SUGGESTIONS RELATING TO THE POLICY & PROVISIONS OF INCOME-TAX ACT, 1961

CHAPTER I

PRELIMINARY

DETAILED SUGGESTIONS

Sr. No	Section	Issue/Justification	Suggestion
1.	Section 2(1B) - Definition of Amalgamation	Section 2(1B) of the Act provides for definition of Amalgamation in relation to the companies. The definition also contains various conditions to be satisfied for the amalgamation to be treated as tax neutral under the Act. The conditions contained in item (iii) of the said clause is that the shareholders holding at least three fourth in value of shares in the amalgamating company immediately before amalgamation should become shareholders of the amalgamated company. It is a known fact that the Amalgamation is given effect from the appointed date whereas the shares are issued on the effective date. Generally, there is time lag between the Appointed date and the effective date. In case of change in the shareholding in between the two dates, it would not be able to comply with the condition if read literally. It is also a fact that shares can be issued to the shareholders of the amalgamating company only after the effective date as shares cannot be issued retrospectively from the Appointed date. In order to clarify the position and avoid any litigation on the matter it needs to be provided that the condition needs to be satisfied with reference to the shareholders as on the effective date and not the Appointed date.	It is suggested that the provisions of Section 2(1B) be amended to clarify that the shares are to be issued by the amalgamated company to the shareholders of amalgamating company as they exist on the effective date and not on the appointed date. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
2.	Section 2(14) – Treatment of LIP as capital asset	Any sum received under life insurance policies ('LIPs') not exempt under section 10(10D) are taxable currently. Deduction of only premium while computing the net income / loss after surrender / withdrawal of policy doesn't take care of inflation resulting in higher taxability.	It is suggested that LIP be treated as a capital asset falling within the definition of "property" under section 2(14) of the Act. 3.	Section 2(18) – Company in which public are substantially interested	Section 2(18) of the Act provides for the definition of “company in which public are substantially interested”. This definition assumes importance as there is differential treatment under various provisions of the Act in respect of a company in which public are substantially interested vis-à-vis other companies. Under item (b) the company which is “not a private company” as defined under the companies Act only are qualified to be included subject to satisfaction of the conditions specified therein. Further, Under the companies Act, 2013, while the definition of “private company” is there, the definition of public company provided under section 2(71) introduces a legal fiction under which a “private company” is deemed to be a public company for the purposes of the said Act. Section 2(71) is as under: “public company” means a company which- (a) is not a private company and; (b) has a minimum paid-up share capital (omitted), as may be prescribed: Provided that a company which is a subsidiary of a company, not being a private company, shall be deemed to be a public company for the purpose of this Act even where such subsidiary continues to be a private company in its articles; An argument can be raised, leading to litigation, that the legal fiction of a private	It is suggested that section 2(18) may be amended to :- (i) clarify that a deemed public company under Companies Act is “not a private company”, and (ii) a foreign subsidiary, if whole of the share capital of such subsidiary is held by a company in which public are substantially interested, shall be deemed to be a company in which public are substantially interested (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

		company being deemed to be public company is only restricted to the Companies Act and does not extend beyond that. It is clear that being a deemed public company, the company is bound to follow same regulatory requirements as a public company under the Companies act and therefore for the purposes of Section 2(18) also considering the said company as not a private company is not in any manner contrary to the object and purpose of the said section. It is therefore, necessary to clarify that deemed public company under the Companies Act shall be considered as not a private company for purposes of Section 2(18). Further, there is lack of clarity regarding the status of foreign subsidiary / company. The Companies Act 2013, is silent on nature of subsidiaries incorporated outside India by Indian companies. The laws of host country apparently would govern the status of such subsidiary companies. However, clarity is necessary from the Income-tax Act perspective as such classification has tax implications like issues of deemed dividend etc. Therefore, while there may not be need for clarity from Company Law perspective considering its object and purpose the same cannot be said for the Income-tax Act. It is imperative that status of the foreign company particularly subsidiary of Indian company needs to be clarified. It is suggested that if the foreign company is wholly owned subsidiary of a company which is a company in which public are substantially interested then the foreign Subsidiary should be considered a “company in which public are substantially interested”.

4.	Section 2(19AA) - Demerger	The existing provisions of Section 2(19AA) define the “demerger” and if the demerger carried out as part of corporate restructuring satisfies the condition then tax neutrality is ensured both for the companies involved and also shareholders. The tax neutrality is both from capital gains and also the dividend taxation. Listed companies generally carry on different businesses which are distinct and diverse from each other through the subsidiaries given the applicable regulatory environment or different risk profile or due to different set of investors for different business segments. At a certain stage of growth or development of business of that subsidiary, a natural preference would be to list that subsidiary to secure its future investments and growth or to benefit from improved access of capital, an increased global profile and for greater access to liquidity or to give exit to the private equity investors etc. Listing of a company is always beneficial to the company, to the investor, and to the public at large. It also adds to the economic activities in the country. An initial public offer (IPO) is one of the ways a company can get listed. To list a company through an IPO process is a time consuming and a high-cost event. One of the best international practice for simple and easier listing of a company could be - a listed company distributes its	It is suggested that section 2(19AA) may be amended to include in the definition of demerger, the corporate divestiture in form of spin-off under which a parent company transfers its shareholding in a subsidiary to its shareholders. Further, to ensure that distribution by the holding company to its shareholders of the shares of the subsidiary is not taxable as dividend, an exclusion also needs to be made for such distribution in case of Spin off from definition of dividend under section 2(22). Initially such an inclusion be made only in respect of parent company being a listed company. A draft of suggested amendment(s) is placed below: (A) The provisions of section 2(19AA) may be amended as under - 2(19AA). “demerger”, in relation to companies, means the transfer, pursuant to a scheme of arrangement under sections 391 to 394 of the Companies Act, 1956 (1 of 1956), by a demerged company of - (A) its one or more undertakings to any resulting company in such a manner that- ----- (B) its specified shares to all its shareholders in proportion of their shareholding in such company;

		shareholding in a subsidiary to its shareholders. This is form of corporate divestiture and is a category of demerger known in commercial world as "Spin-off". After the distribution is completed, the spun off company is no longer a subsidiary of the parent and the parent's shareholders hold not only the parent's stock but also the subsidiary's stock. As the parent is publicly held company the subsidiary also becomes a publicly held company subject to necessary enabling provisions. The Income-tax Act recognizes the importance of business reorganisation undertaken by the groups for various commercial reasons. In order to facilitate these reorganisations, the Act provides for tax neutrality for the same. A reference can be made to the Explanatory Memorandum to the Finance Bill 1999. Under the existing provisions of the Act, tax neutrality has been provided for both amalgamation and demerger of companies subject to certain conditions and also to the intra group transfer of assets between Subsidiary and Holding company. Presently, the Act provides for tax neutrality only for a specific kind of demerger where only a business undertaking can be demerged into a separate resulting company. The corporate divestiture in form of spin-off is not presently covered under the tax neutrality provisions. If the parent company distribute shares of subsidiary company, the said transaction would be considered as dividend distributed by parent company to its shareholders and accordingly fair market value of subsidiary shares received by the shareholder would	 Explanation 6. 		be taxed as dividend income in the hands of shareholders. However, considering the commercial reasons and in line with the tax neutrality provided to corporate reorganisation in form of amalgamation and demerger, there is need for providing tax neutrality for corporate divestiture by way of spin off subject to conditions. Providing tax neutrality for spin-off in case of a listed company would only result in deferral of taxes for a limited period. If there is no tax neutrality the tax on dividend gets charged up front. However, if tax neutrality is provided, the shareholder would pay capital gain tax subsequently as and when the shares of either company are sold by it and also continue to pay dividend tax on any dividends declared by either of the company post spin-off. The Global practice also indicates that many countries have provided tax neutrality to spin-off transactions as part of their tax regime related to corporate reorganisation. The broad contours of policy followed by some advanced economies indicates that basic emphasis of the countries, while giving tax neutrality to spin-off transactions, is to impose conditions so that it is not an abusive transaction. Certain conditions relating to control prior to spin-off, distribution of sufficient level of shareholding and active business being the subject matter of transaction are provided for to ensure that abuse of the provisions are avoided. Under the existing provisions of the Act relating to tax neutrality to business reorganisation also, certain conditions have been imposed before neutrality is granted. The tax neutrality can be	such company. (D) The provisions of section 2(41A) may be amended as under – 2(41A).“resulting company” means – (A) one or more companies (including a wholly owned subsidiary thereof) to which the undertaking of the demerged company is transferred in a demerger and, the resulting company in consideration of such transfer of undertaking, issues shares to the shareholders of the demerged company and includes any authority or body or local authority or public sector company or a company established, constituted or formed as a result of demerger; or (B) the subsidiary company, the shares of which are transferred in a demerger by the demerged company to its shareholders. (E) The provisions of section 47 may be amended as under – 47. 5.	Section 2(19AA) – Demerger clarification	Section 2(19AA) of the Act provides for the definition and conditions under which a demerger involving transfer of an undertaking from a company (demerged company) to another company (resulting company) shall be tax neutral. One of the conditions mentioned in sub-clause (ii) of the said clause is that all liabilities related to the undertaking immediately before demerger become the liabilities of the resulting company. Further Explanation 2 to the said clause provides elaboration in respect of liabilities to be included and transferred to the resulting company. The said Explanation is as under:- “Explanation 2.—For the purposes of this clause, the liabilities referred to in sub-clause (ii), shall include— (a) the liabilities which arise out of the activities or operations of the undertaking; (b) the specific loans or borrowings (including debentures) raised, incurred	It is suggested that the provisions of clause (19AA) of Section 2 be amended to clarify that for the purposes of Explanation 2(c), whether it is gross value of assets or net assets (after excluding assets corresponding to liabilities in clauses (a) and (b) as aforesaid). 		and utilised solely for the activities or operations of the undertaking; and (c) in cases, other than those referred to in clause (a) or clause (b), so much of the amounts of general or multipurpose borrowings, if any, of the demerged company as stand in the same proportion which the value of the assets transferred in a demerger bears to the total value of the assets of such demerged company immediately before the demerger.” There is lack of clarity in respect of the apportionment of general or multipurpose borrowings. It is not clear as to whether for apportionment only gross value of assets has to be taken or the net value after reducing specific liabilities related to the assets has to be considered. This ambiguity at times is leading to avoidable controversies and litigation. It is therefore suggested that necessary clarity be brought in the section by clarifying as to whether gross assets shall be taken in computation of apportionment or the net assets (i.e assets as reduced by specific liability related to an asset) shall be taken. The same clarification would apply to both the numerator and the denominator of the apportionment formula.
6.	Section 2(31) - Definition of person	Section 2(31) of the Act provides for the definition of the term “person”. The status of person is critical and is the cornerstone of taxation under the Act. Over the period of past several years several special taxation regimes have been put in place in respect of various trusts. Like Special regime for taxation of Securitisation Trusts contained in Chapter	It is suggested that section 2(31) of the Act may be amended to specify the status of various trusts like AIFs, Business Trusts and Securitisation Trusts etc. with a number of unit holders being beneficiaries.

		XII-EA of the Act, Special regime for taxation of Alternate Investment Funds (AIFs) contained in Chapter XII-FB and Special regime for taxation of Business trusts (REITs and INVITs) under Chapter XII-FA etc. However, there is no clarity in respect of status of these trusts as to whether they are Individual, AOP or BOI. There have been in past certain judicial rulings which are clearly not applicable to the changed legal position by incorporating these special regimes. Further, there are large and diverse number of unit holders which are beneficiaries of such trusts. This has led to different treatments both by the taxpayers and also the tax department leading to avoidable controversies and litigations. It is suggested that necessary clarity needs to be provided in respect of their status as a person under the Act. It would be preferable that trusts are given a separate category and enumerated in the definition of person.	(SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
7.	Section 2(41A) - Definition of resulting company	Section 2(41A) provides definition of the resulting company in context of demerger which is defined under Section 2(19AA). As per section 2(19AA)(iv) one of the condition for tax neutrality of the demerger under the Act is that "the resulting company issues, in consideration of demerger, its shares to the shareholders of the demerged company". Therefore, it is resulting company which must issue its shares. Section 2(41A) containing definition of resulting company provides as follows "resulting company" means one or more companies (including a wholly owned subsidiary thereof) to which the	It is suggested that section 2(41A) may be amended to clarify that where the demerger of an undertaking is to a company which is wholly owned subsidiary then both the company to which the undertaking is transferred and holding company shall be treated as resulting company for purposes of demerger related provisions particularly in context of issue of shares as consideration of demerger. 		undertaking of the demerged company is transferred in a demerger and, the resulting company in consideration of such transfer of undertaking, issue shares to the shareholders of the demerged company and includes any authority or body or local authority or public sector company or a company established, constituted or formed as a result of demerger;" From the above definition by inclusion of phrase "(including a wholly owned subsidiary thereof)" conveys a meaning that where an undertaking is demerged to a wholly owned subsidiary then both holding company and the subsidiary are resulting company. The implication are therefore that in a demerger a parent of the demerged company can issue its shares to the shareholders of the demerged company instead of the subsidiary to which the undertaking has been transferred. This lack of clarity as to whether an option exists that either the subsidiary or its holding company can issue its shares as a consideration for the demerger has led to avoidable controversy and potential litigation. The intention of the policymakers must be clearly bring out and it needs to be clearly mentioned that the shares of either parent or the subsidiary can be issued in consideration of demerger in case where such subsidiary is a wholly owned subsidiary. 10.	Section 4 - Charge of Income-tax	Section 4 of the Act provides for charge of the income-tax. It provides that income tax shall be charged in respect of total income of the previous year of every person at the rate specified in the Act or the Finance Act of the relevant year. The charging section 4 of the Act provides for levy of tax in respect of "Total income". "Total income" is defined in section 2(45) of the Act to mean "the total amount of income referred to in section 5, computed in the manner laid down in this Act". The material portion of section 5 reads as under:- "5. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the total income of any previous year of a person who is a resident includes, all income from whatever source derived which-	It is suggested that appropriate amendment may be made to clarify that receipts/accrual of money which is in the nature of income only is taxable under normal provisions as well as MAT. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

		Thus, the “total income” consists of all items of “income” as defined in clause (24) of section 2 of the Act, 1961. The charge of tax under the Act is thus in respect of items of receipt which are in nature of income. While it is true that definition of income as provided under section 2(24) of the Act is inclusive definition and therefore of wide amplitude but at the same time the fact is that for inclusion under the scope of chargeability the receipt should have characteristics of being income. Further, the capital receipts as a general proposition are outside the scope of the Act, subject to legal fiction being created in respect of specific items included in the definition of income over period of time. Section 115JB of the Act, deems the book profit, subject of the adjustment provided under the said section to be deemed to be total income for purpose of computation of Minimum Alternate Tax (MAT) liability of the company. However, what can be taxed under section 115JB of the Act is the “total income” which is income as defined in section 2(24) of the Act and capital receipts which cannot form subject matter of the charge of tax under section 4; cannot form part of “total income” and cannot be subjected to tax either under the normal computation provisions or under section 115JB of the Act. The absence of provision in section 115JB of the Act for exclusion of such capital receipt credited to the profit and loss account cannot result in its taxation. The norm of the Act is to provide for specific inclusion in respect of capital receipts, therefore in absence of any specific provision directing inclusion of capital receipts in computation under section 115JB, the capital receipts cannot be included. A charge cannot be created by implication particularly when the taxing power under the Constitution is in respect of "income" and not capital receipts. Even if the intention behind introduction of section 115J (predecessor of section 115JB) is seen the Circular no. 495 dated 22/09/1987, para 36 states that by virtue of various tax concessions and incentives certain companies making huge profits and also declaring substantial dividends, have been managing their affairs in such a way as to avoid payment of income-tax, and to plug such loopholes, section 115J was introduced. Thus, never the intention was to tax something which is otherwise not chargeable to tax. Recently there have been spate of rulings of Judicial Authorities including High Courts wherein it has been held that capital receipts are not liable for inclusion under MAT provisions. Considering the intent and spirit of the provisions of MAT, it is necessary that the provisions are amended to specifically clarify that an item of receipt which is not in nature of income like capital receipts and which are not chargeable to tax under section 4 would also not be included in book profits for MAT purposes. This clarification would lead to certainty in matter and avoid long term multiple litigations.

11.	Section 5 - Scope of Total Income & Section 7 - Income deemed to be received	Section 5 of the Act provides for scope of total income. The taxability of income under the Act is dependent upon either receipt, or accrual or arising of income or deemed receipt, deemed accrual or arising of income. Therefore, the time	It is suggested that amendment be made to provisions of the Act to clarify the point in time when the interest accrued on PF (excess contribution) are taxable. It is suggested to tax interest income

		when the income is received or accrues is very relevant to determine the taxability of any sum. Prior to Finance Act 2021, section 10(12) of the Act provided that any payment received from Provident Fund to which the Provident Funds Act, 1925 (19 of 1925) applied or from any other provident fund set up by the Central Government and notified in the Official Gazette was exempt from tax. Also, for a recognised provident fund, exemption with respect to the accumulated balance due and becoming payable to an employee was available in specified circumstances. The above exemption was available without any monetary limits. Finance Act, 2021 amended the above provisions. The amendment provided that the interest income accrued (on or after 1 April 2021) on the employees contribution to PF in excess of Rs 2.50 lakhs in a year shall be chargeable to tax (to be computed in a prescribed manner). Vide notification dated 31 August 2021, Rule 9D has been inserted in the Income tax Rules for computing the taxable interest relating to contribution in a provident fund or recognised provided fund, exceeding specified limit as mentioned above. There is lack of clarity in respect of the year of taxability of the interest accrued on the excess contribution. The Section 10(12) refers to exemption in respect of "the accumulated balance due and becoming payable to an employee participating in a recognised provident fund to the extent provided in rule 8 of Part A of the Fourth Schedule". Therefore, what is exempt is "accumulated balance	at the time of withdrawal. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

		due and payable” to an employee. The Part A of the Fourth Schedule contains various regulations in respect of the Recognised Provident Funds. The regulations place several restrictions on when the funds can be withdrawn by the employee. Therefore, it is not that the employee has a vested right over the accretion that takes place during the year so as to say that income has accrued to the employee the moment credit takes place. Further, the placement of proviso to section 10(12) also adds to the confusion as the main section refers to “accumulated balance due and payable” thereby deferring the operation of proviso till the time the accumulated balance becomes due and payable. It is essential for avoiding controversy in future regarding the year of taxability of the interest on excess contribution that necessary clarity is brought in respect of point in time when the income is said to accrue or received by the employee. Section 7 of the Act provides for cases of deemed receipt of income under certain circumstances. The provisions of said section may be amended to include the accrual of interest on excess amount of contribution to be case of deemed receipt in the year of credit. It is suggested to tax interest income at the time of withdrawal, because there is in inflow of funds for a very long term, since this is considered as a retirement benefit.

Chapter III

INCOMES WHICH DO NOT FORM PART OF TOTAL INCOME

Sr. No	Section	Issue/Justification	Suggestion
12.	Section 10 – Income not forming part of Total Income - Exemption for Dividends under certain circumstances	Section 10 of the Act provides exemption in respect of various types of income contained in various clauses of the said section. Under the existing provisions relating to taxation of dividend, the dividend income is taxable in the hands of a shareholder under the head “income from other sources” at the applicable marginal rate. Further, no expenses other than interest (limited to 20% of the Dividend) is allowed while computing income chargeable to tax. Domestic company is provided deduction under Section 80M of the Act in respect of inter-corporate dividends received. The amount of deduction is limited to the amount which has been further distributed by the company before due date of filing of return for the relevant assessment year. In addition, the dividend income is also liable for tax under Minimum Alternative Tax (MAT). There is no relief from cascading effect of taxation under MAT even if the company has distributed dividends further to its shareholders. The deduction under section 80M being conditional upon further distribution of the dividend induces a distortion by creating high tax cost for reinvestment of funds received by the recipient entity. The forced capital outflow from the business due to tax distortion is not a desirable policy outcome in cases of genuine business activities needing funds at competitive costs. As an Example: If Rs 100 is the profit generated by a company. It pays tax of Rs 35 and distributes Rs 65 to its shareholder/ another company. The dividend received by the parent company is reinvested in the business and if it does not declare further	It is suggested that section 10 of the Act be amended to provide that a domestic company whose shares are listed on a recognized stock exchange or its subsidiaries shall be granted exemption in respect of any income by way of dividend received from a domestic company which is part of the same group. The same exemption shall apply to any dividend received from an InVIT set up by the listed company or its subsidiaries as sponsor. This exemption should ensure that relief from cascading taxation is provided under MAT. A draft of suggested amendment in section 10 is placed below: “(34AA) any income by way of dividends received by a domestic company from other domestic company or a business trust where such domestic company, the other domestic company or the business trust belong to the same specified group; Explanation: For the purposes of this clause, the expression “specified group” means a group of entities that includes,- (a) a company, shares in which (not being shares entitled to a fixed rate of dividend whether with or

		dividend, within the due date of filing return, then a tax of Rs 22.75 @35%(including SC and Cess) leaves only Rs 42.25 to be available for reinvestment. Further, as and when the shareholder of the parent receives this amount as dividend, the Rs 42.75 would also suffer tax of Rs 14.78 at the Applicable marginal rate. Thus, total tax payable on corporate profit of Rs 100 is Rs 72.53. This may further increase if the number of company layers are more than 2. The reinvestment of internal generation within a group suffers high tax cost. Accordingly, the funds are forced to move out of the productive business cycle. Absence of any relief from MAT liability on dividend income irrespective of whether any retention of dividend has taken place at inter-corporate level or not compounds the problem of high tax cost significantly. It is a known fact that due to regulatory reasons a company is required to set up subsidiaries and special purpose vehicles. Similarly, engagement in diverse businesses at times necessitates creation of multiple entities. Presence of different subsidiaries in a corporate structure is therefore an outcome of both regulatory and genuine commercial requirement. If the tax induced distortions in allocation of capital cannot be eliminated then the need of its reduction in a targeted manner is the most desirable policy response. It is on this fundamental basis that international best practice is to have "participation exemption" relief widely defined to avoid economic double taxation on inter-corporate dividends from shareholdings or participations. This ensures productive utilization of resources within a group without tax leakage. The International practice indicates that in majority of countries the inter-corporate	without a further right to participate in profits) were as on the last day of the relevant previous year listed in a recognized stock exchange in India; (b) any subsidiary company of the aforesaid company whether or not shares in such a subsidiary are listed in a recognized stock exchange in India; (c) a business trust referred to in sub-clause(i) of clause (13A) of section 2 in respect of which the said company or any subsidiary thereof is a sponsor as defined under clause (zz) of Regulation 2 of Securities and Exchange Board of India (Infrastructure Investment Trusts) Regulations, 2014;" (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

		dividend is either exempt or a participation exemption is provided based on certain conditions. The general principle followed is of granting deduction in respect of dividends received from other companies wherein the recipient company shareholding exceeds certain minimum threshold. It may not be out of place to mention that the requirement of further distribution, within limited time span, by the recipient company to avail deduction in respect of Inter-corporate dividends under the Act is a concept not being followed in most of the countries. Further, absence of any relief while computing tax liability under MAT results in continued undesirable cascading effect of taxation. The condition of further distribution under section 80M apparently is with the objective to prevent permanent deferral of taxes on dividends through utilization of interposed corporate entities. In case of private companies where the identity of shareholder and the company merges from a practical point of view due to lack of regulations and absence of governance norms, the indefinite deferral of taxes on dividends may be a reality that needs to be addressed. However, at the same time, there is a need to have differentiated policy response in case of companies in which public are substantially interested vis-à-vis closely held companies. It is undeniable fact that companies whose shares are listed on the recognized stock exchange and their subsidiaries are working under a stringent regulatory regime enforced by market regulators like SEBI and the Ministry of Corporate Affairs which ensures transparency and good governance. The fear of misuse contemplated in a closely held corporate structure may not be there in a structure involving companies in which public are substantially interested. Further, listed companies do follow a pattern of dividend distribution and having public shareholding ensures its compliance. The merit of differential regime for companies in which public are substantially interested has been well recognized in the various provisions, particularly anti abuse provisions, in the Act as enumerated below: 1. Exception from applicability of deemed dividend provisions under section 2(22)(e), 2. Exception from applicability of anti-abuse provisions of section 56(2)(viib) for companies in which public are substantially interested, and 3. Exception from the widened scope of increased burden under proviso to Section 68. Considering the regulatory and governance oversight, the risk of indefinite deferral of taxation of Dividends in case of listed companies and its subsidiaries is not real. Accordingly, there is an urgent need to provide a special regime in respect of taxation of inter-corporate dividends in cases of companies in which public are substantially interested particularly for listed companies and its subsidiaries. The amendment of the Act be considered in order to include a special dispensation in respect of inter-corporate dividends received by a listed company and its subsidiaries from domestic companies and InVITs which are part of the same group.

Similarly, Clause (12) of this section provides for exemption with respect to the accumulated balance due and becoming payable to an employee participating in a recognised provident fund, to the extent provided in rule 8 of Part A of the Fourth Schedule. Issue The Contribution limit of Rs. 2.5/5 lakh appears to be on lower side. In most of the cases, interest on employee contributions within 12% of basic salary will become taxable if this proposal is implemented. The limit may be reconsidered and may be hiked appropriately say at least 12% of basic salary or Rs.5 Lakh whichever is higher to protect retirement corpus of genuine middle-class taxpayers to cater in absence of any social security scheme in place. The current proposal to levy Income tax on so much of the interest as is attributable to the amount deposited in excess of Rs. 2.5/5 lakh during any of the previous year appears to be harsh on those who plan their retirement themselves by putting in their savings into PF. It seems that the legislative intent is to prevent the exemption being enjoyed by those ultra-rich who are able to deposit Rs 1 crore per month in PF, however, the limit of Rs 2.5/5 lacs may affect honest middle class salaried assesseees and especially salaried

It is well known and duly acknowledged by the government that honest Middle Class Salaried assesseees are depositing their hard-earned money into PF in order to accumulate a retirement corpus. Government may consider fixing higher limit that enables a middle-class salaried person to build its retirement corpus and also restrict people from taking undue advantage of EEE scheme. The limit may be raised to at least Rs 7,50,000 in line with the overall exemption limit in respect to employer's contribution to PF and other funds. As an alternative, the PPF contribution limit of Rs.1.50 lacs per person, may be increased, so that benefit is available to all sections of society; the Government would also have a good long term source of funds. Considering inflation and need for social security for people when they are aged, the limit may be increased further as deemed suitable. This limit of Rs.1.50lacs was set in 2014 (it was increased from Rs.1lac to Rs.1.50lacs in 2014) and considering inflation and need for social security for people when they are aged, the limit may be increased to further.

Section 10(13)(ii) of the Act provides for exemption in the hands of the employee in respect of the amount received on commutation of the annuity in case of retirement at or after a specified age or becoming incapacitated prior to such retirement. This provision however, does not cover commutation of an annuity paid on voluntary retirement of the employee. Annual receipts have been prescribed as Rs.1 crore vide Rule 2BC of Income-tax Rules. However, the word "annual receipts" have not been defined in the Income-tax Act. Section 10(23C) of the Act provides for exemption of income received by any person on behalf of different funds or institutions etc. specified in different subclauses. In other words, exemption to funds, institutions, trusts etc. carrying out religious or charitable activities is provided under section 10(23C) of the Act and sections 11 and 12 of the Act. Section 12A of the Act, inter alia, provides for procedure to make application for the registration of the trust or institution to claim exemption under section 11 and 12. Section 12AB is the new section which comes into effect from 01.04.2021. As per current provisions, both Section 11 and section 10(23C) are not simultaneously available for the same assessee. There appears to be no reasonable and sound logic for the same, as in any case cause of charity is pursued. Further, if the Government fails to pay grant, registered Charitable Trusts assesseees are not able to claim requisite exemptions and deductions under section 10(23C). This would be due to the fact that deduction would be below the specified limit of 50% of the Government support and at the same time,	In view of the aforesaid, it is suggested that suitable amendments may be carried out in the provisions of section 10(23C) and section 11 so that assesseees may be able to avail exemption under both the sections and claim requisite exemptions. 20.	Section 10(23C)/11 - Benefit of carry forward of Excess Application of Income in case of Charitable Trust	The Finance Act 2021 amended section 10(23C) and section 11 of the Act so as to, inter alia, restrict the benefit of carry forward of excess application of the trust assessee for set off against income of subsequent years. Issue I Charitable trusts are making a significant contribution in helping in building a better world. Their contribution assumes further significance in upliftment of poor, medical relief etc. during the tough times of Covid pandemic, Earthquake, Floods, etc. However, the restrictions vide the Finance Act 2021 may act as a deterrent to such trusts. Excess application may be required in circumstances such as Covid19 pandemic, when Charitable Trusts join hands with the Government and contribute substantially to relief activities. To deny carry forward of such excess application may deter the Charitable Trusts to go the extra mile in supporting the Government in the hour of need. Accordingly, the said provisions need reconsideration. It may be noted that the Companies Act, 2013 was recently amended allowing companies to carry forward the excess CSR spend in a year to set off in future 3 years. The said amendment in Income-tax Act, 1961 may not be in sync with the intent of the Government	It is suggested that: (a) suitable legislative amendments be carried out in section 10(23C) and section 11 so that the benefit of the carry forward may kindly be allowed to the trust in aforesaid cases. (b) amendment in clause (iiiad)/(iiiae) of section 10(23C) may be made per institution/person/assessee and not in aggregate. 		communicated and expressed in the Companies Act as aforesaid. Issue II The Finance Act 2021 has raised prescribed limit for exemption by amending section 10(23C)(iiiaa)/(iiiaa) of the Act. The insertion of new clause(s) has in fact reduced the exemption by stating to aggregate the same for all the institutions together of a person/assessee. The limit of Rs. 1 crore was prescribed in the year 1998, i.e. 23 years back. Since then, the situation has undergone a sea change including devaluation and inflation. Further, Government's expenditure on educational sector is not enough to facilitate the infrastructure to educational sector. It has remained less than 3% of GDP. Due to this limitation, the Government has as a policy matter decided to open it to private sector. The limitation of expenditure on educational sector still continues. Hence, the private trusts running educational institutions has to be continue with enhanced limits in view of inflation and devaluation. The limit has to be increased but not in aggregate for the person/assessee. It has to be per institution, university or hospital etc. If one only checks the limit with the inflation ratio, the same must be at least tripled to Rs.3 crores per institution. But, the amendment has in fact reduced it to Rs.5 crores in aggregate for all the institutions, universities or hospitals taken together for the person. It appears that the amendment is made without taking into account aforesaid factors and hence needs to be suitably modified. The only change that may be required was to change the limit of Rs.1 crore to Rs.5 crore keeping everything else as it is. In fact, a clarification to allow the same per institution is required to be inserted to avoid any confusion and reduce the ongoing litigation at many places. If at all the aggregation is to be considered, then the same should be at least Rs.100 crores, as the gross receipts are considered. The fee and expense structures have undergone a sea change since the limit was first announced in 1998. There are trusts which are running only primary and secondary schools at multiple places without any Government aid and at places where Government cannot reach. These will be devastatingly hampered, if the limits are not increased.

