possession or control of any books of account or other documents maintained in the form of electronic record as defined in clause (t) of sub-section (1) of section 2 of the Information Technology Act, 2000 (21 of 2000), to afford the authorised officer the necessary facility to inspect such books of account or other documents. Hence the authorised officer must be provided with the necessary facility to inspect any books of accounts or any other documents by the person who is found to be in possession or control of any such books or documents maintained in electronic form.

14.2.1 Such facility includes the disclosure of passwords, otherwise the electronic records maintained in password protected electronic devices, or the password protected electronic records cannot be inspected by the authorized officers. This has also be recognized by the Delhi High Court in its decision in the case of 315 ITR 137 (Delhi)S.R. Batliboi& Co.v.Department of Income-tax (Investigation). The Court has held in this decision that Section 132(1)(iib) casts a compulsion on the owner of the laptops to provide the department with the password to the computer to enable inspection of the books of account maintained in electronic form in the laptops.

14.3 Presently, in many cases of search operation the taxpayers refuse to share the password/login credential of online forums/portals/e-mail accounts etc. However, various incriminating evidences and material are found/seized from electronic records including whatsapp communications, emails, etc. This is because various encrypted communication modes are being used by tax payers to communicate and discuss their unaccounted transactions. Further, books of account, financial statements and records are kept in the digital space and without gaining access to that fair investigation cannot be carried out. Accordingly, clause 247 of Income-Tax Bill, 2025 prescribes the authorised officer to gain access by overriding the access code of computer system or virtual digital space. It is only the reiteration of the already existing provision in a more explicit language. No additional power has been given to the tax authorities.The provisions of clause 247enable the department in respect of the following:-

> (a) Access to Digital Records: Tax authorities can search digital data stored in cloud services, email accounts, messaging platforms, and online financial services during raids. (b) Mandatory Disclosure of Access Information: Individuals are required to share passwords or access codes when requested. Refusal to comply may result in legal consequences.
> (c) Authority to Bypass Encryption: If credentials are not provided, officials are permitted to override encryption and security systems to access digital data.

(d) Seizure of Digital Devices: Devices such as laptops, hard drives, mobile phones, and servers may be confiscated as part of the investigation.

15. It is pertinent to mention that during Search & Seizure actions, large amounts of evidences showing unaccounted income are found, which are in digital space in different forms like:

(a) Devices - Standalone desktop, remotely accessed desktops, mobile, laptops etc

(b) Storage – Hard Disk Drives, Solid State Drives, Storage Servers (local or networked), Storage as a Service (STaaS) Clouds etc

(c) Services - Software as a Service (SaaS) clouds – online word processors, Accounting Software like tally on cloud, Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) systems etc (d) Communication platforms – Emails, Text Over IP (ToIP) like WhatsApp, telegram etc.

(e) Virtual Digital Assets

16. This evidence is essential to prove the tax evasion and to compute th quantum of tax evasion. During the search and seizure operations, sometimes the person in control of books, documents and records etc. does not cooperate with the proceedings and does not provide necessary facilities to access the records maintained in electronic form. Also, many a times information is stored in servers/ storage facilities abroad which are not accessible from India and the access code is not provided by the person concerned. In these circumstances, the whole exercise of search and seizure gets frustrated if it is left at that stage. But for such provisions, it would be difficult to initiate or take steps to break password or having access to digital evidences.

17. It is further emphasized that this power is given to the tax authorities in the rare circumstances where search and seizure operation has been ordered by the Competent Authority and where the person concerned is not cooperating with the proceedings. It is necessary that such power is given to the authorised officer to enforce the law and to collect necessary evidence to fight the tax evasion and menace of black money. It is further pointed out in the conventional context that the officers had specific powers to break open locks for the purpose of conducting a search. Section 132 allows the authorised officer to-

(ii) break open the lock of any door, box, locker, safe, almirahor other receptacle for exercising the powers conferred by clause (i) where the keys thereof are not available;

17.1 In the present context the virtual spaces provide far more avenues for the unscrupulous to hide unaccounted assets and information. In fact, the dictionary meaning of residual phrase 'other receptacle' is'a container for holding things or that you can put things in' . If the information is stored in digital form in a password protected physical or virtual space, then the 'key' for such storage is the password of the same. Thus the changes made vide the provisions of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 are explanatory in nature and no new powers are being provided to the authorities. The provision of a specific power to override passwords is to keep up with the times and provide adequate mechanisms to uncover undisclosed income and wealth. There is no overreach or intention to breach the privacy of social account by these powers.

Search and Seizure provisions of Income-tax Bill viz-a-viz Right to Privacy of Individuals 18. Protection of Privacy under Income-tax Act, 1961 Section 138 of the Income-tax Act, 1961 relates to disclosure of information respecting assessees. There are two specified circumstances in section 138 in which any disclosure can be made by the Central Board of Direct Taxes or any other income-tax authority. Clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 138 provides for disclosure to officer, authority or body performing functions under specified laws. In respect of other cases, clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 138 provides that any such information may only be provided by the Principal Chief Commissioner, Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner on an application made by a person subject to the satisfaction that providing of information is in public interest. Thus, more than adequate protection has been enshrined in the section 138 of the Act to protect the privacy rights of the individual. Similar provision has been incorporated in the clause 258 of the Income-tax Bill to protect the privacy rights of the individuals.

Right to privacy as per judgment in K.S. Puttaswamy Vs. Uol, (2017) 10 SCC 1

19. As per the aforesaid judgment, the right to privacy must be considered in relation to its function in society and be balanced against other fundamental rights. The three-fold test as laid down by Nine Judges Bench in the said judgment are:- (i) legality, which postulates the existence of law; (ii) need, defined in terms of a legitimate state aim; and (iii) proportionality which ensures a rational nexus between the objects and the means adopted to achieve them" The search and seizure provisions in the Income-tax Act, 1961 or the Income-tax Bill, 2025 satisfy the three-fold test laid down by the judgement ofHon'ble Supreme Court.

20. Further, seven recognized exceptions permitting privacy restrictions include:

i. National security - Not directly applicable to tax searches
ii. Prevention/investigation of crime - Tax evasion investigations fall here
iii. Public health - Not typically applicable
iv. Public order - Generally not applicable
v. Protection of revenue interests - Directly applicable to tax investigations
vi. Individual consent - Not applicable in search scenarios
vii. Protection of rights of others - May apply in certain cases

It may be mentioned that the search powers satisfy these exceptions when properly exercised, particularly under the "protection of revenue interests" and "prevention of crime" exceptions.

Protection of Privacy as per the Provision of the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023 (DPDP Act, 2023)

21. Chapter II, Chapter III and section 16 of Chapter IV of the DPDP Act lay down certain obligations on data fiduciary. However, clause (c) of sub-section (1) of section 17 of the DPDP Act provides exemptionsto a data fiduciary from the obligations cast under the said provisions. The relevant provisions of section 17 of the DPDP Act are reproduced as under:-

> "17. (1) The provisions of Chapter II, except sub-sections (1) and (5) of section 8, and those of Chapter III and section 16 shall not apply where— (a) …; (b) …; (c) personal data is processed in the interest of prevention, detection, investigation or prosecution of any offence or contravention of any law for the time being in force in India;…"

22. It may be mentioned that section 8 provides for general obligations of data fiduciary. While sub-section (1) provides that the data fiduciary will comply with the provisions of DPDP Act and Rules made thereunder in respect of any processing undertaken by it, sub-section (5) prescribes that data fiduciary shall protect personal data in respect of any processing of such data by taking reasonable security safeguards to prevent personal data breach. In this regard, it is hereby submitted that any digital data seized from the searched premise is duly sealed and signed by the person being searched and two independent witnesses. After search operation, such seized data is held in the safe custody of the Officer conducting the search operation. Further, retention of the seized material, if required, is duly approved by the Principal Commissioner of Income-tax.

Conclusion

23. Therefore, search and seizure provisions of the Income-tax Bill, 2025 are in line with provisions of Income-tax Act, 1961. Further, the said provisions are also constitutional and do not violate the Right to Privacy of an individual considering the provisions of reasonable restrictions as discussed above.

247.5.3 In this regard, the Committee sought clarifications about specific, detailed provisions outlining the procedures to be followed during digital searches and seizures and potential misinterpretation of digital evidence and the blurring lines between personal and financial data when accessing digital records. Accordingly, the Ministry furnished the written replies as follows:

Section 132(1)(iib) of the Act already authorises inspection of books/documents maintained in electronic form under the Information Technology Act, 2000, thereby, recognizing digital formats even in the existing Act. The provision is as under (emphasis supplied): (iib) require any person who is found to be in possession or control of any books of account or other documents maintained in the form of electronic record as defined in clause (t) of sub-section (1) of section 2 of the Information Technology Act, 2000 (21 of 2000), to afford the authorised officer the necessary facility to inspect such books of account or other documents;

2. The Bill updates the terminology to include "electronic systems" and "virtual digital spaces," reflecting modern data storage realities. It clarifies mechanisms like overriding access codes or passwords, which are an extension of existing search powers w.r.t. digital data, akin to breaking physical locks.

3. Hence, the changes ensure that the Department's ability to conduct lawful search and seizure remains effective in an increasingly digital world. It is for attaining enforcement parity in an era where tax-relevant information increasingly exists in non-physical/digital forms.

4. In the digital era, critical tax-relevant information is increasingly stored and transacted through online platforms, remote servers, and digital applications, beyond traditional physical books and documents. With the surge in digital transactions and the widespread use of virtual platforms for both personal and commercial activities, a substantial portion of financial information now resides in digital formats.

5. The definition of "virtual digital space" in the Bill rightly captures the modern technological ecosystem, including email servers, social media accounts, cloud storage, digital wallets, and investment platforms. Without express legal authority to access them, a tax search would be ineffective, especially when data is encrypted or access is secured by digital authentication.

6. The definition of "computer system" further reinforces that these platforms are legitimate areas of inquiry during a search. These powers do not introduce any new coercive measures but they simply ensure that search and seizure keeps pace with how information and assets exist and move in today's digital economy.

7. Clause 247 permits authorised officers to override encryption/digital security where access is denied and reflects provision which already authorises officers to break open physical locks on doors, safes, or other receptacles to access concealed assets. The phrase "other receptacle," broadly understood as any 'container' used to store items, includes encrypted digital devices and storage systems. A password-protected device serves as a digital equivalent of a locked safe. It ensures that the treatment of digital assets is on par with physical evidence for accessing digital records stored across modern platforms such as cloud services, email accounts, messaging applications and online financial systems. It mandates individuals to disclose digital credentials like passwords, authorises officers to override encryption where cooperation is denied and empowers the seizure of digital devices.

8. The apprehension that clause 247 of the Bill enables ongoing surveillance or intrusive monitoring is misplaced. The powers conferred under this provision operate strictly for an authorised search. They are confined to the duration and scope of that specific operation. Such powers of overriding the access protected through password start on execution of the warrant of authorization and ends when the search is concluded i.e. Once the search is concluded, the authority to access digital records by overriding encryption automatically ceases. There is no provision that permits post-search use of this authority as general surveillance tool, or tracking of digital activity. This is neither intended nor can be used for this purpose.

9. During the course of a search, the seizure is only of information and evidence relating to prima facie undisclosed income. Even if electronic devices are seized, only the information and evidence relating to undisclosed income is examined and used.

10. During the search operation, the relevant digital device of the assessee is cloned, while taking hash value of the device at the time of seizure in presence of assessee and independent witnesses, in order to maintain sanctity & integrity of the data. Here, it is pertinent to mention that there is no available technology at present that can segregate the financial data of the assessee from his personal data before cloning, without opening the original device. However, any such attempt will, in all likelihood, alter the hash value of the original device, leading to avoidable litigations w.r.t. sanctity & integrity of the data.

11. Further, the search and seizure operations are conducted in the presence of two independent witnesses which are documented in the panchnama which captures all steps taken during the search. The CBDT has laid down a charter of Rights and Duties of the persons being searched, which are to be shown to the searched person. It has also issued manuals and guidelines which are required to be followed.

12. Further, the Hon'ble Karnataka HC has held in the case of C. Venkata Reddy And Anr. vs Income-Tax Officer (Central) I, reported as [1967]66ITR212(KAR). that "We are not, therefore, satisfied that the safeguards provided in section 132 of the Income-tax Act are ineffective or illusory for reason only of the fact that the original authorisations for search are issued by an officer of the department and not by an independent authority like the Magistrate"

13. Only a minuscule fraction of assessees are subject to search and seizure operations in any given year. These are exceptional, not routine, actions initiated only upon credible intelligence and authorized at a high level. Illustratively, such operations cover well below 0.01% of the overall taxpayer base, demonstrating the highly selective and judicious application of these powers.

14. Beyond that, the authority to issue a warrant for conducting a search is vested in senior officers of the Department - those not below the rank of Principal Director, who is of the rank of Addl Secretary to Govt of India. Before issuing such a warrant, the authorising officer must record in writing a "reason to believe" based on credible information. As an added safeguard, no search can be authorised without prior administrative approval from the Director General of Income Tax (Inv.). Further, the authorised officers at the search premises are of the rank of Asstt/Deputy Director, who are bound by the CCS Conduct Rules, 1964. In this regard, a brief comparison of authorities for granting approval of search action and issuing warrant for the same in some other LEAs is as under:

LEA	Approval of Search granted by	Warrant Signatory
Income Tax Department	Director General Income Tax equivalent to Additional Secretary (HAG+) to Govt of India	Principal Director of Income Tax, equivalent to Additional Secretary (HAG) to Govt of India
Enforcement Directorate	Joint Director/Additional Director equivalent to Director in Govt of India	Deputy Director equivalent to Under Secretary in Govt of India
NIA	DG equivalent to DGP	Investigating Officer
CBI	SP equivalent to Deputy Secretary in Govt of India	Judicial Magistrate
DGGI	ADG equivalent to Joint Secretary in Govt of India	Joint Commissioner equivalent to Deputy Secretary in Govt of India

15. The above comparison chart shows that approval of search in Income Tax Department is accorded at the highest level among other enforcement agencies. Further, as Income-tax is a civil law therefore, there is no need for the warrant to be signed by Judicial Magistrate as done in CBI. In fact, even though agencies like ED, NIA, DGGI administer criminal law, warrant there is not signed by Judicial Magistrate.

Further regarding data protection provisions in respect of searches, following submissions are made—

Data Protection provisions

A. Search and seizure action mandated in the Income-Tax Act is a fact-finding and evidence collection exercise. During these actions, it is noticed that the evidence seized by the Department increasingly consists of digital data which is extracted, preserved and analyzed to use the same for the purposes of investigation, assessment and other relevant proceedings. The digital devices usually encompass a broad spectrum of digital data, comprising a wide array of encrypted records, electronic records, files, and information. This digital information is a critical part of the investigative process, as it provides valuable insights and evidence related to potential tax irregularities, concealments, evasions or frauds.
B. The present practice of seizure of digital evidence includes:

(i) Imaging digital devices
(ii) Seizure of the physical digital device

The default practice is bit-by-bit imaging of the digital device into another portable hard during the search action at the premises and subsequently returning the physical device to the assesses after the search action at the premises is concluded with the drawing of a panchnama in the presence of independent witnesses.

The bit-by-bit imaging process is undertaken by forensic experts empaneled by the Investigation Directorates after due process. These forensic experts accompany the Authorised Officer and the team at the search premise and perform imaging of the devices found at the premises in a forensically sound manner using a sophisticated encryption standard, resulting in an encrypted image of the digital device. Once the bit-by-bit imaging of the digital device is completed, a HASH report is generated, which is a unique alphanumeric ID for the device imaged. The HASH value of that device signifies the integrity of the data present in the device. Any change in data will ultimately change the HASH value of the device.

C. Seizure of the physical device is only done in rare cases when the imaging of the digital devices cannot be done in cases where the access code to the device is not provided or in other technical issues which require expert intervention. Even in case of physical device seizure, the device is only opened and the data imaged in the presence of the assessee or persons authorised by the assessee and two independent witnesses. The original devices are returned back to the taxpayer to avoid any inconvenience to the individual or his business operations.

D. 12. Bit-by-bit imaging during the search action ensures an unbiased and secure imaging of the digital device. As the entire device is imaged into a sealed portable hard disk, this ensures the integrity of the data is maintained, which is essential for further legal proceedings associated with the case.

E. The entire data of the device, which also includes deleted data, is imaged and sealed in a hard disk, which is then processed on premises at the Income Tax Offices, ensuring secure physical and digital access to the seized digital data. Further as per provisions of Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam 2023, chain of custody of digital devices are maintained throughout the proceedings under Income-Tax Act.

F. As discussed above, segregation of personal and financial data at the time of seizure is not feasible for following reasons:

> 1. During the search action, there are many digital devices, including mobile phones, hard disks, laptops, iPads, computers, pen drives, etc., found. Thus, identifying key devices and then segregating the data at the premises itself is not feasible, since it is a time bound action at the premises. Moreover, Information is spread across bits and pieces across various digital devices, therefore imaging the entire device is the only technically feasible option.
>
> 2. Integrity of data can only be ensured when the data from the digital device is stored in an unbiased manner using appropriate forensic tools. Segregation during the search action is technically challenging and will potentially dispute the integrity of data seized during search action.
>
> 3. The hash value of the device ensures that the data seized from the digital device is done in a forensically sound manner with integrity. Manual intervention involved in the segregation of data can violate the integrity of data, thus making it disputed and potentially non-admissible in the court of law.

Thus, there are significant technical and other challenges in the segregation of data into personal and financial data at the premises, compromising the integrity of the data seized and ultimately affecting the search and seizure action. While analyzing the data the Department uses only the financial transactions and the information bearing on the tax evasion.

Digital Personal Data Protection Act 2023

G. Section 8 of DPDPA, 2023 places a general obligation on the data fiduciary, in this case, the Income Tax Department. Relevant sections applicable to the department include Sections 8(1) and sections 8(5) of DPDPA, 2023 which calls upon the Data fiduciary be responsible for complying with the provisions of this Act and the rules made thereunder in respect of any processing undertaken by it and also ensure protection of personal data in its possession or under its control, by taking reasonable security safeguards to prevent personal data breach.

H. Section 17(1)(c) of DPDPA, 2023 provides exemption in the case of personal data being processed in the interest of prevention, detection, investigation or prosecution of any offence or contravention of any law for the time being in force in India. Thus, Section 17(1)(c) is applicable to Income tax Search and Seizure actions as the fundamental mandate for the search action involves prevention, detection and investigation of tax evasion and subsequent prosecution in the interest of safeguarding the economic security of the nation.

I. With regards to the compliance of DPDPA, 2023, it is being provided that the digital data seized in a forensically sound manner is stored in another portable hard disk that is duly sealed and signed by the person searched upon and independent witnesses. This imaged data is then in the safe custody and control of the Investigating officer.

J. The seized data is under the personal custody of the officer and stored in a sanitized, access controlled environment. Hash values generated during the process of cloning are used to ensure data authencitiy. The department is establishing forensic laboratories across India which will further enhance the capabilities of department in handling the seized data through modern tools in a safe, secure and access-controlled environment.

K. Section 138 of Income-Tax Act and Clause 258 of the proposed bill establishes the legal framework to protect the right to privacy and places suitable restrictions against disclosure of seized data. Further, the department is constantly upgrading the data handling practices under the recently launched National Cyber Forensics framework. It is department's endeavor to balance investigation priorities against right to privacy so that desired outcomes are achieved with minimal invasion of privacy.

247.5.4 Further, the Ministry also submitted as follows:

In the case of Income-tax Officer v. Seth Brothers(74 ITR 836 SC 1969), Hon'ble Supreme Court upheld the constitutionality of the provisions of the section 132 of the existing Act. In the said matter, it was further held that said section does not confer any arbitrary authority upon the revenue officers.

Further, the Hon'ble Karnataka HC has held in the case of C. Venkata Reddy And Anr. vs Income-Tax Officer (Central) I, reported as [1967]66 ITR 212 (KAR). that 'The only argument strongly pressed on this part of the case is that the initial authorisation of the search is left in the hands of an officer of the department and not in the hands of an independent person like the Magistrate under section 96 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. It is urged that an officer of the department, however high, cannot be said to be wholly free from an interest in the result in the same way as a judicial Magistrate maybe said to be and that, therefore, it may not be quite safe to proceed upon the assumption that the departmental officer will bring to bear on the question an independent, judicial, unbiased mind. It is further stated that an order by a Magistrate directing the issue of a warrant is amenable to correction by the High Court on revision and that there have been instances in which the High Courts have quashed the warrants issued by the Magistrates without proper application of the mind and without ascertaining whether the circumstances justifying the issue of a warrant actually exist.

It is no doubt true that an officer of the department cannot be said to be wholly free from some interest in the result as a Magistrate can be said to be. But the result that he is interested in is the same as, and not different from, the object of the statute itself, viz., bringing under assessment all income liable to tax and preventing evasion of tax. Such an interest cannot be said to disable an officer from performing the statutory duties impartially and with a sense of responsibility, unless of course any personal bias is alleged and is proved. Ordinarily, in the case of high-ranking officers functioning under statutes and discharging statutory duties, bias is not to be presumed because they are expected to act with a sense of responsibility appropriate to their position and duties which the statutes impose on them. Wherever personal bias is proved and wherever an officer acts in disregard of his statutory responsibility and issues an authorisation without satisfying himself about the preliminary conditions required by the particular statute, such whimsical act on his part is certainly open to correction by the High Court under article 226 of the Constitution.

We are not, therefore, satisfied that the safeguards provided in section 132 of the Income-tax Act are ineffective or illusory for reason only of the fact that the original authorisations for search are issued by an officer of the department and not by an independent authority like the Magistrate. We are not, therefore, satisfied that the safeguards provided in section 132 of the Income-tax Act are ineffective or illusory for reason only of the fact that the original authorisations for search are issued by an officer of the department and not by an independent authority like the Magistrate.'

Thus, the judiciary has also upheld the power of authorisation of search by the senior officers of the Department.

It may be noted that in the decision in the case of Pooran Mal vs. Director of Inspection [1974] 93 ITR 505 (SC), the constitutional validity of search & seizure operations under Section 132 of the Income-Tax Act' 1961 [analogous to clause 247 of the ITB' 2025] was decided. The Supreme Court emphasized that the Director of Inspection's powers are not absolute and that court intervention is limited to verifying legality and procedural correctness, not the merits of the assessment or investigation. The Court upheld the constitutionality of section 132 of the Income-Tax Act, 1961, which deals with search and seizure, and Rule 112 of the Income Tax Rules, 1962, stating that these restrictions are reasonable and do not violate Article 19(1)(f) and (g) of the Constitution. The Court acknowledged the need for robust search and seizure provisions to recover taxes owed and protect social security.

