

Don't Die Everyday!!!

A brave man dies only once while a coward dies everyday!!!

Do you face the challenges of life bravely or do you scamper away in fear???

Do not live life scared, of every obstacle, of every person, of every event that takes place.

Do not scrape and keep apologizing for your existence. The man who is scared and afraid can never live life to the fullest.

The man who is scared can never take advantages of the chances that come his way.

Do not live in constant fear that some or the other thing will go wrong. Do not be scared that you will never succeed.

If you are afraid and scared the world will seem a frightful place, it will crush you until nothing remain of your soul but dust.

Life can only be enjoyed when you are strong.
The challenges and
obstacles are nothing
compared to you.

They are but little insects waiting to be crushed under your mighty feet. Do not run away from difficulties, instead face them and let them flee from your presence.

The world might look intimidating and scary
but a little courage
and a little strength will help you see it in a different light. Hold the world by its horns and it will cower and submit to you.

A dramatic landscape featuring a steep, layered mountain peak with distinct horizontal geological strata in shades of brown, tan, and grey. The mountain rises sharply from a dark, turbulent river that flows through a deep, shadowed gorge. The river's surface is dark and textured with white foam from rapids. The sky is not visible, focusing the viewer's attention on the rugged terrain and the powerful flow of the water.

Never be weak, you will only be crushed by the mighty and the strong .The world does not care for cowards, it only respects mighty men.

Fear will make your life miserable. Courage and strength are the answers to life's miseries. It is better to be a lion for a day than a sheep all your life.

The man plagued with fear dies very moment of his life.

Constant fear will cripple your soul and turn you into a bag of flesh and bones.

Be strong; fill your life with strength. Life will seem more beautiful. No one likes to be friends with a coward. People flock to the man with strength and courage.

Fearlessness is the order of the day. Let courage be your war cry. Fear no one, for fear will make you a slave to every person who cares to impose his will on you. Have no fear in your heart for it ultimately destroys you from within.

It takes strong men to act fearlessly in the face of obstacles. You have strength within you, realize it and bring it out.

You have to die one day but there is no point in living in misery and dying everyday. Do not live as the dust of the earth but live as the wind which in its full force can lift the dust and scatter it anywhere at its will.

What's the worst that can happen in life? You might die, but isn't death a better choice than a life of drudgery and misery.

Is it not better to
be remembered
for your audacity
and courage
rather than as a weak and
cowardly
person?

Brave men, even if they live only for few years have left their mark behind.
The lives of these great men are an example that with courage you will be remembered even after death while a life of fear will push you to insignificance even while you are alive.

"Attention leads to immortality. Carelessness leads to death. Those who pay attention will not die, while the careless are as good as dead already."
- Gautama Buddha"

Summary Of Thoughts

Which one will you choose – die once or die everyday???
Sompong Yusoontorn