21.	Section 10(23C) - Rationalisation of Provisions	The 15th Proviso to Section 10(23C) states that application for obtaining approval under this section shall be made on or before 30th September of the relevant assessment year from which the exemption is sought. For example, if an institution seeks approval for Financial year 2017-18, it will have to apply up to 30th September 2018. Further, the 9th proviso to Section 10(23C) states that order granting approval or rejection shall be passed within 12 months from the end of month in which such application was received. In view of this proviso, in respect of applications received on 30th September 2018, the order has to be passed on or before	It is suggested that: Such application should be allowed to be made at any time during the financial year for which exemption is sought even if the annual receipts have not exceeded or is not expected to exceed the limit of Rs 1 crore. Time limit for granting approval may be reduced from 12 months to "within 4 months from the end of the month in

If such institution is not granted approval as on 30th September 2019, then it will have to pay income tax for Financial year 2017-18 and 2018-19. Resultantly, the charitable institution will have to face heavy tax burden. At the same time, it is to be noted that ITD doesn't accept such application before close of financial year i.e. application for F.Y. 2017-18 cannot be made on or before 31st March 2018, though there is no such restriction under the Act.	which application has been filed", so that any institution should be well aware of its status before due date of filing its income tax return. the limit of Rs.1 crore be increased now as the same is fixed 23 years ago. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
22.	Section 10(23FB) - Tax exemption for Alternative Investment Funds – Venture Capital Funds	Earlier under Section 10(23FB) of Income-tax Act, any income of a Venture Capital Company (VCC) or Venture Capital Fund (VCF) set up to raise funds for investment was exempt from taxation. However, in 2007, this was amended and the scope of VCC / VCF was narrowed down to select sectors and the exemption from income tax was limited to "any income of a VC company or VC fund from investment in a venture capital undertaking". The sectoral restriction stands removed in Union Budget, 2012 which was a welcome move. However, the tax exemption still remains limited to "any income of a VC company or VC fund from investment in a venture capital undertaking". Keeping in mind the growing importance of VC funds in infrastructure and also in other important sectors of our economy, the previous wording of "set up to raise funds for investment" needs to be restored in place of "from investment" under Section 10(23FB). A change in the wording from "any income of a VC company or VC fund from investment" to "any income of a VC company or VC fund set up to raise funds for investment" will enable the VCC / VCF to undertake analysis	It is suggested that section 10(23FB) be reworded as follows: "Any income of a venture capital company or venture capital fund from investment set up to raise funds for investment in a venture capital undertaking." (SUGGESTIONS FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

23.	Section 10(32) - Income of minors - to increase exemption limits	At present income of minors included in the hands of parents is exempt to the extent of Rs.1,500/- for each minor. The average expenditure to meet cost of a minor's education/health/living expenses which has gone up considerably in recent years, limit of Rs.1,500/- fixed is woefully inadequate.	It is suggested that this should be raised to at least Rs. 5,000/- for each minor child. (SUGGESTIONS FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

25.	Section 11 - Income from property held for charitable and religious purposes	The charitable organization have been given exemption, under the Act, from taxation in respect of income arising to them subject to certain conditions. The primary basis of providing exemption is that the income is applied towards intended activity which benefits society at large. The primary sources of funds for charitable organization are either through Voluntary contributions/ donations received from various donors and philanthropists or through the income derived from the property held under trust. Therefore, a stable and sustainable source of income	It is suggested that the amendment in section 11 of the Act may be considered to expand the permitted mode of investment for charitable and religious trusts so as to include investment in units and debt instruments issued by an Infrastructure Investment Trust (InvIT) registered under Securities and Exchange Board of India (Infrastructure

		from the investments and funds of charitable organisations is essential for them to continue to undertake their objectives. One of the core conditions to be fulfilled by the charitable organisations for continued tax exemption is that any accumulation of income, investment and deposit of organisations funds and the corpus donation has to be kept in the specified modes. The permitted modes are provided under Section 11(5) of the Act. The said section also had enabled additional modes to be prescribed by way of Rules. Rule 17C of the Income-tax Rules, 1962 (the "Rules") provides for additional permitted modes of investment. The legislature and the Government have both been responsive to the need of charitable organisations having sustainable source of revenue and at the same time investments being channelized effectively and in focused manner for ripple effect in the economy. This is evidenced by inclusion of various new modes of investment being permitted both under Section 11(5) and Rule 17C over period of time. However, keeping in view the objective of charitable organisations, the permitted investments have been in the well regulated space. One of the key and continuing focus area of the Government has been development of infrastructure in the country. The Covid19 pandemic has again highlighted the need for funds for infrastructure development, particularly in health care sector. This had also been reflected in the permitted mode added over period of time. The following investments related to infrastructure are already prescribed: 0 Investments in debt instruments issued by infrastructure finance company.	Investment Trusts) Regulations, 2014 and debt instruments issued by a SPV as defined in the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Infrastructure Investment Trusts) Regulations, 2014 as one of the forms and modes of investment for the purposes of section 11(5) of the Act. The InvIT Regulations provide the framework within which infrastructure investment trusts (InvITs) raise funds from investors and deploy funds in infrastructure projects. The primary objective behind InvITs is to facilitate the mode for channelising of private capital into the infrastructure sector. Further, it will also reduce the pressure on the banking system by making available fresh equity and attracting long term finance from foreign and domestic sources including the NRIs. The units issued by Invits also provide a mixed opportunity for the investor to get the assured periodic revenue stream and also participate in the gains on transfer of underlying infrastructure projects. Earlier these were new instruments, however, over period of six years, adequate maturity has been achieved by this Collective investment vehicle which is similar to the Mutual Funds. The SEBI being primary regulator assures a keen regulatory oversight on the various aspects of Invits. With the evolving financial ecosystem and InvITs having gained sufficient maturity, the prescribed mode of investment by the charitable organisations needs to be amended so as to permit investment in Units and debt instruments issued by an Infrastructure Investment Trust (InvIT) registered under Securities and Exchange Board of India (Infrastructure Investment Trusts) Regulations, 2014. The above modification in the prescribed modes of investment shall facilitate flow of funds for infrastructure development, facilitate long term capital requirement of the infrastructure projects and ease the burden on the banking sector while at the same time providing the charitable organisations an efficient and well regulated instrument for ensuring long term sustainable flow of income. The inclusion of units and debt instruments of an InvIT as a permitted mode would be in complete consonance with the policy objective of the Government as the investments in units of Mutual Funds (which is a similar collective investment vehicle) is already permitted and so also in the various debt instruments of infrastructure finance related entities, as indicated above. The units and debt instruments of InvIT's (a well

26.	Section 11 - Restructuring of provisions regarding charitable institutions	Currently, there are different provisions applicable to charitable institutions u/s 10(23C) and section 11 to 13 of the Act. Definition of term 'charitable purpose' has been given in section 2(15) of the Act. There is lot of litigation going on as regards the definition of charitable purpose as well as of application of income etc. As per the existing provisions a charitable institution is permitted to accumulate its income for a period of five years and income applied for capital expenses is also allowable as deduction. In view of the fact that capital expenditure is allowed as application towards charitable purpose, it has become a general phenomenon that educational institutions, hospitals, etc. in some cases, are being run as industry and are charging high fees for the services provided by them and amount is accumulated and is spent for setting up another school, college or hospital. Accordingly, the whole purpose of the institution, being charitable, has been defeated in many cases and practically they are being run as commercial institution. In spite of amendment in the definition of the term 'charitable purpose' in section 2(15) of Income-tax Act, 1961 the purpose has not been served.	In order to avoid the litigation and also to create a situation that institution really works as a charitable institution, it is suggested that:- (i) The objects and purpose of an institution be examined in detail while granting registration to a charitable institution by the Commissioner of Income-tax. For this purpose, detailed guidelines as regards the charitable purpose should be there by way of notification in the rules. The Commissioner once examine and grant registration, the institution will continue to be recognised as charitable. May be for this purpose an independent authority known as a 'Charity Commissioner' be appointed by the Government, as it exists in certain states. The system of fresh registration and renewal introduced by the Finance Act, 2020/2021 may not be necessary and needs reconsideration.

			(ii) As at present, 15% of income should be permitted to be accumulated without any condition. Any excess over and above the same should be chargeable to tax, may be at a concessional rate of, say, 20%. Such provision will also discourage the institutions to charge higher fees for the services rendered. Accordingly, over a period of time income and expenditure of charitable institutions would by and large match and as a result real charitable purpose would be served. (iii) If any charitable institution wants to opt out of the specific provisions, an option should be available to it and in that case the institution will be chargeable to tax as a commercial concern and assessment will be made in accordance with general provisions of the Act. Section 11(2) – Extension in time for compliance	Due to COVID situation, incomes set apart/accumulated earlier (for permitted period of maximum 5 years) could not be spent during March 2020 & F.Y. 2020-21, on the purposes for which they were set apart/accumulated. To enable the charitable entities to meaningfully meet their well decided & declared objectives for the charitable spending of accumulated income, the spending of which is being made impossible, & so delayed, due to COVID situation, an extension in time is duly warranted.	It is suggested that the extension of two years may be granted for applying all such incomes which are already set apart/accumulated under section 11. (SUGGESTIONS TO REDUCE / MINIMIZE LITIGATIONS)

However, in practice any voluntary contribution received in kind (such as gold, silver, jewellery etc.) without specific direction to form part of the corpus is not recorded in books of accounts by some charitable and religious trusts. The intent as well as the proposed provision are welcome as these measures will keep in check the activities of exempt entities after every 5 years. However, in order for its successful implementation and to avoid any malpractices and/or corruption in case of fresh registration after every 5 years, the process needs to be completely digitised free from any human intervention.	It is suggested that process of seeking fresh registration after every 5 years be completely IT based/digitized so as to keep human intervention at the minimal. (SUGGESTIONS FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

32.	Deduction to salaried assesses - Payment for notice period	As per the prevalent norm, the employees are required to serve notice within the stipulated time before leaving the organisation. The notice period, however, varies from organisation to organisation. For example, in an organisation the notice period may be 90 days, or an employee has to pay 90 days salary amount to the organisation as an employee may get a better job opportunity in another organisation wherein he is required to join within 30 days. Accordingly, the employee has to give 30 days' notice in old organisation and pay for short notice of 60 days. Generally, the contract of service also provides that in case the employer is not satisfied with the performance of the employee he may terminate his services by giving a notice of 30 days or 30 days salary. In case the employer suspends the employee with immediate effect he pays an amount equivalent to 30 days salary and claims deduction thereof. Such amount becomes taxable in the hands of the employee. However, in case the employee is required to pay notice period salary, no deduction of such amount paid is allowed to him. If the new employer agrees to bear the brunt of notice period pay, say of 60 days in above example, the said amount will be included in the total income of the employee and tax will be deducted thereon even if such income belonged to the ex-employer and is taxable in his hands. Thus, in effect the assessee will be liable to pay tax on 14 months' salary i.e. salary for more than 12 months without any deduction available to him.	It is suggested that said anomaly may be resolved and appropriate provisions be inserted so that income from notice period pay is chargeable in the hands of ex-employer and deduction of the amount of notice period pay paid be made available to the employee as he has not effectively received that income (unless reimbursed by the new employer). (SUGGESTIONS FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

There are various expenses that the employees incur during the course of employment which they cannot claim as deduction. At the same time, the few exemptions that are available to them u/s 10 are subject to upper limits which have been fixed several years back and virtually serve no purpose on account of inflation. Employees during the course of their employment incur various expenses, including for upgrading skill, for rendering their services as employees, deduction for such expenses needs to be enhanced every year. For avoiding leakage of revenue, such deduction may be linked to cost inflation index just like as it happens for income under the head capital gains and maximum may be restricted upto say Rs. 1,00,000/-.	Rs. 100,000 to ease the tax burden of the employees and keeping in mind the rate of inflation and purchasing power of the salaried individual and rather it be linked to cost inflation index for regular enhancement in deduction amount similar to available for income under the head capital gains. (SUGGESTIONS FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

Thus, while on the one hand, buyer is suffering from delay in construction and on the other hand, interest paid by him is not allowed as deduction.	It is suggested to remove the said hardship by allowing deduction of pre EMI interest in the year of payment of interest u/s 23. (SUGGESTIONS FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
36.	Section 23(1)(c) – Vacant house property	Vacant property even if given on rent in the earlier year is being taxed as deemed let out and a notional income is being attributed to such a property. The increase in the number of self-occupied properties has been increased to two to encourage the real estate industry. However, the restriction on the number of self-occupied properties to two may be relooked and revisited. No prudent business person will invest in a property and not seek a return on his/her investment unless it is being used for self-occupation either when on business or for leisure. It should be the prerogative of the assessee to decide the number of properties he can hold.	The provisions of Section 23(1)(c) need to be elaborated and an explanation inserted to avoid unnecessary litigation. Even though the section is very clear, the department continues to tax a property that is lying vacant even though it was rented out in the previous year. (SUGGESTIONS FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
37.	Section 23(5) - Tax on unsold properties held as stock in trade	Section 23(5) provides that in respect of unsold property that is held as stock-in-trade after a prescribed period, it is taxed on notional rental income basis. Mainly, it attracts builders and developers who are struggling with various practical issues inclusive of having a large unsold property. Section 23(5) providing for deemed rental income and making it taxable after two years of property construction appears to be harsh to genuine developers who are unable to dispose off their stock in the slump. As per sub-section (iia) of section 28, profit on sale of license granted under the Imports (Control) Order, 1955, made under the Imports and Exports (Control) Act, 1947 is chargeable to tax under the head “profit and gains from business or profession”. It is pertinent to mention that “The Import and Exports Control Act, 1947” as mentioned in section 28(iia) has been repealed. Further, advance Authorization issued in place of erstwhile advance licenses are not transferable as per the Foreign Trade Policy issued under Foreign Trade (Development and Regulation) Act, 1992.	Since the Import and exports Control Act, 1947 has been repealed and advance Authorization issued in place of erstwhile advance licenses are not transferable as per the Foreign Trade Policy issued under Foreign Trade (Development and Regulation) Act, 1992, sub-section (iia) to section 28 be omitted. (SUGGESTION FOR IMPROVING TAX COLLECTION)

41.	Section 28(via) - Conversion of Stock-in-trade into Capital Asset	Vide the Finance Act, 2018, as per section 28 of the Act when any stock-in-trade is converted into capital asset, the same will be subject to tax in the following manner i) Business Income: Fair Market value on the date of conversion determined in the prescribed manner less cost of inventory converted into capital asset. ii) Capital Gain: Sale Consideration less Fair Market Value on the date of conversion as determined in the prescribed manner. However, it is silent on when the tax is to be discharged, whether on conversion or on sale of capital asset. Therefore, the difference would be taxable in the Previous Year in which the stock in trade is converted into a capital asset.	It is suggested to provide deferment of payment of tax on business income from conversion of stock-in-trade to capital asset till the final disposal of such capital asset to avoid hardship of payment of tax on unrealized gain and bring parity with the method adopted on conversion of capital asset into stock-in-trade. 43.	Section 32 – Depreciation on Goodwill and its adverse impacts on banks and other similar assesseees	The Finance Act 2021 vide amendment to section 32 has provided that goodwill of a business or profession will not be considered as a depreciable asset and there would not be any depreciation on goodwill of a business or profession in any situation. Accordingly, section 32(1)(ii) of the Act is amended to provide that goodwill of a business or profession shall not be considered as an asset for the purpose of the said clause and therefore not eligible for depreciation. Further, Explanation 3 to sub-section (1) of the said section provide that goodwill of a business or profession shall not be considered as an asset for the said sub-section. Consequential amendments have been made in section 2(11), 50 and 55 of the Act. Issue Currently, as per section 32(1)(ii), depreciation was allowed on various intangible assets including “any other business or commercial rights of similar nature”. Other intangible assets being copyrights, trademarks etc. Supreme Court in the case of Smiff Securities Ltd. [2012] 348 ITR 302 (SC) held that goodwill was a depreciable asset under section 32 and depreciation needs to be allowed on the same under section 32(1)(ii) of the Act.	It is suggested that the amendments in section 32(1)(ii) may be reconsidered considering the fact that incentive to buy sick industries/banks may be taken away. (SUGGESTIONS TO REDUCE / MINIMIZE LITIGATIONS)

		Based on the above Supreme Court judgment, many benches of Income Tax Appellate Tribunal as also some High Courts held that whenever any excess amount is paid for acquiring the business of any other concern (in takeovers/mergers), the excess is nothing but the goodwill and hence, depreciation had to be allowed. The Finance Act, 2021 excluded goodwill from section (1)(ii) w.e.f. Financial Year 2020-21 pertaining to Assessment Year 2021-22. As such, depreciation will not be allowed on goodwill from Assessment Year 2021-22 & onwards. In this regard, the Memorandum explaining provisions in the Finance Bill, 2021 refers to Supreme Court judgment in Smiff Securities Ltd. (supra). It also states that goodwill, in general, is not a depreciable asset and in fact depending upon how the business runs, goodwill may see appreciation or in the alternative no depreciation to its value. Hence, there appears to be little justification for depreciation on goodwill. However, conflicting views are also there. If depreciation is being allowed on these assets, there may not be any feasible justification for not considering goodwill for the purpose of depreciation. We wish to inform that there are various assessees (like banks etc) as also industries who have taken over sick banks / industries and have saved the money of depositors as also the employment of the employees and their money. One of the incentives for taking over sick banks / industries is the allowance for depreciation on goodwill which is invariably paid while taking over sick banks/ industries. This incentive goes a long way in determining the price to be paid for the sick banks/ industries. In the above scenario, considering the fact that the said amendment as carried out, sound banks/ industries may become reluctant to take over sick banks/ industries as the incentive in the form of depreciation allowance will no longer be there and this may prove fatal for the sick banks, their employees as also sick industries.

		were used by them. The following issues may be considered for appropriate amendment in the law : (a) An issue arises whether depreciation can be claimed on the basis of proportionate number of days by the transferor and the transferee company in case of slump sale considering the proviso to section 32 read with section 170 of the Act. (b) As per the current provisions of proviso to section 32 the depreciation can be claimed on the basis of proportionate number of days for which the assets were used by the predecessor and the successor, or the amalgamating company and the amalgamated company, or the de-merged company and the resulting company, as the case may be. Due to practical and administrative difficulties, there may be a time gap between holding of the asset and using the asset so transferred. To avoid genuine difficulties in such cases, instead of the words, “used by them”, the words “held by them” may be substituted in the proviso to section 32.
45.	Section 32AC - Slump Sale and investment allowance	In order to attract capital investment in private sector, the Government of India introduced a tax incentive by way of inserting a new section 32AC in the Income-tax Act, 1961 vide Finance Act, 2013. Section 32AC provides for an additional deduction (over and above 100% deduction by way of depreciation) of 15% of investments in new plant and machinery by a company engaged in the business of manufacturing of goods. Section 32AC(2) provides that if the new asset (on which investment allowance benefit is availed) is sold or transferred within a period of five years, the amount of	To facilitate genuine internal group restructuring, it is suggested that the CBDT may issue clarification or consider recommending amendments in the law to the effect that provisions of section 32AC(2) are not applicable to any transfer of assets including slump sale deduction claimed in past shall deemed to be income of the tax payer in the year of transfer. Only exception to this is where the asset is transferred in connection with amalgamation or demerger. A number of companies have availed the incentive by way of enhancing their capex (Capital expenditure). Such companies may need to re-organize internally for reasons such as improving efficiency by combining similar business activities or separating unrelated business activities, simplification of the group structure, compliance with regulatory requirements, strategic objectives such as mergers/ acquisition, post-merger integration, expansion, capital raising etc. In certain situations, internal re-organisation by way of merger / demerger may be time consuming, whereas a slump sale of the business undertaking within the group would be more efficient and economical. However, non-exclusion of slump sale transactions from the impact of anti-abuse provisions contained in section 32AC(2) could cause undue hardship to the tax payers and impacting genuine internal re-organization. It is to be noted that section 47(iv) does not treat transfer of assets between subsidiary to parent and vice-versa, as transfer subject to meeting certain conditions. Accordingly, if a company transfer its manufacturing undertaking to its wholly owned subsidiary company, it is not treated as a transfer under section 47. Similarly, Section 56(2)(x) exempts transactions covered under clause (iv) and (v) of Section 47 (i.e. transfer of assets between holding-subsidiary companies) from being taxed under section 56(2)(x). Section 56 also excludes income arising out of certain tax neutral transfers from its ambit. However, the transfers referred to in clause (iv) and clause (v) of section 47 have not been excluded from the scope of section 56. In order to further facilitate the transaction of money or property between a wholly owned subsidiary company and its holding company, it is proposed to amend the section 56 so as to exclude such transfer from its scope.” The CBDT while issuing Circular No. 1/2013 dated 17.01.2013 in relation to tax benefit under section 10AA/10A/10B stated that mere change of ownership under a slump sale of business would not affect the entitlement to the tax benefit under section 10AA or 10A or 10B. Subjecting slump sale between parent and wholly owned subsidiary and vice-versa to the anti-abuse provisions under section 32AC puts such slump sale on an unequal footing to intra-group mergers, demergers even though there is no abuse of law involved.

46.	Section 35AD - Expenditure on Specified Business	Section 35AD was introduced in the Act for the purposes of enabling a switch from profit linked incentives to investment linked incentives. This was done since profit based incentives were distorting the tax base. Accelerated deductions @ 150% were allowed under Section 35AD of the Act for specified core businesses with effect from A.Y. 2010-11 with a view to creating rural infrastructure. Such incentive should be provided to telecom and allied businesses also that	It is suggested that the benefit of section 35AD(8) should be extended to telecommunication and allied service companies. In addition to new entities incurring capital expenditure, even existing entities incurring capital

		are essential for the growth of the economy. Extension of benefit under section 35AD to telecommunications sector will ensure creation of employment opportunities, greater penetration of telecom services, infrastructure development and easy flow of foreign funds to capital intensive and debt ridden sector. Also, investment based incentives such as above do not put the Government in a disadvantageous position as these incentives only postpone the payment of taxes and give relief to the tax payers in the initial years by granting deduction for the CAPEX which would have been otherwise allowed by way of depreciation over a longer period.	expenditure for substantial expansion of their essential core should also be allowed the accelerated deductions as substantial capital infusion is required periodically to sustain their viability. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
47.	Section 35D - Amount paid for increase in authorized capital	Currently, amount paid for increase in authorized capital is not allowed as deduction. After a company is incorporated with a minimum paid up capital (for which there is no minimum limit now), and it wishes to increase its authorised capital, the company is required to pay registration fee to Registrar of Companies. Fee on incorporation of a company is allowed as per specified limits in 5 installments u/s 35D, however amount paid for increase in authorized capital is not allowed as deduction at all, though the amount is paid to government as a fee.	It is suggested that fee paid to Registrar of companies for increase in authorized capital may be allowed as revenue expenditure in 5 equal installments u/s 35D. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

The employee's contribution credited to the employees account in the relevant fund after the due date specified under section 36(1)(va) are disallowed to the employer. Further, any payments made by the employer after the due date is also NOT allowed as a deduction in the year of payment. This causes undue hardship to the assessee especially during the economic turbulence. Further, the Employer's contribution made after the due date specified under the relevant social security legislation but deposited within the due date of filing return of income are allowed under the Act by virtue of Section 43B. It may be noted that the statutory laws under the respective contribution schemes have provisions to levy interest, penalty etc. for the delayed payment. Hence, disallowing a genuine business expenditure merely on the ground that it has been paid after relevant due date is not justified. On the subject there have various conflicting judgments. Where Hon'ble Uttarakhand High Court and Hon'ble Delhi High Court have considered the due date under section 36(1)(va) to be read in sync with the due date mentioned in section 43B, Hon'ble Gujarat High Court has given a different view. To remove the hardship caused to the assessee and to reduce avoidable litigations, it is suggested that deduction be allowed on the employee's contribution made before the due date of filing the return of income.	under section 139(1), thereby bringing it at par with the due date specified for the Employer's contribution under Section 43B of the Act. It may also be kept in mind that delay of few days should not debar to claim the actual expenditure under Income-tax law as due interest is already charged under relevant laws. (SUGGESTIONS FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

	Disallowance towards PF/ESIC in respect of Employee contribution paid after the due date under the Respective Act	Explanation to the said clause to clarify that the provision of section 43B does not apply and deemed to never have been applied for the purposes of determining the due date under this clause. Further, section 43B is also amended so as to clarify that the provisions of the said section do not apply and deemed to never have been applied to a sum received by the assessee from any of his employees to which provisions of section 2(24)(x) applies. Issue We wish to inform that various High courts have held that PF/ESIC contribution in respect of employee share is eligible for deduction if the same is paid before the due date of filing income tax return as against due date under the respective Act. It may humbly be noted that businesses have numerous compliances to be done and often engrossed with temporary liquidity issue. As a result, business houses find it difficult to make the payment of employee share within due date on certain occasion under the respective Act. The payment is often coupled with the fact that salary also in such cases is paid belatedly. Employees also co-operate with their employer in such situations. Out rightly, disallowing the amount of employee share towards PF/ESIC if not paid within the date under the respective Act is sure to enhance the financial burden of the taxpayers. In the interest of all, the said amendments needs to be reconsidered. The payment of employee's contributions to PF/ESI and similar funds have been deemed to be disallowed. Various courts have held these to be treated on par with the Employers contributions and these	if the same (employee share of contribution) is paid before the date of filing of income tax return as against due date under the Respective Act. Alternatively, the due date under the respective Act may be enhanced from middle of the month to the end of the month. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS) decisions are to be negated now. The reasoning given by the Government is that the employee would be at a loss in terms of interest if the employer delays payment and may even lose their contribution if the employer shuts down the business without paying the employee contributions. Both these may not hold good. The employer is liable to interest and penalties under the respective Acts if they delay payment. The employees interest credit is from the month in which the month in which the payment is due by the employer and not from the month in which the payment is actually made. If the employer does not pay the dues and shuts down business, no deduction under the Act would anyway be granted since the amounts are disallowed u/s 43B of the Act. The employers are anyway penalized under the respective Acts including by way of criminal proceedings and hence it is patently unjust to deny him a deduction when he has actually paid the dues though delayed. Hence, these provisions may be restored and treated on par with the Employer contributions and be allowed if paid within the due date of filing return or allowed in the year of payment if paid subsequently.

50.	Section 37 – Corporate Social Responsibility expenditure	The Finance (No. 2) Act, 2014 had added a new Explanation 2 in sub-section (1) of Section 37 providing that any expenditure incurred by an assessee on the activities relating to CSR referred to in Section 135 of the Companies Act, 2013 shall not be deemed to be an expenditure incurred by the assessee for the purposes of the business or profession and deduction shall not be allowed. As per the Companies Act 2013, it is mandatory for specified companies (as per Section 135) to spend 2% of their average profits towards Corporate Social Responsibility. The CSR expenditure incurred by a company will specifically be treated as for non-business purpose	These expenses are all connected to social and charitable causes and not for any personal benefit or gain. It is, therefore, fair to allow the same as business expenditure. 51.	Section 37 - Deduction for ESOP expenditure	Under Section 17(2)(vi) the shares allotted by the employer under Employee Stock Option Plan (ESOP) are taxable in the hands of the employees as perquisite under the head salary. ESOP is one of the modes of compensating the employees for their services with the intention to retain the dedicated employees to generate more revenues for the entity and thus it qualifies for deduction u/s 37(1) of the Act. The Assessee had an obligation to issue shares at discounted rate on future dates, even if it was not paying anything to its employees. The ESOP granted by the Assessee to its employees was for the purpose of development of its business for earning higher profits. However, in absence of any specific provision in the Act the deductibility of ESOP expense in the hands of the employer assessee remains the bone of contention between the Assessee and the tax department. The employer Assessee claims it as tax deductible business expense stating that it should be allowable to the employer as salary expense whereas the tax department raises an objection claiming it to be (i) a contingent liability and (ii) being capital account expenditure.	It is suggested that suitable amendment may be made in the Act to provide for the manner of deduction of ESOP expenses to the assessee being issuer of the ESOPs. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

Sr. No	Section	Issue/Justification	Suggestion
		The judicial authorities have been consistently allowing the expenditure. It is therefore, necessary that a specific provision may be inserted in the Act to provide for the manner of deductibility of the expenditure in the hands of the assessee on account of ESOP expenses. This would remove the uncertainty and benefit both the tax department as well as taxpayers like provisions of section 17(2)(vi) provided certainty in taxation of ESOPs in the hands of employees.
52.	Section 40(ba) – Amendment w.r.t. taxation of consortiums/J Vs/AOPs	Currently, substantial number of real estate transactions are structured as JVs. Some of these joint ventures become taxable as AOPs. While in case of a partnership, u/s. 40(b), remuneration, interest to partners are allowable deductions subject to prescribed ceilings, in cases of AOPs, section 40(ba) does not allow such deductions. In practice, in many cases, the JV partners provide specific services and specialised services. Therefore, such deduction may be allowed subject to fair market valuation of such services.	It is suggested to amend section 40(ba) to allow remuneration, interest to JV partners subject to provisions of section 40A(2) so as to protect revenue's interest. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
53.	Section 40(b)(v) – Raise in allowable expenses in the form of remuneration to working partner	Currently, the remuneration to working partners is allowed at Rs. 1,50,000 or 90 percent of book profits whichever is more for first Rs. 3,00,000 of book profits and at 60 percent of remaining book profits which is not justified. Raising the aforesaid limit will have no tax effect as it would be just appropriation of profits. Further, there would be timing difference from the view point of tax.	It is suggested that limit for allowable remuneration for each of the working partner be changed at the rate of Rs. 1,80,000 per annum per partner or 90 percent of book profits whichever is more for first Rs. 10,00,000 of book profits and 75 percent of the remaining book profits. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE

54.	Explanation 5 to Section 43(1) – “building” to be replaced by “assets”	Section 43 deals with actual cost. There are 14 explanations provided in section 43(1) describing the method of computation of actual cost of asset under different situations. Explanation (5) deals with actual cost in respect of building previously used by the assessee for certain purposes & subsequently brought into business or profession. According to this explanation, the building so brought in should be notionally depreciated & the resultant WDV as at the date of introducing the building into business shall be deemed to be the actual cost. While all other explanations use the term “asset” or “capital asset”, Explanation 5 uses the term “building” instead of “assets”. It has therefore been held that this explanation would not apply to all other assets other than building.	In line with the other explanations to section 43(1), it is suggested that the term “Assets” be used instead of the term “building” in Explanation 5 to section 43(1). (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
55.	Section 43B and 36(1)(va) – prospective applicability of amendments made vide the Finance Act 2021	The Finance Act 2021 amended section 36(1)(va) of the Act by inserting another Explanation to the said clause to clarify that the provision of section 43B does not apply and deemed to never have been applied for the purposes of determining the due date under this clause. Due to the amendment in aforesaid sections vide the Finance Act 2021, now the employer will have to bear dual consequences if an employee's contribution has not been deposited before the due prescribed time under the relevant Act. On one hand, the employer will have to face penal and other consequences provided under the relevant Act(s) while on the other hand no deduction will be allowed in any of the subsequent years even if the same has been paid before furnishing the return of income.	In view of the aforesaid, it is suggested that the amendment be made extending applicability of amendments made in section 43B and section 36(1)(va) prospectively from A.Y. 2023-24 and onwards. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

		It has been mentioned in the Memorandum to the Finance Bill 2021 that the amendments will be applicable for A.Y. 2021-22 and onwards. In fact during the previous year, due to Corona Pandemic, it was not possible to meet the due date due to paucity of funds, absenteeism of employees following lock down. Further, this is a retrospective applicability which the Ruling Party election manifesto catagorically stated that shall not be made. Late Arun Jaitleyji, in his first Budget also assured that this Government shall not carry out any retrospective anemdment. In view of the aforesaid, it is suggested that the amendment be made extending applicability of amendments made in section 43B and section 36(1)(va) prospectively from A.Y. 2023-24 and onwards.
56.	Section 43CA - Increase the safe harbour threshold subject to specified conditions – Request to further relax the conditions	The Finance Act. 2021 amended section 43CA of the Act so as to increase the safe harbour threshold from existing 10% to 20% subject to fulfilment of following conditions: (a) The transfer of residential unit takes place during the period from 12.11.2020 to 30.06.2021, (b) The transfer is by way of first-time allotment of the residential unit to any person, and (c) The consideration received or accruing as a result of such transfer does not exceed Rs 2 crore. Issue	It is suggested that the benefit of the aforesaid provisions be extended to 31.03.2022 instead of 30.06.2021. Further, it is also suggested that the benefit be extended to all the categories of the taxpayers and accordingly conditions may be further relaxed. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

		The stated reason for the increase in threshold is to boost the demand in the real-estate sector and to enable the real-estate developers to liquidate their unsold inventory at a lower rate to home buyers. At present, the stamp duty valuation of the property is relevant for computation of income if it more than 110% of the actual sale consideration. Considering the present scenario of the real estate sector, the benefit of threshold of 110% is now extended to 120% if the property is sold by a real estate developer and it's a primary sale where consideration does not exceed Rs 2 crore. The said amendment is expected to boost the real estate sector as well as to provide some relief to home buyers leading to overall economic development. However, the benefit is restricted on sale done prior to 30.06.2021. Further, the benefit is available to only real estate developers & purchasing directly from real estate developers and the consideration does not exceed Rs 2 crores. The real estate sector is facing a big challenge of unsold inventory due to the pandemic/ overall economic conditions created from lock down not attributed to business issues and Banking sector is also facing huge NPAs in this sector. Therefore, keeping both the sectors in mind, the benefit of 20% safe harbour may be extended without any conditions.