The court also discussed that 'Some points of lesser substance were mentioned in the petition memos in support of the challenge under articles14 and 19(1)(f) and (g). They were, however, not urged at the time of the hearing, as on the other grounds urged ,it was impossible to hold that the impugned provisions were violative of either article 14, 19 or 31. We may, however, mention in this context that these points had been raised in C. Venkata Reddy v. Income-tax Officer, (Central) I, Bangalore [1967] 66 ITR 212 (Mys.) and in Ramjibhai Kalidas v. I.G. Desai, Income-tax Officer[1971] 80 ITR 721 (Guj.), where they have been quite adequately dealt with and rejected.'
Thus, the Hon'ble Apex court has also upheld the decision of Hon'ble Karnataka HC as mentioned above.

In this regard, it is hereby also submitted that section 136 of the Income-tax Act, 1961 (hereinafter "the Act") provides that proceedings before the income-tax authorities to be judicial proceedings. Section 136 is reproduced below for the ready reference:

'Proceedings before income-tax authorities to be judicial proceedings.
136. Any proceeding under this Act before an income-tax authority shall be deemed to be a judicial proceeding within the meaning of sections 193 and 228 and for the purposes of section 196 of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860) and every income-tax authority shall be deemed to be a Civil Court for the purposes of section 195, but not for the purposes of Chapter XXVI of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974).'

Search and seizure action under the Income-tax Act is only a quasi-judicial proceeding, which is conducted in the presence of two independent witnesses. The authorised officer does not have the power to arrest any person in the course of search action.

The primary purpose of search and seizure action is to collect evidence, examine persons on oath and to seize assets/documents etc. as found necessary. Further, in view of the stringent provisions already laid out in the Income-tax Act and procedures prescribed by way of circulars, instructions etc., the safeguards are already in place regarding the conduct of search and seizure operations to and to prevent misuse of personal or business or professional information.

In view of the above, Magistrate approval before initiating search action is not required. Income Tax proceedings are judicial proceedings as per section 136 of IT Act 1961 and therefore such judicial proceedings cannot be subject to oversight by other judicial authority. suggestion may not be feasible. Therefore, the power to issue warrant by the senior officers of the Department is legally valid and constitutional.

247.5.5 On the issue of expansion of powers of Assessing Officer under Clause 247, the Ministry replied as under:

In clause 247 of the proposed Bill, the power of the authorised officer as regards recording of statement on oath during search proceedings, has been expanded to cover "any person who is present at the premises" at which search proceedings are being undertaken. During search, situations arise where a person though not possessing any books or other documents but is in the know of the business intricacies or is a key person managing business e.g. accountant, machine operator in the manufacturing industry, gatekeepers who are maintaining exit records, quality control persons who have complete production information and so on. Statements of such person also become extremely important. Therefore, practically these statements are relevant to conduct investigations. It is relevant to note that such statements are taken during the course of search and at the premise being searched. Thus, the amendment has been made to rationalise the provision.

247.5.6 For an in-depth examination of the Clause, the Committee consulted with other Ministries concerned viz. Ministry of Home Affairs, Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology and Ministry of Law and Justice. In a written reply on the topic 'Issues concerning Search and Seizure and Income Tax raids under the provisions of the Income-Tax Bill vis-à-vis the Right to Privacy of Individual', the Ministry of Home Affairs stated as follows:

In this regard it is stated that the relevant provisions relating to search and seizure under the proposed Income-Tax Bill, 2025, are given under clauses 247 to 251, which have been examined, and it has been found that as per the clause 247 (10), it is mentioned that the provisions of the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 (BNSS) relating to searches and seizure shall apply, so far as may be, to search and seizure under this section.

Further, it is highlighted that two Writ Petitions (Criminal) were filed before the Hon'ble Supreme Court, Writ Petition (Criminal) No. 138/2021 (PIL) "Rama Ramaswamy Vs UOI & Ors" and Writ Petition (Criminal) No. 395/2022 "M/s Foundation for Media Professionals Vs UOI & Ors". The petitioners have requested that the Right to Privacy of journalists, academicians, medical professionals, and doctors be protected during the investigation of the search and seizure of digital devices by Law Enforcement Agencies.

Accordingly, the Hon'ble Supreme Court vide order dated 07.11.2023 has directed the Union of India that there has to be a balancing of interests and proper guidelines need to be framed to protect the interest of the petitioners at the time of seizure, examination, and preservation of personal digital and electronic devices and their content.

In compliance with the order passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court, Indian Cyber Crime Coordination Centre (14C) under the Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) has prepared a "Guidelines on Seizure, Examination and Preservation of Electronic Devices and their Content" which is in its draft stage and pending for further consultation with concerned stakeholders. In these guidelines, the right to privacy, protection against disproportionate seizure, and other constitutional rights have been taken into consideration.

247.5.7 Similarly, on the 'Issues concerning Search and Seizure and Income Tax raids under the provisions of the Income-Tax Bill vis-à-vis the Right to Privacy of Individual', Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY) stated as follows:

The Digital Personal Data Protection (DPDP) Act, 2023 is a significant legislative step in India's data governance framework, aimed at empowering individuals by safeguarding their personal data. At its core, the DPDP Act mandates that the primary basis for processing personal data must be the free, informed, and specific consent of the data principal. However, recognizing the needs of State functions, certain categories of processing are exempt from certain obligations when personal data is processed by State or its instrumentalities for subsidies, benefits, in the interest of prevention, detection, investigation or prosecution of any offence or contravention or any function under any law for the time being in force in India or in the interest of sovereignty and integrity of India or security of the State. The DPDP Act also imposes general obligations on data fiduciaries and mandates them to implement appropriate technical and organizational measures to ensure the security of personal data and prevent breaches. Furthermore, Section 17 of the DPDP Act provides certain exemptions from its provisions for the purposes of enforcing a legal claim, or where it is necessary for the performance of any judicial or quasi-judicial function, or for the prevention, detection, investigation, or prosecution of any offence or contravention of existing laws in India.

2. Income-Tax Bill and DPDP Act

On 13th February 2025, the Ministry of Finance, through the Income Tax Department ("Department"), introduced the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 in Lok Sabha. The Bill seeks to replace the Income-Tax Act, 1961. Notably, Section 247 of the Bill grants authorities the power to search, seize, and access virtual digital spaces, including email servers, social media accounts, online investment account, trading account, remote or cloud server. Such action may involve accessing digital personal data. The current Income-Tax Act allows income tax authorities to enter and search buildings and break open locks if certain documents or books of accounts are not produced by a person for whom summons has been issued under the Act. It also empowers the authorities to inspect electronic records. The Income-Tax Bill has further introduced some provisions in this regard, which expands the scope of search and seizure. The relevant Sections of the Income-Tax Bill are reproduced below:

> 247 (1): Where the competent authority, in consequence of information in his possession, has reason to believe that—
>
> (b) any person is in possession of any asset or information in relation to any asset and such asset represents either wholly or partly, income or property which has not been, or would not be, disclosed, for the purposes of this Act, or the Black Money (Undisclosed Foreign Income and Assets) and Imposition of Tax Act, 2015, (herein referred to as the undisclosed income or property in this section), then the approving authority may authorise any Joint Director or Joint Commissioner or Assistant Director or Assistant Commissioner or Income-tax Officer, or any Joint Director or Joint Commissioner, so authorised, may authorise any Assistant Director or Assistant Commissioner or Income-tax Officer, hereinafter referred to as the authorised officer to—
>
> (ii) require any person, who is found to be in possession or control of any books of account or other documents maintained in the form of electronic record [as defined in section 2(1)(ha), (i), (j), (k), (l), (r), and (t) of the Information Technology Act, 2000], on computer systems, any information stored in an electronic media or computer systems, to afford the authorised officer with such reasonable technical and other assistance (including access code, by whatever name called) as may be necessary to enable the authorised officer to inspect any information, electronic records and communication or data contained in or available on such computer systems;
>
> (iii) break open the lock of any door, box, locker, safe, almirah, or other receptacle for exercising the powers conferred by clause (i), to enter and search any building, place, etc., where the keys thereof or the access to such building, place, etc., is not available, or gain access by overriding the access code to any said computer system, or virtual digital space, where the access code thereof is not available;
>
> 247(7)(a): "Where any books of account (in physical form or electronic form), other documents or asset, is found in the possession or control of any person in the course of a search, it may be presumed— (a) that such books of account, computer systems, virtual digital space, other documents or asset, belong or belongs to such person; (b) that the contents of such books of account, other documents, electronic content, records or communication found on such computer systems or virtual digital space, are true;"
>
> 261(i): "virtual digital space" means an environment, area or realm, that is constructed and experienced through computer technology and not the physical, tangible world which encompasses any digital realm that allows users to interact, communicate and perform activities using computer systems, computer networks, computer resources, communication devices, cyberspace, internet, worldwide web and emerging technologies, using data and information in the electronic form for creation or storage or exchange and includes— (i) email servers; (ii) social media account; (iii) online investment account, trading account, banking account, etc.; (iv) any website used for storing details of ownership of any asset; (v) remote server or cloud servers; (vi) digital application platforms; and (vii) any other space of similar nature."

Search and seizure and personal data protection:
The Bill retains the above-mentioned search and seizure provisions from the current Income-Tax Act, 1961, while widening its scope to allow authorities to gain access to a virtual digital space during such proceedings. This broadening of powers may be seen as a necessary measure to adapt to the realities of a rapidly evolving digital world.

The Bill defines virtual digital space as an environment, area, or realm that is constructed and experienced through computer technology. It includes email servers, social media accounts, online investment and trading accounts, and websites for storing details of asset ownership.

Notably, Section 2(t) of the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023 defines "personal data" as "any data about an individual who is identifiable by or in relation to such data". And Section 2(x) defines "processing" as "any wholly or partly automated operation or set of operations performed on digital personal data," expressly encompassing activities such as collection, recording, organisation, structuring, storage, retrieval, use, disclosure, and erasure. Further, Section 2(i) of the DPDP Act defines a "Data Fiduciary" as "any person who alone or in conjunction with other persons determines the purpose and means of processing of personal data."

From the combined reading of the above-mentioned definitions, any search and seizure of virtual digital spaces places the Income Tax Department in the role of a Data Fiduciary and will subject it to all the responsibilities and exemptions provided of a data fiduciary under the DPDP Act. Further, the DPDP Act states that data fiduciaries shall process data for a lawful purpose for which a data principal has given her consent (Sections 5 and 6), or for certain legitimate uses (Section 7). In the present scenario, Section 7(c) of the DPDP Act may be relevant as it permits processing for the purpose of performing a State function under any law without requiring consent, and reads as under:

"A Data Fiduciary may process personal data of a Data Principal for any of following uses, namely-- for the performance by the State or any of its instrumentalities of any function under any law for the time being in force in India".

Separately, Section 7(d) also provides processing without consent " for fulfilling any obligation under any law for the time being in force in India on any person to disclose any information to the State or any of its instrumentalities, subject to such processing being in accordance with the provisions regarding disclosure of such information in any other law for the time being in force".

However, an exemption from processing under these sections still obligates the Department to comply with the obligations of a Data Fiduciary under Section 8. This includes implementing appropriate technical and organisational measures to ensure effective observance of the provisions of the DPDP Act and the rules.

It is also important to note that Section 17(1)(b) and Section 17(1)(c) provide exemptions, from certain obligations under Chapter II, except sub-sections (1) and (5) of Section 8, Chapter III, and Section 16 of DPDP Act where the processing of personal data by any court or tribunal or any other body in India which is entrusted by law with the performance of any judicial or quasi-judicial or regulatory or supervisory function, where such processing is necessary for the performance of such function or where the processing of personal data is in the interest of prevention, detection, investigation or prosecution of any offence or contravention of any law in force in India. This means that a data fiduciary qualifying for this exemption will be exempt from notice and consent requirements, among others. However, the data fiduciary will still have to comply with the provisions of Section 8 (1), which holds the data fiduciary responsible for compliance by itself and any data processor acting on its behalf, and Section 8(5), which mandates the implementation of reasonable security safeguards to prevent personal data breaches.

3. Information Technology Act and Rules

While the DPDP Act is yet to come in force, the provisions of the IT Act 2000 and accompanying rules also become relevant in this regard. Under the Information Technology (Reasonable Security Practices and Procedures and Sensitive Personal Data or Information) Rules, 2011 ("SPDI Rules"), passwords and financial information are classified as sensitive personal data, and written consent is required before their collection and use by a body corporate. Disclosure of such data to third parties also typically requires prior permission from the individual concerned, unless specifically allowed by contract or necessary to comply with a legal obligation. However, there is an exception for Government agencies under Rule 6 of the SPDI Rules. A body corporate may share sensitive personal data, including passwords, with such agencies without obtaining prior consent, provided the agency is authorized under law and makes a formal written request stating the purpose of the request. Additionally, the Government agency must affirm that the information will not be published or shared with any other person.

4. Right to privacy – a fundamental right

On 24th Aug 2017, in the KS Puttaswamy case, nine judges of the Hon'ble Supreme Court unanimously recognised privacy as a fundamental right guaranteed by the Constitution, within Article 21 in particular and Part III on the whole. However, it also stated that like the right to life and liberty, right to privacy is not absolute. The limitations which operate on the right to life and personal liberty would operate on the right to privacy. Any curtailment or deprivation of that right would have pass the tests of legality, necessity, and proportionality. The relevant excerpts of the judgment, in the light of proposed Section 247 of the Bill and concerns raised against privacy, are as under:

> '176. The balance between data regulation and individual privacy raises complex issues requiring delicate balances to be drawn between the legitimate concerns of the State on one hand and individual interest in the protection of privacy on the other. …
>
> 180. While it intervenes to protect legitimate state interests, the state must nevertheless put into place a robust regime that ensures the fulfilment of a three-fold requirement. These three requirements apply to all restraints on privacy (not just informational privacy). They emanate from the procedural and content-based mandate of Article 21. The first requirement that there must be a law in existence to justify an encroachment on privacy is an express requirement of Article 21. For, no person can be deprived of his life or personal liberty except in accordance with the procedure established by law. The existence of law is an essential requirement. Second, the requirement of a need, in terms of a legitimate state aim, ensures that the nature and content of the law which imposes the restriction falls within the zone of reasonableness mandated by Article 14, which is a guarantee against arbitrary state action. The pursuit of a legitimate state aim ensures that the law does not suffer from manifest arbitrariness. Legitimacy, as a postulate, involves a value judgment. Judicial review does not re-appreciate or second guess the value judgment of the legislature but is for deciding whether the aim which is sought to be pursued suffers from palpable or manifest arbitrariness. The third requirement ensures that the means which are adopted by the legislature are proportional to the object and needs sought to be fulfilled by the law. Proportionality is an essential facet of the guarantee against arbitrary state action because it ensures that the nature and quality of the encroachment on the right is not disproportionate to the purpose of the law. Hence, the three fold requirement for a valid law arises out of the mutual inter-dependence between the fundamental guarantees against arbitrariness on the one hand and the protection of life and personal liberty, on the other. The right to privacy, which is an intrinsic part of the right to life and liberty, and the freedoms embodied in Part III is subject to the same restraints which apply to those freedoms. …
>
> 181. Apart from national security, the state may have justifiable reasons for the collection and storage of data..... But, the data which the state has collected has to be utilised for legitimate purposes of the state and ought not to be utilised unauthorizedly for extraneous purposes. This will ensure that the legitimate concerns of the state are duly safeguarded while, at the same time, protecting privacy concerns. Prevention and investigation of crime and protection of the revenue are among the legitimate aims of the state. …

183. Privacy has been held to be an intrinsic element of the right to life and personal liberty under Article 21 and as a constitutional value which is embodied in the fundamental freedoms embedded in Part III of the Constitution. Like the right to life and liberty, privacy is not absolute. The limitations which operate on the right to life and personal liberty would operate on the right to privacy. Any curtailment or deprivation of that right would have to take place under a regime of law. The procedure established by law must be fair, just and reasonable. The law which provides for the curtailment of the right must also be subject to constitutional safeguards. …

Para (T)(3)(H). Like other rights which form part of the fundamental freedoms protected by Part III, including the right to life and personal liberty under Article 21, privacy is not an absolute right. A law which encroaches upon privacy will have to withstand the touchstone of permissible restrictions on fundamental rights. In the context of Article 21 an invasion of privacy must be justified on the basis of a law which stipulates a procedure which is fair, just and reasonable. The law must also be valid with reference to the encroachment on life and personal liberty under Article 21. An invasion of life or personal liberty must meet the three fold requirement of (i) legality, which postulates the existence of law; (ii) need, defined in terms of a legitimate state aim; and (iii) proportionality which ensures a rational nexus between the objects and the means adopted to achieve them; …

Para T(5). The creation of such a regime requires a careful and sensitive balance between individual interests and legitimate concerns of the state. The legitimate aims of the state would include for instance protecting national security, preventing and investigating crime, encouraging innovation and the spread of knowledge, and preventing the dissipation of social welfare benefits.'

Therefore, it is clear that the right to privacy is limited, and shall be restricted on the basis of legitimate state aim, necessity and proportionality. In view of the above, the competent authority proposed under the draft Income-Tax Bill vide Section 247 may execute search and seizure under certain legitimate uses as envisaged in Section 7 of the DPDP Act while retaining appropriate data protection measures under Section 8 or under legitimate state functions in performance of any judicial or quasi-judicial or regulatory or supervisory function or in the interest of prevention, detection, investigation or prosecution of any offence as per Section 17(1)(c). It may be concluded that the current Income-Tax Bill, 2025 is aligned with the proposed data protection framework in India as well as the principles laid down in the Puttaswamy judgment.

247.5.8 Further on ‘‘Issues concerning Search and Seizure and Income Tax raids under the provisions of the Income-Tax Bill vis-à-vis the Right to Privacy of Individuals’, Legislative Department, Ministry of Law and Justice stated as follows:

(i) At the outset, it is to submit that the Legislative Department acts mainly as a service provider in so far as the legislative business of the Union Government is concerned in drafting legislations on the basis of the proposals received from various administrative Ministries/Departments.

(ii) On the issue under reference, it is submitted that the right to privacy, which is presently guaranteed under article 21 of the Constitution, is not absolute and is subject to restriction in certain situations. The seven exceptions to this right include national security, public order, morality, contempt of court, defamation, incitement to commit an offence, and prevention of crime. These restrictions are justified to protect the general welfare and maintain the social order

(iii)The statutes dealing with taxes empower specified authorities to carry out search and seizure subject to safeguards provided therein to protect individual rights and liberties from unwarranted State actions. The provisions of the Income-tax Act, I 961 permit search and seizure only when the relevant Income-tax Authority has reason to believe the factors specified in clauses (a) to (c) of sub-section (I) of section I 32 to enter the places provided therein and to search and seize any suspected books of account, documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing, etc., as specified in the said sub section.

(iv)Further, rule 112 of the Income-tax Rules, 1962 provides for the procedure to be adopted in conducting search and seizure by the Income-tax Authorities. The said rule, inter alia, elaborately provides for the procedure to be followed by the empowered Income-tax Authorities for conducting search and seizure in a lawful manner for the able administration and effective implementation of the provisions of the Income-tax Act, 196 I so as to protect the larger public interest of revenue, and to ensure deposit and safe custody of materials and other proceeds so seized in consequence to a search made, through the Custodian specified therein with any branch of the Reserve Bank of India or the State Bank of India or of its subsidiaries or the authorised bank or a Government Treasury.

(v) Also, the provisions of the Information Technology Act, 2000 provides for legal recognition of transactions carried out by means of electronic data interchange and other means of electronic communication, commonly referred to as electronic commerce, which involve the use of alternatives to paper-based methods of communication and storage of information, to facilitate electronic filing of documents with the Government agencies and governs digital signatures and protection of sensitive information such as personal data. The said Act was enacted with the goal of regulating the use of electronic communication and digital signatures and providing legal recognition to transactions carried out through electronic means. It provides for security measures to stop unauthorised access to computers, computer systems, and the data kept on them.

(vi) Reference is also drawn to the relevant provisions of the Digital Personal Data Protection Act,2023 in this context. Section 7 of the said Act relating to certain legitimate uses, inter alia, provides as under-

> "7. A Data Fiduciary may process personal data of a Data Principalfor any of following uses, namely:
> (a)….
> (b)…..
> (c) for the performance by the State or any of its instrumentalities of any firnction under any law for the time being in force in India or in the interest of sovereignty and integrity of India or security of the State;
> (d) for fulfilling any obligation under any law for the time being in force in India on any person to disclose any information to the State or an.y of its instntmentalities, subject to such processing being in accordance w'ith the provisions regarding disclosure of such information in any other law for the time being in force;"

Further, the provisions of section 17 , inter alia, provides as under:

" 17. (l) The provisions of Chapter II, except sub-sections (l) and (5) ofsection 8, and those of Chapter III and section 16 shall not apply where
(a) the processing of personal data is necessary for enforcing any legal right or claim;
(b) the processing ofpersonal data by any court or tribunal or any other body in India which is entntsted by law, with the performance of any judicial or quasi-judicial or regulatory or supervisory function, where such processing is necessary for the performance of such function:
(c) personal data is processed in the interest of preventiort, detection, investigation or prosecution of any offence or contravention ofany law for the time being in force in India
(d).. (e) …..
(f) the processing is for the purpose of ascertaining the financial information and assets and liabilities of any person who has defaulted in payment due on accoltnt of a loan or advance taken from a financial institttion, subject to such processing being in accordance w'ith the provisions regarding disclosure of information or data in any olher law for the time being in force

(2) The provisions of this Act shall not apply in respect of the processing of personal data
(a) by such instrumentality of the State as the Central Government may notify, in the interests of sovereignty and integrity of India, security of the State, friendly relations with .foreign States, maintenance of public order or preventing incitement to ony cognizable offence relating lo any of these, and the processing by the Central Government of an.v personal data that such instrumentalitl) may.furnish to it; and

(b) necessary for research, archiving or statistical purposes if the personal data is nol to be used to take any decision specific to a Data Principal and such processing is caried on in accordance with such standards as may be prescribed. "

Additionally, section 185 of the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 provides the basic procedure for conducting a search, and acts as a procedural safeguard in this regard, ensuring procedural due process .

