

Unique Technique for Learning Theory Paper

As I mentioned in my previous article “Daily Study Routine” that every students have their own daily routine in their life. Many students are not able to prepare the Theory subjects and they say that theory subjects are boring. In my opinion theory subjects is wonder scoring.

There is no any chapter which is less important or not important either for exam point of view or knowledge point of view. Now I just give you tricks for learning the theory paper in a unique way.

First of all Draw the time table for all subjects as per “Daily Study Routine”.

Thoroughly read the full syllabus of every subject so that you can get an idea of overall subject.

Now arrange your all chapters of a subject from small to big considering the number of pages in each chapter. Start reading with small chapter first because it will help you to complete maximum portion of the whole subject at a very short time. In the exam hall also, I would like to suggest you that attempt short question first as it will take less time and boost your confidence and also give sure sort marks.

You must have two Highlighter Marker pen with different color, one for the “Heading” and other for “Key Words” and one Dairy/Note Book for each subject separately.

Write down all the main headings of the chapter in your Note Book and read it at least one time before you start reading the chapter in detail.

Read each paragraph in a particular Heading/Topic at least two times. While reading first time of any paragraph:

Try to understand “Each Sentence” in your mother language (e.g. Hindi) and after that close your eyes and try to remind the sentence which you had read. Now just speak the sentence as if you are teaching someone.

While reading second time the same paragraph you must highlight each main “Key Word” with the Highlighter.

After reading one topic in a chapter you should always try to write it without seeing the book. If you are unable to write full contents of the topic, don’t worry and start your writing the whole topic seeing the whole contents of the topic from the book. It’s nothing but coping/cheating but remind one thing that you must write in this way at least one time. This will improve your wring skills. Many students says that they know all answer but not able to complete within time. Thus this enables you to complete whole paper in a very fast way in your examination hall.

After completing the whole chapter by following above rule, you must read one time whole the chapter and revised the same as per Daily Study Routine.

Let me know whether it helps you in preparing Theory subject.

I would like to conclude by wishing you “Best of Luck” for your coming Exam.

“Be Positive, Be Confident, Keep Smiling and Never Give up”

Yours sincerely