57.	Section 44AB – Increase in threshold limit from Rs 5 crore to Rs 10 crore subject to conditions specified for person carrying on business – Certain concerns/issues to be addressed	The resolve of the current government in respect of ease of doing business especially for small and medium enterprises and moving towards digital economy is appreciable. Towards this end, the threshold limit under section 44AB is increased from Rs 5 crore to Rs 10 crore in a case where cash receipt is not more than 5% of total receipt or cash payment is not more than 5% of total payment. This would, no doubt, reduce the compliance burden of SMEs and MSMEs. However, we would like to point out certain concerns/issues which merit consideration from a revenue augmentation and tax collection standpoint. The steep increase in the threshold for tax audit from Rs. 5 crore to Rs. 10 crore may pose concerns relating to revenue leakage especially in the current faceless assessment regime. Since the time tax audit was first introduced in 1984, the gross tax collections have risen leaps and bounds (it was around approx. 3 or 4 thousand crores in 1984 and now it around Rs 13.5 lakh crores); and tax audit has contributed significantly to such increase. The particulars required to be filled in the various clauses in Form 3CD facilitates the Assessing Officers in carrying out and completing the assessment. Further, considering the thrust on faceless assessments, a tax audit is in fact all the more important now. It will help the tax department get information from the tax audit. Tax audit by chartered accountants have compelled assesseees to make suo-moto additions on account of various disallowances like payment of taxes, bonus, interest, etc. u/s 43B, disallowances due to non-deduction of tax (TDS) u/s 40(a)(i)/(ia),	It is suggested that: (a) The threshold limit of Rs 10 crore may be reconsidered keeping in mind the fact the current tax audit report format requires reporting of various disallowances and compliances as stated above. In case the threshold is so increased, tax department has to devise ways and means for identification of various disallowances and non-compliances in the current scenario of electronic assessments. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS) (b) Clarification be issued, or necessary legislative amendments be made regarding the receipts and payments that need to be considered for the purposes of calculation of 5% of cash payment/receipt eg whether withdrawal of cash from bank (vice versa) or maturity/creating of FDRs/loans to be counted as various disallowances u/s 40A, payments in cash exceeding Rs. 10000/- per person per day u/s 40A(3), etc. It also provides information on TDS/TCS compliances, non-business expenditures, ICDS Compliances, Form 61A / 61 compliances, allowable deductions under chapter VIA, Receipts / payments in violation of sections 269SS /269ST/269T, comparable ratios, and many more. Also, depreciation computation, computation of gains/losses on sale of investments, right classification of head of income, instances of export, treatment of exchange differences, provisions relating to new units (various exemptions), etc. to name a few more. Computation of taxable income using ICDS is also very complex. eg ICDS 9 is much more complex than provisions of Accounting Standards. Without tax audit, Income-tax Department may not have right income computed. Importantly, these assessees presently maintain books only because they are liable for tax audit. By raising the threshold for tax audit, these entities may get to indiscipline of no proper records. These entities have bank borrowings ranging from Rs.50 lacs to Rs.5 crore and on aggregate such borrowings are huge. Today banks rely on tax audited financial statements for credit review. Such move may expose banks to significant risk if tax audit is removed. Thus, in effect, the tax audit report is the first stage verification by the chartered accountant of the compliances under the Income-tax Act, 1961. He certifies that the information given in the said Form are true	receipts/payments; whether only business expenditure to be considered or all payments. Further, since the onus may be put on the concerned assessee to furnish proof of compliance of the conditions of cash receipts and cash payments being less than 5% of total receipts and total payments, respectively, a suitable mechanism may be provided for ease of calculation of such limits. (c) The anomaly in the manner of applicability of section 44AB to individuals/HUFs/Firms with turnover upto Rs 2 crores and turnover exceeding Rs 2 crores may be rectified. 		and correct, based on the documents examined by him. Such certification by the chartered accountant facilitates the Assessing Officer to carry out the assessment expeditiously. Although safeguards have been provided in the form of thresholds, namely, applicability of enhanced limits only in cases where cash receipt is not more than 5% of total receipt and cash payment is not more than 5% of total payment, however, in the absence of tax audit, verification of this compliance would be directly on the income tax department. Also, assessees excluded from tax audit on account of increase in threshold may not be able to correctly compute their income from business by providing for the disallowances suo-moto. They are also not covered within the presumptive tax provisions under section 44AD, since the threshold for the same continues to be Rs. 2 crore. Penalty for non-reporting is steep considering the section 271AAD and other penal provisions like section 270A under the Income-tax law. Small businesses may not be able to report not because they want to evade tax but due to the ignorance of such provisions. This importance of tax audit, therefore, cannot be undermined as a mere compliance which is viewed as burdensome, without appreciating its contribution to the exchequer. In this regard, the Government may consider following ground realities and various other factors as mentioned below: 1. Auditors act as a watchdog on various compliances such as tax deduction, excess cash payment above Rs. 10000/-, Professional Tax deduction, GST Reconciliation etc. In most of the cases, the tax Auditor informs the assessee to comply with all provisions of law. 2. Digital economy cannot be done at the cost of revenue loss. Some Small and medium enterprises sometimes does to want to pay taxes because of fear of audit as they are complying with various laws. Certain situations where tracking may not be done digitally are as follows: a. Assessee may not be deducting tax, b. Assessee has purchases goods and now sold, money received in bank but sales invoice not raised. c. Assessee putting personal digital transaction expenses in profit & loss account. Difficult to distinguish between personal expenses and business expenses. Certain assessee may now go for filing of their Tax returns from Non-qualified professionals bringing down the quality of books of accounts and government may not have any mechanism to trace it. However, Individuals/HUFs/Firms whose turnover exceeds Rs 2 crore and 95% of the receipts and payments are through prescribed electronic modes are exempted from tax audit even if their profit is less than 6%. Since the same is not covered under section 44AD, it may be noted that individuals/HUFs/Firms with turnover upto Rs 2 crores who are eligible to opt for section 44AD cannot declare profits lower than 8%/6% as the case may be without

If UDIN not uploaded within 15 days, the Form (including tax audit report) would become invalid There could be a few occasions, where there is a clerical error in a report, which comes to the notice after few months of filing. Currently the system allows to revise the filed audit report, but in this case, a new report is uploaded and new UDIN is to be generated. There are provisions in the Income-tax Act to revise ITR as well as TDS / TCS Returns, for which new ITR or TDS / TCS return is not to be filed but the original one can be amended through revising the same In this background, a similar provision is required to be brought for tax audit reports (Form CA/3CB/3CD) so that in case of clerical error (where turnover / profit/ balance sheet, etc are not effected), a provision is brought in the Income-tax Act to revise such reports, with same UDIN, so that there is no violation / delay reported to file the same within due time.	It is suggested that section 44AB and other related provisions be amended so that tax audit report (Form 3CA/3CB/3CD) may be revised for minor clerical errors just like there is a similar provision to revise ITR forms/TDS/TCS returns under the Income-tax Act, 1961. (SUGGESTION FOR IMPROVING TAX COLLECTION)

59.	Section 44AB - Applicability of audit in specific case	It is mentioned in section 44AB(e) that every person carrying on the business shall, if the provisions of sub-section (4) of section 44AD are applicable in his case and his income exceeds the maximum amount which is not chargeable to income-tax in any previous year get his accounts audited by chartered accountant. Provided that this section shall not apply to the person, who declares profits and gains for the previous year in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 44AD and his total sales, turnover or gross receipts, as the case may be, in business does not exceed two crore rupees in such previous year. Hence there is confusion about audit of business of a person having turnover less than one crores and who declares profit less than eight percent. Section 44AB(a) specifies to get accounts audited, if the person has turnover more than Rs.1 Crore/Rs.5/Rs 10 Crore. Section 44AB(e) is applicable to the person to whom section 44AD(4) are applicable. As per section 44AD(4), if the person opt outs of section 44AD, they cannot obtain benefit of this provision for next 5 assessment years. But there is no reference in section 44AB(e) about the person, who has never declared profit on presumptive basis and has turnover less than 1 Crore and profit less than 8%/6%. Hence the clarification about applicability of audit for such entity is needed.	It is suggested that a clarification may be inserted in section 44AB regarding applicability of section 44AB(e) to the person having turnover from business less than Rs. 1 Crore and declares profit less than eight/six percent and have never exercised option to declare profit on presumptive basis as mentioned u/s 44AD(4). (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

Some of the contractors are executing works for various Government departments and Private agencies. Most of the payments are received through proper banking channels.	It is suggested that due to the growth of economic activity and the volume of business, the rate of 6% may be reduced to 5% for certain contractors and turnover ceiling may be increased to Rs. 5.00 crores for Infrastructure Industry. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

In case of firms, payment to partners like interest and salary is now not allowed against the presumptive taxation which was allowed earlier. However, other presumptive taxation provision i.e. section 44AE still allows the payment to partners out of presumptive taxation income. This creates disparity, and hence payment to partners should be allowed against all presumptive taxation income.	It is suggested that payment to partners in nature of salary and interest may be allowed as deduction from presumptive incomes under section 44AD and 44ADA. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

62.	Section 44AD - Presumptive Income – Some Issues	Section 44AD was repealed w.e.f. 01/04/2011 i.e. from AY 2011-12. According to the new provisions, in case of an eligible assessee engaged in eligible business, income shall be deemed equal to a sum @ 8% of the turnover or higher income as per books. Section 44AD is applicable to any business except the business of plying, hiring or leasing goods carriages referred to in section 44AE, agency business, commission / brokerage income business and whose total turnover or gross receipts in the previous year does not exceed an amount of Rs. 2crore. It was further amended by the Finance Act, 2016. Applicability of section 44AD The Finance Act, 2012 had inserted sub-section (6) with retrospective effect from 1st April, 2011 to clarify that the presumptive tax provisions under section 44AD shall not be applicable to, inter alia, persons earning income in the nature of commission or brokerage or persons carrying on an agency business. Further, the section 44AD(6) apparently seems to exclude the applicability to persons carrying on profession, agency business and earning commission or brokerage. It is possible that such persons have other businesses eligible for presumptive taxation under section 44AD. Therefore, it is suggested that the definition of “eligible business” be amended to exclude professions, agency business and business in respect of which the earnings are in the form of commission or brokerage.	It is suggested that instead of sub-section 44AD(6), the definition of “eligible business” be amended to exclude ‘specified professionals’, agency business and business in respect of which the earnings are in the form of commission or brokerage. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

The aforesaid clause is having issues in its interpretation. This is creating unnecessary confusing because for every hgv, there is gvw and also ulw. So it is not clear as how to calculate the presumptive income under this section. One interpretation may be that when an hgv is in use, for that period take gvw and when it is idle for that period take ulw for calculating income under this section. But such calculation will require proper records which goes against the very purpose of presumptive tax scheme. It may be mentioned that clause (ii) of this sub section provides rate of Rs7500/- per month for non hgv. Considering this and heavy depreciation and finance charges, monthly presumptive rate of Rs 15000/- may be quite appropriate for hgv.	It is suggested that instead of the current calculation prescribed under section 44AE(2)(i), a fixed monthly rate of Rs 15,000/- per month per hgv may be prescribed. (SUGGESTION FOR IMPROVING TAX COLLECTION)

	profession on presumptive basis – Issues and concerns arising there from to be addressed
	a) Threshold limit of Rs 50 lakhs may be increased	The sub-section (1) provides that: “Notwithstanding anything contained in sections 28 to 43C, in the case of an assessee, being a resident in India, who is engaged in a profession referred to in sub-section (1) of section 44AA and whose total gross receipts do not exceed fifty lakh rupees in a previous year, a sum equal to fifty per cent. of the total gross receipts of the assessee in the previous year on account of such profession or, as the case may be, a sum higher than the aforesaid sum claimed to have been earned by the assessee, shall be deemed to be the profits and gains of such profession chargeable to tax under the head “Profits and gains of business or profession”. The threshold limit of Rs 50 lakhs appears to be low. Consequently, this provision may not achieve the intended objective of providing relief to professionals in the small and medium segment. Even the Income Tax Simplification Committee headed by Justice R V Easwar recommended a threshold limit of Rs 1 crore. This appears to be a more justifiable limit considering the present economic conditions prevailing in the country.	It is suggested that the threshold limit of Rs 50 lakh may be raised appropriately (say to at least Rs 1 crore) so that a sizable percentage of professionals in the small and medium segment are covered under the said provisions; which would ultimately lead to the achievement of stated objective of introducing the new provision. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
	b) Rate of estimated income @ 50% too high	The rate of 50% appears to be on the higher side and may cause very high tax incidence on such professionals particularly since the scheme is intended to cover professionals with low gross receipts/total turnover resulting in low margins due to nature of work and high	It is suggested that the estimated rate of income @ 50% of the total gross receipts may be reduced appropriately (say to 30%) considering the

66.	Section 45(5A) - Taxation of joint development agreements (JDAs)	Currently, relaxation is granted to individuals and HUFs. In towns and cities, due to land availability being scarce, more developments are happening through vertical expansions via JDAs. Tax on most JDAs are litigated w.r.t. time of taxation and/or value for taxation. While welcoming relaxations by the Finance Act 2017, the equity lies in favour of all joint developments, for capital gains as well as for stock in trade and for all types of assesseees. This will encourage real estate joint developments. The new section incorporates provisions of section 50C, but only partly with the result that relief provisions to assesseees aggrieved against higher stamp valuation are not applied. While holding constitutional validity of section 50C the courts have also taken cognisance of relief remedies built in the said section. For capital gains inter alia from JDAs, the exemption provisions are contained in section 54, 54F, 54EC, 54EE. However, the time limits in the said sections have not been extended w.r.t. Section 45(5A).	(a) It is suggested to extend scope of section 45(5A) to all assesseees and to transfers of capital assets as well as non-capital assets. Further, provisions of section 50C may be made fully applicable to section 45(5A). Also, time limits of section 54, 54F, 54EC, 54EE may be extended in alignment with section 45(5A). (b) Section 45(5A) deals with registered agreements only. However, the judgements on transfer include registered as well as non registered documents as transfers. Therefore, it is suggested to provide statutory provisions about unregistered development agreements also. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

However, no clause has been inserted to provide consequent exemption in respect of transfer of shares by the resident shareholders of amalgamating foreign company in consideration of allotment of shares of amalgamated foreign company. This appears to be an inadvertent omission, since in case of exemption under section 47(vi) in respect of transfer of capital asset in a scheme of amalgamation by an amalgamating company to the amalgamated company, where the amalgamated company is an Indian company, consequent exemption has been provided under section 47(vii) in the hands of the shareholders of the amalgamating company for transfer of shares of amalgamating company in consideration of allotment of shares of amalgamated company. 	(b) Consequential amendment required in section 47(xiiib)	The existing section 47(xiiib) provides that no capital gains tax is payable on conversion of a private limited or unlisted public company into LLP subject to certain conditions. Proviso (e) states that this provision will not apply if the total sales, turnover or gross receipts in the business of any of the three preceding years exceed Rs. 60 lakhs. Since this was an amendment to facilitate conversion of private limited companies and unlisted companies into LLPs, ideally, there should be no restriction on the turnover to avail the benefit of section 47(xiiib). It may also be noted that the parent Act i.e. Limited Liability Partnership Act 2008, allows this conversion without any such restrictions.	Many companies are now converting themselves to LLP. With a view to popularize the concept of LLP and also in view of the fact that such provision should apply to all cases of revenue neutral conversions from one form of entity to another form of entity, there should be no threshold on turnover, to avail the benefit under section 47(xiiib) or alternatively, the limit of sixty Lacs rupees should be substantially enhanced or the condition of the turnover should be deleted. (SUGGESTIONS FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

However, the amendment had kept the condition of no indexation benefit being available in context of slump sale which is otherwise available or transfer under second proviso to section 48. The manner of calculating such fair market has been provided by insertion of Rule 11UAE. As per Rule 11UAE, the valuation is based on notional consideration wherein book value of specified assets is substituted by the fair market value. Therefore, even in cases where transfer happens at book value the notional consideration gets imputed and taxation happens at higher value. In a sense the deemed consideration is based on individual assets fair value. That being the case it is inequitable policy response to not allow benefit of indexation on the cost of the undertaking. It is equitable that if the fair market value of capital is taken as sale consideration, there should be corresponding amendment in section 50B(2) with respect to allowability of benefit of indexation as per second proviso to section 48 while computing net worth for those undertaking which are held for more than 36 months.

Same litigations continue even after the amendment made e.g. 4 flats can comprise in "a house" as well as "one house". Further, section 54 and 54F are benevolent sections. The majority of the judgements have come in favour of the assessee. However, so many litigations go on endlessly on issues like allotment letter, purchase in joint names including a family member, construction or purchase, so on. It is necessary to take cognisance of spirit of law and the decided case laws and to make the sections more clarificatory and positive so that the litigations can be avoided. There is a need to expand the time limits under these sections so that the assessee gets flexibility to invest.	It is suggested that section 54 and 54F may be amended by enabling CBDT to prescribe guidelines w.r.t. In many cases, assessee is not aware about exemption provision and comes to know about it only when he approaches his/her tax consultant at the time of filling of ITR. By this time, 6 months period is already over and thus the assessee inadvertently lose the benefit of exemption. 2. Present time limit expires exactly at 6 months from the date of transfer. Due to this, even an otherwise knowledgeable assessee is also forced to be very cautious about exact date and sometimes he may miss it unintentionally. 3. Bringing the time limit upto the due date of filing of ITR shall also bring parity with section 54/54B/54F etc. where assessee is permitted to deposit the money in Capital Gains Account upto the due date of filing of ITR. In fact, assessee would be in a better position to take a call as to which exemption option is better suited for him. 4. 		(b) Capital gains exemption on investment in Specified Bonds during the financial year In furtherance of the existing proviso to section 54EC, a new proviso has been inserted to clarify that the investment made by an assessee in the long-term specified asset, from capital gains arising from transfer of one or more original assets, during the financial year in which the original asset or assets are transferred and in the subsequent financial year does not exceed fifty lakh rupees. The change is proposed to plug the revenue leakage and to clarify the real intent of the law. Since, the new proviso is in furtherance of the existing proviso; it may cause hardship in genuine cases where investment has to be made in long term specified asset in respect of two previous years in a single financial year. For example, an assessee selling a long-term capital asset in February, 2015 (Previous year 2014-15) may invest in Section 54EC assets	(b) Considering the fact that the new proviso takes care of the true intent of the law, and appears to be contrary to the existing proviso, thereby causing hardship to the genuine taxpayers, it is suggested that the act be amended to substitute the first proviso with the newly inserted proviso. Further, considering the inflationary conditions in the economy, it is further suggested that the said limit of Rs.50 Lakhs may be raised to Rs. 1 crore. This section is applicable only when the capital asset is acquired before 01st February 2018. Since the holding period of X Ltd is added for determining LTCG/STCG, Shares of Y Ltd should be deemed to be acquired before 01st February 2018 and the fair value of shares of X Ltd on 31st January 2018 should be considered for the purpose of determining the cost of acquisition of shares of Y Ltd u/s 55(2)(ac). Now the question arises how to determine the fair value as on 31st January 2018 - When both the companies are listed. To determine the fair value of equity share, we may refer to the highest price of shares of X Ltd or Y Ltd as on 31st January 2018. There is no clarity in section 55(2)(ac) and therefore, it needs to be amended to provide that fair value of shares of X Ltd on 31st January 2018 be treated as cost of acquisition of shares of Y Ltd. These provisions does not provide clarity of valuation on shares on demerger. Section 55(2)(ac) may need to be amended by clarifying that on demerger the share price of X Ltd (Listed co) is to be determined as on 31st January 2018 by taking highest price as on 31st January 2018. The said price shall be further divided in the ratio of net worth in X Ltd after demerger and the net worth transferred to Y Ltd. Eg. 77.	Definition of the term relative - Explanation to Section 56(2)(vii)	Under the existing provisions of section 56(2)(vii), any sum or property received by an individual or HUF for inadequate consideration or without consideration is deemed as income and is taxed under the head 'Income from other sources'. However, in case of any individual, receipts from specified relatives are excluded from the purview and hence, are not taxable. The Explanation to section 56(2)(vii) was amended by the Finance Act, 2012 so as to provide that any sum or property received without consideration or inadequate consideration by an HUF from its members would also be excluded from taxation. The provisions of clubbing of income as contained in Chapter V of the Income-tax Act, 1961 are attracted in respect of income from any sum of money or value of assets transferred to a non-relative. Once the sum of money or value of assets are subject to tax under section 56(2) in the hands of the recipient, the income from such assets should not be subject to the clubbing provisions contained in Chapter V. Further, it may be noted that, in relation to an "individual", the term relative, as it stands at present, does not include nieces and nephews. This may not be the legislative intent as they also form part of the close circle of relatives and accordingly have been considered as "relative" in the Direct Taxes Code Bill, 2010 and 2013.	Suggestions: (i) The provisions of clubbing of income as contained in Chapter V of the Income-tax Act, 1961 should not be attracted once the sum of money or value of assets are subject to tax under section 56(2) in the hands of the recipient. (ii) Lineal descendants of brothers and sisters of self and spouse may also be included in the definition of "relative" in line with the provisions of section 13(3). Also, maternal grandparents may be included in the definition of relatives. (iii) The application of the provision should also be extended to the relatives of the members of HUF. (SUGGESTIONS FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

	certain circumstances	explanation of a transaction being undertaken in a particular manner which may be at variance with the deemed value resulting from mechanical application of the rules. This has unintended results in that: (i) Section 56(2)(x) may get attracted to genuine transaction not leading to any tax avoidance. (ii) The mechanical application of deemed value creates additional tax liability based on historical costs with no correlation with the current economic value. It needs to be appreciated that no one valuation method or a price can be said to fairly deal with multifarious commercial realities of transactions even when no tax avoidance is involved. Although the Act itself has recognised it in several other provisions which are anti abuse provisions but then selectively this reality has been ignored in section 56(2)(x). For Example, Section 50C brought to check undervaluation in context of transactions in immovable properties provide an option for the assessee to present a case as to why stamp duty valuation is unjustified. Further an inbuilt tolerance has been permitted (now upto 10%) for acceptance of transaction value. Incidentally section 56(2)(x) incorporates this principle only for immovable property transaction but then ignores the same principle for other transactions. There are many genuine reasons for transaction to happen at a price in variance to a mechanical rule: (i) the transfer of property may be under stressed conditions (like covid created circumstances), (ii) the volume of transaction and contractual terms may be at variance by what has been assumed.	inadequacy of consideration, if any, vis-à-vis the fair market value as determined in prescribed manner and if such an explanation is found satisfactory by the assessing officer then the provisions of the said section shall not apply to such transaction. Sr. No	Section	Issue/Justification	Suggestion
		(iii) the special characteristics and nature of transaction like a case of bulk deal undertaken off exchange. (iii) historical costs may not reflect the present economic value of the property. In such situation to burden the taxpayer with tax liability based on an artificial construct with no recourse to even present the matter for consideration by the tax authorities and automatic presumption of undervaluation is not desirable. It is therefore of utmost importance looking into the wide scope of transactions covered under Section 56(2) (X) that an enabling provision is there in the section allowing the assessee an opportunity to substantiate that the transaction price variation is justified. It's ultimately for the tax department to analyse and examine the satisfactory nature of the explanation offered.
79.	Section 56(2)(x) – Clarification w.r.t. issue of shares	As per the Section 56(2)(x), if any person receives any property on or after 1 April 2017, without consideration or for consideration which is less than the aggregate fair market value by an amount exceeding Rs 50,000, the difference shall be taxable under the head 'Income from Other Sources' in the hands of the recipient. The intent of legislation is to bring within ambit of taxation instances of 'transfer' for inadequate consideration and not 'issue' of shares. This section has replaced the erstwhile section 56(2)(viiia) which was applicable only for transfer of shares as was mentioned in Explanatory Memorandum to Finance Bill, 2010.	A suitable clarification may be issued that section 56(2)(x) is applicable only for transfer of shares and not for issue of shares. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

		Income-tax Rules, 1962 to prescribe the following class of persons for exclusion from the provisions of section 56(2)(x): - any immovable property, being land or building or both, received by a resident of an unauthorised colony in Delhi, where the Central Government by notification regularised the transaction of such immovable property based on certain documents; - unquoted shares of a company and its subsidiary and the subsidiary of such subsidiary received by a shareholder where the shares are received pursuant to a resolution plan approved by the Tribunal; - equity shares of Yes Bank received by any investor or investor pursuant to the Yes Bank Limited Reconstruction Scheme, 2020. Owing to the exceptional circumstances created by the COVID 19 pandemic, and the consequential impact on the real estate sector, it is likely that taxpayers may resort to 'stressed sale' of immovable property in order to generate funds or mobilise blocked capital. Exceptions to be prescribed for Sale of Stressed Assets due to the COVID 19 pandemic.	(ii) It is suggested that a similar prescription be made for stressed sale of assets, since the value of assets have significantly declined due to the ongoing pandemic. This benefit could be provided vide the following mechanisms: a. Introducing a form for applications which can be made by the sellers to the tax authorities, highlighting inter-alia, the details of the asset to be sold and the reason for sale of the asset at a price below fair market value. Prescribing a higher tolerance range wherein variation in the consideration received as compared to the stamp duty value or fair market value will be acceptable. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
82.	Section 57 – Removal of restriction of deduction of interest expense from	The Finance Act 2020 has provided to abolish the dividend distribution tax regime. Accordingly, section 57 is amended to provide that no deduction shall be allowed from dividend income, or income in respect of units of mutual fund or specified company, other than deduction on account of interest expense and in any previous year such deduction shall not exceed 20% of the dividend income or income from units included in the total income for that year without deduction under section 57. The restriction of deduction to 20% of income may pose difficulty in case of investment companies, NBFCs etc whose major capital comes from borrowings. In the past, there are several decided case laws holding that where dividend is treated as business income, full deduction of interest expenses is allowed against the same. For such companies, there is no rationale for treating the same as income from other sources and the allowing only 20% of dividend income as the interest expense. It will lead to endless litigation as interest and/or other legitimate business expense should be allowed to be deducted against such dividend income in full without any restrictions.	Alternatively, Proviso to section 57 may be modified to make reference to “gross total income” to clarify that deduction of interest expense is required to be allowed against gross dividend income and not net dividend income after deduction under section 80M of the Act. (b) suitable legislative amendment be made to bring dividend income of investment companies, NBFCs etc. to tax under the head ‘Profits and gains of business or profession’, so that full deduction of interest and or other related expenditure be allowed therefrom. 83.	Section 60 - Transfer of Income where no transfer of assets	The existing provisions of section 60 provide that income arising to a person under a transfer, where the asset from which the income arises is not transferred, shall be included in the total income of the transferor. The clubbing provisions are intended to check the abuse whereby the transactions are undertaken to split income with object of avoiding due payment of taxes. Private philanthropy is increasing globally with more and more wealth creators/ promoters pledging to give away a significant portion of their wealth for philanthropic purposes. A significant portion of the wealth for many such entrepreneurs is from the value of shares held by them in enterprises created by them.	It is suggested that section 60 may be amended to provide that it would not apply in respect of any transfer of income by way of written renouncement by any person in favour of a charitable institution having medical relief, educational purposes or yoga, etc. approved objects as the focus area of its activity and which is registered under section 12A/12AA/12AB of the Act provided that such an assignment is

		Globally, while many entrepreneurs retain control through voting rights over these enterprises, the economic benefits arising from the shareholding - dividends, capital gains etc. are pledged towards philanthropic activities. Most of the philanthropic activities in India are currently focused towards enhancing health care, reducing extreme poverty, expanding educational opportunities etc. Achieving this goal requires a substantial and steady flow of funds. Taking a cue from their international counterparts, wealth creators/ promoters in India are seeking to channelize their income from their shareholdings for funding philanthropic activities. The crisis in second wave of Covid 19 pandemic has brought into focus the urgent and long term need for strengthening the health infrastructure in the country. The Private Philanthropy has an important role to play in supplementing the National efforts for improvement in the health infrastructure of the country. Many wealth creators/ promoters especially of large listed companies need to retain control from a strategic business perspective. Various stakeholders such as Institutional investors, shareholders, JV partners etc. expect oversight and control from individual promoters. In such a situation, the only way for achieving philanthropy is that while the promoter does not part with shares (i.e. voting rights), the economic benefits arising from the shareholding i.e. dividends/ capital gains can be renounced towards philanthropy. Similarly, there can be assignment of economic benefits like interest etc. flowing through other financial instruments/ units. However, under the existing provisions of Section 60 this renouncement of economic	irrevocable for a long period of not less than 10 years (or even longer than that if the necessary comfort is available from that). This limited exception, with focused utilization and identified recipient (which is a well monitored and controlled entity under the Act) would not in any way dilute the primary objective of the Section 60 of the Act (to address abusive / fraudulent splitting of income). However, it will ensure smooth optimal and assured flow of funds for the intended activity in the health infrastructure and medical relief. The suggested amendment is placed below: “Transfer of income where there is no transfer of assets. 60. 		interest towards philanthropy, without transfer of shares/financial instrument would result in dividend/ interest income being taxed in the hands of the person renouncing the income. The clubbing of income in hands of the renouncer results in high tax incidence thereby, leaving lower funds available for philanthropy in the hands of the charity. Whereas clearly the right of disposal and use of income is with the charity. Considering the above, if the philanthropist/donor intends to renounce their economic rights in the shareholding or assign economic benefits to a charitable organization having primary focus as medical relief, a facilitating mechanism needs to be put in place whereby the benefits can be passed on directly to the charitable institution. This would ensure huge fund flow to the health and medical sector without diluting any of the stated policy objectives of the Government.	any person of his right to receive an income to a trust or an institution registered under section 12A or section 12AA or section 12AB, as the case may be, if the following conditions are satisfied, namely:- (i) the transfer is by way of an instrument in writing; (ii) the transfer is not revocable any time before expiry of a period of ten years from the date of transfer; and (iii) the primary activity of the trust or institution is providing of medical relief.” (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

AGGREGATION OF INCOME AND SET OFF OR CARRY FORWARD OF LOSS

DETAILED SUGGESTIONS

Sr. No	Section	Issue/Justification	Suggestion
84.	Section 70 – Insurance industry concerns	The insurance industry has a long gestation period and it takes a long time to achieve a break-even. Accordingly, the limit of 8 years for carry forward and set off of business losses is not sufficient.	It is suggested that insurance companies should be allowed to carry forward and set-off unabsorbed business losses for an indefinite period. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
85.	Section 71(3A) - Loss from House Property	Section 71 of the Act provides for set off of any loss arising under the head “Income from House Property” against any other head of income. As per section 71, it is restricted to set off the losses to the extent of Rs 2,00,000 against any other head of income and the unabsorbed loss to be carried forward upto subsequent 8 assessment years. Middle class and lower class people generally invest in property by obtaining loan from the banks. The amount of interest paid is always higher than the rental income earned against such property and as per the current provisions the loss could be set off against other income. This has always been a motivator to invest in the real estate. The amendment will hit the salaried class badly since many salaried class have real estate as one of the dominant asset class in the portfolio. Many of them have borrowed to acquire a house which is self-occupied. Further, the Finance Minister in his budget speech focused on housing development. The restriction of set off of loss will not promote development of housing projects. The carry forward of the unabsorbed loss under Income from house Property is	It is therefore suggested to withdraw the said amendment. Alternatively, the limit of Rs 2 lakhs may be raised to atleast Rs 5 lakhs. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS) allowed for a period of 8 assessment years. However, practically there would not be any positive income since the interest cost is very high.

86.	Section 72A - Carry forward of losses in case of amalgamation or merger for service industry	Currently, all industrial undertakings in the Manufacturing, Software, Electricity, Telecom, etc. sectors are allowed to carry forward of losses in case of merger / amalgamation. Service industry undertakings in general are not allowed such carry forward with the exception of Software and Telecom services. Media and Entertainment Industry requires huge investments in digitization, technology set up and distribution network. Seeking level playing field with other services like Telecom, Software etc. As per the Notification issued by the Govt. in 2004, Broadcasting and Cable Services are a part of Telecommunication Services. Consolidation of media industry will help in rapid growth and generation of substantial employment opportunities and faster digitization.	It is suggested to amend Section 72A(7)(aa) to also include Broadcasting, Media and Entertainment sector. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
87.	Section 78 – Issue of carry forward and set off of losses of an LLP	Currently, a firm assessee is not allowed to carry forward and set-off its losses to the extent of the share of the partner who has retired/ resigned as a partner. This is so, as firm and partners are treated as same under the civil law and a firm does not have a separate legal entity, unlike a company being a body corporate. Under Income Tax, firm is a separate person and it includes an LLP. LLP is a body corporate under LLP Act, 2008 and has separate legal entity and perpetual succession. An LLP may have 100 or 1000 partners, as there is no limit	It is suggested that section 78 and 79 may be suitably amended to allow / restrict carry forward of losses and set-off of an LLP assessee under section 79 and not as per section 78. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS) on maximum number of partners under LLP. Being a body corporate like company, an LLP having separate legal entity, the carry forward of losses and set-off should not be similar to a firm but should be similar to a company.

88.	Section 79 – (a) Carry forward and set off of loss in case of eligible start-ups - Condition to be further relaxed	The Finance Act, 2017 amended section 79 to provide that where a change in shareholding has taken place in a previous year in the case of a company, not being a company in which the public are substantially interested and being an eligible start-up as referred to in section 80-IAC of the Act, loss shall be carried forward and set off against the income of the previous year, if all the shareholders of such company which held shares carrying voting power on the last day of the year or years in which the loss was incurred, being the loss incurred during the period of 7 years beginning from the year in which such company is incorporated, continue to hold those shares on the last day of such previous year. Similar position remains even after the substitution of section 79 vide the Finance (No. 2) Act, 2019. The existing provisions provide for restrictions on carry forward of losses in case of substantial change in shareholding of the Indian company. As per the current provisions, shareholders of the company at the end of the financial year in which the loss was incurred must continue to own at least 51% of the shares in that company in the year in which such carry forward loss is to be set off; otherwise, the company loses the ability to carry forward such loss.	It is, therefore, suggested that the condition of continuous holding of the promoters/investors (being persons holding shares in the year of loss) be relaxed. Inter-se transfers between such shareholders be permitted. Also, it should suffice that the group of promoters/investors hold upto 26% of the voting power in the year of set-off. In any case, the turnover condition for a company to be an 'eligible start up' may be omitted in Explanation (ii)(b) to section 80-IAC. Also, the period for carry forward and set-off of losses can be extended based on period of gestation in the particular industry instead of initial period of 10 years. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

Sr. No	Section	Issue/Justification	Suggestion
		The Government, in pursuance of the start-up action plan and facilitating ease of doing business, introduced a beneficial regime for start-up to carry forward and set off losses. It has been provided that as long as all the original shareholders of the Company at the end of the financial year in which the loss was incurred continue to be shareholders of such shares in the financial year in which the loss is to be set off, the benefit of carry forward of loss would be available. Another issue is on account of turnover condition specified in Explanation (ii)(b) of section 80-IAC for a company to qualify as 'eligible start up'. The condition is that turnover of such company should not exceed Rs. 25 Crore anytime between F.Y. 2016-17 to F.Y. 2020-21. This condition also creates uncertainty for startups in the matter of section 79 limitation as generally applicable to closely held companies i.e., whether the turnover limit has to be adhered to in the year of set-off as well. The condition of continuing to hold all shares appears to be applicable not only to the initial promoters but also all persons investing subsequently in the startup, which may cause genuine practical hardship. This may also be practically difficult for the start-up company to achieve since PE investors generally look at time frame of 3 to 5 years for exit at a higher price. The exit may happen either through secondary sale in subsequent round of PE funding or through IPO. Any such exit will trigger section 79 limitation for the start-up company.
	(b) Insertion of third proviso in Section 79 -	Section 79 of the Income-tax Act, 1961 restricts the carry forward and set off of losses in the hands of a closely held	It is suggested that section 79(2)(c) be amended to clarify that it applies both to

	relief for change in shareholding of subsidiaries pursuant to resolution plan	company, if the shares carrying more than 51% of voting power of such company are not beneficially held by persons who beneficially held such shares on the last day of the previous year in which such loss was incurred. In general, implementation of resolution plan in respect of a company undergoing resolution process may involve either issue of additional shares or other restructuring exercise resulting in change in the shareholding of such company beyond the permissible limit u/s 79. In addition, thereto, the company may also be required to hive off its investments in subsidiaries by selling its stake to interested investors. This may result in change in shareholding of the subsidiaries triggering consequences u/s 79 of the Income-tax Act, 1961 in the hands of subsidiaries as well. Hence, this may discourage the interested acquirers/bidders from making investments in loss making subsidiaries and also in offering higher bids. Finance Act 2018 has amended the provisions of section 79 by inserting third proviso to section 79, to state that section 79 will not apply to companies, where the change in the shareholding is pursuant to implementation of a resolution plan approved by adjudicating authority (AA). This benefit is to be provided after an opportunity of being heard is given to the jurisdictional Commissioner or Principal Commissioner. Similar position remains even after the substitution of section 79 vide the Finance (No. 2) Act, 2019. Issue:	the company undergoing resolution process as well as its subsidiaries. The provision may be modified as follows: “Provided also that nothing contained in this section shall apply to a company as well as its subsidiary where a change in the shareholding takes place in a previous year pursuant to a resolution plan approved under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016, after affording a reasonable opportunity of being heard to the jurisdictional Principal Commissioner or Commissioner holding jurisdiction over the applicant”. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

Sr. No	Section	Issue/Justification	Suggestion
		Thus, in terms of the third proviso to section 79, carry forward and set off of losses of a company undergoing insolvency resolution process as well as its subsidiaries will not be impacted by section 79, if the change in shareholding takes place pursuant to a resolution plan approved by AA. While such be the case, it is likely that NCLT will not hear Principal Commissioner/Commissioner holding jurisdiction over the subsidiaries. Hence, the reference to an opportunity of being heard to be given to the Principle Commissioner/Commissioner by AAs may raise a doubt that the third proviso to section 79 only refers to the company which is undergoing a resolution process under IBC.
89.	Section 79 - Carry forward and set-off of losses in certain cases	In a recent decision, the Karnataka High Court (in the case of AMCO Power Systems Ltd.) held that the term beneficial shareholding as used in section 79 would apply to the ultimate holding company as well, and not be restricted to the immediate shareholding.	It is suggested that it be clarified that whether section 79 would apply only to a change of more than 51% in the immediate holding company, or whether it would also apply in the case of a change in the ultimate holding company. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
90.	Section 79 - Covid19 concerns	Section 79 is an anti-abusive provision and was inserted with an intent to curb the taxpayers' attempts at acquiring loss making Company and claim / enjoy the tax benefits of such losses while conducting profitable business. Issue:	In current scenario, most of the sales would be distressed sales and not with an intent to claim tax advantage. Hence, it is suggested that an exemption may be carved out for the distressed sales made during COVID-19 pandemic

		COVID-19 has thrown many challenges and there could be many distressed sales of entities having losses. In view of section 79, change in management may result in accumulated losses getting lapsed.	while putting adequate safeguards. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
91.	Section 79- Carry forward and set off of losses in case of certain companies	Section 79 provides that in case of a Company, not being a company in which the public are substantially interested, shall not be allowed to carry forward and set-off the losses against the income of previous year, unless on the last day of the previous year, the shares of the company carrying not less than fifty-one per cent of the voting power were beneficially held by persons who beneficially held shares of the company carrying not less than fifty-one per cent of the voting power on the last day of the year or years in which the loss was incurred. If the object of the section is seen it was introduced as an anti-abusive provision intended to curb the taxpayers attempts at acquiring loss making Company and claim / enjoy the tax benefits of such losses while conducting profitable business. It is worthwhile to note that the section explicitly uses terminology “person who beneficially held shares”. The section therefore aims to protect those cases wherein substantial ownership has been transferred within the same group i.e. the ultimate ownership does not undergo change. The core issue therefore is whether only direct ownership is to be considered then the concept of “beneficially held” becomes redundant. Therefore, the indirect shareholding has to be considered to determine as to whether there has been change in beneficial ownership or not.	It is suggested that section 79 may be amended to provide clarification regarding the “beneficially held” so that the determination of such holding for the purposes of this section is on the basis of both direct and indirect holding in the company. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

Sr. No	Section	Issue/Justification	Suggestion
		The dispute in this regard have been recurring and although majority of Judicial rulings have been in favour of taking indirect ownership into consideration to determine whether change has happened for the purposes of this section. Still there are few rulings which have taken only direct shareholding change to be sufficient. Considering the spirit and purpose of the section as well as majority of rulings it would be a step in right direction if an amendment is made in the section and clarification regarding the “beneficially held” is provided so that determination is on the basis of both direct and indirect holding in the company.