(vii) The expression "reason to believe" does not have any statutory definition under tax laws, but has been defined under clause (29) of section 2 of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023 (section 26 of erstwhile Indian Penal Code) and interpreted by the Courts in a series ofcases. The said clause (29) defines the expression "reason to believe" as "A person is said to have "reason to believe" a thing, if he has sufficient cause to believe that thing but not otherwise". Such 'belief' should be honest and reasonable. ln ITO Vs. Lakhmani Mev'al Das IAIR 1976 SC 1753], the Supreme Court, while interpreting the expression "reason to believe" under section 147 ofthe Income-Tax Act, I961, observed as under:

> " ...the reasons for the formation of the belief must have a rational connectiort with or relevant bearing on the formation of the belief. Rational connection postulates that there must be a direct nexus or live link between the material coming to the notice... and the formation of... belief... The reason for the formation of the belief must be held in good faith and should not be a mere pretence. "

(viii) Also, the Hon'ble Supreme Court, in the case of Justice K.S.Puttaswamy (Retd) Vs. Union Of India, dated the 26th September, 2018 (2019 (l) SCC 1), has in paragraph 372, inter a/ia, observed that restrictions on the right to privacy may be justifiable in the following circumstances subject to the principle of proportionality:

> (a) the right to privacy must be considered in relation to its function in society and be balanced against other fundamental rights;
>
> (b) legitimate national security interest;
>
> (c) public interest including scientific or historical research purposes or statistical purposes;
>
> (d) the need of the competent investigation, prosecution of criminal against threat to public security;
>
> (e) the information does not relate to identified or identifiable natural person but remains anonymous. The European Union Regulation of 2016 refers to "pseudonymisation" which means the processing of personal data in such a manner that the personal data can no longer be attributed to a specific data subject without the use of additional information, provided that such additional information is kept separately and is subject to technical and organisational measures to ensure that the personal data are not attributed to an identihed or identif,rable natural person;

(f) the regulatory fiamework of tax and working of financial institutions, markets may require disclosure of private information. But then this would not entitle the disclosure of the information to all and sundry and there should be data protection rules according to the objectives of the processing. There may however, be processing which is compatible for the purposes for which it is initiallycollected.

2. Clause 247 of the Income{ax Bill, 2025, which is under examination before the Hon'ble Committee, provides for search and seizure and makes provisions providing sufficient safeguards for data protection, as well as for protecting the right to privacy of individuals from being violated.

247.5.9 The Department of Legal Affairs on ‘‘Issues concerning Search and Seizure and Income Tax raids under the provisions of the Income-Tax Bill vis-à-vis the Right to Privacy of Individuals’’ submitted their replies as follows:

2.The matter under consideration relates to the Clause 247 of the Income-Tax Bill, 2025 ("the Bill") which authorises Search and Seizure. Clause 247 of the Bill outlines the conditions under which tax authorities can conduct searches and seizures. Clause 247 of the Bill grants the competent authority the power to authorise searches and seizures. As per sub-clause (10) of Clause 247 of the Bill, the provisions of the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 relating to searches and seizures shall apply for the said section. It may be relevant to mention that the provisions of the Clause 247 appear to be similar to the provisions of Section 132 of the Income-Tax Act, 1961. However, clause 247 of the Bill expands the scope of existing Section 132 of the Income-Tax Act, 1961 and authorizes designated officers to access and search "virtual digital spaces"-a term encompassing emails, social media accounts, cloud storage, online banking, and other digital platforms if there are reasons to believe to be the case of tax evasion or undisclosed assets.

3. It may be pertinent to note here that as per Section 2 (d) of the Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam, 2023, the "document" means any matter expressed or described or otherwise recorded upon any substance by means of letters, figures or marks or any other means or by more than one of those means, intended to be used, or which maybe be used, for the purpose of recording that matter and includes electronic and digital records. As per Section 2 (1) (t) of Information Technology Act, 2000, electronic record means data, record or data generated, image or sound stored, received or sent in an electronic form or micro film or computer-generated micro fiche. A collective reading of all these provisions clearly reveals that after the enactment of Information Technology Act, 2000, the term document includes electronic and digital records.

4. The Right to Privacy is protected as an intrinsic part of the right to life and personal liberty under Article 21 and as a part of the freedoms guaranteed by Part III of the Constitution- Supreme Court in the case of KS Puttaswamy v. Union of India ((2017) 10 SCC 1). However, the Supreme Court ruled that the Right to Privacy is not absolute, but is subject to reasonable restrictions and laid down the three-part test regime which include Legality, Legitimate State Aim; and Proportionality and Procedural Guarantees. Furthermore, as laid down in the cases of E.P. Royappa v. State of Tamil Nadu (1978 (1) SCC 3) and Maneka Gandhi v. Union of India (1978 (1) SCC 248) that Article 14 strikes at arbitrariness in State action and ensures fairness and equality of treatment. It requires that State action must not be arbitrary and must be based on rational and relevant principles which is non-discriminatory.

5. The Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023 is enacted to provide for the processing of digital personal data in a manner that recognises both the right of individuals to protect their personal data and the need to process such personal data for lawful purposes and for matter connected therewith or incidental thereto. Under Section 4 (1), a person may process the personal data of a Data Principal only in accordance with the provisions of this Act and for a lawful purpose:

a. for which the Data Principal has given consent; or

b. for certain legitimate uses.

As per Section 4 (2), the expression "lawful purpose" means any purpose which is not expressly forbidden by law. Under sub-section (2) of Section 11, sharing of any personal data by the Data Fiduciary with any other Data Fiduciary authorised by law to obtain such personal data, where such sharing is pursuant to a request made in writing by such other Data Fiduciary for the purpose of prevention or detection or investigation of offences or cyber incidents, or for prosecution or punishment of offences.

6. We may mention that the issue raised for our consideration is the general interpretation. Full details of the case have not been referred to us. We have, however, examined the legal position in this note and in the light of the above factual and legal analysis, we are indicating below the broad conclusions, which have to be applied to the individual facts of the case appropriately:

i. Clause 247 of the Bill grants the competent authority the power to authorise searches and seizures. It may be relevant to mention that the provisions of the Clause 247 appear to be similar to the provisions of Section 132 of the Income-Tax Act, 1961.

ii. Clause 247 grants authorities the power to search buildings, places, vehicles or aircraft based on suspicion of hiding financial assets. It allows searches and seizures of persons and properties, without any prior judicial warrant, if there is reason to believe that the person has concealed or evaded income.

Clause 247 specifies that the authorised officers can enter and search premises, access electronic records and seize relevant documents and assets. Emphasis on digital documents and electronic media is an important feature.

iv. The Right to Privacy is protected as an intrinsic part of the right to life and personal liberty under Article 21 and as a part of the freedoms guaranteed by Part III of the Constitution- Supreme Court in the case of KS Puttaswamy v. Union of India. However, the Supreme Court ruled that the Right to Privacy is not absolute, but is subject to reasonable restrictions and laid down the three-part test regime which include Legality, Legitimate State Aim; and Proportionality and Procedural Guarantees.

v. Under the provisions of Section 4 of the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023, a person may process the personal data of a Data Principal for lawful purposes and legitimate uses.

vi. When the action taken by an authorised officers is not arbitrary and based on some rational and relevant principle which is non-discriminatory and not guided by extraneous or irrelevant considerations, it would not be denial of the principle of reasonableness and equality.

247.5.10 The Committee also clarified with the Department of Revenue regarding the reason behind deviation of clause 247 from the existing Section, to which the Department have given the following response:

The existing provision where it says the documents maintained in the form of electronic record is a very wide definition. This was introduced in the year 2002 and subsequent to that, other modes have also evolved over a period of time, clouds have come, the information is kept there, mobiles are there. So, there are different devices where the information is kept as against 2002. The fact that this provision was brought in 2002 reflects that as we moved along, the provisions kept on changing. So, now, when we are talking about 2025, going forward next 25 or 50 years this is going to be there, these have to be made explicit because there should not be scope for interpretation. That is point one. So, therefore, clarifying it does not add any powers as such to the tax department. That is point one.

The second point is that there is a distinction between the search, authorization of search and actual search taking place and getting hold of a digital data which may have a private data also. So, one is authorizing the search and conducting the search itself. Now, the present provisions are there.

..Now, for example, virtual digital assets. Now, this is a new thing which has evolved. Now, where does it fit in? So, that does not come in the definition. So, therefore, this definition has to evolve as the technology is evolving. We cannot be restrictive in this thing. Basically, we have to see that who actually authorizes the warrant of authorization. The search is conducted by an officer of the level of deputy commissioner of Income Tax or Assistant Commissioner of Income Tax. Actually, the search is conducted there and the warrant of authorization is signed by the Principal Director of Income Tax who is two levels above that officer. .The search is authorized by the Principal Director of Income Tax. It is his reason to believe and then, it is vetted by DG Investigation of Income Tax, who is one level higher. Actually, the search is conducted by the Deputy Commissioner or Assistant Commissioner or the Income Tax Officer.

247.5.11 When the Committee put forth their apprehension about ensuring checks and balances to prevent income tax raids from occurring at someone's discretion or in a whimsical manner, the Ministry submitted as follows:

हमारी जो सर्चेज होती हैं, उनकी सोर्सेज अलग-अलग होती हैं। कुछ केसेज में इंफॉर्मेन्ट आते हैं। हमारे यहां रिवार्ड स्कीम भी है। इंफॉर्मेन्ट्स आकर इंफॉर्मेशन देते हैं। हमारे जो असिस्टेंट डायरेक्टर और डिप्टी डायरेक्टर हैं, वे उनका वेरिफिकेशन करते हैं। उसी तरह हमारे सोर्सेज से भी इंफॉर्मेशंस आते हैं। आजकल कुछ अच्छा असेसमेंट हुआ, उससे भी इंफॉर्मेशन आ जाता है। हमारे पास टैक्स एविजन पेटिशन आती है। हमारे पास लोग लिख कर भेजते हैं। उसमें से भी कई बार अच्छी इंफॉर्मेशन आ जाती है। इन सारे इंफॉर्मेशंस को हमारे असिस्टेंट डायरेक्टर और डिप्टी डायरेक्टी की टीम वेरिफाई करके अपना केस बनाती है कि इस केस अनडिस्क्लोज्ड इनकम है और वह सर्च किये बिना हमारे सामने नहीं आएगा। वे अपना सैटिशफेक्शन नोट बना कर अपने हेड के साथ चर्चा करते हैं। एडिशनल डायरेक्टर जब सब कुछ से सैटिशफाइड हो जाता है, तब वह प्रिंसिपल डायरेक्टर के पास जाता है। इनकम टैक्स के जो प्रिंसिपल डायरेक्टर है, उनको वारंट देने का पावर है। जो रीजन टू बिलिव है कि इस केस सर्च होनी चाहिए, वह प्रिंसिपल डायरेक्टर ऑफ इनकम टैक्स का होता है। पहले जब केवल प्रिंसिपल डायरेक्टर ऑफ इनकम टैक्स सैटिसफाई हो जाता था, तब उसकी एक सैटिशफेकशन नोट बनती है। हमारे सैटिशफेकशन नोट कई पेजेज में होती है। जितने हमारे संबंधित इंफॉर्मेशन के डॉक्यूमेंटरी एविडेन्सेस हैं या हमारे पास जो भी डिटेल्स आये हुए हैं, सब उसके पार्ट बनते हैं। So, it is a very thick document, normally.

सर, बाद में एक और एडमिनिस्ट्रेटिव चेक लाया गया कि प्रिंसिपल डायरेक्टर को भी डायरेक्टर जेनरल ऑफ इनकम टैक्स इन्वेस्टिगेशन का एडमिनिस्ट्रेटिव अप्रूवल लेना होगा। वह एक अनदर चेक हो गया। वह चेक हायर लेवल तक पहुंच गया। उसके बाद जब यह पूरा काम हो जाता है, तब प्रिंसिपल डायरेक्टर ऑफ इनकम टैक्स वारंट इश्यू करते हैं।

सर, जो फील्ड में काम करते हैं और प्रोसेसिंग डिप्टी डायरेक्टर होता है, वह और उसकी टीम सर्च के लिए जाती है। वहां पर सभी के एसओपीज हैं। बार में एक्ट में यह भी संशोधन हुआ था कि हम स्टॉक एंड ट्रेड को सीज नहीं करते हैं। इसके अलावा, यह भी इंस्ट्रक्शंस हैं कि आप कोई भी डिसक्लोजर नहीं लेंगे। अगर असेसी ऑफर करें कि अभी जो भी टैक्स निकल रहा है, उसके लिए मैं आपको चेक दे देता हूं और आप इसे जमा कर दीजिए। मैं अपना टैक्स दे देता हूं। वह भी वे

नहीं ले सकते हैं। उनको कहा गया है कि आपका काम सिर्फ और सिर्फ एविडेन्सेज खोजना है। आप अनडिसक्लोज्ड इनकम के एविडेन्सेज खोजिए। जो अनडिसक्लोज्ड इनकम मिलता है, उसको आप सीज करके ले आइए। जब सीजर हो जाता है, यह दो स्वतंत्र साक्षियों के उपस्थिति में होता है। स्टेटमेंट भी उनकी उपस्थिति में रिकॉर्ड होता है। वे सभी पेपर्स पर साइन करते हैं। वहां पंचनामा बनती है। पंचनामा में पूरा डिटेल दिया जाता है। अगर सर्च में कोई अनटूवार्ड इंसीडेंस हो गया, कभी-कभी ऐसा हो जाता है, तो वह भी हमारे पंचनामा का पार्ट होता है। हमने जितने भी डॉक्यूमेंट्स सीज किये, सबकी पूरी लिस्टिंग होती है। जो डिजिटल डॉक्यूमेंट्स हैं, उनको हम क्लोन करके ले आते हैं।

247.5.12 Further, during the examination of the Clause, the Committee asked the Department to expound on recording the statement of any person on oath. The Department submitted as follows: "

सर, जो इनकम टैक्स अथॉरिटी है, उनको क्वासी जूडिशियल अथॉरिटी बनाया गया है। इनको पावर दिया गया है। क्लॉज 132 (4) में हमारी जो सर्च वाली प्रोविजन है, वह क्लीयर है कि जो अथॉराइज्ड ऑफिसर वहां पर गया हुआ है, जिसको सर्च करने के लिए अथॉराइज्ड किया गया है, उसको ऑन ओथ रिकार्ड स्टेटमेंट रिकॉर्ड करने का पावर देता है। हमारे जितने भी पावर्स हैं, वे एक्ट से निकल कर आ रही हैं। इसके ऊपर भी काफी पुरानी प्रोविजन है। कई कोर्ट्स के ऊपर इनके ऊपर डिसीजन्स भी हो चुके हैं। इसमें एक इश्यू आया था कि वारंट भी क्यों नहीं मजिस्ट्रेट देता है। उसके ऊपर भी मामला सुप्रीम कोर्ट तक जा चुका है। उन्होंने भी इसको अपहेल्ड किया है।

247.5.13 When the Committee asked the Ministry whether their process of recording the statement on oath is in compliant with judgement of Supreme Court, the Ministry agreed that it is in complaint.

247.5.14 The Committee have also sought information from the Ministry on statistics of search & seizure, successful rate etc.. The Ministry, accordingly, provided the following information:

The details with respect to search and seizure actions and which have taken place in last 3 years is as per table below:

F.Y.	Number of groups searched	Total Seizure (Rs. in crore)
2022-23	741	1765.56
2023-24	1166	2555.05
2024-25	1437	2503.73

Following are the major outcomes achieved through the search & seizure actions:

1. Seizure of unaccounted cash, jewellery etc.

2. Detection of unaccounted income: The value of admitted undisclosed income for previous 3 years are as follows:

F.Y.	Value of Undisclosed Income Admitted (Rs. in Crore)
2022-23	8417.23
2023-24	9099.14
2024-25	3791.61

It is, however, pertinent to inform that Department focuses on the collection of evidences of undisclosed income which can be established in court of law, instead of admission of such income.

3. Increase in tax collection

4. Deterrence effect and increase in voluntary tax compliance

5. Investigations of Black money and Benami cases Seach & seizure actions also result in unearthing of evidences related to black money and benami transactions. As on 31.03.2025, assessments have been completed in 1021 cases raising tax and penalty demand of over Rs. 35,105 crores approximately.

6. Sharing of Financial Intelligence with other Law Enforcement Agencies (LEAs).

247.5.15 For the specific query of the Committee regarding providing certified copy of the statement recorded during search at the time of search itself, the Ministry submitted as follows:

Regarding sharing of certified copy of statements, the search manual lays down the following instruction, viz.---

> "Copy of the statement should not be given to the deponent on the spot. In case any such person makes a request for providing him a copy of the statement subsequently, a decision may be taken in accordance with the Board's letter F.No. 286/57/2002-IT(Inv. II) dated the 3rd July, 200289, which inter alia provides that copies of statement(s) should be allowed within fifteen days from the date of receipt of application in this regard."

In this regard, it is stated that the statement of searched party is recorded during the search & seizure action as well as during the post search investigation where the evidences gathered during the search are confronted and explanations are sought. Certain statements provide leads for further investigation or consequential actions.

It would be premature to share the statements which are recorded during the search and seizure proceedings right on the culmination of the search proceedings as it would not only disclose the line of questioning to other individuals but would also hamper the consequential investigation. Where such statement is proposed to be used against the taxpayer, there it is shared with the taxpayer in any case.

Further, In Miss A vs The State Of Uttar Pradesh on 8 October, 2020, the Apex court upheld the similar view that under no circumstances copies of statements recorded under Section 164 of the Code can be furnished till appropriate orders are passed by the Court after taking cognizance in the matter.

247.5.16 During the deliberations, the Committee were also apprised by the Ministry regarding the drafting corrections.

247.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

247.6.1 The Committee note certain drafting corrections needed to be carried out in some sub-clauses as under:

(i) In sub-clause(5)(b), the word "with" (Line No.46) needs to be removed from phrase "or the Director General, as per with such procedure, as prescribed."

(ii) In sub-clause 247(9) the word "value" needs to be replaced by "valuer" (Line No.42).

(iii) Further, in sub-clause(9), the word "enforce" (Line No.43) needs to be replaced by "in force" and the phrase "as may be approved by the Principal Chief Commissioner or the Chief Commissioner or the Principal Director General or the Director General" need to be added for better clarity.

247.6.2 Apart from the above recommendations, the Committee find the clause to be adequate and in line with the corresponding section of the 1961 Act and accept the same as it stands.

Clause 248– Powers to requisition

248.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) Where the approving authority, in consequence of information in his possession, has reason to believe that—

(a) any person to whom a summons under section 246(1), or notice under section 268(1) was issued to produce, or cause to be produced, any books of account or other documents or any information stored in an electronic media or a computer systems has omitted or failed to produce, or cause to be produced, such books of account or other documents, or any information stored in an electronic media or a computer systems as required by such summons or notice and the said books of account or other documents or such electronic media or computer systems have been taken into custody by any officer or authority under any other law in force; or

(b) any books of account or other documents or any information stored in an electronic media or a computer systems will be useful for, or relevant to, any proceeding under this Act and any person to whom a summons or notice as aforesaid has been or might be issued will not, or would not, produce or cause to be produced, such books of account or other documents or any information stored in an electronic media or a computer system on the return of such books of account or other documents or such electronic media or computer system by any officer or authority by whom or which such books of account or other documents or such electronic media or computer system have been taken into custody under any other law in force; or

(c) any assets represent either wholly or partly income or property which has not been, or would not have been, disclosed for the purposes of this Act by any person from whose possession or control such assets have been taken into custody by any officer or authority under any other law in force,

then, the approving authority may authorise any, Joint Director or Joint Commissioner or Assistant Director or Assistant Commissioner or Income-tax Officer (hereinafter in this section and in section 489(2) referred to as the requisitioning officer) to require the officer or authority referred to in clause (a) or (b) or (c), to deliver such assets or books of account, other documents or such electronic media or computer system to the requisitioning officer.

(2) On a requisition being made under sub-section (1), the officer or authority referred to in clause (a) or (b) or (c), of that sub-section, shall deliver such assets or books of account or other documents or electronic media or computer system to the requisitioning officer either forthwith or when such officer or authority is of the opinion that it is no longer necessary to retain the same in his or its custody.

(3) Where any assets or books of account or other documents or electronic media or computer system have been delivered to the requisitioning officer, the provisions of sections 247(7) to (11), 250 and 251shall, so far as may be, apply as if such books of account or other documents or electronic media or computer system or assets had been seized under section 247 by the requisitioning officer from the custody of the person referred to in sub-section (1) (a) or (b) or (c), and as if for the words "the authorised officer", occurring in any of the aforesaid sections 247(7) to (11), 250and 251, the words "the requisitioning officer" were substituted.

248.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Powers to requisition books of account, etc.

132A. (1) Where the Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director or the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, in consequence of information in his possession, has reason to believe that—

(a) any person to whom a summons under sub-section (1) of section 37 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or under sub-section (1) of section 131 of this Act, or a notice under sub-section (4) of section 22 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, or under sub-section (1) of section 142 of this Act was issued to produce, or cause to be produced, any books of account or other documents has omitted or failed to produce, or cause to be produced, such books of account or other documents, as required by such summons or notice and the said books of account or other documents have been taken into custody by any officer or authority under any other law for the time being in force, or

(b) any books of account or other documents will be useful for, or relevant to, any proceeding under the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or under this Act and any person to whom a summons or notice as aforesaid has been or might be issued will not, or would not, produce or cause to be produced, such books of account or other documents on the return of such books of account or other documents by any officer or authority by whom or which such books of account or other documents have been taken into custody under any other law for the time being in force, or

(c) any assets represent either wholly or partly income or property which has not been, or would not have been, disclosed for the purposes of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or this Act by any person from whose possession or control such assets have been taken into custody by any officer or authority under any other law for the time being in force, then, the Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director or the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner may authorise any Additional Director, Additional Commissioner, Joint Director, Joint Commissioner, Assistant Director or Deputy Director, Assistant Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner or Income-tax Officer (hereafter in this section and in sub-section (2) of section 278D referred to as the requisitioning officer) to require the officer or authority referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) or clause (c), as the case may be, to deliver such books of account, other documents or assets to the requisitioning officer.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that the reason to believe, as recorded by the income-tax authority under this sub-section, shall not be disclosed to any person or any authority or the Appellate Tribunal.