Section 80-IBA – Need to prescribe a form/certificate	Under section 80-IBA, inserted by the Finance Act, 2016 from 1.4.2017, deduction of 100% of profits derived from development of affordable housing projects approved on or after 1st June 2016 is available, subject to fulfillment of specified conditions. It prescribes multiple conditions to be fulfilled by assessee in order to claim deduction under this section. However, no monitoring mechanism has been prescribed to determine the correctness of claims made by the concerned assessees. This may ultimately lead to leakage of revenue.	It is suggested that a monitoring mechanism i.e. a form may be prescribed under section 80-IBA to be certified by an Accountant so that assessees claiming deduction under this section may be checked for correctness of claims made as well as fulfilment of conditions prescribed i.e form to be prescribed to be incorporated in the section itself. (SUGGESTION FOR REMOVAL OF ADMINISTRATIVE AND PROCEDURAL DIFFICULTIES RELATING TO DIRECT TAXES)
93.	Section 80-IBA - Incentive to affordable housing	The Finance Act, 2016 granted benefits for affordable housing to housing projects approved on or after 01.06.2016. The Finance Act, 2017 has further relaxed some of the relevant conditions.	It is suggested that applicability of section 80-IBA be extended to affordable housing projects to give benefit to first house holding owners by way of extending the higher carpet area criteria to achieve the Government's mission for housing for all. ((SUGGESTION FOR REMOVAL OF ADMINISTRATIVE AND PROCEDURAL DIFFICULTIES RELATING TO DIRECT TAXES)

Issue I: Request to provide benefit to assessee whose loan were sanctioned after section 80EE deduction was not available i.e. 01.04.2017 and onwards One of the conditions required to avail the benefit of section 80EEA is that the loan has been sanctioned by a financial institution during the period beginning on 01.04.2019 to 31.03.2020. Further, benefit of section 80EEA is available to assessee, being an individual not eligible to claim deduction under section 80EE. Here, it is pertinent to mention that benefit of section 80EE was available to assessee whose loan had been sanctioned by the financial institution during the period beginning on 01.04.2016 and ending on 31.03.2017. Accordingly, there are hundreds of assessee who may have loan sanctioned after 01.04.2017 but before 31.03.2019 for purchasing a residential house property and fulfilling other conditions as laid down in section 80EE/ section	(i) Considering the fact that no additional deduction was available for loans sanctioned during the period 01.04.2017 to 31.03.2019 taken by eligible assessee for purchasing residential house property and satisfying conditions as mentioned in section 80EE/80EEA, it is suggested to make the following change in section 80EEA(3)(i): “(i) the loan has been sanctioned by the financial institution during the period beginning on the 1st day of April, 2019 to 31.03.2020 and ending on the 31st day of March, 2020;” (ii) Accordingly, it is suggested that section 80EEA(1) may be amended as follows (by inserting the words ‘or construction’ akin to provisions of section 54 and 54F): “(1) In computing the total income of an assessee, being an individual not eligible to claim deduction under section 80EE, there shall be deducted, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, interest payable on loan taken by him from any financial institution for the purpose of acquisition OR CONSTRUCTION of a residential house property.”

		80EEA. Such assessee did not get any income tax benefit in the absence of such a provision in income tax law during such period. In order to truly realize the goal of the current Government of 'Housing for All' and 'affordable housing', it may be considered that the provision of section 80EEA pertaining to period of sanctioning of loan may be taken from 01.04.2017 instead of 01.04.2019 i.e. the period when deduction under section 80EE was not available. Issue II: Clarity regarding benefit to be available for loan taken for construction of residential house property as well Section 80EEA(1) reads as under: “(1) In computing the total income of an assessee, being an individual not eligible to claim deduction under section 80EE, there shall be deducted, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section, interest payable on loan taken by him from any financial institution for the purpose of acquisition of a residential house property.” [Emphasis supplied] In this regard, Memorandum explaining the Finance Bill provides as follows: “In order to provide an impetus to the 'Housing for all' objective of the Government and to enable the home buyer to have low-cost funds at his disposal, it is proposed to insert a new section 80EEA in the Act so as to provide a deduction in respect of interest up to one lakh fifty thousand rupees on loan taken for residential house property from any financial institution subject to the following conditions:” [Emphasis supplied] As can be seen from above, Section 80EEA(1) uses the wordings “acquisition of a residential house property” whereas in the Memorandum explaining the Finance Bill, the term used is “loan taken for residential house property”. In the larger interest of small tax payers, the wordings in the section 80EEA(1) may be modified from “acquisition of a residential house property” to “acquisition or construction of residential property”. There may be a case where assessee owns a land and desires to construct a house and loan is taken for construction of that house. In the absence of clarity, there may be litigations/issues on plain interpretation of language used in the section 80EEA(1) w.r.t. availability of benefit on interest payable on loan taken for construction of residential house property. It is pertinent to mention here that section 54 and 54F quite clearly uses the term ‘construction’ along with the term ‘purchase’ of a residential house property.	(iii) In view of aforesaid, it is suggested that limit of Rs 45 lakh as the value of residential house property may be raised appropriately. (say to Rs 55 lakhs). Further, akin to section 80EE, section 80EEA(3)(ii) may be amended to do away with the term ‘stamp duty value’. In other words, the following change may be made in section 80EEA(3)(ii): “(ii) the stamp-duty value of residential house property does not exceed forty-five fifty-five lakh rupees;”

		Issue III: Request to raise the value of residential house property from Rs 45 lakhs to a reasonable amount so that additional deduction of Rs 1.5 lakh may be claimed In order to avail the benefit of this section, one of the conditions prescribed is that the stamp duty value of residential house property does not exceed Rs 45 lakhs. Let's take a case where the actual cost of acquisition of residential house property on which loan is taken from Financial Institution (FI) is Rs.40.00 lakh. Normally, FI finances 75% to 80% of cost of property. In the given case, the loan amount would be say approx. Rs.30.00 lakh. As per the prevailing rate of interest on housing finance (presuming it to be under 9%), interest even in the first year would not be more than Rs. 3.00 lakh. If assessee consumes interest of Rs. 2.00 lakh under section 24(b), the maximum limit/benefit in the section remains unutilized. Under such circumstances, in order to pass on the real benefit of Rs. 1.50 lakh additional deduction, the limit of Rs.45.00 lakh may reasonably be modified. It may be noted that even otherwise, limit of allowable interest u/s section 80EE (though applicable for loan sanctioned

Sr. No	Section	Issue/Justification	Suggestion
		during the financial year 2016-17) is increased from Rs. 50,000/- to Rs. 1,50,000/-, corresponding limit of value of residential property is reduced from Rs. 50 lakh to Rs.45 lakh which seems to be unjustifiable. Further, instead of stamp duty value as used in section 80EEA(3)(ii), it should be actual acquisition cost or cost of construction as stamp duty value in many circumstances is much more than actual value. To quote an example, if the layout is on main road and it has few flats on main road and some are on fifth or sixth lane. The stamp duty valuation of entire layout is same whereas actual valuation may differ because of so many circumstances such as house is having two roads; it is near garden of society, floor location etc. Also, section 80EE refers to the 'value of residential house property' and not 'stamp duty value'. Issue IV: Condition of not owning any residential house not in line with the provisions of section 54 and 23 One of the conditions to avail benefit of section 80EEA is that the assessee does not own any residential house property on the date of sanction of loan. It implies that house property for which loan is taken should be the first house property of the assessee. This	(iv) It is suggested that section 80EEA(3)(iii) may be appropriately amended so as to make it in line with the provisions of section 23 and 54 i.e following change may be made: “(iii) the assessee does not own any more than one residential house property on the date of sanction of loan.” (SUGGESTION FOR REMOVAL OF ADMINISTRATIVE AND PROCEDURAL DIFFICULTIES RELATING TO DIRECT TAXES) condition is contrary to the provisions of section 54 and 23 of the Income-tax Act, 1961 which allows the beneficial provisions specified therein to assessee owning two house properties. In the Interim Budget presented on 01.02.2019, the Finance Act 2019 amended section 23 so that the assessee can claim two house properties as self-occupied for the purpose of calculating the annual value u/s 23(2) under the head 'Income from house property'. Even under the head 'income from capital gains', the assessee can opt for 2 residential houses of upto Rs 2 crores for reinvestment purposes (u/s 54) while calculating taxable capital gains. Accordingly, the aforesaid condition attached to the section 80EEA makes the assessee ineligible to claim the interest under this section if he owns any other house on the date of sanction of the loan.

99.	Section 80EEB - Tax incentive for electric vehicles/Deduction in respect of purchase of electric vehicle	With a view to improve environment and to reduce vehicular pollution, the Finance (No. 2) Act, 2019 has inserted a new section 80EEB so as to provide an additional income tax deduction of Rs 1.5 lakh on the interest paid on loans taken to purchase electric vehicles. Issue: As per Explanatory Memorandum, in order to avail the benefit of the deduction, one of the conditions	It is suggested that section 80EEB may be suitably amended so as to incorporate the condition of not owning any other electric vehicle at the time of sanction of loan as envisaged in the Explanatory Memorandum. (SUGGESTION FOR REMOVAL OF ADMINISTRATIVE AND PROCEDURAL DIFFICULTIES RELATING TO DIRECT TAXES) specified is that the assessee does not own any other electric vehicle on the date of sanction of loan. However, this condition is not there in the section 80EEB of Finance (No. 2) Act 2019. This condition is in line with a similar condition of not owning any other house property on the date of sanction of loan as per section 80EEA.

100.	Section 80G – Request to reconsider cap of 10%	Section 80G provides deduction to the certain prescribed donations subject to the ceiling of 10% of gross total income. 101.	Section 80PA – Applicability of MAT	The Finance Act 2018 inserted a new section 80PA to incentivize Farm Producer companies on lines similar to existing section 80P. The provision provides for 100% deduction in respect of Farm Producer companies having total turnover upto Rs 100 crore whose gross total income includes the incomes specified therein. As aforesaid, on similar lines as of Co-operative Society, the Hon'ble Finance Minister of India had introduced section 80PA for Farmers Producer Companies vide the Union Budget, 2018 (100% deduction for 5 years). But there is no respective amendment in section 115JB (pertaining to Minimum Alternate Tax). There is a case for an amendment in section 115JB also to fully exempt Farmers Producer Companies from taxation. The Hon'ble Finance Minister has said in his budget speech that government is giving deduction to Farmers Producer Companies on similar lines as of Co-operative Societies. Relevant extracts of the speech- “47. Madam Speaker, at present, hundred per cent deduction is allowed in respect of profit of co-operative societies which provide assistance to its members engaged in primary agricultural activities. Over the last few years, a number of Farmer Producer Companies have been set up along the lines of co-operative societies which also provide similar assistance to their members. This measure will encourage “Operation Greens” mission announced by me earlier and it will give a boost to Sampada Yojana.” Co-operative Society Taxation Section 115JC (pertaining to Alternate Minimum Tax) is applicable to Co-operative Societies. But, due to specific reference in Section 115JC, the Co-operative Societies which take deduction of Section 80P, can also reduce book profits by the amount of deduction claimed under Section 80P. It may be noted that while cooperative assesses are not exposed to tax based on book profit like companies, they are to pay a minimum tax based on adjusted total income which shall be computed by increasing the deductions as claimed by assessee under any section included in Chapter VI-A of the heading ‘C – Deductions in respect of certain incomes’ (but excluding any deduction u/s 80P) and deduction claimed u/s 10AA, with the total income as assessed by AO. In other words, the cooperatives, which are only entitled to deduction u/s 80P, shall not be affected by the AMT provisions.
102.	Deduction in respect of interest on deposits in savings account - Section 80TTA	Section 80TTA was inserted by the Finance Act, 2012 to provide deduction of up to Rs.10,000 in the hands of individuals and HUFs in respect of interest on savings account with banks, post offices and co-operative societies carrying on business of banking. However, it is unlikely that salaried individuals would keep their entire savings in a savings bank account, which earns a much lower rate of interest as compared to term deposits. They are likely to transfer some portion of their savings to several deposits to earn comparatively better returns. Therefore, since the money is anyway kept within the banking channels, it is suggested to include all types of deposit interest within the ambit of section 80TTA.	It is suggested that interest on all types of deposits (eg FDRs) may also be included within the scope of section 80TTA. (SUGGESTIONS FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

103.	Section 80TTB – Deduction in respect of interest on deposits in case of senior citizens – Request to extend the benefit by including interest on National Savings Certificate within the ambit of section 80TTB	The Finance Act 2018 inserted a new section 80TTB so as to allow a deduction upto Rs 50,000/- in respect of interest income on deposits made by senior citizens. The aforesaid new section, inter alia, provides that where the gross total income of an assessee, being a senior citizen, includes any income by way of interest on deposits with a banking company to which the Banking Regulation Act, 1949, applies (including any bank or banking institution referred to in section 51 of that Act) or a co-operative society engaged in the business of banking (including a co-operative land mortgage bank or a co-operative land development bank) or a Post Office as defined in clause (k) of section 2 of the Indian Post Office Act, 1898, a deduction of an amount up to Rs. 50,000 shall be allowed. This amendment will greatly benefit the senior citizens whose main source of income is generally from interest income. It is pertinent to mention that another main source of income for senior citizens is interest income on National Savings Certificate which can be purchased from Post Offices in India. In order to extend the benefit of provisions of section 80TTB to senior citizens, it is recommended that interest income arising to Senior Citizens on National savings Certificate may also be included within the ambit of section 80TTB.	It is suggested that income by way of interest on National Savings Certificate also be included within the ambit of provisions of section 80TTB, so that senior citizens who have purchased NSCs from post offices are also able to avail the benefit of enhanced deduction under section 80TTB. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

Section 80U, inter alia, provide for a deduction to an individual, being a resident, who, at any time during the previous year, is certified by the medical authority to be a person with disability. As per Explanation to the said section, certain terms like "disability", "medical authority", "person with disability" and "person with severe disability" have been defined w.r.t. to provisions of the Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities, Protection of Rights and Full Participation) Act, 1995. DETERMINATION OF TAX IN SPECIAL CASES

Sr. No	Section	Issue/Justification	Suggestion
106.	Section 115BAA and 115BAB – Request to allow deduction u/s 80G	Finance Act 2021 provided for not to allow deduction under section 80G where the companies have opted for beneficial provisions of section 115BAA or 115BAB. Doing charity is a commendable thing and the same should be promoted by the Government for well being of society at large. Before the amendment made by Finance Act 2020, the donations made were considered for deduction under section 80G and same could enable the tax payer to save partial tax on the same. This would motivate the donor to donate and do more and more charitable activity which actually contributes to one of the objectives of the Government.	It is suggested to include donations qualifying for deductions u/s section 80G for assessee's opting for tax under the provisions of section 115BAA or section 115BAB. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
107.	Section 115BAB(2)(b) - scope may be enlarged	Currently, the benefit of reduced tax rate is given to companies engaged solely in the business of manufacturing. Manufacturing companies may be allowed to undertake certain trading or job work activities, in addition to their normal manufacturing activities as this will help to increase their revenue in the initial stages of operation. This is line with the normal practices followed by manufacturers who even undertake job-work as ancillary activity.	It is suggested that section 115BAB(2)(b) may be amended so as to enlarge the activities undertaken by manufacturing companies under it (eg ancillary trading/job work). (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
108.	Section 115BAC – Medclaim expenditure u/s 80D may be allowed/included and other concerns	The Finance Act 2020 inserted a new section 115BAC providing individual and HUF tax payers an option to opt for alternative taxation rates from AY 2021-22 (FY 2020-21). The same is in line with the option provided to domestic companies under Taxation Laws Amendment Act, 2019 (TLAA) subject to non-availability of certain exemptions and deductions. It is beneficial only for tax payers who do not invest and/or save for tax benefits. It would put more money in the hands of such tax payers. However, certain concerns enumerated below merit consideration. (A) Allowance of mediclaim premium/medical expenditure u/s 80D given limited medicare and social security net Under section 80D, premium paid towards medical insurance for family members are allowed as deduction from taxable income. Till the time subsidized medical/healthcare facilities are available to all tax payers, it may be considered that at least medical insurance premium paid for family members allowable as deduction u/s 80D be allowed u/s 115BAC. It would continue to encourage all tax payers including the ones opting for concessional tax regime to keep their mediclaim policy alive. (B) Clarification regarding applicability of section 115BAC to 'Non-Resident' Individual The new tax regime under section 115BAC is available to all individuals and HUFs irrespective of their residential status. Normally Finance Acts provide for different basic exemption limit for resident and non-resident individuals of the age of 60 years or more. There is a case to consider making amendment in section 115BAC so as to provide benefit of proposed provisions to resident individuals only and not to non-residents, in line with the special schemes introduced for domestic companies and resident co-operative societies under sections 115BAA, 115BAB and 115BAD. (C) Concern for employer(s) deducting tax: rates in force	(A) It is suggested that at least deduction u/s 80D i.e. premium paid for keeping medical insurance policy for self and family members be allowed as a deduction even for assessee's opting for section 115BAC in order to encourage such tax payers to keep their Mediclaim policy alive, considering limited affordable healthcare facilities in the country. (B) It is suggested that applicability of provisions of section 115BAC may be reconsidered in respect of non-resident individuals. (C) It is suggested that suitable legislative

		As per section 115BAC, the option shall be exercised for every previous year where the individual or the HUF has no business income, and in other cases the option once exercised for a previous year shall be valid for that previous year and all subsequent years. However, the employer liable to deduct TDS on such employees opting for section 115BAC would find it difficult to deduct tax at the rates mentioned in the said section due to application of governing section 192(1) which specifies that tax is to be computed on the basis of the rates in force for the financial year in which the payment is made. Rates in force are specified in the Part III of the First Schedule to the relevant Finance Act. Accordingly, for employees opting for proposed section 115BAC, amendment needs to be made so that employer may deduct tax on concessional rates as provided instead of rates in force, after obtaining declaration from those employees who intend to opt for section 115BAC. Further, in case the employees change their option later on at the time of filing return, an employer who has deducted tax on the basis of the declaration filed by the employee (as to exercise or otherwise of option u/s 115BAC) should not be treated as an assessee-in-default. (D) Gross savings and capital formation would be impacted as tax savings lead to mandatory savings It may be taken into consideration that the option u/s 115BAC increases risk on next generation, removing in built social security mechanism in the present tax regime.	amendment be made in section 192 as well as the relevant Finance Act so that employers may deduct tax at the rates specified in section 115BAC for employees opting for the same, on the basis of declaration filed by the employee. It is suggested that section 115BAC may be introduced only after putting in place adequate social security benefits for assesseees opting for concessional tax rates and thereby not investing in long term

		Life insurance – Most people have taken insurance only due to income tax benefits and start at young age when premium is low. Now, most of them would miss taking life insurance due to ignorance and pressure of low income (high cost of living). Savings for long term (post retirement) - Many young assesseees will miss saving in PPF/ NSS and similar schemes. Also, for the Government, this was a good source of long term funds. In other words, the concerned assessee may opt for proposed concessional tax rates subject to forgoing certain exemptions and deductions currently available like contribution to PPF, contribution to NPS, Term Life insurance premium etc. Some of such expenditure are basically long-term retirement savings which are opted by tax payers considering the tax benefits available. Such important savings cum investments would be considerably reduced if an individual opts for new concessional tax rates. As is well known, our country does not offer any significant social security benefits unlike some of the developed nations. Long term retirement savings would be considerably reduced and such tax payers in the long term may suffer. Also, investment in housing may reduce as interest on loan for self-occupied house property {u/s 24(b)} and principal repayment for such housing loan (u/s 80C) won't be available. Adequate social security measures to be put in place before introducing section 115BAC. Further, there are many calculations which show that the alternate tax structure for	retirement benefit schemes like PPF/NPS etc.

		individuals is not really beneficial due to removal of standard deduction, multiple slabs, etc. As individuals cannot afford to spend on consultation, from ease of tax perspective, it may also be considered to have only one tax structure (as present one) and reduce the tax rates. Eg, tax slabs such as Rs 5 lacs to 20lacs - 5%; Rs 20lacs to Rs 50 lacs 10%; Rs 50 lacs to Rs 100lacs - 20% and above Rs 100 lacs - 30%. This will ensure more disposable income and many will also come into tax net. (E) Need for legislative amendment for individuals having income upto Rs 5 lakhs and availing rebate u/s 87A It may be noted that section 115BAC starts with a non-obstante clause i.e. notwithstanding anything contained in the Income-tax Act, 1961. However, due to this, a concern has arisen for individuals having income upto Rs 5 lakhs opting for section 115BAC. Section 87A pertaining to rebate of income-tax in case of certain individuals provides that resident individual taxpayers having total income up to Rs 5 lakhs will get full tax rebate and therefore, will not be required to pay any income tax. The same intent has been put forth by Hon'ble Finance Minister as well. As per proposed section 115BAC, resident individuals having income upto Rs 5 lakhs opting for section 115BAC may not be able to have the benefit of section 87A rebate. It requires suitable legislative amendment.	It is suggested that section 115BAC may be suitably amended so that eligible resident individuals can avail rebate u/s 87A. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
109.	Section 115BBDA - Request to recommend suitable amendments	Section 115JC as inserted vide the Finance Act 2011 and applicable w.e.f. Section 115BBDA as inserted vide the Finance Act 2016 and applicable w.e.f. AY 2017-18 provides that income by way of dividend in excess of Rs. 10 lakh is chargeable to tax @ 10% on gross basis in case of all resident assessee except domestic company and certain funds, trusts, institutions, etc. Issue arises when both the provisions are applicable to an assessee and it needs to be considered which rate of tax to be applied (i.e. whether 10% or 18.5%). On a joint reading of both the provisions, it comes out that while dividend income in excess of Rs. 10 Lakhs would attract tax @ 10% u/s 115BBDA of the Income-tax Act 1961, the assessee might have to pay tax @ 18.50%, if Alternate Minimum Tax (AMT) were to be applicable u/s 115JC of the Income-tax Act 1961, and in most cases it would, if dividend income were to constitute a major portion of the total income. However, both the sections start with a non-obstante clause, i.e. 'notwithstanding anything contained in this Act' and therefore, there appears to be an apparent contradiction or repugnancy between the provisions. Principles of harmonious interpretation suggest that both the provisions have to be made workable. In this regard, the Apex Court has held in a number of judgments that it is a rule of	115JC of the Income-tax Act, 1961 so as to clarify their applicability in case both the provisions are applicable to an assessee. 		construction that if two special statutes contain non obstante clauses excluding the applicability of other statutes, as in 'notwithstanding anything contained in the Act or any other law for the time being in force', the latter enactment shall prevail. If, however, one is a general Statute and the other a special Statute, then this rule may not apply, and the purpose sought to be achieved by the special enactment needs to be examined {Case laws referred - Maharashtra Tubes Ltd. Vs. State Industrial and Investment Corporation of India (1993) 2 SCC 144, Allahabad Bank vs. Canara Bank (2000) 4 SCC 406, Bank of India vs. Ketan Parekh (2008) 8 SCC 148}. This is a rare situation where in the same enactment (i.e. Income-tax Act, 1961), two or more non obstante clauses are to be dealt and is applicable to one and the same assessee. Both sections 115BBDA and 115JC of the Income-tax Act, 1961 are special provisions inserted for taxing specific incomes under special Chapters in the Income-tax Act, 1961. On applying the ratio of the Supreme Court judgements as cited above, albeit rendered in the context of two enactments, it appears that section 115BBDA of the Income-tax act, 1961, being a latter insertion in the Act, shall prevail. However, the other view is also quite plausible. Accordingly, it needs to be clearly specified which provision (or rate of tax) shall prevail in case both sections 115BBDA and section 115JC of the Income-tax Act, 1961 are applicable to an assessee. Similar issue arises when section 112A (rate of tax @ 10%) and section 115JC/115JB (rate

110.	Section 115BBF – Rationalizing patent tax regime	India introduced its patent box regime vide Finance Act 2016 with effect from 01 April 2017. Under the regime, royalty income in respect of a patent developed and registered in India shall be taxable at a flat rate of 10%. The existing patent box regime suffers from the following issues: (i) The patents to be ‘registered’ in India - It is unclear as to whether a patent which has been applied for, but for which registration has not been granted will qualify under this regime. (ii) Coverage of regime has been restricted to Patents - Patent Box regime is not available to other IPRs, like industrial design, copyrights, trademarks, etc. (iii) No guidelines on outsourcing of IP development - There are no guidelines on outsourcing of R&D functions. Thus, limited outsourcing may also raise an issue on availability of benefit under patent box regime. (iv) Initial patent developed by individual - The benefit is available to the true and first inventor of the invention. Thus, where a company acquires a patent developed by an individual and invests to develop it further to make it marketable, it may not be eligible for the benefit. The suggestion would strengthen the existing Patent Box regime. Further, the suggestion is intended to encourage R&D in India, stimulate growth and reduce litigation.	Following suggestions are intended to rationalise existing Patent tax regime: (i) It may be clarified that benefit of regime may be obtained where a patent is applied for, but registration has not yet been granted under the Patent law. (ii) It is suggested that the Patent Box regime should be extended to other forms of IPRs, like industrial design, copyrights, trademarks, etc. so as to promote IPR registration in India. (iii) It may be clarified that benefit of the regime shall be available, subject to a reasonable threshold, in cases where IP development is outsourced. (iv) It is suggested that the existing regime may be liberalised to grant benefit to a person who acquires patent from the ‘true and first inventor’ and further makes is commercially useable. 	Need to reconsider the high rate of tax	demonetization period where if income was assessed u/s 68 to 69D, tax would be charged @ effective rate of 79%. In the current scenario, the rate is very high / harsh and needs to be reconsidered. It is not required now to tax at such high rate.	tax u/s 115BBE be restored to 30% and surcharge thereon be reduced as per applicable total income levels/slab rates. (SUGGESTION TO CHECK TAX AVOIDANCE)
112.	Section 115BBG - Income from transfer of carbon credits to be taxed @ 10% - Inclusion in definition of income under section 2(24) and clarification regarding tax treatment for prior assessment years	The introduction of section 115BBG vide the Finance Act, 2017 providing for a 10 percent tax on income from transfer of carbon credits is a welcome move. This would go a long way in helping to resolve the uncertainty and litigation over the taxability of income from the transfer of carbon credits going forward. Consequent amendment is required in the definition of the term 'income' under Section 2(24) of the Income-tax Act to include the income from transfer of carbon credits. Further, the position regarding taxability of income from transfer of carbon credits for earlier years may be clarified since there have been divergent decisions given by the courts on whether such receipts are capital or revenue in nature. If the tax treatment is made applicable for earlier years also, it would garner more revenue from assesseees who have not offered the same to tax on the ground that the same represents capital receipt. This would also help avoid future litigation and complete pending assessments. The Government has also been taking several steps aimed at curbing litigation. These include coming up with schemes for dispute resolution both for legacy disputes arising out of retrospective amendments as well as other disputes that are pending in the appellate hierarchy. These measures and schemes are welcome steps and have been commended by the taxpayers. A similar scheme for income from transfer of carbon credits for the past years would go a long way towards furthering the Government's stated objective of curbing litigation.	It is suggested that section 2(24) may be amended to include income from transfer of carbon credits in the definition of "income". The option to pay tax on such receipts at 10% could be structured as a one-time scheme open for a limited time. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO CERTAIN COMPANIES

DETAILED SUGGESTIONS

Sr. No	Section	Issue/Justification	Suggestion
113.	Section 115JB - Insertion of clause (iih) in Explanation 1 to section 115JB - Downward adjustment of aggregate brought forward losses and depreciation u/s 115JB	The newly legislated Insolvency and Bankruptcy code, 2016 (IBC) is a comprehensive legislation in India dealing with insolvency and bankruptcy of Corporates. The Code consolidates all the other laws in India dealing with insolvency. Pursuant to enactment of IBC, the Sick Industrial Companies Act (SICA) has been repealed and provisions are made to enable sick companies undergoing resolution through BIFR to approach National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT). IBC provides for implementation of resolution plan which is intended to revive distressed companies in a time bound manner under the creditor in command process. Stakeholders have been facing enormous bottlenecks due to lack of clarity on tax issues. Unfortunately, there is no provision in IBC or Income-tax Act which provides for an overriding impact of resolution plan sanctioned by NCLT. The Finance Act, 2018 has provided that while computing book profits u/s 115JB of the Income-tax Act, a deduction will be allowed for aggregate of book profits and unabsorbed depreciation in case of companies in respect of which an application for initiating resolution process has been accepted by the adjudicating authority. Issues: - The language used in Section 115JB creates a confusion as to whether aggregate of losses and depreciation as per books is to be considered for deduction or whether aggregate of losses and depreciation as computed for tax purposes is to be considered for downward adjustment from book profits. - The scheme of MAT is linked to book profits. The legislative intent also appears to be to refer to the amounts as per books of accounts. However, the	It is suggested that suitable clarification may be inserted in Section 115JB to clarify that the brought forward losses and unabsorbed depreciation for this purpose should be considered as per books of account. It may be provided that the aggregate of the brought forward losses and unabsorbed depreciation as at the end of the year preceding the year in which application is admitted may be allowed to be reduced from book profits. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS) language as is presently used in Section 115JB creates ambiguity. iii. Re-organisation by way of merger of distressed company is one of the known forms of reorganising distressed companies against whom proceeding under IBC has been initiated. There is a concern that the benefit u/s 115JB has been extended merely to the defaulting/distressed company against whom the application for resolution plan has been admitted and thus may not extend to the company into which the defaulting company may merge pursuant to the implementation of the resolution plan.