(2) On a requisition being made under sub-section (1), the officer or authority referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) or clause (c), as the case may be, of that sub-section shall deliver the books of account, other documents or assets to the requisitioning officer either forthwith or when such officer or authority is of the opinion that it is no longer necessary to retain the same in his or its custody.

(3) Where any books of account, other documents or assets have been delivered to the requisitioning officer, the provisions of sub-sections (4A) to (14) (both inclusive) of section 132 and section 132B shall, so far as may be, apply as if such books of account, other documents or assets had been seized under sub-section (1) of section 132 by the requisitioning officer from the custody of the person referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) or clause (c), as the case may be, of sub-section (1) of this section and as if for the words "the authorised officer" occurring in any of the aforesaid sub-sections (4A) to (14), the words "the requisitioning officer" were substituted.

248.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 248 of the Bill provides for power to requisition. The clause corresponds to section 132A of the Act. There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. The language of the existing sections has also been simplified. E.g. terms like Approving Authority have been used in place of authorities prescribed as per the existing provisions of the Act. These terms have been defined in the clause 261 (Interpretation).

248.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

There should be a specific provision to release any goods which are requisitioned and which are stock in trade of the assessee. This is to bring the requisition provisions in sync with the search and seizure provisions. If the assets are stock in trade then the same cannot be seized. Similarly, if the assets are requisitioned, then the same cannot be kept in seizure and should be released.

248.5 Examination by the Committee:

248.5.1 To the above suggestion, the Department of Revenue submitted as follows:

सर, हमारे यहां सीज़र के दो प्रोविजन हैं, पहला सैक्शन 132 है, जिसमें हमारे आफिसर्स सर्च के लिए जाते हैं, स्पॉट पर सर्च करके सीज़ करके ले आते हैं और दूसरी प्रोविजन 132 ए है, उसमें हम सीज़ नहीं करते हैं। पुलिस कहीं सीजर कर लेती है, गोल्ड का, ज्वैलरी का, मनी का या कोई भी दूसरी अथॉरिटी से, कई बार कोर्ट में सीज़र हो जाता है, फिर वह मैटर वे हमें रेफर करते हैं। हम उसमें फिर अपनी इंक्वायरी करते हैं और हमें लगता है कि वह अनडिसक्लोज्ड असेट है तो हम एक रिक्वीजिशन सर्व करके उसे सीज़ कर लेते हैं। उनकी डिमांड यह है कि हम जो 132 में सीज़र करते हैं, स्पॉट में हमें स्टॉकिंग ट्रेड मिलता है, भले ही वह अनडिसक्लोज्ड हो, लेकिन हम उसे सीज़ नहीं कर सकते। यह हमारे एक्ट में मना किया हुआ है। वे बोलते हैं कि अगर रिक्वीजिशन में भी कोई स्टॉकिंग ट्रेड इनवॉल्व हो तो उसको आप सीज़ मत करिए।

हमारी दिक्कत यह है कि सीजर किसी और ने कर रखा है, हमें पता नहीं है कि स्टॉकिंग ट्रेड था या क्या था? जब हमारे पास इनफॉर्मेशन आती है तो वहां से रिक्वीजीशन करके ला रहे हैं, यह थोड़ा डिफिकल्ट होगा, इसीलिए यह प्रोविजन यहां नहीं है।

248.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note the justification provided by the Ministry and find the provisions of the Clause 248 in line with the existing provisions and mere textual simplification and therefore accept the Clause as proposed.

Clause 249– Reasons not to be disclosed

249.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

The reason to believe or reason to suspect, as referred to in section 247 or 248, recorded by the income-tax authority shall not be disclosed to any person or authority or the Appellate Tribunal.

249.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Search and seizure.

132. (1) Where the Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director or the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner or Additional Director or Additional Commissioner or Joint Director or Joint Commissioner in consequence of information in his possession, has reason to believe that—

(a) any person to whom a summons under sub-section (1) of section 37 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or under sub-section (1) of section 131 of this Act, or a notice under sub-section (4) of section 22 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, or under sub-section (1) of section 142 of this Act was issued to produce, or cause to be produced, any books of account or other documents has omitted or failed to produce, or cause to be produced, such books of account or other documents as required by such summons or notice, or

(b) any person to whom a summons or notice as aforesaid has been or might be issued will not, or would not, produce or cause to be produced, any books of account or other documents which will be useful for, or relevant to, any proceeding under the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or under this Act, or

(c) any person is in possession of any money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing and such money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing represents either wholly or partly income or property which has not been, or would not be, disclosed for the purposes of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or this Act (hereinafter in this section referred to as the undisclosed income or property),

then,—

(A) the Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director or the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, as the case may be, may authorise any Additional Director or Additional Commissioner or Joint Director, Joint Commissioner, Assistant Director or Deputy Director, Assistant Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner or Income-tax Officer, or

(B) such Additional Director or Additional Commissioner or Joint Director, or Joint Commissioner, as the case may be, may authorise any Assistant Director or Deputy Director, Assistant Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner or Income-tax Officer,

(the officer so authorised in all cases being hereinafter referred to as the authorised officer) to—

(i) enter and search any building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft where he has reason to suspect that such books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing are kept;

(ii) break open the lock of any door, box, locker, safe, almirah or other receptacle for exercising the powers conferred by clause (i) where the keys thereof are not available;

(iia) search any person who has got out of, or is about to get into, or is in, the building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft, if the authorised officer has reason to suspect that such person has secreted about his person any such books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing;

(iib) require any person who is found to be in possession or control of any books of account or other documents maintained in the form of electronic record as defined in clause (t) of sub-section (1) of section 2 of the Information Technology Act, 2000 (21 of 2000), to afford the authorised officer the necessary facility to inspect such books of account or other documents;

(iii) seize any such books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing found as a result of such search:

Providedthat bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing, being stock-in-trade of the business, found as a result of such search shall not be seized but the authorised officer shall make a note or inventory of such stock-in-trade of the business;

(iv) place marks of identification on any books of account or other documents or make or cause to be made extracts or copies therefrom;

(v) make a note or an inventory of any such money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing :

Provided that where any building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft referred to in clause (i) is within the area of jurisdiction of any Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, but such Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner has no jurisdiction over the person referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) or clause (c), then, notwithstanding anything contained in section 120, it shall be competent for him to exercise the powers under this sub-section in all cases where he has reason to believe that any delay in getting the authorisation from the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner having jurisdiction over such person may be prejudicial to the interests of the revenue :

Provided further that where it is not possible or practicable to take physical possession of any valuable article or thing and remove it to a safe place due to its volume, weight or other physical characteristics or due to its being of a dangerous nature, the authorised officer may serve an order on the owner or the person who is in immediate possession or control thereof that he shall not remove, part with or otherwise deal with it, except with the previous permission of such authorised officer and such action of the authorised officer shall be deemed to be seizure of such valuable article or thing under clause (iii):

Provided also that nothing contained in the second proviso shall apply in case of any valuable article or thing, being stock-in-trade of the business:

Provided also that no authorisation shall be issued by the Additional Director or Additional Commissioner or Joint Director or Joint Commissioner on or after the 1st day of October, 2009 unless he has been empowered by the Board to do so.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that the reason to believe, as recorded by the income-tax authority under this sub-section, shall not be disclosed to any person or any authority or the Appellate Tribunal.

(1A) Where any Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, in consequence of information in his possession, has reason to suspect that any books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing in respect of which an officer has been authorised by the Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director or any other Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal

Commissioner or Commissioner or Additional Director or Additional Commissioner or Joint Director or Joint Commissioner to take action under clauses (i) to (v) of sub-section (1) are or is kept in any building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft not mentioned in the authorisation under sub-section (1), such Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner may, notwithstanding anything contained in section, authorise the said officer to take action under any of the clauses aforesaid in respect of such building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that the reason to suspect, as recorded by the income-tax authority under this sub-section, shall not be disclosed to any person or any authority or the Appellate Tribunal.

[75][(2) The authorised officer may requisition the services of,—

(i) any police officer or of any officer of the Central Government, or of both; or

(ii) any person or entity as may be approved by the Principal Chief Commissioner or the Chief Commissioner or the Principal Director General or the Director General, in accordance with the procedure, as may be prescribed, in this regard,

to assist him for all or any of the purposes specified in sub-section (1) or sub-section (1A) and it shall be the duty of every such officer or person or entity to comply with such requisition.]

(3) The authorised officer may, where it is not practicable to seize any such books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing, for reasons other than those mentioned in the second proviso to sub-section (1), serve an order on the owner or the person who is in immediate possession or control thereof that he shall not remove, part with or otherwise deal with it except with the previous permission of such officer and such officer may take such steps as may be necessary for ensuring compliance with this sub-section.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that serving of an order as aforesaid under this sub-section shall not be deemed to be seizure of such books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing under clause (iii) of sub-section (1).

(4) The authorised officer may, during the course of the search or seizure, examine on oath any person who is found to be in possession or control of any books of account, documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing and any statement made by such person during such examination may thereafter be used in evidence in any proceeding under the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or under this Act.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that the examination of any person under this sub-section may be not merely in respect of any books of account, other documents or assets found as a result of the search, but also in respect of all matters relevant for the purposes of any investigation connected with any proceeding under the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or under this Act.

(4A) Where any books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing are or is found in the possession or control of any person in the course of a search, it may be presumed—

(i) that such books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing belong or belongs to such person;

(ii) that the contents of such books of account and other documents are true; and

(iii) that the signature and every other part of such books of account and other documents which purport to be in the handwriting of any particular person or which may reasonably be assumed to have been signed by, or to be in the handwriting of, any particular person, are in that person's handwriting, and in the case of a document stamped, executed or attested, that it was duly stamped and executed or attested by the person by whom it purports to have been so executed or attested.

(5) []

(6) []

(7) []

(8) The books of account or other documents seized under sub-section (1) or sub-section (1A) shall not be retained by the authorised officer for a period exceeding [76][one month from the end of the quarter in which the order of assessment or reassessment or recomputation is made] under sub-section (3) of section 143 or section 144 or section 147 or section 153A or clause (c) of section 158BC unless the reasons for retaining the same are recorded by him in writing and the approval of the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner, Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director for such retention is obtained :

Provided that the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner, Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director shall not authorise the retention of the books of account and other documents for a period exceeding thirty days after all the proceedings under the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or this Act in respect of the years for which the books of account or other documents are relevant are completed.

(8A) An order under sub-section (3) shall not be in force for a period exceeding sixty days from the date of the order.

(9) The person from whose custody any books of account or other documents are seized under sub-section (1) or sub-section (1A) may make copies thereof, or take extracts therefrom, in the presence of the authorised officer or any other person empowered by him in this behalf, at such place and time as the authorised officer may appoint in this behalf.

(9A) Where the authorised officer has no jurisdiction over the person referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) or clause (c) of sub-section (1), the books of account or other documents, or any money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing (hereafter in this section and in sections 132A and 132B referred to as the assets) seized under that sub-section shall be handed over by the authorised officer to the Assessing Officer having jurisdiction over such person within a period of sixty days from the date on which the last of the authorisations for search was executed and thereupon the powers exercisable by the authorised officer under sub-section (8) or sub-section (9) shall be exercisable by such Assessing Officer.

(9B) Where, during the course of the search or seizure or within a period of sixty days from the date on which the last of the authorisations for search was executed, the authorised officer, for reasons to be recorded in writing, is satisfied that for the purpose of protecting the interest of revenue, it is necessary so to do, he may with the previous approval of the Principal Director General or Director General or the Principal Director or Director, by order in writing, attach provisionally any property belonging to the assessee, and for the said purposes, the provisions of the Second Schedule shall, mutatis mutandis, apply.

(9C) Every provisional attachment made under sub-section (9B) shall cease to have effect after the expiry of a period of six months from the date of the order referred to in sub-section (9B).

[77][(9D) The authorised officer may, during the course of the search or seizure or within a period of sixty days from the date on which the last of the authorisations for search was executed, make a reference to,—

(i) a Valuation Officer referred to in section 142A; or

(ii) any other person or entity or any valuer registered by or under any law for the time being in force, as may be approved by the Principal Chief Commissioner or the Chief Commissioner or the Principal Director General or the Director General, in accordance with the procedure, as may be prescribed, in this regard,

who shall estimate the fair market value of the property in the manner as may be prescribed, and submit a report of the estimate to the authorised officer or the Assessing Officer, as the case may be, within a period of sixty days from the date of receipt of such reference.]

(10) If a person legally entitled to the books of account or other documents seized under sub-section (1) or sub-section (1A) objects for any reason to the approval given by the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner, Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director under sub-section (8), he may make an application to the Board stating therein the reasons for such objection and requesting for the return of the books of account or other documents and the Board may, after giving the applicant an opportunity of being heard, pass such orders as it thinks fit.

(11) []

(11A) []

(12) []

(13) The provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974), relating to searches and seizure shall apply, so far as may be, to searches and seizure under sub-section (1) or sub-section (1A).

(14) The Board may make rules in relation to any search or seizure under this section ; in particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for the procedure to be followed by the authorised officer—

(i) for obtaining ingress into any building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft to be searched where free ingress thereto is not available ;

(ii) for ensuring safe custody of any books of account or other documents or assets seized.

[78][Explanation 1.—For the purposes of sub-sections (9A), (9B) and (9D), the last of [79][authorisations] for search shall be deemed to have been executed,—

(a) in the case of search, on the conclusion of search as recorded in the last panchnama drawn in relation to any person in whose case the warrant of authorisation has been issued; or

(b) in the case of requisition under section 132A, on the actual receipt of the books of account or other documents or assets by the authorised officer.]

Explanation 2.—In this section, the word "proceeding" means any proceeding in respect of any year, whether under the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or this Act, which may be pending on the date on which a search is authorised under this section or which may have been completed on or before such date and includes also all proceedings under this Act which may be commenced after such date in respect of any year.

Powers to requisition books of account, etc.

132A. (1) Where the Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director or the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, in consequence of information in his possession, has reason to believe that—

(a) any person to whom a summons under sub-section (1) of section 37 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or under sub-section (1) of section 131 of this Act, or a notice under sub-section (4) of section 22 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, or under sub-section (1) of section 142 of this Act was issued to produce, or cause to be produced, any books of account or other documents has omitted or failed to produce, or cause to be produced, such books of account or other documents, as required by such summons or notice and the said books of account or other documents have been taken into custody by any officer or authority under any other law for the time being in force, or

(b) any books of account or other documents will be useful for, or relevant to, any proceeding under the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or under this Act and any person to whom a summons or notice as aforesaid has been or might be issued will not, or would not, produce or cause to be produced, such books of account or other documents on the return of such books of account or other documents by any officer or authority by whom or which such books of account or other documents have been taken into custody under any other law for the time being in force, or

(c) any assets represent either wholly or partly income or property which has not been, or would not have been, disclosed for the purposes of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or this Act by any person from whose possession or control such assets have been taken into custody by any officer or authority under any other law for the time being in force,

then, the Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director or the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner may authorise any Additional Director, Additional Commissioner, Joint Director, Joint Commissioner, Assistant Director or Deputy Director, Assistant Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner or Income-tax Officer (hereafter in this section and in sub-section (2) of section 278D referred to as the requisitioning officer) to require the officer or authority referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) or clause (c), as the case may be, to deliver such books of account, other documents or assets to the requisitioning officer.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that the reason to believe, as recorded by the income-tax authority under this sub-section, shall not be disclosed to any person or any authority or the Appellate Tribunal.

(2) On a requisition being made under sub-section (1), the officer or authority referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) or clause (c), as the case may be, of that sub-section shall deliver the books of account, other documents or assets to the requisitioning officer either forthwith or when such officer or authority is of the opinion that it is no longer necessary to retain the same in his or its custody.

(3) Where any books of account, other documents or assets have been delivered to the requisitioning officer, the provisions of sub-sections (4A) to (14) (both inclusive) of section 132 and section 132B shall, so far as may be, apply as if such books of account, other documents or assets had been seized under sub-section (1) of section 132 by the requisitioning officer from the custody of the person referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) or clause (c), as the case may be, of sub-section (1) of this section and as if for the words "the authorised officer" occurring in any of the aforesaid sub-sections (4A) to (14), the words "the requisitioning officer" were substituted.

249.3 Reasons Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 249 of the Bill provides for reasons not to be disclosed for invoking search and seizure provisions. The clause corresponds to Explanation(s) to section 132(1), 132(1A) & 132A(1) of the Act. There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

249.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

i. Introducing judicial warrants could significantly bolster fairness and accountability. Tax officials should appear before a designated civil court of law to hold in-camera proceedings to get a court order for search and seizure on the premises of a person whom they suspect of tax evasion. The tax authorities should provide to the Court the initiating officer's "reason to believe" and the approving officer's "reason to suspect" before they initiate a search.
ii. The Clause may be amended to provide that the "reasons to believe" must be supplied to the Appellate Authority or Tribunal in case any objection is raised by the taxpayer with regards to the legality of the search. Search is an extreme form of undertaking investigation, and such action must be taken within the contours of the law Reasons for undertaking search must be provided to evaluate if the search action was justified.

249.5 Examination by the Committee:

249.5.1 The corresponding replies submitted by the Ministry to the above suggestions are as under:

i. Incorporation of proportionality standard by requiring the least invasive method - Hon'ble Supreme Court in Justice K.S Puttaswamy v Union of India, (2017) 10 SCC 1, Defining 'reason to believe' to prevent arbitrariness Judicial authorisation process could be set in place Non-disclosure of reason to believe or reason to suspect, as referred to in section 247 – may prevent taxpayer from challenging the searches – Amendment may be considered Protection of digital evidence integrity.

ii. Clause 247(1)(ii) and Clause 247(1)(iii) empowering Revenue officials to gain access to any computer system or virtual digital space even if they have no relation with the subject matter of search, may be omitted.

249.5.2 During oral evidence, when the Committee asked the Department about the purpose of including this provision in the Bill and whether any analogous provision was there like Clause 249 in earlier Act, the Ministry replied as under:

> Sir, if there is a challenge to the satisfactions that are drawn, then it is presented in the writ form and then in sealed cover, we actually make it available to the judges of the High Court or the Supreme Court and then in the sealed cover, it is sent back. There is information is shared by an informant.
>
> If the apprehension is that once the information is shown, and the assessee or the taxpayer gets to know about it, then the identity of the informant, that gets compromised, there is a security angle also to it. So, these are the issues based on which this act, this provision was brought out. But at the same time, this is in writ, suppose a person challenges, then in sealed cover, the satisfaction note is shown to the hon. Judges of the High Court or the hon. Court, and then in sealed cover, it is returned back. So, that it is then in the safe custody of the officers who have conducted the, I mean, authorized the warrant. So, this is the provision.
>
> …
>
> Sir, I would like to draw your attention to Section 136 of the present Act. Sir, it is the 1961 Act. It says that the proceedings before income tax authorities to be judicial proceedings. So, any proceeding under this Act before an income tax authority shall be deemed to be a judicial proceeding. So, basically, what it says is that any proceeding, even while actually considering the warrant of authorization.
>
> ..

My point was that quasi-judicial is not purely an administrative, executive thing, basically, all the proceedings are quasi-judicial. So, there is also a judicial element involved into it.

..

Sir, the point that I was just trying to make was that there are certain situations where the provisions of Civil Procedure Code and CRPC, they are adjudicated or they are considered by the income tax authority. Therefore, it is not purely an executive function. That is point one. The other point is, when the person, when the officer is actually authorizing a warrant, then the proceedings before him, he is exercising it also in a quasi-judicial manner. That is the point that I was just trying to make. The other is that, if we go to the explanatory memorandum, which actually explained why the provisions of this explanation to 132(1) came, and if I may read, it says confidentiality and sensitivity are hallmarks of the proceedings under Section 132 and Section132A. However, certain judicial pronouncements have created ambiguity in respect of the disclosure of reason to believe or reason to suspect recorded by the income tax authority to conduct a search under 132 or to make requisition under 132A. It is therefore proposed to insert explanation to section 132(1) or sub-Section (1) to Section 132A to declare that reason to believe or reason to suspect, as the case may be, shall not be disclosed to any person or any authority or the tribunal. So, this was considered decision at that point in time in 2017 when this provision was made and in the context of certain course pronouncements which were there. But, Sir, we will examine UK and European countries as to how best this Right to Privacy is protected.

249.5.4 When the Committee asked the Ministry about the safeguards during the exercise of powers by income-tax authorities, the Ministry replied as follows:

Sir, the safeguards measures, if I may say so, it has to be more administrative also that once we seize the document, how do we make sure that it is done, the analysis is done in a sanitized manner, it is only seen by only those who are authorized, and in case, I mean, what safeguards are there so that no unauthorized person is able to see the data and it is, the analysis is done also in a safe, in a sense, in a location, at a place which is well protected and accountability is there. So, that is an administrative call that we have got to take.

249.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, upon deliberation on the Clause and the justification provided by the Ministry, find the provisions of the Clause 249 in line with the existing provisions of the 1961 Act and therefore accept the Clause as proposed.

Clause 250– Application of seized or requisitioned assets

250.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

(1) The Assessing Officer may recover the tax liability (including penalty or interest payable other than advance tax) out of the assets seized under section 247 or requisitioned under section 248, and such liability shall be the aggregate of—

(a) any existing liability under this Act, or under the Income-tax Act, 1961 or the Black Money (Undisclosed Foreign Income and Assets) and Imposition of Tax Act, 2015;

(b) any liability determined under this Act or under the Acts referred to in clause (a), up to the date of completion of the assessment or reassessment or recomputation in consequence to the search or the requisition;

(c) any liability in respect of which such person is in default or deemed to be in default under this Act or under the Income-tax Act,1961, determined on or after the completion of the assessment or reassessment or recomputation in consequence of the search or the requisition, and till the date of release of the assets; and

(d) any liability arising on an application made before the Interim Board of Settlement under section 245C(1) of the Income-tax Act, 1961.

(2) The Assessing Officer may release the assets seized or portion of such asset to the person from whose custody the assets were seized, on an application made by the person concerned within thirty days from the end of the month in which the asset was seized, after fulfilment of the following requirements:—

(a) satisfying himself about the nature and source of acquisition of any such asset;

(b) recovering any existing liability referred to in sub-section (1);

(c) obtaining prior approval of the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner.

(3) The assets referred to in sub-section (2) shall be released within one hundred and twenty days from the date on which the last of the authorisations for the search or requisition was executed.