114.	Section 115JB - Minimum Alternate tax	It appears that Disallowance/Adding back of provision for diminution in value of any asset for computation of “book profit” is to be made in case of every class of company {clause (i) to Explanation 1 to section 115JB(2)}. However, in case of banking companies, the Government may reconsider applicability of the disallowance provision. This is because of the fact that in computation of business income under normal provision, deduction in respect of provision for bad debts is allowed under express provision contained in section 36(1)(viiia) subject to the limit specified in the said section. If provision for bad debts is allowed as deduction in computation of business income under normal provision, there does not appear to be any cogent reason for disallowing the same in computation of “book profit” under section 115JB. Similarly, any special reserve created in accordance with the provisions of section 36(1)(viii) also does not require any disallowance in computation of book profit under section 115JB.	Clause (b) and (i) of Explanation 1 to section 115JB may be amended as follows- “(b) the amounts carried to any reserves, by whatever name called [other than a reserve specified under section 33AC and a reserve created and allowed in accordance with the provisions of section 36(1)(viii)] ---- (i) the amount or amounts set aside as provision for diminution in the value of any asset (other than provision for bad and doubtful debts allowed as a deduction under section 36(1)(viiia))” (SUGGESTIONS TO

115.	Section 115JB – MAT implications for Ind AS compliant companies	Under Ind AS, prior period adjustments are not reflected in the financials in which error is discovered but earlier period financials are restated to which such errors pertain. There could be an issue if the return of income for such earlier year has already been filed and due date of filing revised return has lapsed.	It is suggested that a specific provision for revising return in the aforesaid situation may be provided under section 139(5) or prior period adjustments may be allowed to be adjusted from book profit in the year in which errors are discovered. (SUGGESTION TO REDUCE / MINIMIZE LITIGATIONS)
116.	Section 115JB – Clarification regarding 'adjusted'	Section 115JB which provides for levy of MAT on companies was, inter alia, amended by the Finance Act, 2017, with effect from 1.4.2017 to include sub-sections (2A), (2B) and (2C) in the said section. sub-sections (2A), (2B) and (2C) are applicable to companies which are required to comply with IND AS and are required to maintain their accounts as per the Companies (Indian Accounting Standard) Rules, 2015. Sub-section (2C) of section 115JB of the Act provides that the book profit of such assessee for the year of convergence and each of the following four years shall further be increased or decreased, as the case may be, by 1/5th of the 'transition amount'. The Explanation defines the year of convergence to mean the previous year in which the conversion date falls, that is to say, the year in which the companies have opted for disclosing their accounts under IND AS. 'Transition amount' has further been defined in Clause (iii) of the Explanation to mean the amount or the aggregate of the amounts adjusted in the other equity (excluding capital reserve and security premium reserve) on the	It is suggested that section 115JB(2C) may be amended to clarify that the term "adjusted" referred to in the transition amount is of the nature where any amount is included or taken to the "other equity" which otherwise would have had an impact on the profit or loss account either of current year or future year. (SUGGESTION TO REDUCE / MINIMIZE LITIGATIONS)

		convergence date, but not including the amounts enumerated in the Explanation. The reference to the term 'adjusted' in the definition means that the same will cover cases, where there has been revaluation of assets or liabilities on the convergence date and the difference between the original amount and the revalued amount has been adjusted (reflected in the other equity). The said difference, if it does not come within the exceptions, would form part of 'transition amount'. The context and object of the provision also indicate that the term 'transition amount' would only encompass a profit or a loss which have not been routed through profit and loss account but have been routed through the schedule of 'other equity' at the time of convergence, but it will ultimately have a bearing on the profits of the companies, either in this year or any subsequent year. The circular no.2/2018 [F.NO.370142/15/2017-TPL] dated 15th February 2018 issued by CBDT explaining the relevant provisions of Finance Act,2017 has stated as under : "I. RATIONALISATION MEASURES Rationalisation of provisions of section 115JB in line with Indian Accounting Standard (Ind-AS) B. MAT on first time adoption (i) The adjustments arising on account of transition to Ind AS from existing Indian GAAP is required to be recorded directly in Other Equity at the date of transition to Ind AS. 		(III) All other adjustments recorded in Reserves and Surplus (excluding Capital Reserve and Securities Premium Reserve) as referred to in Division II of Schedule III of Companies Act, 2013 and which would otherwise never subsequently be reclassified to the profit and loss account, shall be included in the book profits, equally over a period of five years starting from the year of first time adoption of Ind AS subject to the following— ” From the above it is clear that what is intended to be included in the term ‘transition amount’ is only adjustments which would otherwise have impact in the profitability of the assessee but on account of adoption of IND AS, the same are adjusted in other equity schedule and not Profit and Loss account. A transaction not having a bearing on Profit and Loss account was never intended to be covered by the amendment. It is therefore clear that merely because an amount has been reclassified to the other equity on transition it cannot be said to be “adjusted” to the other equity for the purposes of section 115 JB(2C). The amount should be in nature of revenue receipt and has potential impact on profits of the company either in the year of transition or in future. A capital receipt or any amount which is merely included or reflected in other equity but has no connection or impact of P&L of the company cannot be considered for inclusion in transition amount. Absence of any clarity in this regard is creating a situation where pure capital receipts are being included in transition amount and additions are being made to the book profits and taxes are being demanded on an item which by no logic or rationale can ever be said to be income of the company. As an example, case of Zero Coupon Optionally Fully Convertible Debentures can be seen. These are shown under borrowings and liability under the Indian GAAP, whereas as per IndAS they are instruments entirely equity in nature and are required to be shown under “other equity”. The instrument doesn’t have any relation with the profit or loss of the company. Under the instrument money is raised and repaid on redemption or is converted into equity. However, by mere reflection of the amount under “other equity” the same is being included in the transition amount. Taxing the amount of capital receipt when it is never an income of the assessee and is also repaid is clearly against the object and purpose of the section. In order to avoid long drawn multiple litigations it is necessary that the section 115JB(2C) is amended to clarify that the term “adjusted” referred to in the transition amount is of the nature where any amount is included or taken to the “other equity” which otherwise would have had an impact on the profit or loss account either of current year or future year.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO TAX ON DISTRIBUTED PROFITS OF DOMESTIC COMPANIES

117.	Section 115-O - Inclusion of loans within section 2(22)(e)	Section 2(22)(e) is now amended to provide that, in the event of grant of loans and advances by closely held company either to the shareholders having 10% equity or to a concern in which such 10% equity holder has 20% beneficial ownership, which the company possesses. Such tax will be payable regardless of the fact that the loan may have been given against proper interest and may have been repaid on due date. When a loan is given to a tainted concern, there has been a controversy whether the amount of dividend needs to be taxed in the hands of equity holder (who holds a nexus with the concern) or in the hands of the concern. Issues: (i) There could have been basic debate whether any such provision is at all fair where loans and advances are given either on proper interest and re-payment terms or when loans and advances are given in connection with the business needs or in the ordinary course of business. Avoidable litigation has arisen even in cases where the advances are given for the purpose of purchase of goods in the ordinary course of business. The said amendment makes the provision stupendously unfair. (ii) The limit of 10% shareholding, which can establish nexus with the concern is considered in practice to be considerably low and impractical. It is quite possible that an investor like PE investor or a passive investor may create such a situation without the concerns being aware of	It is suggested that: (i) The continuance of the base provision itself in the current form may be re-considered. The provision was introduced at a time the tax rates were materially substantial, governance was difficult and closely held companies were almost universally governed by a singular family. (ii) Assuming it is not re-considered, by way of rationalisation, the applicability may be restricted to a case where the shareholder has at least 25% stake in each company, so as to capture a loan or advance to a concern. (iii) It would be desirable to address the genesis of the controversy instead of punishing the closely held companies. The current controversy may be retained with by the legislature specifying whether the amount of dividend should be taxed in the hands of the concerned shareholder or in the hands of the concern. (iv) From the scope of dividend, the advances and loans which are in connection with the business, or which are in ordinary course of business should be excluded. Currently, this exclusion is available only to certain specific categories of taxpayers. (v) It would also be fair to exclude loans and advances which are given on terms which are regarded as ALP and / or reasonable. (vi) A liberal set off may be available

		the same. Further, the requirement is beneficial holding in the concern. It may not be possible for a company giving loan to ascertain the beneficial holding of its shareholders in another concern. The company will be dependent wholly on the certification of the shareholder. Further, if the company proceeds on the basis of the certification provided by shareholder and the same were to be untrue, there might be adverse consequences considering the company and its principal officer will be regarded as assessee in default and all consequences of interest, penalty prosecution, etc. will consequently follow. (iii) One wonders whether the controversy (which is at the genesis of the said amendment) could have been taken care of by specifying in an explicit manner whether the amount will be chargeable in the hands of the concern or in the hands of the concerned shareholder. That alone was the controversy, and a difficult solution may be avoided to get rid of the controversy (iv) The company will have extreme consequences of not being able to comply with the provision. This may often be due to unawareness. Unwarranted litigation may accrue on such subject. (v) It could be within the corporate governance for one company to give a loan to another on fair terms. Taxability in the hands of the company in the form of DDT – that too, where a mere 10% holder has shares in the company is a harsh blow to the remaining 90% of the shareholders who lose their value on simultaneous basis upto the amount	by amending section 2(22)(e) to provide that, out of amount distributed by the company either in the same year or in the succeeding year, the amount of DDT paid earlier will be considered as a credit against DDT payable at the time of distribution. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS) of tax paid. This would be a permanent loss to the shareholders. They are being punished for no fault of theirs. (vi) There is very limited scope available for mitigating the liability by means of set off provided for in the section. This is unlikely to be a possibility where loan is to a concern. As a result, the corporate group will end up with extraordinary liability which can range up to 70.53 % of income of the company. This will be a highly discriminatory treatment against the closely held company structures.

118.	Section 115QA – Effect on foreign investments	As per section 115QA of Income-tax Act 1961, (Chapter XII-DA), in the case of distribution of income by the unlisted company on Buy back of shares the law casts an obligation on the company to pay additional income tax @20% on the distributed income in addition to the corporate tax. In the case of foreign investor, the tax of 20% becomes payable even though the amount received by him in foreign currency works out to less than the amount which was brought in at the time of initial investment. To elaborate, the following illustration has been given: 1. Amount invested by foreign investor in unlisted company = USD 1 million 2. Amount for which shares were issued (Exchange rate USD 1 = INR 40) = INR 4 Crores 3. No. of shares issued @10 per share = 40,00,000 4. Amount received by foreign investor {USD 1 = INR 60} = USD 208,333 7. Loss to foreign investor (i.e. 250,000-208,333) = USD 41,667 8. Additional tax payable by the company (125,00,000–100,00,000)*20% = INR 500,000 Tax to be paid by the company on Rs. 25,00,000 is the final tax in addition to corporate tax and the amount of tax so paid is nothing but tax paid by the foreign investor. The foreign investor is thus required to pay tax even when he makes losses. Private equity investor who had invested in India are facing double concern - firstly in the form of sharp depreciation in Indian Rupee and secondly in	In view of the concerns faced by foreign investors after introduction of section 115QA, suitable amendments may be carried out in the Income-tax Act, 1961 so that foreign investors do not have to pay tax when their holding results in losses only due to foreign exchange fluctuation. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

120.	Section 139 – Reduction in time to file belated and revised income tax return forms	The Finance Act, 2021 amended sub-sections (4) and (5) of section 139 so as to reduce time to file belated and revised returns of income by 3 months to 31st December of AY from the end of the AY currently. Issue As per Finance Act 2021, now the due date for filing belated return is 31 December of the AY. It may create hardship to taxpayers as well as tax practitioners. Number of taxpayers requires filed ITR forms for the purpose of loan application, VISA, Income certificate, TDS refund and other purposes. But reducing the time period of filling the belated/revised return of income may result in missing the time of filing the ITR forms. This may happen due to various reasons like unawareness, health issues and many other reasons. Also, scrutiny assessments shall also be completed in the same time frame. This will burden the concerned assessee as well as tax practitioners. Other due dates in different Statutes are also prescribed within the same period majorly in September to December eg ROC filings, GST Returns and others. Reducing the time for filing belated/revised return by 3 months may lead to unnecessary burden to taxpayers and tax practitioners. Further, no consequential amendment has been proposed in section 234F of the Act pertaining to compulsory levy of fee for default in furnishing return of income. It, inter alia, currently provides that a fee of Rs one/five/ten thousand would be levied on furnishing of ITR after the due date. By virtue of amendment to Section 139(4), no person	It is suggested that the amendments in section 139(4)/(5) made via Finance Act 2021 may be omitted so that current timelines to file belated/revised return of income of one year from the end of AY may continue. 		can file belated return beyond 31st December of the assessment year. The reduction in time may create hardships for taxpayers eg due to reduction in time of filing, many assesseees who have not filed Income tax returns due to genuine reasons may not be able to get loan from bank, insurance etc. Government is already collecting penalty on such late returns. If assessee is not filing return, indirectly there would be revenue loss to the government only.
121.	Section 139 – Due date to file ITR for assesseees required to file transfer pricing report u/s 92E to be extended to 31st December of the AY in line with the extension of due date for assesseees liable to tax audit to 31st October of the AY	The Finance Act 2020 amended section 139(1) inter alia so that due date to file ITR form for specified assesseees has been extended to 31st October of the AY from 30th September of the AY. Also, distinction between a working and a non-working partner of a firm has been removed with respect to the due date as specified above. Issue The due date of filing return of income of assesseees subject to tax audit is extended from 30th September to 31st October of the AY. However, an assessee who is required to furnish a report referred to in section 92E are required to file their ITR forms by 30th November of the AY. It is suggested that the current gap of 2 months may be maintained between filing of ITR forms for assesseees subject to tax audit and assesseees liable to transfer audit. Accordingly, the due date for furnishing return for assesseees required to file a report under section 92E may be extended to 31st December of the AY from current 30th November of the AY.	It is suggested that the clause (aa) to Explanation 2 to section 139(1) be suitably amended so that due date to file ITR form for assessee who is required to furnish a report referred to in section 92E be extended to 31st December of the AY from 30th November of the AY in line with amendment in section 139(1) vide the Finance Act 2020. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

		into international transaction or specified domestic transaction, as per section 92E of the Act, the due date for filing of original return of income is the 30th November of the assessment year. Since the total income of such partner can be determined after the books of accounts of such firm have been finalised, it is provided that the due date of such partner be extended to 30th November of the assessment year. The Memorandum explains that sub-sections (4) and (5) of section 139 of the Act contain provisions relating to the filing of belated and revised returns of income respectively. The belated or revised returns under sub-sections (4) and (5) respectively of the said section before such amendment could be filed before the end of the assessment year or before the completion of the assessment whichever is earlier. Further, that with the massive technological upgrade in the Department where the processes under the Act are moving towards becoming faceless and jurisdiction-less, the time taken to conduct and complete such processes has greatly reduced. Therefore, it is proposed that the last date for filing of belated or revised returns of income, as the case may be, be reduced by three months. Thus, the belated return or revised return could now be filed three months before the end of the relevant assessment year or before the completion of the assessment, whichever is earlier. Issue Since a person required to furnish transfer pricing report can file return by November 30th, the amended sub-section (5) to section 139 will allow only one (1) month to such a person to revise return, which is too less time.	as to allow at least 3 months time for revising Transfer Pricing returns. 123.	Seventh proviso to section 139(1) – Mandatory furnishing of return of income - Deposit amount exceeding one crore rupees in current account may be made applicable to all types of accounts	The Finance (No. 2) Act, 2019 amended section 139(1) by inserting a proviso so as to specify certain high value transactions wherein ITR filing is being made mandatory. One of the transactions specified is if during the previous year, assessee has deposited an amount or aggregate of the amounts exceeding one crore rupees in one or more current account maintained with a banking company or a co-operative bank. Issue I: Scope to be enlarged As all current accounts maintained with the banks are PAN based i.e. PAN is one of the mandatory KYC docs for opening a current account with a bank, so transactions in such current accounts can easily be tracked. There is a case to extend the scope of aforesaid specified transaction from deposit in a current account to all the accounts maintained with the bank i.e. be it saving account or any other account. This will better serve the intent of the government to make mandatory filing of ITRs involving high value transactions. Further, the aforesaid high value transaction is limited to current account maintained with a banking company or a co-operative bank. It is better if the account maintained with a co-operative society engaged in carrying on the business of banking as well as a post office also gets covered here. This will also align with the provisions of section 194N. Issue II: The term ‘expenditure’ may be replaced with term ‘payment’ Clause (ii) and (iii) of seventh proviso to section 139(1) reads as follows: “(ii) has incurred expenditure of an amount or aggregate of the amounts exceeding two lakh rupees for himself or any other person for travel to a foreign country; or	(i) It is suggested that scope of clause (i) of seventh proviso to section 139(1) pertaining to deposit exceeding Rs 1 crore may be extended to include: (a) all types of account maintained with specified authorities i.e saving account etc (along with current account), and (b) deposits made in accounts maintained with a co-operative society engaged in carrying on the business of banking as well as a post office (apart from a banking company or a co-operative bank) within its ambit to align with provisions of section 194N. (ii) It is suggested that the term ‘expenditure’ as used in clause (ii) and (iii) of seventh proviso to section 139(1) may be changed to the term ‘payment’ so as to better convey the intent of the amendment.

(b) Suppose, parents of assessee ‘X’ has gone for foreign air travel and payment thereof made by ‘X’. Now the expenditure is being incurred by the parents but is being paid by ‘X’. The purpose is to get ITR filed by ‘X’ and not by his parents.	(SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
124.	Explanation 2 to section 139(1) – Need to synchronize due date of partner with that of Firm liable for domestic transfer pricing provisions	As per clause (a)(ii) of Explanation 2 to section 139(1), the due date to file ITR for a working partner of a firm whose accounts are required to be audited under Income-tax Act or under any other law for the time being in force is 30th September of AY. However, as per clause (aa) of Explanation 2 to section 139(1), the due date to file ITR in the case of an assessee who is required to furnish a report referred to in section 92E is 30th November of AY. Difficulty is being faced by working partners of Firm which are liable to file its ITR by 30th November of the AY due to application of domestic transfer pricing provisions under section 92BA. It has been observed that difficulties are being faced by partners (including working partners) as their Income-tax return form requires them to mention the capital balance. It is imperative to note that it	It is suggested that section 139(1) may be appropriately amended so that due date to file ITR for working partners of a firm which is liable to furnish its ITR by 30th November of the AY (due to application of section 92E r.w.s. 92BA) be synchronised with the existing due date of 31st October of the AY applicable for working partners of such firms. It may kept in mind that non-working partners have to give balance of capital accounts in ITR. So, all partners should have same ITR filing due date as that of a firm.

As per the amended section 142A vide Finance (No. 2) Act, 2014, the Assessing Officer may, for the purpose of assessment or re-assessment, refer any asset, property or investment to a Valuation Officer, necessary for estimating its value. The information in the audit report is only statement of facts to assist an Assessing Officer to assess the income correctly. They are not to be construed as items to be considered as income or disallowed as expenditure. Automatic additions to Income or disallowance of expenditure without application of mind or giving an opportunity to the assessee would amount to denial of natural justice. Section 145 – Reconsideration of notified Income Computation and Disclosure Standards	Section 145(2) empowers the central Government to notify in the Official Gazette from time to time income computation and disclosure standards to be followed by any class of assessee or in respect of any class of income. Accordingly, 10 ICDSs were issued in the past and are applicable to assessee as specified. Looking at the current tough conditions and various compliances to be made under various Statutes by the assessee, there is a need being felt for ICDS reconsideration and its possible withdrawal as no purpose is being served but an unnecessary compliance burden is imposed on the assessee. In case felt appropriate, there is a need to withdraw ICDS. This may be done by conducting independent study and facts by various other means. Impact of revenue due to ICDS may be studied. Compliance burden and complexity due to ICDS needs to be done away with for ease of doing business. 134.	Section 148 - Reasons for reopening to be sent along with notice for reopening of assessment	Section 147 empowers an AO to reopen an assessment if he has "reasons to believe" that income has escaped assessment. In practice, the said notice usually does not spell out the reasons in proper detail. The said section does not have any procedural requirements, but a practice has developed and been laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in GKN Driveshafts (India) Ltd. v ITO [2003] 259 ITR 19 (SC) case, to be mandatorily followed while reopening assessment. Presently notice is issued under section 148. Later, the assessee has to request for the 'reasons for reopening' from the AO. Thereafter the Assessing officer provides the reasoning.	In view of the aforesaid, it is suggested that it would be more appropriate if suitable amendments be made in section 147/148 so as to follow the procedure laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in GKN Driveshafts (India) Ltd. v ITO [2003] 259 ITR 19 (SC) ruling i.e. to supply reasons along with notice of reassessment and also to dispose off the objections by a speaking order. (SUGGESTION FOR IMPROVING TAX COLLECTION)

Credit of Tax Collected at Source relating to earlier years (for which Assessments are already over & time period mentioned in Section 155(14) has elapsed) demanded by the Government authorities at a later date	Currently, many government/ semi-government authorities (viz. Mining Department) have been demanding TCS of earlier years for which assessments have already been completed, since they had not collected the TCS in those relevant years. After making payments of TCS the certificates for the same are issued in current year giving reference of expenditure incurred by payer for earlier financial years. As per the provision of section 155(14) "the credit of TDS/TCS certificates is available to assessee within 2 years from the end of the assessment year in which such income is assessable" but since the payment & certificates are received after the above-	It is suggested that considering the hardship being faced by assessee in respect of cases mentioned aforesaid, the department should give credit for such TDS/TCS even if the assessments have been completed and also the period mentioned u/s 155(14) has expired. (SUGGESTIONS FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

136.	Section 159 - Hardship in obtaining 'Legal Heir Certificate' for the purpose of registering deceased assessee's legal heir as representative assessee for e-filing of tax returns of a deceased assessee	Section 159(1) provides that "Where a person dies, his legal representative shall be liable to pay any sum which the deceased would have been liable to pay if he had not died, in the like manner and to the same extent as the deceased." Further, section 159(3) provides that "The legal representative of the deceased shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be an assessee." Thus, the legal representative of the deceased assessee needs to comply with various provisions like filing of Return, payment of taxes, complying with assessment proceeding on behalf of the deceased assessee. Filing of tax returns electronically is mandatory for assessee except a few exceptions as provide in Rule 12. The Existing procedure to register oneself as legal representative of deceased assessee for filing return of income of deceased assessee is described in brief as below: a. The legal representative needs to register himself as 'Legal Heir' on the E-Filing portal in order to file return of deceased assessee. This is for the period that Income was earned by the deceased but cannot be returned by him since he has since passed away.	Considering the problems faced as aforesaid, it is suggested that a. That the filing of the documents at (i) to (iii) should be made as sufficient compliance (i.e. Copy of Death Certificate, Copy of PAN of deceased and Self attested PAN copy of the Legal Heir). b. One of the following alternatives be provided in the Act in place of legal heir Certificate: i) Affidavit from the legal heir or, ii) Certificate of nomination from institutions like banks or, iii) Copy of Ration Card specifying the name and relation with the legal heir. Or Pension Order issued by Central/State Government. Or Registered will. d. On fulfilling the above details, one can submit the request and will be provided an acknowledgement along with a Transaction ID. e. The department would then 'accept/reject' the request based on the details and documents uploaded. Where request has been rejected, department will provide the ground for rejection, which can be viewed by clicking on Transaction ID. 4. All the documents as specified in sub-point 'c' above, are generally available or can be easily obtained except for those specified in (iv). The issues faced for obtaining 'Legal Heir' certificate are as under: a. Thus taking up a case of a person who is neither a government employee nor in possession of registered will, the only option left for him is to approach Court/Local revenue authority to obtain the said certificate, which is generally a very complex exercise with heavy monetary obligations in terms of cost and time.

However, currently there is no procedure specified anywhere regarding intimation of partition by the HUF to the concerned AO. Accordingly, it is desirable that a mechanism may be devised for such reporting. An accountant certificate certifying the partition of HUF along with its assets and liabilities position and its allocation among its members would be beneficial to the revenue.	It is suggested that section 171 may be suitably amended such that powers be provided to the Government to notify an Accountant certificate to be issued intimating the partition of the HUF. 138.	Section 192 – Need for clarity on TDS on family pension	There are so many cases relating to confusion on TDS on family pension. Some deductors deduct tax u/s 192 as salary but being the fact that the person who is getting the pension is not employee of the organization. Others deduct tax u/s 194A for avoiding any difficulties in ITR filing of the person getting the pension. There are so many cases where people get notice from department regarding processing of ITR which is due to the section quoted in TDS returns. There must be a specific provision for TDS on Family pension. This would help assessee as well as department to get rid of unnecessary time-consuming litigations.	It is suggested to insert a new section under TDS provisions taxing family pension exceeding say Rs 2,40,000 pa liable for TDS @ 10%. Simultaneously, section 192 may be amended to specifically exclude taxability of pension under its provisions. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

140.	Section 194A- TDS on compensation received under Motor Vehicles Act	In various judgments, it has been well established that compensation received on Motor Accident Claim is capital receipts and hence does not even fall within the definition of income under Income-tax law and hence not taxable. Other reasons are, MACT compensation is a compensation for agony, loss of mobility, physical damage and loss of earnings suffered by the victim, granted by courts and not compensation granted under statutory provision. In the case of interest, interest on compensation is also not taxable on the theory that when principal transaction (Compensation) is outside the ambit of taxation, then similar fate must follow for the subsidiary transaction (i.e. interest on compensation). The matter of MACT compensation coming to litigation is because of the following sections in Income-tax	It is suggested to (1) scrap TDS on interest awarded by Motor accident claim Tribunal and (2) Insert a specific exemption under section 10 for amount received on Compensation, enhanced compensation and interest on compensation awarded by Motor Accident Claim Tribunal. 194A(3)(ixa) may be omitted and in section 194A(3)(ix), word ‘or paid’ can be inserted between ‘credited’ and ‘by way of interest’. There are separate

		Act, 1961- (1) Main reason - Section 194A(3)(ixa) requiring tax to be deducted on interest on compensation awarded by MACT, where the aggregate amount of Income paid during the financial year exceeds Rs 50,000/-, (2) Section 145A(b) requires that Interest received on compensation or enhanced compensation shall be accounted on receipt basis, (3) Section 56(2) has listed in clause (viii), Income received on compensation or on enhanced compensation referred to in Section 145A(b) to be taxed under Income from other source, (4) Section 57(iv) allows deduction of 50% of income referred to section 56(2)(viii). Even though section 145A(b), 56(2)(viii) and 57(iv) says only about compensation generally, it is section 194A(3)(ixa) which created biggest problem and confusion because, it specifically says about TDS on Interest on Motor Accident Claim Tribunal. Even though provision of TDS and taxable Income works separately under present system of Income Tax, simply by insertion of TDS on interest on MACT has given an impression that interest on MACT itself is a taxable income which created confusion and consequent litigations. 1. There are various legal decisions which ruled that MACT compensation is ab-initio not an	exemptions available under 10(10B) for compensation received by a workman under Industrial Dispute Act, under 10(10BB) any payments received under the Bhopal Gas Leak Disaster (Processing of Claims) Act, 10(10BC) compensation received from Government on account of any disaster. Likewise, it is suggested to insert a new section 10(10BD) for MACT compensation, which can be drafted as follows “any amount received or receivable by way of compensation or enhanced compensation or interest on compensation awarded by the Motor Accident Claim Tribunal”. It is also suggested that the word to be used in 10(10BD), should be ‘any amount’, i.e. not just for compensation for permanent disability. 		income. Actually, when something is not at all an income and does not fall under the purview of Income-tax Act, 1961 for taxation, there is no need to give an exemption under section 10. Only those income which are otherwise taxable and as a relief measure, Government wants to not to tax it, exemption under 10 is to be provided. Even disaster compensation mentioned under section 10(10BC) is not an income ab-initio for giving an exemption. However, insertion of such exemption is clarificatory in nature and stops any possible litigation, which is an unwanted wastage of time and which aggravate the sufferings of those who have already suffered the impact of catastrophe. Hence for MACT compensation also, on similar line, an exemption should be provided. 2. Person who is getting claim under MACT are those who had already undergone extreme physical and mental sufferings in their life and sometimes they are getting compensation fighting at court and after waiting for years. Hence it is highly required to bring this clarification so that they need not suffer again after getting compensation. As a social measure, suitable amendment and clarity should be brought under Income Tax law for this. 3. There is no exact method on how 50% is arrived for section

141.	Section 194A – Need to raise threshold limit from 5,000 to Rs 10,000	The present threshold limit of Rs. 5000.00 for deduction by other than Banks is very old and is too low. This limit of Rs. 5000.00 u/s 194A was fixed long ago, which is as much as 30 years ago. The basic exemption limit has increased multi-fold but this remained at the same level since then. This needs immediate change. Once the limit is raised to Rs 10,000 then there would be two thresholds only u/s 194A i.e 10,000 and 50,000 making compliance easier.	It is suggested to raise the threshold limit of Rs. 5000.00 to Rs 10,000 u/s 194A applicable to deductors other than bank. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
142. It may be noted that Section 194A does not treat Non-Banking Financial Institutions (NBFCs) at par with the Banking companies or Co-operative Banks. Due to this, the middle-class businessmen who have borrowed money from NBFC's are disallowed interest paid on the same due to non-deduction of tax at source under section 194A of the Income-tax Act, 1961. It is suggested that section 194A should not apply to NBFCs as:	To provide relief to the genuine taxpayers paying interest to NBFC's, it is suggested that the section 194A(3)(iii)(a) be amended to treat NBFC's at par with other banking companies. 		a) NBFCs principal business is of lending money under various products just like Banking Company or a co-operative Bank. b) There is no mechanism for deduction of tax on interest paid by the assessee as the NBFCs collect cheques of EMI for the tenure of loan. c) NBFCs are also regulated by RBI just like Banking Company and a Co-operative Bank. Considering the fact that there is no mechanism for deduction of tax on interest paid by the assessee as the NBFCs collect cheques of EMI for the tenure of loan, the non-compliance of the provisions of this section is inevitable. However, the said provision creates problem for the assessee who has borrowed money as he is unable to claim deduction in respect of said interest due to operation of section 40(a)(ia).
143.	SECTION 194C – Increase in prescribed limit	Section 194C provides lower ceiling of Rs.30,000/- for a single transaction and Rs.1,00,000/- for aggregate transactions. Enhanced economic activity and the effect of implementation of GST and Reverse Charge Mechanism have brought the transactions under control and within the tax net. After considering the facts, the said prescribed limit seems to be too low.	It is suggested that the limit of Rs. 30,000/- may be increased to Rs. 75,000/- for single contract transaction and Rs. 1,00,000/- to Rs. 3,00,000/- for aggregate of contract payments. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

In order to transform the entire ecosystem of public services, banking etc. through the use of information technology, the Government of India has launched the Digital India programme. One of the key initiatives of the government is to channelize all payments through Digital mode. It has come up with many incentives for using digital mode of payments and with certain dis-incentive for using cash mode of payments. As part of promoting cashless transactions and converting India into less-cash society, various modes of digital payments are available. One of the modes is a point of sale (PoS). It is the place where sales are made. On a macro level, a PoS may be a mall, a market or a city. On a micro level, retailers consider a PoS to be the area where a customer completes a transaction, such as a checkout counter. It is also known as a point of purchase. It is a well-known fact that people still consider cash as the safest way to buy things. Hence, when somebody goes to a small shop, cash is the preferred way of payment. However, some companies are trying to change the way people transact and even on small outlets	It is suggested that TDS exemption limit u/s 194H may be increased to Rs 40,000 in cases of recipients having PAN. It will eliminate the following difficulties / challenges for the Merchants, Companies as well as Income-tax department: - It takes huge amount of calculations and on top of it, compliance of TDS on the small amounts on millions of transactions which is a very cumbersome task and the TDS on the amounts may be in paise as well. It requires a lot of push as this entails a behavioral change for the customer who needs to change his preferred mode of payment from cash to digital mode as well as for the merchant who is also supposed to accept payments digitally instead of traditional cash. While convenience and accountability is the key to digital payments, for the customer and merchants to change their behavior, government is giving incentives. Similar incentives are proposed by the private players also. These small incentives will go a long way to make behavioural changes. It is to be noted here that there are voluminous transactions, but the incentive in absolute amount is very low. The number of merchants to be benefitted from the incentive programme is also huge, however, the amount payable to any single merchant may not be large. Section 194-IA – Reduction in threshold limit to Rs. 30,00,000	As per the provisions of section 194-IA, tax is to be deducted @ 1% on consideration for transfer of immovable property, other than agricultural land. However, no tax is to be deducted if the consideration for transfer of immovable property is less than Rs. 50 lakhs. Due to this high threshold of Rs. 50 lakhs, some of the unscrupulous assesseees are getting the property registered at just under Rs. 50 lakhs of sale consideration to avoid TDS u/s 194-IA. Also, as per Income-tax Rules, any sale purchase of property whose stamp duty value exceeds Rs. 30,00,000 needs to be reported in Statement of Financial Transaction.	It is suggested that section 194-IA be amended so as to reduce the threshold limit to deduct tax from Rs. 50 lakhs currently to Rs. 30 lakhs. (SUGGESTION FOR IMPROVING TAX COLLECTION)

Section 194J – Clarification for rate of TDS	Section 194J was amended by the Finance Act, 2020 to provide for reduced rate of TDS @ 2% instead of the normal rate of 10% in the following cases: • Payment for fees for technical service, not being a professional service. • Payment for royalty, where such royalty is in the nature of consideration for sale distribution or exhibition of cinematographic films. As per the memorandum explaining the provisions of the Finance Bill 2020, the purpose of the amendment is to reduce litigation where in certain cases, the taxpayers used to deduct tax @ 2% under section 194C while the tax authorities used to claim that the deduction should have been made @ 10% under section 194J. However, now new dispute is likely to arise as to whether a particular payment is 'fees for technical services' or 'fees for professional services'. 149.	Section 194N - Practical difficulties to be faced and clarifications required regarding implementation of provision of TDS @ 2% on cash withdrawals exceeding Rs 1,00,00,000	The Finance (No. 2) Act, 2019 has introduced a new section 194N which is further substituted by the Finance Act 2020 in order to discourage cash transactions by levying TDS @ 2% on cash withdrawals exceeding Rs 1 crore from banks including co-operative banks or post offices subject to certain exceptions as provided therein. There are certain concerns with regard to implementation of provisions which needs to be addressed. Issue I: Minor inconsistency between budget speech and finance bill We refer to para 126 of the budget speech (relevant extract reproduced below): “To promote digital payments further, I propose to take a slew of measures. To discourage the practice of making business payments in cash, I propose to levy	(i) It is suggested that the intent expressed in the budget speech w.r.t discouraging making of business payments in cash for introducing section 194N may be suitably incorporated in the text of section 194N i.e. withdrawals from only current account may be taken into account for TDS purposes. This will also align with provisions of seventh proviso to section 139(1) (mandatory ITR filing for deposits exceeding Rs 1 crore in current account). 		TDS of 2% on cash withdrawal exceeding ` 1 crore in a year from a bank account.” [emphasis supplied] The Hon’ble FM referred to discouraging ‘business’ payments in cash while introducing provisions of section 194N. Payments for business are usually made from ‘current account’ maintained with banks. However, the text of the section 194N as per Finance (No. 2) Act, 2019 levies TDS on withdrawal from all types of accounts, be it current or saving or any other account maintained with the specified authority. The inconsistency between budget speech and the finance Act needs clarification. Issue II: Term ‘recipient’ may not convey the right meaning Relevant provision of section 194N reads as under: “Every person, being,— (i) a banking company to which the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 applies (including any bank or banking institution referred to in section 51 of that Act); (ii) a co-operative society engaged in carrying on the business of banking; or (iii) a post office, who is responsible for paying any sum, or, as the case may be, aggregate of sums, in cash, in excess of one crore rupees during the previous year, to any person	(ii) It is suggested that the term ‘recipient’ may not be required in section 194N and hence, following change may be made: “who is responsible for paying any sum, or, as the case may be, aggregate of sums, in cash, in excess of one crore rupees during the previous year, to any person (herein referred to as the recipient) from an account maintained by the recipient with it shall, at the time of payment of such sum, deduct an amount equal to two per cent. of sum exceeding one crore rupees, as income-tax” (SUGGESTIONS FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF

		(herein referred to as the recipient) from one or more accounts maintained by the recipient with it shall, at the time of payment of such sum, deduct an amount equal to two per cent. of sum exceeding one crore rupees, as income-tax.” Referring to the term ‘recipient’ as used above, it may be noted that the said term is not defined anywhere. Also, reference to ‘any person’ is restricted to the ‘recipient’. It is stated that the account is to be maintained by the recipient. It may be possible that the ‘recipient’ and the ‘account holder’ are two different persons. However, the intent of the amendment seems to identify ‘recipient’ as an account holder. If it is so, then if a person other than account holder withdraws amount; will this section be not applicable, or TDS would be levied, needs to be clarified.	DIRECT TAX LAWS)

Keeping in view of the aforesaid, it is suggested to exempt the Infrastructure Industry Sector for at least 10 years from the provisions of section 194N of the Income-tax Act, 1961, in order to overcome from their cash flow crunch and complete the projects in time without any hinderance. Further, it is submitted that with an aim to discourage cash transaction and move towards a cashless economy, TDS @ 2% on cash payment in excess of Rs.1.00 crore in aggregate made during the year, by a Banking company or Cooperative Bank or Post Office, to any person from recipient is applicable now. The provision under Section 194N which has been introduced, at first glance, appears to address the need of the hour and remove the menace of black money and to aid a cashless economy. In this regard, it is further submitted that though the work done bills were submitted for payment, contractors are not getting their payments timely from the respective government departments with one reason or other and their huge capital amount is held up for quite long time, apart from this additional 2% TDS on cashless transactions. Due to block up of huge amount they are facing lot of financial problem and not able to achieve the progress in timely completion of the projects.