(4) If the assets consist solely of money, or partly of money and partly of other assets, the Assessing Officer may apply such money in the discharge of the liabilities referred to in sub-section (1) and the assessee shall be discharged of such liability to the extent of the money so applied.

(5) The assets, other than money, may also be applied for discharge of liabilities referred to in sub-section (1) as remains undischarged and shall be deemed to be under distraint as if such distraint was effected by the Assessing Officer or Tax Recovery Officer under authorisation from the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner and the recovery of any liability out of such assets shall be effected in the manneras prescribed.

(6) The mode of recovery of liabilities under sub-section (1) shall not preclude the recovery of liabilities aforesaid by any other mode laid down in this Act.

(7) Any assets or proceeds thereof, which remain after the liabilities referred to in sub-section (1) are discharged shall be forthwith made over or paid to the concerned person.

(8) The Central Government shall pay simple interest at the rate of 0.5% for every month or part of a month for the period on the amount determined in accordance with the following formula:—

(A-B)+(C-D)

where —

A = the aggregate amount of money seized under section 247 or requisitioned under section 248;

B = the amount of money, if any, released under sub-section (2);

C = the proceeds, if any, of the assets sold towards the discharge of the liability under sub-section (1); and

D = the aggregate amount required to meet the liabilities referred to in sub-section (1).

(9) The interest referred to in sub-section (8) shall run from the date immediately following the expiry of one hundred and twenty days from the date on which the last of the authorisations for the search under section 247 or requisition under section 248, was executed to the date of completion of the assessment or reassessment or recomputation.

250.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Application of seized or requisitioned assets.

132B. (1) The assets seized under section 132 or requisitioned under section 132A may be dealt with in the following manner, namely:—

(i) the amount of any existing liability under this Act, the Wealth-tax Act, 1957 (27 of 1957), the Expenditure-tax Act, 1987 (35 of 1987), the Gift-tax Act, 1958 (18 of 1958) [79a][the Interest-tax Act, 1974 (45 of 1974) and the Black Money

(Undisclosed Foreign Income and Assets) and Imposition of Tax Act, 2015 (22 of 2015)], and the amount of the liability determined on completion of the assessment or reassessment or recomputation and the assessment of the year relevant to the previous year in which search is initiated or requisition is made, or the amount of liability determined on completion of the assessment under Chapter XIV-B for the block period, as the case may be (including any penalty levied or interest payable in connection with such assessment) and in respect of which such person is in default or is deemed to be in default, or the amount of liability arising on an application made before the Settlement Commission under sub-section (1) of section 245C, may be recovered out of such assets :

Provided that where the person concerned makes an application to the Assessing Officer within thirty days from the end of the month in which the asset was seized, for release of asset and the nature and source of acquisition of any such asset is explained to the satisfaction of the Assessing Officer, the amount of any existing liability referred to in this clause may be recovered out of such asset and the remaining portion, if any, of the asset may be released, with the prior approval of the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, to the person from whose custody the assets were seized:

Provided further that such asset or any portion thereof as is referred to in the first proviso shall be released within a period of one hundred and twenty days from the date on which the last of the authorisations for search under section 132 or for requisition under section 132A, as the case may be, was executed;

(ii) if the assets consist solely of money, or partly of money and partly of other assets, the Assessing Officer may apply such money in the discharge of the liabilities referred to in clause (i) and the assessee shall be discharged of such liability to the extent of the money so applied;

(iii) the assets other than money may also be applied for the discharge of any such liability referred to in clause (i) as remains undischarged and for this purpose such assets shall be deemed to be under distraint as if such distraint was effected by the Assessing Officer or, as the case may be, the Tax Recovery Officer under authorisation from the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner under sub-section (5) of section 226 and the Assessing Officer or, as the case may be, the Tax Recovery Officer may recover the amount of such liabilities by the sale of such assets and such sale shall be effected in the manner laid down in the Third Schedule.

(2) Nothing contained in sub-section (1) shall preclude the recovery of the amount of liabilities aforesaid by any other mode laid down in this Act.

(3) Any assets or proceeds thereof which remain after the liabilities referred to in clause (i) of sub-section (1) are discharged shall be forthwith made over or paid to the persons from whose custody the assets were seized.

(4) (a) The Central Government shall pay simple interest at the rate of one-half per cent for every month or part of a month on the amount by which the aggregate amount of money seized under section 132 or requisitioned under section 132A, as reduced by the amount of money, if any, released under the first proviso to clause (i) of sub-section (1), and of the proceeds, if any, of the assets sold towards the discharge of the existing liability referred to in clause (i) of sub-section (1), exceeds the aggregate of the amount required to meet the liabilities referred to in clause (i) of sub-section (1) of this section.

(b) Such interest shall run from the date immediately following the expiry of the period of one hundred and twenty days from the date on which the last of the authorisations for search under section 132 or requisition under section 132A was executed to the date of completion of the assessment or reassessment or recomputation.

Explanation 1.—In this section,—

(i) "block period" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (a) of section 158B;

(ii) "execution of an authorisation for search or requisition" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in [80][Explanation *to section 158B].

Explanation 2.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that the "existing liability" does not include advance tax payable in accordance with the provisions of Part C of Chapter XVII.

250.3 Reasons Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 250 of the Bill provides for application of seized or requisitioned assets. The clause corresponds to section 132B of the Act. There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. However, formula has been provided to calculate the amount on which central government shall pay the simple interest at the rate of 0.5% for every month, so as to eliminate the scope of any ambiguity.

250.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

A gist of the suggestions received from the stakeholders is as under:

i. The interest of 1% per month be provided if order is not passed/the assets are not released within the stipulated period, till the date of release of the assets. Also, a provision of appeal be provided, in such cases. If the order is not passed or assets are not released within stipulated period, there is no remedy provided No interest is provided on the value of seized assets like securities, FD's Jewelry etc This will give alternate remedy to the assessee Also, the tendency to hold on to the assets or not pass the order by the officers will be curbed.

ii. 250(1)(c) should be amended to restrict the application of seized assets to the pending demands on the date of search/ requisition and to demands arising out of assessments etc in relation to such search or requisition proceeding. The same cannot be held till the time assessee is in default in perpetuity. There should be a specific provision that an option may be given for release seized assets like jewellery etc., on giving of bank guarantee of the value of such jewellery on the date of application.

250.5 Examination by the Committee:

250.5.1 To the above suggestions, the Ministry replied as follows:

i. The suggestion seeks to amend clause 250(2) to provide for 1% interest per month if order is not passed/the assets are not released within the stipulated period, till the date of release of the assets and a provision of appeal, in such cases. It is in the nature of Policy Change which is outside the scope of the Bill. There is no change in the provisions of the Bill viz-a-viz Act. Clause 250 provides that Assessing Officer may recover the tax liability out of the seized or requisitioned assets. The main purpose of seizing these assets is to ensure the recovery of tax dues after completion of assessment. Further, as per clause 250(8) of the Bill, assessee is entitled to receive the interest of 0.5% per month in the case of refund. The rate of interest is same as interest paid to the tax payers in the case of refund under clause 437. Also, where assets themselves are appreciating, the taxpayer is entitled to the appreciated value. Assets like Jewellery are kept in Safe House till the recovery of the outstanding demand. On the complete recovery of the demand, Jewellery are returned back to the assessee. Value of Gold Jewellery continues to increase, even it is seized by the tax-authorities. Therefore, there is no loss to the tax-payers, if such jewellery is returned back after some time. Thus, the suggestion is not feasible.

ii. The suggestion seeks to provide for a specific provision for release seized assets like jewellery etc., on giving of bank guarantee of the value of such jewellery on the date of application. The suggestion is administrative in nature is already being implemented vide CBDT instruction F. No. 286/247/98-IT (Inv. II) (Release of seized assets) and F. No.286/6/2008-IT(Inv. II)(Release of seized assets other than cash). Thus, on production of bank guarantee, the jewellery is released to the assessee as per the said instruction.

250.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

250.6.1 The Committee, upon examination and the justification provided by the Ministry, find the provisions of the Clause 250 to be a textual simplification with no change in intent and in line with the existing provisions of the 1961 Act. The Ministry, under the Clause, has provided a formula to calculate the amount on which the central government shall pay the simple interest at the rate of 0.5% for every month, so as to eliminate the scope of any ambiguity. The Committee, therefore, accept the Clause as proposed.

250.6.2 The Committee further note in the Clause a cross reference to the 1961 Act, which is proposed to be repealed. Therefore, the Committee recommend the Ministry to remove the reference to the old Act, 1961 from the body of the Bill itself by clubbing it in the Savings clause coherently.

Clause 251– Copying, extraction, retention and release of books of account and documents seized or requisitioned

251.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

251. (1) Where, the authorised officer, referred to in section 247(1)(b) has no jurisdiction over the person from whom the assets or books of account or other documents or electronic media or computer system were seized or requisitioned under section 247(1) or 248, he shall hand over the seized or requisitioned assets or books of account or other documents or electronic media or computer system to the Assessing Officer having jurisdiction over such person and such Assessing Officer thereupon shall exercise the powers under sub-sections (2) to (4).

(2) The authorised officer or the Assessing Officer referred in sub-section (1), shall, on an application made by the person referred to therein, allow him to make copies or take extracts from, the material seized or requisitioned, at such place and time as appointed, and in the presence of a person empowered by such officer in this behalf.

(3) The authorised officer may—–

(a) retain the material seized or requisitioned, under section 247 or 248, up to one month from the end of the quarter in which the order of assessment or reassessment or recomputation is made;

(b) retain such material seized or requisitioned, beyond the period specified in clause (a), after recording reasons in writing and obtaining approval from the approving authority.

(4) The approving authority shall not allow the retention of material seized or requisitioned, beyond thirty days from the date on which all proceedings under this Act in respect of the years for which the material seized or requisitioned are relevant, are completed.

(5) If a person legally entitled to the material seized or requisitioned under section 247(1) or section 248, objects for any reason, to the approval given by approving authority under sub-section (3)(b), he may make an application to the Board stating therein the reasons for such objection and requesting for the return of the material seized or requisitioned and the Board may, after giving the applicant an opportunity of being heard, pass such orders as it thinks fit.

251.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Search and seizure.

132. (1) Where the Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director or the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal

Commissioner or Commissioner or Additional Director or Additional Commissioner or Joint Director or Joint Commissioner in consequence of information in his possession, has reason to believe that—

(a) any person to whom a summons under sub-section (1) of section 37 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or under sub-section (1) of section 131 of this Act, or a notice under sub-section (4) of section 22 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, or under sub-section (1) of section 142 of this Act was issued to produce, or cause to be produced, any books of account or other documents has omitted or failed to produce, or cause to be produced, such books of account or other documents as required by such summons or notice, or

(b) any person to whom a summons or notice as aforesaid has been or might be issued will not, or would not, produce or cause to be produced, any books of account or other documents which will be useful for, or relevant to, any proceeding under the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or under this Act, or

(c) any person is in possession of any money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing and such money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing represents either wholly or partly income or property which has not been, or would not be, disclosed for the purposes of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or this Act (hereinafter in this section referred to as the undisclosed income or property),

then,—

(A) the Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director or the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, as the case may be, may authorise any Additional Director or Additional Commissioner or Joint Director, Joint Commissioner, Assistant Director or Deputy Director, Assistant Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner or Income-tax Officer, or

(B) such Additional Director or Additional Commissioner or Joint Director, or Joint Commissioner, as the case may be, may authorise any Assistant Director or Deputy Director, Assistant Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner or Income-tax Officer,

(the officer so authorised in all cases being hereinafter referred to as the authorised officer) to—

(i) enter and search any building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft where he has reason to suspect that such books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing are kept;

(ii) break open the lock of any door, box, locker, safe, almirah or other receptacle for exercising the powers conferred by clause (i) where the keys thereof are not available;

(iia) search any person who has got out of, or is about to get into, or is in, the building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft, if the authorised officer has reason to suspect that such person has secreted about his person any such books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing;

(iib) require any person who is found to be in possession or control of any books of account or other documents maintained in the form of electronic record as defined in clause (t) of sub-section (1) of section 2 of the Information Technology Act, 2000 (21 of 2000), to afford the authorised officer the necessary facility to inspect such books of account or other documents;

(iii) seize any such books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing found as a result of such search:

Providedthat bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing, being stock-in-trade of the business, found as a result of such search shall not be seized but the authorised officer shall make a note or inventory of such stock-in-trade of the business;

(iv) place marks of identification on any books of account or other documents or make or cause to be made extracts or copies therefrom;

(v) make a note or an inventory of any such money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing :

Provided that where any building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft referred to in clause (i) is within the area of jurisdiction of any Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, but such Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner has no jurisdiction over the person referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) or clause (c), then, notwithstanding anything contained in section 120, it shall be competent for him to exercise the powers under this sub-section in all cases where he has reason to believe that any delay in getting the authorisation from the Principal Chief

Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner having jurisdiction over such person may be prejudicial to the interests of the revenue :

Provided further that where it is not possible or practicable to take physical possession of any valuable article or thing and remove it to a safe place due to its volume, weight or other physical characteristics or due to its being of a dangerous nature, the authorised officer may serve an order on the owner or the person who is in immediate possession or control thereof that he shall not remove, part with or otherwise deal with it, except with the previous permission of such authorised officer and such action of the authorised officer shall be deemed to be seizure of such valuable article or thing under clause (iii):

Provided also that nothing contained in the second proviso shall apply in case of any valuable article or thing, being stock-in-trade of the business:

Provided also that no authorisation shall be issued by the Additional Director or Additional Commissioner or Joint Director or Joint Commissioner on or after the 1st day of October, 2009 unless he has been empowered by the Board to do so.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that the reason to believe, as recorded by the income-tax authority under this sub-section, shall not be disclosed to any person or any authority or the Appellate Tribunal.

(1A) Where any Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, in consequence of information in his possession, has reason to suspect that any books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing in respect of which an officer has been authorised by the Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director or any other Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner or Additional Director or Additional Commissioner or Joint Director or Joint Commissioner to take action under clauses (i) to (v) of sub-section (1) are or is kept in any building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft not mentioned in the authorisation under sub-section (1), such Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner may, notwithstanding anything contained in section, authorise the said officer to take action under any of the clauses aforesaid in respect of such building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that the reason to suspect, as recorded by the income-tax authority under this sub-section, shall not be disclosed to any person or any authority or the Appellate Tribunal.

[75][(2) The authorised officer may requisition the services of,—

(i) any police officer or of any officer of the Central Government, or of both; or

(ii) any person or entity as may be approved by the Principal Chief Commissioner or the Chief Commissioner or the Principal Director General or the Director General, in accordance with the procedure, as may be prescribed, in this regard,

to assist him for all or any of the purposes specified in sub-section (1) or sub-section (1A) and it shall be the duty of every such officer or person or entity to comply with such requisition.]

(3) The authorised officer may, where it is not practicable to seize any such books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing, for reasons other than those mentioned in the second proviso to sub-section (1), serve an order on the owner or the person who is in immediate possession or control thereof that he shall not remove, part with or otherwise deal with it except with the previous permission of such officer and such officer may take such steps as may be necessary for ensuring compliance with this sub-section.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that serving of an order as aforesaid under this sub-section shall not be deemed to be seizure of such books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing under clause (iii) of sub-section (1).

(4) The authorised officer may, during the course of the search or seizure, examine on oath any person who is found to be in possession or control of any books of account, documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing and any statement made by such person during such examination may thereafter be used in evidence in any proceeding under the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or under this Act.

Explanation.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that the examination of any person under this sub-section may be not merely in respect of any books of account, other documents or assets found as a result of the search, but also in respect of all matters relevant for the purposes of any investigation connected with any proceeding under the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or under this Act.

(4A) Where any books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing are or is found in the possession or control of any person in the course of a search, it may be presumed—

(i) that such books of account, other documents, money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing belong or belongs to such person;

(ii) that the contents of such books of account and other documents are true; and

(iii) that the signature and every other part of such books of account and other documents which purport to be in the handwriting of any particular person or which may reasonably be assumed to have been signed by, or to be in the handwriting of, any particular person, are in that person's handwriting, and in the case of a document stamped, executed or attested, that it was duly stamped and executed or attested by the person by whom it purports to have been so executed or attested.

(5) []

(6) []

(7) []

(8) The books of account or other documents seized under sub-section (1) or sub-section (1A) shall not be retained by the authorised officer for a period exceeding [76][one month from the end of the quarter in which the order of assessment or reassessment or recomputation is made] under sub-section (3) of section 143 or section 144 or section 147 or section 153A or clause (c) of section 158BC unless the reasons for retaining the same are recorded by him in writing and the approval of the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner, Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director for such retention is obtained :

Provided that the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner, Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director shall not authorise the retention of the books of account and other documents for a period exceeding thirty days after all the proceedings under the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or this Act in respect of the years for which the books of account or other documents are relevant are completed.

(8A) An order under sub-section (3) shall not be in force for a period exceeding sixty days from the date of the order.

(9) The person from whose custody any books of account or other documents are seized under sub-section (1) or sub-section (1A) may make copies thereof, or take extracts therefrom, in the presence of the authorised officer or any other person empowered by him in this behalf, at such place and time as the authorised officer may appoint in this behalf.

(9A) Where the authorised officer has no jurisdiction over the person referred to in clause (a) or clause (b) or clause (c) of sub-section (1), the books of account or other documents, or any money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing (hereafter in this section and in sections 132A and 132B referred to as the assets) seized under that sub-section shall be handed over by the authorised officer to the Assessing Officer having jurisdiction over such person within a period of sixty days from the date on which the last of the authorisations for search was executed and thereupon the powers exercisable by the authorised officer under sub-section (8) or sub-section (9) shall be exercisable by such Assessing Officer.

(9B) Where, during the course of the search or seizure or within a period of sixty days from the date on which the last of the authorisations for search was executed, the authorised officer, for reasons to be recorded in writing, is satisfied that for the purpose of protecting the interest of revenue, it is necessary so to do, he may with the previous approval of the Principal Director General or Director General or the Principal Director or Director, by order in writing, attach provisionally any property belonging to the assessee, and for the said purposes, the provisions of the Second Schedule shall, mutatis mutandis, apply.

(9C) Every provisional attachment made under sub-section (9B) shall cease to have effect after the expiry of a period of six months from the date of the order referred to in sub-section (9B).

[77][(9D) The authorised officer may, during the course of the search or seizure or within a period of sixty days from the date on which the last of the authorisations for search was executed, make a reference to,—

(i) a Valuation Officer referred to in section 142A; or

(ii) any other person or entity or any valuer registered by or under any law for the time being in force, as may be approved by the Principal Chief Commissioner or the Chief Commissioner or the Principal Director General or the Director General, in accordance with the procedure, as may be prescribed, in this regard,

who shall estimate the fair market value of the property in the manner as may be prescribed, and submit a report of the estimate to the authorised officer or the Assessing Officer, as the case may be, within a period of sixty days from the date of receipt of such reference.]

(10) If a person legally entitled to the books of account or other documents seized under sub-section (1) or sub-section (1A) objects for any reason to the approval given by the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner, Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director under sub-section (8), he may make an application to the Board stating therein the reasons for such objection and requesting for the return of the books of account or other documents and the Board may, after giving the applicant an opportunity of being heard, pass such orders as it thinks fit.

(11) []

(11A) []

(12) []

(13) The provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974), relating to searches and seizure shall apply, so far as may be, to searches and seizure under sub-section (1) or sub-section (1A).

(14) The Board may make rules in relation to any search or seizure under this section ; in particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for the procedure to be followed by the authorised officer—

(i) for obtaining ingress into any building, place, vessel, vehicle or aircraft to be searched where free ingress thereto is not available ;

(ii) for ensuring safe custody of any books of account or other documents or assets seized.

[78][Explanation 1.—For the purposes of sub-sections (9A), (9B) and (9D), the last of [79][authorisations] for search shall be deemed to have been executed,—

(a) in the case of search, on the conclusion of search as recorded in the last panchnama drawn in relation to any person in whose case the warrant of authorisation has been issued; or

(b) in the case of requisition under section 132A, on the actual receipt of the books of account or other documents or assets by the authorised officer.]

Explanation 2.—In this section, the word "proceeding" means any proceeding in respect of any year, whether under the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or this Act, which may be pending on the date on which a search is authorised under this section or which may have been completed on or before such date and includes also all proceedings under this Act which may be commenced after such date in respect of any year.

251.2 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 251 of the Bill provides for copying, extraction, retention and release of books of account and documents seized or requisitioned. The clause corresponds to section 132 of the Act. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and rationalised.

251.3 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note the justification provided by the Ministry and find the provisions of the Clause 251 to be mere textual simplification and in line with the corresponding provisions of 1961 Act and therefore accept the Clause as it stands.

Clause 252– Power to call for information

252.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

252. (1) The Assessing Officer, the Joint Commissioner or the Joint Commissioner (Appeals) or the Commissioner (Appeals) may, for the purposes of this Act, require any—

(a) person, including a banking company or any officer thereof, to furnish, within such time, requisite information or to furnish statements of account and affairs verified in such manner specified by such authority, giving such information in relation to such matters as, in the opinion of such authority, will be useful for, or relevant to, any enquiry or proceedings under this Act;

(b) firm to furnish him with a return of the names and addresses of the partners of the firm and their respective shares;

(c) Hindu undivided family to furnish him with a return of the names and addresses of the manager and the members of the family;

(d) person whom he has reason to believe to be a trustee, guardian or agent, to furnish him with a return of the names of the persons for or of whom he is trustee, guardian or agent, and of their addresses;

(e) assessee to furnish a statement of the names and addresses of all persons to whom he has paid in any tax year, rent, interest, commission, royalty or brokerage, or any annuity, not being any annuity taxable under the head “Salaries” amounting to more than ten thousand rupees, or such higher amount as prescribed, together with particulars of all such payments made;

(f) dealer, broker or agent or any person concerned in the management of a stock or commodity exchange to furnish a statement of the names and addresses of all persons to whom he or the exchange has paid any sum in connection with the transfer, whether by way of sale, exchange or otherwise, of assets, or on whose behalf or from whom he or the exchange has received any such sum, together with particulars of all such payments and receipts.

(2) The powers conferred under sub-section (1)(a)may also be exercised by the competent authority or the Assistant Director.

(3)The powers undersub-section (1)—

(a) shall not be exercised by any income-tax authority below the rank of Principal Director or Director or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, other than the Joint Director or Assistant Director, without the prior approval of the Principal Director or Director or, as the case may be, the Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, in a case where no proceeding is pending.

(b) may be exercised by an income-tax authority notified under section 246(2)(a), for the purposes of an agreement referred to in section 159, even if no proceedings are pending before it or any other income-tax authority.

252.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Power to call for information.

133. The Assessing Officer, the Deputy Commissioner (Appeals), the Joint Commissioner or [81][the Joint Commissioner (Appeals) or] the Commissioner (Appeals) may, for the purposes of this Act,—

(1) require any firm to furnish him with a return of the names and addresses of the partners of the firm and their respective shares;

(2) require any Hindu undivided family to furnish him with a return of the names and addresses of the manager and the members of the family;

(3) require any person whom he has reason to believe to be a trustee, guardian or agent, to furnish him with a return of the names of the persons for or of whom he is trustee, guardian or agent, and of their addresses;

(4) require any assessee to furnish a statement of the names and addresses of all persons to whom he has paid in any previous year rent, interest, commission, royalty or brokerage, or any annuity, not being any annuity taxable under the head "Salaries" amounting to more than one thousand rupees, or such higher amount as may be prescribed, together with particulars of all such payments made;

(5) require any dealer, broker or agent or any person concerned in the management of a stock or commodity exchange to furnish a statement of the names and addresses of all persons to whom he or the exchange has paid any sum in connection with the transfer, whether by way of sale, exchange or otherwise, of assets, or on whose behalf or from whom he or the exchange has received any such sum, together with particulars of all such payments and receipts ;

(6) require any person, including a banking company or any officer thereof, to furnish information in relation to such points or matters, or to furnish statements of accounts and affairs verified in the manner specified by the Assessing Officer, the Deputy Commissioner (Appeals), the Joint Commissioner or [82][the Joint Commissioner (Appeals) or] the Commissioner (Appeals), giving information in relation to such points or matters as, in the opinion of the Assessing Officer, the Deputy Commissioner (Appeals), the Joint Commissioner or [82][the Joint Commissioner (Appeals) or] the Commissioner (Appeals), will be useful for, or relevant to, any enquiry or proceeding under this Act :

Provided that the powers referred to in clause (6), may also be exercised by the Principal Director General or Director-General, the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner, the Principal Director or Director or the Principal Commissioner or Commissioner or the Joint Director or Deputy Director or Assistant Director :

Provided further that the power in respect of an inquiry, in a case where no proceeding is pending, shall not be exercised by any income-tax authority below the rank of Principal Director or Director or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, other than the Joint Director or Deputy Director or Assistant Director, without the prior approval of the Principal Director or Director or, as the case may be, the Principal Commissioner or Commissioner:

Provided also that for the purposes of an agreement referred to in section 90 or section 90A, an income-tax authority notified under sub-section (2) of section 131 may exercise all the powers conferred under this section, notwithstanding that no proceedings are pending before it or any other income-tax authority.

252.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 252 of the Bill provides for power to call for information.The clause corresponds to section 133 of the Act.There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. However, reference of DCIT (Appeals) has been omitted considering that no such authority exists as on date. The threshold amount for which the information could be sought has been increased to Rs. 10,000 from the limit of Rs 1000.

252.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

252.4.1 A gist of the suggestions received stakeholders is as under:

Clause (e) of section 252(1) can be drafted as '(e) assessee to furnish a statement of the names and addresses of all persons to whom he has paid in any tax year, rent, interest, commission, royalty or brokerage, or any annuity (not being any annuity taxable under the head "Salaries"), amounting to more than ten thousand rupees, or such higher amount as prescribed, together with particulars of all such payments made;' The real intention of clause (e) of section 252(1) is that the limit of more than Rs.10000 applies to all types of payments enumerated in clause (e) and not to only annuity taxable under the head 'salaries. This bracketing is in consonance with the language of para 9.10 of CBDT circular no. 551 dated 23.01.1990 explaining the amendments by Direct Tax Laws (Amendment) Act, 1987.

252.5 Examination by the Committee:

252.5.1 With reference to the above suggestion, the Ministry stated as follows:

> The suggestion seeks to redraft clause 252(1)(e) as the limit of 10000 Rs. to call information has to be properly aligned to all items of payments mentioned there, and not just to annuity. The suggestion is in nature of drafting correction and acceptable.

252.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note that there is a need to amend Clause 252(1)(e) to clarify the application of the financial threshold for calling for information. The Committee observe that currently Clause 252(1)(e) empowers the income tax authority to require an assessee to furnish details of payments made for "rent, interest, commission, royalty or brokerage, or any annuity, not being any annuity taxable under the head 'Salaries' amounting to more than ten thousand rupees". The phrase "amounting to more than ten thousand rupees" appears to qualify only "any annuity, not being any annuity taxable under the head 'Salaries'". The Committee observe that this may create an ambiguity, suggesting that for other payments like rent, interest, commission, royalty, or brokerage, there might not be a specified minimum limit for which information can be sought. Therefore, the Committee recommend that the sub-clause (1)(e) may be amended to ensure that the limit of 'ten thousand rupees', clearly applies to all the preceding categories of payments '"rent, interest, commission, royalty or brokerage, or any annuity, not being any annuity taxable under the head 'Salaries'". The Committee, other than recommending the Ministry to carry out the necessary change, find the provisions to be a textual simplification and accept the Clause as proposed.

Clause 253– Powers of survey

253.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

253. (1) Irrespective of anything contained in any other provision of this Act, an income-tax authority may enter any place at which a business or profession, or activity for charitable purpose is carried on, whether such place be the principal place or not of such business or profession or of such activity for charitable purpose, where such place—

(a) is within the limits of the area assigned to such authority; or

(b) is occupied by any person in respect of whom such authority exercises jurisdiction; or

(c) in respect of which such authority is authorised for the purposes of this section by income-tax authority, who is assigned the area within which such place is situated or who exercises jurisdiction in respect of any person occupying such place, and, upon entry into such a place, may require any proprietor, trustee, employee or any other person who may at that time and place be attending in any manner to, or helping in, the carrying on of such business or profession or such activity for charitable purpose—

(i) to provide the necessary technical and other assistance (including access code) to enable the inspection of such books of account or other documents, or computer system, or any other material connected with such system including virtual digital space, as may be required and which may be available at such place;

(ii) to provide the necessary facility to check or verify the asset, stock, which may be found therein; and

(iii) to furnish such information as such authority may require as to any matter which may be useful for, or relevant to, any proceeding under this Act.

(2) For the purposes of this section, a place where a business or profession, or activity for charitable purpose is carried on shall also include any other place, whether any business or profession or activity for charitable purpose is carried on therein or not, in which the person carrying on such business or profession or activity for charitable purpose states that any of his books of account or other documents or any part of his cash or stock or other valuable article or thing or computer system relating to such business or profession or activity for charitable purpose, are or is kept.

(3) An income-tax authority may enter any place of business or profession or activity for charitable purpose referred to in sub-section (1), only during the hours at which such place is open for the conduct of business or profession or activity for charitable purpose and, in the case of any other place, only after sunrise and before sunset.

(4) An income-tax authority acting under this section may, for the purposes of verifying that tax has been deducted or collected at source as per the provisions of Chapter XIX-B of this Act, after sunrise and before sunset, enter—

(a) any office, or any other place where business or profession or activity for charitable purpose is carried on, within the limits of the area assigned to such authority; or

(b) any place in respect of which such authority is authorised for the purposes of this section by an income-tax authority who is assigned the area within which such place is situated or where books of account or documents are kept, and on entry to such office or place, the income-tax authority may require the deductor or the collector or any other person who may at that time and place be attending in any manner to such work—

(i) to provide the necessary facility to inspect such books of account or other documents, and access to electronic media or computer system, or virtual digital space, as may be required; and (ii) to furnish such information as may be required in relation to such matter.

(5) An income-tax authority acting under this section may—

(a) place marks of identification on the books of account or other documents inspected by such authority and make or cause to be made extracts or copies therefrom or from electronic media or computer system;

(b) record the statement of any person on oath which may be useful for, or relevant to, any proceeding under this Act;

(c) impound and retain in custody any books of account or other documents inspected by it, after recording reasons for doing so, for a period—

(i) of fifteen days (exclusive of holidays); or

(ii) exceeding fifteen days (exclusive of holidays) with the prior approval of the approving authority;

(d) make an inventory of any asset or stock checked or verified by such authority.

(6) The income-tax authority acting under sub-section (4) shall only undertake the actions referred under sub-sections (5)(a) and (5)(b).

(7) An income-tax authority acting under this section shall, on no account, remove or cause to be removed from the place wherein it has entered, any asset or stock.

(8) The income-tax authority having regard to the nature and scale of expenditure incurred, for the purposes of verifying the expenditure made by the person in connection with any function, ceremony or event, if it is of the opinion that it is necessary and expedient to do so, after such function, ceremony or event, may—

(a) require the person by whom such expenditure has been incurred or any other person who is likely to possess the information regarding such expenditure, to furnish such information which may be useful for, or relevant to, any proceeding under this Act;

(b) record the statements of the person or any other person on oath in this behalf; and

(c) any statement so recorded may thereafter be used as evidence in any proceeding under this Act.

(9) If a person is required to provide facility to the income-tax authority to inspect books of account or other documents in any form or to check or verify any cash, stock or other valuable article or thing or to furnish any information or to have his statement recorded, either refuses or evades to do so, the income-tax authority shall have all the powers under section 246(1) for enforcing compliance with the requirement.

(10) The action under this section shall be taken by an income-tax authority with the prior approval of the Principal Director General or the Director General or the Principal Chief Commissioner or the Chief Commissioner.

(11) In this section, “income-tax authority” means—

(a) a Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, a Principal Director or Director, a Joint Commissioner or Joint Director, an Assistant Director or a Deputy Director or an Assessing Officer, or a Tax Recovery Officer; and

(b) includes an Inspector of Income-tax, for the purposes of sub-sections, (1)(i), (5)(a) and (8), who is subordinate to the Principal Director General or the Director General or the Principal Chief Commissioner or the Chief Commissioner, as specified by the Board.

253.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Power of survey.

133A. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provision of this Act, an income-tax authority may enter—

(a) any place within the limits of the area assigned to him, or

(b) any place occupied by any person in respect of whom he exercises jurisdiction, or

(c) any place in respect of which he is authorised for the purposes of this section by such income-tax authority, who is assigned the area within which such place is situated or who exercises jurisdiction in respect of any person occupying such place, at which a business or profession or an activity for charitable purpose is carried on, whether such place be the principal place or not of such business or profession or of such activity for charitable purpose, and require any proprietor, trustee, employee or any other person who may at that time and place be attending in any manner to, or helping in, the carrying on of such business or profession or such activity for charitable purpose—

(i) to afford him the necessary facility to inspect such books of account or other documents as he may require and which may be available at such place,

(ii) to afford him the necessary facility to check or verify the cash, stock or other valuable article or thing which may be found therein, and

(iii) to furnish such information as he may require as to any matter which may be useful for, or relevant to, any proceeding under this Act.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section, a place where a business or profession or activity for charitable purpose is carried on shall also include any other place, whether any business or profession or activity for charitable purpose is carried on therein or not, in which the person carrying on the business or profession or activity for charitable purpose states that any of his books of account or other documents or any part of his cash or stock or other valuable article or thing relating to his business or profession or activity for charitable purpose are or is kept.

(2) An income-tax authority may enter any place of business or profession referred to in sub-section (1) only during the hours at which such place is open for the conduct of business or profession and, in the case of any other place, only after sunrise and before sunset.

(2A) Without prejudice to the provisions of sub-section (1), an income-tax authority acting under this sub-section may for the purpose of verifying that tax has been deducted or collected at source in accordance with the provisions under sub-heading B of Chapter XVII or under sub-heading BB of Chapter XVII, as the case may be, enter, after sunrise and before sunset, any office, or any other place where business or profession is carried on, within the limits of the area assigned to him, or any place in respect of which he is authorised for the purposes of this section by such income-tax authority who is assigned the area within which such place is situated, where books of account or documents are kept and require the deductor or the collector or any other person who may at that time and place be attending in any manner to such work,—

(i) to afford him the necessary facility to inspect such books of account or other documents as he may require and which may be available at such place, and

(ii) to furnish such information as he may require in relation to such matter.

(3) An income-tax authority acting under this section may,—

(i) if he so deems necessary, place marks of identification on the books of account or other documents inspected by him and make or cause to be made extracts or copies therefrom,

(ia) impound and retain in his custody for such period as he thinks fit any books of account or other documents inspected by him:

Provided that such income-tax authority shall not—

(a) impound any books of account or other documents except after recording his reasons for so doing; or

(b) retain in his custody any such books of account or other documents for a period exceeding fifteen days (exclusive of holidays) without obtaining the approval of the Principal Chief Commissioner or the Chief Commissioner or the Principal Director General or the Director General or the Principal Commissioner or the Commissioner or the Principal Director or the Director therefor, as the case may be,

(ii) make an inventory of any cash, stock or other valuable article or thing checked or verified by him,

(iii) record the statement of any person which may be useful for, or relevant to, any proceeding under this Act :

Provided that no action under clause (ia) or clause (ii) shall be taken by an income-tax authority acting under sub-section (2A).

(4) An income-tax authority acting under this section shall, on no account, remove or cause to be removed from the place wherein he has entered, any cash, stock or other valuable article or thing.

(5) Where, having regard to the nature and scale of expenditure incurred by an assessee, in connection with any function, ceremony or event, the income-tax authority is of the opinion that it is necessary or expedient so to do, he may, at any time after such function, ceremony or event, require the assessee by whom such expenditure has been incurred or any person who, in the opinion of the income-tax authority, is likely to possess information as respects the expenditure incurred, to furnish such information as he may require as to any matter which may be useful for, or relevant to, any proceeding under this Act and may have the statements of the assessee or any other person recorded and any statement so recorded may thereafter be used in evidence in any proceeding under this Act.

(6) If a person under this section is required to afford facility to the income-tax authority to inspect books of account or other documents or to check or verify any cash, stock or other valuable article or thing or to furnish any information or to have his statement recorded either refuses or evades to do so, the income-tax authority shall have all the powers under sub-section (1) of section 131 for enforcing compliance with the requirement made :

Provided that no action under this section shall be taken by an income-tax authority without the approval of the Principal Director General or the Director General or the Principal Chief Commissioner or the Chief Commissioner.

Explanation.—In this section,—

(a) "income-tax authority" means—

(i) a Principal Commissioner or Commissioner, a Principal Director or Director, a Joint Commissioner or Joint Director, an Assistant Director or a Deputy Director or an Assessing Officer, or a Tax Recovery Officer; and

(ii) includes an Inspector of Income-tax, for the purposes of clause (i) of sub-section (1), clause (i) of sub-section (3) and sub-section (5), who is subordinate to the Principal Director General or the Director General or the Principal Chief Commissioner or the Chief Commissioner, as may be specified by the Board;

(b) "proceeding" means any proceeding under this Act in respect of any year which may be pending on the date on which the powers under this section are exercised or which may have been completed on or before such date and includes also all proceedings under this Act which may be commenced after such date in respect of any year.

253.3 Reasons Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 253 of the Bill provides for power of survey.The clause corresponds to section 133A of the Act. The language of the existing section has been simplified. e.g. Approving Authority has been used in place of authorities prescribed as per the existing provisions of the Act. Further, provision of section 133A(3)(iii) of IT Act 1961 provides for recording the statement of any person which may be useful for, or relevant to, any proceeding under this Act. This caters to the situation where the assessee is cooperating with the Income tax authority. In situations where the assessee evades any answer or does not cooperate, the provision of recording statement under oath is available u/s 133A(6) by invoking the provisions of section 131 of I.T. Act 1961. Statements recorded u/s section 132(4) and section 131 of IT Act 1961 are taken under oath. Therefore, to rationalise the provisions, statement “on oath” is now provided in the said clause so that evidentiary value of such statement is not lost.

253.4 Important Views/Suggestions given by Experts/Stakeholders:

Under Section 133A of the existing Act, the Officer was empowered to record statement(s) of any person which may be useful. In Clause 253 of the New Bill, empowerment of the Income-tax Authority to record statements on oath can cause prejudice to a taxpayer, should such recording be under duress or resort to coercive measures. Therefore, retain the provisions of the Income-tax Act, 1961.

253.5 Examination by the Committee:

253.5.1 To the above suggestion, the Ministry replied as follows:

The provision of section 133A (3)(iii) of IT Act 1961 provides for recording the statement of any person which may be useful for, or relevant to, any proceeding under this Act. This caters to the situation where the assessee is cooperating with the Income tax authority.

In situations where the assessee evades any answer or does not cooperate, the provision of recording statement under oath is available u/s 133A(6) by invoking the provisions of section 131 of It Act 1961. The purpose of recording statement is collecting evidence which may be useful for, or relevant to, any proceeding under the Act. Therefore, the statement recorded during survey proceedings should have evidentiary value.

Further, statements recorded u/s section 132(4) and section 131 of IT Act 1961 are taken under oath. Therefore, a decision has been taken to introduce "on oath" in clause 253 so that evidentiary value of such statement is not lost.

Further it is a misplaced apprehension that statements on oath can cause prejudice to a taxpayer as the process of recording a statement remains the same, whether the statement is on oath or otherwise. The statement on oath is a technical requirement to satisfy the higher thresholds required in a court of law for admissibility of evidence. The amendment has been made with a view to rationalise the provision so as to provide tax certainty and reduce litigation and to make the language clear and direct. Therefore, no change in the provision may be necessary.

253.5.2 Regarding 'recording statements on oath, procedural safeguards, etc, the Ministry provided as under:

The Income Tax Authority may record the statement of any person during the course of survey u/s 133A which may be useful for, or relevant to, any proceedings under this Act. However, the statement recorded during the course of survey is not on 'oath', unlike the statements recorded u/s 132(4) during the course of search or statement recorded by issuing summons u/s 131. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of CIT vs S. Kader Khan Son 352 ITR 480, has dismissed the SLP against the decision of Hon'ble Madras HC reported in 300 ITR 157 thereby upholding its findings that section 133A does not empower any IT Authority to examine any person on oath, hence any such statement recorded have no evidentiary value and any admission made during such statement cannot by itself be made basis for addition. Several High Courts have rendered similar judgements. This led to a situation where the statement recorded during the course of survey is not serving any purpose. Therefore, the word 'oath' has been added in the bill under clause 253(5)(b) of the Income-Tax Bill so as to make the statement recorded during the course of survey as an admissible evidence in the court of law

…

The above concerns of the Hon'ble Committee are taken into due consideration. At present, there are adequate safeguards and guidelines available. They are listed as below:-

(a) The survey under clause 253(10) can be conducted only with the approval of Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Chief Commissioner or the Chief Commissioner. No survey can be conducted without approval of high ranking senior Income Tax Authorities as above. In first place, arbitrary surveys cannot be conducted as there is a mechanism provided in the Income-Tax Bill itself to supervise and approve the requirement for survey in specific cases based on the material brought on record for conducting survey in specific cases. The high ranking income tax authorities as mentioned above apply their mind and only if they are satisfied, the approval is granted for conducting survey.

(b) The CBDT has been issuing various circulars to avoid coercion or duress during the course of survey. The CBDT vide F.No. 286/98/2013-IT (Inv.II) dt. 18-12-2014 referred to instances of compliance of undue influence or coercion to admit undisclosed income during the course of search or survey conducted by the department. The circular refers to retractions in the subsequent proceedings since such statements are not backed by credible evidence. The Board highlighted that such action show the department as a whole and the officers concerned in poor light. Therefore, the Board emphasised upon the need to focus on gathering evidence during the survey and to strictly avoid obtaining admission of undisclosed income under coercion or undue influence. The Board also reiterated that recording of such statement under undue pressure or coercion shall be viewed adversely by the Board.

(c)Specific direction was also issued vide CBDT Letter F.No. 299/105/ 2014 IT(Inv.III)/162 dt 10-07-2017 that payment of taxes in any manner including collection of cheque in respect of any income even if disclosed by a person in statement, shall not be collected and the authorised officer conducting the survey must ensure this direction and will be held responsible for lapse.

(d) The CBDT vide F. No. 299/105/2014-Dir.(Inv.III)/241 dt. 09-08-2017 issued guidelines regarding conduct of survey u/s 133A of the IT Act based upon systems study conducted by Directorate of Income Tax (Vigilance) as a measure of preventive vigilance. This guideline says that the officers proposing to conduct survey to record the reasons for conducting the survey in a "Preparatory Note" and the approving authority may grant approval based upon such Preparatory Note. There are other guidelines for submission of reports, making of detailed inventory, focus on gathering evidence etc.

The above legal safeguards in law as well as various directions / guidelines issued by the CBDT already protects misuse of authority by way of recording statement under coercion or duress or undue influence during the course of survey.

It is submitted that placing the above instructions as a legal provision in the Bill would defeat the very purpose of simplification. Administrative instructions and circulars issued by the CBDT are equally binding upon the officers of the department. The High Courts have held in several cases that the circulars issued by the CBDT are binding on the officers of the department. The taxpayer has the right to question the officer who did not follow the directions of the CBDT either before the higher authorities of the Income

The Hon'ble Committee also expressed concern that the taxpayer must have right for legal representation during the course of recording of statement during survey to mitigate the risk of coercion or potential prejudice. The Supreme Court in the case of Birendera Kumar Pandey vs Union of India held that an advocate can be present during interrogation and recording of statement but a person is limited to observing at a visible but not audible distance. However, in Income Tax proceedings the representative of the assesee is allowed to be present at the time of recording of statement from the assessee. However, the representative is not allowed to interfere in the proceedings. As advised by the Hon'ble Committee, the assesee will be allowed legal representative during the course of recording of statement during survey to mitigate the risk of coercion or undue influence. An SOP in this regard will be considered for issue for the guidance of officers during the course of recording of statement during survey.

Taking into consideration all the concerns of the Hon'ble Committee to mitigate the risk of coercive or undue influence during the course of recording statement during survey, a detailed SOP will be considered for issue for the guidance of officers covering all the aspects discussed as above.

253.5.3 Further, on the matter of expansion of power of Assessing Officer under this Clause, the Ministry submitted as follows:

Clause 253: Introduction 'on oath' to improve evidentiary value while recording statement during survey.