The tax is required to be deducted at the time of credit of the amount of sales and/or provision of services to the account of the e-commerce participant or at the time of payment thereof to such e-commerce participant, whichever is earlier. Section 194-O also mandates the e-commerce operator to deduct and pay tax on behalf of the e-commerce participant, even in case the e-commerce participant is receiving full payment directly from the customer. In this scenario, the e-commerce operator will face difficulties in recovering TDS from the e-commerce participant. Cost of such TDS will have to be borne by the e-commerce operator, if the same is not reimbursed by the e-commerce participant. Quite often, e-commerce operators charge delivery fee and sometimes offer discount on the products sold by the e-commerce participants. For example, a mobile company as an e-commerce participant offers mobile phone at INR 10,000 as per	It is suggested to make suitable amendments to address the highlighted issues. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

As a promotional offer, the e-commerce operator offers discount of INR 500 on the list price thereby offering the mobile phone at INR 9,600. The said discount is compensated by the e-commerce operator to the e-commerce participant. The issue arises as to whether the payment made by the e-commerce operator to the e-commerce participant should be liable for TDS on INR 10,100, even if only INR 9,600 is received from the buyer. 152.	Section 194-O – Clarification w.r.t. GST	Section 194-O of the Act provides that the taxes are to be withheld on the gross amount of the sales. It is worthwhile to note here that vide Circular No.23/2017 dated 19 July, 2017, CBDT has clarified that no taxes shall be withheld on the portion of 'GST on services' if it is indicated separately in the invoice. Further, while Circular No. 17 of 2020 has clarified regarding exclusion of GST for the purpose of section 206C(1H) of the IT Act, it is silent for section 194-O of the IT Act. Issue Section 194-O of the Act provides that the taxes are to be withheld on the 'gross amount of sale of goods or services'. The term 'gross amount of sale of goods or services'	Considering the fact that the CBDT Circular provides that no tax is required to be withheld on "GST on services" and not on "GST on goods", taking a position that no tax is to be withheld on the GST on goods may entail litigation. Therefore, a clarification is required on the above either by CBDT or a suitable amendment in the section 194-O of the Act defining "gross amount of sale of goods or services" is useful to avoid tax on tax i.e. GST amount on sale of goods. There may not be any need of these more or less identical provisions under TDS and TCS. Entire data pertaining to such transactions has already been captured by the GSTIN and the CBDT may get the same through CBIC which are two separate departments of the Ministry of Finance. The confusion would only be heightened as a seller has to check and maintain appropriate records of buyers to deduct tax to ensure that appropriate TCS compliance is undertaken by seller in respect of buyers who is not deducting tax due to turnover below the threshold limits.	In view of the aforesaid, it is suggested that provisions of section 206C(1H) and section 194Q pertaining to simultaneous application on same assessee w.r.t. However, currently in most cases only individuals and HUFs are able to claim the benefit of section 197A. There are certain other assesseees who are made to file ITR forms to claim refund although in most cases either income is exempt or below the minimum threshold limit applicable to tax.	It is suggested that section 197A may be suitably amended so that certain assesseees like those registered under section 12A can also file Form No. 15G/H (via suitable amendment in rule 29C). (SUGGESTIONS FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

Merchant Aggregator acquires various merchants and ties up with banks for processing of payments. The Merchant Aggregator collects money from banks on behalf of its merchants and then makes the final settlement with its merchants. The Merchant Aggregators are integral part of the overall Digital Payment system which act as a conduit between customers, bank and merchant. These Merchant Aggregators collect money from customer's bank/PPI Wallet and make payment to merchants. In a move aimed at encouraging the transition towards a cashless economy, the CBDT has exempted some payments made to banks and payment service providers from deducting tax at source. These payments include credit card or debit card commissions for transactions between a merchant establishment and the bank. CBDT vide its Notification No. SO 3069(E), dated 31-12-2012, has notified that no deduction of tax under Chapter XVII shall be required on payments of the nature given below, in case such payment is made by a person to a bank, namely:- (vii) Credit card or debit card commission for transaction between merchant establishment and acquirer bank. This move will encourage online transactions by reducing the compliance burden as the merchant establishment will not have to deduct TDS before making the payment to the Merchant Aggregators. Due to the above technical reason, merchants were exempted from the provisions of TDS when the commission was payable to Banks. With new technology and newer ways of making and accepting payments, it is imminent to widen the scope of this exemption. When Merchant Aggregator receives payment from bank for ultimate settlement with merchant, bank makes the payment to Merchant Aggregator after deducting its commission. The Merchant Aggregator, at no instance, get any chance to withhold Tax since it is only receiving payments and not making any payment to Bank. Here “seller” has been defined as a person satisfying certain conditions relating to turnover of business carried out by him etc. With TDS rate of 0.1%, the primary intent of the government appears to be to ensure reporting and traceability of the transaction. However, the provision has led to increased compliance burden on the taxpayers which is not commensurate with the objective particularly when it is in nature of a redundancy with Goods and Services Tax (GST) already having the traceability and tracking mechanism in place in respect of majority of goods being sought to be covered under these provisions. Section 206C – Concerns arising due to inclusions in TCS provisions to be addressed	Clarification regarding the amount/sale consideration on which TCS is to be collected/charged under provisions of section 206C(1H). Clarification is required in case of receipts when sale and purchase is made from a same person. There is a possibility that certain two assesseees say 'X' and 'Y' are buyer and seller of each other's goods. Eg let's assume X has sold goods worth Rs 1 crore to Y and Y has also sold some other goods worth Rs 80 lakhs to X. Now, in this case, clarity is required regarding the amount on which tax is to be collected at source by seller X i.e. on sale consideration of Rs 1 crore	It is suggested that suitable clarification be issued, or legislative amendment be made so as to clearly specify the amount on which tax is to be collected by the seller especially in a case when sale and purchase takes place to and from a same person. (SUGGESTION TO REDUCE / MINIMIZE LITIGATIONS)

Section 206C(1H) – certain other concerns	Issue I While section 206C(1H) of the Act is inserted, the provision does not define key terms such as “goods”, “turnover”, etc. and this has resulted into interpretational issues. The term ‘goods’ is defined under various acts (such as Sale of Goods Act, GST Act etc) and hence will lead to litigation. Issue II While the key terms are not defined, CBDT has issued a circular clarifying various queries. One of the clarifications given by the CBDT is that the provision of section 206C(1H) would not apply to listed securities. However, where assessee is subjected to MAT for any previous year and profit on sale of capital asset included in profit and loss account also be subjected to MAT then section 234C does not provide specific exclusion from levy of interest on account of failure to estimate such income. Even if such income has accrued to the assessee in the month of March and assessee is subjected to MAT provisions, CPC determines the demand and calculate interest as shortfall in advance tax payment has arisen from 1st installment itself. It would reduce the unnecessary demand determined against the assessee.	It is suggested that profit on sale of capital asset recognised in books shall be treated in parity with income from capital gain and accordingly, interest u/s 234C may not be levied by the CPC. (SUGGESTIONS FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

Section 245D – Existing applications may be disposed off under current provisions	The Finance Act. 2021 has discontinued the Income-tax Settlement Commission (ITSC) and has provided for constitution of an Interim Board of settlement for pending cases and accordingly ITSC has ceased to operate on or after 01.02.2021. Further, it is also provided that where the option for withdrawal of application is not	It is suggested that pending and or existing applications under section 245C may be allowed to be disposed off under the existing provisions. 		exercised by the assessee within the time allowed, the pending application shall be deemed to have been received by the Interim Board on the date on which such application is allotted or transferred to the Interim Board. Issue It appears that existing pending applications already admitted under Section 245D(1) would be disposed by the Interim Board. Normally, it should be disposed off as per existing provisions of Chapter XIXA of the Act. The Applicants who have already filed Application under Section 245C of the Act should be covered within the existing provisions of the aforesaid Chapter. Otherwise, it may be violation of Principles of Promissory Estoppel. Further, it is provided to abolish the Income Tax Settlement Commission with immediate effect. However, it may be considered that there are a lot of applications which are pending with it currently. Settlement of tax disputes has to be the part of taxation system and without any mechanism to resolve the tax disputes is going to make the life of assessee difficult. The setting up of Dispute Resolution Committee is a welcome step, but the beneficiaries may be limited in view of the ceiling of Rs. 50 Lakh and Rs. 10 Lakh provided therein. The provision to form Dispute Resolution Committee u/s 245M is currently applicable to small and medium taxpayers in whose cases the	Income Tax Settlement Commission may be reconsidered. Even if it is decided to be abolished, it may be done after disposal of all the cases pending with it and the scope of DRC may be widened by enhancing or deleting the limits of Rs. 50 Lakh & Rs. 10 Lakh as provided currently. It is also suggested that provisions pertaining to constitution of Interim Board and having CCITs only may be suitably modified so as to include independent members also. It is suggested that a suitable clarification may be issued w.r.t availing benefit of parallel provisions regarding appeals to CIT(A) u/s 246A and to CIT u/s 264 of the Act. The provisions regarding constitution of Interim Board provides that every Interim Board shall consist of three members, each being an officer of the rank of Chief Commissioner, as may be nominated by the Board. Composition of Interim Board with only CCITs may not be acceptable and may not achieve the objective and yield desired results. A separate retired member or present Members of the ITAT or any other equivalent officer who is not reporting to/under CBDT may be considered, to have an independent view. As per this provision, there appears to be ambiguity in the provisions relating to Dispute Resolution Committee and corresponding effect on other related provisions may be considered. At present, section 264 of the Act is clear that once order is in appeal then doors of revision are closed. A similar type of provision is needed to be embedded in section 245MA.

APPEALS & REVISION

DETAILED SUGGESTIONS

Sr. No	Section	Issue/Justification	Suggestion
168.	Section 246A – Necessary amendment required enabling filing of Appeal against penalty imposed by Assessing Officer under section 271J	Section 246A provides that any assessee aggrieved by any of the orders mentioned therein may appeal to the Commissioner (Appeals). The Finance Act 2018 has amended clause (a) of section 253(1) so as to make an order passed by a Commissioner (Appeals) under section 271J also appealable to the Appellate Tribunal. This amendment is applicable from 1st April, 2018. Issue: The said amendment in section 253(1) allows an appeal to be filed before ITAT, if the order imposing penalty is passed by CIT(A). However, if the order is passed by Assessing Officer, the same would not be appealable either before CIT(A) u/s 246A or before ITAT u/s 253(1), thereby leading to denying principles of natural justice. This may be an unintended omission.	It is suggested that necessary amendment may be made in section 246A so as to make an order passed by an Assessing Officer under section 271J appealable to the Commissioner (appeals) u/s 246A. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

169.	Section 254 – Condition of pre-deposit of 20% of tax etc. for granting stay by the ITAT to be reconsidered	The Finance Act 2020 amended section 254 inter alia to provide that ITAT may grant stay under the first proviso subject to the condition that the assessee deposits not less than 20% of the amount of tax, interest, fee, penalty, or any other sum payable under the provisions of this Act, or furnish security of equal amount in respect thereof. Issue Considering the current slowdown of economy and its impact on businesses, the requirement of pre-deposit of 20% of tax, interest, fee, penalty etc as a condition for granting stay by the ITAT is very harsh. It would lead to cash flow issues for the assesseees which may affect carrying on of business. It would be extremely difficult to deposit such high amount of pre-deposit, especially in case of high-pitched assessments. ICAI has recently represented the hardships faced by concerned assesseees against the high pre-deposit demanded by AOs vide ICAI/DTC/2019-20/Rep-21, dated 9th January 2020 submitted to Chairman, CBDT. Working capital of such assesseees gets locked up for getting stay of demand (especially in case of high	It is suggested that amendment in section 254 imposing condition of pre-deposit of at least 20% of tax, interest, fee, penalty etc for granting of stay by the ITAT be omitted. 		pitched assessments) and their businesses suffers adversely due to lack of adequate working capital. It would result in a substantial financial and other hardship to the assesseees.
170.	Section 255 – Faceless proceedings in ITAT in a jurisdiction less manner – Few concerns to be addressed	The Finance Act, 2021 amended section 255 of the Act so as to provide that the Central Government may notify a scheme for the purposes of disposal of appeal by the ITAT in a faceless manner. This is being amended as it will not only reduce cost of compliance for taxpayers, increase transparency in disposal of appeals but will also help in achieving even work distribution in different benches resulting in best utilisation of resources. Issue Faceless ITAT as Introduced may sometimes result in denial of justice. While the concept of Virtual hearing is appreciated but faceless hearing may result in non-granting of opportunity of hearing. It needs to be considered that the ITAT is the last fact-finding authority and already the below authorities of assessment and first appeal are faceless therefore faceless ITAT may not be required at this stage	It is suggested that the provisions to make faceless proceedings before the ITAT in a jurisdiction less manner may be reconsidered and may be implemented at a later date after having proper feedback w.r.t. other faceless schemes like assessment, appeals and penalty. Further, video conferencing may be duly incorporated in the said Scheme as and when enacted. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS) and may be made virtual but not faceless. ITAT may not be faceless. At the maximum, it can be made virtual and dynamic. Opportunity of being heard in person is the backbone of judiciary. ITAT is the final fact-finding authority and therefore at this stage, the faceless ITAT may harm in the matters on fact because the taxpayer would be left with no remedy but to suffer huge tax if he fails to convince ITAT based on written submission.

PENALTIES IMPOSABLE

DETAILED SUGGESTIONS

Sr. No	Section	Issue/Justification	Suggestion
172.	Section 270A inserted to provide for levy of penalty in case of reporting of income and misreporting of income - Issues to be addressed a) Penalty order under section 270A be made an order appealable before Commissioner (Appeals) under section 246A	The Finance Act, 2016 has inserted a new section 270A providing for penalty in case of under-reporting and misreporting of income. As per the provisions, the said penalty order under section 270A has not been made appealable under section 246A i.e., no appeal would lie against the penalty order under section 270A before the first appellate authority i.e., Commissioner (Appeals). Although an amendment has been made in section 253 providing for appeal to Tribunal against such penalty order, no such amendment has been made in section 246A. In a case where the said penalty order is imposed by an Assessing Officer below the rank of Commissioner, it is desirable that an appeal may be filed against the same to Commissioner (Appeals). It may be noted that the penalty order under the erstwhile section 271 is an appealable order under section 246A. There appears to be an inadvertent omission in not including an order under section 270A as an order appealable before Commissioner (Appeals) under section 246A.	It is suggested that section 246A may be suitably amended so as to provide that penalty order under section 270A passed by Assessing Officer below the rank of Commissioner may be made appealable under section 246A before Commissioner (Appeals). (SUGGESTION FOR IMPROVING TAX COLLECTION)
	b) Penalty for under-reporting of income	There are certain concerns arising out of the provisions of new section 270A, due to which it is likely that the implementation may not yield the desired result and fresh litigation is likely to arise while interpreting the new provision.	Without prejudice thereto, with regard to this methodology of levying penalty, the following suggestions may be considered. • By way of express requirement, the Assessing Officer may be required to initiate the proceedings prior to

			or concurrently with the closure of assessment proceedings. Unless this is done, there may be initiation of penalty several years after the assessment proceedings are completed. The time limit under section 275(c) is, unfortunately, linked with the date of initiation of proceedings. • Unlike Explanation 3 of section 271(1)(c), in this provision, where return of income is not furnished, penalty will be calculated with reference to tax on income assessed without considering the impact of tax deducted or advance tax paid by taxpayer. For example, in case of a person who is not required to furnish return of income under section 115A(5), tax may have been paid, but, as per new methodology, the whole of the income, as assessed, may be considered as unreported income. Such would also be the case in a situation where there is no revenue loss since the whole of the tax was already paid up and yet, the return may not have been furnished. • There may be some concern on resolution of the formula specified in the section if, intimation under section 143(1)(a) is not available. It may be good to clarify that, in such a case, returned income will be the substituted basis. • Penalty proceedings may be permitted only when specific conditions are satisfied. e.g. the adjustment made exceeds a minimum threshold or say 10%

			of taxable income, etc. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
	c) Order to specify the specific clause of under - reported or misreported income for levy of penalty under section 270A	Section 270A has done away with the undue discretion in the hands of Assessing Officer by imposing penalty at the rate of either 50% or 200% depending on whether the income is under reported or misreported. Certain controls may be required in the effective implementation of the new section. In order to reduce the practice of Assessing Officers treating every concealed income as misreported as well as the fact that the new section does not require recording of satisfaction before imposition of penalty proceedings (as was required under the erstwhile section 271), it is desirable that a suitable control mechanism may be put in place. Certain measures like making it mandatory for the Assessing Officers to mention in the Order that every disallowance or addition be specified as either under-reported or misreported. Further, measures like specifying the exact clause from sub-section (2) or (9) of section 270A, in case of under-reporting or misreporting of income respectively in the order would go a long way in reducing disputes and litigation. The said measures would also make it clear to the assessee in time whether he could opt for immunity from penalty and prosecution under section 270AA in case	It is suggested that suitable amendments be introduced or alternatively administrative instructions may be issued so that each order contains the specific fact of either misreported income or under-reported income or both along with the mention of specific clause of section 270A(2)/(9) against each disallowance/addition. Such measures would act as a suitable control mechanism in the absence of recording of satisfaction to initiate penalty proceedings and would also enable assessee to opt for section 270AA providing for immunity from penalty and prosecution in case income is not misreported. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

		order specifies that he has not misreported the income.
	d) Mere making of a claim which is not sustainable in law would not tantamount to furnishing inaccurate particulars for attracting levy of penalty	Scope of penalty under section 270A has been widened and it would now include within its scope, claims made by the assessee but disallowed by the Assessing Officer. Where no information given in the return is found to be incorrect or inaccurate, and the assessee has disclosed all material facts relevant for assessment, he cannot be held guilty of furnishing inaccurate particulars. This principle of law has been settled by the Apex Court ruling in Reliance Petro Products' case. Therefore, mere making of a claim which is not sustainable in law would not tantamount to furnishing of inaccurate particulars for attracting levy of penalty. However, such cases are now to be included within the ambit of under reported income under the new section 270A and penalty would be attracted @ 50%.	It is suggested that section 270A may be suitably amended so that penalty is not automatically attracted for merely making of a claim which is not sustainable in law. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
173.	Section 270AA - Immunity from Imposition of penalty	(a) Where penalty is levied on certain additions on ground of mis-reporting and certain additions on ground of only under-reporting than assessee will have to make a choice whether to file appeal or make application for immunity as he cannot file appeal on penalty levied on mis-reported income and immunity application for under-reported income.	It is suggested that suitable provision be inserted to solve the aforesaid anomaly. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

174.	Section 271AAB - Need to simplify penal provisions	- Amended Section 271AAB provides for imposition of penalty @ 10% on undisclosed income found during the course of search and admitted at the stage of search subject to fulfilment of other specified conditions in section 271AAB(1A)(a) 60% penalty is to be imposed in other cases u/s 271AAB(1A)(b). - The above system of penalty is very complex to implement in reality. In search cases, penalty should ideally be the same irrespective of the time of admission/declaration by the culprit assessee. Assessing officers sometimes puts undue pressure on the assessee during search proceedings to extract the maximum amount of declaration. One of the reasons for the same is the pressure of target achievement by the assessing officers. - In such cases, quality of assessment suffers a lot and high-pitched assessments are made unnecessarily.	It is suggested that the provisions of section 271AAB needs to be simplified. The time of admission may not be considered for imposition of penalty amount as once admitted all culprit assesses should be treated on the same footings. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
175.	Section 271AAB - Penalty where search has been initiated	Section 271AAB(1) (till 15.12.2016) provides for imposition of penalty @ 10% on undisclosed income found during the course of search and admitted at the stage of search. Undisclosed income not admitted at the stage of search but disclosed in the return of income	Sub-section (3) may be amended to provide that the prosecution provisions under sections 274 and 275 would apply in relation to penalty levied only under clause (b) of section 271AAB(1A), and not in respect of cases covered under clause (a).

		filed after the search to attract penalty @ 20%. These are covered under clauses (a) and (b) of section 271AAB. In other cases, i.e. cases covered under clause (c), penalty to be imposed @ 60% of undisclosed income. Aforesaid provisions of section 271AAB are applicable till 15.12.2016 due to insertion of sub-section (1A) vide the Taxation Laws (Second Amendment) Act, 2016. Section 271AAB(1A) provides penalty @ 30% under sub-clause (a) and 60% under sub-clause (b). Sub-section (3) provides that the prosecution provisions under sections 274 and 275 would apply in relation to penalty levied under this section. However, it may not be justified to execute prosecution proceedings where a person has disclosed such income in the course of search or before filing his return of income. Therefore, the prosecution provisions should be made applicable only in respect of cases covered under clause (b).	(SUGGESTIONS FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
176.	Section 271AAD – Penalty for fake invoice – Stringent provision to be relaxed	The Finance Act 2020 inserted a new section 271AAD so as to provide for a levy of penalty on a person, if it is found during any proceeding under the Act that in the books of accounts maintained by him there is a (i) false entry or (ii) any entry relevant for computation of total income of such person has been omitted to evade tax liability.	It is suggested that: (i) The section 271AAD(1)(i)/(ii) be suitably amended as below: “271AAD. 		(A) Amendment in section 271AAD(i) requiring penalty to be attracted only when false entry is made with an intent to evade tax liability The provision may be prone to misuse by the tax authorities. Clause (i) of section 271AAD(1) mentions only 'a false entry' without the specific requirement that such false entry 'which is relevant for computation of total income of such person, must have been made with an intent to evade tax liability for penalty to be attracted. There is a possibility of a false entry due to recasting of books and/or errors/omissions. Since 'false entry' has been inclusively defined in the Explanation to proposed section 271AAD, there is a possibility that the AOs may invoke this penalty in respect of cases not specifically listed in clauses (a) to (c) thereunder. This has created unrest in the minds of honest taxpayers also. Therefore, the definition must be an exhaustive one and penalty should be attracted only when such entry has been made with an intent to evade tax liability. (b) Consequential amendment required in section 273B as a 'reasonable cause' for penalty imposed under section 271AAD	(ii) an omission of any entry which is relevant for computation of total income of such person, to evade tax liability, the Assessing Officer may direct that such person shall pay by way of penalty a sum equal to the aggregate amount of such false or omitted entry." (ii) The definition of "false entry" in the Explanation to section 271AAD(1) should be an exhaustive one and not inclusive, in order to clearly define the scope of the provision and avoid unnecessary litigation. (b) It is suggested that section 273B be amended so as to include within its scope, penalty imposable under section 271AAD so that such penalty may not be imposed in case assessee has a reasonable

		Section 273B provides for cases/provisions wherein penalty is not imposable if the assessee proves that there was reasonable cause for the said failure. The Finance Act 2020 has not included section 271AAD within the scope of section 273B. Every assessee deserves a reasonable opportunity of being heard especially in case where such harsh penalty is imposed. The very purpose of enacting section 273B is to allow assesseees to explain his case and if reasonable cause for non-compliance is found, such penalty is not to be imposed. Accordingly, section 273B may be amended to include within its scope, penalty to be imposed under section 271AAD also	cause for 'false entry' and/or 'omission' of entry. Section 271FA – Clarity required regarding appealability of penalty order	Section 271FA provides that if a person who is required to furnish the statement of financial transaction (SFT) or reportable account (RA) under section 285BA(1), fails to furnish such statement within the prescribed time, then the income-tax authority prescribed under section 285BA(1) may direct such person to pay penalty of five hundred rupees for every day of default. Prescribed Income-tax authority as per section 285BA(1) is Director of Income-tax (Intelligence and Criminal Investigation) {DIT} or the Joint Director of Income-tax (Intelligence and Criminal Investigation) as per Rule 114(4)(a). Further, section 246A(1)(q) provides that any assessee or any deductor or any collector aggrieved by an order imposing a penalty under Chapter XXI may appeal to the Commissioner (Appeals). Due to certain conflicting judicial decisions, an issue has arisen regarding the authority to whom an appeal shall lie in case of penalty order passed under section 271FA by DIT. As per DIT v Ravi Vijay [2012] 25 taxmann.com 176 (Raj.), the Rajasthan High Court has held that an appeal against order of penalty passed under section 271FA by Director, who holds rank of a Commissioner, is maintainable before Commissioner (Appeals) with	It is suggested that an amendment be made in relevant sections (246A or 253) to clearly specify the authority to whom an appeal may lie against an order passed by DIT under section 271FA. (SUGGESTION FOR REDUCING/MINIMIZING LITIGATIONS)

Similarly, in the District Co-operative Central Bank Ltd., R.R. Peta, Eluru, W.G. District v DIT ITA Nos. 576 to 578/VIZ/2018, the Visakhapatnam Bench held that penalty order under section 271FA is an appealable order before CIT(A). However, Lucknow bench in Raibareilly District Co-operative Bank Ltd. v DIT [2015] 54 taxmann.com 382 (Lucknow - Trib.) held that appeal against an order of Director of Income-tax passed under section 271FA is to be filed before Tribunal who is higher in rank and not before Commissioner (Appeals) who is equivalent in rank with Director of Income-tax. The aforesaid view is also supported by the Hyderabad Bench in the Nizamabad District Cooperative Central Bank Ltd, Nizamabad v DIT ITA Nos. 1291 to 1296/Hyd/2017, wherein it held that ITAT is not the forum to entertain the appeal against the penalty order under section 271FA. However, such penalty would not be levied if the person has paid the taxes deducted or collected along with fee and interest to the credit of the Central Government and has filed the statements within a period of one year from the respective due dates i.e., namely, 31st July, 31st October, 31st January and 31st May, respectively for the quarters ending 30th June, 30th September, 31st December and 31st March. The TDS/TCS statements form the basis of preparation of annual tax statement in Form No 26AS. The deductee is required to confirm the exact tax deducted/collected at source and remitted to the Government by verifying Form No 26AS online, and thereafter pay the remaining taxes by way of self-assessment tax. However, if TDS/TCS statements are permitted to be filed within one year of the due date prescribed for each quarter on account of non-levy of penalty, then the same would extend beyond the due date of filing return of income of that assessment year in respect of the second, third and fourth quarters. 		account, for payment of self-assessment tax before the due date of filing of return of income. Therefore, it is felt that penalty provisions should be attracted if such statements are not filed before due date of filing return of income. Further, Section 271H provides for the minimum and maximum penalty, within which range, penalty can be imposed. The discretionary powers provided to the Assessing Officer in levying a penalty ranging from Rs.10,000 to Rs.1,00,000 may lead to hardship to the assessee. Discretion element in levying penalty should be removed. Penalty may be prescribed having regard to quantum of default and the period of delay. In any case, it should not exceed the tax deductible or collectible at source, in respect of which the quarterly statement has not been filed.
180.	Genuine hardship faced by tax deductors on account of provisions of section 276B of the Income-tax Act, 1961 attracting prosecution proceedings for delay in remittance of tax to the	Under section 276B, the consequence of failure to comply with the provisions of Chapter XVII-B is rigorous imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than three months, but which may extend to seven years and with fine. The provisions of section 276B are basically intended to discourage tax deductors from retaining the legitimate government dues unjustly. However, at ground level implementation, notices are being issued for initiation of prosecution proceedings under section 276B	It is suggested that the matter may be looked into and appropriate measures may be taken so that prosecution proceedings under section 276B are not initiated against genuine tax deductors, who have deposited the TDS voluntarily after the prescribed time limit but before service of any notice by the department. Further, certain threshold limits may be prescribed to avoid genuine errors in estimations. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE credit of the Central Government	even in cases where tax deductors have deposited the tax deducted by them voluntarily after the stipulated time but before any notice has been served upon them. This may be due to the modified guidelines issued in 2013 for identification of cases for initiating prosecution, wherein the criterion of minimum retention period of 12 months has been dispensed with. However, initiation of prosecution proceedings in cases of voluntary deposit of TDS after the stipulated time but before service of notice is causing undue hardship to genuine tax deductors. Voluntary remittance of TDS before issue of notice clearly indicates the absence of any malafide intention on the part of the tax deductors to retain the taxes due to the government. The tax deductors are, in any case, being subject to higher interest @ 1.5% per month or part of a month under section 201(1A) for the period of delay in remittance. The TDS statements submitted by them also clearly reflect the taxes deducted, the date of deduction and the date of remittance along with interest, which indicates the bona fide intent on the part of the deductors to report the correct details to the Department. However, it appears that the notices for prosecution are issued on the basis of these information provided by the tax deductors in their TDS statements. It is a settled law that prosecution proceedings are appropriate only in cases where	PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

		deductors deliberately do not deposit the TDS, since Mens rea or a guilty mind is a sine qua non for attracting prosecution provisions. In this regard, it may be noted that the erstwhile service tax law which provided for a threshold limit of Rs.2 crores for initiating prosecution proceedings in case of failure to pay service tax collected to the credit of the Central Government within a period of 6 months from the date on which such payment becomes due. This implies that only if the service tax collected but not remitted within the prescribed period exceeds Rs. 2 crores, prosecution provisions would be attracted. However, section 276B of the Income-tax Act, 1961 neither prescribes any threshold limit beyond which the prosecution provisions thereunder would be attracted, nor does it prescribe any retention period, after the expiry of which, prosecution proceedings would be initiated. Thus, absence of threshold limit and retention period under this provision of the Income-tax Act, 1961 causes undue hardship even to genuine tax deductors.