Presently, an Income Tax Authority may record the statement of any person during the course of survey u/s 133A which may be useful for, or relevant to, any proceedings under this Act. However, the statement recorded during the course of survey is not on 'oath', unlike the statements recorded u/s 132(4) during the course of search or statement recorded by issuing summons u/s 131. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of CIT vs S. Kader Khan Son 352 ITR 480, has dismissed the SLP against the decision of Hon'ble Madras HC reported in 300 ITR 157 thereby upholding its findings that section 133A does not empower any IT Authority to examine any person on oath, hence any such statement recorded have no evidentiary value and any admission made during such statement cannot by itself be made basis for addition. Several High Courts have rendered similar judgements. This led to a situation where the statement recorded during the course of survey is not serving any purpose.

Therefore, the word 'oath' has been added in the bill under clause 253(5)(b) of the Income-Tax Bill so as to make the statement recorded during the course of survey as admissible evidence in the court of law. As desired by the Select Committee, legal opinion was sought from the Department of Legal Affairs, Ministry of Law as to whether statement on oath can be taken during the survey operations. Department of Legal Affairs, Ministry of Law in its opinion has stated-
……..

"….....

. In the light of the above legal and judicial analysis it can be inferred that incorporating a provision in Clause 253 (5) (b) to record the statement of any person on oath which may be useful for, or relevant to, any proceeding under the Act appears to be in accordance with the settled legal principles and there appears to be no legal or constitutional objection to the same.

.....

It is for the Department of Revenue to examine the same from the angle of policy and precedent and take a policy decision." Therefore, the amendment made in the provisions of the Bill satisfies the legal and constitutional principles.

253.5.4 The Committee sought clarification from the Ministry about the difference between the provisions in Clause 253 and the existing act. The Ministry replied as follows:

सर, अगर हम 1961 एक्ट के तहत सर्वे करने जाते थे तो उसमें एक प्रोविजन था कि आप स्टेटमेंट रिकॉर्ड कर सकते हैं। लेकिन उसमें ओथ लेकर नहीं था आप नॉर्मल स्टेटमेंट देते थे। दूसरा प्रोविजन यह था कि अगर असैसी कोऑपरेट नहीं कर रहा है तो आपको सैक्शन 131 में जो पावर दी हुई हैं, उनको आप इनवोक कर सकते हैं, जिसमें समन और ओथ रिकॉर्डेड आ जाता है। दूसरे वाले केस में अगर असैसी कॉपरेट नहीं कर रहा है और असैसिंग ऑफिसर ने उसको स्पॉट पर ही 131 का नोटिस देकर के स्टेटमेंट रिकॉर्ड किया तो वह ऑन ओथ होता था। लेकिन नॉर्मल स्टेटमेंट ओथ पर नहीं होती थी। नॉर्मली हमने जो सामने आया, उसी के बारे में पूछा, लेकिन अगर कोई डिसक्रिपेंसी निकलकर आती थी तो बाद में कोर्ट बोलती थी कि इस स्टेटमेंट का कोई एविडेंसरी वैल्यू नहीं है। इसका मामला सुप्रीम कोर्ट तक पहुंचा और एस. कादर खान के जजमेंट में उन्होंने बोला कि इसकी कोई एवेडेंसरी वैल्यू नहीं है। हम लोगों ने इसको भी ऑन ओथ कर दिया है ताकि जो भी रिकॉर्डेड हो, उसकी एवेडेंसरी वैल्यू बन जाए। लेकिन यहां एप्रिहेंशन व्यक्त किया गया है कि यह कोअर्सन और ड्यूरेस हो सकता है। उसके लिए हमारे डिपार्टमेंट ने काफी एक्शन लिए हुए हैं। हमारा सरक्यूलर है कि जो मना करता है कि आप स्पॉट पर जाकर टैक्स कलेक्शन के लिए कोई चैक नहीं लेंगे। दूसरा, आप स्टेटमेंट में कोई डिसक्लोजर नहीं लेंगे।

253.5.5 Further with regard to the difference between the provisions between Clause 247(Search and Seizure) and Clause 253(Power of survey) providing for 'oath in both the Clauses, the Ministry have stated as under:

सर, सर्वे बिजनेस प्रेमाइसेस पर होता है। बिजनेस प्रेमाइसेस सर्वे में जाने पर

बुक्स के अकाउंट्स देखना, बुक्स आइडेंटिफिकेशन या उससे स्टॉक को देखना व उसे वेरिफाई करना। अतः सर्वे बिजनेस प्रेमाइसेस के कॉंटेक्स्ट में है। सर्च में बिजनेस प्रेमाइसेस की भी सर्च हो सकती है और रेजिडेंशियल प्रेमाइसेस की भी हो सकती है। So, this is the fundamental difference between the two.

..

Sir, search is a different proceeding and survey is a different proceeding. Search is authorized by the Principal D.I., and there is a separate warrant of authorization which is there, and statement under 132 (4) can only be taken in respect of cases where a warrant of authorization for search has been issued. Survey is a different proceeding.

253.5.6 To Committee's specific query regarding expansion of powers to take 'oath' in Clause 253 in addition to Clause 247, the Ministry clarified as follows:

सर, अगर हम आइसोलेशन में इन चीजों को देखते हैं तो I can understand the concerns. We are aware of the real downsides to such powers. Yet, my request is, I will seek indulgence of the Committee. मैं इसको बिगर पिक्चर के रूप में देखने की कोशिश करता हूँ। We will start with Section 136 of the existing Act, जो नए वाले एक्ट में भी है। वह यह कहता है कि Proceedings before income tax authorities to be judicial proceedings. Any proceedings under the Act before an income tax authority, shall be deemed to be judicial proceedings. वह लिमिटेशन है। As you have rightly mentioned, income tax officers are not Judiciary.

सर, अगर हम आईपीसी में जाएं, I would like to read these three sections. Section 196 of IPC says as follows: "Whoever corruptly uses or attempts to use as true or genuine any evidence which is known to be false or fabricated shall be punished in the same same manner as if he gave or fabricated false evidence."

सर, दूसरा सैक्शन 193 बताया। Section 193 says as follows: "Whoever intentionally gives false evidence in any of a judicial proceeding, or fabricates false evidence for the purpose of being used in any stage of a judicial proceeding, shall be punished with imprisonment...".

Section 228 of IPC says: "Whoever intentionally offers any insult, or causes any interruption to any public servant, while such public servant is sitting in any stage of a judicial proceeding, shall be punished...".

जितनी भी ज्यूडिशियल पावर्स दी गई हैं, बेसिक ऑब्जेक्टिव था कि जो एविडेंस कलक्ट हो, जो व्यक्ति इनपुट दे, वह सच हो। इसके लिए कुछ ऑब्लिगेशन्स क्रिएट करने की बात है। अब सिचुएशन यह है कि सर्वे की स्टेज पर ओथ नहीं है। So, there is a gap. While you are expected to collect the right evidence, there is no oath-related legal obligation getting created upon the person. Secondly, already there is oath-related power given to Income-tax Department in more intense efforts like search and seizure. I will request hon. Chairperson to explain it. Search also does not happen as per court order. उसके लिए सिस्टम है, इसे एक्सप्लेन करेंगे।

हमारी रिक्वेस्ट है कि ओथ वाला एलीमेंट जोड़ा गया है, this is based on the judicial case CIT vs. Ms. S. Kadar Khan, which was referred to by an hon. Member also, where the कोर्ट का व्यु है कि ओथ नहीं तो एविडेंशियल वैल्यू नहीं है। अगर उसने झूठ बोला,

अगर हम यह क्लॉज़ बिना ओथ के हटा देते हैं, यह एविडेंस लेते ही नहीं हैं तो इस प्रोसेस की कोई वैल्यू नहीं होगी। आज अगर हम ओथ नहीं डालेंगे तो इस प्रोसेस को करने की कोई जरूरत ही नहीं हैं।

सर, अब हम इसकी जरूरत पर आते हैं।

…..

I agree 136 is there, but for some reason, this gap got interpreted by the Court.

आपने इसके बारे में कहा है इसलिए मैंने 136 से शुरू किया है कि 136 की रिक्वायरमेंट फिलअप करने के लिए हमें जरूरत नहीं थी, कोर्ट के व्यु लेने के कारण प्रेक्टिकली यह हो गया है कि अगर हम स्टेटमेंट बिना ओथ के लेते हैं तो उसकी वैल्यु नहीं होती है। अगर नहीं लेते हैं तो यह सैक्शन इन्फ्लक्चुअस हो जाएगा। I fully appreciate the concern of the Committee on the overreach. We are fully aware of that. My only request is that instead of looking at overreach at a certain step of the process, we should look at the checks and balances or the word 'safeguards' which was used by the Committee in the process itself. After all, collection of evidence is a part of a process of survey. So, the checks and balances or safeguards is coming in selecting a case for survey and certain other safeguards which the Department has administratively built as responsibility of officer who need to go for survey. The same way, it has been built for search. The problem with these proceedings is that at the end of the day, we have to depend on some judgement at the level of officers who are going to eventually take a decision. Binding them too much will obviously result in them finding it very difficult, because these are usually cases which are very deeply entrenched. To take out the evidence requires effort. सर, आपका कन्सर्न सेफगार्ड्स के बारे में है। यह प्रोसेस का पार्ट है। उसकी यह रिक्वायरमेंट है, अगर नहीं होती है, मैं पहले ही बता चुका हूं कि गैप हो सकता है।

जहां तक मिसयूज का सवाल है, I will request the Chairman and the Members to explain how do we go through the process of selecting a case for survey and how do we go through a process of selecting a case for search. There are a number of cases of search across the country. We have nine crore people who file IT returns and 800 cases are taken. सर्वे में उससे भी कम होते हैं। परस्पेक्टिव के लिए मैं रिक्वेस्ट करता हूं कि आप पांच मिनट एक्सप्लेन करने के लिए दीजिए।

253.5.7 Further they submitted as follows:

सर, 133ए किसके ऑथोराइजेशन से होता है, तो यहां भी चैक्स एंड बैलेंसिस हैं। फाइनेंस एक्ट, 2020 में एक प्रोवाइजो इन्सर्ट किया गया, a survey can be done only after the approval of the Principal DG or the DG or the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner. वहां भी सेफगार्ड्स हैं, ऐसा नहीं है कि कोई भी चला जाएगा, वहां भी एप्रूवल की बात है। एक इन्फार्मड डिसीजन होता है कि किसके यहां सर्वे करना है। That thing is there. As a part of the proceedings, as the Revenue Secretary has already mentioned, अगर एविडेंस या किसी स्टेटमेंट की वैल्यु ही नहीं होगी तो हम कैसे प्रोसीडिंग्स कंडक्ट करेंगे?

….

Basically, they have given this power to the Income Tax Officer for judicial proceedings for three provisions of IPC, but excluded a provision of CrPC. The hon. Member asked us what is that provision of IPC, exactly this provision. Income Tax Officers do not have powers to handle the offences related to violation. That is CrPC. Chapter 26 of CrPC says that a court will take cognisance of a false evidence on its own, but the Income Tax Officer cannot. He will ultimately file a complaint to a court, go and prove it to them that this person made a false statement. That power is not given, as was rightly pointed out, because the Income Tax Officers are not judges. So, the power has been limited. So, the chapter which you referred to, Chapter 26 talks of provisions as to offences affecting administration of justice. Amongst various things, it has powers of contempt, taking cognisance, which is not available with the Income Tax Officer. If you permit, I will request the Member to just explain the process and the way in which checks and balances are exercised while approving a case of search and survey.

.. सर्वे का एप्रूवल भी प्रिंसिपल चीफ कमिश्नर या चीफ कमिश्नर लेवल का ऑफिसर देता है।

वर्ष 2017 में, सर्वे में जो कम्प्लेंट्स आ रही थीं, विजिलेंस डायरेक्टोरेट ने उसके ऊपर स्टडी की। स्टडी करके यह बताया गया कि प्रिवेंटिव विजिलेंस के लिए क्या-क्या करना चाहिए, इसके ऊपर एक इंस्ट्रक्शन इश्यू किया। उसमें जो भी सर्वे करना चाहता है, जैसे सर्च करने के लिए रिजन्स रिकॉर्ड करना होता है। सर्वे के लिए भी उसको अपना नोट प्रिपेयर करना होता है, उसमें सारे फैक्ट्स रिकॉर्ड पर आने होते हैं कि मैं क्यों करना चाहता हूँ। मैं मानता हूँ कि कई बार यह हुआ होगा कि आईटीओ जाकर खुद ही अपने सर्वे करने लगा हो क्योंकि चेक एंड बैलेंस नहीं था। यह लाया गया। उसके बाद सर्वे करने के बाद कई सारे फॉर्म्स और रिपोर्ट्स इंट्रोड्यूस किये गये ताकि एकाउंटैबिलिटी रहे।

इसके बाद दूसरी बात आई कि जो एप्रिहेंशन था कि वह स्टेटमेंट रिकॉर्ड कर लेगा और उसको यूज करेगा एवं आगे कुछ नहीं करेगा। इसके ऊपर फिर से, 28.12. 2014 का एक इंस्ट्रक्शन है। मैं आपकी अनुमति से उसका जिस्ट पढ़ना चाहूँगा। इसमें लिखा है- The instruction referred to instances of complaints of undue influence or coercion to admit undisclosed income during the course of search or survey conducted by the Department. The circular refers to retractions in the subsequent proceedings since such statements are not backed by credible evidence. The Board highlighted that such action shows the Department as a whole and the officers concerned in poor light. Therefore, the Board emphasised upon the need to focus on gathering evidence during the survey --

Sir, this is very important and to strictly avoid obtaining admission of undisclosed income under coercion or undue influence. The Board also reiterated that recording of such statement under undue pressure or coercion shall be viewed adversely by the Board. So, we have already brought such strict provisions so that no such misuse happens.

Again, in 2017, even after that, some instances came where the Departmental authorities took cheques from the assessees for payment against tax. So, again another instruction was issued which says that payment of taxes in any manner, including collection of cheque in respect of any income, even if disclosed by a person in a statement, shall not be collected. The authorised officer conducting the survey must ensure this direction and will be held responsible for lapse.

आपने जो भी बात कही, वह बिल्कुल सही था। वह हो रहा था। लेकिन वर्ष 2014 से, दस साल के अन्दर, हम लोग काफी चेक एंड बैलेंस ले आए हैं। सर्वे के नम्बर भी काफी कम हो गये हैं, जो काफी ज्यादा होते थे, अभी ये काफी काफी कम हैं। एक तो अब उन्हें लिखना है कि मैं क्यों करना चाहता हूँ। उसके लिए वह बुक्स पढ़ेगा, एकाउंट्स देखेगा, तभी वह वहाँ पर जा सकता है। ऐसा नहीं है कि कभी भी मन किया और जाकर सर्वे कर लिया।

253.5.8 With regard to clarification sought whether statement on oath can be taken during the survey operations, the Department of Legal Affairs, Ministry of Law have submitted as follows:

…In the light of the above legal and judicial analysis it can be inferred that incorporating a provision in Clause 253 (5) (b) to record the statement of any person on oath which may be useful for, or relevant to, any proceeding under the Act appears to be in accordance with the settled legal principles and there appears to be no legal or constitutional objection to the same.

..... It is for the Department of Revenue to examine the same from the angle of policy and precedent and take a policy decision.

253.5.8.1 After referring to the reply of Department of Legal affairs above, the Ministry of Finance submitted to the Committee as “Thus, from the legal opinion it could be inferred that the amendment made in the Bill satisfies the legal and constitutional requirements.”

253.6 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, upon examination and justification provided by the Ministry, find the provisions of the Clause 253 in line with the existing provisions of the 1961 Act and therefore accept the Clause as proposed.

Clause 254– Power to collect certain information

254.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

254. (1) Irrespective of anything contained in any other provision of this Act, an income-tax authority may, for the purposes of collecting any information which may be useful for, or relevant to, the purposes of this Act, enter—

(a) any building or place within the limits of the area assigned to such authority; or

(b) any building or place occupied by any person in respect of whom such authority exercises jurisdiction, at which a business or profession is carried on, regardless of the fact that such place be the principal place or not of such business or profession and require any proprietor or employee or any other person, who may at that time and place, be attending in any manner to, or helping in, or carrying on of such business or profession, to furnish such information as prescribed.

(2) The income-tax authority may enter any place of business or profession referred to in sub-section (1) only during the hours at which such place is open for the conduct of business or profession.

(3) The income-tax authority acting under this section shall, on no account, remove or cause to be removed from the building or place wherein it has entered, any books of account or other documents or any cash or stock or other valuable article or thing.

(4) In this section, “income-tax authority” means—

(a) a Joint Commissioner, or a Joint Director or an Assistant Director or an Assessing Officer; and (b) an Inspector of Income-tax, authorised by the Assessing Officer to exercise the powers conferred under this section in relation to the area in respect of which the Assessing Officer exercises jurisdiction or part thereof.

254.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Power to collect certain information.

133B. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provision of this Act, an income-tax authority may, for the purpose of collecting any information which may be useful for, or relevant to, the purposes of this Act, enter—

(a) any building or place within the limits of the area assigned to such authority ; or

(b) any building or place occupied by any person in respect of whom he exercises jurisdiction,

at which a business or profession is carried on, whether such place be the principal place or not of such business or profession, and require any proprietor, employee or any other person who may at that time and place be attending in any manner to, or helping in, the carrying on of such business or profession to furnish such information as may be prescribed.

(2) An income-tax authority may enter any place of business or profession referred to in sub-section (1) only during the hours at which such place is open for the conduct of business or profession.

(3) For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that an income-tax authority acting under this section shall, on no account, remove or cause to be removed from the building or place wherein he has entered, any books of account or other documents or any cash, stock or other valuable article or thing.

Explanation.—In this section, "income-tax authority" means a Joint Commissioner, an Assistant Director or Deputy Director or an Assessing Officer, and includes an Inspector of Income-tax who has been authorised by the Assessing Officer to exercise the powers conferred under this section in relation to the area in respect of which the Assessing Officer exercises jurisdiction or part thereof.

254.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 254 of the Bill provides for power to collect certain information. The clause corresponds to section 133B of the Act.There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

254.4 Examination by the Committee:

254.4.1 The Committee sought clarification from the Ministry regarding determination that "any other person" present at the business or profession premises is indeed "attending in any manner to, or helping in, or carrying on of such business or profession," and the safeguards to prevent harassment of such individuals who have peripheral connection to the business. The Ministry submitted, in a written reply, as under:

> Clause 254 is a provision empowering the Income-tax Authority to collect information relevant for the purposes of the Act. The provision clearly states that besides the proprietor or employee, the other person, who can be required to furnish information, should be either attending to, or helping in, the carrying on of the business or profession. Further, there is a prescribed form (Form No. 45D) for furnishing the information to the Income-tax Authority under this provision. The Form clearly mandates the person furnishing the information to specify his capacity such as Director, Partner, Proprietor, Employee etc. Therefore, there is sufficient safeguard in the Act and the Rules (including form) to not require unconnected persons to furnish information.

Penalty under clause 466 (section 272AA) is leviable for failure to comply with the provisions of clause 254. No such penalty can be levied without providing sufficient opportunity to the person concerned. Further, such penalty order is also appealable before the appellate forums.

254.5 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, upon examination and justification provided by the Ministry, find the provisions of the Clause 254 in line with the existing provisions of the 1961 Act and therefore accept the Clause as proposed.

Clause 255– Power to inspect registers of companies

255.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

255. The Assessing Officer, assessment unit, verification unit, the Joint Commissioner or the Joint Commissioner (Appeals) or the Commissioner (Appeals), or any person subordinate thereof and authorised in writing in this behalf by such officer or authority, may inspect, and if necessary, take copies, or cause copies to be taken, of any register of the members, debenture holders or mortgagees of any company or of any entry in such register.

255.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Power to inspect registers of companies.

134. The Assessing Officer, the Deputy Commissioner (Appeals), the Joint Commissioner or [83][the Joint Commissioner (Appeals) or] the Commissioner (Appeals), or any person subordinate to him authorised in writing in this behalf by the Assessing Officer, the Deputy Commissioner (Appeals), the Joint Commissioner or [83][the Joint Commissioner (Appeals) or] the Commissioner (Appeals), may inspect, and if necessary, take copies, or cause copies to be taken, of any register of the members, debenture holders or mortgagees of any company or of any entry in such register.

255.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 255 of the Bill provides for power to inspect registers of companies. The clause corresponds to section 134 of the Act.There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

255.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note the justification provided by the Ministry and find the provisions of the Clause 255 to be textual simplification of the corresponding provisions of the existing Act and therefore accept the Clause as proposed.

Clause 256– Power of competent authority

256.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

256. The competent authority shall be competent to make any enquiry under this Act, and for this purpose, shall have all the powers that an Assessing Officer has under this Act in relation to the making of enquiries.

256.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Power of Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director, Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner and Joint Commissioner.

135. The Principal Director General or Director General or Principal Director or Director, the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner and the Joint Commissioner shall be competent to make any enquiry under this Act, and for this purpose shall have all the powers that an Assessing Officer has under this Act in relation to the making of enquiries.

256.3 Reasons Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 256 of the Bill provides for power of competent authority.The clause corresponds to section 135 of the Act.There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

256.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note the justification provided by the Ministry and find the provisions of the Clause 256 to be a textual simplification of the corresponding provisions of the existing Act and therefore accept the Clause as proposed.

Clause 257– Proceedings before income-tax authorities to be judicial proceedings.

257.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

257. (1) Any proceeding under this Act before an income-tax authority shall be deemed to be a judicial proceeding within the meaning of sections 229 and 267 and for the purposes of section 233 of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023.

(2) Every income-tax authority shall be deemed to be a Civil Court for the purposes of section 215 of the Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023.

257.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Proceedings before income-tax authorities to be judicial proceedings.

136. Any proceeding under this Act before an income-tax authority shall be deemed to be a judicial proceeding within the meaning of sections 193 and 228 and for the purposes of section 196 of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860) and every income-tax authority shall be deemed to be a Civil Court for the purposes of section 195, but not for the purposes of Chapter XXVI of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974).

257.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 257 of the Bill provides for proceedings before income-tax authorities to be judicial proceedings. The clause corresponds to section 136 of the Act.There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause. However, ‘Bhartiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023’ is incorporated in place of Indian Penal Code and “Bhartiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 is incorporated in place of Code of Criminal Procedure.

257.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note the justification provided by the Ministry and find the provisions of the Clause 257 to be textual simplification of the existing provisions with the same intent in this clause. The Committee, therefore, accept the Clause as it stands.