The aforesaid amendment is made applicable w.e.f. 01.04.2020. Since it is a clarificatory amendment as is clear from the Explanatory Memorandum, it should ideally be made applicable from a retrospective date so as to provide the benefit of clarification made to existing cases that are going on.	It is suggested that the amendment in section 276CC made vide the Finance (no. 2) Act, 2019 w.r.t. calculation of tax payable to be determined after reducing tax collected at source and self-assessment tax be made applicable from a retrospective date being in the nature of clarification. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
183.	Chapter XXII - Prosecution proceedings not to be imposed in case tax and interest paid	In recent times, there is a spurt in prosecution proceedings under the Income-tax law. Prosecution proceedings are governed by Chapter XXII of the Income-tax Act, 1961. It causes some serious hardships to the concerned assessee. In case tax and due interest is paid, currently prosecution proceedings still take place against the assessee although revenue is in no loss.	It is suggested that in case tax and due interest is paid by the assessee under Income-tax Act 1961, then prosecution proceedings may be dropped subject to certain exceptions as may be appropriately specified. (SUGGESTIONS TO REDUCE / MINIMIZE LITIGATIONS)

The said Circular broadly states that prosecution can be launched only in following cases: 1. If tax sought to be evaded is more than Rs.25 Lakhs and 2. Prosecution should be launched only after the penalty is confirmed by the ITAT 3. Prosecution is a criminal proceeding. Therefore, based upon evidence gathered, offence and crime as defined in the relevant provision of the Act, the offence has to be proved beyond reasonable doubt. To ensure that only deserving cases get prosecuted, the CBDT also instructed that prosecution may be initiated only with the previous administrative approval of the Collegium of two CCIT/DGIT rank officers as mentioned in Para 3 of the said Circular. This Circular is curative, clarificatory and remedial in nature and it ought to be given retrospective effect and apply to all pending cases where the complaint is filed and should not	It is suggested that CBDT should issue a clarification that the said Circular will apply to all matters which are pending in Courts and suitable clause to be inserted for withdrawals of the complaints already filed. (SUGGESTIONS TO REDUCE / MINIMIZE LITIGATIONS)

185.	Introduction of provisions on innovative measures like 'Loss Carry Back' – Need of the hour	With an aim to provide impetus to businesses which are presently incurring losses, a new provision to carry back losses up to specified preceding period, subject to fulfilment of prescribed conditions, may be introduced. It is the need of the hour to allow 2 year extension for Carry Forward of loss due to business closure for more than an year. The current tough times require innovative measures for the revival of the economy. One such measure can be introduction of 'Loss Carry Back'. It is pertinent to note that during Global Financial Crisis, 2008 most countries like United States, United Kingdom, France etc. introduced the concept of Loss Carry back, and it was very effective. Loss carry back describes a situation in which a business experiences a net operating loss and chooses to apply that loss to a prior year's tax return. This results in a lower tax bill for the year to which this "carried back" loss has been applied because it reduces the tax liabilities for that previous year. The loss carry back can generate a tax refund for the business for that previous year because of this newly reduced tax liability. After the carried back loss is applied, it will be as though the business overpaid its taxes for that year. Typically, losses can only be carried back two years prior to the year in which the net operating loss occurred. Special circumstances allow for a three-year loss carry back. Loss carry backs are similar to loss carry forwards, except companies apply their net operating losses to preceding rather than subsequent years' incomes. Unless certain	It is suggested to permit carry back of losses and introduce suitable legislative amendments for its application. It is especially relevant for carry back of losses for hospitality, passenger transport and similar other sectors. In other words, after taking into consideration the benefits of this concept and applicability of this scheme in other countries, it is suggested that Government of India may also consider this innovative measure of 'loss carry back' in current times. This provision can provide a lifeline to distressed businesses. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS) circumstances are present, a loss carry back can only be applied to the two years preceding the year the net operating loss occurred. Rationale (benefits) • Loss carry back would support business investment • Loss carry backs can lead to immediate refunds • Loss carry back is a form of loss refundability • Loss carry back acts as an automatic stabiliser It is pertinent to note that for FY 2019-20, lockdown happened for a period of one week. However, for FY 2020-21, it was for at least 1/4th of the year or 25% of time was lost, as a minimum period. Businesses like aviation, travel & tourism, hospitality sectors etc. may post profits for last fiscal, but will find it difficult to meet ends for the current year. This will land industry in a situation that there is tax liability for FY 2019-20, difficult liquidity position and loss for the last two years. The Government advisory has directed payment of salaries and wages, when there was no income. This and other fixed costs and demand recession has seen F.Y. 2020-21 closure in loss. Therefore, concept of 'provision for Carry Backward of Loss' is worth considering at least for the last two FYs. In this regard, following formula may be considered: All fixed costs for the period from April, 2020 to (say) June, 2020 may be allowed as a special deduction for the F.Y. 2019-20. These expenses, if so claimed and allowed, shall not qualify for deduction for F. Y. 2020-21. In order to avoid litigation, listing of fixed costs like salaries and wages, rent, rates and taxes, insurance, office costs, etc. can be prepared and announced by the CBDT. Similar

186.	Section 288 - Appearance by Authorized Representative	This section empowers an AR to appear before the any income- tax authority or the Appellate tribunal in connection with any proceeding under this Act. Under clause (2)(vii), any other person who, immediately after commencement of this Act, was an income-tax practitioner within the meaning of clause (iv) of sub-section (2) of section 61 of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), and was actually practicing as such.	It is suggested that as the clause (2)(vii) has become redundant looking at the age factor that the person may have obtained as on date and may be omitted. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
187.	Request to consider amendment in Explanation to section 288(2) pertaining to definition of 'Accountant'	We wish to bring to your kind attention the concerns of ICAI in respect of definition of 'Accountant' as provided in Explanation to section 288(2). The definition of 'Accountant' in Explanation to section 288(2) was last amended vide the Finance Act, 2015. The relevant extract of the amended Explanation to section 288(2) is as follows: "Explanation.—In this section, "accountant" means a chartered accountant as defined in clause (b) of subsection (1) of section 2 of the Chartered Accountants Act, 1949 (38 of 1949) who holds a valid certificate of practice under sub-section (1) of section 6 of that Act, but does not include [except for the purposes of representing the assessee under sub-section (1)]— (a) in case of an assessee, being a company, the person who is not eligible for appointment as an auditor of the said company in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (3) of section 141 of the Companies Act, 2013 (18 of 2013); or (b) in any other case,—....." {Emphasis provided} The reason for amending the definition of an "accountant" as per the Explanatory Memorandum to the Finance Bill 2015 was to avoid conflict of interest and for better	In view of the aforesaid, the definition of the term 'accountant' as per Explanation to section 288(2) of the Income-tax Act, 1961 may be modified suitably to remove the applicability of section 141(3) of the Companies Act, 2013 so that: a. A CA providing tax certification services to a company of which he is not the statutory auditor has the same opportunity to provide the NAS to a company as a CA who is not providing tax certification services but is providing tax advisory services and other NAS to a company of which he is not a statutory auditor to avoid unreasonable compliance requirements. b. Requirements prescribed for non-governance. Infact, this amendment was brought in for the limited purpose of disqualifying a relative from conducting the tax audit report based on a CAG report finding. In case of an assessee, being a company, the disqualification for being appointed as an 'accountant' for tax certification services applies to the person who is not eligible for appointment as an auditor of the said company in accordance with the provisions of section 141(3) of the Companies Act, 2013. Relevant extract from section 141(3) is reproduced below: "(3) The following persons shall not be eligible for appointment as an auditor of a company, namely:— ..... (i) a person who, directly or indirectly, renders any service referred to in section 144 to the company or its holding company or its subsidiary company. Explanation.—For the purposes of this clause, the term "directly or indirectly" shall have the meaning assigned to it in the Explanation to section 144." {Emphasis provided} Considering the above, there is a possibility of two situations where a Chartered Accountant (hereinafter referred to as CA) in practice (individually or through a firm of CA) is called upon by a company to provide tax certification services as an "accountant". A. Situation 1 – Where the CA is the statutory auditor of the company From the governance perspective, as per section 144 of the Companies Act 2013, a statutory auditor shall provide to the company only such other services which are approved by the Board of Directors or the audit Committee. However, the statutory auditor cannot provide certain specified non-audit services (NAS) directly or indirectly to the company and entities related to it. It is pertinent to mention that the list of the	company assessee should be made applicable to company assessee to ensure parity in applicability of the eligibility requirements for being an 'accountant'. Further, term "Relative" as used in sub-clause (iv) and (vii) of clause (b) Explanation to section 288(2) may be replaced with "Immediate Family" Members as is used in the IESBA Code of Ethics. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

	prohibited services (NAS) by the statutory auditor of a company does not contain provision of taxation services including tax certification services. Therefore, there is no restriction on the statutory auditor to provide tax certification services subject to approval of the Board of Directors/Audit Committee under section 144 of Companies Act, 2013. B. Situation 2 – Where the CA is NOT the statutory auditor of a company In such a case, the CA can be appointed to provide the NAS, by the management on such terms as it considers appropriate as there is no restriction under the Companies Act 2013. ISSUES FACED DUE TO RESTRICTIONS IMPOSED BY APPLICATION OF SECTION 141(3)(i) OF THE COMPANIES ACT, 2013 I. Difference in scope of statutory audit and tax certification services It is here that the amended definition of the term ‘accountant’ under explanation to Section 288(2) becomes more onerous than the original intention of the amendment made vide the Finance Act 2015, which as stated earlier, was for the limited purpose of disqualifying a relative from conducting the tax audit report based on a CAG report finding. Pursuant to the amendment to the definition of “accountant” under section 288, once a CA, who is not the statutory auditor of the company, is appointed (or is in the process of being appointed) to provide tax certification services as an ‘accountant’, he is being subject to the same service restrictions specified in section 144 of the Companies Act 2013 as the statutory auditor of the company although the scope of work of tax certification is much narrower than statutory audit {by virtue of applicability of section 141(3)(i) of Companies Act 2013 read with clause (a) of Explanation to section 288(2)}. The statutory auditor is required to audit the whole of financial statements and opine as to whether the same present a true and fair view.

	However, opining on the financial statements as a whole is not required in case of issuance of a tax certificate/report by a non-auditor wherein the scope of enquiry is specific to the concerned provisions/sections of the Income-tax Act. However, the CA even in a case where the scope of service is limited to tax certification, is prohibited from providing other NAS specified in section 144 of the Companies Act 2013 which he could have provided but for section 288 of the Income-tax Act 1961. The aforesaid issue can be more clearly understood by way of an example as below: Situation 1- Where the CA is issuing a CERTIFICATE under the Income – tax Act, 1961 As per Rule 37BB, a person responsible for making a payment exceeding Rs 5 lakh to a non-resident inter alia has to furnish Form 15CA (Part C) after obtaining a certificate in Form 15CB from an 'accountant'. Let's suppose a CA in practice (Mr. X) is appointed as an 'accountant' by a company 'A' to certify and issue Form No. 15CB (Certificate of an accountant) during a particular financial year. Since Mr. X is providing tax certification services as an 'accountant', Mr. X has to comply with the provisions of section 141(3) of the Companies Act, 2013 {due to definition of accountant in Explanation to section 288(2)}. In effect, Mr. X cannot provide any of the Non Audit services to company A as specified in section 144 of the Companies Act, 2013 (like accounting and book keeping services, internal audit services etc.) due to application of section 141(3)(i) of the Companies Act, 2013. Despite the fact that Mr. X is not a statutory auditor of the company A, he is being restricted from providing NAS as specified in section 144 of the Companies Act, 2013 {by virtue of application of provisions of section 141(3)(i) of the Companies Act, 2013}. Situation 2- Where the CA is providing TAX ADVISORY SERVICES Continuing the above example, Mr. Z (a practicing CA) is appointed by company A to provide the tax advisory services in relation to a tax litigation cum assessment. Since Explanation to section 288(2) is not applicable to Mr. Z, he is free to offer Non audit services as specified in section 144 of the Companies Act, 2013 like accounting and book keeping services, internal audit services etc. Clearly, Mr. X (providing tax certification services) is at a disadvantage to Mr. Z (providing tax advisory services) although both of them are providing similar nature of services and none of them is the statutory auditor of the company A. It is discriminatory if a CA who is providing tax certification services to a company of which he is not the statutory auditor is subject to greater restrictions for provisions of NAS than a CA who is appointed to provide tax advisory (not tax certification services) to a company of which he is not the statutory auditor. It is pertinent to mention that the restrictions under section 141(3) are basically meant for the statutory auditor of the company so that the audit opinion is not influenced, and auditor remains independent while performing the audit function. II. Discrimination between company assesseees and non-company assesseees In case of assesseees other than company assessee, Explanation to section 288(2) prescribes the eligibility requirements only for the assessee and not for any other related entities. Further, there is no prohibition from providing other NAS specified in section 144 of Companies Act 2013. By making eligibility criteria for company assesseees with reference to section 141(3) of Companies Act 2013, the scope of restrictions has been broadened to extend to other related entities of the company as well as prohibition of NAS under section 144 of Companies Act 2013. A comparison of the restrictions as applicable to an accountant in the case of an assessee, being a company, and in the case of other assessees is quite clear from the bare perusal of explanation to section 288(2) of Income-tax Act 1961. The IESBA (International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants) Code of Ethics issued by IFAC (International Federation of Accountants) / the ICAI Code of Ethics distinguishes between audit services and non-audit assurance services. As there is no expression of opinion on the financial statements as a part of tax certification services, at best, such tax certification services would fall under “non-audit assurance services”. In such situations, the personal independence prohibitions/restrictions are applicable to “assurance engagement team members”. Further, NAS are subject to threats and safeguards, only if the NAS relates only to the subject matter of the assurance service i.e., tax certification. Given the nature of services, it would be prudent to apply “non-audit assurance” independence policies instead of “audit” independence policies.

Conversion of convertible notes into shares	Section 47(x) exempts conversion of bonds or debentures or debenture-stock or deposit certificate in any form, into shares or debenture of that company, from capital gains tax liability. However, the conversion of Convertible Notes (CNs) issued by an Indian start-up into shares or debentures is not specifically exempted.	Indian start-ups were allowed to issue CNs to resident individuals. RBI has permitted a person resident outside India to purchase CNs issued by an Indian start-up company for INR 25 lakhs or more in a single tranche (Notification No. FEMA.377/2016-RB, dated 10th January, 2017) To bring CN at par with other instruments, it is suggested that a specific exemption should be provided for its conversion into equity. However, to minimize hardship in case of genuine transactions in the real estate sector, the Finance Act 2021 amended the said sections to provide that no adjustments shall be made in a case where the variation between stamp duty value and the sale consideration is not more than twenty percent of the sale consideration subject to conditions. The Finance Act 2021 provided that in cases where the stamp duty value of immoveable property does not exceed 120% of	i. The erstwhile provisions dealing with transfer of immovable property for lower consideration had delta of 15% and 25% respectively in section 52(2) and section 269C(2)(a) of the Act. The present delta of 20% is accordingly far too inadequate and may be increased to atleast 25%. ii. Also, since the consideration received/receivable on transfer of capital asset/stock in trade being land or building or both, consideration received/receivable shall be full value of consideration. Similarly, it provided that where the stamp duty value does not exceed 120% of consideration paid to acquire immovable property, there will be no trigger of taxation u/s 56(2)(x) of the Income-tax Act. Issues: - In certain states, there is generally a significant/considerable difference between the stamp duty value/rate and the actual sale consideration and consequently in such cases gap between the two values is more than 20%. Hence, it is suggested to further increase the permissible variation. - The delta of 20% of consideration is highly inadequate as stamp duty value is determined as per area and not as per property. The circle rate may vary due to several reasons. - In the context of section 50C, Tribunals have adopted a view that where the difference between consideration and stamp duty value does not exceed 10%, provisions of section 50C are not applicable - Smt. Sita Bai Khetan vs. ITO (ITA No. 823/JP/2013) (delta of 10%) - John Fowler (India) Private Ltd v DCIT (ITA No. 7545/Mum/2014) (delta 10%) - Krishna Enterprises v ACIT [ITA No. 5402/Mum/2014) (delta 10%)	amendment is rationalisation measure it may be made applicable from the date the provisions were inserted. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

The above amendment was effective from April 1, 2017 (AY 2017-18). It is regretted that even after four years from the amendment becoming effective, members of recognised provident fund trusts are not able to transfer their balance at their choice to the NPS. This is because in order to make such transfers the respective provident fund trusts are required to make an amendment in their trust rules which need to be approved by the Regional Provident Fund Commissioners office. These approvals are not forthcoming as there is no enabling amendment in the Employee Provident Fund & Miscellaneous	It is suggested that necessary legislative amendments are introduced so as to compulsorily mandate the one-time portability from a recognised provident fund to the NPS at the option of the employee member. 		Provisions Act, 1952, read with EPF Scheme 1952. Allow an individual assessee to benefit from the amendment in Finance Act 2016. At present the amendment is only on paper and bogged down in needless approvals over which an individual assessee has no control.
194.	Schedule 4/Rule 8(i) – Ease of withdrawal from Recognised Provident Fund	As per clause (1) of Rule 8 to the aforesaid 4th Schedule, the accumulated balance due and becoming payable to an employee participating in the said recognised provident fund is not subject to Income tax in the event the employee member has rendered continuous service with his employer for a period of 5 years or more. The definition of the tenure of 5 years is watertight. It causes unnecessary hardship to salaried people who have lost jobs because of COVID-19 or are superannuated people who for various reasons are falling a little short of the 5 year period as they had withdrawn the PF balance in the previous jobs for family reasons. The amendment in this case will significantly ease the hardship caused by the watertight definition of 5 years. The Hon'ble Finance Minister had earlier announced easier withdrawal of PF balance up to 3 months to mitigate the hardship resulting from COVID-19 pandemic. More recently tax benefits on Leave Travel Allowance etc. were announced. The requested amendment for relaxing the 5-year tenure definition as above would further help the employee members to mitigate the hardship resulting from job losses on account of the COVID-19 pandemic and make available additional funds to them to boost the consumption in the economy. This would also have virtually no fiscal impact.	It is suggested that the said definition may be relaxed to allow for: a) a smaller tenure of say 3 years; b) moratorium on the application of the 5 year rule for a period of 1 year; c) allow for a fraction of the year of say 240 days to be rounded off to the next higher year; and/or, d) allow for relaxation in the case of employee members who have reached the superannuation age of 60. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

195.	Reduction of Stamp Duty and Registration rates	The current Stamp Duty and Registration levied by States are varying from 5 – 15%. This is not only prohibitively high, but also encourage unhealthy practices in Real Estate Sector. Any upward movement of Housing and Real Estate Sector, will automatically move the wheels of the economy, as it generates huge employment opportunities due to its backward and forward linkages with a host of other industries. Leasing is preferred way of acquiring land by big businesses. At the time of acquisition of lands on leaseholds, two types of payments are involved: upfront premium and monthly lease rent. Monthly lease rent is rightly allowed as expenditure to the lessee. But premium is capitalised. In reality out of such lease, no capital asset is generated in the hands of the lessee. Section 2(5) making deemed rental income taxable after two years of property construction is a punishment to genuine developers who are unable to dispose off their stock in the slump. Therefore, once a builder demonstrates that he has not been able to sell despite genuine efforts to sell, the deeming provisos should not be made applicable.	It is further suggested that the upfront premium may also be allowed as revenue expenditure as it is essentially a business expenditure only. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
196.	Capital gains tax exemption in case of merger/restructuring involving LLPs	Presently merger/ restructuring of companies is not regarded as transfer as per section 47 (subject to fulfilment of prescribed conditions). However, provisions of the Act are silent on taxability of mergers/demergers involving LLPs. Issue: Merger/ restructuring involving LLPs may be subject to capital gains tax	In order to bring LLPs at par with company, it is suggested that merger/ restructuring of LLP may also be brought under the list of exemptions from capital gains under section 47. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

197.	Taxation of ESOP in case of employees of eligible start-ups	The amendment to defer the collection of tax on ESOPs exercised by employees of 'eligible start ups' (i.e. start-ups set up on or after 1 April 2016 approved by Inter Ministerial Board for claiming benefit under section 80-IAC) will benefit employees of only about 250 such 'eligible start-ups' leaving out employees of about 28,000 start-ups registered with The Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade ('DPIIT'). The provision provides for taxation of ESOP perquisite in the year of allotment/transfer of shares whereas the collection of tax is deferred to future date, which is 14 days from the date of - completion of 5 years from end of year in which ESOPs are exercised; or - shares are sold; or - employee leaves the employment of the eligible start up, whichever is earlier. As per amendment in section 140A and section 156 of the Act, it appears that that notice of demand will be raised on the employee, but it will be enforced on a future date. Reference to payment of 'interest' by the employee in section 140A and section 156(2) leads to uncertainty with respect to the employee's liability to pay interest since there is no corresponding amendment in section 234A or 234B of the Act. The aforesaid deferred payment mechanism raises various doubts on the employee's liability.	ESOP tax deferral should be extended to all start-ups registered with DPIIT. Instead of said scheme of issue of demand notice followed by deferment of collection, scheme can be enacted on similar lines as that of section 45(2) dealing with conversion of capital asset into stock-in-trade where the income is quantified in the year of conversion but the taxation is deferred till the year of sale of converted asset. The trigger for ESOP taxation can itself be on the happening of any of the prescribed events. If the provision is retained in current form, consequential amendments may be made to section 234A, 234B and 220(1) to clarify that employee's liability to pay interest gets triggered only in case the employer fails to deduct tax within the prescribed deferment period. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

Taxation of dividend will only benefit non-resident investors and is against the interest of the resident individual shareholders. In various countries across the world, dividend income is taxed at lower rates since profit out of which dividends are paid, are already taxed at the dividend paying company level. Due to this, there is indiscrimination with resident investors compared to non-resident investors. Issue: Higher rate of dividend taxation in the hands of resident individual investors.	kept at 20% (plus applicable surcharge & cess) i.e. at par with tax rate applicable for non-residents and also earlier DDT rate. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

Issues arising from applicability of Companies Act, 2013 - Amalgamation	a) Section 72A of the Income-tax Act, which deals with treatment of unabsorbed losses and unabsorbed depreciation, in case of amalgamation, is restrictive in its application. 200.	Section 154 - Mistake apparent from record	Even after due efforts taken by the Government to ensure compliance relating to filing of TDS returns by the deductors, the defaults on behalf of deductors continue for one or the other reason. This deprives the deductee from claiming the Tax so deducted in his return of income filed before due date of filing return. However, situations do arise where the returns are belatedly filed, or a correction statement has been filed at a later date by the deductor resulting into a credit in Form No. 26AS of the deductee at a later date say after the time limit of filing a revised return has also expired. Considering the fact that such an omission in the return of income, duly supported by the entries of Form No. 26AS, is a mistake apparent from record, it is suggested that the Assessing Officers may be intimated to accept the rectification application under section 154 in such cases. This will surely be helpful in removing the administrative hindrances being faced by the assesseees as well as the Government.	It is suggested that section 154 may be amended so that rectification applications u/s 154 in cases where Form No. 26AS reflects the entries relating to TDS but the same has not been claimed in the return of income be treated as errors/omissions. (SUGGESTIONS FOR REMOVING ADMINISTRATIVE AND PROCEDURAL DIFFICULTIES RELATING TO DIRECT TAXES)
201.	Section 154/155(14) - Different Methods of accounting followed by the deductor and deductee – Rule 37BA	One of the important reasons for mismatch of TDS claimed and TDS as per Form 26AS is adoption of different method of accounting (i. e. Cash or Mercantile) by the deductor and deductee. Various situations that may arise have been explained below by means of examples: i) Deductor – Mercantile system of accounting Deductee – Cash system of accounting If the deductor follows mercantile system of accounting, the tax would be deducted at source and deposited in the year in which provision is made. Whereas the deductee	Considering the aforesaid difficulties, it is suggested that section 154/155(14) be appropriately amended so that errors and omissions like non-claiming of TDS be included therein. 		following the cash basis of accounting, would offer the income and claim TDS in the year in which the amount is actually received by him. For example, audit fees paid to a Chartered accountant's firm by a company. In such a case it is difficult for the deductee to claim TDS as the TDS certificate is issued in respect of the year other than the year in which it is claimed. Also, in some cases, the receipts may be spread over in two or more years. In such cases, there is difficulty in getting credit of TDS in second and subsequent year in which amount is actually received. (ii) Deductor – Cash system of accounting Deductee – Mercantile system of accounting There is a provision to take the credit of TDS in the year in which income is assessable to tax. If for any reason, TDS certificate has not been furnished; such certificate can be produced within two years u/s 155 of the Income-tax Act. But issue generally arises when the following situation occurs: In case of a deductee who maintains books of accounts on mercantile basis. The amount due to him in respect of a government contract is accounted for in his books of accounts in a particular year and advance tax/ self-assessment tax is paid by him in respect of that income. However, the government which maintains books of account on payment basis pays the amount after two years after deducting tax at source. In such a case, the assessee would neither be entitled to claim credit of TDS in the year of receipt as the income has already been offered to tax in an earlier year nor he would be able to get refund	any reason. TDS should not be linked with the year of income or the year of receipt. Credit for TDS may be given on the basis of the claim made by the assessee irrespective of the assessment year in which income is received or income is offered to tax. There should be a clear differentiation between amount deducted and amount claimed. The TDS not claimed in a particular year due to any reason may either be allowed to be claimed in the any other assessment year or to be refunded to the deductee. The total TDS claimed and the balance, if any, may be reflected in Form 26AS. Form No. 26AS should be made as a bank pass-book where the unclaimed credit is allowed to be carried forward for claiming in the next year. (SUGGESTIONS FOR REMOVING ADMINISTRATIVE AND PROCEDURAL DIFFICULTIES RELATING TO DIRECT TAXES) of tax paid by him as the time to file revised return may also have expired. This amounts to payment of tax twice to the government.

202.	Section 200 - Furnishing of TDS returns	Section 200 provides for the payment of TDS and filing of TDS Returns. The Income Tax Law requires payment of TDS every month by 7th of the following month and by 30th April of the Assessment year for tax deducted in the month of March of the Previous year. The said payment is to be made under various codes as per the sections under which the tax is deducted. Currently, the payment under each code is to be made under a separate challan which requires filling up the same PAN, TAN, name, address etc. details over and over again. This is clubbed with the internet connection problems, and it becomes a very cumbersome job especially for the small and medium assesseees. Practically, for payment of tax so deducted details of parties with PAN and section under which it is to be deducted is maintained. However, except the section under which tax is required to be deducted, no other detail is required to be mentioned in the challan. The statement containing all such details is to be submitted for every quarter. This leads to duplication of work and also a cumbersome task of furnishing so many statements and challans.	Since the details are already available with the deductor at the time of payment of taxes, the e-challan itself can be so designed that it captures all the details at that time. The details so submitted at that time may respectively be reflected in the Form No. 26AS of all deductees as an alternative Return system. (SUGGESTIONS TO REMOVE ADMINISTRATIVE DIFFICULTIES)

		the downward market by the unit purchasers. Under such circumstances, it will create a very difficult situation for the builders and developers as by application of percentage completion method, the tax might have been paid and thereafter if some units sale get cancelled, there is no right of refund. At the most, such tax can be adjusted on subsequent sales. However, if subsequent sales don't happen then it will be an additional punishment to the builder/developer that he has been subjected to refund and he has paid off part of the tax also on percentage completion method. It is therefore, absolutely necessary that the builder/developer is given an option to recognise sales only on project completion method. This becomes further imperative as the 70% of the sales proceeds cannot be even touched by the builder except for meeting cost of construction and cost of acquisition of land. There may be stoppages of constructions for various reasons. Under such circumstances, money will lie idle in designated bank account.	completed in all respects as per the RERA deadlines, and as per assurances under RERA, such projects can be made eligible for tax benefits even though it is not covered as affordable housing project. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

Benefits – • Tax consolidation scheme would help to centralize the planning and payment of tax by the parent company. The company can set off the losses of one inter group company with the profits of another company. • Tax Consolidation will help in tax free movement of assets across the group which would aid in internal restructuring and optimum utilisation of resources. • The number of litigations pending with the tax department would also reduce and thereby reducing the administrative cost of the Income-tax Department. • The tax consolidation regime has been adopted in tax legislations of a number of foreign countries like Australia, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Korea, Spain, USA etc. These countries have not only successfully implemented the said regime but also created a positive impact on business with significant reduction of compliance and litigation cost. • The tax consolidation regime also endorses the Government's efforts of "Ease of doing business in India" and assist in aligning the business and tax objectives of the industry.

Rule 31 - TDS credit should be allowed solely on the basis of Form No. 26AS and procedural requirements for issuance of TDS certificates (Form No. 16 / 16A) should be dispensed with	Regulation in force Section 203 of the Act requires the deductor of tax to issue the TDS certificate to the deductee to the effect that tax has been deducted and specifying the amount so deducted. The deductor has to log in to the TDS CPC website and download the certificate of the deductee and then send such certificate to the deductee. The procedural compliance apparently looks easy and very convenient. However, in reality, the deductors and deductees face numerous difficulties in practically complying with the same. These difficulties are explained as follows: Practical difficulties faced by deductor Every quarter the deductor is required to login into the TDS Reconciliation Analysis and Correction Enabling System (TRACES) website and download TDS certificate for all the deductees and forward the same to each deductee. In case deductor is a big organisation which has deducted TDS for thousands of parties, it is required to send the TDS certificate through mail or post separately to each deductee. CBDT must ensure that this is implemented at ground level and AO grant TDS credit as per form 26AS and do not insist for production of Form 16A. Further, deductee be provided facility to download Form no. 16/16A himself instead of depending/waiting on deductor to issue the same. Also, generation of form no. 16/16A be made optional and not quarter poses challenges and also consumes lot of time which can otherwise be used for operations of the deductor. This sometimes leads to incomplete compliance or non-compliance with provisions of issue of TDS certificates. Though there are penal provisions provided under the Act for non-issuance of TDS certificate by the deductor, in practice the AO do not enforce those provisions. Practical difficulties faced by the deductee It is the deductee who actually suffers by way of denial of TDS credit in absence of TDS certificate and therefore, it is a must for the deductee to continuously chase each deductor for issue of TDS certificate. It may be relevant to mention here that the AO's do not always give TDS credit, especially for years in the past, on basis of Form No. 26AS appearing in the system but require hard copies of the TDS certificates. Section 199 of the Act and Rule 37BA of Income-tax Rules in relation to grant of TDS credit Conjoint reading of the Section 199 of the Act and Rule 37BA of the Rules framed thereunder suggests that credit for the tax deduction should be given/granted on the basis of information relating to deduction furnished by the deductor (i.e. Form 26AS) and the information in the return of income of the claimant. The requisite details in respect of the tax deducted at source are available in Form 26AS. The taxpayer may furnish the information relating to tax deducted at source in the return of income based on the details available in Form 26AS leading to inference that both the information furnished by deductor and information in the return of income are same i.e. as per Form 26AS.	mandatory for the deductor. 		CBDT Circulars on issuing of TDS certificate The CBDT vide Circular No 3/2011 dated 13 May 2011 and Circular No 1/2012 dated 9 April 2012 has mandated for all deductors to issue Form 16A which is generated from TIN (Tax Information Network) website. • Further the CBDT in para 3 of Circular No 3/2011 specifically mentioned as under: "3. The Department has already enabled the online viewing of Form No. 26AS by deductees which contains TDS details of the deductee based on the TDS statement (e-TDS statement) filed electronically by the deductor. Ideally, there should not be any mismatch between the figures reported in TDS certificate in Form No. 16A issued by the deductor and figures contained in Form No.26AS which has been generated on the basis of e-TDS statement filed by the deductor. However, it has been found that in some cases the figures contained in Form No. 26AS are different from the figures reported in Form No.16A. The gaps in Form No. 26AS and TDS certificate in Form No. 16A arise mainly on account of wrong data entry by the deductor or non-filing of e-TDS statement by the deductor. As at present, the activity of issuance of Form No.16A is distinct and independent of filing of e-TDS statement, the chances of mismatch between TDS certificate in Form No.16A and Form No. 26AS cannot be completely ruled out. To overcome the challenge of mismatch, a common link has now been created between the TDS certificate in Form No.16A and Form No. 26AS through a facility in the Tax Information Network website (TIN Website) which will enable a deductor to download TDS certificate in Form No.16A from the TIN Website based on the figures reported in e-TDS statement filed by

As both Form No.16A and Form No.26AS will be generated on the basis of figures reported by the deductor in the e-TDS statement filed, the likelihood of mismatch between Form No.16A and Form No.26AS will be completely eliminated". • CBDT Instruction No. 4/2012 [F. No. 225/34/2011-ITA.II] dated 25 May 2012 states that "where the difference between the TDS claim and matching TDS amount reported in AS-26 data does not exceed Rs Five thousand, the TDS claim may be accepted without verification." CBDT Instruction 1 / 2012 dated 2 February 2012 and Instruction 2 / 2011 dated 9 February 2011 provides similarly. • CBDT Instruction No. 4/2014 [F. No. 225/151/2014/ITA.II] dated 7 April 2014 at para (5.2.a) reads "AO should verify whether TDS credits claimed by the taxpayer are available in the 26AS. If the credits are available in 26AS, a suitable rectification order.....should be passed". • CBDT'S Action Plan for the First Quarter of FY 2015-16 dated 24 March 2015 refers to "....(b) Giving credit for prepaid taxes, reflected in Form 26AS post processing....". The above clearly demonstrates that there would not be any variation between TDS credit reflecting in the Form 26AS and TDS credit as per Form 16A. Further, in addition to these circulars, the CBDT in Central Actions plan of 2015 has also directed to give TDS credit on the basis of Form 26AS. Thus, reducing the relevance of Form 16A for the purpose of claiming TDS credit.

Sr. No	Section	Issue/Justification	Suggestion
		It is requested that CBDT may call for details of cases in which TDS credit has been denied on the basis that credit was available on the basis of Form 26AS but not on basis of data in department's system. Reconciliation of each payment made by deductor to avoid duplication of work of TDS return	In order to make the process of claim of TDS error free, a system was devised some years ago in 2009 and published vide Circular no 2/2009, dated 21.05.2009. The relevant excerpt from the said circular is as follows: "12. With a view to enabling the implementation of the aforesaid decision, the TDS and TCS payment and information reporting system has been redesigned vide Notification No. 858(E), dated 25th March, 2009 published in Official Gazette. (b) It is mandatory for all deductors (including Central Government and State Governments) to pay the amount by electronically remitting it into the RBI, SBI or any authorized bank. (c) It is mandatory for all deductors (including Central Government and State Governments) to make the payment by electronically furnishing an income-tax challan in Form No. 17. (iii) In the process of electronically furnishing the income-tax challan in Form No. 17, the deductor will be simultaneously required to furnish to the Taxpayer Information Network (TIN) system maintained by National Securities Depository Limited (NSDL) either through screen-based upload or file upload, three basic information relating to the deduction i.e., PAN, name of the deductee and amount of TDS/TCS. (iv) Upon successful remittance of the TDS/TCS to Central Government account and the uploading of the basic information as mentioned above to the TIN system, every deduction record will be assigned a Unique Transaction Number (UTN). (v) NSDL will create a facility to e-mail the UTN file to the deductor if the e-mail address of the deductor is available with them. In addition, they will also create a facility for the deductor to download the UTN file.

		(vi) The UTN will be required to be quoted by the deductor on the TDS/TCS certificate issued by him to the deductee. (viii) With a view to enabling the Income-tax Department to monitor compliance by the deductor with the TDS provisions, every person (including Central Government and State Government) who has obtained a Tax Deduction or Collection Account Number (TAN) shall electronically furnish a quarterly statement of compliance with TDS provisions in Form No. 24C. It is mandatory for all TAN holders to furnish this form irrespective of whether any payment liable to TDS has been made or not. This form shall be furnished on or before the 15th July, the 15th October, the 15th January in respect of the first three quarters of the financial year, respectively, and on or before the 15th June following the last quarter of the financial year. This e-form No. 24C has to be furnished at http://incometaxindiaefiling.gov.in. The first quarter in respect of which Form 24C is required to be furnished is the quarter ending on 30th June, 2009. (ix) In order to enable the deductor to furnish the UTN to the deductee, the existing Form 16 and Form 16A have been appropriately modified. (x) The quarterly returns of TDS and TCS hitherto required to be filed in Form No. 24Q, Form No. 26Q, Form No. 27Q and Form No. 27EQ shall now be required to be filed for all quarters on or before the 15th June following the financial year. Effectively, the quarterly returns have now been replaced by an annual return.”

Sr. No	Section	Issue/Justification	Suggestion
		As is clear from the above reproduced para from the said circular, the proposed method will automatically verify each payment of TDS made by deductor and will reduce the duplicacy done while filing quarterly TDS statements. The above method will effectively lead to an annual TDS return instead of quarterly TDS statements currently.

211.	Provisions regarding indirect transfer of capital asset situated in India - Section 9	The Finance Act, 2015 has amended provisions dealing with indirect transfer of capital asset situated in India. The amendment provides clarity on certain contentious aspects with regards to taxation of income arising or accruing from such indirect transfers. The following amendments have been introduced in the Act. - Share or interest in a foreign company or entity shall be deemed to derive its value substantially from Indian assets only if the value of Indian assets (whether tangible or intangible) as on the specified date exceeds the amount of INR 10 crores and represents at least 50 per cent of the value of all the assets owned by the foreign company or entity. - The value of an asset shall be its Fair Market Value (FMV). Subsequently, the CBDT notified the Rules prescribing the manner of computation of FMV of assets of the foreign company or entity and the reporting requirements by the Indian concern. - The date of valuation of assets (without reducing the liabilities) shall be as at the end of the accounting period preceding the date of transfer. However, in case the valuation of assets as on the date of transfer exceeds by at least 15 per cent of book value of the assets as on the date on which the accounting period of the company/entity ends preceding the date of transfer, then the specified date shall be the date of transfer. - Exemption from applicability of the aforesaid provision has been provided in the following situations: - Where the transferor along with its related parties does not hold (i) the right of control or management; (ii) the	Since the objective of the amendment is to tax indirect transfer through shell companies, a listed company should not be considered as a shell or conduit company. Intra-group transfers as part of group re-organisations (other than amalgamation and demerger) should also be exempt from the indirect transfer provisions. Explanation 5 to Section 9(1)(vi) – e commerce services	- Explanation 5 to Section 9(1)(vi) has been introduced by Finance Act 2012 w.e.f. 1 June 1976 to clarify that royalty includes and has always included consideration in respect of any right, property or information, whether or not the right, property or information is used directly by the payer or is located in India or is in the control or possession of the payer. - Finance Act 2012 also brought in another retrospective amendment to the definition of the term 'Royalty' by introducing Explanation 6 to Sec 9(1)(vi) thereby enlarging the scope of the term 'process' to include transmission by satellite, cable, optical fiber or by any other similar technology, whether or not such process is secret.	In view of the above, it is recommended that revised definition is withdrawn to keep the definition as it was before the amendment by Finance Act In a bid to fuel the highly competitive Telecom Industry as well as to bring in clarity, the Government should clarify that Explanations 5 and 6 should not be interpreted in a way to bring payments,

		- The above amendments could be interpreted to bring within its ambit, payments made by Telcos to other domestic operators for services like interconnect, roaming, etc. Tax withholding on such payments would result in significant cash flow issues for Telcos. Rationale - As regards payments made to non-resident operators, a position may be taken that since the term 'process' has not been defined in the treaty, meaning of the same can be imported from domestic tax law for interpreting provisions of the tax treaty [relying on Article 3(2) of treaty read with section 90 and 90A of the Act]. The above would result in payments being made to foreign operators located in treaty countries also subject to tax withholding in India. Treaty override - The term used in the treaty is 'secret process' whereas in the domestic law the term is 'process' and hence not pari materia. Any such interpretation would lead to treaty override since such position is not in line with principles of Vienna Convention of Law on Treaties and would be tantamount to unilateral rewriting of the treaty. Non availability of tax credit– Without a corresponding amendment in the treaty, tax deduction due to amended definition of royalty under the provisions of the Act may not be treated as tax paid in accordance with the provisions of tax treaty. Accordingly, foreign government may refuse to grant credit of taxes withheld by Indian payer, resulting in double taxation for the payee. In the absence of clarity on the subject, foreign partners would increase the pricing by 10-15% with the Indian companies to factor in the impact of withholding tax. This would adversely impact the negotiating power of Indian telecom companies.	whether made to domestic operators or international operators, for standardized telecom services including basic/ mobile telephony, internet, roaming, interconnect, etc. under the ambit of definition of 'Royalty'. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

[EMPHASIS PROVIDED] This and connected provisions were brought on the statute book as an anti-avoidance measure to curb the practice of foreign companies changing control at significantly high value which decidedly came from Indian business and such structure was essentially adopted to avoid Indian capital gains tax. However, this provision is attracted even where there is no such intention. The definition of specified date being the date of the end of the latest accounting period prior to the date of transaction of transfer of the shares of the foreign company, particularly poses a problem. This provision is anomalous and results in double taxation in this situation since post the specified date, when the Indian asset is sold, the foreign company would have paid its capital gains tax in India. Yet, because such Indian asset was on its balance sheet on the specified date, the transfer of its share may still attract capital gains tax in India on account of indirect Indian asset transfer.	foreign company has reduced by more than 15% between the specified date and the date of transfer of the shares of the foreign company. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

Section 9 - Income deemed to accrue or arise in India	Section 9 of the Income Tax Act, 1961 ('the Act') provides for nexus rule, which if satisfied, deems income to accrue or arise in India and accordingly taxable in India under the domestic Law. The Finance Act, 2018 (as amended by the Finance Act, 2020) had introduced the concept of 'Significant Economic Presence' (SEP) under the Indian domestic tax law, pursuant to which a non-resident having SEP in India would be considered to have a 'Business Connection' (taxable presence) in India. The threshold for SEP has been notified by insertion of Rule 11UD to the Income-tax Rules, 1962 ('the Rules'). Explanation 2A and Explanation 3A to section 9(1)(i) of the Act read with Rule 11UD of the Rules provides that— Significant economic presence of a non-resident in India shall constitute "Business Connection" in India if - a) transaction in respect of any goods, services or property carried out by a non-resident with any person in India including provision of download of data or software in India, if the aggregate of payments arising from such transaction or transactions during the previous year exceeds Rs 2 crores; or b) Systematic and continuous soliciting of business activities or engaging in interaction	Section 9 may be amended to ensure that the provisions related to significant economic presence are limited to digital commerce rather than commerce involving physical goods with traditional system of contract entering etc. Secondly, till the rule relating to attribution of income component to the SEP are in place there should not be any obligation to deduct tax only if such deduction obligation arises from this new nexus rule. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

The above provision are although subject to DTAA's entered into by India with various countries and does not alter actual taxability under the DTAA's by this enhanced nexus. However, the wide scope of section creates huge compliance and commercial issues for the Indian companies having to undertake TDS obligation. In the real commercial transactions, it is not always feasible to seek and obtain TRC of each and every party and at times the non-resident supplier is unwilling to share the TRC with its customers. Secondly there is no mechanism to determine as to when the thresholds are breached. Thirdly there are no rules yet in place as to determine the income attributable to such a nexus or presence even if it is assumed to be there. In view of the above it would be equitable that the provisions are limited to digital commerce rather than commerce involving physical goods with traditional system of contract entering etc. Secondly, till the rule relating to attribution of income component to the SEP are in place there should not be any obligation to deduct tax only if such deduction obligation arises from this new nexus rule.

The audit is applicable to both international and specified domestic transactions. Form 3CEB must be filed. Section 115A of the Act has been amended by the Finance Act 2020 and it has been provided that a non resident (not being a foreign company) and a foreign company are not required to file return of income subject to fulfilment of conditions stipulated in Section 115A(5). Since the assessee has been exempted from filing return of income, the natural consequence is that there should not be any obligation to furnish Form 3CEB. However, in absence of any clarification or amendment to the provisions of section 922E, there is uncertainty in this regard. The matter assumes importance due to the severe penal consequences which may be imposed by the Assessing officer for non-filing of report by the company even though it is exempted from furnishing return. It is therefore, important that the section 92E may be amended to clarify that in case of assesses who are exempted from furnishing return of income there is no requirement of furnishing the report under section 92E.	no requirement of furnishing the report under section 92E. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

227.	Section 94B - Limitation of interest benefit provisions introduced – certain concerns to be addressed	The Finance Act, 2017 introduced limitation of interest benefit (deduction) provisions in where an Indian company, or a permanent establishment of a foreign company in India, being the borrower, pays interest exceeding rupees one crore in respect of any debt issued/guaranteed (implicitly or explicitly) by a non-resident AE. The interest shall not be deductible in computing income chargeable under the head 'Profits and gains of business or profession' to the extent, it qualifies as excess interest. Excess interest shall mean total interest paid/payable by the taxpayer in excess of thirty per cent of cash profits or earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortisation (EBITDA) or interest paid or payable to AEs for that previous year, whichever is less. There will be restriction on the deductibility of the interest in the hands of the taxpayer in a particular financial year to the extent it is excess as explained above. However, the same shall be allowed to be carried forward for a period of eight years and allowed as deduction in subsequent years. The above restrictions shall not be applicable to the taxpayer engaged in the business of banking or insurance. These provisions will be applicable for FY 2017-18 and subsequent years. (i) India is a developing country with a need for foreign investment to fund various initiatives, in particular, the development of India's infrastructure. The Government has given its support at a policy level, inter-alia, consistently reducing tax withholding rates on ECBs by Indian entities from non-residents, which indicates encouragement by the Government towards debt obtained by Indian entities by overseas parties. However, the restrictions imposed under the proposed Section 94B above in respect of	In view of the above policy level issues, it is suggested that the restrictions imposed on the interest benefits on overseas borrowings may be done away with entirely or at least deferred for suitably to give India a chance to achieve high growth and achieve significant infrastructural development and maturity. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

		interest of overseas loans is giving mixed signals to foreign as well as Indian parties at a policy level on overseas borrowings. This inconsistency may lead to further policy level uncertainty in the minds of the business community in India and may undermine the attempts at enhancing the “ease of doing business” by the Government. Under existing ECB guidelines, there is already a mechanism in place to limit the Borrower’s Debt/Equity ratio, which effectively safeguards India’s interests with regard to excessive debt. As such, there is no need for any additional measure to protect India’s interests in this regard.
	(ii)	Without prejudice to the aforesaid, if at all it is considered necessary to have provisions to limit the deductibility of interest, the exclusions granted to banking and insurance companies may be extended to other sectors such as Infrastructure and Non-Banking Finance Companies. Large capital-intensive companies with long gestation periods, Non-Banking Finance Companies, companies in the real estate sector and companies in the infrastructure sector (requiring significant foreign capital which may not always come in the form of equity) are typically highly leveraged on account of the business requirements (either by way of external or related party debt) and might be negatively impacted by the interest restriction.	It is recommended to carve out exceptions for inherently highly leveraged industries from the aforesaid restrictions. The exclusions granted to banking and insurance companies may be extended to other sectors such as Infrastructure, Non-Banking Finance Companies and loss-making companies. Also, the provisions should not be made applicable to new companies/start-ups (i.e. companies formed after 1 April 2016) for initial period of 3 years. This would help them to build good track record and be able to independently obtain debt without support of AE.

In respect of explicit guarantees, the transaction relating to associated enterprises is only towards a guarantee commission (in case charged by the overseas guarantor). The interest towards the borrowing is paid in this case only to a third party wherein the rate and terms are decided purely through negotiation. Hence, restriction of benefit in relation to guarantees ought to be only to the extent of the guarantee commission (if any) claimed as a deduction by the Indian entity and not interest paid to the third-party lender. Further, including implicit guarantees under the above restrictions would lead to significant hardship for the taxpayers and may result in protracted litigation in the coming years. It is pertinent to note that there is no clear definition of implicit guarantee and it would be an onerous task for the taxpayers and tax authorities to determine existence of an implicit guarantee. Issue Whether for purpose of determining amount of excess interest under section 94B(2), interest paid to third party lenders (i.e. other than associated enterprises) should be included in 'total interest paid or payable' or it should only include interest paid or payable to associated enterprises? Rationale: - Sub-section (2) to section 94B refers to "an amount of total interest paid or payable". The literal reading of the section does not create any limitation on inclusion of interest paid or payable to associated enterprises only. The words referred to are 'total interest paid or payable'. - The legislature in its wisdom has separately referred to "an amount of total interest paid or payable" and "interest paid or payable to associated enterprises" within the same sub-section itself. An ambiguity arises as to how tax benefit is conditioned at income / loss level. This may also defeat the objective of INR 3 crore tax benefit threshold as provided in Rule 10U of the Income-tax Rules, 1962 (the Rules). Computation of tax benefit on deferral of tax (which is merely a timing difference) needs to be clarified. As observed by the Expert Committee recommendations¹, in cases of tax deferral, the only benefit to the taxpayer is not paying taxes in one year but paying it in a later year. Overall there may not be any tax benefit but the benefit is in terms of the present value of money.	Clause (e) and (f) should be appropriately worded to correspond with the ‘tax’ amount. In other words, the reference to income/loss should not be the base for defining the term ‘tax benefit’. In line with the Expert Committee recommendations, it is suggested that: a) the tax benefit should be computed in the year of deferral and the present value of money should be ascertained based on the rate of interest charged under the Act for shortfall of tax payment under section 234B of the Act. b) for the sake of clarity, it may be specified that tax benefit for the purposes of the threshold shall include only income tax, dividend distribution tax and profit distribution tax, and shall not include other amounts like interest, etc. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

The MLI provides for insertion of anti-abuse provisions (the PPT and the LOB provisions) in the tax treaties so as to deny tax treaty benefits in case of abusive arrangements/transactions being entered into by the taxpayer. The anti-abuse provisions inserted through the MLI would be effective once the same are ratified by both the signatories to the MLI. With India having signed the MLI, there could be a possibility that the same transaction/arrangement could be subjected to multiple anti-abuse provisions, one would be through the anti-abuse provisions inserted in the tax treaty network through the MLI and second by way of the same transaction being subjected to the GAAR provisions which also targets anti-abuse provisions.	It is suggested that GAAR provisions should not be made applicable to abusive transactions (in the case on MNE's) which are subjected to anti-abuse provisions under the tax treaty pursuant to adoption of the MLI provisions. Similar restriction is imposed in S. 115JD(2) on AMT credit. Both the provisions are made effective from 1 April, 2018 i.e. will apply in relation to A.Y. 2018-19 and onwards. The rationale of aforesaid restriction/limitation is not clear. The restriction on quantum of MAT/AMT credit to be carried forward subjects taxpayer to duplicated MAT liability while denying the rightful carryover of MAT/AMT credit. Once MAT liability is admitted to be tax liability on income in India, there is no justifiable reason for treating FTC separately depending on whether FTC is creditable against normal tax liability or MAT liability. 232.	Section 139(5) – Reduction in time limit for filing revised return – Request to bring back erstwhile time limit for filing of revised tax return at least in cases of claim of foreign tax credit	The Finance Act 2017 amended section 139(5) to provide that the time for furnishing of revised return shall be available upto the end of the relevant assessment year or before the completion of assessment, whichever is earlier. This particularly impacts claims for any Foreign Tax Credit (FTC) in respect of the taxes paid by the individual assessee(s) in the overseas tax jurisdiction. Generally, the information/ final payment of foreign taxes/ tax return is unlikely to be available within the timeline for filing the revised tax return i.e. by the end of the relevant assessment year. As an example, USA follows calendar year as their tax year and the first due date of filing a USA income-tax return is April 15th of the following calendar year, meaning thereby, the USA income-tax return for calendar year 2018 will be required to be filed by 15th April, 2019. In a case of Indian income-tax return for tax year 2017-18, the due date to file a revised return as per the said amendment will be 31st March, 2019. In the above situation, the assessee may not have his final tax return available with him till 15th April 2019, hence, such assessee will not be able to claim the FTC of the final USA taxes paid by him in his Indian income-tax return as he may not have the final USA tax details by 31 March 2019.	Keeping in mind the aforesaid hardship of double taxation which may arise to the individual assessee as he may not be able to claim foreign tax credit in the absence of overseas income-tax return, there is a need to retain the time limit for filing of revised tax return at any time before the expiry of one year from the end of the relevant assessment year or before the completion of assessment, whichever is earlier. Therefore, the earlier time limit may be brought back at least in respect of revision required for claiming foreign tax credit. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

It is imperative to note that usage of the term “To the extent to which such interest does not exceed” may be interpreted to mean that in case the borrowings are made at a rate higher than the rate approved by the Central Government, the interest income on the difference will be chargeable to tax at the rate of 20%. As per the explanatory memorandum, this amendment was made in order to augment long-term low-cost funds from abroad. It is felt that this is an inadvertent mistake and thus needs to be reworded. 236.	Section 194LC and Section 206AA - Scope of concessional rate of tax on overseas borrowings	Currently as per the provisions of section 194LC of the Act, interest paid by an Indian company to a non-resident, in respect of approved borrowings made (during the period 1 July 2012 to 30 June 2023) in foreign currency from sources outside India (under a loan agreement or on issue of long-term infrastructure bonds) is taxable at a concessional rate of 5% (plus applicable surcharge and education cess). Further, as per section 206AA(7) of the Act, interest paid on the long-term infrastructure bonds would be subject to a concessional rate of tax irrespective of whether the lender has a Permanent Account Number (PAN) in India or not. In order to further augment low cost long-term overseas borrowings, the amendments to section 194LC and section 206AA of the Act respectively are made effective from 1st October 2014. Under the aforesaid proposed amendment, the benefit of lower withholding tax @5% for overseas borrowing is extended up to 1 July 2047²³ and it shall apply to all long-term bonds and not merely restricted to infrastructure	It is therefore, suggested to make the aforesaid amendments to the Act effective from 1 April 2014 to enable corporates to use this rare window of opportunity to raise long term capital at competitive price, for their capital expenditure. There are quite a few proposals in the pipeline for raising long term capital from the international debt markets which could get adversely impacted if this amendment is implemented as per the currently enacted timeline of 1st October 2014. Therefore, there is an urgent need to make the amendment effective as suggested.

		bonds as is the case under the relevant provisions of the existing Income tax Act. Further, the benefit of section 206AA(7) of the Act, shall be extended to all types of long term bonds including infrastructure bonds, which means PAN of beneficial holders of bonds shall not be mandatory for all types of long term bond issues in the international market. Hardships While the fiscal measure taken by the Government to encourage the corporates to raise long term capital at competitive price for their capital expenditure are appreciated, there is an urgent need for making the proposed amendments effective from 1 April 2014 so that companies can take advantage of the prevailing opportune market conditions. In this connection, the global market conditions have been summarized below: ➤ The international debt markets are very strong and buoyant, with the Asia ex Japan G3 market seeing over US$116bn in 2014 till date in issuance volumes, nearly 83% of total issuance in 2013. ➤ Investor liquidity remains very strong, and there are consistent fund flows back into emerging market and Asian bonds for the past 14 consecutive weeks. ➤ US treasury yields remain significantly lower than at the start of the year, as the markets gauge the outlook for the global economy, geopolitical risks and the expected actions of the Central Banks. 2.55% / 3.37%. ➤ US rates at 2.55% for 10 years and 3.37% for 30 years remain conducive for issuers looking to extend duration, with the 30-year US Treasury currently close to a 9-month low. 		➤ Global credit market conditions remain very strong with credit spreads having tightened sharply over the past year. ➤ The demand for Indian credits has been extremely strong, with Indian credit spreads having tightened by 30-40 bps since 1 April and 80-100 bps since 1 February 2014. This has been driven by supportive technical, relative lack of supply and improved macro indicators. These favourable financial market conditions could get impacted in the short term by changes in the economic data emanating from the major economies as well as due to geopolitical factors such as the continued unrest in the Middle East.
237.	Section 194LD - Income by way of interest on certain bonds and Government securities	As per Section 2(28A) of the Income-tax Act 1961, "interest" means interest payable in any manner in respect of any moneys borrowed or debt incurred (including a deposit, claim or other similar right or obligation) and includes any service fee or other charge in respect of the moneys borrowed or debt incurred or in respect of any credit facility which has not been utilised;" As per the provision of major DTAA, "interest" as used in this Article means income from debt-claims of every kind, whether or not secured by mortgage and whether or not carrying a right to participate in the debtor's profits; and in particular, income from Government securities and income from bonds or debentures, including premiums and prizes attaching to such securities, bonds or debentures. Penalty charges for late payment shall not be regarded as interest for the purpose of this Article. As per ICDS, Interest shall accrue on the time basis determined by the amount outstanding and the rate applicable. Discount or premium on debt securities held is treated as though it were accruing over the period to maturity. The above 3 definitions have led to the following confusion in both borrowers and lenders domain.	It is suggested that Clarity on the definition of effective interest rate i.e. whether or not it includes premium on redemption may be provided. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)

238.	Section 195 – a) Time limit for Issuance of “general or special order	Section 195(2) provides where a payer considers that whole of the sum being paid to a non-resident is not chargeable to tax, he may make an application to the Assessing Officer to determine by general or special order, the appropriate portion of the sum so chargeable. It may be noted that no time limit of passing such order has been prescribed in the Act, which causes undue hardship in genuine cases.	It is suggested that an appropriate time limit say thirty (30) days may be imposed for passing such general or special order by the Assessing officer. Further, where an application is rejected, the Assessing Officer may be required to pass a speaking order after providing a reasonable opportunity of being heard to the applicant. (SUGGESTIONS FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
	b) Consequential amendment required in section 204	Section 195(6) is amended w.e.f. 01.06.2015 to provide that the person responsible for paying to a non-resident (not being a company) or a foreign company, any sum, whether or not chargeable under the provisions of the Income-tax Act, 1961, shall furnish the information relating to payment of such sum, in such form and manner, as may be prescribed. However, consequential amendment has not been made in section 204(iii), defining “person responsible for paying” in case of credit, or, as the case may be, payment of any other sum	(i) Section 204 may be amended as follows - For the purposes of the foregoing provisions of this Chapter and section 285, the expression “person responsible for paying” means – ‘(iii) in the case of credit,

		chargeable under the provisions of this Act, to mean the payer himself, or, if the payer is a company, the company itself including the principal officer thereof. The above definition of “person responsible for paying” given in section 204(iii) is in relation to credit or payment of any sum chargeable under the provisions of this Act, and is hence, relevant in the context of section 195(1). However, the said definition has to be amended to make the same relevant in the context of section 195(6) also. Further, in section 204, the “person responsible for paying” has been defined for the purposes of the foregoing provisions of Chapter XVII and section 285. Since section 285 is in respect of submission of statement by a non-resident having liaison office, the definition of “person responsible for paying” given in section 204 is not relevant in the context of section 285. Consequently, taking into consideration the above issues, section 204 needs to be appropriately amended. A penalty of Rs. 1 lakh is leviable under section 271-I for failure to furnish information or for furnishing inaccurate information under section 195. The penalty is quite high, considering that the reporting requirement may be relating to a transaction which is not be chargeable to tax. Also, while the meaning of “person responsible for paying” has been defined under the Act, “person responsible for collecting” has not been defined anywhere in the Act. The meaning of “person responsible for collecting” may be incorporated in the Act for clarity.	or, as the case may be, payment of any other sum chargeable under the provisions of this Act, or in the case of furnishing of information relating to payment of any sum to a non-resident (not being a company), or to a foreign company, whether or not such sum is chargeable under the provisions of the Act, the payer himself or if the payer is a company, the company itself including the principal officer thereof.’ (ii) The penalty may be reduced, in case non-furnishing of information relates to a transaction not chargeable to tax. (iii) The meaning of “person responsible for collecting” may be incorporated in the Act. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
	c) Applicability of Rule 37BB read with Section 195 for making remittances outside India	Remittance under Liberalised Remittances Scheme of RBI Amended Rule 37BB(3)(i) of the Rules exempts remittances as per the provisions of Section 5 of the FEMA read with Schedule-III i.e. only current account transactions.	Capital account transactions should be specifically included in the exclusion list of Rule 37BB(3)(i) of the Rules read with Section 195(6) of the Act.

		As per Section 5 of the FEMA, any person may sell or draw foreign exchange to or from an authorised person if such sale or drawl is a current account transaction provided that the Central Government may, in public interest and in consultation with the Reserve Bank of India, impose such reasonable restrictions for current account transactions as may be prescribed. The Master Direction No. 7/2015-16 dealing with the Liberalised Remittance Scheme (LRS) is a liberalisation measure to facilitate resident individuals to remit funds abroad for permitted current or capital account transactions or combination of both. The press release issued by the CBDT on 17 December 2015 states that Form 15CA and 15CB will not be required to be furnished by an individual for remittances which do not require RBI approval under the LRS. However, it may be noted that LRS does not find any specific mention in the amended Rules. LRS is a wider term as it includes within its scope both permissible capital and current account transactions. The amended Rules is silent with respect to the capital account transactions under LRS. 	d) Penalty for failure to furnish information or furnishing inaccurate information under Section 195	The Finance Act, 2015 has introduced penalty (Section 271-I of the Act) in case of failure to furnish information or furnishing of inaccurate information as required to be furnished under Section 195(6) of the Act, to the extent of INR one lakh.	It is not clear whether the penalty is qua the payment made or qua the transaction or qua the contractual obligations for a specific financial year. Section 201 – Limitation period for Non-resident	Invocation of section 201 in case of a payer to a non-resident for not withholding appropriate tax and depositing the same in the Indian treasury There is no limitation period for invocation of this provision. This creates need for increasingly impractical period of indemnity being sought by a payer from the recipient. Where the payer is conducting very few or one-off transactions involving India, this creates inordinate uncertain Indian tax exposure for such payer.	Limitation period should be provided as follows: (I) 4 years from the end of the financial year in which the transaction requiring tax to be withheld, took place; (II) Absolving the payer from this obligation if the payee non-resident files tax return in India and hence is now approachable by the tax department to be pursued for tax recovery, if any. However, when it comes to NRIs they are not allowed this benefit on their NRO accounts. All interest earned in NRO accounts is subject to a TDS rate of whopping 30%. In majority cases, the NRI's are not able to file for refunds due to small amount as the cost of filing is more than deduction. Chapter VIII of the Finance Act, 2016 – Equalisation Levy - Issues to be addressed	The Finance Act, 2016 has inserted a new Chapter VIII titled "Equalisation Levy" to provide for an equalisation levy of 6% of the amount of consideration for specified services received or receivable by a non-resident not having permanent establishment ('PE') in India, from a resident in India who carries out business or profession, or from a non-resident having permanent establishment in India. In other words, the Finance Act, 2016 enacted a levy of 6% on consideration paid or payable by an Indian resident carrying on business or profession, or by an Indian permanent establishment of a non-resident to a non-resident not having a permanent establishment in India, for providing specified online advertisement services.	In view of the issues detailed, it is suggested that suitable amendments may be carried out in the Chapter VIII of the Finance Act, 2016. 		Certain issues arising from the same are as below: - The responsibility for payment is cast on resident payer to deduct and deposit the levy. Interest and penalty would be levied for delay or failure of compliance. This would involve additional cost of compliance to Indian businesses. It is an indirect levy. - The equalization levy is a separate levy under the Finance Act, 2016 and will not be part of the Income-tax Act, 1961. This results in defeating the option available to a non-resident of choosing the more beneficial option between the Treaty and the Income-tax Act, 1961. - Also, the non-resident may not be able to claim tax credit of this levy in his country of residence, if the DTAA allows foreign tax credit in respect of tax paid under the Act and not in respect of similar taxes paid which are outside the ambit of the Income-tax Act, 1961. It is recommended that the provision be withdrawn or be enacted under Act.
242.	Tax consolidation Scheme	In India, separate entities are incorporated based on their specialization in various lines of businesses (like manufacturing, trading, retail, infrastructure etc.) by the parent company. Separate companies are incorporated to attract investors which suits their needs. Investors are more likely to invest in a well-structured organisation. Because of commercial compulsions, the business houses are forced to have many subsidiaries under one parent. The group as a whole and the tax Department face many challenges. Some of them are:- - Each Entity is considered as separated entity and therefore required to file a separate income tax return, involving huge cost of Income Tax compliance by tax payer. - Each entity is assessed/ scrutinized separately resulting in litigation cost for each entity. Significant administrative costs are incurred by the Income tax Department in	In view of the aforesaid benefits it is suggested that a tax consolidation scheme may also be adopted in India. This would create a positive impact on business with significant reduction of compliance and litigation cost. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS) keeping track of records and assessing multiple subsidiaries. • Apart from cost, a lot of efforts are required by both tax payer as well as Income tax Department for undertaking compliance. Tax consolidation or combined reporting is a regime adopted in the tax or revenue legislation of a number of countries which treats a group of wholly owned or majority-owned companies and other entities (such as trusts and partnerships) as a single entity for tax purposes. The head entity of the group is responsible for all or most of the group's tax obligations such as paying tax and lodging tax returns. In terms of mechanics, all transactions between the group companies of the consolidated group are ignored for tax purposes. Benefits – i. Tax consolidation scheme would help to centralize the planning and payment of tax by the parent company. ii. It is common in India that the parent company engaged in various lines of businesses incorporate many subsidiary companies. Since the market is volatile, it may happen that one company is incurring losses and other is earning profits. At a group level, the tax outgo would be more as under the Income-tax Act at present, there are no provisions to set off loss of one group-company with another profit making group-company. Under tax consolidation, the company can set off the losses of one inter group company with the profits of another company. Tax consolidation would take care of such situations which facilitate development of new businesses of challenging nature such as retail or telecom. Where financial risks are isolated in a new company but at the same time tax revenues and losses can be consolidated.

		iii. Any unused foreign tax credit by one company can be used by the other affiliates within the group.
		iv. Currently, in the Income-tax Act, 1961 the Domestic Transfer Pricing provision requires all the intercompany transactions to be at Arm's Length Price and need to be reported. Under the consolidated tax scheme such intra group transactions would be net off and thereby will reduce the time and compliance cost of the tax payer and administrative cost of the Income-tax Department.
		v. In group taxation all transactions between group companies are ignored for tax purposes. This will help in tax free movement of assets across the group which would aid in internal restructuring.
		vi. In India, each company is individually liable for separate tax assessments. By introducing the tax consolidation scheme, the parent company would act as an agent in all the tax matters.
		vii. The number of litigations pending with the tax department would also reduce and thereby reducing the administrative cost of the Income-tax Department.
		viii. In the long run such a regime would not negatively impact the overall tax revenues as tax offset of carry forward losses/depreciation is already allowed under the Income-tax Act, 1961, accordingly any tax offset claimed by the individual taxpayer would be offset when the aggregate approach for the economy as a whole is considered.

		ix. Member of the group companies obtaining for tax consolidation can enter into an arrangement with Income Tax Department/ CBDT for a nominated member of the group to be in liaison with Income Tax Department/ CBDT, such that all payments of tax flow through that nominated company. x. It is believed that for capital intensive sectors like infrastructure and financial services introduction of such a progressive tax regime would be beneficial and fair to the taxpayer. xi. The tax consolidation regime has been adopted in tax legislations of a number of foreign countries like Australia, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Korea, Spain, USA etc. These countries have not only successfully implemented the said regime but also created a positive impact on business with significant reduction of compliance and litigation cost. xii. This will create a positive impact on business and provide a level playing field to the Indian companies. The tax consolidation regime also endorses the Government's efforts of "Ease of doing business in India" and assist in aligning the business and tax objectives of the industry. xiii. No. of tax exemptions are being reduced and very soon, no deduction/exemption will be allowed in computing taxable income. It is very logical to introduce tax consolidation scheme. Many mergers, demergers which are being done only to take advantage of tax losses will not be required. A snapshot of the tax consolidation regime in various jurisdictions is summarized in Annexure

243.	Provision for the employer to provide tax treaty benefits while calculating TDS	Under the current tax regime, there is no provision under the Act which enables an employer to consider admissible benefits under the respective Double Taxation Avoidance Agreements (e.g. credit for taxes paid in another country/ treaty exclusions of income etc.), while computing tax to be deducted under Section 192 at the time of payment of salaries to employees. Further, the foreign tax credit rules notified by the CBDT in June 2016 also does not contain explicit provision for providing credit for taxes paid in another country by the employer at the time of deduction of tax on salary payments. Due to the above, it creates cash out-flow issues to the employees (migrating employees coming to and leaving India) who are initially subject to full TDS by their employers and thereafter required to claim refunds on account of tax treaty benefits while filing their income tax return. Many of these employees may complete their assignments and leave India prior to obtaining their tax refunds which also creates hardships with respect to receiving back the refund amounts.	It is recommended to provide for claiming relief available under the tax treaty, at the time of TDS. (SUGGESTION FOR RATIONALIZATION OF THE PROVISIONS OF DIRECT TAX LAWS)