Clause 258– Disclosure of information relating to assessees

258.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

258. (1) The Board or any other income-tax authority specified by it by an order in this behalf, may furnish or cause to be furnished to—

(a) any officer, authority or body performing any functions under any law relating to the imposition of any tax, duty or cess, or dealings in foreign exchange as defined in section 2(n) of the Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999; or

(b) such officer, authority or body performing functions under any other law, if in the opinion of the Central Government it is necessary so to do in the public interest, as it may specify by notification in this behalf, any such information received or obtained by any income-tax authority in the performance of its functions under this Act, as may, in the opinion of the Board or other income-tax authority, be necessary for the purpose of enabling the officer, authority or body, to perform his or its functions under that law.

(2) The Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner may furnish or cause to be furnished to a person, the information relating to any assessee received or obtained by any income-tax authority in the performance of his functions under this Act,—

(a) on an application made by such person to the aforesaid authorities in the prescribed form and on being satisfied that it is in the public interest so to do; and

(b) the decision of the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner in this behalf, shall be final and shall not be called in question in any court of law.

(3) Irrespective of anything contained in sub-section (1) or(2) or any other law in force, the Central Government may, having regard to the practices and usages, customary or any other relevant factors, by notification, direct that no information or document shall be furnished or produced by a public servant in respect of such matters relating to such class of assessees except to such authorities as specified in that notification.

258.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Disclosure of information respecting assessees.

138. (1) (a) The Board or any other income-tax authority specified by it by a general or special order in this behalf may furnish or cause to be furnished to—

(i) any officer, authority or body performing any functions under any law relating to the imposition of any tax, duty or cess, or to dealings in foreign exchange as defined in clause (n) of section 2 of the Foreign Exchange Management Act,

1999 (42 of 1999); or

(ii) such officer, authority or body performing functions under any other law as the Central Government may, if in its opinion it is necessary so to do in the public interest, specify by notification in the Official Gazette in this behalf, any such information received or obtained by any income-tax authority in the performance of his functions under this Act, as may, in the opinion of the Board or other income-tax authority, be necessary for the purpose of enabling the officer, authority or body to perform his or its functions under that law.

any such information received or obtained by any income-tax authority in the performance of his functions under this Act, as may, in the opinion of the Board or other income-tax authority, be necessary for the purpose of enabling the officer, authority or body to perform his or its functions under that law.

(b) Where a person makes an application to the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner in the prescribed form for any information relating to any assessee received or obtained by any income-tax authority in the performance of his functions under this Act, the Principal Chief Commissioner or Chief Commissioner or Principal Commissioner or Commissioner may, if he is satisfied that it is in the public interest so to do, furnish or cause to be furnished the information asked for and his decision in this behalf shall be final and shall not be called in question in any court of law.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1) or any other law for the time being in force, the Central Government may, having regard to the practices and usages customary or any other relevant factors, by order notified in the Official Gazette, direct that no information or document shall be furnished or produced by a public servant in respect of such matters relating to such class of assessees or except to such authorities as may be specified in the order.

258.3 Reasons/Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 258 of the Bill provides disclosure of information relating to assesses.The clause corresponds to section 138 of the Act.There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

258.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note the justification provided by the Ministry and find the provisions of the Clause 258 to be textual simplification and in line with the existing provisions of the 1961 Act and therefore accept the Clause as proposed.

Clause 259– Power to call for information by prescribed income-tax authority.

259.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

259. (1) For the purposes of verification of information in the possession of the prescribed income-tax authority, such authority may issue a notice requiring any person to furnish any information as may be useful for, or relevant to, any inquiry or proceeding under this Act in such form and manner and within such time, as specified in such notice.

(2) The prescribed income-tax authority may process and utilise such information and document received by him as per the scheme notified under section 260.

259.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Power to call for information by prescribed income-tax authority.

133C. (1) The prescribed income-tax authority may, for the purposes of verification of information in its possession relating to any person, issue a notice to such person requiring him, on or before a date to be specified therein, to furnish information or documents verified in the manner specified therein, which may be useful for, or relevant to, any inquiry or proceeding under this Act.

(2) Where any information or document has been received in response to a notice issued under sub-section (1), the prescribed income-tax authority may process and utilise such information and document in accordance with the scheme notified under sub-section (3) or the provisions of section 135A.

(3) The Board may make a scheme for centralised issuance of notice and for processing of information or documents and making available the outcome of the processing to the Assessing Officer.

(4) The scheme made under sub-section (3) shall cease to have effect from the date on which the scheme notified under section 135A in respect of this section comes into effect.

Explanation.—In this section, the term "proceeding" shall have the meaning assigned to it in clause (b) of the Explanation to section 133A.

259.3 Reasons Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 259 of the Bill provides for power to call for information by prescribed income-tax authorityThe clause corresponds to section 133C of the Act.There is no policy change. The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

259.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee note the justification provided by the Ministry and find the provisions of the Clause 259 to be a textual simplification of the existing provisions of the 1961 Act and therefore accept the Clause as proposed.

Clause 260– Faceless collection of information.

260.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

260. (1) The Central Government may make a scheme, by notification, for the purposes of calling for information under section 252, collecting certain information under section 254, or calling for information by prescribed income-tax authority under section 259, or exercise of power to inspect register of companies under section 255, or exercise of power of Assessing Officer under section 256 so as to impart greater efficiency, transparency and accountability by—

(a) eliminating the interface between the income-tax authority and the assessee or any other person to the extent technologically feasible;

(b) optimizing utilisation of the resources through economies of scale and functional specialisation;

(c) introducing a team-based exercise of powers, including to call for, or collect, or process, or utilise, the information, with dynamic jurisdiction.

(2) The Central Government may, for the purpose of giving effect to this scheme made under sub-section (1), by notification, direct that any of the provisions of this Act shall not apply or shall apply with such exceptions, modifications and adaptations as specified in the notification.

(3) Every notification issued under sub-sections (1) and (2) shall, as soon as may be after the notification is issued, be laid before each House of Parliament.

260.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Faceless collection of information.

135A. (1) The Central Government may make a scheme, by notification in the Official Gazette, for the purposes of calling for information under section 133, collecting certain information under section 133B, or calling for information by prescribed income-tax authority under section 133C, or exercise of power to inspect register of companies under section 134, or exercise of power of Assessing Officer under section 135 so as to impart greater efficiency, transparency and accountability by—

(a) eliminating the interface between the income-tax authority and the assessee or any other person to the extent technologically feasible;

(b) optimising utilisation of the resources through economies of scale and functional specialisation;

(c) introducing a team-based exercise of powers, including to call for, or collect, or process, or utilise, the information, with dynamic jurisdiction.

(2) The Central Government may, for the purpose of giving effect to the scheme made under sub-section (1), by notification in the Official Gazette, direct that any of the provisions of this Act shall not apply or shall apply with such exceptions, modifications and adaptations as may be specified in the notification:

Provided that no direction shall be issued after the 31st day of March, 2022:

[84][Provided further that the Central Government may amend any direction, issued under this sub-section on or before the 31st day of March, 2022, by notification in the Official Gazette.]

(3) Every notification issued under sub-section (1) and sub-section (2) shall, as soon as may be after the notification is issued, be laid before each House of Parliament.

260.3 Reasons Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 260 of the Bill provides faceless collection of information. The clause corresponds to section 135A of the Act.The provisions of the existing section have been textually simplified and retained with the same intent in this clause.

260.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

The Committee, upon examination of the justification provided by the Ministry, find the provisions of the Clause 260 to be mere textual simplification of the existing provisions and therefore accept the Clause as proposed.

Clause 261– Interpretation

261.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

261. For the purposes of this Chapter, the expressions—

(a) "approving authority" means—

(i) the Principal Director General or the Director General; or

(ii) the Principal Chief Commissioner or the Chief Commissioner; or

(iii) the Principal Director or the Director; or

(iv) the Principal Commissioner or the Commissioner;

(b) "asset" includes any money, bullion, jewellery or other valuable article or thing, held in physical or virtual form;

(c) "authorised officer" means—

(i) the Joint Director or the Additional Director;

(ii) the Joint Commissioner or the Additional Commissioner;

(iii) the Assistant Director or the Deputy Director;

(iv) the Assistant Commissioner or the Deputy Commissioner;or

(v) the Income-tax Officer or the Tax Recovery Officer;

(d) "competent authority" means—

(i) the Principal Director General or the Director General; or

(ii) the Principal Chief Commissioner or the Chief Commissioner; o

(iii) the Principal Director or the Director; or

(iv) the Principal Commissioner or the Commissioner; or

(v) the Joint Director or the Additional Director; or

(vi) the Joint Commissioner or the Additional Commissioner;

(e) "computer system" means computers, computer systems, computer networks, computer resources, communication devices, digital or electronic data storage devices, used on stand-alone mode or part of a computer system, linked through a network, or utilised through intermediaries for information creation or processing or storage or exchange, and includes the remote server or cloud server or virtual digital space;

(f) "date on which the last of the authorisations for search was executed" means—

(i) in the case of search, the date of conclusion of search as recorded in the last panchnama drawn in relation to any person in whose case the warrant of authorisation has been issued; or

(ii) in the case of requisition under section 248, the date of actual receipt of the books of account or other documents or assets by the requisitioning officer;

(g) "material seized" means books of account or other documents or digital data storage devices, computer systems, and extracts seized from a person during the course of search under section 247 or requisitioned under section 248, and includes seizure of backup taken from any specialised programs like tally software, excel sheets, word files and all electronic records including data and information in the electronic form containing figures and any other relevant noting, and shall be construed to mean as book of accounts maintained by the said person;

(h) "proceeding" means any proceeding in respect of any year, whether under the Income-tax Act, 1961or under this Act, which may be pending on the date on which a search under section 247 or requisition under section 248 is authorised or powers under section 253 are exercised, as the case may be, or which may have been completed on or before such date and includes all proceedings under this Act or the Income-tax Act, 1961which may be commenced after such date in respect of any year;

(i) "virtual digital space" means an environment, area or realm, that is constructed and experienced through computer technology and not the physical, tangible world which encompasses any digital realm that allows users to interact, communicate and perform activities using computer systems, computer networks, computer resources, communication devices, cyberspace, internet, worldwide web and emerging technologies, using data and information in the electronic form for creation or storage or exchange and includes—

(i) email servers;

(ii) social media account;

(iii) online investment account, trading account, banking account, etc.;

(iv) any website used for storing details of ownership of any asset;

(v) remote server or cloud servers;

(vi) digital application platforms; and

(vii) any other space of similar nature.

261.2 Reasons Justification given by the Ministry of Finance for the proposed provision:

Clause 261 of the Bill provides for interpretation for the purposes of Chapter-XIV (Tax administration).This is a new clause inserted in the bill and there is no corresponding section of the Act. There is no policy change. This clause consolidates various definitions in the corresponding sections of the Act. For simplification, certain interpretations like approving authority, competent authority have also been provided.

261.3 Examination by the Committee:

261.3.1 The Committee sought written clarification from the Ministry on the rationale for not explicitly defining crucial phrases like "reason to believe" and "reason to suspect" within the Interpretation Clause. The Ministry stated as under:

> The department conducts a search and seizure action, based on credible prima facie evidence indicating tax evasion or concealment of income/asset, after obtaining due approvals from senior officers. Strict guidelines and safeguards are in place to prevent any search, not proportionate to the allegations. The search warrants are issued by senior level officers of the rank of Principal Director of Income-tax (Investigation) after recording the reasons for authorising the search. Administrative approval of the Director General of Income-tax (Investigation) is also obtained before authorising the search. The satisfaction or reasons recorded by the Principal Director of Income-tax (Investigation) can be questioned in a court of law by the aggrieved assessees by invoking the writ jurisdiction of the court. There are sufficient mechanisms in law as well as in the procedures laid down to prevent any abuse of powers. 'Reason to believe' and 'reason to suspect' are standard phrases and the jurisprudence on the interpretation thereof, is already well settled. All possible conditions for the same cannot be illustrated and codified in the statute; therefore, suggestion is not feasible.

261.4 Observations/Recommendations of the Committee:

261.4.1 The Committee note in the Clause a cross reference to the 1961 Act, which is proposed to be repealed. Therefore, the Committee recommend the Ministry to remove the reference to the old Act, 1961 from the body of the Bill itself by clubbing it in the Savings clause coherently.

261.4.2 The Committee, upon examination of the provisions of the Clause and the justification provided by the Ministry find that this is a new clause which consolidates various definitions in the corresponding sections of the 1961 Act. For simplification, certain interpretations like approving authority, competent authority have also been provided. Apart from the above recommendation, the Committee find the clause to be adequate and in line with the corresponding section of the 1961 Act and accept the same as it stands.

Clause 262– Permanent Account Number

262.1 Provision proposed in the Income-Tax Bill, 2025:

262.(1)Every person who has not been allotted a Permanent Account Number shall, within such time as prescribed, apply to the Assessing Officer for its allotment if he fulfils any of the following conditions:—

(a) his total income or the total income of any other person for which he is assessable under this Act during any tax year exceeded the maximum amount not chargeable to income-tax;

(b) he is carrying on any business or profession whose total sales, turnover or gross receipts are or is likely to exceed five lakh rupees in any tax year;

(c) he is required to furnish a return of income under section 263 for any tax year; or

(d) he is a resident, other than an individual, which enters into a financial transaction aggregating to two lakh fifty thousand rupees or more in a tax year; or

(e) he is the managing director, director, partner, trustee, author, founder, karta, chief executive officer, principal officer or office bearer of the person referred to in clause (d) or any person competent to act on behalf of the person referred to in clause (d).

(2) Any person, not covered under sub-section (1) may apply to the Assessing Officer for the allotment of a Permanent Account Number after which the Assessing Officer shall allot a Permanent Account Number to such person.

(3) Every person shall quote Permanent Account Number in all his returns to, or correspondence with, any income-tax authority and in all challans for the payment of any sum due under this Act.

(4) Every person shall intimate the Assessing Officer of any change in his address or in the name and nature of his business on the basis of which the Permanent Account Number was allotted to him.

(5) Every person who is eligible to obtain Aadhaar number shall quote such number in the application form for allotment of Permanent Account Number and in the return of income.

(6)(a) Every person who has been allotted Permanent Account Number and who is eligible to obtain Aadhaar number, shall intimate his Aadhaar number to the prescribed income-tax authority in such form and manner, as prescribed;

(b) if a person fails to intimate his Aadhaar number as per clause (a), the Permanent Account Number allotted to that person shall be made inoperative in such manner as prescribed.

(7) Every person who is required to furnish or intimate or quote his Permanent Account Number under this Act, and who—

(a) has not been allotted a Permanent Account Number but possesses the Aadhaar number, may furnish or intimate or quote his Aadhaar number*in lieu* of the Permanent Account Number, and such person shall be allotted a Permanent Account Number in the manner, as prescribed;

(b) has been allotted a Permanent Account Number, and who has intimated his Aadhaar number as per sub-section (6) may furnish or intimate or quote his Aadhaar number in lieu of the Permanent Account Number.

(8) A person who has already been allotted a Permanent Account Number cannot apply, obtain or possess another Permanent Account Number.

(9)(a) Every person entering into such transaction, as prescribed, shall quote his Permanent Account Number or Aadhaar number, in the documents pertaining to such transactions and also authenticate such Permanent Account Number or Aadhaar number, in the manner, as prescribed;

(b) every person receiving any document relating to the transactions referred to in clause (a), shall ensure that Permanent Account Number or Aadhaar number, has been duly quoted in such document and that such Permanent Account Number or Aadhaar number is authenticated as prescribed.

(10) The Board may make rules providing for—

(a) the form, manner and time in which an application may be made for the allotment of Permanent Account Number and the particulars which such application shall contain;

(b) class or classes of persons who shall be required to apply for allotment of Permanent Account Number;

(c) categories of documents pertaining to business or profession in which Permanent Account Number shall be quoted by every person;

(d) the form and manner in which the person who has not been allotted a Permanent Account Number shall make his declaration;

(e) manner of authentication of Permanent Account Number or Aadhaar number;

(f) class or classes of persons to whom the provisions of this section shall not apply having regard to the transactions or the circumstances.

(11)(a) The Central Government may, by notification, specify any class or classes of persons who shall apply to the Assessing Officer for the allotment of Permanent Account Number within such time as mentioned in such notification;

(b) the class or classes of persons in clause (a) may include such persons—

(i) by whom tax is payable under this Act; or

(ii) by whom any tax or duty is payable under any other law in force; or

(iii) being importers and exporters, even when no tax is payable by them.

(12) The provisions of sub-sections (5) and (6) shall not apply to such person or class or classes of persons or any State or part of any State, as notified by the Central Government.

(13) In this section,—

(a) "Aadhaar number" shall have the same meaning as assigned to it in section 2(a) of the Aadhaar (Targeted Delivery of Financial and Other Subsidies, Benefits and Services) Act, 2016;

(b) "Assessing Officer" includes an income-tax authority who is assigned the duty of allotting permanent account number;

(c) "authentication" means the process by which the Permanent Account Number or Aadhaar number along with demographic information or biometric information of an individual is submitted to the income-tax authority or such other authority or agency as prescribed for its verification and such authority or agency verifies the correctness, or the lack thereof, on the basis of information available with it.

262.2 Relevant Provision of the Principal Act (Income-Tax Act, 1961):

Permanent account number.

139A. (1) Every person,—

(i) if his total income or the total income of any other person in respect of which he is assessable under this Act during any previous year exceeded the maximum amount which is not chargeable to income-tax; or

(ii) carrying on any business or profession whose total sales, turnover or gross receipts are or is likely to exceed five lakh rupees in any previous year; or

(iii) who is required to furnish a return of income under sub-section (4A) of section 139; or

(iv) being an employer, who is required to furnish a return of fringe benefits under section 115WD; or

(v) being a resident, other than an individual, which enters into a financial transaction of an amount aggregating to two lakh fifty thousand rupees or more in a financial year; or

(vi) who is the managing director, director, partner, trustee, author, founder, karta, chief executive officer, principal officer or office bearer of the person referred to in clause (v) or any person competent to act on behalf of the person referred to in clause (v); or

(vii) who intends to enter into such transaction as may be prescribed by the Board in the interest of revenue, and who has not been allotted a permanent account number shall, within such time, as may be prescribed, apply to the Assessing Officer for the allotment of a permanent account number.

(1A) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify, any class or classes of persons by whom tax is payable under this Act or any tax or duty is payable under any other law for the time being in force including importers and exporters whether any tax is payable by them or not and such persons shall, within such time as mentioned in that notification, apply to the Assessing Officer for the allotment of a permanent account number.

(1B) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), the Central Government may, for the purpose of collecting any information which may be useful for or relevant to the purposes of this Act, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify, any class or classes of persons who shall apply to the Assessing Officer for the allotment of the permanent account number and such persons shall, within such time as mentioned in that notification, apply to the Assessing Officer for the allotment of a permanent account number.

(2) The Assessing Officer, having regard to the nature of the transactions as may be prescribed, may also allot a permanent account number, to any other person (whether any tax is payable by him or not), in the manner and in accordance with the procedure as may be prescribed.

(3) Any person, not falling under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2), may apply to the Assessing Officer for the allotment of a permanent account number and, thereupon, the Assessing Officer shall allot a permanent account number to such person forthwith.

(4) For the purpose of allotment of permanent account numbers under the new series, the Board may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify the date from which the persons referred to in sub-sections (1) and (2) and other persons who have been allotted permanent account numbers and residing in a place to be specified in such notification, shall, within such time as may be specified, apply to the Assessing Officer for the allotment of a permanent account number under the new series and upon allotment of such permanent account number to a person, the permanent account number, if any, allotted to him earlier shall cease to have effect :

Provided that the persons to whom permanent account number under the new series has already been allotted shall not apply for such number again.

(5) Every person shall—

(a) quote such number in all his returns to, or correspondence with, any income-tax authority;

(b) quote such number in all challans for the payment of any sum due under this Act;

(c) quote such number in all documents pertaining to such transactions as may be prescribed by the Board in the interests of the revenue, and entered into by him:

Provided that the Board may prescribe different dates for different transactions or class of transactions or for different class of persons:

Provided further that a person shall quote General Index Register Number till such time Permanent Account Number is allotted to such person;

(d) intimate the Assessing Officer any change in his address or in the name and nature of his business on the basis of which the permanent account number was allotted to him.

(5A) Every person receiving any sum or income or amount from which tax has been deducted under the provisions of Chapter XVIIB, shall intimate his permanent account number to the person responsible for deducting such tax under that Chapter :

Provided further that a person referred to in this sub-section shall intimate the General Index Register Number till such time permanent account number is allotted to such person.

(5B) Where any sum or income or amount has been paid after deducting tax under Chapter XVIIB, every person deducting tax under that Chapter shall quote the permanent account number of the person to whom such sum or income or amount has been paid by him—

(i) in the statement furnished in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (2C) of section 192;

(ii) in all certificates furnished in accordance with the provisions of section 203;

(iii) in all returns prepared and delivered or caused to be delivered in accordance with the provisions of section 206 to any income-tax authority;

(iv) in all statements prepared and delivered or caused to be delivered in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (3) of section 200:

Provided that the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify different dates from which the provisions of this sub-section shall apply in respect of any class or classes of persons:

Provided further that nothing contained in sub-sections (5A) and (5B) shall apply in case of a person whose total income is not chargeable to income-tax or who is not required to obtain permanent account number under any provision of this Act if such person furnishes to the person responsible for deducting tax, a declaration referred to in section 197A in the form and manner prescribed thereunder to the effect that the tax on his estimated total income of the previous year in which such income is to be included in computing his total income will be nil.

(5C) Every buyer or licensee or lessee referred to in section 206C shall intimate his permanent account number to the person responsible for collecting tax referred to in that section.

(5D) Every person collecting tax in accordance with the provisions of section 206C shall quote the permanent account number of every buyer or licensee or lessee referred to in that section—

(i) in all certificates furnished in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (5) of section 206C;

(ii) in all returns prepared and delivered or caused to be delivered in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (5A) or sub-section (5B) of section 206C to an income-tax authority;

(iii) in all statements prepared and delivered or caused to be delivered in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (3) of section 206C.

(5E) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, every person who is required to furnish or intimate or quote his permanent account number under this Act, and who,—

(a) has not been allotted a permanent account number but possesses the Aadhaar number, may furnish or intimate or quote his Aadhaar number in lieu of the permanent account number, and such person shall be allotted a permanent account number in such manner as may be prescribed;

